WORLDWIDE EFFORT NEEDED

Not so many years ago, most people had at least a rough working knowledge of the facts of life down on the farm. This was because the energies of most people were devoted to the business of producing the food and fiber necessary to sustain life. All this has now changed. One farmer produces enough to feed scores of people as a result of modern agricultural techniques. Probably not one person in 50 any longer has the remotest notion of what it takes to draw from the sun, the rain and the soil the things we require to live.

Ironically, the great scientific and technological advances in agriculture which have freed the majority of the populous from the drudgery of squeezing out a living on the back 40 have been a two-edged sword. Those who have been freed from the land for other pursuits are unaware of the vital role of such things as chemicals in agriculture, and thus often obstruct continued agricultural progress. Keeping the public informed of modern agricultural processes has become a major task.

Recently, Congressman Jamie L. Whitten in an Address before the National Agricultural Chemicals Association drew attention to the need of public understanding of pesticides and pesticide residues and the necessity of reaching an agreement between nations, particularly between the United States and countries of western Europe, upon pesticide tolerances. Testing methods of such sensitiveness have been developed as to permit identification of pesticide residues at a level of parts in a trillion — so infinitesimal as to be beyond human comprehension. Present testing methods make "no residue" requirements utterly unrealistic. Therefore, in the opinion of Congressman Whitten, nations must agree upon what are safe tolerances and must reach an understanding in order that trade between nations shall not be needlessly incumbered and people threatened with critical shortages of wholesome foods.

Everything we eat has faint traces of innumerable chemicals — put there by nature. Man-made pesticides are just another chemical applied to help grow our food. A few years ago, the analysis techniques of the time could not detect these harmless traces. But now, the laboratory can isolate the minutest indication of any substance in our food. Thus, laws that say "no residue" are impossible to comply with and can simply result in the total prohibition of scientific pesticide application — even though soaring food requirements make pesticide use mandatory. This truth must be brought home to peoples of all nations if mass starvation is to be avoided.

The Federal Power Commission recommended to Congress against federal recapture of Pacific Gas and Electric Company's 60,000 kilowatt Bucks Creek project in California. The project's license expires at the end of this year. The commission found that available facts support the continued operation of the Bucks Creek project by a licensee obtaining its authority from this commission.

Current estimates show that one-fourth of the new world oil and gas reserves will be found offshore. The staggering expense of offshore operations has brought a demand for improved technology. These observations were made at the 42nd Annual Fall Meeting of the Society of Petroleum Engineers.

Users of LSD may be risking birth defects in their children and grandchildren, warned Virginia Apgar, M. D., director of basic research for the National Foundation March of Dimes. They also may be exposing themselves to an increased risk of cancer and early aging.

The motorcycle, motorscooter, and motor bike fad is taking its full toll in accidental deaths. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company reports that deaths from these vehicles rose by a third in the year 1965 (most recent figures available). Motorcycles accounted for the largest number of fatalities by far.

Oregon State University food marketing specialists' statistics show that consumers spent an average of 18 per cent of their take home pay for food in 1966, but in 1967 that figure will drop to 17.5 per cent, indicating that wage and salary increases are rising at a comparatively more rapid rate.

THE LAND AROUND US... by THOMPSON

SOME 10,000 SPECIES OF INSECTS IN THE U.S. ARE CLASSIFIED AS PUBLIC ENEMIES. OF THESE, SEVERAL HUNDRED ARE PARTICULARLY DESTRUCTIVE AND REQUIRE SOME DEGREE OF CONTROL.

THE ESTIMATED ANNUAL COST OF INSECT CONTROL MEASURES TO PROTECT OUR FOOD AND FIBER IS CLOSER TO $700 MILLION IN 1966 OVER $1.1 BILLION WORTH OF ALL TYPES OF PESTICIDES WAS USED.

IF PESTICIDES WERE COMPLETELY WITHDRAWN FROM THE MARKET, IT IS ESTIMATED THAT CROP AND LIVESTOCK PRODUCTION IN THE U.S. WOULD DROP BY 25 TO 30 PERCENT... AND YOU MIGHT PAY 50 TO 75 PERCENT MORE FOR LOWER QUALITY FOOD!

SOME OF THE FAVORITE VEGETABLES OF THE AMERICAN CONSUMER MIGHT BE PRICED OUT OF THE MARKET IF WEEDING ON FARMS WAS STILL DONE BY COSTLY HAND LABOR INSTEAD OF WITH CHEMICAL NEED KILLERS.

WITHOUT CHEMICAL PESTICIDES, POTATO AND TOMATO PRODUCTION WOULD BE VIRTUALLY WIPED OUT BY PILEASE, AND INSECTS WOULD PROBABLY BANISH MANY FRUITS AND VEGETABLES FROM THE MARKET.

Locals Grandson At State Capitol

Fourth grade students of Northwest Elementary School, Ardmore, Okla., were guests of Oklahoma Governor Bartlett and his wife last Saturday. The governor presented the class the first prize award, a 3 foot living evergreen, as winners of the "Keep Oklahoma Beautiful" contest held recently. Following the presentation at the mansion, the students and teacher were treated to lunch at the capitol and a tour of the capitol building.

The class made posters for the contest which were displayed in Ardmore and will also be circulated throughout the state.

Larry Gene Edmonds, a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Park of Burkburnett, was a member of the class that attended the tour. He has been interested in art since he was a small boy.

MODERN VINYL TREE HARKS BACK TO OLDEN DAYS

Contemporary man-made American Christmas trees are direct descendants of the very first evergreens from the forests of Germany, ever decorated for that joyous feast day. Begun in the middle ages, the custom of decorating Christmas trees took hold in Germany in the 16th century. Lighted tapers and fruits and cookies were placed on the early Christmas trees. The custom spread throughout Europe and in the 19th century was brought to the United States.

Modern Scotch pine styled vinyl trees offered by General Electric are the modern counterpart of the early trees and their hand crafted Bavarian ornaments hark back to another era. Classic style and traditional model trees made by GE each include 60 handmade ornaments and a tree top decoration. Many of the ornaments are decorated in a gold motif and are adorned with fine gilded wire threads and trimming. Others are handblown clear glass with handsome Christmas angels or stars suspended inside. Some are flocked or covered with rich fabrics in the true Bavarian manner. Four string sets of multi-colored lights of 35 bulbs each and natural pine cones add enchantment. With rotator base, the tree stands 7 feet in height. Equipped with a Swiss music box which plays, "Silent Night" and "O Come All Ye Faithful," the rotator base has a remote control box to operate lights, music and rotation in any combination. The flame-resistant vinyl tree provides safety and beauty. Packed in a carton with easy assembly instructions, the tree can be trimmed by family and friends at a festive get-together. Or, dad can surprise all and set up the tree himself, one silent and snowy night.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance 277 Park Ave., N.Y., N.Y., 10017

Q. I'm in the process now of investigating all the ins and outs of buying or building a home for my family. Could you tell me about insurance for my mortgage?

A. The mortgage life insurance plan involving the least cost outlay is the reducing term insurance policy. Many families however, prefer the straight life plan for its flexibility, as it (1) pays the mortgage in full in case of death; (2) accumulates a cash value which can help prepay the mortgage earlier than scheduled; (3) builds up values which can be used to cover a mortgage payment in case of need; (4) is a policy which can be used to meet some other family goal when the mortgage is paid off.

Q. Are death payments under a life insurance policy subject to income tax?

A. All life insurance death proceeds paid in a lump sum are exempt from income tax unless the policy was sold or transferred for some valuable consideration. If the proceeds are left with the life insurance company of interest or paid as income, the interest portion is reportable as income—but not the principal sum of the policy.

The Embarrassed Liberals

THE recent Israeli-Arab war has embarrassed our so-called liberals in America to a degree unparalleled since the alliance between Hitler and Stalin at the beginning of World War II. Forced to choose between their Jewish comrades and the Marxist ideology flowing from the Kremlin, they found themselves in a dilemma where sullen silence seemed to be the only course opened to them.

During the civil war in Spain, Stalin was revered on the republican side, while Hitler was hated. On Franco's side Hitler was the saint and Stalin was the devil. The rapprochement between these tyrants did not come until a few months after the close of the war. It therefore presented no problem to the Spanish republicans, but it was extremely embarrassing to Franco's nationalists.

It may seem incredible, but I have oftentimes seen Stalin's picture posted beside that of Hitler in many parts of nationalist Spain during the first year of World War II. Later when these tyrants broke with each other, the pictures of Stalin in nationalist Spain were hastily taken down, and Hitler again became the sole foreigner to receive homage in that country.

The liberals cannot turn their backs on the Israelis, and they are certainly not going to give up their Marxist ideology. They will need all the wisdom of Solomon to extricate themselves from this entanglement.

Burk Buys Site For Storage Area

Purchase of the former Shamuburger Lumber Co. site in Burkburnett by the city of Burkburnett was completed Monday, according to Gary Egan, city manager.

The property, half of the 200 block of West Third Street, was bought from Gene Robertson at a consideration of $25,000. Robertson will continue to occupy a suite of offices on the premises under a three-year lease concluded with the city at a monthly rental of $200.

Included on the property is a 9,000 square foot two-story building, a large storage building and six lumber sheds. The entire site is fenced and will be used for storage of city water, sewer and street supplies, equipment and vehicles. The water and street superintendent will have offices on the premises.

Family FINANCIAL PROTECTION

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Health Insurance Institute 277 Park Ave., N.Y., N.Y., 10017

Q. My husband and I have two youngsters who are pressing us to send them to a summer camp next year. Will we have to take out additional health insurance to protect them while they are away?

A. Accredited camps, such as those belonging to the American Camping Association, are required to carry group health insurance for campers. In most instances, youngsters are insured while on the camp premises or elsewhere when in the care and custody of the camp. They are also covered while traveling to and from summer camp. Accredited camps are also well equipped with an infirmary, and a physician or a registered nurse is readily available at all times.

In choosing a camp for your children, be sure to look into its health set-up. Remember, too, that your own family health insurance undoubtedly covers your children anywhere they may be.

Q. After being self-employed for many years, I will soon be joining a firm which provides group insurance to its employees at no cost. Is this possible?

A. Not only possible, but very common. In a survey of new group health plans provided by insurance companies, the Health Insurance Institute found that 46 per cent of the employees in this survey had the cost of their coverage paid for entirely by the employer, while 54 per cent paid a part. A fraction of one per cent paid the full cost of their own protection.

Cub Pack 155 Pays Second Visit To Fort Sill

Cub Pack 155 made a second trip to Fort Sill, Okla., Dec. 2 as guests of the 6th Howitzer Division, 10th Artillery. The Commanding Officer, Lt. G. W. Glann, Jr., and his assistant Lt. Kersu acted as official escorts for the day. The cubs and their families attended the Mechanized Rifle Company in Attack Demonstration. Due to cold weather and high winds, however, the group was unable to observe all the attack. Cub Scouts, parents and escorts were forced to retreat to the warmth of their cars. After a delicious hot lunch at the mess hall the group continued their tour with a visit to the motor pool, where Sgt. Hartlieb described one of the huge 6 ton Howitzers. Another highlight of the trip was a visit to the Game Farm, where the boys found a variety of game birds, quail, pheasant, and chukkers. The birds are raised on the post and are released later during the hunting season. Despite the cold weather the boys and families had a very nice day. They hope to return at a warmer time to see who won the battle. The Pack will hold its next meeting, Dec. 14th at 7:30 p.m.

University Study Club Meets With Mrs. I. E. Harwell

The University Study Club met December 6, in the home of Mrs. I. E. Harwell with Mrs. L. W. Mathis as co-hostess for our Christmas party. The meeting opened with our club collect in unison. Then the secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer report was given. Our club sponsored Linda Young, granddaughter of a club member, Mrs. Marshall Young at Youth Appreciation Banquet sponsored by the Optimist Club in the high school cafeteria November 8. After our business session we had a guest speaker, Mrs. Hattie Burns presented Mrs. Hattie Kilpatrick of Wichita Falls, who brought two Christmas stories. First was as she said, the only Christmas story, from the second chapter of Luke, which made us think and take inventory of ourselves. Then she told us the story, "To Grandfathers House on Christmas," which took us all back a few years, and caused much laughter. Each one took gifts for both a man and woman to be sent to the State Hospital, and also took food for a basket for a needy family. This year instead of exchanging gifts, we had a money tree, and we placed our money on that. The house was beautifully decorated, and delicious refreshments were served from a lovely and festive table, to the following members and one guest: Mmes. Hazel Kilpatrick, J. B. Morris, Hettie Gilbert, Marshall Young, Joy Sessions, Hattie Burns, J. M. Pogue, Bill Cauthorn, Bill Crosley, S. S. Reger, Arthur Houser, J. H. Rigby, Blake Browning, A. R. Bunstine, Joe Majors, Sam Shrum and the hostesses Mrs. I. E. Harwell and Mrs. L. W. Mathis.

WATCH PILGRIM'S POUNDAGE

Thanksgiving has been a time for sumptuous meals and expanding waistlines since the first three-day feast in 1621. Now the four-day weekend can add as much as four extra pounds to the unwary feaster, nutritionists warn. Today's pilgrim just isn't as active as the original model, and the typical turkey dinner, including those second helpings, can total 3,500 extra calories, enough to add one extra pound. The leftover turkey dishes and festive desserts consumed during the weekend could easily add another three pounds, so the wise pilgrim watches his intake carefully during the rest of the holiday. One solution is to substitute Metrecal for a couple of meals. Mrs. Pilgrim might try one of the unusual recipes using the nutritionally complete diet food. For example, this recipe for a tuna-eggplant bake would be a delicious change of pace for post-Thanksgiving weight-watchers.

TUNA-EGGPLANT BAKE Cal-ories Ingredients: 25 1/2 Cup Eggplant (Raw) 225 1 Can Metrecal Tuna & Noodles 42 3 Crackers (Make Cracker Crumbs) 65 1 Egg Beaten (Small) Directions: 1. Cut about a 1" thick slice from an eggplant. Peel. Cut into cubes to make 1/2 cup. Place the eggplant cubes in water & let stand about 20 minutes. Cook the eggplant in one cup of water until soft (about 10 minutes); drain and mash. 2. Combine the eggplant with the Metrecal Tuna & Noodles, cracker crumbs, (leave a few for the top) & egg. Pour into buttered individual casserole dish. Top with remaining cracker crumbs. Place in a slow oven 325° until hot. Serves one. Total Calories: 357

DOUBLE SPACE It's often possible to double the available living area in your home through attic or basement remodeling. For example: — the conversion of an attic into a "dormitory" for school age children. According to the Southern Pine Association, dingy attic or basement areas can be transferred into bright new rooms largely by adding finishing materials, such as wood paneling to existing structures or surfaces.

THE SPLENDOR OF THE SNOW

Snow falls and puts a beautiful white blanket over the mountains, and even before this one is gone, others will fall. It will become deeper and deeper until the spring, when it begins to melt and provides life giving waters to many streams. These streams meet with others and become rivers and provide water for irrigation and lakes throughout our land.

Our Lord, Jesus has said that He will give to any that seek Him... "a well of water springing up into everlasting life." — John 4, 14

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
 THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Sizzling Steaks On Stainless Steel

Lets face it, steak is the number one choice of he-men, especially when the weather is brisk. An easy to prepare meal is built around your favorite cut of steak served with a vegetable, hearty salad and coffee. Seasonings make the difference.

Sprinkle prepared Italian Seasoning on squash and bake. Cook the meat directly on individual stainless steel steak platters. Add squash to each sizzle platter after you turn the steaks for last minute reheating and final broiling. Just before the steak is done, spread with soy sauce.

The hallmarks of an old English chop house come from the broiler to the table, and are placed on their own wooden underplatters. Cleaning up is an easy job, because juices and sauces will come right off stainless steel with no pitting or discoloration, no matter what you broil.

Whether your meat is choice or economy, stainless steel knives with serrated edges will cut it like butter. Hurricane lamp candleholders, with stainless steel bases, are ideal centerpieces. With the glass chimney removed, they hold artificial flowers.

attractive full color. While the flower is only about two inches or less in diameter in a good growing season and in rich soil, the flower clusters may be nine inches wide and eighteen inches long.

This shrub should be planted in full sun. If planted in the shade, fewer flowers will form and powdery mildew will be more prevalent. In a wet season, much of the new growth may be infected with this fungus growth. A spray program against mildew is practical and in some areas of the state is advisable. It is also possible to become a philosopher and wait for a change in the weather, but this results in very unattractive foliage especially in those areas of the state where mildew is quite prevalent.

If flower clusters are pruned off when they first fade, it will prolong the season of bloom until frost stops the growth. There are many shades of color available in the nursery and all are very attractive. They vary from white to lavender pink to watermelon red to vermilion. Several attractive dwarf varieties are also available in the nursery.

In the Northern section of Texas Crepe Myrtle is frequently grown as a perennial plant since it freezes back to the ground each spring; however, since the flowers are produced on the new wood many gardeners feel that the late summer color provided by the Crepe Myrtle flower is well worth the effort.

Homemakers interested in developing projects as demonstrators in any phase of home-making may contact Thelma Wiggs, county home demonstration agent, 305 Federal Building, Wichita Falls. Demonstrators register on first come, first serve basis and are not limited to members of a home demonstration club.

With Christmas holidays approaching, its more likely you'll want to bring out your best China and silver too add to the gaiety of the gatherings. Remember, though, that even if the dishes appear to be clean, they should always be washed before using if they haven't been used for several months.

Want a "sweet" front door at Christmas time? Make a huge boquet of candy canes out of decorated mailing tubes. Add a few Christmas green, a gay bow, and other decorations to help say "welcome" at your door.

County H-D Agent News

Crepe Myrtle is a large shrub that commonly grows to a height of about ten feet tall. A plant native to India, the Crepe Myrtle has become naturalized in the Southern United States. It can be used both as a small tree or large shrub depending on how it is pruned and trimmed. It blooms during the hot dry period when there is little else in flower. The smooth bark of the older wood flakes off in large pieces like Sycamore bark. This gives an interesting texture in the winter garden. The word Crepe refers to the crinkled flower petals that give the large cluster of flowers a special texture. The plant is also noted for its
