New Digital License option available for TPWD Super Combo users

Special to the Herald

Never worry about forgetting a paper Super Combo license at home again with the new digital tag option from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD). Beginning with the 2022-23 license year, Texas residents can purchase a digital Super Combo license (Items 111, 117 and 990) that will authorize digital tagging of harvested deer, turkey and oversized red drum. The digital license option is available through online purchase only when licenses go on sale August 15.

A digital license holder will not receive a printed license or tags but must keep their digital license available while in the field. The license can be viewed through the TPWD Outdoor Annual and My Texas Hunt Harvest (MTHH) mobile apps.

"Texas Parks and Wildlife is excited to be offering a digital license and tag option for the first time for outdoorsmen and women this license year," said Carter Smith, Executive Director of TPWD. "We are piloting this with the Super Combo license types which is one of our most popular licenses that we sell. Lifetime Combo license holders will also be able to use the digital tagging portion of this pilot as well. This has been a long-time coming, but we think this is a great first step to offering more options for our hunters and anglers in the field. We intend to evaluate how well this works as we move forward and look forward to feedback from our customers who choose this option." Texans using this option will need to adhere to these re-waves. The first major migration began when political persecution by the Austrian government forced many well-educated Czechs to flee their homeland. Some had participated in an unsuccessful revolt against the Austrian government in 1848.

The immigration of Austrians increased during the second half of 19th century, and in 1900, there were over 275,000 Austrians living in the US. The Fisher Family settled in Indiana within a closeknit sector of Jewish immigrants from Austria. Moving to America, opened another war for the Fishers, it was the Civil War which had begun in 1861 as Joseph had just turned 16. Joseph became a messenger boy in the battle of Chickamauga. This battle was fought in 1863 in Tennessee and Georgia and involved the second highest number of casualties after the Battle of Gettysburg. General George Thomas Wood, sat around the campfire at night and told stories of the frontier forts in Texas. This great fascination was of interest to young Joseph. His small delicate frame was overpowered by his bright dark eyes. He quietly studied the situation and made plans.

After the war, Joseph returned north and in 1874 he migrated to Orange Co. Ca, where he opened the 1st store in town. Borax was being hauled out of the mines by 280 mule teams. The town was soon to prosper but a malaria epidemic hit California in 1878, so Joseph left his operation in the hands of trusted employees and returned to Indiana. He could not forget the wonderful Texas tales told by General Wood and in the summer of 1878, Joseph arrived in Texas at Fort Griffith. There were still marauding bands of Indians and Buffalo hunters. He found a nice place in Taylor County, to raise livestock and possibly farm however, he couldn't help but think about the influx of people arriving in west Texas. The Texas and Pacific Railroad was quickly laying track all the way to El Paso. Joseph returned to Orange Co, sold his business interest

there in 1879 and took a trip to Indiana to marry a pretty little redhead named Lillie May Rheinheimer. He had plans of bringing his new bride to the "wild west."

Joseph and Lillie married December 28, 1879, he was 34 and his young bride was 16. The couple's first son was stillborn in 1880. Lillie quickly became pregnant with another son, Lester was born January 29, 1881.

Joseph met H.Clay Read in Sweetwater. Read was a real estate agent and had plans of making Big Spring his new home. The two men rode a buggy to Big Spring on the graded right of way for the railroad. Fisher purchased land in Taylor, Nolan, and Howard County. His name appeared on Howard County's 1st Tax Rolls in 1880 just one year before the T&P arrived in 1881. He purchased one of the first town lots at the corner of 1st and Main Streets. He opened a store in a tent and moved his family in a tent behind the store.

Fisher's store carried only the basic needs of cowhands, railroad workers, and anyone else needing grub. He had flour in barrels, can goods, and some items of outerwear such as Levi pants and jackets. Joseph spent night and day working at the store and building his business.

While Joseph was working, Lillie was quickly growing weary. In 1881-83 men outnumbered the ladies considerably in Big Spring. The town was being built and government established but it was still a rough Cowtown. It was said around town that Lillie had a liking for the gentlemen's atten-

On a hot evening in July 1883, Joseph closed his store and searched up and down Main Street for his missing wife. He asked several men who were gathered on the sidewalk if they had seen her. One man spoke up and said that she was last seen going up 2nd Street toward the west. Joseph made his way west to Mrs. Donovan's Boarding House, at the corner of 2nd and Gregg. The boarding house was a former mess tent left over from the Civil War. It had ten or so "dog tents" which would accommodate four men. Joseph asked Mrs. Donavan if she had seen Lillie and she responded that she had possibly seen her go into Mr. Webb's tent. Webb was a former buffalo hunter who had a penchant for whiskey and women.

Joseph pulled open the tent fly and found his wife and Webb on a cot "both without textiles." Joseph took the Colt 41 from his belt and fired one shot at Webb as he was tearing the rear of the tent at its seams. Fisher missed his mark, instead he shot one of Mrs. Donovan's mules. Webb was seen running toward the railroad tracks as the sun was setting. Joseph barked at Lillie to get her clothes on. He then walked back to Mrs. Donavan and apologized for killing her mule. He handed her an Eagle ($10 gold piece) and returned to his own tent where he found his young son Lester alone. Joseph was furious with her and told her she was not fit to be a dance-hall girl. Lillie hired attorney, F.W. Wampler. She claimed that starting in December 1882, her relationship with her husband had worsened. She accused Joseph of insulting her, having outrages, and striking her. She filed for divorce and asked for a division of the estate estimated to be worth $12,000. Lillie had worked on the sympathies of Wampler. He took the matter to heart, chasing Joseph down Main Street while in their buggies. Wampler caught up with Joseph and gave him a beating. Joseph stood his ground and filed assault charges on Wampler. County Attorney T.G. Andrews refused to prosecute, and he was subsequently charged with failure to perform his duty. Joseph charged Lillie with a long list of trysts, including the one with Webb that inevitably destroyed his marriage.

The District Judge came from Weatherford to hear the second divorce case in Big Spring. The court sustained Fisher's position, granting custody of the child, plus Lot 6, Blk 6, Original, with improvements. Lillie left town with Webb and was last seen in El Paso. In 1889, she signed a warranty deed to J.H. Hurt and then disappeared once more leaving Lester never knowing his mother.

Steer's cross country team eyeing a return to state

Future looking bright for Lady Steer's cross country

Herald photos/Patrick Gonzales

Left, both the boy's and girl's Big Spring cross country teams line up to begin their morning workout on Friday. Right, The 22-23 Big Spring Steer's cross country team. The Steer's are looking to pick up where they left off last year, as they will be contenders to win the state title this year.

By PATRICK GONZALES

Herald Sports Writer

Last year the Big Spring boy's cross country team had a very successful season. The Steers won the District 3-4A team title, finished third as a team at the UIL Region 1 meet, and came in fourth place overall at the UIL state meet. This year the Steers will look to pick up where they left off last season. The boy's team lost Roman Perez, who graduated this past year and will continue his running and academic careers at McMurray this fall. Despite losing Perez, the Steer's will return most of its runners from last year, along with some up and coming junior varsity runners looking to make this years varsity squad.

Both the Steer's and Lady Steer's cross country teams will keep the same district rivals this season, as the only change will be in the district name. Big Spring along with Levelland, Lubbock Estacado, San Angelo Lake View, Snyder, and Sweetwater will now compete under District 5-4A instead of District 3-4A. The Steers will no doubt be the heavy favorites to repeat as the district champions, but the expectations will be even higher this year. Based on last year's results, the Steers will be considered as one of the top 4A teams in the state to compete for the state title this season. Third year head coach, Brandon Clemmons is confident that his team can meet those expectations and make another run at state again this year.

The boy's team will be lead by senior's Adrian Solis and Isaac Gonzales who made the All-Region and State teams last year. Solis will most likely fill into the number one spot on the team with Gonzales not too far behind in the number two spot. In addition to being the top runner on the team this year, Solis will also be looked as the new leader for the team. When asked how he felt about taking on the leadership role Solis stated "It's difficult and I see why he use to stress so much on us now." Solis added "Taking on this role its different you know, just trying to get everyone out here when they don't want to, it's tough without him because everyone listened to him."

Despite the difficult task, Solis made it clear he is honored being looked as the new leader. Solis also has high expectations for himself and the team this year. "Expectations are high this year I'm looking to go sub-fifteen (minutes) this year and hoping my teammates step up and we place at least top three at state this year." Solis said. Fellow senior Isaac Gonzales will also look to help out with the leadership role as well. "Roman left big shoes to fill but I'm confident me and Adrian can fill them shoes." Gonzales said. When it comes to expectations and goals, Gonzales shares the same goals as Solis for both himself and the team. "I got a lot of confidence in our junior varsity runners they're really shining this summer." Gonzales said. Gonzales went on to add "I want to make the All-Region and State Teams again and go sub-sixteen (minutes) this year."

On the girl's side, the Lady Steers will be without Elisabeth Jones, who graduated this past year. Jones was the lone Lady Steer last year to qualify for both regionals and state. This year, the Lady Steers will look to be competitive this season as they have some incoming freshman looking to make an impact. Taking on the leadership role for the Lady Steers this season will be senior Elaina Arredondo. Arredondo is a two sport athlete who competes in both cross country and basketball. Arredondo joined the team last year looking to get herself ready for basketball season. Now Arredondo is doing her part to help the Lady Steers cross country anyway she can while also getting ready for basketball.

"I've been wanting to step up you know being a senior and on varsity I believe doing cross country will help me get there." Arredondo stated. While basketball may be her number one sport, she is looking forward to competing this year and improving her times. Arredondo also encourages other kids looking to be competitive to try new sports. "Just try new things you never know how its going to workout for you." Arredondo stated.

Bergman Pinkley, who is a freshman this year, is set to be the top runner on the girl's side. Pinkley is expected to compete at high level per Coach Clemmons. "She was a star in junior high last year and she's been running great this summer." Coach Clemmons said of Pinkley. When asked what her expectations are heading into her first year of high school Pinkley stated "I really want to make it to state in cross country and try to be a four time state qualifier." Pinkely added "I feel pretty good, I've been trying to run this summer, because last year I didn't and so i'm excited this year." With expectations high, Pinkley is feeling the pressure but is confident for this upcoming season. "It is a little pressure, but I think im putting the most pressure on myself, but he (Coach Clemmons) gives me confidence that I can get there." Pinkley said.

The Steer's and Lady Steer's cross country teams will kick their season off on Saturday August 20 in Andrews where they will run in the Derek Hernandez Memorial Relay. Their first official meet of the season will take place on Saturday August 27 where they will run in the Tall City Meet in Midland. Good luck to both the Steer's and Lady Steer's cross country teams on the upcoming season!

Nothing really changes for the Steer's and Lady Steer's cross country teams in terms of the new district realignments this year. Big Spring will still compete against Levelland, Snyder, Lubbock Estacado, San Angelo Lake View, and Sweetwater but under District 5-4A instead of District 3-4A.

The boy's team had a great season last year and continued that on into the track season this past spring. However, the Steer's will be without Roman Perez this year due to graduation. Losing a leader in any team sport can have impact on the team and it may have had an effect on the boy's cross country team this season. Despite the loss of Perez, Coach Clemmons is confident that his team will be ready to compete and be contenders come late October and early November. The Steer's are still the favorites to repeat as the district champions and be contenders to win both the regional and state meets. The Steer's will be lead by seniors Adrian Solis and Isaac Gonzales. The Steer's have also have four runners from last year's state team and a talented group of JV runners that have been working hard this summer.

The girl's team will be very young this year with only one senior returning from last year. The Lady Steer's will be without Elisabeth Jones who graduated this past year and was the lone state qualifier from last year's team. Senior Elaina Arredondo will look to be a leader and the confidence booster for the team this season. The top runner for the girls team this year will be the up and coming freshman star, Bergman Pinkley per Coach Clemmons. Clemmons has high expectations for the young runner and is confident that she will be one of the top runners in the region and possibly the state. Coach Clemmons is expecting the girl's team to be competitive this season, but is excited about the future with this year's talented underclassman and next years incoming freshmen.

Second chapter: Bobby Wagner already makes impact on LA Rams

By GREG BEACHAM

AP Sports Writer

IRVINE, Calif. (AP) — Bobby Wagner is still getting used to the fact he's now working with Sean McVay, not against him.

After five years of trying to shut down McVay's offense two or three times per season for the Seattle Seahawks, Wagner is now making the Los Angeles Rams better.

Instead of attempting to get into McVay's head to anticipate his moves, the veteran linebacker and the offense-minded coach are putting their heads

"Now we get to feed off one another," Wagner said. "His energy has been crazy. We've been in constant communication, even in the offseason. Reaching out, just checking in and stuff like that. It's been cool. These last couple of months, being able to be coached by him has been a blessing for

The Rams signed the 32-year-old Wagner to be the game-changing inside linebacker they've decidedly lacked in recent years. But the defending Super Bowl champions also signed the six-time All-Pro for the impact he'll have across the organization, and the signs are already showing as the Rams head into their preseason opener against the Chargers on Saturday night. Practically every player in a horned helmet speaks rhapsodically about Wagner's impact on their work habits and football intelligence, but they also can't wait to see the impact he'll have on Sundays.

"You go back and watch the plays (at practice), and you've just got a smile on your face," Aaron Donald said. "I might jump on my gap, and then he's there to feel it so fast, because he's just downhill. He understands where things are going, and he's able to play so much faster. Just seeing the way he moves, the way he plays, definitely gets us excited."

The Rams didn't sign Wagner specifically to teach Ernest Jones how to be a great inside linebacker, yet Jones sometimes feels as if he hit the football lottery. He'll spend his second NFL season lining up next to one of his idols — and then picking his brain afterward.

"It's crazy that he's playing with us now and that I'm learning from him, because he was like the guy that I always watched," Jones said.

Wagner will have the green dot on his helmet as the Rams' defensive signal-caller, and he has already assumed a natural leadership role beyond barking out signals: He's a sounding board for his teammates and an example to watch every day in practice.

Jones frequently finds himself admiring Wagner's nose for the ball and knack for positioning. "That's like every day, even when I'm watching film and he makes the plays that the normal linebacker wouldn't make," Jones said. "The average

one wouldn't, but he goes out there and does it so well. Every time I see that, I'm like, 'That's the reason why his name is so well-known, and why he's Bobby Wagner." Before Wagner's arrival, McVay's Rams appeared to pay little mind to the impact of an inside linebacker. Cory Littleton had two productive seasons at the spot, but Los Angeles has otherwise fielded modest contributors at the position. Opponents noticed, targeting the likes of Troy Reeder, Kenny Young and Micah Kiser in recent years, particularly on pass plays.

But the Rams drafted Jones in the third round last year and fast-tracked him to a starting spot, particularly after he showed solid pass coverage abilities. When Wagner was dropped by Seattle and the Rams found themselves with cap room from Von Miller's departure for Buffalo, they signed him in a move that signaled a change in philosophy at the position.

At least, that's the suspicion: How defensive coordinator Raheem Morris will use both Wagner and Jones is a question that won't be answered until September. But their presence provides several new options for the Rams as they incorporate two inside linebackers into the defensive scheme installed by Brandon Staley and refined by Morris into a championship-winning setup last season.

Wagner has made it clear he never wanted to leave Seattle, but the benefits of moving home are already obvious. Wagner was born in Los Angeles and raised in its outer suburbs, and his family members were regular presences at the Rams training camp in Irvine.

The bidding:

Opening lead -

North, Chuck Burger, passed in second seat, enabling East, Peter Weichsel, to open one diamond (Weichsel and Alan Sontag, his partner, were playing Precision Club) on his 11-point hand. This led to the following competitive sequence that ended with Weichsel-Sontag reaching four spades:

West	Nortl	ı East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	1 ♥
2 💠	2 ♦	Pass	2♥
2 🏚	3 ♥	4 🏚
W/:4b	turrana	hroaking	n anna a 11v

With trumps breaking normally 11 tricks were there for the taking giving Sontag-Weichsel a score of 650 points. Combined with the 420 points gained by their teammates at the other table, this gave them a pickup of 14 IMPs in a match they eventually won by 29.

Today in History:

August 15, Woodstock opens

Today is Monday, Aug. 15, the 227th day of 2022. There are 138 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Aug. 15, 1969, the Woodstock Music and Art Fair opened in upstate New York.

On this date:

In 1057, Macbeth, King of Scots, was killed in battle by Malcolm, the eldest son of King Duncan, whom Macbeth had slain.

In 1769, Napoleon Bonaparte was born on the island of Corsica.

In 1914, the Panama Canal officially opened as the SS Ancon crossed the just-completed waterway between the Pacific and Atlantic oceans.

In 1935, humorist Will Rogers and aviator Wiley Post were killed when their airplane crashed near Point Barrow in the Alaska Territory.

In 1944, during World War II, Allied forces landed in southern France in Operation Dragoon.

In 1945, in a pre-recorded radio address, Japan's Emperor Hirohito announced that his country had accepted terms of surrender for ending World War II.

In 1947, India became independent after some 200 years of British rule.

In 1961, as workers began constructing a Berlin Wall made of concrete, East German soldier Conrad Schumann leapt to freedom over a tangle of barbed wire.

In 1971, President Richard Nixon announced a 90-day freeze on wages, prices and rents.

In 1989, F.W. de Klerk was sworn in as acting president of South Africa, one day after P.W. Botha resigned as the result of a power struggle within the National Party.

In 1998, 29 people were killed by a car bomb that tore apart the center of Omagh (OH'mah), Northern Ireland; a splinter group calling itself the Real IRA claimed responsibility.

In 2003, bouncing back from the largest blackout in U.S. history, cities from the Midwest to Manhattan restored power to millions of people.

Ten years ago: Felix Hernandez pitched the Seattle Mariners' first perfect game and the 23rd in baseball history, overpowering the Tampa Bay Rays 1-0; it was the third perfect game and sixth no-hitter of the season.

Five years ago: President Donald Trump, who'd faced harsh criticism for initially blaming the deadly weekend violence in Charlottesville, Virginia on "many sides," told reporters that there were "very fine people on both sides" of the confrontation and that groups protesting against the white supremacists were "also very violent." (In between those statements, at the urging of aides, Trump had offered a more direct condemnation of white supremacists.)

One year ago: The Taliban swept into Afghanistan's capital after the country's government collapsed and the embattled Afghan president, Ashraf Ghani, joined fellow citizens and foreigners in fleeing the country; the collapse marked the end of a two-decade U.S. campaign to remake the country. As U.S. military helicopters whisked American diplomats to the airport in Kabul, the U.S. military said it was taking charge of air traffic control at the airport, where thousands of foreigners and Afghans were desperately trying to leave. The American flag was lowered at the embassy, where smoke rose as staff destroyed important documents. Afghans rushing to leave the country lined up at cash machines to withdraw their life savings. Rescuers raced to find survivors from a 7.2-magnitude earthquake in Haiti, searching the rubble ahead of a potential deluge from the approaching Tropical Storm Grace.

Earthy Mercury Trine

No one, not even the most charismatic person on the planet, can always be the superstar energy every single endeavor. When the energy is hard to drum up, at least make sure you're bringing the kindness. Character counts more than personality any day of the week, and you'll be especially keen to look for it under the earthy Mercury trine.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You treat everyone differently because everyone is, in fact, different. You have an amazing ability to communicate with each person in the way they are most likely to understand and enjoy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). When someone impresses you, you'll let them know in subtle and not so subtle ways. They feel they've finally been seen. You feel you're getting to know someone truly unique. Special connections get made.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). It feels good to be helpful, and there will be no shortage of takers for your kind of assistance. As you focus on the needs of others, you just may find that you're creating a niche for yourself. Eventually, you'll be known and paid CANCER (June 22-July 22). You'll have efficient conversations with those you know very well, skipping formalities and getting right to the point. There's comfort in sharing a connection that people outside the relationship couldn't possibly understand.

You're working on the kind of endeavor that will never be fully finished. Deciding when to move on from the project will be a matter of compromise. You'll push it as far as the time period allows and then let it go to have a life of VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). It will be most satisfying to imply a thing and see who picks up what you're throwing down. This kind of connection is a signal that you share a reality and a sensibility. You see each other and bond in commonality.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Your happiness comes from celebrating good sensations -- warm skin, muscles moving, the body alive. In your moments of gratitude, everything else feels like a bonus atop the tremendous gift of being alive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Attraction has its own logic, which it keeps close to the vest and refuses to share. You're better off accepting your attraction as a given and then moving on to the business of how to best use or manage it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Your appetite for knowledge is mighty, and the method that gives you the most now is reading. As Groucho Marx apparently said, "Outside of a dog, books are a man's best friend. Inside of a dog, it's too dark to read."

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). In some regard, you feel like you're undertrained, outside of the loop and just getting by on a wing and a prayer. And while it seems like a lonely notion indeed, more people share it than you'd believe. Reach out.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You were taught to respect your elders, but you learned to respect your youngers on your own. The very young teach with the eyes of innocence. The older ones will lend technological savvy and a fascinating worldview.

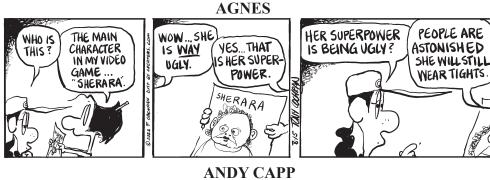

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Once an algorithm gets involved with you, you'll be served up what the robot thinks you'll like. This works so well for you that sometimes you forget how your tastes and potentials are vaster than any robot could possibly service.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Aug. 15). You're faithful, loyal and constant, and will experience the security of being treated in kind -- plus, zings of excitement keep the adventure flowing. You'll develop a style that works for you, and you'll operate with greater comfort and confidence as you find it. More highlights: a financial win and a stellar endorsement. Libra and Scorpio adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 7, 18, 3, 33 and 48.

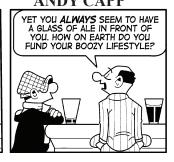

CELEBRITY PROFILES: This Oscar-winning lioness was plucked from obscurity when as a young teenager she was "discovered" in a crowd by a casting director and then showed so much talent and tenacity that she rose to be among the highest paid actresses in world. Jennifer Lawrence was born when Venus, the love and beauty planet, was in Leo, the sign of show business. Her moon is in quick, bright

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
