Teddy Fay is back in Hollywood and caught in two tricky situations in Bombshell -Teddy Fay series Bk 4 (M WOO S) by Stuart Woods. First, a rising star at Centurion becomes the target of malicious gossip, and Teddy must find and neutralize the source before the situation gets out of hand or becomes violent. At the same time, Teddy finds himself targeted by a criminal thug bearing a grudge. It's a lot of knives to juggle, even for a former CIA-operative-turned-movie-producer accustomed to hazardous working conditions. This time Teddy will need to leverage every bit of his undercover skills and fearless daring to stay one step ahead of his foes or he'll find himself one foot in the grave. Kaylee Sloan's home in Southern California is full of wonderful memories of the woman who raised her in Return to Virgin River - Virgin River series Bk 19 (F CAR R) by Robyn Carr. But the memories are prolonging her grief over her mother's recent death. A successful author, Kaylee hoped she could pour herself into her work. Instead she has terrible writer's block and a looming deadline. Determined to escape distractions and avoid the holiday season, Kaylee borrows a cabin in Virgin River. She knows the isolation will help her writing, and as she drives north through the mountains and the majestic redwoods, she immediately feels inspired. Until said. "We worked hard to achieve that goal."

In addition to the two state-advancing teams, BSHS took third place with junior Morgan Griffith and sophomore Avery Williams, and fourth place with junior Ananya Limaye and freshman Ashley Melendez. The placings give the Steer UIL Academic team a 44-point lead over Snyder high school.

"For most of these students, this is the first year that they have competed in CX Debate at District. We are super excited that we will have all but one of these debaters back next year." Adams said. "This gives us a solid foundation to continue the Steer tradition of qualifying teams to State.'

The first- through third-place teams have also qualified for the Texas Forensic Association State tournaments by winning rounds and earning qualification points at tournaments throughout the fall.

The University Interscholastic League Cross-Examination State Meet is the oldest UIL activity, and is held on the campus of the University of Texas in March. For the BSHS Speech and Debate team, this marks the 20th consecutive time to qualify for the CX State meet.

she arrives at a building that has just gone up in flames. Devastated, she heads to Jack's Bar to plan her next steps. The local watering hole is the heart of the town, and once she crosses the threshold, she's surprised to be embraced by people who are more than willing to help a friend or a stranger in need. Kaylee's world is expanding in ways she never dreamed possible. And when she rescues a kitten followed by a dog with a litter of puppies, she finds her heart opening up to the animals who need her. And then there's the dog trainer who knows exactly how to help her. As the holidays approach, Kaylee's dread turns to wonder. Because there's no better place to spend Christmas than Virgin River.

As a young girl, Lillian Walsh lost both her parents and a younger sister in Unyielding Hope - When Hope Calls series Bk 1 (F OKE J) by Janette Oke. Now in her twenties, after enduring the death of her adoptive mother, Lillian must find her place in the world. Just as her adoptive father is leaving for an extended trip to his native Wales, a lawyer appears at the door to inform Lillian that she has inherited a small estate from her birth parents and that the sister she had long believed dead is likely alive. When she discovers that her sister, Grace, is living in a city not far away, Lillian rushes to a reunion, fearful that the years of separation will make it hard to reconnect. When the two sisters meet, Grace is not at all what Lillian expected to find. Though her circumstances have been difficult, Grace has big dreams. Can Lillian set aside her own plans to join her sister in an adventure that will surely change them

Before he testifies in an important case, businessman Michael "Mikey" Fiore hides out in Jacobsville, Texas, in Texas Proud – Long, Tall Texans series Bk 52 (F PAL D) by Diana Palmer. On a rare night out, he crosses paths with softly beautiful Bernadette, who seems burdened with her own secrets. He hears whispers about a life-threatening condition, her solitary existence. This doesn't stop him from wanting her, which endangers them both. Their bond grows into passion until shocking truths surface. Plus, a classic story from the Men of Medicine Ridge series in "Circle of Gold." Sparks fly the moment Kasie Mayfield arrives at Gil Callister's sprawling ranch to care for his two adorable daughters. Gil is difficult to read, but he still sweeps her off her feet. ## COSTUMES FOR BIGFOOT

TUMBLEWEED

By Tumbleweed Smith

Special to the Herald I guess one reason to question Bigfoot's authenticity is the fact that movies about the strange creature feature actors wearing Bigfoot costumes. A man in Henderson

When Travis Driver was growing up, he hung out at his grandfather's upholstery shop in Kilgore. "I would dream up something I wanted to make," says Travis, "and my paw-paw would facilitate that."

Travis attended kindergarten in Overton. "The day that we had to stand up before the class and say what we wanted to do I said I wanted to be a special effects artist. That was in 1981 or so and people around Overton kept asking 'what is a special effects artist?' I had an opportunity to study that at a school in Denver but money ran SMITH short and I had to put that dream of making monsters for movies on hold."

Travis kept doing artistic projects like painting murals and working in civic theater where he directed and acted in plays, built sets and props, did makeup and all sorts of things. "Then in 2014 I got a Facebook message from a guy I did not know. He was going to be shooting a movie around Jefferson and it was to be a Bigfoot movie and he needed a creature suit for the film. He asked me to do it because he had met someone on a film shoot and told him I was the man who could do the job. I spent a lot of time doing research and making the costume and the guy didn't see the finished product until I showed up on the movie set with it. I guess they were pleased because when they saw it they changed the script so they could show more of Bigfoot."

The area around Jefferson is a great place to shoot a scary movie. The overhanging moss on trees and shallow Caddo Lake with tall cypress trees sticking out of the water is an eerie sight. And besides that the city has some haunted buildings. The movie's title is SOMETHING IN THE WOODS and is now on digital platforms. Travis ended up having a small part in the movie. Posters for it are all over Jefferson and feature a silhouette of the creature. The word got out on Facebook about Travis's work and another movie company, this one in Washington State, called him. Then another, the last one being a major studio with big name stars. They all wanted Bigfoot creature suits. Each one is different. Along with the suit, Travis did the head, face, hands and feet. Bigfoot is a hairy thing and all the hairs are individually punched with a needle. Travis does every bit of that including the sculpting, casting with silicone, the painting and of course the muscle suit with foam rubber inside and covered with fur on the outside. Knowing how to sew comes in real handy.

At the premier of one of the Bigfoot movies, a question and answer period followed and Travis did some of the answering. "Someone asked me if I had created the costume based on an encounter. I was very sad to say that I didn't base it on an encounter but you can take what other people have described and what you can envision and imagine yourself." Travis works for the school system in Henderson, but when he gets a call for a creature suit, he'll make it.

Second Time Around

By STEVE BLEVIN

Contributing Writer

Been very interesting basketball season so far in Howard County. Looks good for Big Spring. The Steers and Lady Steers will more than likely make it to the playoffs. The Coahoma girls are a shoo-in and the boys have a better than average chance of advancing. I like the chances of the Howard College men, although they sit on the bubble right now.

Howard men and the Steers remind me of each other. both are undersized and both play tenacious defense. They both work the ball around and find the open teammate. They both have that "little big man" in the middle that thinks he's 7-foot tall. Bonny Undoh, 6-foot-5, sophomore from Amarillo Palo Duro, is the Howard enforcer. He's strong and aggressive and has a high field goal percentage, that's because he take's high percentage shots. Don't think you're going to get an easy dunk because he will challenge you and block your shot.

Isiah Holloway is the "little big man" in the Big Spring middle. This guy stands 5-11 at the most and he's a bona fide linebacker on the football field, going to play at the next level next year. Underneath he plays like a linebacker aggressive and very vocal. He's wilted down many a bigger man. Also takes high percentage shots and makes them.

The Lady Steers are getting better every year under the tutelage of Eric Tuttle. Not the most talented group you want to see but they leave it all out there on the court and are fairly sound on the fundamentals. District 3-4A foe Levelland showed Big Spring what it's like to play against the best and what they have to do to get better.

New coach Joe Mireles has the District 5-3A Coahoma Bulldogettes playing well. The switch to coaching girls basketball seems to be working for Mireles. Coahoma is headed to its second 20-win season in the last three years, sitting atop of the district standings.

These young ladies play well together. They press the opponent, and they get lots of fast break points off their turnovers. Sophomore Isabella Cox runs the offense well and seniors Madison Rogers and Katelyn Rogers give a young team stability. Junior Shae Lang and freshman Baylor Wright are strong inside-out players and young post players Cayhill Lewis (Soph.) and Hannah Wells (Fresh.) are growing up fast.

The Coahoma boys appear to be in good shape. They are currently in third place in the district. Reagan County and Crane are the two front runners. The Bulldogs must defeat Stanton, Odessa Compass and Sonora a second time.

The "must win" games they need are against Colorado City and Roscoe. Forsan lost to Colorado City by four and Roscoe by seven in their first meetings.

The Forsan Buffaloes are also in the district chase. Coach Cory Richardson has a group of 5-10, 5-11 players that applies full court pressure. What they lack in height they make up in hustle.

ROUGH DAY FOR TANNEHILL

Sad to see the Tennessee Titans' season come to such an abrupt end. You don't see very many teams sack the opposing quarterback nine times and lose.

It wasn't one of Tannehill's better days. Ironically, he started the game with an interception and ended the game with an interception. It's the third interception that puzzled me. The Titans took the opening second half drive and marched from their own 25-yard line to get a first and goal at the Cincinnati 7. The Titans ran every time with Derrick Henry and D'Onta Foreman ripping off large chunks of yardage.

So what does Tennessee do on first and goal from the seven? Attempt a pass, a pass that was deflected at the line of scrimmage causing an interception. My question is why? You've been running the ball down their throats, why go to a passing play? If it ain't broke don't fix it. This was a case of an offensive coordinator thinking too much.

SWIMMERS END SEASON

The Big Spring High School swim team's season came to an end at the district meet last week in Lubbock. Sophomore Arley Cruz was Big Spring's top individual finisher, taking fifth place in the 100 meters backstroke in a time

Andrews swim teams won the meet. The Big Spring boys and girls finished in seventh place. Nice try for coach Randall Shaw and his teams. BS LIFTERS WIN MEET

Big Spring Steers and Lady Steers won the team championship at the Coahoma Powerlifting meet last week.

In the boys division Karl Karabanoff won the 181-pound weight division Auturo Ortiz (198) won his weight class.

On the girls side, Gisselee Holguin (132), Kialyn Roberts (148), Adali Hernandez (165) and Kogen Johnson (198) won their weight divisions.

Big Spring will host a meet Feb. 10 at the Big Spring Athletic Training Center.

Tyson Fury, Dillian Whyte to meet in UK for heavyweight belt

Dillian Whyte in the UK this spring after promoter Frank Warren won a purse bid for the bout.

Top Rank, Fury's U.S.-based promoter, and Warren's Queensberry Promotions announced the deal Friday, concluding months of drawn-out negotiations over the unbeaten Fury's future. Warren is paying just over $41 million for the rights, according to WBC President Mauricio Sulaimán, making it the richest purse bid in boxing history.

Fury (31-0-1, 22 knockouts) took to his social media platforms to herald the deal for his first bout since his dramatic 11th-round knockout of Deontay Wilder last October in Las Vegas, completing their entertaining fight tril-

"Big G.K. is coming home, I'm coming home!" Fury sang, referring to his nickname, the Gypsy King. "Cannot wait. Me and Dillian are going to put it on the line."

The date and location of the bout aren't certain yet, but Fury's announcement confirmed he and Whyte (28-2, 19 KOs) plan to meet in the spring some-

LONDON — Tyson Fury will defend his WBC heavyweight title against where in the UK. Fury is a Manchester native, while Whyte was born in Jamaica and moved to Britain as a child. Fury and Whyte squabbled for weeks over the split of fight revenue, and heavyweight stars Anthony Joshua and Oleksandr Usyk got involved in the discussions while promoters considered several options for the four heavyweights' next steps.

Joshua was offered money to step aside from his contractually obligated rematch with Usyk to allow the Ukrainian three-belt heavyweight champion to unify the titles with a fight against Fury. Joshua lost the WBA, WBO and IBF belts to Usyk in September.

But the negotiations ultimately led to a new challenge for Fury, who hasn't fought in the UK since August 2018. Whyte is the mandatory challenger for Fury's belt, and he is getting his first world title shot.

"Dillian Whyte got what he wished for," Top Rank boss Bob Arum said. "I look forward to Tyson Fury defending the heavyweight title in one of the biggest all-British showdowns in boxing history. The Gypsy King is coming home."

Suspect in custody after wounding 3 Houston officers

By JUAN A. LOZANO and TERRY WALLACE

Associated Press

HOUSTON (AP) - A suspect ledHouston police on a chase Thursday that ended with him wounding three officers in a shootout, stealing a car and barricading himself inside a home for hours before surrendering, authorities said.

The incident began about 2:40 p.m. as officers responded to a family disturbance call at a home in northeast Houston, Police Chief Troy Finner said at a news conference.

All three injured officers were in stable condition after being taken to Memorial Hermann Hospital. Two officers were transported by another patrol officer's vehicle while the Houston Fire Department took the third.

One of the officers was shot in the arm, another was shot in the leg and the third was shot in the foot, said Doug Griffith, president of the Houston Police Officers' Union.

"We are just grateful to God they are all right," Finner said.

Police had responded to a report of a shooting at the home of the suspect's girlfriend, according to Griffith. When officers arrived, the suspect, whose name had not been released by authorities, fled in a vehicle and led police on a chase for several miles.

The chase ended when the suspect's vehicle crashed at an intersection in a residential neighborhood just off Interstate 69 on the southeastern edge of downtown Houston.

"Officers, as they got out of vehicle, the suspect immediately fired upon officers, striking three officers. All the officers returned fire," Finner said.

It was not known if the officers' gunfire injured the suspect. Finner said it's possible the suspect fired more than 50 rounds. Officers described the gun the suspect used as "a fully automatic weapon," he said.

The suspect fled the scene and carjacked at gunpoint a white Mercedes, Finner said. He then drove to a home located several miles northeast of where the crash occurred.

Officers surrounded the home. The suspect fired multiple times but did not hit any of the officers, who returned fire, Finner said.

The suspect remained barricaded in the home until about 7:45 p.m. Thursday when he emerged with hands up from the unit where police believed he lived, Finner said. The man, whose identity police did not immediately release, was taken to the hospital with a gunshot wound to the neck, the chief said.

The suspect was believed to be the only person in the home. It was not immediately known why he went there, Finner said.

Mayor Sylvester Turner said he visited the wounded officers and found them talkative and in good spirits.

Turner said Thursday's shooting highlighted the dangers law enforcement faces each day and the rising violent crime that has affected Houston and other U.S. cities the last couple Finner said it's been "a tough week for law enforcement" in Houston. On Sunday, a Houston-area deputy constable was fatally shot during a traffic stop, and a Harris County Sheriff's Office deputy was fatally struck by a vehicle early Monday as he stood by his motorcycle while blocking a Houston highway exit ramp during an off-duty job escorting heavy machinery.

Turner said that he and Finner planned to announce next week "some additional steps" the city will take to address rising crime in Hous-

"It's going to take all of us working together to have a very safe city," Turner said.

US stocks wobble, heading for a 4th straight weekly loss

By DAMIAN J. TROISE

AP Business Writer

Stocks wobbled in morning trading on Wall Street Friday and are still on track for another week of losses in what has been a miserable opening to the

The S&P 500 fell 0.1% as of 10:23 a.m. Eastern and is close to shedding more than 10% of its value from the record high it set on Jan. 3., which puts it on track to close in what market watchers call a "cor-

The Dow Jones Industrial Average fell 135 points, or 0.4%, to 34,036 and the Nasdaq was relatively un-

Bond yields were steady. The yield on the 10-year Treasury remained at 1.81% from late Thursday.

Both the S&P 500 and the Dow are on track for their fourth weekly loss in a row and the Nasdaq is headed for its fifth straight weekly loss. Broad weekly losses like this haven't hit the market since September 2020.

Industrial stocks and banks fell and weighed down the market, but big technology companies and communications stocks made gains and countered the losses elsewhere.

Stocks went on a wild rise this week as investors tried to gauge how the Federal Reserve will move ahead with easing its historic support for markets and the economy. Major indexes spent much of the week swinging sharply from big gains to deep losses and vice versa.

The central bank plans on raising interest rates to fight rising inflation and investors are concerned about the timing and pace of Fed's policy shift. The latest statement from the Fed on Wednesday, along with comments from Chair Jerome Powell, revealed that it expects to raise rates "soon" and will phase out monthly bond purchases, which have been intended to lower longer-term rates, in March. Investors expect the first rate hikes to come in

Powell has acknowledged that the high inflation that is squeezing businesses and consumers isn't loosening its grip and that could force the Fed to act more aggressively about raising interest rates.

The latest round of corporate earnings has shown that companies are still feeling the pinch of supply chain problems, raw material costs and other pressures from inflation.

Oreo cookie maker Mondelez fell 2.9% after issuing its latest warning about inflation hurting operations in North America. KLA, which makes equipment for chipmakers, fell 3.1% and computer hard drive maker Western Digital fell 5.4% after giving similarly disappointing updates on pressure from inflation.

Additional government reports are also showing that consumers are facing higher prices and they might be discouraging spending. A measure of prices that is closely tracked by the Fed rose 5.8% last year, the sharpest increase since 1982. The report from the Commerce Department also said that consumer spending fell 0.6% in December, with purchases of cars, electronics, and clothes declin-

Inflation concerns and worries about the impact of rising interest rates converged this week with worries about a potential conflict between Ukraine and Russia that could raise energy prices. A conflict could also distract nations from focusing on the lingering virus pandemic, which continues to threaten economic growth with each wave spiking COVID-19 cases.

Texas Crop and Weather Report – Jan. 25, 2022

Special to the Herald

Calvin Trostle, Ph.D., AgriLife Extension agronomist, Lubbock, said wheat producers around the state especially those in areas experiencing drought, need to consider ways to minimize inputs and maximize crop output potential. Trostle said wheat producers in the Texas High Plains are dealing with extreme to severe drought and face a decision on whether dryland fields are worth saving. Many later-planted fields across the regior have not emerged, and dryland field trial wheat plots Trostle planted Nov. 5 have only produced about a 2% stand so far.

Earlier-planted fields around the region have fared better and are at least established, he said, but still need rainfall badly. "Producers are talking about input prices, especially fertilizer, and the potential for their wheat," he said. "Wheat may look like it's not worth saving, but we've been surprised in the past. Wheat is tough and can take off, but it will need moisture at some point."

High fertilizer prices cause concern

Trostle said weather patterns will make the decision for most producers, but there are ways to potentially capitalize on past fertilizer applications and optimize future top dressings. Reducing input could be the dif ference between production budgets ending in the black or the red.

Recent Texas nitrogen fertilizers with no phosphorous or potassium like 32-0-0 urea ammonium nitrate and 46-0-0 urea were $645-$695 per ton and $910-$950 per ton, respectively. Trostle said these prices equated Mary Jo Garner, 11802 Silver Barring Cove, San to a $1 to $1.09 per unit price for actual nitrogen, and before now he had never seen above the low-70 cent| Antonio Trostle said some price forecasts project fertilizer and grain prices may pull back somewhat. But the timing of any dip in fertilizer prices may not be in time for wheat producers in the southern half of Texas to benefit, and future dips in wheat prices would add another element of concern.

Wheat fields in South and Central Texas typically receive top-dress nitrogen applications in February compared to March in the High Plains.

"We may see the unit prices go down, but the question will be the crop's condition and moisture prospects," he said. "Producers will also have to consider wheat price projections and the yield potential at Optimize fertilizer applications with timing

Trostle said producers with irrigation will have options regarding timing their nitrogen application because they can water it in. But Mother Nature will weigh heavily on many dryland producers' decision to apply nitrogen fertilizer and how to time it. "Timing the application with a weather system that is likely to deliver rain or melting snow to incorpo rate the nitrogen into the soil is critical to minimize losses," he said. "But it's also important to make sure there is nitrogen in the soil a week before wheat begins to joint and plants shift their energy from vegetative growth toward reproductive growth."

Available nitrogen is critical at this stage, Trostle said, because it influences yield outcomes. The period, which lasts around seven days, will determine spikelet numbers on the wheat head and how many seeds per spikelet. These are strong components of yield potential.

Trostle said 24 spikelets per head is good, but that a lack of nitrogen can limit yield potential. Inadequate nitrogen coupled with poor moisture can have a significant impact on grain

Because timing fertilizer applications with moisture is important before joint stage, Trostle said dryland producers should consider applications ahead of any significant forecast for potential moisture. Sticking to a schedule and growth stage could decrease the application's value to the crop if drier than normal weather conditions hold after a topdressing of nitrogen is applied.

"Putting nitrogen out won't help until rain or irrigation, so they have to ask themselves, 'Have I ever gone six weeks without rain in February or early March?" he said. "If you're next opportunity might be six weeks out and you miss the opportunity to get fertilizer nitrogen into the root zone, then you've missed the opportunity to positively impact yields."

Beyond post-application rainfall, temperatures are also an important factor in reducing gaseous loss of surface-applied ammonium-based fertilizers, Trostle said. Applications lose less nitrogen in cooler temperatures – below 60 degrees – compared to warmer temperatures.

Optimize fertilization with deeper, more detailed soil analysis Deeper assessments of nitrate availability for crops could yield savings for producers while fertilizer prices remain high, Trostle said.

AgriLife Extension's typical recommendation includes sampling to a depth nitrates as much as 24 inches deep.

Trostle said studies have revealed as much as 50-60 pounds of nitrate-nitrogen per acre at those depths, which established wheat stands can access. This residual nitrogen could reduce the amount of fertilizer needed further along in wheat's long growing season.

"In-season soil sampling is not something we typically talk about, but the wheat season is long, and a companion analysis that looks at subsoil nitrogen could reduce the nitrogen that is really needed for surface application," he said. "Some farmers find a lot more nitrate residuals than they expected, and that represents sav-

AgriLife Extension district reporters compiled the following summaries:

CENTRAL

Dry conditions continued but rainfall was in the forecast. Isolated small wildfires occurred. Burning bans were in effect. Fields were prepped for corn planting. Heavy frost occurred over the past two weeks, which resulted in Bermuda grass pastures finally going dormant. The heavy frosts damaged winter oat fields that were at or approaching elongation stage. Oat tops were browning with no available soil moisture to recover. Grazing quality and quantity was impacted and will be slower to recover. Winter wheat also showed frost damage on the upper leaves but much less than winter oat fields. Growers were waiting for cold conditions to promote successful preemergence herbicide applications to pastures with sandburs and other springgerminating broadleaf weeds. Seeds for certain cotton varieties were booked, and growers were looking for decent alternatives and herbicides because availability may be an issue. Fertilizer prices were up 200% from last year, and crop prices had not improved, which may impact corn acres and/or yields. Stock tanks were showing major level drops throughout the fall and winter. Supplemental feeding was necessary for all livestock.

ROLLING PLAINS

Conditions were very dry and windy, causing fire concerns. Pasture and rangeland conditions were mostly very poor. The lack of moisture and emergence made it difficult to tell what wheat fields were planted. Emerged wheat was grazed by stockers, and producers were relying on hay supplies that were tightening. Stock tanks were drying up and cattle were getting stuck in the mud attempting to access water.

COASTAL BEND

EAST

Conditions were mostly dry. Producers worked fields to control weeds, and some were fertilizing. Preparations were being made to planters and equipment. Corn planting should begin in the next three weeks. Freezing temperatures in the northern portion of the reporting area caused a decline in pastures and forage. Rangeland and pasture conditions were fair in most areas. There was some standing forage, but little of nutritional value. Hay inventories were plentiful. Livestock producers were feeding hay, protein and energy. Livestock markets were still selling moderate numbers of cattle with steady to higher prices. Livestock were in good condition.

Conditions have become extremely dry in parts of the district. Beyond a few arctic cold fronts, the weather was relatively mild so far this winter. Cold temperatures hit winter pastures hard as well. Some winter wheat looked decent, but the lack of moisture was delaying recovery from freezing temperatures. Livestock were in good condition. Ponds were becoming a major concern, and animals were getting stuck in deep mud trying to access water.

SOUTH PLAINS

Conditions were very dry with above-average temperatures. All crops were harvested.

PANHANDLE

Dry, cold conditions persisted. Moisture was extremely limited. Drought conditions were affecting winter wheat and native pastures. If significant rains do not arrive by April, only irrigated corn acres will be available for planting. Some very light snow occurred midweek to halt farming activities, but it made no difference in the extremely dry soil moisture conditions. Some producers were irrigating wheat on warmer days. Some pre-plant tillage was occurring for summer crops. Cattle on rangelands were receiving supplemental feed.

NORTH

Soil moisture was very short to short and continued to decline across the district. Temperatures were cold and windy. Cold, dry conditions were damaging to the winter wheat and pastures. Livestock were in good condition. Ponds were becoming a major concern due to water level declines. Some animals got stuck while wading out in deep mud to access water.

FAR WEST

Conditions were very dry, and temperatures were warm for this time of year. Daytime temperatures varied from the mid-40s to the mid-60s with overnight highs between the upper 30s and 16 degrees one night. Light snow flurries were reported, but nothing stuck, and no recordable precipitation occurred. Cotton ginning continued and will most likely go on for another month. Yields and grades were excellent this season. Wheat conditions worsened. About 5% of planted fields emerged, and dryland fields that emerged were dead. Irrigated wheat on drip systems had not emerged between the tapes. Growers who dug ditches to install new drip irrigation said there was no moisture up to 6 feet in ground depth. Rangeland and pastures were very hard and dry. Cattle were receiving supplemental feed, and more producers were thinning herds due to lack of forages and high feed costs. Pecan farmers continued harvesting pecans.

Conditions were extremely dry. Severe drought conditions continued, and wildfires were a concern. A few small fires were reported, but minimal damages were reported. A cold front moved through midweek and brought colder temperatures. Winter wheat was in very poor shape. Small grains were dying due to lack of soil moisture.

SOUTHEAST

Heavy rains arrived with a cold front. Pastures and fields were too wet for fieldwork with more rain in the forecast. Most areas reported short to adequate soil moisture. Pasture and rangeland conditions were fair to good. Cold temperatures burned cool season pastures several weeks ago and were slowing recovery. Another killing freeze was in the forecast.

SOUTHWEST

Cold fronts produced trace amounts of precipitation across the district. Pasture and rangeland conditions continued to decline with the lack of moisture. Wheat and oat crops were in fair to good condition. Preparation for spring corn and sorghum planting was underway. Livestock were in fair condition. Producers continued supplemental feeding of both livestock and wildlife.

SOUTH

per pound.

The northern, western and eastern parts of the district continued to experience dry weather and very short soil moisture levels. Southern areas reported wet conditions and adequate soil moisture. Farmers were idle and waiting for rainfall to be forecast so they could apply preplant fertilizers and chemicals. The lack of rain was impacting oat field production. Winter Garden crops like cabbage and spinach were doing well, and fields were being prepared for spring planting. Growers in Hidalgo County were expected to begin planting corn and sorghum following recent rainfall. Citrus and sugarcane were harvested. Temperatures swung from warm to cold with daytime highs ranging from the high 60s to the low 40s. Rangelands were dormant due to lack of moisture but looked good in areas with moisture. A freeze around three weeks ago knocked back green grasses in some areas, and while some were recovering, dry conditions were slowing the process. Ranchers were feeding cattle and other livestock and providing protein for wildlife. Cattle were beginning to browse pear cactus, and cattle body conditions were declining in some areas. Ranchers reported hay supplies were plentiful. Coastal Bermuda grass round bales were selling for $50-$65. Stock tanks were low and declining.

Cattle sales were consistent with 400–500-pound steers selling for $1.47-$1.75 per pound. Heifers in the same weight class were selling for $1.30-$1.52

information is current and covers a wide range of topics, such as taxpayer remedies, exemptions and appraisals, and is of value to select groups, such as disabled veterans and persons who are age 65 or older. "Whether you are a homeowner, business owner,

"Whether you are a homeowner, business owner, disabled veteran or a taxpayer, it's important you know your rights concerning the property tax laws." said Scott Smetana, Chief Appraiser of the Glasscock County Appraisal District. "You can contact us about any property tax issues with full confidence that we will provide you the most complete, accurate and up-to-date available information to assist you."

This includes information about the following programs.
• Property Tax Exemptions for Disabled Veterans - The law provides partial exemptions for any property symposium.

tions for any property owned by veterans who are disabled, surviving spouses and surviving children of deceased disabled veterans. This includes homesteads donated to disabled veterans by charitable organizations at no cost or not more than 50 percent of the good faith estimate of the homestead's market value to the disabled veterans and their surviving spouses. The exemption amount is determined according to percentage of service-connected disability. The law also provides a 100 percent exemption for 100 percent disabled veterans and their surviving spouses and for surviving spouses of U.S. armed service members killed in action.

• Property Tax Exemptions

– Non-profit organizations that meet statutory requirements may seek property tax exemptions and must apply to their county appraisal district by a specific date. Businesses that receive tax abatements granted by taxing units; ship inventory out of Texas that may be eligible for the "freeport" exemption;

store certain goods in transit

in warehouses that are moved within 175 days; construct, install or acquire pollution control property; own and operate energy storage systems; convert landfill-generated gas; or store offshore drilling equipment while not in use may also be eligible for statutory exemptions.

• Rendering Taxable Property - If a business owns tangible personal property that is used to produce income, the business must file a rendition with its local county appraisal district by a specified date. Personal property includes inventory and equipment used by a business. Owners

do not have to render exempt property such as church property or an agriculture producer's equipment used for farming.

• Appraisal Notices – Normally, taxpayers receive a notice of appraised value from the appropriate local county appraisal district. The city, county, school districts and other local taxing units will use the appraisal district's value to set property taxes for the coming year.

 Property Taxpayer Remedies - This Comptroller publication explains in detail how to protest a property appraisal, what issues the county appraisal review board (ARB) can consider and what to expect during a protest hearing. The publication also discusses the option of taking a taxpaver's case to district court, the State Office of Administrative Hearings or binding arbitration if the taxpayer is dissatisfied with the outcome of the ARB hearing.

• Homestead Exemptions — A homestead is generally defined as the home and land used as the owner's principal residence on Jan. 1 of the tax year. A homestead exemption reduces the appraised value of the home and, as a result, lowers property taxes. Applications are submitted to the appropriate local county appraisal district.

• Productivity Appraisal – Property owners who use land for timberland production, agricultural purposes or wildlife management can be granted property tax relief on their land. They may apply to their local county appraisal district for an agricultural appraisal which may result in a lower appraisal of the land based on how much the tax-payer produces, versus market value.

• Residence Homestead Tax Deferral - Texas

homeowners may postpone paying the currently delinquent property taxes due on the appreciating value of their homes by filing a tax deferral affidavit at their local county appraisal district. This tax relief allows homeowners to pay the property taxes on 105 percent of the preceding vear's appraised value of their homestead, plus the taxes on any new improvements to the homestead. The remaining taxes are postponed, but not cancelled, with interest accruing at 8 percent per year.

• Property Tax Deferral for Persons Age 65 or Older or Disabled Homeowners — Texans who are age 65 or older or disabled, as defined by law, may postpone paying current and delinquent property taxes on their homes by signing a tax deferral affidavit. Once the affidavit is on not cancelled, as long as the owner continues to own and live in the home. Interest continues to accrue at 5 percent per year on the unpaid taxes. You may obtain a deferral affidavit at the appraisal district. Notice of Availability of Electronic Communication  In appraisal districts located in counties with a population of more than 200,000 or that have authorized electronic communications, and that have implemented a system that allows such communications, chief appraisers and ARBs may communicate electronically through email or other media with property owners or their designated representatives. Written agreements are required for notices and other documents to be delivered electronically file, taxes are deferred, but

• Protesting Property Appraisal Values – Property owners who disagree with the appraisal district's appraisal of their property for local taxes or for any other action that adversely affects them may protest their property value to the appraisal district's ARB.

For more information about these programs, contact Glasscock County Appraisal District at 124 N. Main St., PO Box 155, Garden City, TX 79739, Phone 432/354-2580. Opening lead — three of diamonds. It is said that in war every new weapon gives rise to a counterweapon. In much the same way, many bidding and play conventions can frequently be turned against their users.

Consider this deal where the bidding went as shown. South's two-spade bid was not based on the normal complement of at least 17 high-card points usually needed for a jump-shift response, but his bid was quite reasonable, considering the enormous trick-taking power of his spades. South knew he was on the verge of a slam the moment his partner opened the bidding, and he wanted the two of them to be on the same page.

East's subsequent double of six spades was conventional. In the given sequence, it asked West to lead the first suit bid by dummy — namely, hearts.

The significance of the double was not lost on North, who realized that a heart lead through the A-Q could prove fatal. So he wisely ran to six notrump, a contract that proved unbeatable against any opening lead. He lost a club trick, but that was all.

East was in the unfortunate position where, if he passed six spades, West would probably lead a diamond, while if he doubled, he risked chasing the opponents into six notrump. On the whole, East was right to double, since there was no assurance that either North or South would budge after the double. In the actual case, East was a goner either way.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Annie's Mailbox ®

My Friend's Self-Harm and Drinking Are More Than I Can Handle

Dear Annie: My neighbor and I have been friends for the last year and a half. She is 29 and has emotional, relationship and drinking problems. She moved to another area of town but still keeps in touch. I'm not trying that hard to maintain the friendship because I don't miss the drunk drama. She is enjoyable to be around when she is sober and we can have good conversation.

hang out and sometimes comes over late, drunk and in a happy mood that turns into offloading emotional baggage of current problems and past trauma. When she was drunk and rambling the other night, she confided in me that she occasionally self-harms by cutting the tops of her thighs and showed me the scabs and scars. (I think this started in high school.)

When she is sober, she doesn't acknowledge any of this and behaves like a functioning adult. I am frequently put in the position of being the amateur midnight therapist. I appreciate that my friend is able to be vulnerable and trusts me with this, but I'm worn out and uncomfortable being in this role, especially after hearing so many times about how she wants to improve her life and make positive changes but never following up on it.

How do I make boundaries without her feeling like she's losing support? Am I obligated to call for some kind of intervention? She doesn't have any family. I'm at a loss for how I can help her without sacrificing myself. -- Reluctant Amateur Midnight Therapist

Dear Midnight

Therapist: True friendship is a two-way street; it has to go both ways. Listening and giving support are both important parts of being a good friend, but your former neighbor is going far beyond what's considered appropriate to offload onto someone else. Besides, no matter how hard you try, you won't be able to help her when she's drunk: she needs to be sober to make true progress. It also doesn' leave much room for you in the relationship it you're forced to console your friend in her drunk en state most every time you see her.

The next time she's sober, share your concerns with your friend about what she's said and done around you while drunk. The only way to build the boundary is to be honest: While you're happy to be a source of support for her, you can't be her only source. A licensed therapist can better assess your friend's trauma and substance abuse issues and put her in the right direction toward recovery. In the meantime, she should also reach out to the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence or The National Alliance on Mental Illness for guidance on how to cope with her drinking and self-harm.

A key inflation gauge rose 5.8% in 2021, most in 39 years

By CHRISTOPHER RUGABER

AP Economics Writer

WASHINGTON — A measure of prices that is closely tracked by the Federal Reserve rose 5.8% last year, the sharpest increase since 1982, as brisk consumer spending collided with snarled supply chains to raise the costs of food, furniture, appliances and other goods.

The report Friday from the Commerce Department also said that consumer spending fell 0.6% in December, with purchases of cars, electronics, and clothes declining. Higher prices might have discouraged some shoppers, along with a wave of omicron cases that kept many Americans from traveling, eating out or visiting entertainment venues.

At the same time, incomes rose 0.3% last month, providing fuel for future spending.

Stubbornly high inflation has hammered household budgets, wiped out last year's healthy wage gains and posed a severe political challenge to President Joe Biden and Democrats in Congress. It also led the Federal Reserve to signal Wednesday that it plans to raise interest rates multiple times this year beginning in March to try to get accelerating prices under control.

Excluding the volatile food and energy categories, so-called core prices rose 4.9% last year, the biggest increase since 1983. That was up from a 4.7% yearover-year rise in core prices in November.

From November to December, prices rose 0.4%, down from a 0.6% increase from October to November. Core prices rose 0.5% for a second straight month.

The economy is expanding at its fastest pace in decades, and job creation reached a five-decade high last year. But the rebound occurred so quickly after the pandemic shutdowns that it left many companies flat-footed, with fewer workers and supplies than they needed.

Besides raising interest rates, Chair Jerome Powell said Wednesday that the Fed will move to shrink its huge $8.9 trillion of bond holdings this year, another step that will likely tighten credit, slow spending and potentially weaken the economy.

Speaking at a news conference, Powell acknowledged that inflation has gotten "slightly worse" in the past month. He cautioned that higher prices "have now spread to a broader range of goods and services," after initially affecting sectors of the economy, like factory-made products for homes, that were most disrupted by the pandemic.

Powell also said the Fed is increasingly focused on the question of whether rising wages are acting as a primary driver of inflation, by forcing companies to charge more to cover their higher labor costs. Such a "wage-price spiral," which the United States hasn't experienced since the 1970s, can make inflation difficult to cool.

A separate report Friday said that workers' salaries and benefits jumped 4% last year. It was the biggest increase in 20 years. Powell has said that a sharp rise in pay and benefits, reported in November, was a key reason why the Fed began shifting its policy toward higher interest rates. While rising wages are good for employees, they can also elevate inflation if they aren't offset by efficiency

The inflation figure that the government reported Friday is its personal consumption expenditures index. Though the consumer price index is a better-known barometer, the Fed tends to track the PCE in setting its interest rate policies. The PCE index tracks actual purchases consumers make each month, while the CPI follows a fixed market basket of goods.

Earlier this month, the government said the CPI jumped 7% last year, also the fastest pace in nearly four decades.

Prices have jumped in the past year as Americans have spent freely, helped by large stimulus checks in the spring and higher pay. Spending on autos, electronics and other goods jumped 12% in 2021, the government reported Wednesday, the biggest increase since 1946.

At the same time, bottlenecked supply chains and shortages of components, notably semiconductors, have left many retailers and auto dealers with fewer cars and other goods to sell. Powell has blamed mainly ongoing "supply and demand imbalances" for driving inflation.

On Thursday, McDonald's said that while sales last year grew at a healthy pace, higher costs for food and paper products and the need to raise pay to attract and keep workers eroded profits even after it had raised prices 6% last year.

Likewise, Procter & Gamble said last week that it plans to raise prices for detergents like Tide, Gain, and Downy and for personal care products. The company anticipates price increases for chemicals and other commodities this year.

Higher prices may be weighing on some Americans' willingness to spend. Still, last month's drop in consumer spending is likely to be temporary. Americans are already showing signs of heading back out to restaurants and movie theaters as the huge jump in omicron infections has started to decline.

Federal judge throws out oil lease sale in Gulf of Mexico

By MATTHEW DALY

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A federal court has rejected a plan to lease millions of acres in the Gulf of Mexico for offshore oil drilling, saying the Biden administration did not adequately take into account the lease sale's effect on planetwarming greenhouse gas emissions, violating a bedrock environmental law.

The decision by U.S. District Judge Rudolph Contreras in Washington on Thursday sends the proposed lease sale back to the Interior Department to decide next steps. The judge said it was up to Interior to decide whether to go forward with the sale after a revised review, scrap it or take other steps.

Environmental groups hailed the decision and said the ruling gave President Joe Biden a chance to follow through on a campaign promise to stop offshore leasing in federal waters. The decision was released on the one-year anniversary of a federal leasing moratorium Biden ordered as part of his efforts to combat climate change.

"We are pleased that the court invalidated Interior's illegal lease sale," said Brettny Hardy, a senior attorney for Earthjustice, one of the environmental groups that challenged the sale.

"This administration must meet this critical moment and honor the campaign promises President Biden made by stopping offshore leasing once and for all," Hardy added. "We simply cannot continue to make investments in the fossil fuel industry to the peril of our communities and increasingly warming viewing the decision.

The administration was "compelled to proceed with Lease Sale 257" following a court ruling in Louisiana, spokeswoman Melissa Schwartz said.

Interior has "documented serious deficiencies in the federal oil and gas program," Schwartz said, and Haaland has recommended an overhaul of the nation's oil and gas leasing program to limit areas available for energy development and raise costs for energy companies to drill on public land and water.

"Especially in the face of the climate crisis, we need to take the time to make significant and long overdue programmatic reforms," Schwartz said. "Our public lands and waters must be protected for generations to come."

Energy companies including Shell, BP, Chevron and ExxonMobil offered a combined $192 million for drilling rights on federal oil and gas reserves in the Gulf of Mexico in November.

The Interior Department auction came after attorneys general from Republican states led by Louisiana successfully challenged a suspension on sales that Biden imposed when he took office. Companies bid on 308 tracts totaling nearly 2,700 square miles (6,950 square kilometers). It marked the largest acreage and second-highest bid total since Gulf-wide bidding resumed in 2017.

The auction was conducted even as Biden has tried to cajole other world leaders into strengthening efforts against global warming, including at United Nations climate talks in Scotland in early November. While Biden has taken a number of actions on climate change, he has faced resistance in Congress, and a sweeping $2 trillion social and environmental spending package remains stalled. The so-called "Build Back Better" plan contains $550 billion in spend-

Back to Beijing: Chinese capital hosts 2022 Winter Games

Anyone who tuned into the Opening Ceremony of the 2008 Summer Olympics in Beijing bore witness to an event they wouldn't soon forget.

The four-hour, nine-minute display of special effects, lights and ingenuity set a new standard for an Opening Ceremony and drew raves from international media for being spectacular and spellbinding, a show that no host city has since matched in imagination and magnitude.

Almost 14 years later, the Chinese capital is once again in the spotlight as the host of the 2022 Winter Olympics, which get underway Wednesday, Feb. 2, two days before the official Opening Ceremony on Friday, Feb. 4. NBC, Peacock, USA Network, CNBC, NBCOlympics.com and NBC Sports app will again team up to provide 3,000-plus hours of coverage over 17 days of a record 109 medal events in 15 sports, among them figure skating, alpine skiing, snowboarding, ice hockey, speed skating, freestyle skiing, biathlon and luge.

Of course, the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic will also play into the storylines as conditions continue to change. For their part, the International Olympic Committee and Olympic organizers have made clear that these Games will go on and the athletes will be subject to strict protocols, including requiring vaccinations, keeping them isolated inside the Olympic "bubble" and not allowing them out among the citizenry.

One interesting thing to watch is the performance of athletes from the host country at these Games. China is not known for winter sports and in the lead up to these Olympics have hired international coaches to coach its athletes in hopes of inspiring more Chinese to try skiing, snowboarding, figure skating and other winter sports and thus make the country a more significant presence on the international stage.

As for opening week sports to watch, curling kicks things off on Wednesday, Feb. 2, with the U.S. facing Australia. Women's hockey then faces off on Thursday, Feb. 3, with Team USA opening its defense of its 2018 gold medal with a preliminary contest against Finland.

Figure skating then gets going Friday, Feb. 4, with men's short program, ice dance rhythm dance and pairs short program prior to the Opening Ceremony. And on Saturday, Feb. 5, freestyle skiing makes its first appearance with the final in men's moguls, in which Canada's Kingsbury will attempt to defend his gold medal from 2018 in Pyeongchang, South Korea.

Patient and caregiver bond at a pandemicstricken nursing home in Acorn's 'Help'

A young care worker forms an unlikely bond with a dementia patient as the COVID-19 pandemic strikes their facility in a drama movie upcoming on Acorn

In "Help," which begins streaming Monday, Jan. 31, Jodie Comer ("Killing Eve," "The White Princess") stars as Sarah, a directionless young woman who appears to find her calling when she goes to work for a nursing home in the English countryside. One of the patients, Tony (Stephen Graham, "Line of Duty," "The Irishman"), is 47 and has early onset dementia, which causes him episodes of confusion and aggression that other workers find difficult to handle but Sarah has a talent for keeping under control.

But when the pandemic strikes, all bets are off. Confusion and fear reign as misinformation circulates and the ill-equipped workers and their overwhelmed manager Steve (Ian Hart, "The Terror") struggle to protect the residents, in some cases to no avail. And Sarah is left to shepherd Tony through it – and vice

The film is the brainchild of Jack Thorne ("Enola Holmes," "His Dark Materials"), who wrote the screenplay as a love letter to the care industry and to call attention to how overworked, underpaid and underappreciated the workers are. Graham, who had always wanted to work with Comer, was intrigued by the idea, signed on and undertook rigorous research to play Tony, including spending time with dementia

"It was my idea from the onset not to play the illness but to play the man ...," the British actor explains. "I really got to understand (not only) the illness but predominantly how the illness affected them and how it was a part of their lives. And you know, we (would) go into minute detail about the frustrations that they have and they explained to me how anger can arise and you can feel the anger and you want to be able to stop it and you get lost."

And while the formal relationship between Sarah and Tony is that of caregiver and patient, the personal one is more symbiotic. Graham created Tony as a sort of favorite uncle one could joke around with, which Sarah is drawn to, while Tony sees in Sarah the sister

"It's a meeting of soulmates," Graham says. "It's kind of like two people at that particular point in their lives really need each other to help them through that process that they're going through .. and the great fates have put them together so they can walk that path of their journey together for that space of time. And each one brings out the best in

TCM clearly is Fonda this February

Henry Fonda is Turner Classic Movies' "Star of the Month" for February, but he's also a star for all time.

The Oscar, Tony and Grammy-winning performer - and the patriarch of an acting dynasty, also including his children Peter and Jane – established his typically dependable image early in his career, yielding a bounty of classics that stretched across six decades and virtually every genre. With TCM celebrating him each Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning during the month starting Feb. 1, here's a look at some of the featured

"Young Mr. Lincoln" (1939; Feb. 1): One of Fonda's earliest triumphs was this John Ford-directed portrait of the pre-presidential Abraham Lincoln, detailing how he decided to pursue law – and how a murder case involving brothers helped make his career.

"Fort Apache" (1948; Feb. 2): Easily among the best of the many Westerns that Fonda made, director John Ford's saga casts him and John Wayne as officers who run into conflict at a cavalry outpost.

"Mister Roberts" (1955; Feb. 8): Fonda reprised his stage role as a well-liked but dissatisfied Navy officer in this comedy, a hit despite its famously troubled production that saw director John Ford replaced; costar Jack Lemmon won an Oscar, and William Powell made his last movie appearance here.

"12 Angry Men" (1957; Feb. 8): In the only movie that he also produced, Fonda was part of a superb acting ensemble and also gave celebrated director Sidney Lumet his film debut with this drama (originally done as a television play) about a jury deliberating the fate of a teen accused of killing his

"The Best Man" (1964; Feb. 9): A political convention is the setting of this excellent adaptation of Gore Vidal's play about the battle between an ethical candidate (Fonda) and a scheming rival

(Cliff Robertson) to secure their party's presidential

"The Lady Eve" (1941; Feb. 15): Filmmaker Preston Sturges' "screwball" comedy makes Fonda the target of a con artist (Barbara Stanwyck) and her father (Charles

"Yours, Mine and Ours" (1968; Feb. 15): One of Fonda's most popular movies (shown frequently by TCM) teams him with Lucille Ball in a fact-inspired comedy about single parents who marry and bring their large broods of children together ... and none too comfortably. Notable among the kids are Tim Matheson and later "Dallas" co-star Morgan Brittany, billed here by her birth name, Suzanne Cupito.

"On Golden Pond" (1981; Feb. 22): A year after he received an honorary Oscar, and not long before he passed, Fonda earned a competitive Academy Award by teaming with his daughter Jane (who also produced the film) and Katharine Hepburn in the tale of a deeply meaningful family reunion.

OF THE 2022 WINTER OLYMPICS ON NBC

Have you had a chance to get to Beijing prior to the 2022 Winter Olympics?

I have not. Part of the great disappointment of this Olympics is not getting to the host city. Usually we get the opportunity to go. Because of COVID, that has not been the case. So we have not had a chance to be there. unfortunately, and given the circumstances I think the amount of time we get to see the city will be far less than most Olympic host cities because of the restrictions, which is a great

How will any lockdown affect you and members of the NBC team?

It's still to be determined. I think these things will change as we go through. But there's an Olympic loop of once you're in as a member of the media or other people connected with the Games, you won't be able to get outside. They're trying to nix or limit your interactions with the public who live there. So it's not as if you'll be able to go out and sightsee while we're there for the Games, which is unfortunate. And the same was true in Tokyo

(for the 2020 Summer Olympics). That's exactly what happened to us there.

So as was the case in Tokyo, COVID will once again be a major story at these Games.

Well certainly in terms of competition, without question I do think COVID will be a part of it. I think there's not doubt because we have not seen many of the athletes on the international scale compete last year. We've seen some athletes from some countries but not the entire world so we have a lot of auestions about some different sports.

'Mary Makes It Easy' to turn out great meals in new Food Network series

There is a certain intimidation factor that comes with cooking, posits Mary Berg, which she hopes to remove from the equation with her new series on Food

In "Mary Makes It Easy," premiering Saturday, Feb. 5, the Toronto-based chef and cookbook author shares easy and delicious recipes that she guarantees will impress family and friends and offers up tips and tricks designed to take the stress and fear out of meal prep.

"I really don't think there's anything you should kind of steer clear from," Berg, the Season 3 winner of "MasterChef Canada," explains. "I think if you're a little worried, you just have to shake it off and go in with an open mind of 'I'm going to learn something today,' and it might be how to not wreck something. Or it might be how to make the absolute most perfect thing that you didn't even know that you can make. It's all opportunity in the kitchen."

In the 13 half-hour episodes, Berg endeavors to break down cooking techniques and meal planning into easily attainable steps as she shows what to do with a fridge full of leftovers or how to add pizzazz to chicken, the ubiquitous dinner staple that is versatile though at-times And, Berg says, deceptively easy to mess up.

"(The) chicken is dry, you're worried about undercooking it and then you overcook it," she says. "You're worried about that kind of lackluster, kind of pale skin. You want a good golden-brown crust. It's boring. There are so many things about chicken that people complain about that none of those things are true or have to be true."

So in Saturday's premiere, Berg demonstrates easy recipes for a classic roast chicken with gravy, chicken parmesan, chicken noodle soup and hoisin chicken with

As for her favorite techniques and tricks, Berg mentions searing, cooking with bacon fat and using generous amounts of salt when boiling pasta as things any home cook can pick up. And old schoolers shouldn't turn their noses up at using using electric appliances like a food processor or hand mixer if they have them.

"Anything that can help you get food on the table quicker," she says. "If you don't want to do something by hand, I think take it. I love those things. I love shortcuts and I love those things that help you feel as successful as possible when you put dinner on the table."

Ever the stage actress, Carrie Coon is well-versed in getting on with the show no matter the conditions. So when it came to donning a restrictive corset for her role as 19th century railroad tycoon wife Bertha Russell in the Monday HBO period drama "The Gilded Age," the Tony and Emmy nominee was nonplussed.

"I've done some out-of-door Shakespeare, outdoor summer stock where you're in a corset and it's 90 degrees and your costumes are made of upholstery fabric so it can withstand any weather," Coon explains, laughing. "So in some ways it was not as hard as that. And in some ways I think the heels are harder than the corsets. But then I got pregnant a quarter of the way into the shoot and I outgrew my corset pretty quickly." That pregnancy resulted in her second child with her husband, actor/playwright Tracy Letts ("Lady Bird"), after filming on "The Gilded Age" wrapped in the summer of 2021. But Coon says she reaped the benefits of being in the family way on set, as the corset quickly disappeared and various methods were employed to conceal her growing abdomen. "You know, the costume department was responsible for a lot of the masking

using optical illusion to make me look, you know, slender," the Ohio native says with a hearty laugh, "and then (they) ultimately had to rely on some CGI and a well-timed carriage or horse. So I was very Full name: Carrie Alexandra Coon

Paul Newman pursues 'The Verdict' in superb law drama

Paul Newman won an Oscar for "The Color of Money," but many consider his career-topping performance to be in "The Verdict."

The actor strips every trace of ego from his work in director Sidney Lumet's gripping 1982 law drama, which Turner Classic Movies shows Sunday, Jan. 30. Because of what the role demands, a number of top actors reportedly declined the main part, not wanting to dent their images with their loyal audiences ... but Newman is thoroughly, relentlessly compelling as a flawed Boston attorney seeking redemption by trying a case that most others feel he should have settled out of court.

Frank Galvin (Newman) is hired by a woman and her husband (Roxanne Hart, James Handy) on behalf of her sister, left comatose in an operation gone wrong at a hospital run by the Catholic Church. Though a generous settlement is offered via a high-powered lawyer Ed Concannon (James Mason), Galvin deems it morally wrong to accept the money without holding those directly responsible accountable – and despite his questionable track record in the courtroom, he proceeds to trial, helped by the friend (Jack Warden) who channeled the case his way.

Initially, Galvin thinks he has an open-and-shut case, thanks to a key witness. However, things soon take an unforeseen turn, forcing Galvin to do major footwork to try to salvage a winning verdict. His penchant for heavy drinking doesn't help, though, and his new involvement with a strong-willed woman (Charlotte Rampling) also might prove to hinder him.

There isn't a single player in "The Verdict" who isn't absolutely superb, some of them being talents who had worked with Lumet before. Warden was in the filmmaker's first movie – another trial drama, "12 Angry Men" – as was Edward Binns, who plays the church bishop here. Wesley Addy, seen as as doctor who handled the failed operation, had portrayed a TV executive in "Network" for Lumet.

For the excellence displayed by all hands involved in "The Verdict" (extending to David Mamer's screenplay, based on a Barry Reed novel), Newman is the ultimate element. It's not an overstatement to call what he gives one of the most courageous performances ever put on screen by any "A"-list actor. He's pitiable and unsympathetic at points, a huge risk for a major star to take at the time.

As a result, "The Verdict" turns out very much in Paul Newman's favor.

BELLAMY YOUNG

Amy Maria "Bellamy" Young was born in Asheville, N.C., on February 19, 1970. An adoptee, she took the name Bellamy not only to avoid duplicating another Screen Actors Guild member named Amy Young, but also to honor a man who helped raise her.

Though Young enrolled in Yale University to study physics, she graduated as a student of English and theater. She made her Broadway debut in "The Life," then had her first television role with a recurring part on the daytime serial "Another World." In primetime, Young had two different parts on "Law & Order" and queststarred on other series including "ER," "The West Wing," "The X-Files," "Frasier," "The Drew Carey Show," "NCIS," "Two and a Half Men," "Supernatural," "Castle," "Grey's Anatomy" and "Private Practice."

A regular on the series "Peacekeepers," Young had recurring roles on "For the People," "American Dreams," "Scrubs," "CSI: Miami," "Dirty Sexy Money" and "Criminal Minds."

In 2011, Young began playing First Lady Mellie Grant on ABC's "Scandal." She wasn't listed as a regular the first season – though, having been envisioned for only a three-week run, she was in every episode – but she was a full-fledged co-star for the rest of the show's run. After "Scandal" ended, Young was a star of Fox's "Prodigal Son" for its two seasons.

Young now co-stars in "Promised Land," ABC's new Monday drama about vineyard rivals in California's Sonoma Valley. Young plays the ex-wife of the man (John Ortiz) whose dynasty she's now trying to destroy. Recently, Young also was seen as Olivia Walton in The CW movie "The Waltons' Homecoming."

Young's feature films have included "Black and White," "We Were Soldiers," "Mission: Impossible III." "Trust Me" and "A Wrinkle in

Also a singer, Young released the album "Far Away So Close" in 2015. The same year, she won "Celebrity Jeopardy!" and $50,000, which she donated to the charity Operation Blankets of Love.

A dedicated philanthropist, Young counts the domestic violence nonprofit organization Helpmate among her causes. Having attended Yale University on a scholarship, she now funds an annual scholarship for other Yale students.

'Big Brother' house again If a network is looking for a way to counterprogram the Winter Olympics for a reasonably extended period, a celebrity edition of "Big has been proven before. In 2018, CBS used a special version of the competition – which typically airs during the summer months – to occupy a sizable chunk of its schedul while the Winter Games were playing out elsewhere. That network will do so again by launching its third "Big Brother: Celebrity Edition' Wednesday, Feb. 2, and then

As usual, Iulie Chen Moonves will be the host in charge of giving the players (who had yet to be confirmed continuing it on most nights

for the following three weeks

at press time) their marching orders from the moment they enter the "Big Brother House." However, much of the fascination comes not from how well they play the individual games. but from how they interact generally with one another; holding to tradition, a plethora of cameras and microphones will be capturing those moments.

One benefit in enlisting personalities to participate in "Big Brother: Celebrity Edition" is

In terms of which celebrities have played "Big Brother" before, Tony Award winner Marissa Jaret Winokur ("Hairspray") won the first version that featured the famous. A year later, in 2019, singer and television personality Tamar Braxton emerged from the house as the victor.

Whenever well-known people are recruited for a contest that typically involves everyday folks, there's a "They're just like us!" aspect that the given show's makers hope will draw

"Bel-Air: Season 1" (Peacock - series premiere, Feb. 13) Will Smith is among the executive producers of this hourlong original dramatic analogue of his 90's sitcom "The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air," which does a deep dive into the inherent conflicts, emotions and biases that were impossible to fully explore in a 30-minute sitcom. Jabari Banks, Adrian Holmes, Cassandra Freeman and Olly Sholotan

"Movie: Book of Love"

Uptight English writer Henry (Sam Claflin, "The Nightingale") is delighted to learn that his failed novel is actually a hit in Mexico — that is, until he learns its translator, Maria (Verónica Echegui, "Trust"), has rewritten it into an erotic tale. Worse, he has to go on a book tour with the woman in this romantic comedy from director Analeine Cal y Mayor ("Treading Water"). (ORIGINAL)

Everlasting Storm"

A world in suspended animation comes into sharp focus in this documentary about the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic, which features seven short films from seven directors from around the world, among them Laura Poitras ("Citizenfour"), Anthony Chen ("Wet Season"), David Lowery ("A Ghost Story") and Malik Vitthal ("Imperial Dreams"). (ORIGINAL)

"The Woman in the House Across the Street From the Girl in the Window"

This satirical take on the psychological thriller casts Kristen Bell as Anna, a lonely woman who watches the world go by, wine glass in hand, from her apartment window. When a man and his daughter move in across the street, she has reason for hope — that is, until she thinks she's witnessed a murder. Tom Riley, Samsara Yett and Michael Ealy also star. (ORIGINAL)

"Encanto" (Available now)

This 2021 animated adventure follows Mirabel, a young Colombian girl and the only child in her magical hilltop village to not have a special power. But when she discovers the magic of Encanto is in jeopardy, she realizes she may be everyone's last hope. Stephanie Beatriz, John Leguizamo and Angie Cepeda head the voice cast.
