'An Evening With Marie Osmond' coming to Big Spring April 23

By ROGER CLINE

Herald Staff Writer

You've read it in the Herald...you've seen it on billboards around town: Internationally known singer and recording artist Marie Osmond is coming to Big

She will be the guest artist at the Big Spring Symphony Orchestra's next concert, aptly titled "An Evening With Marie Osmond, and scheduled April 23 at Howard College's Dorothy Garrett Coli-

Marie Osmond has spent more than six iconic decades in the entertainment business performing as a successful singer, television performer and talk show host, dancer, actor, author, entrepreneur and public speaker. She has continued to maintain relevance, remaining an instantly recognizable figure across the globe.

Her debut single "Paper Roses" reached the No. 1 spot on two Billboard charts, a feat that not only placed her among an elite class of musical royalty, but instantly catapulted her into international superstardom.

She is a multiple gold and platinum selling artist and CMA winner, garnering numerous Billboard chart-topping singles and albums, and three New York Times Bestselling books. She has entertained millions throughout the world through television, radio, film, literature, live concerts and Broadway

Internationally known performer Marie Osmond will perform April 23 with the Big Spring Symphony Orchestra at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum in a concert titled "An Evening With Marie Osmond."

As a philanthropist, she co-founded Children's Miracle Network Hospitals, which has raised over $7 billion for children to date. Marie was recently awarded The Secretary of Defense Medal for Outstanding Public Service by four-star General Bob Brown, U.S. Army maintenance bids during their meeting Monday.

Howard County Commissioners approved three building

Commissioner Jimmie Long (Precinct 3) presented the three items, which included a bid for exterior waterproofing and restoration at the 118th District Court building in the amount of $363.195; a bid for exterior waterproofing and restoration at the Howard County Library in the amount of $307,665; and parking lot coating for the Library in the amount of $158,875. All three bids were unanimously approved.

The meeting began with County Judge Kathryn Wiseman's announcement that during the commissioners' Workshop session prior to the regular meeting, the commissioners held two closed executive sessions, during which they met with Big Spring Economic Development Corporation Executive Director Mark Willis, and a "contract negotiation" was the topic of

Steers show off skills at UIL Academic meet

Special to the Herald

The Big Spring High School UIL Academic team dominated the competition in route to winning the District 3-4A Academic Spring Meet this past Wednesday. Amassing over 800 points, the team beat its closest competitor by close to 500 points.

"Our point total was 33 points less than the combined total of the other five schools in our district," Co-Academic Coordinator and Speech Coach Jennifer Adams said. "The only event we did not have students score points in, we didn't even enter."

Placing in the top six in each event earns the school points that go toward a sweepstakes award. In many events, the top scorers also earn points as a team. Placing in the top three in each event qualifies the Steers for Regional competition on the campus of Texas Tech where they vie for a shot at a UIL State Qualification.

"I can't recall any time that we will be taking this many students to the Regional Meet." Co-Academic Coordinator

Jordan Horton stated.

BSHS students who placed in the meet include:

- Accounting 3rd Place Isabella Saenz, 4th Place Libby Everett, 6th Place Ryleigh Pirraglia
- Calculator Applications 1st Place Marco Tan, 2nd Place David Summers, 3rd Place Sean Tan, 5th Place Ananya Limaye, and the team was the 1st place team.
- Current issues and Events 1st Kaegan Baker, 2nd Place Team

TPWC approves changes to hunting rules for 2022-23

Special to the Herald

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission approved hunting regulations for the 2022-23 season at its public meeting held March 24 in Austin. Commissioners adopted the following modifications and clarifications to the 2022-23 Statewide Hunting Proclamation:

- Establish mandatory buck and antlerless white-tailed deer harvest reporting in Collin, Dallas, Grayson and Rockwall counties during white-tailed deer season.
- · Modify the definitions of "buck deer" and "antlerless deer."
- Modify the proof of sex requirements for harvested buck deer.
- · Create definitions for two types of commercial cold storage facilities.
- Modify tagging and proof of sex requirements, log procedures and destination regulations for commercial cold storage facilities.
- Expand mule deer antler restrictions to an additional 21 counties in the Panhandle. • Extend the general mule deer season in 15
- southwestern Panhandle counties from nine to 16 days and add a special archery season.
 - Establish a mule deer antler restriction in Terrell County within the Trans-Pecos. Establish a veterans and active-duty special waterfowl hunting season to occur concurrently during youth-only season in all duck zones.

- Modify the West Zone for goose hunting to open a week earlier than current goose hunting regula-
- Remove the daily bag limit restriction (two) on hooded mergan-
- · Combine the separate merganser and duck daily bag limits into a single aggregate daily bag limit of six per day.

- · Reauthorize the requirement to possess a Federal Sandhill Crane Hunting Permit while hunting that species due to an administrative error.
- Close the turkey season east of IH-35 in Ellis County to support ongoing restocking efforts along the Trinity River.

Hunters hitting the field in the upcoming season should make note of these changes and follow all regulations set for species, tagging, bag limits, counties, season dates and means and methods. Hunters can check the Outdoor Annual for complete and updated regulations. Information currently in the Outdoor Annual reflects last season's information.

Will Smith apologizes: 'I was out of line and I was wrong'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The day after slapping Chris Rock on the Oscars stage and upending the 94th Academy Awards, Will Smith issued an apology to the comedian, to the academy and to viewers at home, saying he was "out of line" and that his actions are "not indicative of the man I want to be."

The fallout from Smith's actions during Sunday's ceremony continued Monday as Hollywood and the public continued to wrestle with a moment that stunned the Dolby Theatre crowd and viewers at home. The Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences condemned Smith striking Rock, who had made a joke about his wife, Jada Pinkett Smith, and said it would launch an inquiry.

Later in the day, Smith gave a stronger apology than he did in his best actor acceptance speech, which notably hadn't included an apology to Rock.

"Violence in all of its forms is poisonous and destructive," said Smith in a statement issued by his publicist and posted on Instagram. "My behavior at last night's Academy Awards was unacceptable and inexcusable. Jokes at my expense are a part of the job, but a joke about Jada's medical condition was too much for me to bear and I reacted emotionally. I would like to publicly apologize to you, Chris. I was out of line and I was wrong. I am embarrassed and my actions were not indicative of the man I want to be. There is no place for violence in a world of love and kindness.'

The 53-year-old actor added apologies to the film academy, producers of the telecast, attendees, viewers and the Williams family. Smith was honored Sunday for his role as Richard Williams, father of Venus and Serena, in "King Richard."

"I am a work in progress," added Smith.

After calling a board of governors meeting Monday to discuss the incident, the film academy said that it review Smith's actions and "will explore further action and consequences in accordance with our bylaws, standards of conduct and California law." The Los Angeles Police Department said Sunday it was aware of the incident but was not pursuing an investigation because the person involved declined to file a police report.

Smith shocked the Dolby Theatre crowd and viewers at home when he took the stage after Rock, appearing as a presenter, joked: "Jada, I love you. 'G.I. Jane 2,' can't wait to see it."

The joke touched a nerve. Pinkett Smith, whose head is shaved, has spoken publicly about her alopecia diagnosis. Smith strode on stage and slapped Rock across the face. Back in his seat, Smith twice shouted for Rock to "get my wife's name out your (expletive) mouth." His words echoed clearly throughout the Dolby, though broadcaster ABC cut the audio for about 15 seconds. Within an hour, Smith won best actor, receiving a standing ovation. During his five-minute acceptance speech, Smith spoke about defending his family. He also apologized to the academy.

Rock's joke wasn't part of his routine during the rehearsals leading up to the show, according to two sources close to production who were not authorized to speak publicly.

But Rock had joked about Pinkett Smith before. He hosted the 2016 Oscars, when some were boycotting the ceremony over the #OscarsSoWhite group of nominees, including the Smiths. Said Rock then: "Jada boycotting the Oscars is like me boycotting Rihanna's panties. I wasn't invited."

Smith's actions rattled a pivotal Oscar ceremony. Until that moment, producer Will Packer had steered an orderly and lighthearted telecast that the academy hoped would restore the Academy Awards following last year's record-low ratings Sunday's ceremony reached an estimated 15.36 million viewers, according to preliminary Nielsen company numbers Monday. While a marked improvement over the 9.85 million that watched last year, it was still the second-least viewed Oscars.

Some academy members, like writer-producer Marshall Herskovitz, called for the academy to take disciplinary action against Smith.

"He disgraced our entire community tonight," wrote Herskovitz on Twitter.

Whoopi Goldberg, a member of the Academy's board of governors, said Monday on "The View": "We're not going to take that Oscar from him. There will be consequences, I'm sure."

The Screen Actors Guild also weighed in. The film, television and radio union called the incident "unacceptable." SAG said that it had been in contact with the academy and ABC, and it doesn't comment on the guild's own disciplinary process.

A sense of disbelief hung in the air at the Dolby Theatre after Smith's assault. Not only was it a hard-to-fathom break with decorum on live national television — an incident so dramatic, even movie-like, that many initially assumed it was a staged bit — it seemed wildly out of character for one of Hollywood's most relentlessly upbeat stars. And it came less than an hour before Smith reached possibly the pinnacle of his career, winning his first

"In a way, I feel bad for Will Smith, too, because I think he let his emotions get the better of him, and this should have been one of the great nights of his life," said former Oscar host Jimmy Kimmel on Bill Simmons' podcast. "And now it's not. Was there anyone who didn't like Will Smith an hour ago in the world? Like no one, right? Now he doesn't have a single comedian friend — that's for sure."

Some questioned whether Smith should have been allowed to continue to sit front and center after smacking Rock. Several stars rushed to counsel and calm Smith, including Denzel Washington, Bradley Cooper and Tyler Perry. But the timing was intensely awkward because the best actor category was due up soon after, and Smith had long been considered a lock for the award.

"I know we're all still processing, but the way casual violence was normalized tonight by a collective national audience will have consequences that we can't even fathom in the moment," wrote Janai Nelson, president and director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, on Twitter.

The drama overshadowed some historical wins at an Oscars. The deaf family drama "CODA" be came the first film with a largely deaf cast to win best picture. For the first time, a streaming service Apple TV+, took Hollywood's top honor, signaling a profound shift in Hollywood and in moviegoing Wins for Ariana DeBose of "West Side Story," Troy Kotsur of "CODA" and Jane Campion, director of "The Power of the Dog," all had made history.

Others came to Smith's defense, including Tiffany Haddish, who co-starred with Pinkett Smith

"Maybe the world might not like how it went down, but for me, it was the most beautiful thing I've ever seen because it made me believe that there are still men out there that love and care about their women, their wives," Haddish told Peo-

After the show, Smith posed for photographs with his family outside the Vanity Fair party. Inside, cell phone videos captured him dancing to "Gettin Jiggy Wit It" while clutching his Oscar. Their son Jaden tweeted: "And That's How We Do It." On Instagram, Smith posted: "Me 'n Jada Pinkett Smith got all dressed up to choose chaos."

'Don't Say Gay' bill signed by Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis signed a bill into law on Monday that forbids instruction on sexual orientation and gender identity in kindergarten through third grade, a policy that has drawn intense national scrutiny from critics who argue it marginalizes LGBTQ people.

The legislation has pushed Florida and DeSantis, an ascending Republican and potential 2024 presidential candidate, to the forefront of the country's culture wars. LGBTQ advocates, students, Democrats, the entertainment industry and the White House have dubbed the measure the "Don't Say Gay" law.

DeSantis and other Republicans have repeatedly said the measure is reasonable and that parents, not teachers, should be broaching subjects of sexual orientation and gender identity with their children. The law went into effect just days after DeSantis signed a separate bill that potentially restricts what books elementary schools can keep in their libraries or use for instruction

"We will make sure that parents can send their kids to school to get an education, not an indoctrination," DeSantis said to applause before he signed the sexual orientation and gender identity measure during a ceremony at a preparatory school outside Tampa.

The law states: "Classroom instruction by school personnel or third parties on sexual orientation or gender identity may not occur in kindergarten through grade 3 or in a manner that is not age appropriate or developmentally appropriate for students in accordance with state standards." Parents would be able to sue districts over violations.

Public backlash began almost immediately after the bill was introduced, early criticism lobbed by Chasten Buttigieg, the husband of U.S. Transportation Secretary Pete Buttigieg, and condemnation from LG-BTQ advocacy groups. Democratic President Joe Biden called it "hate-

As the bill moved through the legislature, celebrities mobilized against it on social media, and criticized it at this year's Academy Awards. Florida students staged walkouts and packed into committee rooms and statehouse halls to protest the measure, often with booming chants of "We say gay!"

The Walt Disney Company, a powerful player in Florida politics, suspended its political donations in the state, and LGBTQ advocates who work for the company criticized CEO Bob Chapek for what they said was his slow response speaking out against the bill. Some walked off the job in protest.

After DeSantis signed the measure, Disney released a statement saying "Our goal as a company is for this law to be repealed by the legislature or struck down in the courts, and we remain committed to supporting the national and state organizations working to achieve that."

Throughout debate in the GOP-controlled statehouse, Democrats have said the law's language, particularly the phrases "classroom instruction" and "age appropriate," could be interpreted so broadly that discussion in any grade could trigger lawsuits and create a classroom atmosphere where teachers would avoid the subjects entirely.

DALLAS (AP) — Luka Doncic knows the Mavericks haven't had home-court advantage in the playoffs since the young superstar came to Coach Jason Kidd might remember the last time the club did, since he was the point guard on the team that won the 2011 championship.

The Mavericks took an important step toward the elusive top half of the Western Conference playoff picture Sunday night.

Doncic scored 32 points and the Mavericks beat the Utah Jazz 114-100 for the inside track to the fourth seed in what could be a first-round playoff matchup.

The Mavericks (46-29) moved a game ahead of the Jazz (45-30) in the battle for the fourth and fifth seeds in the West and earned a split of the season series, with the home team winning all four games. Dallas would have to finish a game ahead of Utah if the Jazz keep their Northwest Division lead over Denver. The Mavericks and Jazz have seven

"That's what we wanted, but it's a long way to go," Doncic said. "We've still got to keep our composure, focus on the next opponent and try to win with a longer 3-pointer to get the Mavevery game."

Rudy Gay scored 18 points for the Jazz, who lost their fourth in a row on a season-long, six-game trip that ends Tuesday night in Los Angeles against the Clippers.

Defensive stalwart Rudy Gobert was a late scratch for Utah because of the 7-foot-1 center's right leg contusion as another 7-footer, Hassan Whiteside, sat for the second consecutive game with a right foot sprain.

Bojan Bogdanovic was out for the ninth time in 10 games as he battles a right calf strain, and Utah had a scare in the third quarter when Donovan Mitchell left the game briefly after Dwight Powell landed on his lower right leg.

Mitchell staved down in front of Utah's bench as play continued at the other end and limped to the bench when he finally got up. But Mitchell missed less than a minute and a half, finishing with 12 points on 4-of-13

"Most of their team wasn't playing, so you can't judge," Kidd said. "We had a Christmas game out there without half our team. You only will be judged once the playoffs start. This wasn't a playoff game. No one's up ericks within a point and set up a second-half surge as Dallas won for the 18th time in 22 home games.

Reggie Bullock connected on a season-high seven 3-pointers, finishing with 23 points on 7-of-11 shooting beyond the arc. He had consecutive 3s in the middle of the fourth quarter to give Dallas its biggest lead to that point at 17.

"I thought Bullock's 3s were really big 3s," Utah coach Quin Snyder said. "You can't take all of them away. There's a few that were really impact-

Jazz: Snyder said Whiteside has been playing through soreness and mentioned feeling it in a loss at Brooklyn last Monday. Whiteside played the next game in Boston. "It's a hard thing to predict, how long or how quickly," Snyder said of the outlook for Whiteside.

AP Sports Writer

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Standing at the top of the ladder, Lexie Hull got the final snip with the scissors, drawing one of the loudest cheers of the night as she draped the net around her neck.

Hull did all she could to get defending national champion Stanford back to her hometown for the Spokane Regional. Then, she became the catalyst for getting the Cardinal back to the women's Final Four.

"I'm just super proud of our team for staying with it, sticking with each other and being gritty," Hull said. "I think it really comes down to who was the grittier team."

Hull scored 20 points, including a key three-point play inside the final three minutes, and Haley Jones hit four free throws in the closing moments to finish with 18 points in top-seeded Stanford's win over No. 2 seed Texas 59-50 on Sunday night.

The Cardinal will play in the national semifinal for the 15th time in program history, facing either North Carolina State or Connecticut in Minneapo-

"It's crazy to say this but you're always happy to go to the Final Four, but sometimes you're like really happy. And I'm like really happy," coach Tara VanDerveer said.

This Elite Eight matchup was tightly contested throughout and reinforced the resolve that Stanford was missing earlier in the season when it lost to Texas at home on the night it received its rings from the 2021 championship.

Stanford (32-3) was the tougher team this time around, especially in the second half.

Then came the real celebration afterward that included the team doing the Electric Slide. It was VanDerveer's idea, and she even joined in.

"I think everybody killed it today," Jones said.

Hull made 7 of 14 shots on a night scoring was at a premium. Jones was just 4-of-11 shooting but made 10-of-11 free throws and Stanford was 18 of 22 at the foul line. Jones also grabbed 12 rebounds.

Cameron Brink added 10 points for Stanford, all in the third quarter, and the Cardinal extended the longest win streak in the country to 24 games. Brink was also a force at the defensive end with six blocks, half coming in the third quarter when Stanford went to a zone defense.

"Good teams adjust at the end of the day, and they made an adjustment and went to zone," said Texas' Joanne Allen-Taylor, who led the Longhorns with 15 points before fouling out. "We just didn't make enough plays in the zone at the time."

Texas (29-7) lost in the Elite Eight for the second straight season; last year's unexpected run as a No. 6 seed stopped with South Carolina.

Rori Harmon, the Big 12 freshman of the year, was limited to 14 points and Audrey Warren added 11 points off the bench. Texas' second-longest win streak in the country was snapped at 14 games.

"They're really good, no question about it. You let them do what they want to do, they'll hang 70, 80 points on you," Texas coach Vic Schaefer said. "I think you've got to give our kids credit because they didn't let them do what they wanted to do. They really played their guts out today, and they played the way we wanted to play. And we just

Stanford's return trip to the Final Four keeps alive the hope of being the first team other than Connecticut to repeat as national champions since Tennessee in 2007 and 2008. But the Cardinal had to get through the fourth quarter — both Sunday and Texas thrived in the fourth in the first meeting, trailing by five to start the quarter that day before outscoring the Cardinal by 10 for a 61-56 victory.

On Sunday, Texas also trailed by five to start the fourth and pulled within three on an Allen-Taylor jumper. It took Stanford nearly three minutes into the quarter before Lexie Hull hit an open 3-pointer from the wing — just the third 3 of the game of the Cardinal. Jones pushed the lead to 50-43, but Warren's jumper and three free throws cut it to 50-48 with 3:35 left.

That's when Hull drove to the rim and scored while being fouled for what proved to be the decisive points. The Cardinal made 6 of 8 free throws in the final two minutes.

Texas: The Longhorns were in the Elite Eight for the 11th time in program history, but have not been to the Final Four since 2003. Schaefer has coached in the Elite Eight in five straight tournaments but has lost his last three regional final games.

"We were supposed to be here this year in my mind," Schaefer said. "We were playing good. We're one of the best eight teams in the country. I don't think there is any doubt about it."

Stanford: The Cardinal have not lost since falling to South Carolina on Dec. 21. They may get a chance at seeing the Gamecocks again, but it would be in the national title game.

The bidding: East West South 1 🏚 Pass Pass

2 🏚 Pass Opening lead — king of hearts. Assume you're a defender, and your partner adopts a line of defense you don't understand. Despite your uncertainty, it's usually wise to cooperate with your partner, whatever he's doing, because he might know something about the hand that you don't know. Besides, it's psychologically better to humor him — even if only for morale purposes.

Getting down to cases, let's sup-two spades, and your partner leads the K-A-O of hearts, declarer following suit.

At this point, you'd be expecting that partner was going to shift to a diamond or a club, neither of which would make much difference to you since you have both suits under control. But much to your surprise, West now leads the nine of hearts!

Declarer discards a diamond from dummy and thus dashes your hope of scoring a diamond trick later on. West's heart play might strike you as very strange, since somewhere along the line he must have been told not to give declarer a ruff-and-discard.

However, you'd do better to take the play as well-reasoned and try to figure out what your partner is up to. It would surely be wrong to discard on the nine of hearts, which you might feel inclined to do if you assumed partner had taken leave of his senses.

Instead, you should follow partner's defense and ruff the nine of hearts with your queen of spades. That's what he presumably wants you to do in order to promote his trump holding. If you do this, South will eventually lose three trump tricks and go down one; if pose you're East, defending against you don't, he makes the contract.

On March 29, 2004, President George W. Bush welcomed seven former Soviet-bloc nations (Romania, Bulgaria, Slovakia, Lithuania. Slovenia. Latvia and Estonia) into NATO during a White House ceremony.

On this date:

In 1861, President Abraham Lincoln ordered plans for a relief expedition to sail to South Carolina's Fort Sumter, which was still in the hands of Union forces despite repeated demands by the Confederacy that it be turned over.

In 1867, Britain's Parliament passed, and Queen Victoria signed, the British North America Act creating the Dominion of Canada, which came into being the following July.

In 1943, World War II rationing of meat, fats and cheese began, limiting consumers to store purchases of an average of about two pounds a week for beef, pork, lamb and mutton using a coupon system.

In 1951, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were convicted in New York of conspiracy to commit espionage for the Soviet Union. (They were executed in June 1953.)

In 1971, Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr. was convicted of murdering 22 Vietnamese civilians in the 1968 My Lai (mee ly) massacre. (Calley ended up serving three years under house arrest.) A jury in Los Angeles recommended the death penalty for Charles Manson and three female followers for the 1969 Tate-La Bianca murders. (The sentences were commuted when the California state Supreme Court struck down the death penalty in

In 1973, the last United States combat troops left South Vietnam, ending America's direct military involvement in the Vietnam

In 1974, eight Ohio National Guardsmen were indicted on federal charges stemming from the shooting deaths of four students at Kent State University. (The charges were later dismissed.)

In 1984, under cover of early morning darkness, the Baltimore Colts football team left its home city of three decades and moved to Indianapolis.

In 2002, Israeli troops stormed Yasser Arafat's headquarters complex in the West Bank in a raid that was launched in response to anti-Israeli attacks that had killed 30 people in three days.

In 2010, two female suicide bombers blew themselves up in twin attacks on Moscow subway stations jam-packed with rush-hour passengers, killing at least 40 people and wounding more than 100.

In 2020, country singer Joe

Diffie, who had a string of hits in the 1990s, died at 61 from what a spokesman said were complications from COVID-19. Ten years ago: A divided House approved, 228-191, a $3.6 trillion Republican budget recasting Medicare and imposing sweeping cuts in domestic programs.

Five years ago: Britain filed for divorce from the European Union as Prime Minister Theresa May sent a six-page letter to EU Council President Donald Tusk. Two former aides to New Jersey Gov. Chris Christie were sentenced to prison for creating a colossal traffic jam at the George Washington Bridge for political revenge, a scandal that sank Christie's White House hopes.

One year ago: The former Minneapolis police officer charged with killing George Floyd went on trial with prosecutors showing the jury video of Derek Chauvin pressing his knee on the Black man's neck for several minutes as onlookers yelled at him repeatedly to get off and Floyd gasped that he couldn't breathe. (Chauvin would be convicted of murder and manslaughter and sentenced to 22 1/2 years in prison.) Salvage teams dislodged a huge container ship that had blocked the Suez Canal for six days. The Biden administration extended a federal moratorium on evictions of tenants who'd fallen behind on rent during the coronavirus pandemic.

Lunar Intuition

The Pisces moon is sensitive, drawing our intuition to the forefront. Silence helps us understand one another. It will be easier to read people when no one is talking, and the volume of the world is low. The lunar arrangement to Uranus puts a zoom lens on body language and the role of microexpressions. People can say everything with a gesture.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). In choosing who to work and play with, the three things that matter most are attitude, abilities and track record. Of those three, attitude is the most important.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Because you've been so warm and inviting, new relationships spring up like green shoots from the ground. Your social landscape is about to get a drastically different look. GEMINI (May 21-June 21). As you get to know people better, relationships take a turn. Familiarity brings comfort. The more comfortable everyone is, the more playful they become, which leads to interesting and delightful interactions. CANCER (June 22-July 22). The problem with rainbows is that you can never get to them. You reach the spot, but they're never there anymore. This is why it's so important to enjoy the pursuit. With lovely illusions, the chase is all there is!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22).

Perhaps the fit is not instantaneous, but that doesn't mean this situation isn't for you. Glamour isn't off-the-rack; it takes work. Don't forget about tailoring

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). After a period of indecision, suddenly, you'll get a surge of excitement. You'll know what you want. You'll throw your best energy after it. Your aim is true.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Emotions are waves. Most are predictable, but the really big ones usually aren't. Regardless, no feeling, good or bad, lasts forever. For better or worse, let them wash over SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). The trial isn't always fair, but this verdict will stick. There is something good about it. Perhaps the best part of all is that evervone can now move on to new and better things.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You'll get your subconscious mind on board with your conscious desire. There's a fear standing in the way -perhaps a groundless and unreasonable one, but one that still needs to be listened to. Talk to it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). The luckiest thing you can do is get everyone on the same page. Follow this age-old communication pattern: Tell them what you're going to do. Do it. Tell them what you did.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). The timing won't fall into place on its own; it must be finessed, pushed, pulled, stalled, jerked... You'll have to buy time, if not with money then with the currency that often works better: charm.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Although no one likes to be made aware of their deficiencies, it's a gift to know one's own weakness. Then improvement and strength-building efforts can be aimed productively, where they are most needed.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

(March 29). The year shows you more confident than ever. Why? Confidence doesn't come from knowledge or skill; it comes from acceptance. You're fine with your own process; self-love makes it so. You'll get the money drop that allows you to solve a problem completely. Creativity flows. Legal and technical matters go in your favor. Libra and Leo adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 2, 27, 30, 4 and 14.

CELEBRITY PRO-

FILES: Actress and author of delightfully disturbing hospitality books Amy Sedaris is also the creator and star of the Dadaist masterpiece "At Home with Amy Sedaris." This searing Aries talent has an unusually diverse astrological chart, which may explain her ability and desire to play a wide range of characters. Sedaris has many astrological energies to draw from, including Mercury in artistically and emotionally flexible

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
