This Tuesday, March 1, fourth-grade students from Carrillo and Watt's classes from Goliad Elementary helped celebrate Texas Independence Day by putting on a singing program called "Celebrate Texas." The program was held inside Goliad's Cafeteria, and consisted of Texas-inspired songs such as "Texas Our Texas," "Jingle Jangle Jingle," "Don't Fence Me In," "Home on the Range," "Wide Open Spaces," "Cielito Lindo," "Como La Flor," "If You're Going To Play In Texas, and many more. It was a great night of singing and fun for all those who attended. The children must have put in a lot of hard work because the show was terrific.

Comedy Fiesta at Mezcal in Big Spring tonight

Adrienne Green

By LACHELLE COBB
 Herald Staff Reporter

This Thursday, March 3, 2022, come out to Mezcal, located at 125 East 3rd Street Big Spring, and enjoy "Comedy Fiesta." Doors open at 7:30 PM, and the show starts at 8:00 PM. The show stars Sergio Cervantes, Michael Aaron, and Big Spring's Adrienne Green. Adrienne said she has always dreamed of being a stand-up comedian. Since deciding to bring her enthusiastic personality and self-reflective humor from the radio waves to stages across West Texas, Adrienne Green has made her presence known in her four years behind the mic with her spunky personality and funny comedy performances. However, in 2018 she started turning her dreams into reality. Green began in March 2018 doing an open mic at the Desert Flower Art Bar on Thursday nights. Green said it's fun and not every night is a success, but every time she gets up on stage, it is a learning experience. After succeeding in the open mic on Thursdays, she was confident enough to move on to bigger and better things. Green then tried out for West Texas Talent Search in Snyder, claiming the semi-finalist spot in June 2018. Moving on in the competition, Adrienne Green won Fan Favorite. Green says she loves to make people laugh, and she wants to do as many shows as possible. Her goal is to grow as a comedian through her content, stage presence, and the variety of audiences she can perform. So let's have a drink, a snack, and a lot of laughs this Thursday at Mezcal with Comedy Fiesta. If you want more about Adrienne Green and her comedy, you can follow her on Facebook: Adrienne Green Comedy.

Texas primary sets up Abbott-O'Rourke race as midterms begin

By WILL WEISSERT and PAUL J. WEBER
 Associated Press

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Republican Gov. Greg Abbott will face Democrat Beto O'Rourke after voters in Texas opened what could be a lengthy, bruising primary season poised to reshape political power from state capitals to Washington.

Both easily won their party's nomination for governor on Tuesday. Abbott is now in a commanding position as he seeks a third term, beginning his run with more than $50 million and campaigning on a strongly conservative agenda in America's largest Republican state. That leaves O'Rourke facing an uphill effort to recapture the magic of his 2018 Senate campaign, when he nearly ousted Ted Cruz.

"This group of people, and then some, are going to make me the first Democrat to be governor of the state of Texas since 1994," O'Rourke told supporters in Fort Worth, where in 2018 he flipped Texas' largest red county. "This is on us. This is on all of us."

 Abbott said, "Republicans sent a message."

ABBOTT

O'ROURKE

"They want to keep Texas on the extraordinary path of opportunity that we have provided over the past eight years," his campaign said in a statement.

The GOP primary for state attorney general was more competitive. Former President Donald Trump's endorsement wasn't enough to prevent incumbent Ken Paxton from being forced into a

May runoff. He'll face Texas Land Commissioner George P. Bush, the nephew of one president and grandson of another, after neither captured a majority of the votes cast. While Paxton won more votes than Bush on Tuesday, his failure to win outright could raise questions about the power of Trump's endorsement as he seeks to reshape the party in his image in other primaries later this year.

Democrats faced challenges of their own. Nine-term U.S. Rep. Henry Cuellar was trying to avoid becoming the first Democratic member of Congress to lose a primary this year. He will instead head into a runoff against progressive Jessica Cisneros.

The primary season, which picks up speed in the summer, determines which candidates from each party advance to the fall campaign. The midterms will ultimately serve as a referendum on the first half of President Joe Biden's administration, which has been

Robert Alvin Heinze

Robert Alvin Heinze, born in Miles, Texas, on July 25, 1928, died peacefully at home on February 23, 2022, at the age of 93.

Robert graduated from Miles High School in 1942. He served his country during the Korean war in the Signal Service Detachment No. 8, based in Sendai, Japan. In 1953, Robert married Sherlene Story, a marriage that spanned sixty-six years. He graduated from the University of New Mexico in 1957 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Architectural Engineering.

Shortly after graduation, he returned to Texas and settled in Big Spring where he began his career as a residential and commercial building contractor. Robert was instrumental in the early success of the Highland South development as its initial residential builder during the early 60's. Projects completed by Robert during his time in Big Spring were KBST, Petroleum Building, Rock Terrace Apartments, Quail Run Apartments, as well as numerous homes throughout the city. Big Spring, as well as the friendships cultivated there, always held a special place in his heart.

After several years of building in Arlington, Texas, Robert returned to the area in which he had lived as a child. Settling around Miles, Texas, he enjoyed farming and ranching, as well as starting a construction business in San Angelo.

In 1972, Robert A. Heinze Builders was founded which completed the Unity Church, Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, and numerous doctors' offices and many beautiful homes throughout the city. In 1988, Bruce Hubbard joined Robert A. Heinze Builders as a partner. Among the many projects completed by the company over the span of the following 21 years were San Angelo Rodeo Association office, Holland Jewelers, Enterprise Car Rental, Crockett National Bank, Citizens National Bank of Miles, First National Bank of Mertzon, San Angelo Federal Credit Union, Wall Brethren Church, Glen Meadows Baptist Church, Tree of Life Church and school, Victory Christian Fellowship Church, Belmore Baptist Church, three City of San Angelo fire stations, two San Angelo Community Hospital Medi-Centers, as well as numerous homes and doctor's offices throughout the city. Renovations and additions to churches, professional offices, schools, and numerous other buildings were also completed during this partnership. He embraced work with great enthusiasm and enjoyed the challenges of each project from start to finish.

Robert was a member and deacon at Glen Meadows Baptist Church, a member of the San Angelo Home Builders Association where he served as president in 1974, and a long-standing member of the San Angelo West Rotary Club. He loved gardening, camping, relaxing with friends, and competitive games of 42 and dominoes. Robert and Sherlene were fortunate to be able to travel with lifelong friends to several countries around the globe. Anyone who knew Robert Heinze would attest to his ethics, moral character, generosity, and integrity.

Robert Heinze was preceded in death by his wife, Sherlene Heinze; parents, Herman and Lena Heinze; brother, Milton Heinze; and sister, Leona Heinze.

Robert is survived by his daughter, Denise Howey of San Angelo; son, Story Heinze of South Fork, Colorado; grandson, Christopher Ross of Conroe; granddaughter, Mariya Valentine of Burleson; granddaughter, Darya Ross of Huntsville; great-grandchildren, Bonnie and Augustus Ross; and brother, Louis Heinze of Arlington.

PRIMARY

dominated by a pandemic that has proven unpredictable, along with rising inflation and a series of foreign policy crises. The GOP, meanwhile, is grappling with its future as many candidates seeking to emerge from primaries, including a sizable number in Texas, tie themselves to Trump and his lie that the 2020 election was stolen.

Tuesday marked the state's first election under its tighter new voting laws that, among other changes muscled through by the GOP-controlled Legislature, require mail ballots to now include identification — a mandate that counties blamed for thousands of rejected mail ballots even before Election Day. More than 10,000 mail ballots around Houston alone were flagged for not complying. Technical issues also caused problems in Texas' largest county: Paper jams and paper tears in voting machines would take a couple days to work through while counting, said Isabel Longoria, Harris County's elections administrator.

Several voting sites around Houston were also short-staffed, she said, causing tensions in some locations.

"Democrats and Republicans bickering with each other, stealing each other's machines, hiding each other's paper," Longoria said. "At the end of the day, they were able to help voters."

The primary also tested Republican efforts to more aggressively court Hispanic voters. Counties along the state's border with Mexico, long a stronghold for Democrats, were on track to smash Republican turnout levels compared with recent elections.

That was the latest warning sign for Democrats who are trying to hold the line with Hispanic voters who swung toward Trump in 2020.

Republicans are betting that the Texas primaries will be the first step toward them retaking Congress in November, pointing to Biden's low approval ratings, inflation and anger about the chaotic withdrawal of U.S. forces from Afghanistan. Russia's war with Ukraine could also have deep political implications.

Monica Carter, who voted at a polling station in River Oaks, one of Houston's wealthiest neighborhoods, cast her ballot in the Republican primary and said she thought rising rates of crime in many parts of the country are "out of hand."

"The police force needs to be reinforced," said Carter, 66.

History is also on the GOP's side. The party controlling the White House has lost congressional seats in the first midterm race every election cycle this century except in 2002, after the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks.

The fight over the GOP's future is much fiercer than it was 20 years ago, though.

U.S. Rep. Van Taylor of

North Texas, for instance, became a target for some on the right after he voted to certify Biden's electoral victory and to create an independent commission to investigate the Capitol insurrection. The Republican was forced into a runoff after facing four primary challengers who largely refused to accept Biden's victory and tried to minimize the mob's Capitol attack.

National Democrats say Trump's outsize GOP influence and an economy roaring back from the pandemic may help them counter political precedent. Still, disagreements between the party's progressive and more moderate congressional wings helped doom Build Back Better, a sweeping, Biden-backed spending and social programs package.

Cisneros is among the Texas progressives who could secure Democratic nominations in House districts blue enough to all but guarantee they'll be headed to Congress. A 28-year-old immigration attorney who supports Medicare for All, Cisneros nearly toppled Cuellar during Texas' 2020 primary.

Cisneros has been endorsed by progressive stalwarts Vermont Sen. Bernie Sanders and New York Rep. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, who campaigned with her and with Greg Casar, an Austin City Councilmember who championed a $15 city-wide minimum wage and won the Democratic primary for the open House seat representing Texas' capital.

Steers Dominate The Brownfield Cubs win in huge blowout 15-1

The Big Spring Steers had their home opener in a good way, easily getting the Brownfield Cubs 15-1 in a run rule game called in the fifth inning.

It was a merciful ending for the Class 3A Cubs who were no match for the Steers, who got timely hitting when they needed it and adequate pitching from starter Gabriel Baeza and relievers Eli Cobos and Marcos Paradez. Together they allowed three hits, striking out two and walking two.

On the other hand, Brownfield's pitching struggled. Three Cub pitchers walked eight and surrendered 10 hits.

The game was good for an inning-and-a-half. Then the true ability of the teams started to show. Big Spring was definitely more talented. It got rolling in the second inning. Cobos walked to load the bases with two outs bringing Peyton Bishop to the plate. Bishop responded with a double in the left center gap, driving in two runs. Braxton Sizenbach followed that up with a two-run scoring single. The rout was on.

If Brownfield thought the five run second was bad. The eight-run fourth was worse. Big Spring sent 13 batters to the plate. Sizenbach had a two-run scoring double in the inning, giving him four RBI for the day. Sizenbach, Maverick Yanez and Baeza all had two hit games for Big Spring.

The Steers will be in the Levelland tournament beginning Thursday.

For the first time this home season, a visiting team was able to keep the Howard College Lady Hawks' bats under control. The Otero College (Colo.) Rattlers handed the No. 14 ranked Lady Hawks their first home loss of the year by a 6-3 count.

Howard came back and won the second game 9-0 behind the shutout pitching of Alicia Estrada.

Otero College, 7-11 for the season, was swept in a doubleheader by Odessa College Monday. used three pitchers effectively to win game one. That along with a three run sixth inning was the difference in the game.

Otero got a solo homer from catcher Chevelle Velasquez and a two run shot by designated player Ailiyah Dejesus to ice the game in the sixth. The blows chased Howard starter Cassie Elliott from the game. Elliott lasted 5-and-one third innings, allowing nine hits and six runs, one of them unearned. Kylie Gaffney finished the game for the Lady Hawks.

Meanwhile Otero used three pitchers to slow down the HC bats. Anali Ruiz started and left with the score tied 3-3 in the fifth inning. She allowed five hits. She was relieved by Lilly Shaw, who picked up the win. Alyssa Smith closed out the game in the seventh.

The trio only allowed six hits, which is no easy feat against a Howard team that averages 10 runs a game.

Howard's offense consisted of catcher Sasha Willems. She homered in the first, doubled in the fourth, driving in all three Howard runs. She also threw a runner out in the fourth inning. In the third inning, HC second baseman Addison Marquez turned a nice double play on a ground ball hit to her. She tagged out the runner going to second and threw to first for the second out.

In the second contest jumped on the Rattlers early by scoring five runs in the second inning via RBI hits by Willems and Samantha Cervantes. Howard homered three times in the game, one each by Willems, Cervantes and Kamryn Cottell. Left fielder Madison Dingman (3-3) and shortstop Olivia Kuzminski each had multiple hits in the game.

While pushing her record to 8-1 on the mound, Estrada went the distance, striking out four without issuing a walk.

Howard, 14-4 for the season, will be on the road Friday in a double header against Paris Junior College. First game is 12 noon.

Fans chant 'We want baseball!' but won't get it anytime soon

By RONALD BLUM

AP Baseball Writer

JUPITER, Fla. — As Rob Manfred stood behind a podium in the left-field corner of Roger Dean Stadium and announced that opening day was canceled, a cluster of fans gathered outside the spring training home of the Miami Marlins and St. Louis Cardinals.

"They had something to say, too. 'We want baseball!' the group chanted at the MLB commissioner.

"They won't get it anytime soon.

With owners and players unable to agree on a labor contract to replace the collective bargaining agreement that expired Dec. 1, Manfred followed through with his threat and canceled the first two series for each of the 30 major league teams. The announcement Tuesday cut each club's schedule from 162 games to likely 156 at most. A total of 91 games were erased.

"We've seen this coming in a sense," free agent reliever Andrew Miller said. "It's unfortunate. But this isn't new to us. This is not shocking."

More than pure numbers are a cause of the contention. Players are seething over their allegations of service-time manipulation and Major League Baseball's increased number of rebuilding clubs, which the union calls tanking.

Issues such as the size and format of the post-season have become divisive.

"A core of this negotiation is to increase competition and there's no way we're leaving the table without something that does that," Miller said. "We're not going to do anything to sacrifice this competition of the season. Anything that points towards mediocrity, that's the antithesis of our game and what we're about as players."

The bidding:

Opening lead — two of hearts.

A defender should not permit himself to be governed by rigid rules. He should not always return the suit partner led; he should not always play second-hand low or third-hand high; he should not always cover an honor with an honor. Rather, he should be prepared to deal specifically with each brand-new situation as it arises. What it really boils down to is that good defensive play is mostly a matter of plain common sense.

Consider this case where it would be easy to go wrong. West leads a heart, on which dummy plays the nine. If East makes the mistake of playing the queen, South makes two heart tricks instead of one and easily makes three notrump. The defense cannot recover once the queen has been played.

But if East ducks the nine of hearts (at the same time signaling with the seven to show interest in the suit), South must eventually lose three heart tricks and the two minor-suit aces for down one.

Ducking the nine violates the general rule of third-hand high — but the situation calls for it. East knows from the lead of the deuce that West has precisely four hearts, leaving declarer with two. This can be either A-K, A-x, K-x or x-x.

In the first and third cases, playing the queen costs a trick; in the second case, East's play does not matter because South scores two heart tricks whatever East plays. The only time the queen play gains is when declarer has x-x, but this possibility is remote, considering that South opened the bidding with one notrump.

It therefore follows that playing the seven of hearts will, in the long run, prove far more successful than playing the queen.

Tomorrow: Bidding quiz.

The Spider

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was the editor of a small Missouri paper.

One day, he received a letter from a subscriber stating that he had found a spider in his paper and asked if this was an omen of good or bad luck.

Twain replied, "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever after."
