Sherman County Child Welfare Board Reorganizes For 1987

The Sherman County Child Welfare Board met on January 7, 1987 in the Commissioners Courtroom. Viola Kautz was elected Chairman of the Board. Lonnie Robbins, a new member, was elected vice-chairman. Laura Spurlock was elected secretary and Doris Parsons was re-elected treasurer. Other members on the Board include Mary Lou Walden, Carolyn White, LeRayne Donelson and Jo Baugh from Texhoma. Judge Frizzell is an ex-officio member of the Board. Sherry Ivey is a case worker for the Texas Department of Human Services. Sherry works out of the Dumas office. Those retiring from the Board are Wanda Ferguson and David Harker. David Harker was chosen by the Board to represent Sherman County as VOLUNTEER OF THE YEAR for Region 01 of the Texas Department of Human Services.

The Sherman County Welfare Board works closely with the personnel of the Texas Department of Human Services. Local projects include sponsoring the serves as a storehouse for non-perishable items to be given to families in need. Steve Dettle furnishes the storage space for the food items. This year Lynn Allen donated a half beef to the PANTRY. Brown's Meat Locker donated the processing. The Pantry is chaired by Leroy Judd, John Lavake, vice-president, and Joyce McBryde, secretary-treasurer. Local churches have donated food given by the members of each congrega-

The SCCWB sponsored SPIDER MAN comic inserts in the Stratford Star. The comic strip addressed sexual abuse. Other public awareness materials included Child Abuse bulletins made available by the Texas Department of Human Services. Each local church was contacted and the bulletins were distributed by local churches in their Sunday Bulletins.

The SCCWB sponsored baby sitting services for two families. One was for a high school student who needs child care for her small child while she attended school. The other was for a family who needed care for their children while the mother was in Amarillo receiving cancer treatments. Both cases have been terminated.

The SCCWB sponsors a Clothing Room. It is located at the Sherman County Court House. This past year, the room was cleaned and organized by Lynda Hauser, Doris Parsons, Oleen Judd. Mary Pool, and Joyce

The CASA program was implemented this year by Judge Sheehan. CASA is the acronym for Court Appointed Special Advocates. CASA volunteers in Sherman County include: Dick Davenport, Steve Dettle. LeRayne Donelson, Minnie Hampton, Doyle Harris, Pat Johnson, Jo June McDaniel, Dennis Plunk, Gaynelle Riffe, Pat Salmon, Tom Wade, Mary Lou Walden, and Lynn Wells. A CASA volunteer is a friend of a child during litigation. Volunteers will become involved with children in conservatorship of DHS and will make reports to the court regarding the child that has been assigned to them.

Pat Salmon, a CASA volunteer, and Viola Kautz attended the Texas Council of Child Welfare Board Conference in Austin, October 3-4, 1986. The theme was "Child Welfare Boards: The Hope of the Future." The conference featured many outstanding speakers and workshops on helping children in need. Paula Graham, Region 01 president and a native of Sunray, represented a workshop on "successful Child Welfare Projects in Rural Areas."

Schoolboard Meeting

Schoolboard met in regular session January 8th, 1987, with all members present. The board approved the minutes of the previous meeting and approved payment of December bills.

The schoolboard reviewed the operation of the school transportation system and decided to purchase two new busses for the coming school year. The two old busses will be sold at the bus auction in Abilene, Texas in May of this year. The board

Trailways

Trailways Lines, Inc. application to discontinue bus service over a route which includes Stratford was not acted upon by the Railroad Commission of Texas within 120 days of the original hearing. This lack of action gave Trailways the right to file their petition to discontinue service with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Trailways filed a petition for permission to discontinue service through Stratford and other points with the Interstate Commerce Commission on January 2, 1987.

The Chamber of Commerce has contacted the Interstate Commerce Commission and learned that interested parties may file an objection to Trailways application by sending a letter stating reasons they feel the application should be denied and service maintained.

Correspondence to the Interstate Commerce Commission should include the Docket Number MC-109780 and be addressed to Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Constitution Ave., N.W., Room 1324, Washington, D.C. 20423. Letters should reach the Interstate Commerce Commission before January 22. A copy of the letter should also be sent to Rebecca Patton, Attorney for Petitioner, Trailways Lines, Inc., 13760 Noel Road, Dallas, Texas 75240.

Editors Note: This article was taken out of the Sunday, December 21, 1986 Edition of The Dallas Morning News, and was written by David L. Marcus, Staff Writer for the Dallas Morning News.

Stratford, Texas- Here in the "Tip Top Town in Texas," there is one school, one bank, one doctor, one drugstore and, at least for now, one bus line.

Trailways Lines, as part of a massive cutback of services in the West and Midwest, wants to abandon the bus route that runs from Amarillo to Denver and back. That would sever Stratford's six daily links with the rest of the world and leave this Panhandle town without mass transportation.

It's going to isolate us out here," said Mayor Leland Lewis, who is the manager and the only paid employee of the Stratford Ambulance Service. "We're sitting up in the top end of Texas, kind of cut off from the world," he said. "I don't think we really realize the impact this is going to have on us."

Executives of Trailways, based in Dallas, said that the decision wasn't easy but that it was the only sensible choice. The company figures the Amarillo-Denver route loses more than $431,000 a year. Usually, one-third of the seats are empty. On a good day, a dozen packages leave Stratford and one person boards there.

"We think they ought to have service, and we would love to give it to them," said Malcolm Myers, vice president of traffic for the company. "The question is, who can afford it and who is going to pay for it?"

The abandoned routes would be the latest in a series that has cut off small towns from bus service and

Files Petition same-day parcel delivery. Trailways intends to pull out of Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska Nevada, Utah and South Dakota entirely, and scale down routes in Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona and California. Two Texas towns--

Stratford and nearby Dumas-

would be dropped.

The cutbacks, which still must be approved by regulatory agencies in Texas and other states, would start in a few months. But with petitions and letters, residents of many of the towns have been fighting the changes.

For Trailways, millions of dollars are at stake. For hundreds of towns, the stakes aren't expressed in dollars as much as in convenience and self-image. Stratford, for example, has no airport and hasn't had passenger rail service for more than 20 years. But there is the comfort of knowing the buses will rumble into the depot, which is actually Nina Fedric's back yard, seven days a week.

If Trailways leaves, passengers will be able to catch Greyhound buses at Dumas, 34 miles to the south. United Parcel Service, Mistletoe Express and Beaver Express would continue to drop off packages here.

Still, small-town life would change, though the difference might be imperceptible to outsiders. In La Junta, Colo., Marie Wilson, who has a bad eye, would be deprived of transportation to her doctor 64 miles away in Pueblo. Hospital administrators in the rural stretches of southeast Colorado rely on Trailways for quick, inexpensive shipments from blood banks.

In Stratford, Gayland Vandiver, a pharmacist, would no longer be able to phone his supplier in Amarillo and pay $4.05 for each emergency shipment. Just a few weeks ago, he called and three hours later received a package of Chloramphenicol for a patient with pneumonia that resisted other antibiotics.

And life would be different for Mayor Lewis when he wants to see his granddaughters, Carla and Misty. most months, they board the Trailways bus in Amarillo and arrive in Stratford for a weekend visit.

Like many other people in town, the mayor understands Trailways position. Gasoline has been cheap, which has encouraged people with cars to drive. Direct one-hour flights from Amarillo to Denver cost as little as $89. Trailways costs $69, stops in a dozen cities and takes 10 hours and 20 minutes.

"I think probably it's going to be a lost cause for Lewis said. "I think they've got a valid argument for discontinuing service.

Stratford, 18 miles south of the Oklahoma border, derives most of its income from the farms and ranches that ring the 2-block-long downtown. Like other towns in the region, Stratford is too pinched to consider giving money to a bus company. The population has dropped from a high of 2,600 in the mid-1970s to 1,800 this year. One of the two grocery stores closed this fall.

Four years ago, Trailways abandoned a Texhoma-to--Amarillo route that passed through Stratford and nearby towns. In other parts of Texas, Trailways biggest competitor, Greyhound Bus Lines, dropped service to 47 towns two years ago. Many of those communities no longer have mass transporta-

Along the routes, townsfolk haven't simply shrugged their shoulders and given in.

In Colorado, 2,000 residents signed petitions demanding that the Colorado Public Utilities Commission reject Trailways request to pull out. The company wants to jettison 162 cities and towns, only 40 of which are served by Greyhound and local bus companies. Amtrak stops at just nine of the towns.

Last week, the Colorado Public Utilities Commission denied Trailways request to pull out. But when the commission recently turned down three other requests from Trailways, the ICC ruled in favor of Trailways all three times.

In Stratford, 70 residents and businesses filed protests with the Railroad Commission of Texas in an effort to put the brakes on Trailways plans. Town leaders asked that an Oct. 2 hearing before the railroad commission's examining officer be moved from Austin to Stratford.

At the hearing, Susie Spurlock of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said she depended on Trailways for same-day delivery of educational materials. Duane Pittman of the C&D Body Shop testified about receiving emergency parts for drivers who otherwise would be marooned in Stratford overnight. Zelda Pickens, Sherman County tax assessor and collector, said she shipped voter registration materials to a data processing company in Fort Worth.

Several of the speakers said Trailways was more reliable than other shippers they had tried. Myers and Trailways attorney Becky Patton showed up with a sheaf of printouts of figures about essentials of the bus business: fully allocated costs, variability ratios, average express revenues a mile, and so on.

Trailways would need a subsidy of at least $1.3 million to cover all its costs and recoup a 20 percent profit, Myers said.

The company convinced the examining officer, Ronald D. Stutes. Although ending the service would be "an unfortunate blow to the community," he wrote, "no hardship or difficulty was demonstratted which did not seem likely to be overcome by resilient citizens after a period of adjustment." The bit about "resilient citizens" rankled some in town. The Stratford Chamber of Commerce discussed hiring a lawyer and pressing for another hearing but decided that would be too costly.

Stratford received an unexpected boost Dec. 1, when the Railroad Commission rejected the hearing officer's findings. "I think

FmHA Offices Combined To Serve Moore, Sherman & Hutchinson Counties

Recent restructuring of Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) offices in the state has made it necessary to make a number of changes in the county and sub-county office locations and the headquarters offices servicing various counties, J. LYNN FUTCH, FmHA State Director at Temple, Texas

The FmHA loans previously serviced out of the Stratford County Office for Sherman and Moore Counties, have been combined with Hutchinson County with the headquarters to be located in Moore County, Dumas, Texas. The Dumas County Office will now service Moore, Sherman and Hutchinson Counties. The Dumas County Office headquarters will remain in District 1 is located in Amarillo, Texas.

Combining the County offices will not affect individual loan customers with FmHA, Futch added. The Dumas, Moore County headquarters office will be open full-time and Sherman County will have a designated office day. The Sherman Sub-office will be in Stratford, Texas at the Sherman County Courthouse, on Thursday of each week. They are serviced by the county office personnel at Dumas, which consist of Mr. Philip Clayton, County Supervisor, and Mrs. Rhonda Lewis, County Office Assistant. The County office in Dumas is located at 600 E. 1st, in the North Plains Savings and Loan Building, Room 14 and 16. The phone number is (806) 935-4107.

The Farmers Home Administration is a rural credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It makes loans available to farmers and other rural and small town people and groups of people, including local Government, unable to secure credit elsewhere.

Loans are made for housing, agriculture purposes and for a variety of community facilities. In addition, FmHA, under

Ruth Adams

Ruth Adams, 62, died Wednesday, January 7. Services were held at 11 a.m. Saturday in the Assembly of God Church with the Rev. Lonny Robbins, pastor, and the Rev. Kenneth Metzger, pastor of First United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Stratford Cemetery by Morrison Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Adams was born at Drexel, Mo., and moved to Stratford 45 years ago. She owned and operated a child care nursery. She was a member of Assembly of God Church. Her husband, J.L., died in 1979.

Survivors include a son, Alvin of Bryan's Corner, Okla.; a daughter, Alta Mae Anderson of Midwest City, Okla.; a brother, Homer Blake of Stratford; a sister, Jean Smith of Stratford; five grandchildren; and three great; grandchildren.

before we discontinue service, we need to think about how we provide service for those people," Commissioner Mack Wallace said after the meeting. Tom Kissell, Trailways vice president for public relations, said Trailways would appeal, probably to the Interstate Commerce Commission, which has the final say. The company would consider changing its plans if local governments offer subsidies to offset losses, he said. The company would even consider continuing the routes if it could break even, he said. Trailways executives say it is too early to tell whether depot managers and bus drivers will lose their jobs or be reassigned if routes are terminated. Many Trailways drivers say they can't figure out what's down the road for them. Joe Sprayberry of Amarillo, a driver who has been stopping at Stratford since 1960 doesn't want to think about the time when he won't hear air brakes hissing below him.

At age 67, he is eight years from retirement. He likes to show people a card honoring his safety record: More than 2.7 million miles and not even a dinged fender.

He fondly remembered the 1960's, when the fleet was almost spotless, the tires were adorned with huge white-walls and passengers received hot meals, magazines and fluffy pillows. The way he sees it, low gas prices and air fares aren't the only things dismantling rural bus service. He also blames reduced farm populations

Virginia Mae Weller 52, died Saturday, January 10. Services were held Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the First Baptist Church with her brother the Rev. Jess Little, pastor of First Baptist Church of Quitaque, and the Rev. Darrell Lewis, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Stratford Cemetery by Morrison Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Weller, born in Cee Vee, was a graduate of Dalhart High School. She had been a resident of South Pasadena, Calif., for the past 30 years and was a member of Trinity Baptist Church. She was preceded in death by her husband, Robert Dale, in 1986.

Survivors include her father H. L. Little of Stratford and her brother.

'Now everybody that can own a Japanese automobile can file for a permit to haul packages," he said.

In Stratford, some residents have doubts about Trailways committment. "I don't know why they feel they have to run three round trips a day or none. Why can't they drop just one or, two?" said Vandiver, the pharmacist.

Bus companies have found that they must offer frequent service to attract customers. said Myers, who oversees Trailways routes. Besides, he said, if there is sufficient business in Stratford, a smaller bus line with less overhead will snap up the

"Down the line as long as there is a demonstrated need, as long as some carrier can break even, there will be service," Myers said, "Anywhere we can make a buck, we will run, or else somebody else will."

Pulling out of Dumas and Stratford would affect 0.5 percent of Trailways annual mileage in Texas, Kissell said. "Texas has been great. We are still going strong here, and ridership has been great, except for those two towns," he said.

Towns that lose bus service from the big companies often learn that other bus lines aren't quick to follow. Two years ago, after Greyhound pulled out of Weimar and nearby South Texas towns, Mayor Tommy Brasher, railroad commissioners and others gathered for a celebration when a small bus company resurrected part of the route. The celebrating didn't last long. The company stopped service after six months, and

In Stratford, the major, Chamber of Commerce leaders and others are almost resigned to the end of Trailways service. And they don't expect a replacement to come rolling in. Times have changed ro rural America.

A symbol of that came Oct. 2 with the arrival of Myers and Ms. Patton, the Trailways representatives. They flew from Dallas to Amarillo. Then they rented a car and drove to Stratford. With back-to-back hearings in different cities, Myers said, he was on a tight schedule.

"I didn't have time to take Trailways," he said. "It was an exception to the way I usually travel.'

SCOT Notes

A happy howdy friends & neighbors! It is such a pleasure to offer congratulations to Rev. and Mrs. R.T. Dyess on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. Our opinion is that our S.C.O.T. community is the loser by not being informed of this particular Golden Wedding Anniversary and tendering Lola & Raymond a "bang up" party. Most likely there is no couple in Sherman Co. who has touched more lives in this locality-the touch of "goodness" than these lovely people have. They are still serving our community in many ways-we are amazed at the number of times that they pop-up nearly always pinch-hitting. The Dyess's connection with Morrison Funeral Directors is only one example of how they continue to serve this area. We apologize for our personal carelessness Lola & Raymond, but assure you of our abiding love and appreciation. You bring joy

The Zak-Flores wedding is a thought stimulating event since the marriage weds two pioneer families of Sherman County-both Lisa and Mike are fifth generation folks. On the bride's side-S.B. Fedric was the father of Byron Fedric; Matie Bell Jacobs is Bryron's daughter; her daughter is Rita Zak, mother of Lisa. The grooms linage begins with Peter Flores, father of Tim whose son is Wendell. In turn Joe Pete is Wendell's son and father of Mike. Congratulations, young people!

We met Mildred Crabtree in Dumas lately. She told us that she is happy and busy about the Lord's work. Her winning smile and alert eye assures all that she is well. Bless you, Mildred.

We trust you read the article "Let's Join in Prayer" which appears in the Stratford Star each week. The article this last issue introduced the readers to the Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Rev. Derrel D.

Lewis, and the kind of preaching we Baptist People are exposed to in listening to our newly-called pastor. Mrs. Betty Lewis is the same "caliber" as her husband and our people are already in love with them. We think it fitting to tell readers that our love & prayers follow our former pastor Rev. and Mrs. Goad to their new pastorate at Spur, Tex. The Goads chose to go from us and the Lord called the Lewis's to us. So, all is well with both churches.

Scotter's attending the Birthday party were Gladys Arnold, Robbie Yates, Bertha Oquin, Evelyn Cooper, Corda Pleyer, Minnie Reeder, Elsie Pickens, Lillie Galloway-the birthday girl--Dicy and Max Stephenson, Georgia Cook, Elsie and Bill Lasley, Kathleen King, Marie and Ed Hill and Timmie Brown. We enjoyed a lively, sociable evening. We missed a number of regular attendants due to "under-the-weatherness" and cold weather.

We trust our sick folks are recovering nicely Olive Boston remains in Dumas Hospital. Dovie Fedric is in High Plains. We are happy to say that her medical report is hopeful. We send love and best wishes to these

Our community is saddened by the deaths of Ruth Adams and Virginia Mae (Little) Weller. Earlier in the years Ruth's husband, J. L. Adams, was an employee of Joe Brown's "Fine Food Store and our families forged a friendship that has existed between the remaining family member through the years. Similar church-ties exist between the Little and Brown families. Jesse grew up in the Baptist Church in Stratford and Mrs. Little, the mother of Virginia Mae, was a Sunday School Class member with us. H.L. is now in one of the Men's S.S. classes. We include S.C.O.T church and personal love and prayer support to these sorrowing families.

Guest, Sunday, of the Baskin Browns included H.L. Little and Chester and Juanita Grant of Hooker, Ok. The Grants are friends of the Browns as well as in-law relatives of Mr. Little. Betty and Baskin had planned a belated Christmas dinner for our family. When the opportunity to aid grieving friends came up, they just stretched the dinner table to include these friends, resulting in a truly Christ-filled occasion. We had a wonderful time. Family members present were Jim Bob, Patty and Ashley, (son et al) grandson, Blair Brown, and mother, Timmie Brown.

written by Derrel D. Lewis, Pastor of First Baptist Principle #2 The Body of Christ-Text 1 Cor. 12:12-2 A very unique thing happened to believers on the day of Pentecost and has continued and will continue until the Lord comes to call out the church. [1 Thess. 4:13-17]. On that day the believers were spiritually baptized into one body, the church, also referred to as the bride of Christ. This is what Paul is discussing in our text as he goes on to show that there is a need and a place for each of us within the body. In illustrating this truth he uses the human body and shows we can not all be an eye or hand but must be what God has chosen us to be [Cor. 12:18] This leads to several conclusions: [1] That one of us should not be jealous of another's place. [2] That we should not be critical of how another functions if we ourselves do not fully know how we ought to function. [3] That we are not to have the place of our choice in the church, but the place where God chooses. [4] That the work of a Christian is to be channeled through the body, the church and [5] That the body, the church, is crippled when members fail to function, just like our physical body is crippled if a leg fails to function.

Many say "I can live outside the church as I can in it". That may sound good and soothe one's conscience, but it is not true! For a Christian to stay out of church is a direct act of disobedience to Christ [Heb. 10:25]. For a Christian to stay out of church is to act as if he or she knew more what is right than God does. To substitute other things such as the electronic church. home study groups, bleeding hearts organizations, treats, communes, dialogue groups and seminars, is a deliberate act of trying to dodge God's obvious plan. Those things are all good in their proper place, but they are no substitute for God's order, the church. The excuses church members give are but examples of how cheap they have sold out their testimony and witness testimony and witness wor-

GFWC Prospectus Study Club met January 9 in the home of Oline Caraway with Joyce Ann Lasley co-hostess. Marty Bain, Conservation Department Chairman showed the film "Hazardous Waste and the Future''. Mrs. Bain asked club members to fill out a questionaire on our opinions concerning the treatment of hazardous waste. She stated that hazardous waste is everybody's problem and each of us should get involved. She handed out phamphlets, including "Hazardous Waste From Homes which was an eye opener. Nail polish remover, rubbing alcohol, perfumes, after shaves, tub & tile cleaner bottles should be rinsed and flushed down the drain before being put in the trash. Gun-cleaning solvents, shoe dye, etc. should be delivered to a hazardous waste collection program. Gardeners and farmers should read carefully directions for insectisides. Men Turning 26 In 1987 Reach An Important Milestone

The Selective Service System has announced that men who will reach their 26th birthday in 1987 are reaching an important mile-

Beginning on Jan. 1, 1987, men who were required to register with selective service in 1981 will be turning 26. Selective service does not have the authority to accept registrations after age 26. By failing to register before turning 26, a young man will have permanently forfeited his right to certain benefits including Federal student aid, Job Training and Federal employment. In addition to these Federal benefits, some states require registration for State student aid, entrance to a state supported college or university, state employment and permission to practice law.

Many of the 25-year-olds who have still not registered may be unaware of the requirement or do not understand the importance of the obligation to register. Some may even have served in the Military but failed to register either before entering the armed forces or after leaving active duty. Others may have been institutionalized or incarcerated at the time of their 18th birthday and not realized that they were required to register if released prior to age 26.

For those men born in 1961 who have registered, 1987 also marks the year that ends their eligibility for selection for induction under present law should there be a return to the draft. Over 17 million men, age 18 through 25 have registered with selective service since registration was reinstituted in 1980. These men comprise over 97 percent of those required to register.

Men age 18 to 25 who have not yet registered still have a chance to avoid of prosecution and loss of benefits by registering promptly at any local post office. Failure to register is a felony punishable by a fine of up to $250,000, up to 5 years in jail, or both.

DENNIS DAVIS, CHIEF OF FOLICE STRATFORD FOLICE DEPARTMENT

OBITUARY

Charles J. Brown

Charles J. Brown died at his home in Texhoma, Tuesday.

Funeral services were held from the United Methodist Church in Texhoma at 2 p.m., January 3 with Jan Putnam officiating. Burial Texhoma was in the Cemetery with Masonic graveside services.

He was born in Pleasant Green, Utah, July 2, 1897. He moved with his parents to Alberta, Canada when he was four years old. He came to Texhoma area in 1928 where he worked on ranches in the area.

He was married to Roxie Anna Parsons at Guymon, October 12, 1931. She preceded him in death in After moving to Texhoma he opened a Seed and Feed Store and delivered freight until about two years ago, when he retired.

He was a member of the Texhoma Masonic Lodge, the consistory at Guthrie, the Royal Arch Masons of Guymon and the Order of Eastern Star in Texhoma.

He served in the Canadian Army in World War 1.

Survivors include one step-son, Kenneth Parsons of Mojave, Calif; one sister, Nora Schow of Magena, Utah and one brother, Austin Brown of Basalt, Arrangements were under direction of Dawson-Welch Funeral Home of Texhoma.

The family has established a memorial for the United Methodist Church of Texho-

The Girl Scout Cookie Sale has been going on for half a century. Funds which are raised by the Girl Scouts through this sale funds troop activities, council events, program resources, camping equipment and camping programs.

For those who are desiring another can of the delicious Girl Scout Nuts, more are available. You may have them delivered by calling 396-5852, or 396-5907.

Cookie sales also introduce the girls to the world of business, learning how to set goals, market and, deliver their product. They must meet deadlines, be responsible for money and other obligations. Your support is sincerely requested and gratefully acknowledged as our girls participate in their 1987 cookie drive. Cookies will be delivered in the month of March, and collections made upon deli-
