Redistricting hearing on City Council agenda Tuesday Department of Agriculture Community

By ROGER CLINE

A public hearing on redistricting will be held near the beginning of Tuesday evening's Big Spring City Council meeting. The meeting will be held at 5:30 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, 307 E Fourth Street. Those wishing to view the meeting can do so either in person or by telecommunication via Suddenlink's Local Channel 17, or by the City's link to the channel online at http://mybigspring.com/224/Channel-17-Live.

The city has two public hearings planned on redistricting. The first will be Tuesday evening during the City Council meeting, while the second will be at the start of the City Council meeting on Jan. 25. The hearing will be led by attorney Bob Bass with the city's legal firm, Allison, Bass and Magee LLP of Austin.

Following the opening call to order, invocation and Pledge of Allegiance Tuesday evening, the city leaders will hear general public comments.

Next, they will hear a presentation over Section 3 Workers for active Texas Development Block Grants. Chelsey Baldivia of the South Plains Association of Governments will give the presenta-The council will next open the public hearing on redistricting.

Following the hearing, City Manager Todd Darden will give his regular report, focusing on the Large Item Pickup scheduled Jan. 19 for District 1; and the Jan. 17 Martin Luther King Holiday.

The meeting's Consent Agenda, consisting of four items, will be considered next. On the Consent Agenda are: approval of City Council minutes of the Dec. 14, 2021, regular meeting; final reading of a resolution authorizing amendments to the City's Personnel Policy Manual; final reading of an ordinance authorizing the Municipal Court to charge a credit/ debit card reimbursement fee; and final reading of an ordinance establishing bonding requirements for city officials.

The council will consider an item tabled at its previous meeting to remove all members appointed before July 1, 2021, from the Airpark Development Board, the Parks and Recreation Board, the Traffic Commission, the Planning and Zoning Commission, the Animal Rescue and Adoption Committee, the Board of Adjustments and Appeals, and the Zoning Board of Adjustments. The item was raised by Councilwoman Diane Yanez (District 2) at a previous meeting, but was tabled at the council's last meeting due to Yanez's absence. The council will consider vouchers for Dec. 16, 2021, in the amount of $1,148,146.65; for Dec. 29, 2021, in the Cowboy Dave Earnest was well known in the West Texas area. During a 1950 interview, he told of a story that took place in 1883...a time when a cowpuncher could ride 100 miles without seeing a horse or another person.

C.C. Slaughter's Deep Creek Crew of cowboys were working on the ranch that wore the 'Long S' brand. They were located at the head of Tobacco Creek. Fourteen of the cowboys were away from headquarters and on Wild Horse Creek for a month. They began running out of provisions. Lump Mooney was the wagon boss. He made an announcement to the crew that morning: "All you fellers git your beddin' an throw in with the Two Circle Bar, while some of us ain't over about 75 miles, an' we ought to make it back in 'bout a week." Mooney ordered Dave Earnest and Jube to go with him to get the provisions. Earnest said, "Jube was a black wagon cook and was remembered by old-timers as one of the best in all West Texas." Mooney and Earnest rode ahead to pick out the best trails, and Jube followed with the empty wagon. Earnest continued, "There weren't any roads, but there were many small creeks to be crossed, most of which were dry at that time. The wagon, being empty, made pretty good time." Mooney said it would soon be sundown and they needed to gather wood for cooking and find a water hole for the horses. The two men located a good camping spot and rode back to meet Jube to direct him to the place. A flock of turkey flew over and began to roost in the trees. Mooney suggested they wait and get the birds early the next morning for a "turkey dinner."

As they started to move back to the camp, they noticed a mound of fresh dirt with wagon tracks leading away. They dug down into the grave with their hands and found an old quilt.

"There's a man buried down there," Earnest said.

They called on Jube to reload the cooking gear and they set out following the wagon tracks. They had not ridden far before they came upon a covered wagon and a woman building a fire. The lady said she and her husband had come to amount of $749,403.25; and for Jan. 6 in the amount of $828.830.43.

The council will also consider awarding a bid for lease purchase financing of capital items to Bank Funding LLC., who offered an interest rate of 1.450 percent on the transaction. The city received six bids in total on the financing, and Bank Funding's was the lowest interest rate of the six, according to a memo included along with the meeting's agenda. In New Business, the Council will acknowledge receipt of the Big Spring Economic Development Corporation's Board of Directors' minutes from its regular meeting Nov. 16.

The council will also acknowledge receipt of a quarterly Claims and Litigation Report from City Attorney Andrew Hagen.

The Council will consider accepting a $10,000 donation from Occidental Petroleum (Oxy) for Self-Contained Breathing Apparatus (SCBA) and glass cutters for the Big Spring Fire Departtment.

The Council will also consider donation of fencing from the City to the Salvation Army for use at a ballfield at the organization's headquarters and Boys and Girls Club in town at 811 W. Fifth Street.

Next on the agenda is consideration of a contract renewal with CGI Communications Inc. for production of the Community Video Program. The contract is due to remain in effect until the third anniversary of the date it was first approved, which was Jan. 3, 2021.

The council will consider on first reading a resolution to set the rotation of Council members to verify and audit payment vouchers on a monthly

The council will also consider on first reading a resolution amending the Big Spring Economic Development Corporation by amending the number of directors, the manner of appointing the directors, and the rules of procedure. The alterations are apparently to bring the EDC into line with the City's new scheme of appointing one member to each city board or committee from each district. The council will hear the first reading of a resolution approving and adopting new district boundaries for the election of City Council members.

The council will also hear first reading of an ordinance adopting the 2021 edition of the International Property Maintenance Code. This effectively means the city will make many small changes to its codes governing conditions and maintenance of property and buildings, standards for utilities and facilities, including safety and sanitation; condemnation of buildings deemed unfit for occupation; demolition of condemned structures; permits; nuisances; waste disposal; illegal dumping and litter control; garbage; etc.

The Council will consider amending the budget by $25,000 to fund the purchase of a vehicle for the Big Spring Senior Center. According to the item, the increase will be funded by a donation from the G.C. Broughton Foundation.

The council will consider approval of appointments to City boards and committees, including to the Big Spring EDC Board: Jonathan Ray (nominated by Diane Yanez, District 2); to the Board of Adjustments and Appeals: Rosie Franco (nominated by Yanez); to the Animal Rescue and Adoption Committee: Amy French (nominated by Cody Hughes – District 3); to the Convention and Visitors Bureau Board: Kristy Tyra (nominated by Troy Tompkins – District 5) and Emaan Campbell (nominated by Mayor Shannon Thomason).

The council will adjourn into executive session to discuss business prospects and economic development negotiations, and to discuss an offer of a financial or other incentive to a business prospect. Actions discussed during closed session will be voted on in open session before taking effect.

Following the closed session and any action stemming from it, the meeting will adjourn.

Peyton Cabot's fifteenth year will be a painful and transformative one in The Key to Everything (F LUE V) by Valerie Fraser Luesse. His father, the heroic but reluctant head of a moneyed Savannah family, has come home from WWII a troubled vet, drowning his demons in bourbon and distancing himself from his son. A tragic accident shows Peyton the depths of his parents' devotion to each other but interrupts his own budding romance with the girl of his dreams, Lisa Wallace. Struggling to cope with a young life upended, Peyton makes a daring decision: He will retrace a journey his father took at fifteen, riding his bicycle all the way to Key West, Florida. Part declaration of independence, part search for self, Peyton's journey will bring him more than he ever could have imagined, namely, the key to his unknowable father, a reunion with Lisa, and a calling that will shape the rest of his life.

Upon her release from a woman's reformatory in 1941 Toronto, Olivia Rosetti wants nothing more than to forget the horrors of her time there and return to normal in A Haven for her Heart - Redemptions Light Series Bk# 1 (F MAS S) by Susan Anne Mason. But with her family unwilling to forgive and employers wary of hiring her, she quickly ends up desperate and homeless, until a chance encounter with well-to-do widow Ruth Bennington. The two discover they share a painful history and together decide to open a maternity home for troubled women. Greek widower Darius Reed is determined to protect his daughter from the prejudice that killed her mother and hopes to marry into a prominent Toronto family. But when his employer orders him to persuade Ruth Bennington to sell them her property, Darius soon becomes conflicted over his feelings about the home and his attraction to Olivia. Despite finding fulfilment in her work, Olivia must fight not only bitter memories and the community's negative reaction to their mission, but also feelings for the man who is trying to close her home. Can love prove stronger than prejudice and societal pressures, or will past mistakes destroy her chance at true happiness?

After years away studying on the East Coast, Constance Browning is eager to return to her family and the reservation they serve as missionaries in Forever by Your Side - Willamette Brides Series Bk# 3 (F PET T) by Tracie Peterson. She and her best friend and colleague, Thomas Lowell, have worked to get her assigned to this project cataloging the native peoples of Oregon for the Bureau of American Ethnology. But Connie and Tom have another purpose: to prove her parents are innocent of a conspiracy to goad the tribes into war. Yet the reservation is much bleaker and the members filled with more animosity than she remembers. And the unexpected, sudden interest of Clint Singleton, the government agent on whom she had a crush as a girl, only confuses things more. With rumors of war brewing, Connie and Tom must discover who is truly behind the uprising before it is too late. With everything at stake, Connie will have to determine where her heart and future lie.

the Bull Creek Country from Arkansas where her husband had hoped to get work on one of the big ranches they had heard about. The night before, the couple had camped near where the cowboys had found the grave of her husband. That morning, her husband had seen a herd of Antelope. Her husband had reached up into the wagon for his Winchester rifle with the muzzle toward him. The gun discharged and he fell dead.

The lady said "I haven't seen a soul for two days and now I'm all alone except for my baby. I wrapped my husband in an old quilt and buried him as best as I could. I thought that maybe I could find my way back out of here.'

Jube arrived with the wagon and quickly prepared supper. The lady said all she had was $10, a wagon and team. She wanted to get back to Arkansas with her baby. The lady drove her wagon behind the cowboys all the way to Colorado (City).

Once they arrived, the cowboys put her up at the Pacific Hotel and looked up Sheriff Dick Ware, Mitchell County's first sheriff. They asked him what he thought the lady's team would bring at an auction. Mooney speculated that the most it would bring would be $100.00.

Sheriff Ware said, "That ain't no money, we'll make it bring $500.00."

Ware went inside Page and Charley's Saloon and stood on a dry goods box to make an announcement. "Fellow citizens, I'm offering you an opportunity to become owner of a fine wagon and two of the best horses in this part of Texas. The price of this outfit is exactly $500.00 in good and lawful money, not poker chips. A lot of you hombres would like to lay the money down and drive away with this wonderful bargain, but it wouldn't be treating the others right. It's my intention to be fair and to give everybody a chance. I'm going to raffle off the outfit for $500 which is 100 chances of $5 a shot. Step right up, gentlemen, with your five-dollar bills, and Jake Maurer will give you what you hope will be the winning number."

Sheriff Ware drummed the handles of his six-shooter with his fingertips as the five-dollar bills poured in. Many a gambler and saloon man insisted on buying more than one chance. When the chances were all sold the numbers were put in a hat and a bootblack was blindfolded and instructed to pull one ticket out.

Tom Adair of the CA Bar Ranch held the winning number.

"Now Dick," Adair said to the Sheriff. "What am I going to do with this outfit?"

"I don't know," Ware answered. "I'll tell you one thing, if you don't get it off the street pretty quick, I'll raffle it off again." Then as Adair was about to leave with his prize the officer hailed him. "What's your hurry? Being the lucky man, you're entitled to the privilege of setting up the drinks for the crowd. Go in and put your foot on the rail gentlemen, Tom is treatin' the losers!"

With the $500 in hand, Sheriff Ware went down to the Pacific Hotel and called on the widow.

"Mam," he said, "Here's $500.00. It was all I could get for your outfit. Most of the cowmen are out on roundup or I might have done better."

When the grateful woman tried to thank him, she burst into tears. He tried to console her and said "Mam, you mustn't thank anybody. We're all sorry that on your first visit to Texas you had such misfortune. When you get to Arkansas and visit with your folks awhile, you and the baby an'

all vour folks can come back to Texas, and we'll shore try to treat you right."

As the years passed by, the lonely grave soon disappeared underneath the growth of mesquites and cedars, but the Texas West cowboy's generosity lived on.

Big Spring lady Steers celebrate senior night with a big District win

The Big Spring Lady Steers wanted to make a statement in their district opener against the Lubbock Estacado Matadors Friday night at Steer Gym. Indeed they did they hung on for a 45-42 victory or a team that had been their nemesis not last season.

The Lady Steers kept a slight edge for most of a close game, leading 10-5 after one quarter and 17-13 at the half. Big Spring slowly crept away in the third quarter, leading 31-24 and built the lead to 39-29 on a Mya Blanco free throw with 5:50 left in the game. The lead seemed even more secure when Tristen Smith got a steal and turned it into a layup. Big Spring led 44-34 with 2:28 remaining.

The Matadors would lay down and down and die however. Behind the aggressive defense of Alyssa Orto and Tiona Duvall they gamely battled back whittling the lead to 44-40 with 30 seconds left in the game. Alex Enriquez's free throw was Big Spring's last point of the game, Estacado's Narriah Gomez's layup ending the scoring for the game as Big Spring came away with the victory.

A relieved Big Spring coach Eric Tuttle said this is what he envisioned. "Last year Estacado came in second in our district," he said. "They beat us by single digits both times. Make no mistake about it, we needed to go 1-0. We been talking about it all week and we needed to make a statement. The Lady Steers are here."

Smith, a senior point guard was the catalyst for Big Spring. Every time a spark was needed, she was in the mix, whether it was knocking down shots, getting steals or taking charges. She finished with a game-high 17 points to go along with three steals..

Smith got ample help from Enriquez who hit three second half three-pointers and from reserve forward Abby Delgado who ignited a third quarter run with a sweet scoop shot under the goal and then followed it by dishing out a nifty pass to Enriquez who nailed a three.

"We turned it up on the defensive end today," said Tuttle. "We did a lot better job of husting all over the floor. "We knew they (Estacado) would turn up the intensity at the end. We were able to hold them off though."

The Lady Steers, 13-9 for the season, will be in district action Tuesday when they travel to San Angelo to play Lake View at 6:30 p.m.

By STEVE BELVIN

Contributing Writer

It was "Splash Brothers Night" night at Steer Gym. If you were there you saw a gem. If not , you'll hear about it. Chris Martinez and Gavin Greathouse put on a display of shooting that Steph Curry and Klay Thompson would have been proud of.

When all the smoke had cleared the Big Spring Steers strolled to a 74-59 win over the Monahans Lobos and left the crowd in awe of their long range a accuracy. The game could be summed up in the first half. They scored 43 of Big Spring's 46 points. Greathouse was nine of 14, five threes for 22 points. Martinez made three 3's, 8 of 11 from the floor, 21 points.

They did it with flair. One would hit a couple of bombs and the other would follow with a couple of his own. The further the better. Martinez tried bout a 40-footer late in the third quarter. It was fun, it was shooting showmanship. It wasn't all just siting outside and launching. Both players earned "tough" points on driving to the basket.

Another major player in the win was forward Keagan Mitchell, who knew how to get the ball to his hot shooting guards. Mitchell contributed eight assists. Saquen Fizer played strong, finishing with 10 points and seven rebounds.

The Steers will play again Monday in Jayton at 6 p.m.

The bidding: East 2 💠 2♥ 3 🏚 Pass 3 ♠ Pass 4♥ Pass 4 NT Pass 5 🕏 Pass

Opening lead — jack of diamonds.

This deal contributed substantially to the victory by a U.S. team over Pakistan in the final of the 1986 world championship.

When the hand was first played, with a Pakistani pair sitting North-South, the bidding went as shown. South's two-club opening was strong and artificial, after which the bidding was natural, except for North's cue-bid of hearts at his second turn. When Blackwood revealed that North had no aces, South settled for a small slam in spades.

East, Robert Lipsitz, won the opening diamond lead with the ace and quickly concluded that his side's best — and probably only chance to defeat the slam was to find his partner with a void in clubs. So he returned a club at trick two and was delighted to see West ruff for down one.

The deal seemed headed for an identical result at the second table when the American North-South pair also reached six spades. Here, however, because of a quirk in the U.S. pair's bidding methods, North bid spades first and was therefore about to become the declarer. But this development prompted West to double six spades, hoping to steer East to a club lead.

West's plan would have worked beautifully had everyone passed (and East led a club). But North, interpreting the significance of the double perfectly, wisely retreated to six notrump, a contract that was safe against any lead. Indeed, had East not cashed the ace of diamonds at trick one, declarer would have made all 13 tricks.

The combined result of plus 990 at one table and plus 50 at the other gave the U.S. a total gain of 1,040 points, or 14 IMPs, on the deal.

Friction With Brotherin-Law

Dear Annie: My twin sister and brotherin-law visited me for the recent holiday. I love my sister, and we have always gotten along well. As is stereotypical with twins, we grew up inseparable and have remained emotionally close, even as the physical distance between us widens. We now only see each other a few times a year, and I cherish these times.

The difficulty I have is that her husband is insufferable. He is perpetually in a bad mood and always disagreeable. Neither my husband nor I really like it when he's around, and his demeanor seems to indicate the feeling is mutual. I want to spend time with my sister, but I find it less compelling knowing that her husband will be coming along. Do you have any suggestions on how I could handle this? --Sad Sister

Dear Sad Sister:

To quote the often acerbic but always insightful Oscar Wilde: "Some cause happiness wherever they go; others whenever they go." Sounds as if your sister is on the "wherever she goes" end and her husband is in the "whenever" camp. Given how close you are with your sister, you should feel comfortable addressing the situation with her. Let her know that you sense a lack of interest from him in spending time with you, and ask her what you could do to strengthen the bond between you and him. Empower her to create a solution with her husband, and let her know you want to make it more comfortable for him. If that doesn't work, suggest that you two take sister trips in which you meet at a neutral location and keep the focus on you two or a small circle of people; no spouses, because that might alienate her

Dear Annie: I have some issues with social anxiety, and my workplace isn't helping. I'm unsure of when to act professionally and when to act more casually. I'm sure there's a balance between the two, but I'm struggling to find that balance. Everyone at my workplace is really nice and friendlier than I would have expected, but it seems there's an invisible line not to be crossed. How can I gain clarity on this gray area of work-versus-social etiquette? If I'm too professional, I appear cold and distant. If I'm too friendly, I appear out of line and don't appear to take my job seriously. -- Confused in Corporate

Dear Confused: In my experience, it's always better to err on the side of professionalism, even if it feels a bit stilted and unnatural at times. You will never regret being a bit too formal in the workplace, but you may regret being too informal. That being said, you can gradually work toward a more familiar relationship with your co-workers over time. After you've been there for a few months, you might ask a co-worker who is your peer (i.e., not a supervisor) to grab coffee or dinner. People tend to open up more and behave more casually outside the office, even when with co-workers. Then, having established that rapport outside the office, you'll feel a bit more comfortable at

Cosmic Mentorship

Not every discipline is right for every person. Cultivating the ones that are a good fit to the most helpful degree is an art. The Martian angle to Neptune that's moving into tomorrow's squared aspect is a kind of cosmic mentor, helping us find the right thing to get better at. The pursuits that are good for us are thrilling to devote to.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). When you recognize others for their achievements, you fulfill a profound and universal need so primal that many do not even realize they have it: the need to feel important and respected. TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Humor is revealing. Joking gives away the truth of the situation. You'll laugh with friends and be gentle with the humorless. Maybe they are protecting a part of themselves GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Some say the human brain processes one challenge the notion. The emotion at a time, but you'll duality of your sign engen-ders complexity. You'll find yourself taking in all sides of a bittersweet or tragicomic circumstance. CANCER (June 22-July 22). Someone will play the comparison game with you. You're good at this one. One of your best tactics is to be very impressed by your opponent's play and let them have all the glory. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22).

The situation is reminiscent of the fable about the ant and grasshopper. You're the ant, busily storing away grain even when you have plenty. When the grasshoppers laugh, you'll pity their future selves.

22). Who will come to the party? Who will participate in your plans? Do they really like you? Yes on all accounts. You don't even have to try hard. They'll be swept into your natural

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Sharing what matters to you brings gifts too numerous and subtle to describe. Your arguments get better, and your knowledge deepens as you listen up. All thrive with the discussion going strong.

21). As uncomfortable as it can be living with an outspoken inner critic, there are benefits, too. Without this voice in your head, you wouldn't be the profound thinker and industrious individual you are

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). To fully appreciate what you have and use it to your best advantage is the greatest win. Once you maximize your existing resources, new ones will become available.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You need space in your schedule to do important things, such as nothing at all. You repair and restore yourself in the breaks. Consider making fewer commitments. Your future self will thank you.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

(Jan. 10). Your dreams are possible. It's a little scary, but you'll charge forward. No excuses. No quitting. You'll change something about your habits and thinking that will seal you to your work with a new spirit of devotion. Finances perk up with solid, interesting work. You'll be pursued by employers and love interests. Sagittarius and Libra adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 1, 44, 38, 12

COSMIC QUESTION:

"Do you have any advice for a 25-year-old Pisces who just started dating a musician on his way to becoming famous? We were only dating for four months when his record label sent him out on the road to promote a new album. Now he's appearing in videos and playing for thousands of people and I'm not sure how I can compete with all of the attention he's getting from everyone else. Though he says that he really cares about me and wants us to be together, this whole thing is making me feel very insecure.' I admire your candor. Pi-sces are easily swept into the hubbub of fame and can be hurt in the process if they are not aware of the realities of this line of business. What you need to do now is to go more deeply into your own interests and ambitions. Remember who you are. Devote yourself fully to realizing your own goals. Get grounded and date your musician boyfriend as you would any other "normal" guy.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle! Today's Answers
