CITY HALL IN TROUBLE

City Hall is in trouble. It appears that it has been invaded by ghosts from the early western era. The Indian chief seems to be the only truly friendly person in the room as he offers a peace-pipe to Chief of Police Buck Abbott, who is about to be shot by Sandy Mitchell, the cowboy. Harold Tucker, the bearded bandito in the chair, sits ready to take over if things go awry, but does he know that Gary Bean, City Manager, center, has a gun pointed at his head? Just plain scared, Ike Dowdy stays put so as not to cause any itchy fingered guns to be pointed in his direction. Actually, it is all in fun in the Rodeo spirit of 1967.

INDIAN BUYS GUNS

Harold Tucker, right, tells heap-big-chief, Rosy Roark that the gun he is showing him, will shoot many times. Agreeing is Sandy Mitchell. All are decked out to help promote the Boomtown Rodeo to be held here June 15-16-17.

BUYING GUNS

Harold Tucker, portraying el hombre, and Sandy Mitchell, the cowboy, buy rifles from Gun Shop owner, Reed McCandless. More of the past in preparation for the coming Boomtown Rodeo, June 15-16-17 are the days to celebrate the 22nd Annual Rodeo and Boomtown's 60th Anniversary.

INTOLERABLE ARROGANCE

Some national labor unions have become so powerful in the United States that whole industries and the public are virtually helpless in trying to cope with them.

No reasonable person opposes the right of people to organize and bargain with their employer on wages and conditions of employment. But more and more people are coming to resent monopolistic union power callously used to deliver ultimatums rather than implement reasonable collective bargaining. This policy has reached a stage where the findings of federal mediation or emergency boards are arrogantly ignored. Apparently, some labor officials fail to see that their high handed dismissal of the public interest can lead to but one end—arbitrary control of the bargaining process. A labor dictator, an industrial dictator or a political dictator have no place in a free nation.

No one wishes compulsory arbitration, but labor policies that threaten or cause strikes of incalculable cost regardless of the national security and welfare will not forever be tolerated.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

LEAD, S. D., CALL-PIONEER TIMES: There's a certain unpopular uneasiness about computers. But it isn't because people are afraid they will someday be automated out of their jobs. It's just a feeling that machines are becoming too humanlike. This was revealed in a study based on interviews with 3,000 persons, reported in Datamation magazine. It was found that many people believe—wrongly—that the computer is infallible and that it is a "kind of superbrain which thinks as humans do and which can provide instant solutions to highly complicated problems that the ordinary man cannot even begin to understand." As more and more people come into daily contact with computers, however, this modern-day myth is expected to lose its force. Familiarity in this case will breed not contempt but better understanding of thinking machines' true capacity to think—which is no more than men give them."

PORT GIBSON, MISS., REVEILLE: "In our vast space program it is possible we may in not many years put a man on the moon—but here on earth, with so many strikes, and threats of strikes, it seems very difficult to keep one on the job."

BEDFORD, IND., TIMES-MAIL: "Findings of a national public opinion poll on reduction of federal spending in preference to a tax increase are hardly surprising. In the first nationwide poll taken since President Johnson's State of the Union Message, the public favored reduced spending and no tax increase by a 13-1 margin . . . (this) would leave little doubt, it seems to us, that Congressmen and Senators would be doing the popular thing in voting for reduction in expenditures and against any tax increase at this time."

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

more than token betterment in farm output.

SACRED COW

Of course, in India we are dealing with a culture that ranks a human being lower than a cow. In our own country, foreign aid has become a sort of sacred cow, too. Efforts to hold the line, much less cut back, on these programs are loudly deplored and roundly attacked as being ignoble and stupid. We are continually being sold on the idea that we must increase our spending for foreign aid, no matter what the cost.

Yet all our vast commitments of taxpayers' money abroad have not brought us the type of success and respect attained — with little expense and fanfare — by the small Nationalist China Government on Formosa as a result of the work of its agricultural demonstration teams in selected African and Latin American nations.

FOOD OUTPUT AND SELF-HELP

The Chinese teams concentrated on improving food output and on stirring the African and Latin American people to help themselves. Then they withdrew. The results were impressive, in some instances spectacular. Nationalist Chinese foreign aid does not patronize, cripple, or paralyze; the recipients learn for themselves to rely on their own resources. There is a real lesson here for U.S. foreign aid planners . . . and for American taxpayers as well. Will we heed it, — or will we go right on confusing quantity with quality?

Mammoth Speedboat

The Huge S.S. UNITED STATES IS THE FASTEST OCEAN LINER IN THE WORLD. ONE OF THE REASONS IS THAT ITS TOTAL WEIGHT IS REDUCED BY THE WIDESPREAD USE OF ALUMINUM IN ITS SUPERSTRUCTURE -- MORE THAN 2000 TONS OF THE METAL.

THE LIGHT WEIGHT OF ALUMINUM AND ITS RESISTANCE TO FRESH AND SALT WATER CORROSION HAVE ALSO MADE IT A WIDELY USED MATERIAL FOR PLEASURE BOATS.

County H-D Agent News

Cut hay while it's young and tender. Young plants are palatable and highly digestible, but become tough and stemmy when they approach maturity, says County Agent B. T. Haws.

The county agent offers these suggestions on the best time to harvest hay crops. For sudan, sudan-sorghum hybrids, johnson grass, native grasses and similar plants, cut them in the boot stage or just before the seedheads emerge.

Coastal Bermudagrass should be cut after no more than four weeks of growth.

Most spring hay crops contain high amounts of moisture when cut at the preferred stage. Too, the weather is often rainy, cloudy and cool and the ground moist; thus, creating curing problems, says Haws.

There isn't much you can do about the weather but something can be done about maintaining the quality of the hay. The use of hay conditioners reduce curing time by as much as one-half; thus, the crop can usually be cut and cured at the same right time with little or no damage from rain.

The county agent says fertilizer should be applied after each cutting, especially nitrogen. If the production from the first cutting is fairly high, phosphorus and potassium may also be needed.

Growers should take a soil sample before harvesting so fertilizer recommendations will be available for fertilizing immediately after harvest, says Haws.

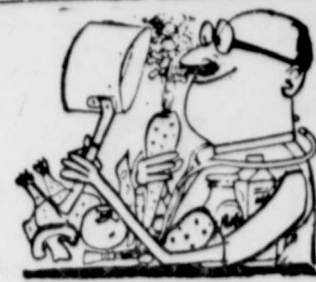

Feed grain prices will be especially sensitive to crop prices during the next several months due to the smaller stocks on hand. We expect prices to continue higher than a year earlier this spring, but with a favorable growing season this year, prices probably will not advance as much as in 1966.

Wasps, as a rule, are beneficial insects, but they become "tough customers" when disturbed. This often happens when they build their nests too close to traffic lanes in and around the home or in trees and shrubbery which may be near a door or driveway. The insects and their nests can be eliminated by the use of insecticides.

Pecan leaves can now be analyzed for zinc. For the first time the Soil Testing Laboratory at College Station is providing this service to the state's pecan growers.

The report on each leaf sample analyzed will indicate whether or not the level of zinc is adequate or short and will give suggestions on zinc applications. This information can serve as a guide for developing a long range program to maintain an adequate supply of zinc since annual foliar or soil application should be made before June.

Collect 100 leaflets for a composition sample. Select from 6 to 10 representative (depending on orchard size) of the same variety. Collect 100 leaflets free of disease and insect damage from points on the trees well above ground. This

FOOD FADDISM

Food faddism may be defined as the acceptance of unfounded and often fantastic ideas concerning food and nutrition, and permitting one's actions to be governed by such mistaken concepts.

There are two main kinds of food faddists. One is the person whose education does not include the areas of human physiology and related biological sciences. Such an individual may be highly educated, and exhibit great intelligence in the areas in which he is informed. Yet he may have a blind spot when it comes to food and nutrition.

Like many an intellectually superior person in his own field, he may be easy to mislead when he gets out of his own specialty. If properly approached, and not ridiculed, he may be willing to accept facts when they are presented to him.

Trades On Ignorance

The other kind of food faddist is the businessman—his business is food faddism. He trades on the ignorance and gullibility of his fellowmen simply to sell them a bill of goods. It is to his interest to keep ignorance alive and to fan prejudices which will direct trade into his pockets. He may broadcast misinformation by radio or television by way of casting his bread upon the waters.

He may write books in which fact and fiction are so cunningly interwoven that it takes a trained nutritionist to separate the wheat germ from the truth. He may give lectures which start out free and then turn out

Can Do Serious Damage

The food faddist is, in short, out of step with established and responsible nutritional authorities in governmental agencies, research laboratories and educational institutions. At his best, he may be amusing, if one is not misled by him. At his worst he can do serious damage, as when he advises diabetics that honey is a sugar which they can use with safety, when this is just as dangerous to them as any other sugar.

will mean collecting from 12 to 16 leaflets per tree. Fee for the service is $2 per sample. Information sheets are available from the county agent's office.

ROD TIP BREAK

If you break the tip of your fly rod at the ferrule (as anglers often do) don't throw away the rod and buy a new one. Just fix the ferrule to what's left of the rod tip. A rod so repaired will work fine.

CARE OF FISHING RODS

Fishing rods, especially when used around salt water, should be well cared for to give maximum use. Split bamboo rods should be kept heavily coated with varnish. Check them at end of each fishing season. If well coated, merely treat the rod with furniture wax. If coating is worn or cracked, revarnish before storing. Glass rods need little care. Just see that the wrappings are sealed with varnish, and the rest of the rod well waxed before storing.

Den 6, Pack 155

By KERMIT OLSON Keeper of the Buckskin

Our weekly meeting was held at the home of our Den Mother, Mrs. Ramon Scruggs on May 16. The opening ceremony was held by Wade Meadows and Kermit Olson.

We had a very exciting meeting. Mrs. Scruggs had planned a Eike Rodeo for us. It consisted of contests such as calf roping, bronco bull riding, tail the bull, and Brahma bull riding. There were many thrills and a few spills.

Mrs. Scruggs also had a bicycle safety inspection.

Mrs. Scruggs is urging Cubs Wade Harris, Danny Roe, Wade Meadows and Mike McKinley to complete their Bear achievements by June 19. This should not be too difficult, as all four have quite a bit of this work done already.

Our next weekly meeting will be May 23rd at 4 p.m. The following weekly meeting will be June 6 at 5 p.m. Please notice the new time for the meeting of June 6th.

Plans for summer pack meetings have been completed. Our June Pack meeting will be June 26 at the Orbit Skating Rink. Cubs can skate after the awards are given.

Pack meeting in July will be held on the 31st at the Burkburnett Royalty Park at 7:30 p.m. This will be a watermelon feast.

The August 28th Pack Meeting will be held at Perkins Reservation. This will be a picnic and swimming party.

LAKE vs. STREAM FISHING

Lake fishing is much more difficult than stream fishing. It calls for more know-how and thought. You must learn where bass are lurking at a given time. Then, too, there is the matter of what depth to fish at a certain spot. This information is much more easily ascertained when angling on a stream.

Getting Twist Out Of Line

Most aggravating thing about a monofilament leader is its inclination to curl. Anglers who use such leaders should carry in their tackle boxes a sponge rubber ball with a slit in it. Run the line through the slit several times, pulling hard, until the twist is removed.

Former Burkburnett Girl Wins Fellowship In Louisiana

Jane Wood, former Burkburnett girl, and a student of Blanche Butler, is one of Louisiana Tech's graduates of Home Economics. Jane Wood of Bossier City, has been awarded a Fashion Fellowship by the Tobe Coburn School for Fashion Careers in New York City.

This year we opened on April 29 and, despite six days of rain and six less operating days, we still drew 158,315 visitors through May 21."

PROPER LINE WEIGHT
Purists might argue the point, but in Texas, when going after large bass, a 15 to 20 pound line is not too large, especially in weedy, brushy water where the fish must often be horsed in.

Man's triumph over a Menace to Life...

Sharks have always been man's enemies in the sea. They are a danger to the shipwrecked, and occasionally threaten the lives of swimmers along our coastal waters. Sharks are only one of the many dangers that man faces every day. The world, today, is in a turmoil and we must be alert and on guard for the enemies' moves. Now is the time to trust in the Lord and to seek His help.

"Unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul. O my God, I trust in thee; let me not be ashamed, let not mine enemies triumph over me."
 Psalm 25, 1-2

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every man should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Young couples who follow the "Financial Ten Commandments" will have more success and happiness, says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent.

Miss Wirges quotes the "Commandments" listed by Dr. Milton Huber, associate professor at the University of Wisconsin's Center for Consumer Affairs.

1. You shall have no more children than your income will permit to maintain the standard of living you want for them. Do not forget that the older the children become, the more expensive they are. Financial planning and family planning must compliment each other.

2. You shall not make the mistake of buying all the modern conveniences and comforts that your parents have taken a lifetime to accumulate. Ignore this, and the new baby will arrive amidst a bombardment of debts — which the wife's income can no longer cover. Base your budget on the husband's income, primarily.

3. You shall not take for granted that your mate has the same idea about spending money. Couples who don't work out spending plans together can end up with poor credit.

4. Remember to save for the unexpected. Plan for medical and household emergencies. Set aside in savings, from the top of the paycheck, the equivalent of income from six months labor to care for emergencies.

5. Honor your credit rating. Pay your debts on time. Beware of merchants who advertise "easy" credit, but specialize in harsh and expensive repayment contracts.

6. Do not buy impulsively. Beware of door-to-door sales men and the lure of "something for nothing." Compare merchandise and prices for furniture and appliances.

7. Do not commit yourself to any installment contract without reading it completely. Be sure that all blanks have been filled in and that all verbal agreements have been put in writing.

8. Do not cheat yourself by securing new loans at high interest to pay off old bills. This is an expensive way of buying time — not a way of paying bills.

9. You shall not bear the responsibility of purchasing a car or major appliance on the installment plan without inquiring into the true annual rate of interest, dollar charges, and other special fees. Interest rates vary considerably. Shop for your credit as well as your merchandise.

10. You shall not covet a house of your own if you move frequently. Financing, selling, and closing costs increase the Elsing in McAlester, Okla. Friday. Mr. Parker is spending one week of his vacation in Oklahoma.

Mrs. A. E. Sharp of Burk and Mrs. Iva Blankenship of Wichita Falls, formerly of Burk drove to Oklahoma City Sunday to visit a friend, Claude Williams of Wichita Falls, who is in the Veterans Hospital there.

Rev. and Mrs. Lamoin Champ, Lamona and Larry left Friday for Miami, Fla., where they will attend the Southern Baptist Convention. They will visit other places of interest during their two week vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Johnston visited her sister, Mrs. Alice Goodwin Saturday and Saturday night. They were enroute to visit their daughter and husband. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Reiter and family in Arlington, Tex. The Johnstons have just returned from a trip to the West Coast. While in Los Angeles, Calif. they visited Mr. and Mrs. Buck Zimmerman, former residents of Burk.

cost of home ownership prohibitively for families who move every few years. Neither shall you compare the costs of renting versus the cost of buying without including all of the costs of home ownership besides monthly payments. These include depreciation, taxes, hazard insurance, mortgage life insurance, closing costs, upkeep and repair, and income from interest lost on savings used as down payment on a house.

Dr. Huber wrote his "Ten Commandments" for young families after a study in depth of over-indebted couples. He says that if families will honor the list their marriage can be harmonious, even prosperous, whatever the income.

"Some present-day credit practices makes it almost impossible for one to make intelligent decisions about credit," says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent. Various methods of stating consumer credit costs often confuse, confound, and mask the true financing costs.

In an ideal credit transaction, the debtor is told the accurate price of credit and the charges are stated as an annual rate. More frequently, however, the following practices are employed:

1. The price of credit is given as a simple monthly rate which on a true basis amounts to 12 times the monthly rate.

2. The borrower is quoted an add-on discount percentage rate. That is, he is quoted a rate on the original amount of credit rather than on the periodic declining balance. The true interest rate is approximately twice the so-called add-on or discount rate.

3. The consumer is quoted an add-on or discount rate plus numerous extra fees. In this case, the true annual rate is considerably more than twice the quoted rate.

4. No rate is quoted; the borrower is only told the amount down and the amount due each month.

SEVENTH GRADE STUDENT EXCELS IN CREATIVE WRITING

Susie Pickett

On Tuesday, May 16 during the Burkburnett Junior High Awards Assembly, Susie Pickett was outstandingly rewarded for her creative writing ability. She won a creative story writing contest, and minutes later, Susie received first place in the Junior High Division of the poetry contest sponsored by the local poetry club.

The bronze medal that Susie won for her story writing ability was in cooperation with READ magazine, a bi-monthly magazine that 7th grade reading students use. The purpose of the READ Award for Excellence in Creative Writing is to give student writers encouragement and the recognition they deserve. To be eligible for this medal, the student must start with two quoted paragraphs and four given characters and develop an interesting story. The story could be of any type — mystery, adventure, romance, science fiction, etc.

Students entered the contest voluntarily and were in competition with only 7th graders. In writing these creative stories, they learn about how stories are put together. And with this experience, they become more appreciative and critical as writers and readers.

Susie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Pickett of Burkburnett, reflected very mature, sensitive thoughts in her poem entitled "The Lonely Surfer." She does not write all the time for she must divide her time among her many and varied interests. Being the well-rounded student she is, Susie has served on the Student Council this year, maintained an A-average with perfect attendance; and just recently she has been selected district majorette for the BJH Band.
