Texas A&M Forest Service: Help prevent wildfires over Memorial Day weekend

Special to the Herald

COLLEGE STATION, Texas— This Memorial Day, Texas A&M Forest Service encourages Texans to protect our great state by being mindful of activities that may start a wildfire. The start of summer is marked by vacations, outdoor activities like camping and grilling and celebrating holidays with family and friends – all of which could lead to sparking a wildfire.

Between 2017 and 2021, Texas A&M Forest Service responded to 3,682 wildfires burning 1.4 million acres. Almost half of these wildfires occurred during the summer months, where the majority were caused by humans and their activities.

In Texas, 9 out of 10 wildfires are human-caused and completely preventable. The most common causes of wildfire ignitions during the summer months are debris burning and equipment use, which includes parking in dry grass and dragging trailer chains.

"Texas A&M Forest Service encourages all residents to stay safe during the holiday weekend," said Karen Stafford, Texas A&M Forest Service Wildfire Prevention Program Coordinator. "Every Texan has a role to play in protecting our state from wildfires and preventing any new ignitions. Remember to do your part, and don't let a wildfire start."

While some portions of the state have received rainfall recently, some regions have not received any significant precipitation. The hot, dry summer months will continue to intensify drought conditions and support wildfire ignitions.

"The high summer temperatures across the state and an abundance of grass, brush and other dry vegetation can quickly turn an unintended spark into a wildfire," says Stafford. "Be mindful of conditions and cautious of your outdoor activities that may cause a spark."

This is a great way to get outdoors and enjoy a different fundraising opportunity."

TPWC awards Trail Grants Scurry County on funding list

Neighboring Scurry County has been awarded more than $228,000 by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission to build biking and hiking trail amenities

During its meeting Thursday, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission approved more than $4.8 million dollars in grants funding 17 motorized and non-motorized recreational trail-related projects across the state, including the Scurry County project.

Scurry County's grant will provide $228,100 for the Scurry County Recreational Trails project, which includes the construction of five miles of bike trail, renovation of 2.5- miles of trail with a pump track, rest area, ramp, restroom, benches, signage, lighting and trailhead updates.

One million dollars of the amount allocated across the state came directly from state Sporting Good Sales Tax funds dedicated to the Recreational Trails Program through a rider passed by the 82nd Legislature. The rider increased the total amount of funded projects this year.

Brian James Jensen

Brian James Jensen of Denton died at his home on May 24, 2022, after 25 months of a brave fight with glioblastoma.

Brian was born in Watford City, N.D., in 1954, to Delmar and Helen Jensen, the third of their five children. They settled in Baker, Mont., where Brian graduated from high school. After moving to Texas, he became a volunteer firefighter for Howard County and then a Big Spring firefighter in 1988. He was one of the first Paramedics for the Department and later served as EMS Director. In 2000, he was named Fire Chief for the City of Big Spring, serving for 12 years. That year he also began a 20-year battle with prostate cancer, which metastasized and would later complicate his diagnosis and treatment for brain cancer.

Despite many years of painful treatments for both cancers, Brian never lost the sense of humor and positive attitude that was his trademark. He was known for his practical jokes, and his many and varied interests including astronomy, Norse mythology, carving, tinkering, repairing things and cooking international specialties. He cared deeply for the welfare of children and the homeless population, along with championing public safety.

He was preceded in death by a baby sister who lived only a few hours.

Brian is survived by his wife of 29 years, Debbie; and six children, Jeremy Jensen of Harker Heights, Rian (and Jodi) Jensen of Colorado City, Carissa (and Keaton) Hughes of Big Spring, Hannah Jensen of Dallas, Mika Jensen and Mick Jensen of the home in Denton; and five grandchildren, Ryan Jensen, Arius Jensen, and Maverick, McKoy and Crue Hughes. He is also survived by four siblings, Penny (and Tim) Sikorski of Flower Mound; Bruce (and Jeanne) Jensen of Forsyth, Mont., Leslie (and John) Henson of Goodyear, Ariz., and Jill Jensen (and Joe Vanderloos) of Billings, Mont.

A memorial service will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday, June 4, 2022, at Trinity Presbyterian Church in Denton.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests memorial gifts to one of Brian's favorite causes, CASA of Denton County, Monsignor King Outreach Center, or Trinity Presbyterian Church.

Students who survived Uvalde school attack describe scene

UVALDE, Texas (AP) — A young survivor of the massacre at a Texas elementary school said she covered herself with a friend's blood and pretended to be dead while she waited for help to arrive.

Miah Cerrillo, 11, told CNN that she and a friend called 911 from her dead teacher's phone Tuesday and waited for what felt like, to her, three hours for officers to arrive at Robb Elementary School in Uvalde.

The 18-year-old shooter, Salvador Ramos, was inside the school for more than an hour before he was shot to death by Border Patrol tactical officers. That's according to top law enforcement officials recreational trail construction, renovation and acquisition. The grants are funded from a portion of the federal gas tax generated by gasoline purchases for off-highway vehicles. Thirty percent of the total NRTF grants must be earmarked for motorized recreational trails, while another 30 percent must be spent on non-motorized trail projects. The remaining 40 percent is discretionary.

The event is made possible by local businesses, organizations and individuals who are looking to give back to the growth of the community. Those attending will have access to take home some door prizes thanks to the contributions of Bulldog Steel/Metal Solutions and Expedition Royalty. Sponsorships as well as team spots are still available for the event, for those wanting to get involved. This year's event is made possible through the generous donations of Moss Creek Ranch and Metal Solutions. The pre-registration mixer is set to take place from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. at the Train Car, in an effort to get teams registered and kick off an eventful, outdoor weekend.

"Those who would like to sponsor a team, but would be unable to provide a team can extend their sponsorship to a team of first responders and/or veterans," ValVerde said. "Last year we had a new group of supports and were able to draw in new community businesses and families to see what the Chamber is all about. Our community has a lot to offer, but it can only grow with the support of the community members."

The first and second place winners will be announced at the end of the shoot. The event will take place on the same course that was designed last year. According to ValVerde, they are hoping to welcome back some of the teams from last year and some new groups.

"We are grateful for our community partnerships who make these events possible. The funds raised are going to be put right back into supporting local business in the community. For those who have never attended a Chamber event and want to find out how to get connected and involved, we encourage you to come out and join us," ValVerde said. "Getting engaged and working together is important for us to move the community forward and grow together."

Those who wish to take part in the clay shoot can sign up the four person teams at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Office, located at 215 W. Third Street by 10 a.m. Friday. For more information, contact the Chamber Office at 432-263-7641.

this Memorial Day weekend include:

- Park in designated spaces and avoid driving over and parking on dry grass—the heat from your vehicle can easily ignite the grass.
- Always check with local officials for burn bans or other outdoor burning restrictions. Each county in Texas sets and lifts their own burn bans. Make sure you know your county's burn ban status and if it restricts open flames or other heat-causing activities such as using charcoal. View the latest burn ban map here: <https://tfsweb.tamu.edu/burnbans/>.

- When using a cooking fire or campfire, never leave it unattended. Always make sure it is completely out by drowning it with water, stirring it and feeling to ensure that it is out cold before you leave.

- If pulling a boat or camper, make sure the tow chains are properly connected and not dragging on the roadway creating sparks.
  - Carry a fire extinguisher with you at all times in case a fire ignites near you.

who provided new details Thursday of a confusing and sometimes contradictory timeline that has angered and frustrated the parents and onlookers who had urged police to charge into the school.

The children who survived the attack, which killed 19 school-children and two teachers, described a festive, end-of-the-school-year day that quickly turned to terror.

Samuel Salinas, 10, told ABC's " Good Morning America " that he and other classmates pretended to be dead after Ramos opened fire on the class. Samuel was struck by shrapnel in his thigh.

"He shot the teacher and then he shot the kids," said Samuel, who was in Irma Garcia's class. Garcia died in the attack and her husband, Joe Garcia, died Thursday of an apparent heart attack.

Gemma Lopez, 10, was in a classroom down the hall when Ramos entered the building. She told "Good Morning America" that a bullet came through her classroom wall before any lockdown was called.

Ennis Has Kolache, Bluebonnets And Polka

Ennis has had a Bluebonnet Festival 70 years. “We have bluebonnet trails that go through some of the rural towns east of here,” says Jean Paul Beebe, an active resident of Ennis. “Some of those towns are Bristol, Alsdorf, Crisp, Telico and others you’ve never heard of.” Country music legend Ernest Tubbs was born at Crisp. The famous outlaw Clyde Barrow was born at Telico.

TUMBLEWEED SMITH

A lot of descendants of Czech immigrants live in Ennis.

“When those early settlers got to this area it reminded them of their homeland with this rich, blackland soil they could farm. That was a way of life they could take on and start a new life. Czech is a culture that at one point was the third highest populated culture in the state of Texas.”

Stores in Ennis sell lots of a popular food item.

“The kolache is not a pig in a blanket that has the little sausage rolled up in dough. A kolache is a fruit pastry. In Czech the word kolache is already plural. Kolach singular, kolache plural. The savory version which has a sausage rolled up in dough is klobasnik. Some people say klobasniki, the plural version.”

Downtown Ennis is undergoing revitalization, restoring some historic buildings.

“Our Ennis Theater has just re-opened. It does live theater performances. We have a farmers market downtown that brings in thousands of people from Dallas, and Fort Worth and cities all around Ennis.”

The major attraction in Ennis is the 3-day National Polka Festival held every Memorial Day weekend. This year marked the 55th anniversary of the event.

“We’ve had numbers ranging from 30,00 to 50,000 people who have attended. Our population dramatically increases over the Memorial Day weekend.”

It’s all about music, food, dancing and fun. Jean Paul is director of the festival and says planning for it takes about 9 months.

“It’s first class music. These musicians are playing somewhere at least 40 weeks a year at different locations across the state. We have 15 different polka bands playing in three separate venues plus we have a band downtown and you get to hear that music all over the downtown area. Since it is a national festival, we have bands from other states. Every year we have different bands.”

High-ranking officials and entertainers from the Czech Republic attend every year. Since a lot of the dancers’ costumes are historically traditional, some of the younger people from the Czech Republic have never seen them. They come over here to see some of their history. The major sponsor of the festival is Corona Premier Beer. A big pivo pavilion is downtown. Pivo is the Czech word for beer.

Letter to the Editor and Big Spring

Congratulations Big Spring!!!!!! How does it fell to be #6 or #7 in Texas?? Reliable reports say US 87 is now designated Interstate 27 status. What it could mean for Big Spring defies imagination. Appreciation is due many-none less than Port to Plains and Associates. (Ports to Plains will hold its annual conference-USA/Canada/Mexico-in Settles Hotel in September-an exclusive honor for Big Spring and the hotel.) Even the forthcoming electrical and hydrogen times --transportation--in the United States will likely follow interstate routes into the future. Imagine the possibility centuries from now. Big Spring now has two interstates and should be deemed an official crossroads. Electricity came to our dairy in 1941 re-placing the oil lamp, ice box, and water well rope/bucket. No more lowering milk down into the well to keep it cool before processing. Bathrooms moved inside obsoleting the 3 holer and that infernal trip of chicken smudge between toes. As a youngster it made the day special when bare feet traversed that trip thru the chicken yard to you know where without stepping on smudge. Saturday laundry day and the smut blackened wash pot was relegated to making hominy. Hydromantic transmissions TV, air conditioning, transistors, computers and may other innovations took their society places. Our generation handicap will probably miss many of the changes though the young will probably be transported to Dallas or Austin in half an hour or sooner by a form of transportation beyond our apprehension. Be bold Big Spring!! Do something special and you’ll become a special city. Our fore bearers watered West Texas with CRM-WD. Big Spring could become the central point of administration between 3 nations due to its central location.

— Bobby McDonald, Big Spring

And Then They Shook Hands....

It’s an expression rarely heard these days, perhaps because there are so many lenses through which life-in-a-hurry can be viewed. When’s the last time you heard, “I saw it with my own eyes”?

I never expected to see gambling interests advertising on TV sports or promotion of something called bitcoins. I’ve avoided pitches from the former and drawn the line on the latter, not risking crossed eyes trying to understand what bitcoins are about.

I’m treating said coins the way I’ve regarded the sport of track since the switch from understandable yards and feet to metric measurements. I-and millions of others--can’t get the hang of conversion, and therefore have flagging interest in the sport.

Traditional sports coverage remains valued, but I’m less concerned about outcomes and more eager to learn about how players emerge on the other side....

*****

Renowned sportswriter Grantland Rice--known for elegant prose--got it right. He is most remembered for applying sports lessons to real world situations. Perhaps his most cited quote is simply this: “It’s not whether you win or lose, it’s how you play the game.”

During his 50+ years of 20th century writing, he conveyed lessons learned from playing both high school and college sports. He valued life applications far more than won-lost columns.

His sense of honor was unquestioned. Before entering World War I service, he entrusted his entire “fortune” of about $75,000 (equivalent to about $1.4 million today) to a friend. Alas, his friend lost all of Rice’s money in bad investments, then committed suicide. Rice apologized to the friend’s widow, saying that he shouldn’t have “put that much temptation in the way.” Then, he made monthly contributions to her for the rest of her life. It’s difficult to imagine such acts occurring today, is it not?...

*****

All this to say that I’m always on the look-out for expressions of authentic sportsmanship. I applaud when high school--and sometimes professional--players offer handshakes and encouragement to losing teams when games end.

Perhaps the best evidence of sportsmanship I’ve seen is a video of our 15-year-old grandson, Kedren Penney, who plays basketball in a homeschool league. Without mentioning his personal stats or his team’s record, his humility shone through.

He chose to make a video he called “lowlights” of his basketball season. His growth spurted to 5-11 before season’s end, but he’d grown accustomed to competing among the trees, knocked about and face-planted with some regularity.

I had to request a viewing of the video, but he finally complied. For about five minutes, I saw him sprawling on the floor repeatedly. Every single time, he was offered hands--from teammates and opponents alike--to help him regain his feet. It was both fun and encouraging to view the video again, if only to count the gestures of sportsmanship....

Kedren didn’t mention his team’s record or his personal stats. He preferred showing the “lowlights,” giving only passing reference to his half-court buzzer-beater in one outing.

In the short video, I was reminded that there still are programs where some coaches and players (as well as parents much of the time) see value beyond won-lost records.

Grantland Rice would be proud, and I am, too....

*****

It is ours, as a culture, to reconsider what sports should be about, for boys and girls alike.

Coaches shouldn’t have to “win at all costs” or look for ways to “unlevel” playing fields.

And parents/fans should cut coaches some slack, foregoing the temptation to support them heartily, provided they win or tie....

*****

The name Grantland Rice is worth researching. His was a remarkable life and his words were heartfelt.

I can never think of his greatness without recalling one of his familiar poems: “For when the One Great Scorer comes, to mark against your name, He writes not that you won or lost, but how you played the game.” I salute all who value his counsel....

Coahoma wins game one of UIL Region 1-3A Finals Bulldogettes one game away from advancing to state tournament

By PATRICK GONZALES

Herald Sports Writer

The Coahoma Bulldogettes are one win away from advancing to the UIL 3A State softball tournament. Coahoma takes a one game lead, in a best of three game series, after beating Holliday 5-1 in game one. Game one got a delayed start, due to another playoff game going longer than expected. The delay didn't seem to have an effect on Coahoma and Holliday, as both teams played great defense for most of the game.

The stands were packed with both Coahoma and Holliday fans, ready to see two of the top-ranked teams in the state battle it out. The Bulldogettes however, would set the tone of the game in the first inning. Coahoma was the home team in game one, with freshman Hannah Wells getting the start. Wells did what she has done best all season long, dominate the mound! Wells got things started for Coahoma as she retired Holliday's first three batters giving her three strikeouts to start the game. Senior Maddison Rodgers would keep the Bulldogettes momentum going as she cranked a home run over left field to give the Bulldogettes a 1-0 lead. Holliday's Addison Lindemann would retire Coahoma's next three batters to end the first inning.

The second inning started out like the first for Coahoma, as Wells struck out Holliday's first two batters and first baseman Brynn Rodgers getting the third out on an infield pop fly. Brynn Rodgers would bat first to start the second inning, but Holliday's Lindemann would best Rodgers getting the strikeout for the first out. Holliday's Brynn Rodgers was up next for the Bulldogettes and would get a walk on her at bat. Everett would steal second during Shae Lang's at bat, but would advance to third as Holliday's catcher overthrew at second in an attempt to get the second out. Coahoma's Lang would then place a perfect sacrifice bunt to bring in Everett for another run giving the Bulldogettes a 2-0 lead. Coahoma's Kaiden Lee would strikeout to end the second inning.

The game would see great defense from both teams as neither team would score any runs in the third through fifth innings. Instead, fans saw great pitching from Coahoma's Hannah Wells and Holliday's Addison Lindemann. The Holliday Lady Eagles would get on the board in the top of the sixth inning. Holliday's Evelyn Perkins would score the Lady Eagles only run after Allie Davis's perfectly placed bunt to bring Perkins in for the score. The score was 2-1 going into the bottom of the sixth inning.

Now, if you have watched the Bulldogettes throughout the playoffs, then you know that they are dangerous team late in the game. Going into the bottom of the sixth inning Coahoma still led 2-1, but the Bulldogettes' bats would get hot once again.

Coahoma's catcher Karleigh Burt got things started as she singled to short stop. Hannah Wells kept it going as she hit to the short stop as well. Holliday's Davis could not field it giving Wells a single and advancing Burt to second. Freshman Avery Rodriguez was up next and set up the sacrifice bunt. Rodriguez made it to first as Holliday's third baseman was unable to make the play. Rodriguez was subbed out for Baylor Wright at first before the next at bat. With the bases loaded and no outs, Brynn Rodgers was up next. Rodgers, popped out in left field, but brought Burt in for the run with the score now 3-1 Coahoma. Christian Everett was up for Coahoma and got a triple two RBI after hitting the ball in left field gap bringing in Wells and Wright to score and Everett advancing all the way to third.

Holliday would lead the inning with a ground out to short stop. Coahoma now leading 5-1 were three outs away from winning game one of the series. Coahoma's Hannah Wells took care of business as she shut down Holliday's bottom lineup. Coahoma's Hannah Wells and Holliday's Addison Lindemann would both finish the game with a total of 12 strikeouts. In the end, Hannah Wells would best Holliday and helped the Bulldogettes take a one game lead in a best of three game series.

The Bulldogettes are now one win away from advancing to the UIL State tournament next in Austin. The Bulldogettes will play Holliday again on Saturday in game two at Abilene Christian University. Game time is set for 2 p.m. If the Bulldogettes win they advance, if they lose, then they will play game three at 4 p.m. to decide who advances to state. Come on out and pack the stands for the Coahoma Bulldogettes on Saturday!

Star trio leads Warriors to NBA Finals spot

By JOSH DUBOW

AP Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Klay Thompson drained the 3-pointers. Draymond Green anchored the defense and even chipped in on the offensive end for a change. Stephen Curry capped off an MVP performance.

The trio that led Golden State to so much success in recent years is whole again and has the Warriors in position for another title after advancing to the NBA Finals with a 120-110 victory over the Dallas Mavericks on Thursday night.

"Like I've said over and over again, I'm going to keep saying it: No one has proven that they can move us off that spot," Green said. "That's the mindset we come into this thing with. We understand what it takes to win a championship."

The triumvirate of Curry, Thompson and Green is in rarified air in NBA lore as the core of a team that has made it to six NBA Finals in an eight-year span. It's an accomplishment only the greatest groups have reached with Bill Russell's Celtics of the 1950s and '60s, Magic Johnson's Lakers in the 1980s and Michael Jordan's Bulls of the 1990s doing it.

Now the Warriors hope to add a fourth title to the ones they captured in 2015, '17 and '18 when the Finals start June 2 against either Boston or Miami.

The Celtics lead the series 3-2 headed into Game 6 at home on Thursday night.

"We're happy to be here, but it would help our legacy a lot if we completed the mission and won the whole thing," Thompson said. "We can be happy tonight, and we will be, I'll celebrate tonight. But tomorrow when this Game 6 comes on, I'm turning the page and I'm scouting because we want to finish this thing off the right way."

The last time the Warriors made it to the Finals they fell short, starting a two-year spiral filled with losing and injuries. Thompson tore his left ACL during a season-ending Game 6 loss in the 2019 NBA Finals.

Kevin Durant tore his Achilles' tendon earlier that series and then left for Brooklyn that summer, leading to the Warriors finishing an NBA-worst 15-50 in the pandemic shortened 2019-20 season.

Thompson then tore his right Achilles' tendon just before the start of the next season and the Warriors were unable to make it back to the playoffs, getting knocked out by Memphis in the play-in game.

But Thompson returned in January and the combination of the aging trio of stars with an infusion of youth from players like Andrew Wiggins, Jordan Poole and others has Golden State back at the top of the league again.

"We never lost the faith, but you understand how hard of a process it was going to be to climb the mountain again," Curry said. "I think internally we are all extremely proud of what it took to get back here. Yeah, it's definitely sweet based on what we went through."

Thompson led the way in the clinching Game 5 win of the Western Conference finals over Dallas, making eight 3-pointers for a record-setting fifth time in his playoff career and scoring 32 points.

Green added 17 points, six rebounds and nine assists to go along with his usual defensive brilliance and Curry had 15 points and nine assists as he was named series MVP.

It's a level of play that reminds coach Steve Kerr of the Bulls teams he played on with Jordan and Scottie Pippen that won so many titles in the 1990s.

"The common denominator is just talented players who are fierce competitors," Kerr said. "Whether you talk about Michael and Scottie, Steph, Draymond, Klay, it takes a special kind of athlete to have both dynamics. The skill and the athleticism and all that, but to also be just incredibly competitive and to want to win so badly. It's the only way you can have a run like that because you get exhausted, you get tired, you get frustrated. If you don't have that type of competitive desire and that type of skill combined, it's just not going to happen six times out of eight years."

Rangers score 3 in 9th off A's bullpen, win 4-1

By MICHAEL WAGAMAN

Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Adolis García doubled in pinch-runner Eli White in the top of the ninth inning, Nathaniel Lowe followed with a two-run homer, and the Texas Rangers beat the Oakland Athletics 4-1 on Thursday night.

García and Kole Calhoun each had two hits as the Rangers won their second straight after dropping three in a row on their 10-game road trip. Texas also scored a run on a bases-loaded walk by Andy Ibañez.

"We got it done in the ninth," Rangers manager Chris Woodward said. "This place is a tough place to score runs but I loved the at-bats that Adolis had. Glad we got it done in the end."

Chad Pinder had two hits for Oakland. The A's have lost 12 of their last 14 at home.

The Rangers scored late off the A's bullpen after starters Martín Pérez and Frankie Montas kept both offenses in check.

Jonah Heim began the winning rally off Lou Trivino (1-3) with a single up the middle just past the glove of diving second baseman Sheldon Neuse. After White replaced Heim, García lashed a sharp double into the left field corner.

"He's been really good but I was just kind of trying to make contact," García said through an interpreter. "I saw the pitch I was looking for, made good contact on it."

Lowe, who was in a 10-for-78 funk (.128), then hit his third home run of the season.

Pérez pitched seven strong innings of four-hit ball but left with no decision in his 200th career start.

Pérez's streak of 25 consecutive scoreless innings on the road ended in the fourth on a changeup that bounced underneath the glove of catcher Heim, allowing Pinder to score from third. Pinder singled leading off the inning and went to third on Sean Murphy's double.

"I was throwing how I've been throwing," Pérez said. "I was able to keep the game tight. My team, they picked me up in the ninth inning, so that was great for me."

Montas had 11 strikeouts in seven strong innings. He allowed three hits and an unearned run, which came after a fielding error by shortstop Elvis Andrus.

Matt Bush (2-1) retired three batters to win. Joe Barlow worked around a leadoff walk in the ninth for his eighth save.

The A's missed an opportunity in the seventh when leadoff hitter Christian Bethancourt was ruled out for interference. Bethancourt bunted down the first base line and went to second when Pérez's flip throw to first baseman Lowe sailed down the line. Umpires quickly made the out call and A's manager Mark Kotsay came out to argue. Andrus, the next batter, doubled.

"Umpire, in his opinion, (said) Bethancourt did not have both feet in the box running down to first base," Kotsay said. "The argument for me was more about the play itself and the throw. It was so far up the line or in foul territory that the throw was uncatchable, in my opinion."

The Rangers benefited from the call but Woodward isn't a fan of the rule.

"It was a good play by Bethancourt, the bunt," Woodward said. "I know the rule but I don't love it."

PÉREZ'S MESSAGE TO UVALDE

Pérez had a hand-written note inscribed above the bill on his cap that read: 4 Uvalde, a reference to the school shooting in Texas earlier this week that killed 19 students and two teachers.

"It's time for the government to do something," said Pérez, who has children of his own. "It's happening over and over and over and nobody is doing anything. It's only happening in this country. In my country, growing up in Venezuela, it's not a safe country. Then to come here and feel that way too, scared, ... it's really bad. What happened to those kids is bad and we feel that. Every time I went out there I said, 'This is for the city.'"

EXTRA BASES

Montas moved into a tie with Catfish Hunter for third place on the A's list with nine games with 10 or more strikeouts. Vida Blue holds the franchise record with 21. ... The attendance at the Coliseum was 3,203. It's the fifth time this season that the crowd has been less than 3,300.

TRAINER'S ROOM

Rangers: RHP José Leclerc allowed one run in two innings of his first rehab start with Double-A Frisco. Leclerc began the season on the 60-day Injured List after undergoing elbow surgery in March 2021.

UP NEXT

A's LHP Cole Irvin (2-2, 2.94 ERA) makes his second start since coming off the injured list. Irvin beat Texas in April for Oakland's only win of that three-game series. Rangers RHP Jon Gray (1-2, 5.14 ERA) has allowed 10 runs in the first inning of his six starts this season.

Stehly, Gordon lead Texas past TCU for berth in Big 12 semis

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP)

Murphy Stehly hit a three-run home run in the top of the first inning. Lucas Gordon pitched into the eighth and No. 5 seed Texas never trailed in a 5-3 victory over top-seeded TCU on Thursday in the Big 12 Tournament.

Two-time conference champion TCU (36-19) will play an elimination game against either No. 2 seed Texas Tech or third-seeded Oklahoma on Friday. Texas (41-17) is idle until the semifinals Saturday. Gordon tossed 7 2/3 innings for Texas, allowing two runs — one earned — on two hits and two walks. He struck out four in upping his record to 7-1 on the season.

The Longhorns jumped on TCU starter Marcelo Perez (6-3) early. Douglas Hodo III led off with an infield single. Ivan Melendez reached base when he was hit by a pitch with one out. Stehly sent a 0-2 pitch over the wall in left field for his sixth homer of the season and a 3-0 lead.

Tommy Sacco led off the bottom of the fourth with a walk on a wild pitch, moved to third on a ground out and scored on an error as the Horned Frogs pushed a run across without benefit of a hit. TCU pulled within a run in the sixth when Elijah Nunez led off with a double and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Brayden Taylor.

Texas added two insurance runs in the top of the eighth off TCU reliever Luke Savage. Hodo doubled with one out and moved to third on Eric Kennedy's infield single. Both runners advanced on a balk, plating Hodo. Austin Todd drove in Kennedy with a two-out single to make it 5-2.

Gray Rodgers hit a two-out solo homer in the ninth for the Horned Frogs to cap the scoring.

Oklahoma tops Texas Tech 6-3, advances to Big 12 semis

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP)

Jackson Nicklaus hit a three-run home run and Jake Bennett struck out 12 in 7 2/3 innings to propel No. 3 seed Oklahoma to a 6-3 victory over No. 2 seed Texas Tech in the Big 12 Tournament on Thursday night.

Oklahoma (37-20) is idle until Saturday's semifinal round. Texas Tech (38-20) plays an elimination game against No. 7 seed Kansas State on Friday.

The Sooners grabbed a 3-0 lead in the top of the second inning. Tanner Tredaway and Jimmy Crooks both singled leading off the inning and one out later Nicklaus homered to right field.

The Red Raiders got a run back in the bottom of the third when Hudson White singled, stole second and scored on Dillon Carter's sacrifice fly.

Oklahoma used a hit batter, a walk and a single by John Spikerman to load the bases with two outs in the seventh. Peyton Graham followed with a two-run single and an error on the play led to Spikerman scoring for a 6-1 lead.

Kurt Wilson hit a two-run home run off Oklahoma reliever Trevin Michael in the ninth to cap the scoring.

Bennett (7-3) allowed just two hits and two walks in picking up the win.

Texas Tech starter Andrew Morris (7-2) surrendered five runs on five hits and three walks in 6 2/3 innings, striking out eight.

LEADING OFF: Verlander aims for 7th win in row, Acuña ailing

By The Associated Press

A look at what's happening around the majors today:

V FOR VICTORY

Astros ace Justin Verlander has been as dominant as ever in his return from Tommy John surgery, going 6-1 with a 1.22 ERA in eight starts.

Verlander has a 19-inning scoreless streak and hasn't allowed a run in his last three outings.

The 39-year-old righty didn't pitch last season while recovering from his elbow operation. The eight-time All-Star is already 2-0 this year against the Mariners — he'll face them again in Seattle as he tries to win his seventh straight decision overall.

Chris Flexen (1-6, 4.98) pitches the series opener for the Mariners. After throwing well but getting little run support to begin the season, he has struggled in giving up 14 earned runs in his past three starts.

HEALING UP

The Braves will see how right fielder Ronald Acuña Jr. is feeling after he was scratched from two starts because of tightness in his right quadriceps tightness.

Acuña is batting .292 with two homers, eight stolen bases and a .400 on-base average. The 24-year-old was sidelined for the second half of last season after tearing his knee.

The two-time All-Star and 2018 NL Rookie of the Year recently missed five games recently with right groin tightness.

Atlanta hosts the Marlins to begin the weekend.

RED ALERT

Kyle Farmer, Nick Senzel and the Cincinnati Reds look to keep their bats booming when they face the Giants at Great American Ball Park.

The Reds put up their highest run total since 1999 when they whacked the Cubs 20-5 on Thursday. Farmer homered and drove in five runs — he and Senzel each had four hits.

San Francisco starts a 10-game trip when lefty Carlos Rodón (4-3, 3.43 ERA) faces the Reds.

The names: 19 children, 2 teachers killed in Uvalde school

UVALDE, Texas (AP) — Nineteen children were looking forward to a summer filled with Girl Scouts and soccer and video games. Two teachers were closing out a school year that they started with joy and that had held such promise. They're the 21 people who were killed Tuesday when an 18-year-old gunman barricaded himself in a fourth-grade classroom at Robb Elementary School in the southwestern Texas town of Uvalde. Some families have been willing to share their stories with The Associated Press and other media. Others asked for privacy. Here are their names.

Nevaeh Alyssa Bravo, 10
Her aunt noted that Nevaeh's first name is heaven spelled backward. In a Facebook posting, Yvonne White described Nevaeh and her friend Jaiilah Silguero as "Our Angels."

Jacklyn Cazares, 9
Javier Cazares said his daughter was someone who would give the "shirt off her back" to help someone. "She had a voice," he said. "She didn't like bullies, she didn't like kids being picked on. All in all, full of love. She had a big heart." Annabelle Rodriguez, also a victim, was Jacklyn's second cousin.

Makenna Lee Elrod, 10
Makenna's father asked on Tuesday if he could go to the local funeral home to search for his daughter because he feared "she may not be alive," TV station KTRK reported. Her family later asked for privacy.

Jose Manuel Flores Jr., 10
Jose's parents told CNN that the 10-year-old was helpful around the house and loved his younger siblings. "He was just very good with babies," his mother said. His father told CNN that Jose loved baseball and video games and "was always full of energy." A photo taken at school Tuesday shows him smiling and proudly holding a certificate to show he made the honor roll.

Eliahna Garcia, 10
Eliahna's relatives recalled her love of family. "She was very happy and very outgoing," said her aunt, Siria Arizmendi, a fifth-grade teacher at Flores Elementary School in the same district. "She loved to dance and play sports. She was big into family, enjoyed being with the family."

Irma Garcia, 48
Irma Garcia was finishing up her 23rd year as a teacher at Robb Elementary School. In a letter posted on the school's website at the beginning of the school year, Garcia told her students that she had been married for nearly a quarter of a century and that she and her husband, Joe, had four children — a Marine, a college student, a high school student and a seventh grader. She told the students that she loved barbeque, listening to music and taking country cruises with her husband. On Thursday, Joe Garcia died of a heart attack, according to a nephew.

Uziyah Garcia, 8
Uziyah's grandfather called him "the sweetest little boy that I've ever known." Manny Renfro said he last saw Uziyah when the boy came to his home over spring break. "We started throwing the football together and I was teaching him pass patterns. Such a fast little boy and he could catch a ball so good," Renfro said. "There were certain plays that I would call that he would remember and he would do it exactly like we practiced."

Amerie Jo Garza, 10
Amerie loved to paint, draw and work in clay. "She was very creative," said her grandmother Dora Mendoza. "She was my baby. Whenever she saw flowers she would draw them." For her 10th birthday, Amerie was given her first cellphone. Her father, Angel Garza, recalled that her face "just lit up with the happiest expression." Garza said that Amerie's friend told him that Amerie had tried to call the police on her phone before she was shot.

Xavier Lopez, 10
Xavier had been eagerly awaiting a summer of swimming. "He was just a loving ... little boy, just enjoying life, not knowing that this tragedy was going to happen," said his cousin, Liza

Garza. "He was very bubbly, loved to dance with his brothers, his mom. This has just taken a toll on all of us."

Jayce Carmelo Luevanos, 10
Carmelo Quiroz's grandson had begged to be allowed to join his grandmother on Tuesday as she accompanied her great-granddaughter's kindergarten class to the San Antonio Zoo. But, he said, the family told Jayce it didn't make sense to skip school so close to the end of the year. Besides, Jayce liked school. "That's why my wife is hurting so much, because he wanted to go to San Antonio," Quiroz told USA Today. "He was so sad he couldn't go. Maybe if he would have gone, he'd be here." He died with his cousin, Jaiilah Nicole Silguero.

Tess Mata, 10
Faith Mata told The Washington Post that her sister loved TikTok dance videos, Ariana Grande, the Houston Astros, and having her hair curled.

Miranda Mathis, 11
The mother of a close friend described Miranda as "very loving and very talkative." She told the Austin American-Statesman that her daughter and Miranda had been in the same classes and that Miranda would ask to have her hair done like her daughter's.

Eva Mireles, 44
In a post on the school's website at the start of the year, the fourth-grade teacher said she had been teaching for 17 years. Mireles loved running and hiking. She said she and her husband, a school district police officer, had an adult daughter and three pets.

Alithia Ramirez, 10.
Alithia Ramirez loved soccer and she really loved to draw. Her father Ryan Ramirez's Facebook page includes a photo, now shown around the world, of the little girl wearing the multi-colored T-shirt that announced she was out of "single digits" after turning 10 years old. The same photo was posted again Wednesday with no words, but with Alithia wearing angel wings.

Annabelle Rodriguez, 10
Polly Flores told the New York Times that her great-niece Annabelle Rodriguez was an honor roll student and close to her second cousin Jacklyn Cazares.

Maite Rodriguez, 10
After a rough time with Zoom classes during the pandemic, Maite Rodriguez made the honor roll for straight As and Bs this year and was recognized at an assembly on Tuesday, said her mother, Ana Rodriguez. Maite especially liked physical education, and after she died, her teacher texted Ana Rodriguez to say she was highly competitive at kickball and ran faster than all the boys. Her mother described Maite as "focused, competitive, smart, bright, beautiful, happy." Maite wanted to be a marine biologist and after researching a program at Texas A&M University in Corpus Christi she told her mother she wanted to study there.

Alexandria "Lexi" Rubio, 10
Lexi's mother, Kimberly Rubio, posted on Facebook that her daughter was honored for earning all A grades and received a good citizen award in ceremonies at the school shortly before the shooting. The fourth-grader was a softball and basketball player who wanted to be a lawyer. Lexi's father, Felix Rubio, is a deputy with the Uvalde County Sheriff's Office. The couple told CNN that he was among the law enforcement officers who responded to the shooting.

Layla Salazar, 11
Layla's father said she loved to run and swim, dance to TikTok videos and play games including Minecraft and Roblox with friends. He said she won all six of her dashes and hurdles races at the school's past three annual field days. He said each morning as he drove her to school in his pickup, he would play "Sweet Child O' Mine" by Guns N' Roses and they would sing along.

Jaiilah Nicole Silguero, 10
Jaiilah's mother tearfully told Univision that her daughter did not want to go to school the day of the shooting, and thought that maybe she sensed something was going to happen. Jaiilah and her cousin, Jayce Luevanos, died in the classroom.

Eliahana Cruz Torres, 10
Adolfo Torres told the Associated Press that his granddaughter, Eliahana, died in the shooting. Television station KIII reported that Eliahana was set to play the last softball game of her season that day. The team members kneeled for a moment of silence to remember Eliahana and the other victims.

Rojelio Torres, 10
Rojelio Torres' mother, Evadulia Orta, told ABC News her son was a very smart and loving child. "I lost a piece of my heart," she said.

HEALTH ALERT! Don't Wait Until It's Too Late

SCIENTIFIC STUDIES

Studies have proven that if hearing loss goes untreated, a condition called "auditory deprivation" occurs. Hearing loss starves the auditory centers of your brain of information, weakening your ability to understand speech.

USE IT OR LOSE IT!

The longer your hearing loss goes untreated, the more likely it is your brain will actually "forget" how to hear.

GOOD NEWS

Beltone's award winning technology can ensure that the auditory centers of the brain stay busy, minimizing the effects of auditory deprivation. Schedule an appointment between MONDAY, MAY 23 - FRIDAY, MAY 27 for your FREE hearing evaluation.

Women In Agriculture

Courtesy photo

From managing the business to working in the field, women's role in agriculture is increasing.

By JUDY TERELETSKY

District Clerk Howard SWCD

March is Women's History Month, April is the month we celebrate Mother Earth with Earth Day/Soil Stewardship Week and of course, May is our month to celebrate Mother's Day. In the history of humankind, females have been a vital part of our world's foundation. Providing life as a mother is only one aspect. Women have stepped up to fill a great many roles in life and agricultural work is one of these.

Women are farmers and farm workers, ranchers, agricultural researchers, veterinarians, conservationists, and educators. They tend the land and protect it as firefighters and park rangers. They contribute to local food systems, direct farm marketing, plan and manage farm and ranching businesses, drive transportation for food to markets, and sit on governing boards such as County Committee for Farm Service Agencies and other USDA agencies. The 2012 Census of Agriculture notes that nearly one million women are working America's lands.

That's nearly a third of the nation's farmers generating $12.9 billion in annual agricultural sales. In 2015, the percentage had grown with the USDA reporting that women represented 38% persons involved in making decisions for farms that sold food directly to markets in the United States. (www.nal.usda.gov)

According to the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), on average, women represent 43 percent of the world's agricultural labor force and 47 percent of the global fisheries labor force. Women produce more than half of the world's food despite being less than half of the labor force. Additionally, women account for 60 to 80 percent of food production in developing countries. A crop yield gap of about 20-30 percent between male and female farmers is largely due to differential access to resources and inputs. In fact, if the world's women farmers had the same access to resources as men, 150 million people could be lifted out of poverty, according to the FAO. (www.foodtank.com)

Women in agriculture is not just a modern world phenomenon. It is easy to envision the images of Native Americans or our founding fathers tilling the land with the support of the women not only in the fields but producing the meals that fed the families. However, some of more powerful and lasting contributions made by women to the field of agriculture might surprise you.

One such woman who lived up to her name was Harriet Williams Russell Strong. Born in 1844, Harriet was raised in the mining towns of California and Nevada. Widowed at a young age with four daughters to support, she pioneered new methods in water conservation and dry land irrigation to supply her walnut, olive, and pomegranate plantings. In less than five years she was able to save her ranch and provide for her children, but her work wasn't finished yet. Although she had no formal education in engineering or business, she became

Weekly + HOROSCOPES

ARIES –
Mar 21/Apr 20
You may be questioning some of your relationships this week, Aries.
Periodic reflection is good for your long-term well-being, but move ahead with caution.

TAURUS –
Apr 21/May 21
Taurus, finding balance between your professional life and your home life may be challenging this week. Try not to hurry through your decision-making process.

GEMINI –
May 22/June 21
Typical routines just aren't fulfilling you lately, Gemini. Avoid succumbing to frustration and dissatisfaction by trying a new hobby or brainstorming ways you can change.

CANCER –
June 22/July 22
Avoid comparing yourself to friends and colleagues, Cancer. You may need a confidence boost, so hang around friends and family who have your back

LEO –
July 23/Aug 23
Has your love life affected your professional ambitions lately, Leo?
Take a step back and analyze the situation to see what you can change for the better.

VIRGO –
Aug 24/Sept 22
Take some time to audit your health, Virgo. What you eat, how much you are sleeping, how often you are exercising — these are all factors that may require some change.

LIBRA –
Sept 23/Oct 23
Libra, watch out for power struggles at work, especially if you feel they are causing you to be treated unfairly. Bring issues to a supervisor if it comes to it.

SCORPIO –
Oct 24/Nov 22
Scorpio, fatigue may catch up with you if you have not been pacing yourself or taking enough time to care for yourself.
Slow down and take a mental health day ... or two.

SAGITTARIUS –
Nov 23/Dec 21
You may be more sensitive than usual this week, Sagittarius. You may feel like family or friends are judging you, but that's not necessarily so.

CAPRICORN –
Dec 22/Jan 20
Try not to take part in popularity contests or gossip sessions at work, Capricorn. It can only come back to bite you when you least expect it.
Stay the course and keep working hard.

AQUARIUS –
Jan 21/Feb 18

Aquarius, you may be seeking greener pastures, both at home and in your professional life.
Impatience can get the best of you, but a change will happen over time.

PISCES –
Feb 19/Mar 20
You may have a tough time relating to others this week, Pisces. You view the world through a creative lens even when others don't.

Today is Sunday, May 29, the 149th day of 2022. There are 216
days left in the year.

gan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev opened their historic summit in Moscow.

Today's Highlight in History:

On this date:

On May 29, 1988, President Ronald Rea-

In 1765, Patrick Henry denounced the Stamp

Act before Virginia's House of Burgesses.

In 1790, Rhode Island became the 13th original colony to ratify the United States Constitution.

In 1848, Wisconsin became the 30th state of the union.

In 1914, the Canadian ocean liner RMS Empress of Ireland sank in the St. Lawrence River in eastern Quebec after colliding with the Norwegian cargo ship SS Storstad; of the 1,477 people on board the Empress of Ireland, 1,012 died. (The Storstad sustained only minor damage.)

In 1953, Mount Everest was conquered as Edmund Hillary of New Zealand and Tensing Norgay of Nepal became the first climbers to reach the summit.

In 1977, Janet Guthrie became the first woman to race in the Indianapolis 500, finishing in 29th place (the winner was A.J. Foyt).

In 1985, 39 people were killed at the European Cup Final in Brussels, Belgium, when rioting broke out and a wall separating British and Italian soccer fans collapsed.

In 2009, a judge in Los Angeles sentenced music producer Phil Spector to 19 years to life in prison for the murder of actor Lana Clarkson.
(Spector remained in prison until his death in January 2021.)

In 2014, Starbucks closed thousands of stores for part of the day to hold training sessions for employees on unconscious bias, in response to the arrests of two Black men in Philadelphia at one of its stores.

In 2015, the Obama administration formally removed Cuba from the U.S. terrorism blacklist.

In 2019, in his first public remarks on the Russia investigation, special counsel Robert Mueller said charging President Donald Trump
with a crime was "not an option" because of federal rules, but he emphasized that the investigation did not exonerate the president.

In 2020, fired Minneapolis police officer Derek Chauvin was arrested and charged with third-degree murder and second-degree manslaughter in the death of George Floyd.
(He would be convicted in April 2021 on those charges as well as second-degree unintentional murder.) Thousands of protesters in Minneapolis angered by Floyd's death ignored
a curfew as unrest
again overwhelmed authorities; fires burned unchecked in cars and businesses. In a tweet,
President Donald Trump
called protesters in Minneapolis "thugs" and added that "when the looting starts, the shooting starts." (The tweet was flagged by Twitter for "glorifying violence.") Protests over Floyd's death spread to dozens of cities. Hundreds of protesters gathered outside the White House, some throwing rocks and tugging at barricades; officials later said Secret Service agents rushed Trump to an underground bunker.

Ten years ago: Mitt Romney clinched the Republican presidential nomination with a win in the Texas primary. Serena Williams lost in the first round of a major tournament for the first time, falling to Virginie Razzano of France
4-6, 7-6 (5), 6-3 at the French Open. Doc Watson, the Grammy-award winning folk musician whose lightning-fast style of flatpicking influenced guitarists around the world, died in North Carolina at age 89.

Five years ago: In his first Memorial Day
remarks as president,

Donald Trump expressed the nation's
"boundless and undying" gratitude to Americans who had fallen in battle and to the families they left behind, hailing as heroes the hundreds of thousands buried at Arlington National Cemetery. Manuel Noriega, a onetime U.S. ally who was ousted as Panama's dictator by an American invasion in 1989, died at age 83.

One year ago: Television actor Gavin MacLeod, best known for his roles on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and
"The Love Boat," died at his home in Palm Desert, California, at the age of 90. Grammy-winning singer B.J. Thomas, who hit the charts with songs including
"Hooked on a Feeling" and "Raindrops Keep Fallin' On My Head," died at his Texas home from complications of lung cancer; he was 78.

Gary Sinise (left) and Joe Mantegna host PBS' telecast of the National Memorial Day Concert 2022 on Sunday (check local listings).

PBS maintains holiday tradition with National Memorial Day Concert

A sizable portion of this year's National Memorial Day Concert will honor someone missing from the event for the first time in many years.

Gen. Colin L. Powell typically participated in the program, and his passing last October left returning hosts Joe Mantegna and Gary Sinise without a professional colleague and a personal friend. They'll lead a tribute to him during the concert's annual PBS telecast Sunday, May 29 (check local listings) – with the show scheduled to return to its traditional outdoor setting of the West Lawn of the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C., after two years of being staged virtually because of the coronavirus pandemic.

"He's been a fixture of the show with me," Mantegna says of Gen. Powell. "When I got my star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame, I had (playwright) David Mamet speak on my behalf, and the other person I asked to speak for me was Gen. Powell. It turned out he couldn't do it because he was going to be in Iraq to mark the 10th anniversary of the war, but he wrote me this beautiful letter that I have framed over my desk."

Sinise also had ties to Gen. Powell through his military-supporting, nonprofit Gary Sinise Foundation. "I'm glad that we're taking the time to feature him and his contributions to the concerts over the years," the "Forrest Gump" actor states, "and certainly his tremendous service to our country."

Also slated to appear on this year's special are: actors Jean Smart, Mary McCormack, Dennis Haysbert and Gil Birmingham; Broadway's Lea Salonga, Norm Lewis and Brian Stokes Mitchell; singer Rhiannon Giddens; country music's Craig Morgan; "American Idol" alum Pia Toscano; the National Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Jack Everly; and the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Armed Forces Color Guard and Service Color Teams.

Though Mantegna is glad the concert will have an in-person audience again, he's satisfied with the changes the pandemic necessitated. "Especially last year, I thought the show came off fairly well," the Tony Award-winning "Criminal Minds" veteran reflects. "The first time, we had to scramble. We patched together performances here and there, and Gary and I shot our stuff in his office. The next year, we had the time to really prep, but there's no equating that with standing on that stage and looking out at so many people."

Other segments of this year's National Memorial Day Concert concern a combat medic who served in Vietnam, and a major general and his wife who lost their two sons under differing circumstances. Primetime Emmy and Tony winner Sinise notes he is "never surprised by how strong the writers and producers make this show. They always find things that are representative of what Memorial Day is all about."

Two A&E projects chronicle the past, present and future of music's Bobby Brown

At different times in his life, Bobby Brown has been a Grammy-winning R&B artist, fodder for tabloid headlines and a man trying to maintain his sobriety while raising a family and pursuing new opportunities. All of that is on display in a pair of documentary projects upcoming on A&E Network.

The first, "Biography: Bobby Brown," airing Monday and Tuesday, May 30 and 31, gives an intimate look at the man who rose from the projects of Roxbury, Mass., to fame with New Edition and as a solo artist, selling a combined 32 million records worldwide and garnering a Grammy Award for the 1989 single "Every Little Step."

It also covers his travails, including his struggles with substance abuse, his stormy marriage to Whitney Houston and the deaths of her and their two children, Bobby Jr. and Bobbi Kristina; and the triumphs: his remarriage to current wife Alicia Etheredge-Brown, his efforts to stay sober and be a devoted husband and parent.

Then in the 12-episode docuseries "Bobby Brown: Every Little Step," which airs Tuesdays beginning May 31, the Browns invite viewers into their world as they embark on a new chapter in life, as Bobby juggles a music career with family demands and a focus on physical and mental health.

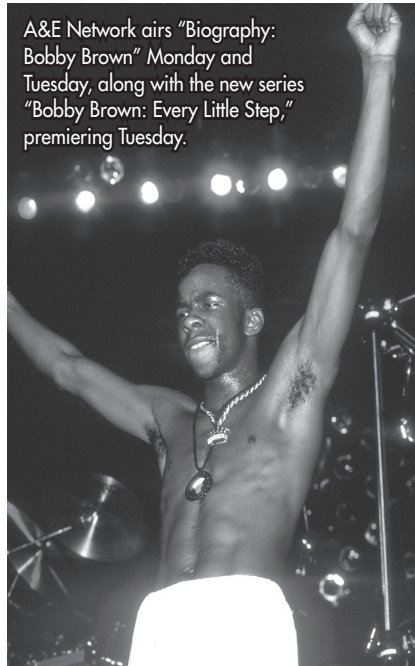

Executive produced by the Browns, Lauren Lazin and J. Kevin Swain, the two projects often venture into uncomfortable territory for Bobby Brown, whom Lazin credits for his fearlessness and his candor.

"Bobby keeps it real," she says. "There was never a moment where it was, 'I'm not talking about that. I'm not going to do that.' He's just really open and very giving and a pro. And it was just great to work with someone who was so open about everything. And it just made the whole filmmaking process so easy because you start to relate to him and his story on a very personal level even though you may have come from a different place."

That openness is probably best exemplified by a sequence in the series, when cameras follow Brown as he visits the graves of ex-wife Houston and daughter Bobbi Kristina in New Jersey. It was a difficult scene to be certain, but one that Brown felt was necessary for the series.

"I didn't want to let anything get in between my life and what I was doing," he says. "So, I just wanted the cameras to follow me wherever I was going, and that day I happened to be going to the gravesite."

He continues, "I hope (viewers) take away the fact that I've gone through the rough patches in my life and I'm living my life in a clean and honest way. It's all real."

A&E Network airs "Biography: Bobby Brown" Monday and Tuesday, along with the new series "Bobby Brown: Every Little Step," premiering Tuesday.

Angie Harmon

OF 'BURIED IN BARSTOW' ON LIFETIME

Did the fact that Lifetime acquired your "Rizzoli & Isles" show help place your new series of "Buried in Barstow" movies there?

To be honest, it did come out of them having "Rizzoli & Isles." It was especially flattering for that. You know, that was seven years and seven seasons. It feels like a lifetime ago, but it was wonderful getting that call and having that offer, and it was a wonderful window into all the other things that I wanted to do, and this is my (pet) project.

I've loved this script since I read it and started shopping it around 3-1/2 years ago. And now, I am really, really excited about it. Very tremendously grateful.

Do you feel your "Buried in Barstow" role, as a diner owner and single mother drawn back into her former life as a hit woman, suits your overall brand?

I have no problem with that. And to be honest, I think it's kind of an aspect of my career that has just sort of followed me around the entire time. I got to a place where I was just like, "It's a blessing," because what if I had to play a huge nerd for 25 years? At this point, I can break down a crime scene and prosecute a case and win or defend it, or whatever. Whatever sort of law enforcement you might need, I'm your gal.

Do you like the idea of "Buried in Barstow," of which you're also an executive producer, being a continuing franchise rather than a single movie?

I didn't really understand how we were supposed to do this and then film it, and how much of the original script we're supposed to put in this one. So, it was kind of a learning experience.

I've thoroughly enjoyed it. I'm curious to see how the audience responds to it. We go to the theater or we watch movies that are two hours long, and then there's a sequel and then there's a third. So I was just like, "They've been doing this since the beginning of filmmaking." I kind of justified it like that.

CBS will stay 'Equalizer'-ed for a while

Q: Will "The Equalizer" be back next season? - Peter Young, Reading, Pa.

A: It will ... and the season after that, too, since CBS recently took the step of renewing it for two years at once. It wasn't much of a surprise that the Queen Latifah-starring crime-drama reboot got an order for at least one more year, since not only has it performed strongly in ratings terms, but a change in the series' producers was announced shortly before that. Particularly at that point in the television year, there's not much need to do that if the show in question isn't returning.

Queen Latifah

Jon Huertas

Q: How did the makers of "This Is Us" keep Miguel's death a secret before that episode got on the air? - Cindy Barker, via email

A: Credit it to a cast and crew (and network executives, who would have known what wax coming) that respected the NBC drama's process throughout its six-year run, which meant not giving up surprises that were meant to catch the audience off-guard. That certainly was the intention with Miguel's (Jon Huertas) passing in the show's fourth-to-last episode, designed to send the message to viewers that even though the series was in its home stretch then, executive producer Dan Fogelman and his team still had some shockers up their collective sleeves.

Matthew Morrison

OF 'SO YOU THINK YOU CAN DANCE' ON FOX

In joining "So You Think You Can Dance" as a judge, what do you think is special about the show?

If you watch a concert, you see a bunch of back-up dancers, but you don't know these people and you can't connect with them. This is a way to connect with dancers on a real and raw level.

Were you familiar with "So You Think You Can Dance" host Cat Deeley before?

This is my first time meeting her. We did a couple of Zoom calls with the whole team which was an amazing advantage for us because we weren't just meeting each other on Day One. Cat is such a staple of the show, and I think she's so talented at what she does. She's really the traffic cop, basically, who makes it all work. And it seems so effortless when she does it.

Do you think that fellow judge JoJo Siwa comes in with a certain advantage, having been a contestant on "Dancing With the Stars"?

I don't want to knock another show, but it's just so different. "So You Think You Can Dance" has so much heart, and you really connect with the journey of these dancers who are really at the beginning of it all. "Dancing With the Stars" sometimes can be like, "OK, let's put a bunch of celebrities together and watch the train wreck," but this show has a positivity behind it that's hard to deny. And it's hard to deny that it's been on for so long.

Having been on Fox with "Glee," does it please you to be back there now?

The Fox family is tight-knit. They'd wanted me on a couple of times to do other shows, but I've really spent these past few years focusing on family first. I'm excited to be back, though.

Fieri explores the Pacific Northwest on 'Guy's All-American Road Trip'

For those who like to travel on their stomachs, there is "Guy's All-American Road Trip."

Premiering Friday, June 3, on Food Network, the four-episode series follows chef Guy Fieri ("Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives"), wife Lori and sons Hunter and Ryder as they hit the road in an RV to head up the U.S. West Coast from Northern California to Washington in search of adventures culinary and otherwise.

Joined by five other families, the group make stops in Crescent City, Calif., to milk cows; Gold Beach, Ore., for a 64-mile jet boat excursion; Florence, Ore., to go for a ride in the sand dunes of Honeyman State Park; and Leavenworth, Wash., to check out a Bavarian village and go ziplining. Along the way, they sample the local cuisine, which range from Dungeness crab and fried chicken to homemade pork eggrolls, milkshakes and gingerbread.

The trip culminates with a visit to Jim Belushi's Oregon family farm for a dinner of Albanian dishes and American favorites such as pizza and ribs.

It's a feast for the senses, one that might even make you want to buy an RV of your own and embark on your own foodie road trip. It's also one of a few noteworthy entries on the Food Network/Cooking Channel slate this week.

Andrew Zimmern always has a case of the wanderlust as he demonstrates each week on his Cooking Channel series "Bizarre Foods: Delicious Destinations." And in the episode airing Sunday, May 29, he finds a number of delicacies to his liking when he lands in Milan, Italy, a city whose refined cuisine has earned a place in the international consciousness. Here, he samples minestrone, saffron-tinted risotto and panettone, an Italian sweet bread.

Also new this week is Food's "Chopped: Desperately Seeking Sous Chef." Premiering Tuesday, May 31, each episode of the five-part tournament pits four talented sous chefs in a series of challenges that will test not only their cooking skills but also their leadership, attitude and ability to multitask. The winner, as determined by Maneet Chauhan, Scott Conant and Chris Santos, gets hired as a sous chef by one of the aforementioned judges.

And over on FoodNetwork.com, look for the premiere of "Stoked" on Monday, May 30. Hosted by Minneapolis chef and restaurateur Yia Vang, the digital series is all about open-fire cooking, be it in the open wilderness or right in the backyard. Because who doesn't like food cooked outdoors over an open flame?

Checking in with BETTY GILPIN

Like a lot of people, Betty Gilpin thought of Watergate as something she learned about in history class, not having lived through perhaps the biggest U.S. scandal of the late 20th century.

But when she landed and subsequently researched the role of Maureen “Mo” Dean, wife of White House Counsel John Dean, in the Starz Sunday limited series “Gaslit,” a few things jumped out to the 35-year-old former “GLOW” actress, not the least of which was how much the way that public figures present themselves have changed since the 1970s.

Call it the reality TV effect.

“Back then, it was sort of your public self was very formal and austere and sort of this stiff, Norman Rockwell version of yourself. The White House was still sort of seen as this distant Camelot,” she says. “And it’s sort of the time when that was getting a little stale and people weren’t trusting it as much. ...”

“Whereas now we’re sort of inundated with people being their true, authentic, loud, brash selves in our face, (and back then) Martha Mitchell was sort of refreshing even to people who didn’t agree with her (politics).”

Indeed, Mo Dean and Martha Mitchell, wife of then Attorney General John Mitchell, were two women who weren’t afraid to speak their minds. In the case of Mitchell (played in the series by Julia Roberts), it meant exposing skullduggery in the Nixon administration, for which she paid a heavy price. In the case of Dean, it meant standing by her husband as he delivered damning testimony in hearings that eventually brought down a president.

“They’re really women in 1972 struggling with the obstacles that women of the time dealt with,” Gilpin says, “and I think that’s also why we don’t hear about it. Because even the heroes of the story were racist and sexist and marginalizing the people whose stories should be told.”

Birth name: Elizabeth Folan Gilpin

Birth date: July 21, 1986

Birthplace: New York City

Family ties: Hails from an acting family headed by father Jack Gilpin (“The Gilded Age”) and mother Ann McDonough (“The Mothman Prophecies”); husband is actor/director Cosmo Pfeil

Television credits include: “Fringe,” “Law & Order: Criminal Intent,” “Law & Order,” “The Good Wife,” “Medium,” “Law & Order: Special Victims Unit,” “Nurse Jackie,” “The Walker,” “Mercy Street,” “Masters of Sex,” “Elementary,” “American Gods,” “GLOW,” “Roar,” “Three Women” (forthcoming)

Movie credits: “Death in Love” (2008), “True Story” (2015), “Isn’t It Romantic” (2019), “Stuber” (2019), “A Dog’s Journey” (2019), “The Grudge” (2020), “The Hunt” (2020), “The Tomorrow War” (2021)

more retro rewinds

“Taken” (Hulu, streaming): Liam Neeson altered the course of his career by unexpectedly playing action hero in this 2008 franchise-launcher, casting him as a CIA alum who uses the tricks of his former trade to search for his daughter (Maggie Grace), kidnapped by human traffickers. By now, we’ve seen Neeson do this again and again (On an airplane! On a train! On a snow plow!), but this was a wonderfully fresh image for him when first viewed.

“Love, American Style” (Decades, Sunday, May 29, and Monday, May 30): Many familiar faces in entertainment passed through this comedic 1969-74 anthology series, getting “Weekend Binge” treatment with a slew of half-hour episodes putting various spins on the theme of romance. The many stars seen during this marathon include Larry Hagman, Darren McGavin, Suzanne Pleshette, Bill Bixby, Sid Caesar, Shelley Fabares, Ted Bessell, Judy Carne and Vivian Vance.

“Romancing the Stone” (Cinemax, Wednesday, June 1): Known principally for drama up to that point, Michael Douglas unlocked another part of his screen persona as star and producer of this fun 1984 comedy-adventure. He plays a cocky adventurer enlisted by a romance novelist (Kathleen Turner, also displaying a lighter image) to help find her abducted sister in Colombia. Longtime Douglas friend Danny DeVito also delivers great doses of humor as a smuggler.

A ‘Star Trek’ that stands apart

As iconic as the initial “Star Trek” series is as a whole, certain episodes stand out, and “The Menagerie” – which Heroes & Icons presents the concluding half of on Sunday, May 29 – is one of them. The story is built partially from footage taken from the original pilot for the show, as Spock (Leonard Nimoy) faces a court martial for alleged mutiny.

Scenes used as flashbacks feature Jeffrey Hunter as Captain Christopher Pike, the predecessor of William Shatner’s James Kirk aboard the starship Enterprise. Pike has come back into the “Star Trek” canon: Now played by Anson Mount, he has proceeded from being a guest character on “Star Trek: Discovery” to become the central figure on the new streaming series “Star Trek: Strange New Worlds.”

Tom Cruise hits a 'Mission: Impossible' high with 'Fallout'

Very simply, "Mission: Impossible – Fallout" was the movie of the summer of 2018. And it certainly was one of the movies of the year.

In promoting the spy adventure – which FX shows Sunday, May 29 – Tom Cruise said that he just wanted to give the audience its money's worth, and did he ever this time. For any and all complaints about needless sequels, this sixth round is a series-best, thanks to the know-how of Cruise and returning writer-director Christopher McQuarrie. (As of this writing, two more "Missions" are being planned.)

"Fallout" not only offers a jaw-dropping series of action sequences, it does a deep dive into the personhood of IMF agent Ethan Hunt, as those closest to him face threats of very bad things from an enemy. That alternately sways and doesn't sway Hunt from his mission to stop the theft of plutonium, to be used on very specifically chosen targets.

That's the nominal plot. As for the action? Hunt makes a HALO jump out of a plane. Hunt has a classic brawl with a dismissive CIA man (Henry Cavill) in a restroom. Hunt goes racing through the streets of Paris at breakneck speed. And all of it is thrilling, especially since you can see that it's really Cruise doing it.

Also back for this mission – and neatly tying together virtually every other movie "Mission" that came before – are Ving Rhames, Simon Pegg, Rebecca Ferguson and Alec Baldwin, with great additions in a steely Angela Bassett as an espionage boss and a lethal Vanessa Kirby as an agile killer.

Back in 1996, some "Mission: Impossible" purists had concerns about the first feature-film variation being less about the spies' masks (which still figure in this time) and more about massive stunts that weren't parts of the television series all that often. It's somewhat ironic, then, that the stunts largely have become what drive the "Mission" movies ... to general audience pleasure.

A huge factor is that it clearly is Cruise doing that risky work, and the payoff for viewers is enormous. That he took a panicky James Corden skydiving on CBS' "Late Late Show" shortly before this film's release only confirmed how adventurous Cruise is, and even if producers and insurers sweat out every chance he takes with his safety, the results hit the mark exactly where the filmmakers want them to.

Once again, this "Mission: Impossible" chiefly is owned by Tom Cruise. And you'll be very glad he chose to accept it.

Explorers pursue a world record in 'The Deepest Cave'

Though fascinating, National Geographic's "Explorer: The Deepest Cave" might make more than a few claustrophobes squirm.

The hourlong documentary that premieres Monday, May 30, on the cablenet (and will stream this summer on Disney+) follows a team of explorers attempting to set a new record by venturing to the bottom of what is thought to be the deepest cave in the world.

The target is Cheve Cave near Oaxaca, Mexico, which stretches from the top of a mountain to the bottom outlet about 9,000 feet below. In between are 12 miles of tight, twisting passages, spectacular labyrinths and sharp rocks where one mistake can be deadly. It's a highly technical and dangerous adventure that is sometimes done in complete darkness.

Spearheading the expedition is Bill Stone, an accomplished explorer who in 2021 led 69 elite cavers from nine countries on the three-month journey, which has been likened to an ascent of Mount Everest, except in reverse.

"The only thing I can think of that might be close to this," he explains, "would be either being one of the lunar astronauts or being somebody who has been in a war with a small group of people whom they get to know very well and are under stressful conditions."

"These people didn't get there by accident," he continues. "They are the ones who the smile on their face gets bigger the more remote from humanity they get. These are the kind of people who would be completely, utterly comfortable sitting at the bottom of Shackleton crater on the moon. I have no doubt of that."

But that is not to say these people don't feel fear. They do but they suppress it, Stone says, and that's what keeps them alive in this environment where quite a few have died and is beyond the reach of conventional rescue efforts.

"You'll see lots of places where people are having to struggle through some sections of collapsed tunnel," he says. "We have to be really mindful of that because if somebody broke a leg out beyond that, the likelihood is that we couldn't get them out in any reasonable time."

History profiles 'Theodore Roosevelt' in two-part special

To historian Doris Kearns Goodwin, Teddy Roosevelt was a leader America needed at the turn of the 20th century and someone whose wisdom the country could use these days. His story is laid out in a two-night special upcoming on History.

In "Theodore Roosevelt," airing Monday and Tuesday, May 30 and 31, Kearns Goodwin's book "Leadership in Turbulent Times" provides the basis for a portrait of the first modern U.S. president – a passionate conservationist, champion of social justice and scourge of the corrupt whose "Square Deal" domestic program aimed to raise up the middle class while rooting out bad trusts and government by the wealthy.

His story, Kearns Goodwin says, has many parallels to today's social and political climate.

"I can just imagine him fitting into our problems in America right now," Kearns Goodwin says. "What happened at the turn at the 20th century when he became president was that you had the Industrial Revolution shaking up the economy much like the tech revolution and globalization has done. So it was the first time you had a big gap between the rich and the poor and you had this situation where people in the country are suspicious of people in the city. And there's all these new inventions that make people nostalgic for another way of life."

"And there's a real sense of democracy being on trial," she continues. "I mean, Teddy warned that the rock of democracy would founder if there were moments where people in different regions or parties or sections began to think of each other as 'the other' rather than as common American citizens. So that's the problem today, right?"

But the man known simply as "TR" was no snowflake. A war hero, he once delivered an 84-minute address while bleeding from the chest following a failed assassination attempt. And he knew adversity in his personal life, having overcome numerous health problems as a child and

Newgarden looks to break through – finally – at Indy

Josef Newgarden knows all about disappointment at Indy. He's been there 10 times.

Indeed, the two-time NTT IndyCar Series champ and (at this writing) leader in the Series standings is one of the best drivers in the business but you wouldn't know that by his record in the Indianapolis 500.

Since his first race in 2012, the 31-year-old Nashville native's best finish in the Greatest Spectacle in Racing was third in 2016, his worst a 30th place DNF (did not finish) in 2014, to go along with a few top-fives, top-10s and DNFs. Yes, he hasn't exactly distinguished himself on the 2.5-mile quad oval at the Brickyard.

But if there is a glimmer of hope for him to latch onto in 2022, it's this: In recent testing, the driver of the No. 2 Chevy turned in a blistering lap averaging 229.519 mph to lead a 31-car field.

Many drivers usually don't pay much attention to testing times because they know the only ones that actually mean anything are on qualifying day. And last year he qualified at 21st even though he had a leading test time of 226.819 mph a few weeks earlier. But Newgarden will take his small victory and hope for the best.

He and the likes of past race champs Helio Castroneves, Scott Dixon, Takuma Sato, Will Power and Simon Pagenaud will be in the 33-car field when the Indianapolis 500 is run for the 106th time at Indianapolis Motor Speedway Sunday, May 29, on NBC.

"Movie: A League of Their Own"
When World War II left a shortage of men to play professional sports, a women's baseball league was formed — and darned good they were, too. Taken from a chapter in real-life sports history, this 1992 dramatic comedy was directed by Penny Marshall and stars Tom Hanks, Geena Davis, Madonna and Lori Petty.

"Movie: The Mountain Between Us"
Director Hany Abu-Assad's 2017 survival drama stars Idris Elba and Kate Winslet as, respectively, neurosurgeon Ben Bass and journalist Alex Martin, who board a small private plane to Salt Lake City after their original flights are grounded by a storm. Unfortunately, their fragile aircraft crashes in the vast expanse of Utah's High Uintas Wilderness.

"New Heights"
From Switzerland comes this drama series that follows Michi (Julian Koechlin, "Wilder," "Zoe"), a consultant working in Zurich who comes home to the family farm to try to save it after his father commits suicide. Sophie Hutter, Rachel Braunschweig, Marliese Fischer, Jérôme Humm and Judith Hofmann are also in the cast. (ORIGINAL)

"Hollywood Stargirl" (June 3)
This sequel to the 2020 film comedy "Stargirl" catches up with free spirited high schooler Stargirl Caraway (Grace VanderWaal) as she ventures out of her Arizona hometown to Los Angeles, where mother Ana (Judy Greer) has gotten a job as a movie costume designer, and where Stargirl gets involved with an eclectic assortment of characters in her pursuit of music stardom.
