OIL AS A CAREER

Oil... today as yesterday... offers one of the most promising and rewarding careers for young people. It is a growth industry, with a continuously expanding market. Its beginning salaries, in most categories, are well above the all-industry average. And it is a stable industry, which is much less sensitive than are many others to economic fluctuations.

Yet there is a serious shortage of qualified young people taking up careers in oil. As an example, the number of petroleum engineers graduating from the universities each year is actually less than the natural turnover due to retirement, death and other causes.

Engineers, of course, represent just one of the industry's needs. Typical oil companies offer opportunities in just about every field of human knowledge and endeavor... accountants, advertising people, programmers, chemists, geologists, geophysicists, mathematicians, personal specialists, real estate men, safety experts, tax attorneys, librarians and so on.

The young person of suitable interest, talents and education who chooses oil for a career does wisely. The latest technological equipment is at their fingertips... the average oil company has an investment of $60,000 for each employee. And the future is virtually unlimited.

A TREASURE CHEST

As the head of the American Petroleum Institute has said, "... a barrel of crude oil is a veritable treasure chest." The scientists have developed the amazing total of some 2,500 different products from oil and oil derivatives. They run the gamut from cosmetics to toys, rubber goods to fabrics, anti-corrosives to agricultural sprays, detergents and medicines. Yet this is only the beginning. It is believed that there may be as many as a million different molecules in crude oil—and each is a potential building block for a new product.

In addition to all this, the demand for energy, of which petroleum is a prime source, seemingly has no limits, either here or abroad. The emerging nations, such as those of Africa, will need ever-rising supplies of oil as their civilizations develop and they gradually build their living standards.

Thus, the oil industry... and those who make their careers within it... can confidently look forward to a bright and demanding future... a future filled with challenge and opportunity. The most will have to be made of the world's oil resources. And that is exactly what is being done in this country now. Today, due to advanced recovery techniques and enlightened conservation measures, oilmen can recover as much as 80 per cent of the oil in a reservoir, where a few decades ago as little as 20 per cent was all that could be produced.

The story of today's world is, to a very imposing extent, the story of oil.

Randy Bates Doesn't Believe That Artificial Limb Is A Handicap

Editor's Note: The following article appeared recently in the Plainview daily newspaper, about Randy Bates, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bates of Plainview, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Gunn Medford, 6 North 2nd St., Haskell.

Don't tell Randy Bates that he is handicapped... he would not believe you.

His mischievous brown eyes, his impish grin, all baffle the fact that this 4 ft., 4 inch, 72-pound linebacker has an artificial leg.

Tuesday and Thursday afternoons he peddles to the practice field on a battered red bicycle where an hour and a half of workouts await him and the 81 other boys participating in the Plainview Optimist Club's Tiger football program.

Four teams compose the league, each team borrowing its name from a professional football club such as the Green Bay Packers, Baltimore Colts, and Cleveland Browns. The object of the program, limited to sixth grade boys, is "not to make a football hero out of an 11-year-old boy, but to instill in him the fundamentals of football and good sportsmanship," stresses Optimist President Bill Senning.

If football pants did not end below the knee, Randy's coach might have never known that his right leg, from just below the knee, on scratches instead of scars, and never bleeds.

Randy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bates, Utica Apts., No. 16, Plainview, went through the pre-season registration line undetected. It wasn't until his coach noticed the leg at practice that Optimist officials had to look at their motto, "It's not the disability, but the ability that counts," and ask the question, "Can a boy with an artificial leg play football?"

Senning gave them their answer after he saw Randy work out. "When I saw him can a few of the other boys, there was no doubt in my mind that he could and should play football." Since then, Randy has been racking up and taking his share of blocks and tackles. He asks no special consideration and gives none.

After knocking Randy off his feet with a solid block, a teammate came by and quipped: "I got you that time." Randy's reply was a look that said in a friendly way, "Just come through here one more time."

A quiet, polite boy, Randy addresses older men as "Sir" and listens attentively when a coach offers him advice. "He is very cooperative, but the amazing thing is that he has the courage to get out here and play," relates one coach.

If the coach knew him better, he wouldn't be surprised. Courage has been Randy's constant companion since he was born with a defect that damaged the nerves to the lower parts of his body.

Since he was ten months old, he has undergone 24 surgeries, most of them major. At one point, when he was 14 months old, he was paralyzed from the waist down and doctors doubted that he would ever walk. Braced from his toes to his waist, Randy was walking in two months.

The list of hospitals he has been treated in reads on and on, and includes Baylor, Parkland, and Scottish Rites in Dallas. "Up until this year, the hospitals had him more than we did," says his parents.

The leg is relatively new and was built by Hedgecock of Dallas. The upper part is solid, but from the ankle on, it is made of a flexible material to give it a more natural foot action. It straps on the thigh and must be adjusted every six months to compensate for growth.

What do his parents think about him playing football? "We are glad he can. We can't think of him as being handicapped." He is normal, they report, and helps around the house, "only when he has to."

His only hobbies are sports, and he plays Little League baseball. Surprisingly enough, he plays the outfield and second base.

How does Randy feel about his leg? "I can't run too fast, but..." sums up his attitude.

Weinert Loses To Hobbs 38-16

Tommy Lay scored three second half TD's to lead Hobbs to a come-from-behind 38-16 victory over Weinert in non-district six-man action Friday night at Hobbs.

Lay romped on touchdown runs of 50, 10 and 47 yards and kicked extra points after four Hobbs markers. Larry Cunningham led the Weinert attack, scoring on touchdown runs of 50 and 19 yards in the first and second quarters.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rotan, Texas
October 16, 1965

Dear Editor: Your answer should be NO Tuesday, Nov. 2, on Constitutional Amendments numbers 4, 9 and 10. Number 4 is to provide for a four year term of office for governor, Lt. Governor and other state officials. No other state provides a four year term for its governor or permits him to succeed himself, except New York State and it is on the verge of repealing its law in 1966.

No. 9 allows the legislature to set salaries for the Lt. Governor and Speaker of the House. Presently, by Constitution, this is $4800 per annum and $12 per day for expenses. This salary is for all year around for two years and they usually serve only five months out of two years (good salaries for staying home 19 months). In addition, they are provided with an apartment, two maids, and all utilities paid. The governor is now provided with a brand new airplane, a pilot, a beautiful mansion, free help other things.

Number 10 provides a four year term for representatives. When the present lawmakers and other officials ran for their office, they were all anxious to get it on that two year basis. We can judge them on their records and such laws as they passed this year, mainly changing the criminal code, which left most prosecuting attorneys very much confused, especially about drinking drivers. They now claim you cannot take their driver's license away from them, which they fear more than the jail sentence or a heavy fine. Worst of all no arresting peace officer will be able to take a statement from the criminal and they must have the Justice of the Peace or some other officer right on the spot to take their statement at any hour of the day or night at any distance. Some lawmakers who just met in Fort Worth this week said this law must be rewritten. Representative Dudley Mann said, "Undoubtedly the law has loop holes." We need a well written and a well enforced law which

60 YEARS AGO (October 21, 1905)

Mr. W. M. Sager for whom the town of Sagerton was named, was on the streets of Haskell Monday. Mr. Sager is an old frontiersman, having come to this section of the state in the 70's, and knew the country when it was the home of the Buffalo and antelope.

Mr. C. M. Brown of the Marcy community, was in town, Tuesday, and said that cotton on his place was late but that it was heavily loaded with bolls and with a late, open fall would make a good yield.

Mr. R. W. Williams was in town Thursday and arranged to solicit for the Home Helping Society, the new mutual assessment insurance society organized by Haskell people.

Mr. T. L. Lemons returned a few days ago from a trip to Seymour. He says cotton and other crops still in evidence in the fields from here to Seymour are magnificent. On many of the farm gates he saw cards bearing the inscription: "Cotton Pickers Wanted."

The meetings that has been in progress at the Christian Church, closed Thursday night. There were 20 additions to the church.

Mr. P. J. Pollard of the west side was in town Monday.

Mr. H. C. Buie says it strikes him that a regular sales day on the first Monday of the month at Haskell would be a good thing, as it would give people wanting to buy horses and other things an opportunity to see what was for sale in that line and enable them to make choice of what suited them, and, of course, at the same time bring sellers in contact with interested buyers. Mr. W. D. Koome said he thought a "First Monday" would be a great benefit for the town and community.

Everyone from the country who has family relics, or curios, or anything of interest to exhibit them at the county fair.

Haskell Young Homemakers View The Latest In Fashions At Style Show

Tuesday, October 12, the Haskell Young Homemakers were entertained with a style show presented by Mrs. Robert Wheatley of the C&B Store.

The theme for the style show was "Holiday Apparel for Children" and the models for the show were the homemakers' own children which made the program even more delightful to most of the mothers attending. Mrs. Wheatley showed the very latest in fall fashions for both boys and girls from tiny tots to school age children.

Immediately following the style show the regular business session was held with Mrs. Jimmy Browning, presiding. Mrs. David Frieron reported to the club on the afternoon Area IV Meeting in Abilene on September 25, and Mrs. Ray Bertrand reported on the awards banquet that was held that night.

Mrs. Raymond Bennett then presented the club members with their new 1965-66 year-books.

Mrs. A. G. Peiser reported that the bake sale and display at the County Fair were a big success and that most of the members participated in this project. Three Young Homemaker members won blue ribbons in the fair competition. They were Mrs. Alexander Campbell, A. G. Peiser and Elton Klose.

Membership Chairman, Mrs. Bobby Jenkins, reported the membership drive is proving successful. The kick-off coffee held after the Monday football game, Sept. 24, had 43 members and visitors present.

Mrs. Duward Campbell reminded the club of the Halloween Social to be held Thursday, October 28, at 7:30 p. m., in the Homemaking Cottage.

Mrs. Browning also announced that Lane-Felker is planning a style show to be presented to Young Homemakers and their husbands on Monday, Nov. 15. When the business meeting was adjourned the members and guests enjoyed refreshments and visitation in the living room of the cottage. Hostesses for the afternoon were: Mrs. Jon Jameson and A. G. Peiser.

The next regular meeting of the Young Homemakers will be November 9, at 4:15 p. m. in the Homemaking Cottage. The program will be "The Importance of God in the Home with Young Children," by Douglas Finch. Anyone interested in Young Homemakers is invited to attend.

South Side Baptist Chapel W.M.U. Circle Meets

The Southside Baptist Chapel met Tuesday at 9:30 a. m., with the president, Mrs. Roy Alexander in charge. Prayer was offered by Mrs. J. A. Cain.

During the business session, the name, "Howard D. Olive," was selected as a name for the circle, honoring workers in the Philippines.

Mrs. Nerva Oates and Mrs. Belle Merchant gave an interesting interview on needs and situations of missionary work in Brazil. Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Ethel Alvis brought information on native and social activities and how they were practiced. Mrs. Oates gave the first chapter on the book of Brazil.

Present for the meeting were eight listed members from the circle: Mrs. Colene Moody, Stockton, Nuckles, Alvis, Lewis, Hodge, Alexander, Cain, and three visitors, and members, Mrs. Jack Merchant, Nerva Oates, the General Mission Study Chairman, and Belle Merchant, the General Community Mission Chairman.

DOLLIE LOUISE NORTON

Dollie Louise Norton and Lieut. Leslie Theodore Havens to Wed November 26

Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Norton, formerly of Haskell, now residing in Bentonville, Arkansas, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dollie Louise, to Lt. Leslie Theodore Havens, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Havens, of Wichita, Kansas.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Haskell High School, and is currently employed by Daisy Manufacturing Co., of Rogers, Arkansas. The groom is a graduate of Cedarville high school, Cedarville, Ark., and a graduate of the University of Arkansas. He is at present stationed in San Antonio.

The wedding date is set for Friday, Nov. 26th.

Retiring Custodian Joe W. Massie Is Honored By Courthouse Personnel

Cake and coffee were served in the commissioners' courtroom last Friday afternoon, with linen and silver and china on the courtroom table. But it wasn't a festive occasion, for an era had come to an end, and a good man was bowing out. Courthouse personnel were taking this means of saying, "We hate to see you go," and "Thanks for everything."

During the morning Joe W. Massie, courthouse custodian for the past 14 years, had stopped by the various offices to say that it was his last day on the job—although he really hated to leave. But having already reached the age of 81, he had decided that he "couldn't do the job like it ought to be done," and would just let someone else take over.

Few of the workers in the courthouse had been around as long as Mr. Massie had, but all had learned to appreciate his clean offices and hallways, and all appreciated his concern for everyone's welfare. Word spread quickly among courthouse personnel and soon plans were well under way for a 4:00 o'clock come-and-go coffee, and a gift of appreciation in his honor.

At the appointed time, Sheriff Garrett sought him out and asked if he knew anything about "that broken window in the commissioners' courtroom, and all that glass on the floor." True to habit, Mr. Massie went immediately to see about it, and walked right in on the surprise party in his honor. Then his wife was there, and they were given seats of honor facing the bigiced cake with the inscription "In appreciation, Mr. and Mrs. Massie." Beside it lay a gift-wrapped package which contained a gift certificate.

Soon the air was filled with the sound of conversation and the aroma of hot coffee, as other courthouse folk joined

By MRS. DELBERT LEFEVRE

Another slow rain fell in this community Sunday evening and early Monday morning, with no hail. The cotton harvest was halted again, but as long as the rain falls slowly and with no hail or high winds, the cotton will not be hurt a lot.

The home of Mrs. Clarence Tichelmann was the scene of a covered dish luncheon and meeting of the L.O.C. Home Demonstration Club Thursday, October 14.

After the meal, Mrs. Fred Kupatt, president, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Delbert LeFevre had the opening exercise. Mrs. Herbert Stremmel was recognized as a guest.

The main business was the election of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Leonard Kieke was elected president, Mrs. John Tichelmann, vice president; Mrs. Delbert LeFevre, secretary-treasurer and reporter; Mrs. Clarence Tichelmann, council delegate, with Mrs. Gene Tichelmann as alternate. Mrs. Fred Kupatt, recreation chairman, and Mrs. Herbert Nierdieck, card chairman for the year.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. John Tichelmann on Nov. 4.

Homemakers Attend State Fair In Big "D"

Sixteen members of the Future Homemakers of America attended the State Fair Saturday, October 16. Their sponsors were Mrs. E. Jeter and Mrs. W. P. McCollum.

The group left at 4:00 p. m. They had breakfast in Fort Worth. At approximately 9:00 a. m., they arrived at the Fair grounds. Maps were distributed at the information booth. Each girl was in a group which was to report to the Hall of State three times during the day. The girls had lunch and dinner on the Fair grounds.

While they were there, the girls were required to see a style show, a demonstration on food preparation, and a make-up demonstration called "Let's Face It." They were also required to see the model kitchens and latest appliances in the Electric Building and the Natural Gas Building.

During the day there were performances on the open air Mobil Stage near Big Tex. There were many other free attractions including a circus under the big top tent. At the midway, the girls rode such things as the roller coaster, the Himalaya, the Mouse, the Flash and the Rocoplane. At 6:45 p. m., they saw the "Parade of the Americas."

By 7:30 p. m., the morning eagerness was gone. It was obvious that they were ready for home after thinking of their aching feet and taking one look in the mirror.

AIR FORCE NEEDS GERMAN SHEPHERDS
LACKLAND AFB, Texas — The Air Force's urgent need for German Shepherds to be trained at the U. S. Air Force Sentry Dog School was sharply pointed up recently when fifty Lackland-trained sentry dog teams left in the second such shipment to Viet Nam.

Since the 50 teams were drawn from their bases of assignment throughout the United States, the school has the task of replacing them. The Animal Procurement Branch at Lackland, which supplies the school with dogs, needs "a thousand German Shepherd dogs as soon as possible," according to base officials.

Owners of German Shepherds who wish to donate or sell their dogs for sentry dog duty are urged to contact the Animal Procurement Branch at Lackland AFB, Texas.

Boys making the trip were Sam Stone, Charles Gibson, Clinton Callaway, Steve Cothron, Keith Chapman, Harold Hodge, Kelly Adkins, Bennie Harvey, Ray Howell, Roger Wilson, Billy Dumas, Joe Cothron, David Hightower, John Martinez, Bruce Young, Charles Andrews, Don Gammill and James Reding.

The boys visited the poultry, sheep, agriculture, dairy and World booths.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Hinds and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hinds, of Cleman, visited here this week with Mr. and Mrs. Al Hinds and Mr. and Mrs. Jetty V. Clark.

PAINT CREEK . . . COMMUNITY NEWS

BY MRS. GENE OVERTON

Sunday night and early Monday morning rains are becoming a habit. Our gauge showed 2 1/2 inches this morning, and the roads are terrible again. This rain stopped the cotton harvest, the wheat sowing, and all other farm work, except machinery repair. But at least the forecast for hail here didn't materialize. When the Abilene weather man said hail was forecast for the Haskell area Sunday night, Gene nearly had a nervous breakdown. But the predicted 60-mile-an-hour wind didn't blow, and the hail didn't fall, and it was just a nice steady 2 1/2 inch rain all night.

BULLS OUT - GAIN STEERS IN TESTS AT BEEVILLE

By F. W. Martin, County Agent

In an experiment designed by Texas A&M University to compare feedlot performance and carcass characteristics of young bulls and young steers, the bulls out-gained the steers and required less feed per pound of gain. The study was conducted at Texas A&M University's Coastal Bend Experiment Station, Beeville.

NORTH SIDE SQUARE

The Good Earth

MRS. B. F. COBB

Members of the Haskell Club, Mrs. Gene, Mrs. Ly Warren and Mrs. Earl Atkinson visited the lovely home of Mrs. B. F. Cobb.

Large china and mesquite trees cast their shadow over two rock bordered flower beds. Joseph coat and purple girls wandering Jew make a bright splash of color as they twine among the rocks. Here again driftwood makes its appearance—interesting pieces among flower beds and tables throughout the back yard. One twining piece of driftwood seems to be hugging a large mesquite tree.

An algerita berry tree with grayish green foliage adds beauty to the scene. Stone steps lead from the flower beds to a large pool surrounded by willows, button willows and buckeye. A large patch of sea cane makes a shelter from north winds.

Although Pearl has been ill for the last year or so, her warm, friendly smile is always present. This sweet couple seem to radiate their love for each other and their fellowman. Mr. Atkinson beamed with pride as he showed us their flower garden.

Mrs. Charlie Conner has planted a lovely bed of geraniums of red, white and pink. The blossoms have attracted attention all summer as they bloom beneath the shade of huge pecan trees.

Even though Mr. and Mrs. Conner are very busy, they have taken pains to help make Haskell a pretty place in which to live. Both the nursery and their home is landscaped with many interesting shrubs and trees.

Rule Romps Over Newcastle

The Rule Bobcat line threw up a rock-hard defense while their backs scored steadily to notch a 32-0 victory over the Newcastle Bobcats in a non-district tussle at Newcastle on Friday.

Fullback Paul Cornelius picked up the first touchdown on a 6-yard thrust over left tackle in opening period.

Halfback Larry LeFevre worked tackle for 13 yards and another six-pointer just before half. Both extra tries failed.

Cornelius opened the second half with a 65-yard scoring run back of the curtain raising kickoff. This time quarterback Johnny Westbrook hit end Dennis Barbee with an extra point pass.

LeFevre gathered in a 57-yard aerial from Westbrook to score again in the last quarter. Westbrook followed with another scoring pass of 37 yards to Steve Clark for the game-ending TD.

MINIATURE SLOT CAR RACING: Jerry Johnston, Old Glory school teacher, wins trophy of the month. Runner-ups were Ronny Berry, Stamford; Charles Adress, Haskell; David Hammock, Haskell; Roger Wilson, Haskell; Danny Letz, Old Glory, all running close competition.

Inclement Weather Halts Haskell-Hamlin "B" Game

The Haskell-Hamlin 'B' tilt played at Hamlin last Thursday night was called just a few minutes after the second-half got underway, due to inclement weather.

Clinton Calloway hit paydirt for the Haskell team in the 2nd quarter, for the only touchdown of the night.

At the time the game was called, Haskell was leading 6-0. With rain, some hail and threatening "storm clouds," the coaches and officials "got-together," and called the contest early in the second half.
