SCRATCHED TILL BLOOD RAN

"When my boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash which was very itely and ran a watery fluid. We tried everything we could but he got worse all the time. till it spread to his arms, legs and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to prevent him tearing his skin. He was so weak and run down that he took fainting spells as if he were dying. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws.

"He was bad about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the daytime for a long while. I washed him with Cutleura Soap and put on one application of Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that he could sleep. You don't know how glad I was he felt better. It took one box of Cutieura Ointment and pretty near one cake of Cuticura Scap to cure him. I think our boy would have died but for the Cuticura Remedies and I shall always remain a firm friend of them. There has been no return of the trouble. I shall be glad to have you publish this true state ment of his cure." (Signed) Mrs. M. C. Maitland, Jasper, Ontario, May 27,

A Herford Bon Mot.

Oliver Herford and a friend were strolling through a section of town that was plentifully strong with pullow lines on which many a family "wash" was waving in the wind. Mr Herford's companion called attention to the manner in which these gar ments shut out the sky and otherwise disfigured the landscape. Mr. Herford gazed at them thoughtfully and then gently murmured: "The short and and simple finnnels of the poor."

neh, a distance of about 100 kilometers. The telegraph wires have been cut outside of Kerak, and station masters and their assistants have been killed. The Bedouins now hold the region traversed by the rallway, creating a most serious situation, as it closed the outlet northward to the tens of thousands of Moslem pilgrims now in Mecca for their great and annual feast, the Aid el Kebir. If the caravan route from Mecca to Jeddah on the Red Sea, is also held by the Bedouin, it would close the way out to the thousands of pilgrims from Egypt and India, a state of things which would call for prompt and decisive action. The limited food supply at Mecca would be quickly exhausted and could not be easily replenished.

Much excitement was caused in Jerusalem by the discovery that Kerak was in flam he plainly seen from elevated places in and about the city. Different rumors are current, one of which is that Kerak is being destroyed by the Turkish troops because of the discovery that the chiefs of the town were secretly in league with the Hedouins.

Meduba, where the famous mosaic map of the fourth century of the sacred places in Palestine was unearthed some years ago, has just been occupled by several Turkish regiments, and is believed to be safe from attack.

It is stated that the French consulate here has fust received a telegram from its Damascus agent that Sami Pasha, who has recently succeeded in suppressing the Druse rebellion in the Horan, has hastened with his troops to the scene of the Bedouin trouble. Further reports state that he is dealing with the Bedouins with great severity.

The large Redouin population of Palestine and the region through which the Mecca railway extends is divided into many tribes. If there existed unity of aim and action among them, their opposition to the Turkish government would be most formidable. For these tribes are often at war among themselves and there is no spirit of organization or cohesion among them. But even as it is they have presented a serious problem to the government.

It is only within a few years that the tribes on the east of the Jordan, opposite Jerusalem, the Adwan and the Bent Sukher, have been brought under a sort of loose control, and that Kerak has been occupied by a garrison, and likewise the Bedouins in the south, around Beer-sheba, where a government center was established only recently. At the latter place a seralye has been built, and also a mosque to please the Bedouins. A small town has sprung up which is the newest town of Palestine and is distinguished by being the first to have water works as well as being the site of the Heer-sheba of Abraham's time. The name means "Seven Wells," all of which have been located. It is from one of these the water is pumped for the use of the town.

An abortive attempt was made about three years ago to plant another center further south and so extend the jurisdiction of the government. The Pasha of Jerusalem, with his retinue of civil and military officials, at that time gathered the Bedouins of the region, and gave them presents and, with great pomp, read a mesage from the Sultan. As part of the ceremonies many of the Bedouin boys were brought together to receive presents of clothing, etc., and to be circumcised. But a report was started that this would mark them for being taken as soldiers later, and they fied from the proposed rite.

These new government stations, and the attempts of the officials to ingratiate themselves with the Bedouins hitherto not subject to the government, were in pursuance of a policy adopted by the Constantinople authorities about 20 years since looking to breaking up the old nomadic and independent life and habits of these sons of Ishmael. The plan was to get the Bedouin youth into a special government school for them at Constantinople, to confer titles and give presents to the chiefs, to gradually push forward among the tribes the line which marked the limit of the authority of the government, and finally to disarm and enroll them with a view to military service and tax-levying. However but little has been accomplished along these lines.

The building of the Mecca railway, which was hoped would forward the government policy, has, instead, led to complications and conflict. The road has had to be constantly patroled by mounted troops, for the Bedouins have been all along greatly opposed to it, especially because it deprived them of the very considerable business they had in hiring their camels to carry pilgrims and their baggage to and from Mecca. For a time the payment of "hush money," or annual allowances to the shelkhs of some of the tribes by the government, kept them quiet. But recently Rizza Pasha, formerly military governor of Jerusalem, now in charge of the post at Medina, has attempted to hold a stronger hand over the unruly tribes, and he discontinued the payment of the "allowances." This led the Bedouins to attack the railway stations, tear up the track, etc. This was in the far

JEHOSHAPKAT

The troubles at Karak were precipitated by an attempt of the government to enroll the Bedouins and disarm them. This applied not only to the Nomadic tribes but to the towns people and villagers, many of whom are Christians. An incident illustrative of how this operates occurred the other day at Es Salt, on the other side of the Jordan. A member of a wealthy Christian family of the town was in the fields with some of his men. As usual and necessary in this parts, he was armed. A Turkish officer with a few soldiers attempted to disarm him and take his rifle, resulting in his shooting and killing the officer, and in he and his men being at once shot by the soldiers. His brother was apprehended and taken to Damascus.

It seems premature to attempt to disarm the people of these towns and vilages that are exposed to the attacks of the Bedouin, and in seeking to do so the government is facing a difficulty with which it will be hard to cope.

It is thought the government will be able to put down the present uprising without much delay. It is most unlikely that the disturbances will extend far beyond their present area.

Because the injection may be timed, it permits of high compressions without preignition, the fuel injection being delayed until the igni-

Obviously one of the chief objections to the general employment of fuel injection is that of commutating the fuel to the different cylinders without the objectionable scheme of employing a plurality of pumps, one for each cylinder. This, besides adding complication, scarcely will admit of such adjustment as to give exactly uniform results in all of the cylinders -difficulty which is no greater than that of equalizing the intake manifold from a carbureter so as to produce uniform feeding. (Copyright, 1911, by W. Q. Chapman.)

LATEST IMPROVEMENT ON THE FIRELESS STOVE.

Electric Device Insures Both Convenience and Cleanliness-Use of Alarm Clock Is Also a Most Useful Innovation.

Those familiar with the economies of the fireless cooker will appreciate the combination of this device with the convenience and cleanliness of the electric stove.

The outside of the stove is made of finished hardwood. The containing compartment is lined with nonrustable metal between which and the woodwork is a fireproof non-heatconducting packing, through which wires pass to the electric stove located in the bottom of the receptacle. If the length of time required to bring a certain meat or vegetable to a boil is known, the dish containing it is placed in the receptacle, and the cover closed. Then the alarm of the clock is set to go off in 20 minutes, a half-hour, or in such time as the case may require. Closing the switch starts the cooking. When the time is up the clock sounds the alarm and at the same time opens the switch, and the cooking then continues as in a fireless cooker. This stove enables "the lady of the house" to start the evening meal, go shopping while it is cooking and return to find it ready to serve piping hot. A drop shelf is provided on the side, while a compartment beneath the cooker permits the storage of cooking utensils.-Popular Mechanics.

Capt. Butt Was Merely Giving to His Friend a Few Philosophical Reflections.

Capt. Archibald W. Butt, the president's military aide, was called out of bed at nine o'clock one morning to answer a telephone call.

"Archie," said his friend on the other end of the wire, "I called you up to tell you that I shall not be able to keep the appointment I made with you for eleven o'clock today."

"I'm sorry," said Butt, his tone a trifle chilly "Yes; it's too bad," agreed the

There ensued an ominous pause, "You know," remarked Butt sententiously, "telephoning seems to be a habit, a bad habit, in Washington. People are beginning to issue their invitations by telephone. They 'phone on the slightest provocation. They don't seem to know when not to telephone. They even get you out of bed to talk to you on the telephone."

"I'm afraid I annoyed you, and you're bawling me out," said the "Oh, no!" contradicted Butt in a louder tone. "My remarks are merely a few philosophical reflections induced by the early hour of the morning."-The Sunday Magazine.

THINGS ALL OUGHT TO KNOW

As Christian Bible Students-The Satisfactory Proof of "Why God Per-

One of the questions which comes to nearly every thinking mind today is, 'Why does God permit evil?" As we look about us in the world we observe that it is filled with sorrow and trouble, could enumerate, and we cannot help wondering WHY GOD ALLOWS IT. We realize that He is almighty and that He could prevent it if He wished We read in His Word that He is mor willing to do for His children than are earthly parents for theirs, and we know how much that means; yet oftentimes, it seems that those who try to do and live right have the most trouble. This question is made very clear in a book entitled, "The Divine Plan of the Ages." Every statement is backed by Scripture, and shows that while God does not sanction evil HE TO REIGN FOR THESE LONG SIX THOUSAND YEARS. It Was Bashfulness. A school tracher in a town in Ba varia has been arrested for a singular of onse. He caught a boy of fourteen and a girl two wars younger whispering during school hours, and he made them sit in the same seat with their arms tied together. Both were so bashful that they finally fainted away, and their parents had the teacher arrested for cruelty. The case hasn't been tried yet, but it is safe to say that nothing will be done to the One who knew the soul of golf saw it and described it. It was a tricky green, with a drop of 20 feet behind it To have overrun it would have been fatal. There was a stiff head wind. The player would not risk running up. He cut well in under the ball to ge all the back spin he could. He pitched the ball well up against the wind, which caught it, and, on account of the spin, threw it up and up until i seared almost over the hole, then it dropped like a shot bird about a yard from the hole, and the back spin gripped the turf and held the ball with in a foot of where it fell. It was obvious to one man that it was a crude shot. It was equally obvious to another, who knew the inner secrets of stroke. One man saw nothing of the

One upon a time a citizen complained to a physician that he was troubled with a feeling of lassitude on arising urned from Cal- in the morning, and after half an hour spent in deep reflection the healer of nen replied:

'Although it is winter, I think you uffer from the want of fresh air in the house. Go home and open your cellar windows and let the ozone sweep through the house at its wild pleasure.

assitude will be gone when you get up n the morning." The citizen did as directed, and a six o'clock next morning the cook was borne from earth away by the explosion of the kitchen range. Four busted water pipes also went into the cascade business with unqualified success, and two children were overhauled to find that their toes were frostbitten. Five days later, when the plumber had presented his bill and received the long green, he entered the office of the physician and said:

"Twenty per cent. of $90 is $18, and here is the same. If you will only adrise the old chap next door to leave all his windows open some night to cure his asthma it will mean at least $40 to

Suggestions To Farmers.

We suggest that you do not have your crop to thick. One good stalk of corn or cotton wil produce more than two poor stalks. When your corn is fifteen inches high, the small hairlike roots will almost meet between the rows. You should therefore cultivate as nearly level as possible. If you go deeper than two inches, you will cut thousands of these roots and greatly damage your crop. Use a sweep or a very short toothed harrow that is narrow enough to go well between the rows. Pull up all weak plants, and destroy all suckers and weeds. These parasites suck the life blood from the plant, just as vermin do from live stock.

Plants like animals must have a balanced ration with an abundance of nutritions food, if you expect the best results. The larger the plant, the more food it will need to assist it in its life work of producing and perfecting its crop. It is a very great mistake to lay by and leave the crop when it is one-half or twothirds grown, and allow it to live on short rations, fight dry weather, suckers and weeds, at the most vital period in its ca-

To get the best and most profitable results, shallow mulch cultivation should continue until the grain and cotton are fully matured. If it is possible to do so, well rotted manure, cotto seed meal or any other good fer tilizers that are easily soluble, should be spread between the rows of corn and cotton and worked into the soft top mulch a short time before the crop begins to fruit. A cotton seed planter with fertilizer attachment set to run very shallow, does this work fairly well, or you can do it by hand.

If you cannot apply these fertilizers you certainly can destroy. the game, that it was a brilliantly the suckers, weeds and weak conceived and beautifully executed plants, and by constant shallow soul of the stroke. THE SOCIETY TEST.

Know more people and know them better, was the means suggested by Professor Zueblin in his last Chicago human relationship. He spoke of THE ARMISTICE IS EXTENDED wealth, position, sex, religion and race as the obstacles to the true social situation, which, should have an intellectual and moral basis. He ascribed the socialistic movement of the age largely to the insistence of modern society upon such petty distinctions as wealth, family, position, etc. Of course, the real social status of a community is based upon intellect and moral purpose, says the Ohio State Journal. Money and vanity make more of a show, but they do not constitute the social influence of a community. A person who has nothing but his money to depend on, is the only test of a real society, a Mexico. society that is a benefit to the world and an uplift to the individual. This is not an objection to wealth, for really that is a great good when it shines in culture and refinement, but when social aristocrat, then it is to be pitied and avoided.

He told a representative of the New York Commercial that the maize of South Africa, which is our corn, is quite as good as the American article, and he belives that South Africa could ship to Europe 160,000 tons or more a year and get a good price for it. He said that he understood that America shipped to foreign places not more than 3 per cent. of its product, the balance of the great crop being used at home. At present South Africa ships its corn in sacks, but it is considering the project of shipping in bulk. He is in this country to see how grain is handled at Buffalo, Duluth, Chicago, Minneapolis and New Orleans, and to report to his government on the subject.

A WIDOW'S LUCK Quit the Thing That Was Slowly Injuring Her.

A woman tells how coffee kept her from insuring her life:

"I suffered for many years chiefly from trouble with my heart, with severe nervous headaches and new ralgia; but although incapacitated at times for my housework, I did not realize the gravity of my condition till I was rejected for life insurance, because, the examining physician said, my heart was so bad he could not pass

"This distressed me very much, as I was a widow and had a child dependent upon me. It was to protect her future that I wanted to insure my life.

"Fortunately for me, I happened to read an advertisement containing a testimonial from a man who had been affected in the same way that I was with heart trouble, and who was benefited by leaving off coffee and using Postum. I grasped at the hope this held out, and made the change at once.

"My health began to improve immediately. The headaches and neuralgia disappeared, I gained in flesh, and my appetite came back to me. Greatest of all, my heart was strengthened from the beginning, and soon all the distressing symptoms passed away. No more waking up in the night with my heart trying to fly out of my mouth! "Then I again made application for life insurance, and had no trouble in passing the medical examination. "It was seven years ago that I began to use Postum and I am using it still, and shall continue to do so, as L find it a guarantee of good health." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich.

Various Ways In Which Term "Cooperation" Can Be Applied and What It Means.

Applied to organizations, this term "cc-eperation" which we so often use. frequently comes to have a limited meaning. Despite this possibility, in most cases, larger and more desirable to be fed and clothed or perish. The objects still will result as they must result whenever men and women work together for a worthy cause. Co-operation for money profit, if entered into entire population of cities will be at upon a basis of obtaining justice for all, demands that the co-operators shall respect one another's rights and privileges. There soon develops a finally become a nation of renters, recognition of dependence upon one another. Respect for differences of around it is getting harder to get land opinion follow and the value of uniting and own a home. In less time than forces on broader grounds than heretofore is soon approached. Even when the incentive to combine efforts is an entirely selfish motive, this very means may grow into a conviction that the co-operation of mind with mind is something of more value than that of muscle with muscle, or dollar ify and adjust the question of taxawith dollar; and that ballot co-operat- | tion advocated by present economists, ing with other ballots will achieve and by such means protect the people more than the loudest shoutings of one from the encroachments of the money voice alone.

After working together with others for a common purpose it becomes apparent that to "co-operate" may mean buying and selling together, working together in the hayfield or in a lodge rcom, in a home or in a community; it may mean mingling together for recreation, or even for thinking together It means that when women get up a sumptuous Grange feast, they "co-operate" in doing so quite as much and as surely as do their husbands when they buy a car of coal or sell the strength of union, of harmony, of effort, and the strong bond that comes | scrubs. with service in common. Money in Sweet Potatoes.

A thrifty German farmer, of Colbert county, Ala., cleared $277 on one acre of land from a single crop of sweet potatoes. The soil used is dark red loam, the seed was early prolific, planted April 1st in drills 13 inches apart and the crop sold for 80 cents per bushel.

KEEPING UP WITH THE TIMES

Reason for Low Price of Farm Products is Lack of Organization Among Agriculturists.

The United States of America, in oge is an infant, in strength full grown. From thirteen struggling colonies, we have become a nation. The strip along the Atlantic has enlarged until our country is washed by the waves of the Pacific, and over those waves we are looking after the Islands of the sea.

Factories turn on ceaselessly their thousands of cog-wheels and spindles. Cities have sprung up as if by magic. Long lines of railroads wind through valley and over mountain. The motor car is abroad, and with the improvement of our public roads, distance will be practically dispensed with. It looks as if the future life will be lived on wheels. People will no longer be separated by distance, but by condition. The vast areas over which rosmed the hunter, the trapper, and the savage is giving life to a more complex civilization, and an age of industry has survived the art of war.

The question arises, has the farmer kept pace with the movement of nankind? Are his burdens lightened by invention? Is he better housed and better fed? Land is the basis of all life, and those who till the soil should enjoy the fruits of their labor. Undisputed facts open to observation should be faced with candor. Will the average man in town exchange condition with the man in the country? The answer is no, writes Frank A. Collins in the Groesbeck (Texas) Journal. On the contrary, people are leaving the farms and flocking to the already congested conditions of the cities. What is the trouble? It is financial. The hope that by some means the desires of life may be satisfled with less exertion. The pay the farmer gets for his products is too small for the amount of capital invested and the labor performed. The reason of this is the farmer has worked without organization, and followed the noise of the politician. In the financial centers, state craft is understood, and the meaning is that there shall be a moneyed aristocracy, which shall be separated from the common herd, just as the Bourbons of France stand above the peasants. The government realizing that the conditions on the farms should be improved, appointed a commission for that purpose. If the government would see that just and equitable laws are passed, abolishing discrimination in favor of manufacturers and speculators, and give the farmer a chance to get pay for his products in proportion to the investment, the sacrifice and the labor he uses, there would be no necessity for a commission to improve farmer will do it himself. But artificial laws, and schemes to enrich the few at the expense of the many, are like artificial heat and must burn out when the means by which they are kept in force shall be supplanted by a natural order long run nature asserts itself, and the Cities are growing al-These vast centers of population have time will shortly come when the financlers of these centers must see that unless they change their tactics, the the mercy of the country. Then will come the scheme to get control of the land, and if they succeed we shall similar to Ireland. Each day that rolls 50 years, 100 acres of land in Limestone county, Texas, will represent a fortune. With a population of 150. 000,000 the scramble for land will become the problem of the age. ' It is possible that some benefactor of the race, not engaged in politics, will modpower, and make it so that a man may cwn a home.

The man today who wants to serve his country cannot do better than own a home, remain upon it, and stand for the interests of the agricultural class

Pure Bred Males.

Many farmers make the serious mistake of buying a cheap bull, boar, jack stallion or other male for breeding purposes. There is no place on a stock together. In any and all of farm for a cheap pure bred scrub these lines of co-operation people feel male. There are many pure bred scrub males as well as ordinary

Many farmers know the importance of good males, but start out to buy a male with the idea that one can be obtained for a little more money than a scrub. The wise breeder thinks of the price last. He wants a good animal. He is more than willing to pay the price.

Dried Beet Pulp.

A pound of dry matter in dried beet pulp costs very little more than a pound of dry matter in silage (if any dairyman ever knows what his silage really costs) and the greater milk production from dried beet pulp pays for the increased cost many times

Dried beet pulp has approximately the same nutritive value as corn, oats, or any of the other grains, and it has the wonderful advantage of being bulky and succulent as well.

Constipation

is at the bottom of most common family complaints, such as headache, biliousness, pimples, sick stomach, indigestion, colic, etc. Treatment of these symptoms only, is not enough to bring about a permanent cure. What is needed is a remedy that actually relieves constipation, the cause of the trouble, and cleanses the blood from the poisons which the system has failed to throw off in the proper manner. If you suffer from any of these distressing symptoms, use

Thedford's Black-Draught

Mrs. Hattie Armstrong, of Blackwells, Ga., says: "During the past ten years, I have used Thedford's Black-Draught in my family, and would not be without it in my house. I give it to the children for colds and it cures them. I used to suffer with constipation very bad, and nothing did me any good until I used your remedy. It is worth its weight in gold." The true value and merit of this reliable remedy, is attested by its immense popularity, for more than 70 years. Try it. Price 25c. Be sure to insist on Thedford's.
