Staff Writer, Roundup

The command of the 54th Flying Training Squadron changed hands Monday from Lt. Col. David C. Turner to Lt. Col. John W. Dalton in a ceremony at the Officer's Open Mess.

Colonel Turner was assigned to Reese since June, 1984. During his tour he served as the Operations Officer for the 54th Flying Training Squadron, Wing Chief of Standardization/Evaluation and in September 1986, he became the commander of the 54th Flying Training Squadron.

Colonel Turner will be moving on to Randolph Air Force Base, Texas, Headquarters Air Training Command to serve as the director of training operations.

Lieutenant Colonel John W. Dalton was born Feb. 16, 1950, in Salem, Mo. He received a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo., in 1973. He received a Master of Arts Degree from Websters University, St. Louis, Mo., at their San Antonio location in 1985. He completed Squadron Officer School in 1975 and Air Command and Staff College in 1982, both by correspondence.

Colonel Dalton entered the Air Force via Reserve Officer Training Corps and was commissioned in May 1973. After completing Undergraduate Pilot Training at Sheppard AFB, Texas, he was assigned to Fairchild AFB, Wash., where he performed duties as a KC-135 Co-pilot and Aircraft Commander. In June 1978, he was assigned to the 54th Flying Training Squadron and performed duties as an Instructor Pilot and Assistant Flight Commander. In February 1980, he became a 64th Flying Training Wing Flight Examiner. In March 1981, Colonel Dalton was reassigned to HQ/ATC, Randolph AFB, Texas, and performed the following duties: Command Flight Examiner, DCS Operations until June 1983; Executive Officer to the ATC Vice Commander until June 1984; Chief of Senior Officer Management, DCS Personnel until February 1986; and, returned to DCS Operations at T-38 Side Chief, HQ/ATC Standardization/Evaluation until being reassigned to Reese AFB.

Colonel Dalton is a Senior Pilot with more than 2,500 flying hours, including approximately 1200 hours as a T-38 instructor pilot. His military decorations include the Meritorious Service Medal, the Air Force Commendation Medal, the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award with One Oak Leaf Cluster, the Combat Readiness Medal, the Air Force Organizational Excellence Award, the National Defense Service Medal and the Air Force Training Ribbon.

Colonel Dalton is married to the former Billie Jean Sellers. They have one son—Jim.

New commander on base

The duties and responsibilities of Base Commander were passed from Colonel Mark Lillard to Colonel James L. Higham (pronounced High-am) at a change of command ceremony Wednesday, at the Officer's Open Mess.

Colonel Higham is arrived from the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Fort Lesley J. McNair, Washington D.C., where he was a student.

Colonel Lillard will assume the position of 64th Flying Training Wing Commander Thursday, as Col. James McIntyre, present Wing Commander departs for Washington, D.C.

Office of the Wing Commander

To the Reese "team":

Kauni and I are concluding the most rewarding 2 years in our AF career. AS I WILL ALWAYS SEE IT, the Wing Commander of the 64th FTW is the luckiest guy around. The reason is simple -- some 3,000 men and women with Reese Spirit, who:

- ① understand the importance of their job,
- ② are hell-bent on doing it better than anyone else,
- ③ know how to cooperate as team players to get things done right,
- ④ and have some fun along the way!

It has been an honor being a part of this winning team, thanks to all of you. Kauni and I go forth to new challenges fully confident Reese's PRIDE, PROFESSIONALISM, & ATTITUDE will take the 64th FTW to new heights in the future.

Our sincere thanks for your support, and best wishes to all!

ATC Commander sends holiday message

by Lt. Gen. John A. Shaud
Commander, Air Training Command

While we pause to celebrate and relax this Independence Day, it's worth remembering that many of our fellow airmen will not be pausing. Throughout the world, others of us will be at work on flightlines, in missile silos and in countless other ways to keep our Air Force alert and ready. It's a good reminder that the price of freedom was high in 1776—and that it still is.

We are blessed in this land with freedom beyond the imaginations of most of our world's people. It's easy to take it all for granted, and many do. For those of us who do not, Independence Day has a special significance.

Our legacy of duty runs unbroken, back across thousands of battlefields to Concord Bridge. Without protection, our rights and liberties could never have stood through 211 years. Through our service today, we reaffirm the spirit of our forefathers who believed that freedom was well worth its price. Keeping alive the dream which the United States of America embodies is what we are about. It's something of which we can be particularly proud as we celebrate this 4th of July.

Care line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. James McIntyre, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, on a weekly basis. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty telephone number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers should use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air their views or complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line number is 885-(Ext.) 3273.

Update firefighters story

In looking through back issues of the Roundup I noticed that a bunch of firefighters went to Korea. Have they returned yet? How did they do representing Reese? Who were they?

Your call is most timely. Our fire fighting team returned to Reese in April, but it was only last week, that I received a message from the Commander in Chief of Pacific Air Forces sent through Lt. General John A. Shaud our ATC commander. The message stated that our people played a key role in reinforcing the fire protection personnel at Osan Air Base, South Korea during the "Team Spirit '87" exercise. General Shaud added that the work by our personnel added to ATC's readiness capability.

Your call brings up another point. Each unit on base has an additional duty Unit Public Affairs Representative assigned to work with the Roundup staff. Those UPARs need to keep the two member staff of our base newspaper informed on significant happenings within the individual units so those stories get proper attention in the Roundup. With only two people on the staff, there's no way they can prepare coverage of our major base wide news events and the happenings in each unit without a lot of help and tips from UPARs and base personnel.

Mosquitos out of control

Is there anything that can be done about the mosquitos on base? I can't work out in the yard, we can't let the kids out to play, and even at work this morning they chased us right back into the building. Even mosquito repellent doesn't have much effect. Is there some way that CE could start spraying once a week or so for the mosquitos?

The Entomology Section is fogging for mosquitos both morning and evenings, seven days a week. This will continue until the mosquito problem subsides. It may seem that this spraying isn't doing any good but it really is. Most of our mosquitos here at Reese migrate from as far away as 30 or 40 miles. Just how long a mosquito lives depends not only on the reflexes of the bite victim, but the weather as well. The recent warm weather and high humidity provide a thriving environment for the insects. Both Lubbock City and County and Hockley County (west of Reese) have been treating breeding areas. You can help too by making sure that water is not left standing for any great length of time—such as in wading pools or even evaporative air conditioners. Thanks for the call.

Flower beds in lawns?

Why were Home of the Week and Home of the Month awards made recently to housing units that had open flower beds in the middle of the lawn? I thought that was a violation of housing rules.

I'm told by our base housing manager that the statement in the housing brochure that you apparently referenced applies only to vegetable, not flower gardens. The rule is for obvious health reasons because we do treat the lawns with insecticides and pesticides that could be harmful to your health if eaten. We encouraged Village residents to beautify their areas, and as I tour the housing area, I'd say the Reese pride is evident. Keep up the good work folks.

Slow, unsafe vehicles

On several occasions I have noticed contractors working on base driving non-standard, slow moving vehicles. I almost ran into one with long pipes that extended beyond the vehicle and did not have the required flags attached to the pipes. Can Wing Safety check into getting the contractor to enforce these requirements? Thanks very much.

I've had all our contractors working on base reminded of the requirements to flag slow moving vehicles and vehicles with equipment loads extending beyond the front or rear. Thanks for your interest and safety awareness in calling this potential problem to our attention.

Commander's Column

Farewell to 'fraternity of flyers'

by Col. William M. Drennan

This is my last article for the Roundup, so I've decided to dedicate it to those who make up and give life to the Deputy Commander for Operations Complex.

The Air Force has decided to send me to War College for a year, and while I'm looking forward to the prospect of being a full-time student, I know I'm going to miss the business of being a DO.

Flying the T-37 and the T-38 has been great, and training student pilots has been very satisfying, but what I'll miss most are the people in green bags. Without denigrating the professionalism and dedication of our support group, I have to admit that one of the most attractive things about Air Force life for me has been the opportunity to be a part of the fraternity of flyers.

I've had a variety of operational and staff jobs, and it's been good to be back around airplanes and the people who fly them these last seventeen months.

The bond that exists between military pilots is hard to explain, but everyone who wears wings feels it. I came to appreciate it fully as a young pilot in Southeast Asia, where it was good to know that if you were ever really in trouble, a whole bunch of your buddies would be trying to get you out. You've got to be close to my age or older to have flown in Southeast Asia, but one of the most gratifying experiences of this tour has been the realization that the younger pilots are exactly the same kind of people.

While I have no desire to go to war again, if I have to go, I want to go with the kind of pilots represented by the IP force here at Reese.

I hope to rejoin you soon. In the meantime, fly safe!

Little gestures change attitudes

by Lt. Col. Philip Marzolino
Chief, Safety Division

We have all experienced getting a run-around on some issue and finding that we've gone home in a slow burn, kicked the dog, yelled at our families, and so on.

I found a perfect way in which this can be defused by another individual, who didn't even know what they were doing the other day.

This hadn't been the best of days, and I was running late. The traffic wasn't cooperating, and my impatience with my fellow man was going downhill at a pretty rapid rate.

I came to a four-way stop sign at the same time as another vehicle and was muttering under my breath about another delay when the driver of the other car gave me a big smile and motioned for me to go through the intersection ahead of him. Surprisingly, that one simple little gesture seemed to release a great deal of the frustration I had been experiencing. I waved thanks at that other driver and went on at a much more relaxed pace.

When I sat back and thought about what had happened, I realized each of us has numerous opportunities throughout the day to affect the attitudes of others. Unfortunately, the converse is also true. I'm sure if that other driver had made a point of trying to beat me through the intersection, I would have continued with my level of frustration, and increase my potential for having an accident. Most of us remember the old traffic slogan, "courtesy pays;" however, the idea works on the highway or on the job. When someone leaves our office, have we caused them to leave knowing that someone cares about their problems, or are they hot under the collar because no one seems to care? If it's the latter, we may have contributed to an attitude that is going to make that individual more likely to have an accident.

The point is, each of us can unknowingly affect others' accident potential. We can help protect someone else's life by simply being courteous; both in the office and on the highway. It's true, COURTESY PAYS!

Serving a world in need

by Reese Chaplain Division Staff

Wherever Air Force people are stationed, they discover ways to help those in need.

An earthquake in Mexico or a typhoon in the Philippines means that Air Force planes will soon be bringing supplies and hope for the homeless.

Farmers in drought-stricken states find Air Force people transporting hay for starving cattle.

In distant nations, airmen visit leper colonies with clothing, food and friendship.

At Lackland Air Force Base alone basic trainees and others provide thousands of dollars each year to buy milk for needy children in their city.

And, worldwide, orphanages are brightened by the efforts of Air Force people.

Last year designated offerings in Air Force chapels rose by $300,000. These offerings, totaling $2.3 million, are used to support projects beyond local chapel needs. People also evidence their generosity through the Air Force Assistance Fund, the Combined Federal Campaign and many other ways.

Our current drive at Reese to raise funds for the South Plains Food Bank, as well as our annual holiday food baskets, reveal our desire to help others.

It is no accident that people entering the military are said to be going into the "service." Airmen, soldiers, sailors, and marines serve our country and its people. They provide for the security and safety of the entire nation, serving the common good. Sometimes this service even requires the ultimate sacrifice—life itself.

One of the subthemes of this year's USAF Chaplain Service theme, "Called to Excellence," is the related imperative, "Serving a World in Need." This statement both describes and challenges us. We do care; we do give; and we do serve. But we know that tremendous needs remain unmet. The people of the world cry out for food, for shelter, for peace and hope.

Through work and prayer we gladly do our part. We know that the one who gives will truly be the one who receives satisfaction and peace. Our generosity shows our fellow Americans, and the citizens of the world, that we truly care about "Serving a World in Need."

Christmas bonuses to AF members

by TSgt. Bud Simpkins
Legal Office

This article has nothing to do with any type of Christmas bonus, but it got your attention. I apologize if I got anyone's hopes up.

The message I want to get across is about drugs. Yes, I know it has been mentioned to you by the military, the press, your parents and just about every other person you've talked to in the past ten years.

Unfortunately, the main impression in most peoples' mind when the subject of drugs is brought up is usually an impression they have been given by one of the more popular television programs. You know, the one with the expensive cars and flashy clothes.

While that lifestyle may be true for some people involved with drugs, it is surely a minute percentage.

The use of drugs is really as simple as a matter of greed. That's all. The people who import drugs into the U.S. or manufacture them here don't do it because they feel they are doing something good for mankind. They run the risk of jail, bodily injury and the reward of money.

These "businessmen" don't care if their product costs you your job, your family or your freedom. If you die from an overdose they could care less. To them you are just a customer, nothing more.

While you may not be involved with drugs, some of the people out there are. It would be naive to say that no one at Reese is involved with drugs. It's for those few people that I send the following message: Wake up. Stop letting these "businessmen" play you for a fool.

Kudos to...

SMSGt. J.T. Washington for his outstanding Flag Day speech. The speech, given to the Elks Lodge number 1348, was extremely moving and patriotic...Mr. Doyle Herring, Lubbock B.P.O.E.

Captains Dave and Sue Ross, Captain and Mrs. Scott Poppleton, Captain Stan Masters, 1st Lt. and Mrs. Scott Godwin, 1st Lt. Mark Maestas, Sr. A. Jim Starnes, A1C Nelson Serrao, A1C Paul Snyder, A1C Jeff Puckett, and A1C Robert Barnett for their selfless and heroic efforts in the County Haven Community following the tornado on May 29. These folks eagerly pitched into the job of cleaning up and aided in the recovery of household goods...W.F. Hamm and Charles W. Holcomb, homeowners, Lubbock.

Will this happen to you?

by retired MSgt. Earl J. Critchlow

Security Police blotter—Member USAF detained at 9:30 p.m. for possession of explosives and detonating explosive devices on government property. Also detained were his spouse, three children, mother, father and several friends and neighbors.

"What happened?" you might ask. Was it an illegal bomb factory or maybe survivalist training? No! Nothing of the kind. This family and friends were setting off fireworks in their backyard in Military Family Housing.

Big deal, you say. Everyone sets off fireworks on the Fourth of July. It's part of the national tradition to celebrate Independence Day. We have a right to set off fireworks.

What is legal? What is allowed on Reese?

It is illegal to discharge any firearm or explosive on government property without written permission from the Base Commander. If you or your organization plan to have an organized fireworks display, base approved or in your backyard, be sure the displays are thoroughly coordinated with all involved personnel, particularly Safety, Fire Department, Security Police and medical departments.

In the City of Lubbock, as in most cities, it is illegal to set off fireworks.

Fireworks safety tips

If you are going to use fireworks, safety experts say to follow these guidelines:

❑ Do not allow younger children to play with fireworks under any circumstances. The sparkler, considered by many the ideal "safe" firework for the young, burns at very high temperatures and can easily ignite clothing. Children can't appreciate the danger involved.

❑ Older children should be allowed to play with fireworks only under close adult supervision. Don't allow any running or horseplay around fireworks.

❑ Read and follow all warning instructions printed on the firework label before use.

❑ Light fireworks outdoors in a clear area away from houses and flammable materials.

❑ Keep a bucket of water nearby for emergencies.

❑ Don't try to relight malfunctioning fireworks. Soak them in water and throw them away.

❑ Be sure other people and pets are out of range before lighting fireworks.

❑ Never light fireworks in a container, especially one of glass or metal.

❑ Store fireworks in a dry, cool place. Check instructions for special storage directions.

Get jump on PCS

The next "Smooth Move" program is July 15, 6-9 p.m. at the Base Chapel. The seminar will address frequently encountered questions and problems faced by a military family during a PCS move—whether state-side or overseas.

One of the program's special features is pairing personnel who have been previously stationed at a particular overseas base location with persons currently on PCS orders to that overseas location. Overseas information packets which describe customs as well as common problems and special needs are also distributed.

Child care is available at your expense. For more information, call Family Services, 3305.

Kids in touch

Family Services is organizing a sponsor/pen pal program for family members 8-18-years-old. The program's goal is to match Reese youth scheduled for a permanent change of station with another youth at their next base location. For more information, call Jeannette Hilpp, 3306.

Service awards presented

Length of Service Awards for ten, twenty and thirty years of federal service will be presented to the following personnel:

Thirty Year Award: Vivian C. White and Apolinar L. Garcia.

Twenty Year Award: Lula R. Knapp, Billy D. Montis and Albert R. De Forrest.

Ten Year Award: Dellmer F. Tannery, Linda D. Thomas, Randal Pendergraph, Tammy Timms and Richard D. Carroll.

College courses available

A Master of Engineering program is available through Texas Tech University in September. Deadline for enrolling is July 15.

Several four-week Industrial Engineering courses are available July 13 through August 7. These can apply towards the new Master of Engineering degree. For more information, call the Education Center, 3469.

Rod & Gun Club meets

The Reese Rod and Gun Club holds its monthly meeting Wednesday, 5 p.m., in the Enlisted Open Mess. The guest speaker is Mr. Hal Schramm, assistant professor, Department of Range and Wildlife Management, Texas Tech University. He will speak on lake stocking programs in the Lubbock area. All members and interested persons are urged to attend. For more information, call Mark Nabell, 3510.

Graduates meet Thursday

Graduates of NCO Leadership School, Noncommissioned Officer's Association and the NCO Academy Graduates Association invite everyone to their meeting, Thursday, 4:30 p.m., in the Enlisted Open Mess.

Golf tourney today

The Handicap Flag Golf Tournament is today (Friday). The tournament is for Reese personnel only. The $5 fee includes entry fee and prizes. A gold putter will be awarded for a hole-in-one. For more information, call 3819.

Registration begins

Registration for the second summer term for the Lubbock and Levelland campuses of South Plains College is July 9-10. Texas Tech registers July 13. Tuition assistance paperwork can be completed at the Education Center, Bldg. 920, Room 139. For more information, call 3634.

Free magic show held

A free 'World of Illusion' magic show is Monday, 7 p.m., at the Mathis Recreation Center. The show traveled throughout Europe, the Azores, Iceland, the Pacific and the Continental United States.

Flea Market ahead

The Mathis Recreation Center sponsors a flea market July 18 from 2-6 p.m. at the center. The cost is $2 per table and reservations must be made at the center by 6 p.m. June 15.

Windmill Chapter meets

The Windmill Chapter of the Noncommissioned Officer's Association meets Tuesday, 4:30 p.m., in the Enlisted Open Mess Conference Room. Members that have received Proxy votes for the upcoming convention should bring them to the meeting. For more information, call SSgt. Jim Bourns, 3122.

Child care available

The Reese Child Care Center invited infants six weeks to six months old to take part in Teddy Bear Flight. Through the program, the center provides a safe and healthy environment for social, physical, emotional and intellectual development. For more information, call 3541.

Speak up with Toastmasters

by 2nd Lt. Ronald Taylor
64th Supply Squadron

What do men like John Locke, Benjamin Franklin and Ronald Reagan have in common? They are all known as great communicators.

Throughout history, certain people have risen from obscurity to international fame and influence through the effective use of words. Lets face it, communication makes things happen. People who can express their needs, wants and desires get other peoples' attention. Where would America be today without the writings of John Locke, the statesmanship of Benjamin Franklin, or the leadership of Ronald Reagan?

Becoming a great communicator is not an accident. Great communicators practice their art with the same grim determination of a professional athlete or jet pilot. It's all the same, to be the best among the best, you must work harder, sacrifice more and persevere beyond the scope of your peers.

Assuming you desire to become a great communicator, what have you done today, or this week, to improve your communicative skills? If you truly desire to develop and fine-tune your communicative skills, I challenge you to join Toastmasters. I'm sure you've heard about us. We are committed to excellence in the field of communication and want you to join our group.

We live in a world that is quickly evolving from an industrial economy to an information based economy. Everything will depend upon your ability to understand and relate to society through communication. America is at the crest of this information age tidal wave. Join Toastmasters for a stronger America and a better you.

We meet at noon each Wednesday at the Officer's Open Mess. All ranks, military and civilian are welcome.

The Roundup

Year long, tough, but also fun by 2nd Lts. Eric Wickson and Craig Cody

It was a very early Friday morning. As I remember, that particular morning I came in at O'dark-thirty, not unlike the four previous mornings, and sat in the brief in a half asleep-half awake daze. Suddenly my whole body stiffened with anticipation as I began to realize that I had been awarded the opportunity to excel in the Stand Up Emergency Procedure. Having received nearly a year of the Air Force's best training, I handled the Emergency with the ease borne of fear, adrenalin and cold sweat. I took my seat knowing that I had finally made it through the 49-week UPT course. I smiled to myself because I knew that I had at last acquired the airmanship and awareness to wear the privileged silver wings of an Air Force aviator. For the members of Class 87-06, our day has finally arrived.

It all began for 57 of us in Class 87-06 July 15, 1986. Although college was not far behind, we were here plunging headlong into yet another course of education. We came from many different backgrounds and levels of experience, still we were all in the same "clueless" boat together. We met our first class commander that day, captain Stansbury, and he and all the others who followed him did their best to help us manage the firehose that had been turned upon us. We all jumped in with both feet but seemed already behind by the time day one came to an end. In the weeks that followed, the firehose continued with systems, pattern procedures, radio calls, physiology and emergency procedures. During this time we enjoyed leisurely eight-hour days, while parasailing and altitude chamber hyperventilation made us feel closer to our goal of taking to the skies.

We soon made it through Phase I, but of course we were just beginning—with lots more to follow. Twelve-hour days and spin boldface were hard realities from our very first day on the flight line.

Dollar rides and airsickness were soon behind us as less-than-perfect grades started to appear on the grade sheets. As the month progressed and we made new friendships, we also regretfully left a few friends behind along the way. But we all managed to pull together, and soon completed the T-37 phase and enjoyed a welcome Christmas break.

The break ended all too soon and the firehose was once again turned upon us. The hard work we did in T-37's seemed all for naught as we ham-fisted the T-38 white rocket around the sky. Things soon smoothed out, however, and we eventually soloed the Talon. Contact, Format, Instruments and Cross County kept us busy the last six months and helped the time to pass with lightning quickness, and we find ourselves now at our hard won goal for the 39 of us.

It has been a long, tough year, but it was also fun. The friendships and memories will be with us all forever, and we thank everybody at Reese for making it all possible.

Past wing commander guest speaker today

Major General Walter H. Baxter, III, (USAF retired) is president and co-owner of The Walter H. Baxter Seed Company located in Weslaco, Texas.

General Baxter was born July 26, 1926, in southern Texas and graduated from high school in his hometown of Weslaco, Texas, in 1943. He then attended what is now the University of Texas at Arlington and in 1944 enlisted in the U.S. Army Air Forces. In 1946 he received an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y.,

Maj. Gen. Walter H. Baxter III

and upon graduation in 1950 was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force. General Baxter is also a graduate of the Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., and the Army War College at Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

He entered flying training at James Connally Air Force Base, Texas, and received his wings at Craig Air Force Base, Ala., in 1951. He went through gunnery school at Luke Air Force Base, Ariz., and went on to South Korea where he flew F-51s with the 12th Fighter-Bomber Squadron, 18th Fighter-Bomber Group. As a lieutenant he became a squadron operations officer and led group strikes deep into North Korea.

The general returned to the United States in August 1952 and was assigned to Clovis Air Force Base, N.M., where he served with the 10th Fighter-Bomber Squadron of the 50th Fighter-Bomber Wing. A year later General Baxter transferred to Langley Air Force Base, Va., with the 509th Fighter-Bomber Squadron of the 405th Fighter-Bomber Wing. While there he wrote many of the plans and procedures for tactical mobility that continue today in the Tactical Air Command.

In June 1955 he joined the 20th Fighter-bomber Wing at Royal Air Force Station Wethersfield, England, where he served as both flight commander, and wing gunnery and bombing officer until May 1958. He was then assigned to the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colo., as course director and executive officer in the department of military studies.

General Baxter became director of officer training and an instructor pilot in August 1961, flying T-33s and T-38s at Webb Air Force Base, Texas. In September 1963 he entered the Air Command and Staff College. Upon graduation in June 1964, he was assigned to Williams Air Force Base, Ariz., where he served at various times as wing executive, director of plans and T-38 operations officer.

In early 1966 General Baxter went through F-4 training at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Ariz., and in June transferred to the 36th Tactical Fighter Wing, Bitburg Air Base, Germany, where he served as operations officer of the 22nd Tactical Fighter Squadron for one year and as commander of the squadron for two years.

General Baxter returned to the United States to enter the Army War College. Following graduation in June 1970, he went to Southeast Asia with the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing at Ubon Royal Thai Air Force Base, Thailand. He flew 125 combat missions in F-4s while serving as deputy commander for operations and later as vice commander of the wing. In September 1971 General Baxter transferred to Reese Air Force Base, Texas as deputy commander for operations. In January 1972 he took command of the 64th Flying Training Wing at Reese. He became vice commander of Keesler Technical Training Center, Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., in July 1974. In March 1975 he was selected to command the 13th Air Force advance echelon at Udorn Royal Thai Air Force Base, Thailand, which in July 1975 was renamed the 17th Air Division. It was during this assignment that these forces played a significant role in the evacuation of Phnom Penh and Saigon, the reclaiming of American equipment in Southeast Asia and the rescue of the "Mayaguez."

General Baxter served as vice commander of the 13th Air Force with duty at U-Tapao Royal Thai Naval Airfield, Thailand, from January to June 1976. He then became commander of the 313th Air Division and the 18th Tactical Fighter Wing on Okinawa.

From September 1978 to August 1979, he was commander of the 24th North American Air Defense Command and 24th Aerospace Defense Command Region at Malmstrom Air Force Base, Mont. He then served with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as air deputy, Northern European Command, at Kolslas, Norway. The general assumed command of the 3rd Air Force, United States Air Forces in Europe, with Headquarters at Royal Air Force Station Mildenhall, Suffolk, England, in July of 1981. He served as commander until his retirement in Aug. 1982.

He is a command pilot and has more than 4,700 hours flying time in 24 types of aircraft—primarily fighters. His military decorations and awards include the Legion of Merit with two oak leaf clusters, Distinguished Flying Cross with one oak leaf cluster, Air Medal with nine oak leaf clusters, Joint Service Commendation Medal, Air Force Commendation Medal, Air Force Outstanding Unit award ribbon and Republic of Korea Presidential Unit Citation. For his service on Okinawa, he was awarded the 3rd Order of the Rising Sun by the Japanese government.

He was promoted to major general June 1, 1978, with date of rank Sept. 12, 1974. General Baxter and his wife, the former Lila Waldrop of Bessemer, Ala., have two daughters, Maurie and Rosemary; and two sons Walter H., IV and Scott.

Friday evening, the base Fire Department hosted the annual Fire Training Seminar. Fifty-four firemen and representatives from civilian fire departments attended the session. Representatives among the 18 cities and counties present came from as far as Amarillo and Hobbs, New Mexico to attend. Presentations during the evening consisted of T-37 and T-38 aircraft familiarization sessions, egress and extraction procedures, crash reporting procedures and aircraft fire fighting procedures. Right, a Reese Fireman lights the fire in preparation for the live aircraft fire fighting and rescue demonstration at the base fire training area. (USAF Photo)

Finding the Constitution a home

by Jeff Lindblad
Randolph AFB, Texas

People expect valuable documents such as the Constitution to be housed in a safe place. While this may be a common practice today, it was not so when the Constitution was signed 200 years ago.

Originally, the Constitution was housed in New York where it had been sent for ratification by Congress. It was moved to Philadelphia when that city became the nation's capital. In 1800, when Washington was made the seat of government, the Constitution was moved there along with the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights.

For almost 150 years the Constitution was not seen by the public. It was examined once by John Quincy Adams when he needed to check its punctuation and again when a historian was writing a book about it. But, for the most part, the Constitution usually remained tucked away in various places inside the State Department. Once it was found in a tin box at the bottom of a closet.

In 1894, after someone noticed the pages were starting to deteriorate, the document was sealed between glass plates and stored in the basement at the State Department. However, in 1921, it was turned over to the Library of Congress where it could receive expert care and be placed on public display. It remained on display along with the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights until shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor. Then, all three of the documents were moved to the U.S. Bullion Depository at Fort Knox, Ky., for safekeeping. They were returned to Washington, D.C., in 1944.

The documents arrived at their current location at the National Archives in 1952, where they are displayed along with other priceless national records. When not on display, the documents are encased in a bomb-proof, shockproof, fireproof vault under the National Archives exhibition hall.

Chapel Notes

The Catholic Community of Reese will conduct its annual Vacation School of Religion starting Monday August 3 through August 7.

This year's theme is "Celebrating our Sacraments," designed to help children identify the Church's seven sacraments and explore their meanings for Catholic Christians. Through examining the signs and symbols connected with each sacrament, children are better able to understand the sacraments are celebrations in God's action in our everyday lives.

Age levels are:

3 and 4 year olds;
Preschool, 5 and 6 year olds who are ready to begin kindergarten.

Primary, 6 to 8 year olds who have completed grades one and two.

Intermediate, 8 to 10 year olds who have completed third and fourth grade.

Junior, 10 to 13 year olds who have completed grades 5 and 6.

The three and four year olds will begin at 10 and last until 11:30 a.m.

To enroll your child stop by the R.E. office or call Barbara Chauncey at the chapel.

Two personnel get Master rating

by SSgt. Jim Bourns
Field Training Detachment 429
Public Affairs Representative

Master Instructor Ratings have been awarded to Field

General Worrick Visits

The new officers for the American Society of Military Comptrollers were installed by Brig. Gen. Mark J. Worrick, commander, Air Force Accounting and Finance Center, in a ceremony June 11.

General Worrick also discussed the Comptroller Office of the Future with the personnel in the Comptroller Division during his visit.

The future impact of automation efforts, the many systems of the Comptroller Office and the future Sperry 2200 computer system were among the topics the general discussed.

The new computer system is designed to enhance current procedures by automating routine paperwork processing. The Comptroller Division is scheduled to receive the Sperry 2200 in January, 1988.

"I am determined to be cheerful and happy in whatever situation I may be, for I have also learned from experience that the greater part of our happiness depends on our dispositions and not on our circumstances."

—Martha Washington

Training Detachment 429 instructors TSgt. Joe Ward and SSgt. Dave Kanuer.

Sergeant Ward was previously assigned to the 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron before being accepted for instructor duty.

Sergeant Kanuer's previous assignment was the 64th Field Maintenance Engine Shop.

Both sergeants were required to have a minimum of two years instructor duties, and attend college and training courses in addition to other requirements to obtain their Master Instructor Rating.

Individuals interested in becoming a Field Training Detachment instructor may be interviewed by MSgt. Roger A. Hulslander, detachment chief, in Bldg. 955.
