Chamber plans Holiday Bingo game

By ANDREIA MEDLIN
 Reporter

Who doesn't like a good scavenger hunt? That's what the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce has for shoppers this holiday season.
 "We're doing something new this year," said BSACC Executive Director Debbye Valverde. "We want people to go see the businesses that give back to the community."
 The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Holiday Bingo game is similar to a scavenger game in that the participants visit each business on the card and look for the item specific to the business. Once the item is found, the business will stamp the card.

 The bingo cards are available at the Chamber or at any of the following participating businesses: Dazzling Decor, Enhabit Home Health, Famous Elle, H&R Block, Heritage Museum, HteaO, Inspirations Floral Boutique, Merle Norman, Mitchell's Furniture, OC Farm & Ranch, Baby on Main, Park Place Retirement, Parkview Skilled Care Center, Queens of the Dude Ranch, SMMC Gift Shop, Star Dodge, Star Ford, The Chalet, The Karat Patch, The Wardrobe, and FanZone Collectibles.

The rules of the game are one card per person and the entire card has to be blacked out. Each business has its own stamp for its place on the card.
 Once the card is blacked out, the card has to be returned to the Chamber where it will be entered into a drawing.
 Holiday Bingo begins Nov. 1 and ends Dec. 15. The drawings begin Nov. 15. Prizes will include tools, gift cards, Con-suela items and much more.
 For more information call the Chamber at 432-263-7641, located at 215 W. 3rd St. Hours are: Monday through Thursday 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Friday 8:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Forsan football seniors honor mentors with pins

Forsan senior football players recently presented pins to teachers who had a significant impact on their lives. From left, Darren Weaver was presented a pin by Trevor Cole; Coach Robert Hillger was presented a pin by Weston Layman; Amanda Duforat was presented with a pin by Jeremiah Rivera and Kelli DeLaGarza was presented a pin by Aiden Castro.

On the field, the boys are tough and can plow through whatever stands in front of them to move the ball downfield. In the classroom, their hearts and minds have been shaped by those who have chosen to invest not only into a football player, but a student, a future, a life.

The Forsan Buffaloes celebrated Senior Night this past Friday, but before stepping on the field, respect and appreciation was given to the teachers who have made an impact on their school life.
 Friday morning, the Senior members of the Buffalo Football team gathered together and made their way through the classrooms that they have entered many times. This time, it wasn't necessarily to learn a lesson, but to bring those lessons and investment full circle. Each senior boy picked the teacher who had made the most impact on them and presented them with a picture button and a hand written note of gratitude.
 Senior Trevor Cole presented his button to Darren Weaver. Cole has been in Weaver's classroom as an engineering student for the past three years.
 "I wore Trevor's pin all day. I want to mean something to these students, but to accomplish that they first have to mean something to me," Weaver said.
 Teacher and Senior Mom Stacey Park helped organize the presentation and shared in the delivery of the buttons.

 "Under all of the joking, silliness and insanity there is a bunch who has a soft heart. I love these boys, even though trying to contain them for one hour and get a common goal accomplished is near impossible," Park said.
 As the boys made their way through the hallways, each having their chance to step forward and show their appreciation, they did it as a team. In the end, it was a small gesture, a short moment, but one that will leave an impact on the lives of the teacher and the student. Every connection made is an opportunity for growth, inspiration and endless possibilities.
 "I was so surprised! It made me realize in that moment that I need those students just as much as they need us," Kelli De La Garza, Forsan High School Librarian, said.
 One football player, Weston Thomas, chose Kit Kraus, who had as a teacher earlier in his educational career. Currently, Thomas does not have Mr. Kraus as a teacher, but makes it a point to stop in and visit on a daily basis. The impact was made when Kraus was teaching Thomas in chemistry and physics, but has long surpassed the time assigned to the classroom.
 "It means that you have been able to make some impact on their lives in a small way. It is nice to be recognized," Kit Kraus, teacher at Forsan ISD, said.
 The ability to connect with a student is a gift that allows for a difference to be made.

Comanche Trail Festival of Lights seeks volunteers

By ROGER CLINE
 Managing Editor

Each year, Big Spring's Comanche Trail Park blazes with holiday magic thanks to the annual Festival of Lights, but it takes a lot of work to make that magic happen.
 The City of Big Spring is seeking volunteers to man the entrance to the park as greeters.
 The Festival of Lights will open Sunday, Dec. 4, and run nightly through Christmas Day itself - Sunday, Dec. 25. Each night, the greeter's post will feature two two-hour shifts - 6 p.m. to 8 p.m., and 8 p.m. to 10 p.m.
 Greeters typically welcome visitors to the Festival of Lights as they drive through the entrance to the holiday attraction. Other duties include collecting donations, passing out programs, and making a brief note of how many people are in each vehicle, and where they hail from.

Hayley Lewis, Big Spring's Community Services Director, asks that people interested in manning the Festival's entrance for a shift or two during the event contact the Big Spring Visitors Center, 113 E. Third Street, in person or by phone at 432-263-8235, or by email at hlewis@my-bigspring.com.
 Those signing up as volunteers should be prepared to select a date and time slot, with a backup date and time in mind in case their primary slot is already spoken for. Volunteers should also provide their

 "Thank you as always for volunteering," Lewis said. "We could not put this event on without you!"

Obituaries

Stephen Douglas Park

Good Morning.

It didn't matter what time of the day it was, no student could walk past him without Coach Park telling them good morning.

There is a typical format for an obituary, but Coach Park was not a typical man.

On Nov. 17, 1949, Stephen Douglas Park was born to Henry and Estill Park in Big Spring. He was the baby brother to Eva, Fred, Roger and John Park. To say that he adored his brothers would probably be an understatement. He always thought they were the most talented, athletic, smartest guys he knew. They must have taught him well because he may have surpassed them in every category. There is definitely a rowdy reunion in Heaven going on with a lot of trickery and jokes.

His Forever: It was no secret that he thought Judy Clanton hung the moon when they began dating at 13 years-old and that never changed over the next 59 years of togetherness. He brought her flowers every year on the anniversary of their first date. He would have loved to sit at home to watch old western movies, but she loved to shop and get pedicures, so he did too. He loved camping with her and their friends...where shopping also happened. He loved her until she passed away in August of 2021, and kept on loving her even after. He was reunited with her on Oct. 30, 2022, and there is no doubt that when Jesus greeted Steve in Heaven, Judy was right on his heels.

Family: He was the proud father of Jenny and Shane Sayles, definitely his favorite daughter and son-in-law according to the son-in-law; his coaching sidekick since he was 2 years-old, Dave Park and his wife Stacey; and the quarterback son that every coach wanted, Cade Park and his wife Samantha. He left behind 7 grandchildren: Alexandria and Dustin Fontana, Ian and Sydney Park, Walker and Carlee Park, Nolan Park, Sydney Sayles, Jordan Park and Max Park. He never missed an event they were involved in and enjoyed every minute of it. He loved watching grandkids do anything, anywhere, anytime. He was determined to never miss an event.

Football: He was the coach of many things, but football was his true coaching love. He never missed an opening of two-a-day practice even after retiring. He loved to sit around the coaches office with the next generation and pick their brains about the upcoming season. They, in turn, wanted to get his advice on what he would have done "back in the day." There are many stories of sandpits, blitzes, and slobber knockers but what made him special was the fact that he is probably the most respected and loved coach in Howard County. He remembered every kid, every player, what position they played and usually a silly story to go along with it. He could rarely go anywhere in town without being stopped with, "Hi, Coach, I would like you to meet..."

Forsan: He graduated from Forsan High School in 1968, graduated from Texas Tech to start him on his life path of teaching math and coaching, and later graduated from Sul Ross with his Masters degree and principal certification. His coaching career spanned four decades in Bronte, Stanton, Coahoma and Forsan. He went to State in slide rule, which he still has to this day, and he barely missed going in track in the quarter mile. He loved track, especially the quarter mile. He loved to talk anything and everything about Forsan. He loved to tell stories about when Forsan had a movie theater, a deli, a gas station, a hardware store, and a golf course. He was the local historian on Forsan and a part of history itself.

His legacy isn't state championships. His legacy is 48 and a half years of teaching and coaching. It is the grandparents and parents who are excited that their children got to have him as the same math teacher. His legacy is coming to school at 7 a.m. for kids to come and get help, even if they weren't in his class. His legacy was the fact that he was determined to not give up on any student and to do everything humanly possible to help them learn. He offered many life lessons in class along with stories, corny jokes, sayings and life lessons. His legacy was love. Every student knew the love he had for his family because he never missed an opportunity to talk about them. The students knew he loved them and went the extra mile for them. He was a humble man who taught and coached thousands of students, their children, and even their grandchildren. He was a role model for other teachers and the students. He inspired many students to follow in his footsteps to become teachers and coaches. His legacy will live on forever through his family and students.

The family is looking forward to the stories to be told at the visitation on Wednesday evening, Nov. 2, from 6 p.m.-8 p.m. at Myers & Smith Funeral Home. His service will be at First Baptist Church of Big Spring Thursday, Nov. 3, at 1 p.m. In lieu of flowers, the family has suggested donations can be made to the Steve Park Legacy Gift Fund (Forsan ISD, Box 689, Forsan, Texas 79733).

One last time....Good morning.

Ian ruins man-made reefs, brings algae bloom to Florida

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Ian not only ravaged southwest Florida on land but was destructive underwater as well. It destroyed man-made reefs and brought along red tide, the harmful algae blooms that kill fish and birds, according to marine researchers who returned last week from a six-day cruise organized by the Florida Institute of Oceanography.

Researchers who used the cruise to study marine life in the Gulf of Mexico following the hurricane say it left in its wake red tide and destroyed artificial reefs from as far away as 30 miles (48 kilometers) from the coast of southwest Florida.

"The one-time vibrant reefs are now underwater disaster sites themselves," said Calli Johnson, safety dive officer for the research cruise. "Where there used to be a complete ecosystem, there are now only fish that were able to return after swimming away."

Before the Category 4 storm made landfall a month ago, southwest Florida had a reputation for being one of the best saltwater fishing destinations in the U.S. Saltwater and freshwater fishing in Florida has an economic impact of around $13.8 billion, according to the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission.

"Time will tell how this affects our greater economy, because changes in the fishing industry and tourism will come from changes in our underwater world," Johnson said.

The marine researchers on the cruise found high counts of the naturally-occurring algae that causes red tide offshore Punta Gorda, Boca Grande and southwest of Sanibel Island. It will be several weeks before researchers can analyze water samples that were collected to determine the threat to sea life off the Florida coast.

The red tide outbreak also is threatening manatees off Sarasota and Charlotte counties that rely on seagrass for food, according to the Ocean Conservancy.

"Florida is at a crossroads, with a record number of manatees dying," said J.P. Brooker, director of Florida conservation for the Ocean Conservancy. "We must keep this issue at the forefront, so leaders statewide will invest in solutions to improve water quality—protecting natural habitats to save our beloved manatees."

Through mid-October, there have been 719 manatee deaths recorded by Florida wildlife officials.

There were 982 manatee deaths last year.

Migos rapper Takeoff dead after Houston shooting, rep says

By JONATHAN LANDRUM Jr. and JUAN A. LOZANO

Associated Press

HOUSTON (AP) — The rapper Takeoff, best known for his work with the Grammy-nominated trio Migos, is dead after a shooting early Tuesday outside a bowling alley in Houston, a representative confirmed. He was 28.

Kirsnick Khari Ball, known as Takeoff, was part of Migos along with Quavo and Offset. A representative for members of Migos who was not authorized to speak publicly confirmed the death to The Associated Press.

Police responded shortly after 2:30 a.m. to reports of a shooting at 810 Billiards & Bowling, where dozens of people had gathered on a balcony outside of the third-floor bowling alley, police said. Officers discovered one man dead when they arrived. An AP reporter at the scene observed a body loaded into a medical examiner's van around 10 a.m., more than seven hours after the shooting.

Security guards who were in the area heard the shooting but did not see who did it, a police spokesperson said. Two other people were injured and taken to hospitals in private vehicles.

No arrests have been announced and few details were released about what led up to the shooting, but Houston police planned a news conference for Tuesday afternoon. Media members at the scene later Tuesday morning were being kept across the street, which was otherwise blocked off to the public, and 810 Billiards & Bowling's management did not immediately respond to a phone message seeking comment.

Tuesday morning, several fans had gathered across the street from the bowling alley, which is in a three-story downtown Houston retail complex that includes high-end restaurants, a House of Blues and is near a Four Seasons hotel.

Isaiah Lopez, 24, said he rushed down from his home in the Houston suburb of Humble after hearing Takeoff had been killed.

"He was one of our favorites, mine and my brother's. It's all we would listen to," Lopez said as he carried a dozen roses he hoped to place near the site of the shooting. "As soon as my brother called me and said, 'Takeoff is gone,' I had to come over here and pay my respects."

Thomas Moreno, 30, who lives about five minutes away from the site of the shooting, said he had met Takeoff at an event at a Houston bar and restaurant in June and said he was "a real nice guy."

"I feel it's just another good person gone too soon," Moreno said. "This happens every day but it hurts even more when it's somebody so talented and so young."

Takeoff was the youngest member of Migos, the rap trio from suburban Atlanta that also featured his uncle Quavo and cousin Offset. They first broke through with the massive hit "Versace" in 2013. The song was remixed by Drake, heightening its popularity.

The group had four Top 10 hits on the Billboard Hot 100, though Takeoff was not on their multi-week No. 1 hit "Bad and Boujee," featuring Lil Uzi Vert. They put out a trilogy of albums called "Culture," "Culture II" and "Culture III," with the first two albums hitting No. 1 on the Billboard 200 album chart. They also earned an ASCAP Vanguard Award in 2018, for their streaming success with multiplatinum songs like "Motorsport (featuring Cardi B and Nicki Minaj)," "Stir Fry," and "Walk It Talk It."

The trio also played a fictional version of themselves on an episode of the hit TV show "Atlanta," but the group was not currently together.

Offset, who is married to Cardi B, released a solo album in 2019, while Takeoff and Quavo released a joint album "Only Built for Infinity Links" last month. Quavo posted links Monday on his Instagram to his and Takeoff's Halloween-themed music video, "Messy," along with a video of him and his friends driving around Houston.

Buffaloes trample Ozona Lions 47-14

Forsan one game away from claiming District 3-2A title

By PATRICK GONZALES
Herald Sports Writer

Joshua Rios

Huston Stockton

Forsan continued its dominance in district play as the Buffaloes rolled to 47-14 win over the Ozona Lions this past Friday. With the win Forsan improves to 4-0 in district and sets up a big match against Sonora this Friday.

A win over the Broncos and the Buffaloes claim the district title outright, a loss and Forsan is at the very least guaranteed a share of the district title.

Forsan would receive the ball to start the game, as the Ozona Lions won the coin toss and deferred to the second half. That would prove costly for the Lions as Forsan wasted no time getting on the board first.

The Buffaloes would score its first touchdown of the game within the first five minutes to go up 7-0. With under a minute left in the first quarter, Forsan would go on to score again thanks to Cade Wallis who helped put the Buffaloes up 13-0. The extra point attempt was missed leaving the score 13-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Ozona's offense continued to struggle against the Buffaloes defense at the start of the second quarter. The Lions would gain a first down before on the drive but would end up going three and out on their new set of downs. Ozona would end up punting the ball to Forsan where the Buffaloes would take over around their own 30 yard line.

Forsan's offense picked up where it left off in the first quarter, as the Buffaloes drove down the field capping the drive off with its third touchdown of the game. The extra point attempt was no good leaving the score 19-0 with about 8 minutes left in the first half.

Ozona's offense would finally respond back with a scoring drive of its own on their next possession. With about 4 minutes left in the first half the Lions were on the board. The extra point attempt was good for Ozona making the score now 19-7 with under 4 minutes left in the first half.

The last minutes of the first half saw a defensive battle between the Lions and Buffaloes. The Lions defense was able to hold Forsan from scoring another touchdown and would regain possession of the ball before the end of the first half.

That momentum was short lived as Forsan's Joshua Rios would come up with a huge interception to give the ball back to Forsan with a couple minutes left in the half. Looking to add another touchdown the Buffaloes were driving the ball down the field but a costly penalty would stifle Forsan's drive, ending the quarter with Forsan holding a 19-7 lead at the half.

Ozona received the ball to start the second half but once again the Lions struggled to get things going offensively. Forsan's defense would force a Lions punt to get the ball for the first time in third quarter. It didn't take Forsan long to find the endzone as the Buffaloes scored its fourth touchdown of the game thanks to Huston Stockton with about 7 minutes left in the third quarter.

The extra point attempt was good making the score now 26-7 in favor of Forsan. On the ensuing kickoff the Lions offense responded back with a score of its own. Ozona's Michael Daniels rushed in for the Lions second touchdown of the night making the score 26-14 after the successful extra point attempt was good.

With just about a minute left in the third quarter, Ozona opted to try for the onside kick but were unsuccessful as the Buffaloes would take over in great field position. The Buffaloes would run out the clock to end the third quarter with a 26-14 lead.

At the start of the fourth quarter the Buffaloes found the endzone again this time thanks to Kevin Kligora. Once again the extra point attempt was good as Forsan now led the Lions 33-14 with 11 minutes left in the game.

Forsan's defense would go on to hold the Lions scoreless for the remainder of the game. With about 8 minutes left in the game the Buffaloes would go on to score its sixth touchdown of the night. The score came from Forsan's Grant Roman with a 10-yard run to put the Buffaloes up 40-14.

With a little under six minutes left in the game Ozona was driving down the field until Forsan's Joshua Rios made another huge defensive play, intercepting a second Ozona pass to give the ball back to the offense.

Forsan's running game did not let up as the Buffaloes would go on to score its seventh and final touchdown of the game thanks to Yandell Melendez. The extra point attempt was good once again and the score now set at 47-14 in favor of Forsan.

In the final minutes of the game Ozona had possession of the ball twice but were unable to mount any offensive momentum as the Buffaloes would go on to win big over the Lions 47-14.

The Forsan running game has been dominant all season long but the game against Ozona was a breakout a game as the Buffaloes would go on to rush for 412 yards. Leading the running back group was Yandell Melendez who finished the night with 103 yards on 16 carries and one touchdown. Huston Stockton was behind Melendez who finished the night with 89 yards on 15 carries and two touchdowns.

Forsan's Cade Willis, Kevin Kligora, Grant Roman, and Brycen Cervantes all contributed one touchdown each. Forsan's defense held the Lions to 53 yards of rushing and 196 yards of passing. Forsan kicker Nolan Park finished the night completing 5-7 extra point attempts.

Forsan will travel to Sonora this Friday to take on the Broncos at Bronco Stadium. Sonora is currently 3-1 in district after coming away with a huge win over Christoval this past Friday 30-6. Sonora's only loss in district so far is to Reagan County.

With the win over Ozona, Forsan has guaranteed themselves a share of the district title, however if Forsan comes up with the win against Sonora then they win the title outright. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Coahoma picks up key district win over Lubbock Roosevelt

Bulldogs in contention for a share of District 4-3A Title

By STEVE BELVIN

LUBBOCK - It was a game where the Lubbock Roosevelt Eagles did everything they needed to do to win. However it was game that the Coahoma Bulldogs knew how to win. In the end it was Coahoma coming away with a thrilling 27-26 win.

The win propels the Bulldogs, now 7-2 overall and 3-1 in district play to a regular season finale against Abernathy that could determine the district championship. Abernathy is currently undefeated in district play.

Friday's win was a tale of two different game plans. Roosevelt opted to run its flex bone option offense, using a balanced running game to move the ball and control the clock.

On the other side, Coahoma was quick and to the point, relying on big plays. First of all, there were no punts in the game and very few penalties. A good sign for Coahoma which has been plagued with numerous penalties throughout the season.

Roosevelt had several long drives and scored. Facing critical situations the Bulldogs made critical plays. Perhaps no defensive stop was more important than a play made by Coahoma cornerback Isaiah Eleda with 1:41 left in the game and Coahoma trailing 26-20.

ma trailing 26-20.

With Roosevelt facing a fourth-and-goal from the Coahoma one yard line, Eleda dropped Eagles running back Hunter Woods for a one-yard loss. What the Bulldogs offense did next is what champions are made of.

Mixing in a few runs by Jaidyn Vineyard and some big completions from Boyd Cox to Billy Bailey and Austin Perkins, the Bulldogs quickly moved 92 yards in eight plays, capped off by a 15-yard scoring toss to Guerrero in the corner of the endzone.

Ever reliable Raegan Chapman booted through the extra point and that was the margin of victory. Roosevelt got the ball back and tried a long pass, but Bailey, from his safety position, easily gathered in the attempt for the interception.

Roosevelt kept the ball for the majority of the game, running 59 plays compared to only 33 for Coahoma. Roosevelt's scoring drives took 8, 13, 14 and 19 plays. The most impressive was its 72-yard, 19-play drive to start the third quarter, giving it a 26-20 led.

Coahoma's first two scores was quick and in a hurry. A 53-yard Cox to Bailey hookup and a 95-yard kickoff return by Perkins. On his return, Perkins started out slowly working his way to the sideline. Then he put on a burst of speed and skirted down the sideline for the score.

Boyd also threw a 17-yard scoring pass to Bailey just before the half ended, leaving the score tied 20-20 at the half. Coahoma did squander a scoring opportunity in the second quarter when the Bulldogs quickly drove from their own 32 down to the Roosevelt one.

That's when Vineyard fumbled, and Roosevelt recovered. The Eagles in turn drove 99 yards in 13 plays for a score that put them up 20-13 at the time. Coahoma wasted little time answering - three plays to be exact. after an incomplection, Cox hooked up with Tristan Guerrero for 53 yards and capped it off by the game at half. Roosevelt falls to 3-6 overall and 1-3 in league play.

Coahoma will host Abernathy at 7 p.m.

Miller, Robinson, Vaughn lead RBs making mark in Big 12

By CLIFF BRUNT

AP Sports Writer

Running backs have been dominant in the Big 12 this season.

Five of the top 13 Power Five conference rushers in yards per game hail from the league. Kendre Miller is a key reason unbeaten TCU has a shot at reaching the College Football Playoff. Texas' Bijan Robinson is projected by many to be a first-round draft pick. Deuce Vaughn — a 5-foot-6 dynamo — has fueled Kansas State's surprising run into the Big 12 title race. And Oklahoma's Eric Gray and Baylor's Richard Reese both average nearly 100 yards rushing per game.

Miller averages 106.4 yards rushing per game and has scored 11 touchdowns for the 8-0 Horned Frogs. He ran for 120 yards and a touchdown in last week's 41-31 win over West Virginia.

"Kendre's stepped up like you hoped he would and I think has shown everybody, certainly, what he's capable of," TCU coach Sonny Dykes said. "I think (he is) one of the best running backs in college football -- just what he does and how he does it. And he's certainly incredibly valuable to us and the way that we use him. He's just a combination of power and balance and speed and can make big plays."

Miller arrived at TCU with Zach Evans, a five-star recruit and the highest-ranked ever signed with Gary Patterson. Evans transferred to Ole Miss after TCU's coaching change, and Miller has stepped up by rushing for at least 100 yards in five of his past six games.

"When your number is called, you've just got to produce, and I think it's a big deal to do it week in and week out, so that's where I try to be with my game," Miller said. "I try to stay consistent and do it every week, so that (separates) the great ones from the good ones."

Miller has rushing touchdowns in all eight games this season and nine consecutive games overall going back to last season's finale. It's the second-longest streak in school history, trailing only NFL Hall of Fame running back LaDainian Tomlinson's 15 in a row from 1999-2000. Among active Power Five running backs, Miller's career 6.92 yards-per-carry is the most, just ahead of Evans' 6.86.

Texas' Robinson leads the conference with 115.0 yards rushing per game. When his 280 yards receiving are added, his contribution jumps to 150 all-purpose yards per game — good for seventh nationally.

Vaughn is second in the league with 112.8 yards rushing per game and has 130 yards receiving.

"He's got great hips and feet and vision," Oklahoma defensive coordinator Ted Roof said before his Sooners allowed 116 yards rushing to Vaughn. "He's got a lot of patience too. He'll stay back there, wait for somebody to get nosy and jump out of their gap and then here he goes. At the same time, he's a weapon in the throwing game as well too. They get very creative in how they get him the ball."

Gray has become Oklahoma's most consistent offensive player. He has rushed for at least 100 yards in five of his eight games. He averages 99.5 yards per contest. His 6.8 yards per carry rank seventh nationally.

Reese — a freshman — is averaging 98.9 yards rushing per game for Baylor, and he leads the league with 12 rushing touchdowns.

West Virginia's CJ Donaldson and Tony Mathis, Kansas' Devin Neal and Oklahoma State's Dominic Richardson also have had great moments and rank in the Top 10 in the league in rushing yards per contest.

"I think the league is really good," Dykes said. "I mean, obviously everybody's kind of got backs that fit their personality. And they're all different. ... So you just look around the league, there's just a lot of really good running backs."

Bumbling Bengals look to 'flush away' bad loss to Browns

By MITCH STACY

AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Playing without Ja'Marr Chase, the Cincinnati Bengals had a rough night.

One that could have ramifications for the rest of the season.

Cincinnati lost its best cornerback when Chidobe Awuzie departed in the first half of Monday's ugly 32-13 loss at Cleveland because of a right knee injury. The 27-year-old Awuzie left the stadium on crutches, and coach Zac Taylor said the injury appears to be severe.

If Awuzie is sidelined for an extended period, it's another tough blow for a Bengals team already playing without Chase because of a hip injury for the dangerous wide receiver.

The growing list of health issues is one of several problems for Cincinnati (4-4), which dropped to 0-3 in the AFC North with its eighth loss in the past nine games in the "Battle of Ohio."

The Bengals were limited to two fourth-quarter touchdown passes by Joe Burrow in the loss to Cleveland. They managed just 36 yards on the ground, compared to 172 for the Browns, and Burrow was sacked five times.

Evan McPherson missed a 47-yard field goal attempt and an extra point, and Cincinnati's defense allowed three second-half touchdowns after holding its opponent without a second-half TD in its first seven games.

The Browns (3-5) had lost four straight games before hosting the Bengals in front of an amped-up crowd.

"This isn't the type of team we are," Taylor said. "It's a 17-game season, and this is one game. We weren't at our best, in any phase. I'm confident that's not who we are, and we can make the corrections and flush this one away quickly."

Burrow threw an interception on Cincinnati's first drive. He also lost a fumble in the second quarter.

The Bengals finished with just 229 yards after rolling to 537 yards in a 35-17 victory over Atlanta on Oct. 23.

"We're a better offense than we put out there tonight, even without (Chase)," Burrow said.

WHAT'S WORKING

Not much, actually. The yards are getting harder to come by for Mixon on the ground, but he did stay engaged as a receiver and picked up some tough yards after his catches. He had a team-high seven receptions for 32 yards as Burrow distributed passes to nine different receivers.

WHAT NEEDS HELP

The Bengals faltered behind an offensive line that was overhauled before the season but still lacks consistency and push. Tackle Jonah Williams allowed two first-half sacks that ended drives. With Chase out, Burrow struggled to make explosive plays.

"We weren't playing collectively," said receiver Tyler Boyd, who had three catches for 38 yards and a TD. "We couldn't get that catch to get the offense going. We didn't protect Joe well. Everything was not going our way."

STOCK UP

Defensive end Sam Hubbard had nine tackles, including a sack, and two quarterback hurries. Hubbard and Trey Hendrickson are getting pressure, but the interior defensive line isn't the same without D.J. Reader and Josh Tupou, both out with injuries.

STOCK DOWN

Burrow, after throwing for a season-high 481 yards in the win over the Falcons, had a terrible game. It wasn't his worst statistically — 232 yards, two TDs and a 71.4 completion rate — but the game got out of hand quickly, and most of his production came after it was way too late.

INJURED

Awuzie's replacement, Tre Flowers, left the game with a hamstring injury. ... Hubbard may have injured his hand and was getting X-rays after the game.

KEY NUMBER

5 — Cleveland's winning streak over the Bengals, its longest over a single opponent since re-joining the NFL in 1999.

NEXT STEPS

Cincinnati has a six-day week to address myriad issues before the Carolina Panthers (2-6) come to town Sunday ahead of an off week for the Bengals. Cincinnati plays at Pittsburgh coming out of the break Nov. 20, hosts the Browns on Dec. 11 and wraps up the regular season against Baltimore Jan. 8.

Nash out as Nets coach after poor start, more controversy

By BRIAN MAHONEY

AP Basketball Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Nash is out as Brooklyn Nets coach after a disappointing start and more controversy surrounding Kyrie Irving.

The Nets announced Tuesday that they had parted ways with the Hall of Fame point guard, a day after they beat Indiana to improve to 2-5.

Nash made it to this season after Kevin Durant said he wanted him out this summer, but not much longer. The Nets have been another mess, with bad play on the court and bad headlines off it.

The biggest — again — was created by Irving, who posted a link to an antisemitic work on his Twitter page last week, drawing criticism from Nets owner Joe Tsai.

"Since becoming head coach, Steve was faced with a number of unprecedented challenges, and we are sincerely grateful for his leadership, patience and humility throughout his tenure," general manager Sean Marks said in a statement.

"Personally, this was an immensely difficult decision; however, after much deliberation and evaluation of how the season has begun, we agreed that a change is necessary at this time."

The Nets may move quickly to replace Nash. A person with knowledge of the matter said the Nets were in discussions with suspended Boston coach Ime Udoka — a former Brooklyn assistant who is not with the Celtics this season because he was found to have violated team rules by having a relationship with a female staffer within the organization. The person spoke to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity because those talks were not revealed publicly.

ESPN first reported the talks between Udoka and the Nets. The Nets said a decision on the team's next coach would be made in the near future.

Nash led the Nets to a 92-62 record and the playoffs in both full seasons, his first as an NBA coach.

But they lost Irving and James Harden to injuries during their second-round loss to Milwaukee in 2021, then were a first-round flop last season after trading Harden during the middle of the season.

Much of the Nets' problems during the latter season were caused by Irving being unavailable for most of their home games because he refused to get vaccinated for the coronavirus, as mandated at the time in New York City.

Nash handled it all as best as possible, but apparently not good enough for his best player.

Durant said he wanted to be traded this summer if the Nets didn't fire Marks and Nash, but Tsai stood by them and Durant eventually pulled back his request.

Nash downplayed that before this season began, saying he didn't believe the reports were entirely true and that they had quickly talked through their issues.

But things started poorly this season and Nash gave some of his harshest criticism of the team during his tenure after their loss to Indiana on Saturday night, calling their defensive effort a "disaster" and saying he didn't see desire or will.

"We have to look deep, deep inside ourselves and what we want to do, what we want to accomplish," Nash said.

"Do we want to give up on this because it's been difficult early, or do we want to stay the course and start to build something?"

Much of that was ignored because the focus was on Irving's combative news conference defending his tweet, and the Nets beat the Pacers in the rematch Monday to end a four-game skid.

But Nash's tenure ended anyway a day later, hours before Brooklyn is set to host Chicago. Jacque Vaughn will serve as acting head coach against the Bulls.

Tsai alluded to the constant turbulence around the team in his statement thanking Nash.

"My admiration and respect for him grew over time as he brought hard work and positive attitude to our organization every day, even in periods of exceptional storm surrounding the team," Tsai said.

Nash thanked the Tsai family and Marks for giving him the opportunity, calling the job "an amazing experience with many challenges that I'm incredibly grateful for."

Marks chose his former teammate as coach in 2020 despite no experience in the job, citing Nash's ability to be a connector of personalities as a player.

Nash was a two-time MVP with the Phoenix Suns who ended his 18-year career third on the NBA's list with 10,335 assists.

But his schemes were criticized as the Nets struggled defensively throughout his tenure and often didn't show the ball-moving style of play on offense that his Suns teams did, instead relying on Durant, Irving or Harden to isolate.

Beyond the player changes, Nash also had to adapt to changes on his bench. Mike D'Antoni, the two-time NBA Coach of the Year, stepped down as his assistant after one season, and Udoka left to become coach of the Celtics.

Tips for choosing a family pet

There are many reasons to welcome a pet into a household. Companionship, unconditional love and protection are some of the reasons people get pets. Parents also may want children to have pets so they develop a sense of caring and responsibility. When shopping for a new pet, the right fit can make all the difference. Before bringing any animal into a household, it is important to ask a few pointed questions and conduct an honest assessment of various factors that can affect the animal's well-being.

Assess budget first
Pets require different financial commitments. For example, a beta fish in a small tank will cost considerably less than a pet dog or a horse kept at a stable. Adults must consider what they can afford when it comes to pets, as each animal comes with a separate initial price tag and subsequent food and care costs.

Think about allergies
Dander, hair and feathers can trigger allergic reactions in children and adults, so certain pets may need to be avoided. Speak with a pediatrician or a veterinarian and ask for suggestions on which pets may work best.

Consider a child's developmental stage
Children younger than age five or six may not be mature enough to view the pet as something other than a toy or plaything. Before committing to a pet, particularly one that will serve as a child's companion, be honest about the child's maturity level. Some pets may have easy-going temperaments, like family-friendly dog breeds, including beagles and retrievers. A parrot with a strong nipping instinct or a skittish cat may not be the best fit until children are older.

Look at family lifestyle
Families that go on frequent vacations or are involved in many after-work or extracurricular school activities may not have enough time to devote to pets that thrive on interaction. Rather, a pet that is comfortable in a habitat or cage or one that is mostly self-sufficient might be a better fit.

Research, research, research
Before making a commitment, families should conduct significant research on the pets they are considering. This way there will be fewer surprises. Look at information regarding pet/breed temperament, genetic illness predisposition, exercise requirements, veterinary checkup schedules, and immunizations, among other factors. These recommendations can help families find pets that will thrive in their homes.

Charmed Connections

The moon and Mars have a flirtation going, each in an air sign, challenging the other to up their game, turn on the charm, test their talent for things like dry wit, coy banter and zesty conversation. Under this social sky, the digital realms will sing with fun, but the real thrill will be how easy it is to make a connection in person.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You appreciate the beauty around you when it's there. When it isn't, your talent for transformation emerges. You just can't let ugly places happen; you'll work with what's there and mold it to a beautiful configuration.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Wishing won't make it so, but it's certainly a start! In wishing, you will access a pure part of yourself, an unadulterated appetite that has to do with being a human. Act on it to better the situation.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). People who despair will say they are "fine" so as not to worry others. People who feel amazing will also say they are "fine" so as not to make others jealous. For the truth, observe language beyond the verbal.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Your physical travels mirror your mental travels. Your thoughts will take you all over the map. Every time you land someplace new, you'll recognize what led you to that spot, and which actions and thoughts inspired the journey.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). The rules aren't written in stone, and neither are the instructions or the terms of use. Everything is a negotiation. You can start the deal one way and then revisit it later to make sure it's still working for everyone involved.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Though status, strength, intelligence and glamour are certainly of interest, the most attractive quality will be playfulness. Everyone wants to get to know the person who's having fun.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Giving the wrong amount doesn't feel good. Too much seems like foolishness, and not enough is embarrassing. Find out what other people are doing. The magic formula is to give what's expected, plus 10% more.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You may not always project confidence, but it's only because you feel like you should have to. You've given your best to the people around you. It's up to them to value it. You shouldn't have to convince those who don't see it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You can only come at a relationship from your own point of view, but you acknowledge that others think differently. People will be affected by your interest and moved that you care enough to ask how they see things.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). There are better and worse methods to the goal. You want to accomplish it in a way you can be proud of. That's more important to you than doing it quickly or cheaply. You'll follow through on the intention to excellent effect.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). A foreign environment will be a part of your experience. Maybe you wouldn't have predicted it landing there, but neither are you there by accident. It's where your actions led. Whether you stay or go is also up to you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). To know the limits of your power, you'd have to push things, uncomfortably so, to find out how far you could take them before you lose control. That's the boundary. How necessary is it to know where the boundary is?

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Nov. 2). If there's anything you take seriously, it's the detrimental impact of too much seriousness. You make fun a priority, but also you often don't have to because life just brings you cheery people, exciting scenarios and intriguing puzzles to delight you. More highlights: a family addition, a team trip and a heroic move. Gemini and Libra adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 4, 38, 2, 22 and 16.

CELEBRITY PROFILES: K.D. Lang has been called an "instrument of the dharma" because of her ability to soften and open the human heart through song. Her recent release "Makeover" is aptly named for one born under the sun of transformation. Lang's natal sun, Mars and Neptune are all in Scorpio, and her moon is in the sign of the entertainer, Leo. Mercury and Venus in Libra bring the harmonious balance.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
