AUTO ACCIDENT DEMOLISHES CORNER OF LOCAL RESIDENCE

Where S Sgt. Connie Ayatt's car cut through the home of Mrs. Lillie Duke, Thursday, February 1, when it careened out of control at 3:30 a. m. Mrs. Duke, left, and a friend look over the damage.

This 1964 Oldsmobile was driven by S Sgt. Connie Ayatt, of Sheppard Air Force Base, when it demolished a gasoline pump, another car's tail light and took out an entire corner wall of the home of Mrs. Lillie Duke, 114 Avenue D.

This gaping hole in the cement is where a gas pump once stood in the Shamrock Service Station of Mrs. Lillie Duke, Ave. D, before a car went out of control and ripped it out of the foundation, Thursday a. m.

The home of Mrs. Lillie Duke, 114 Avenue D, received extensive damage when struck by a car, Thursday, February 1, in the early morning hours.

SSgt. Connie Ayatt, 30, of Sheppard Air Force Base, paid a maximum fine of $100 Friday morning on a charge of drunkenness after his car went out of control Thursday morning at 3:30 a. m. and destroyed a gasoline pump, the tail light of a parked car, and plowed through the corner living room of the home of Mrs. Lillie

Duke, 114 Ave. D. Damage was estimated at $4,000. The SSgt.'s 1964 Oldsmobile station wagon left the road, lifted a gasoline pump from its foundation, carried it through the corner living room of the home of Mrs. Lillie Duke, struck the parked car belonging to a neighbor, knocking out a tail light, then came to a halt at the corner of the home of William Stadler, the neighbor. Damage to the Duke house was extensive. Next to the missing wall of the front room was a couch on which Mrs. Duke's grandchildren sleep when visiting over-night. Stadler's home is owned by Howard Clement. The damage to it was minor.

Ayatt is still charged with failure to control his vehicle, according to Chief of Police Abbott. No one was injured in the accident, though the SSgt. said that he did not know the whereabouts of his little dog, a Chihuahua named "Shorty," who was with him in the car.

Credit Class Is Underway At Service Center

Credit—good or bad? Today we hear a lot about the widespread use of credit. It can be a way to growth and development or a good and easy way to hard times.

Along with other uses of the family dollar, credit will be studied by community members enrolled in the class "Manage Your Family Dollar." The class is composed of a series of meetings conducted in the Burk Burnett Community Action Center.

A few points to be discussed in the next class session are: kinds of credit, why we use credit, cost of credit, and who should use credit. It is a rare case when a person or family can use credit for raising level of living. What it actually does is allow you to get something you want at an earlier date.

The individual situation will determine the value of credit. A quick look at a few individual situations might show the value of credit.

One young family might be spending over $100 a year on quarters for a coin-type washing machine. With credit, they can own their own washer for less than $200. The washer can be expected to last 10 years, so it actually is costing only $20 per year. Use of credit here is wise if the monthly payment is available. Otherwise paying a quarter at a time may be best.

Cut-price sales may provide items needed by a family, and for only a small amount down and so much a month. This may be good, but only if the cost of credit is less than the amount saved by the sale.

A very high heating bill for still another family might be cut by insulating the house. Credit could enable them to do this. Their savings might pay the loan in two or three years.

It is easy to look around today and find many similar examples of credit. To participate in the class where a study of credit will be made under the leadership of Thelma Wirges, County Home Demonstration Agent, attend the next session Monday, February 19 at 7:30 p. m. The meeting is in the Burk Burnett Community Action Center. For complete information contact Miss Wirges and Mrs. Carol Blankenship.

A SHORT CUT WOULD BE A BIG HELP!

STREAMLINE FEDERAL BUYING

The Congress of the United States is considering legislation which would create a commission to overhaul the complex procurement practices of the federal government.

In a letter to Rep. Chet Holifield, (D-Calif.) and Sen. Henry M. Jackson, (D-Wash.), W. P. Gullander, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said, "The NAM has considered at length the provisions of S. 1145 and H. R. 12510 (identical bill) and through its committee structure has endorsed the bill and urged its passage by the Congress."

The bill would establish a commission comprised of members of the Congress, the Executive branch and non-government authorities including industry representatives.

Such a commission could help eliminate unnecessary paper work, overlapping procedures, and time-consuming regulatory requirements which have grown up during the past two decades around the procurement of the goods and services which the federal government requires from the private economy.

The importance of such a review cannot be overestimated for the procurement processes today are so complex that improvements brought about could have a distinct effect in reducing the cost of these goods and services with a consequent reduction in tax requirements.

DIRECT ROUTE TO SHORTAGES

There is a strong likelihood that continued inflation, soaring deficits and lack of the necessary self-discipline to cut government costs will inevitably lead to a "demand" for price controls. The illusion will be encouraged that if prices are too high, all that is necessary is price fixing. But, as experience should have proven long ago, when price controls are imposed it means that the prices of certain items are fixed at a lower level than supply and demand would have set. When that happens, demand soon outstrips supply.

Thus, price controls are a direct route to shortages and black markets. This will always be so for the reason that the natural law of supply and demand is immutable. In the long run, there is but one way to control prices—get the government's financial house in order. Just taxing the people more and more is no guarantee the government will retrench.

The principle is most disturbing. What is there to stop it from being applied to more and more private enterprises?"

VACATION DRIVING SAFETY

Each vacation season, Americans begin checking tires, batteries, windshield wipers and brakes, preparing to hit the road. Thorough check-up of car and trailer is vital before extended mileage on highways and back country roads. Sentry Insurance suggests a checklist. Some items to start your list are:

- TIRES—Look for slow leaks. Carry a spare.
- FLARES—Keep several moisture-proof wrapped. A strong beam lantern is best on hard shoulders.
- BRAKES—Have standard and emergency system checked by qualified mechanic.
- WIPERS—Insect splatter, dust, mud or tree resin can blot out effective visibility on short notice. Worn blades can be deadly. Make sure you have wiper fluid.
- EMERGENCY FLASHERS—Your double-duty friend in distress: An SOS and a warning to traffic.

- Sentry procedure for breakdowns in evening and dusk:
- (1) Get your auto off the road quickly.
  - (2) Turn on flashers, set up lamps or flares about 75 feet behind your car.
  - (3) Raise the hood. Tie a white cloth to the aerial.
  - (4) Phone or send for help via a passing motorist.
  - (5) Get in the car, lock doors and wait for help.

Don't change a tire on the side nearest traffic, without wide margin between the road and your car.

ed on the sick list Sunday. Sunday visitors in the Edd Morrow home were Mr. and Mrs. Weller Paul Cozby and Danny of Burkburnett. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Taylor of Eulers, Texas visited his sister, Mrs. Nevada Turner last week. Mrs. Pearl Coker went to Oklahoma City Friday for a medical check-up. Mrs. Nevada Turner attended funeral services at Marlow at the Emanuel Baptist church last week for a great nephew, Cecil Belt who was killed in Vietnam. Guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Wilkinson were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bowles and children of Walters and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wilkinson of Burkburnett.

29 Million Do: How About You?

HOW MANY adult American women suffer from an oily skin condition? More than 29 million, according to Pacquin skin care specialists. To keep oiliness in check, they recommend frequent, thorough cleansing. Here's how:

Rinse Away

Avoid harsh cleansers that can strip away all natural oils and cause the oil-producing glands to over-compensate. Instead, use new Rinse-Off cold cream to remove surface oils and make-up without clogging pores. The new Pacquin cold cream leaves skin super-clean and fresh because it can be either tissue off or rinsed off with water. It is priced from about 39¢ and is at local beauty counters.

Where in the World Am I?

MAIN THOROUGHFARES in this city have more formal names, but smaller alleys and lanes are more interesting. Lily in the Valley Corner is in a built-up area now, so flowers no longer grow there. The cemetery has been moved, but Burial Ground Corner lives on. No one remembers the origins of Lifebuoy Street, Dog Flea Alley, or Pigtail Alley. Prison Lane once ran by the jail, but the prison site has been transferred. Lovers Lane is still a favorite rendezvous for honeymooning tourists and local young people. Where? See below.

'EVERY LITTER BIT HURTS' THE BEAUTIFICATION OF CITY

Garbage collection in Parkburnett is becoming a problem and part of the reason is the unconcern of its citizens.

The Wichita County Health Inspector visits Parkburnett and inspects several times each month. He was here very recently and was disappointed with what he saw.

There was rubbish strewn over streets and property which is detrimental to the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of Parkburnett, as well as being an eyesore and detracting from the beauty of our city.

City Ordinance No. 245 specifies that each resident will have a trash receptacle with a tightly fitting cover to hold garbage, trash and other refuse until the collectors carry it away. The container should not be of less than 20 gallon capacity nor more than 32 gallon capacity. Nor should it weigh more than 60 pounds when full.

Tree trimmings, hedge cuttings etc., should be securely tied and not longer than four feet, when placed beside the garbage can for the collectors to dispose of.

Be certain that you have a tightly fitting cover on all trash cans to prevent the wind from scattering the contents over streets and your neighbor's property.

Dogs running free, which, though against another city ordinance and in spite of police efforts, does occur, also account for rubbish being upset and blown about when there is not a secure lid on the can.

Therefore, if you wish to help keep your city a clean, healthy, safe and pretty place in which to live, for yourself and your children, there are two very simple steps you can take. Keep your garbage and trash under a tightly fitting cover, placed within easy reach of the city garbage collectors and keep your dogs at home, fenced in or restrained in like manner.

"Every Litter Bit Hurts," in the campaign to keep America beautiful and Parkburnett a part of America, so "do your little bit to prevent a litter bit" — less scattered rubbish, trash and garbage in our pretty city.

RIGHT WAY . . .

This is the right way to put a cover on the growing amount of scattered trash in Parkburnett. It doesn't cost much time or money, either. Could this be YOUR trash can?

WRONG WAY . . .

This is the wrong way to prepare your garbage and trash for removal by the city collectors. The wind can lift out the trash and spread germs and filth about town, or roaming dogs may find it a fine place to acquire a bit of leftover food, upsetting the can to get it. Could this be YOUR receptacle?

Lohofener guided the scissors during the ribbon cutting ceremonies held at the new, ultra-modern Texaco Service Station, co-owned by Harold Lindsey, Sr. and Harold Lindsey, Jr., Friday, February 2, at 10 a.m. It has been named the No. 2 as Lindsey has the No. 1 on the opposite side of the Expressway. The design is called Matawan, by Texaco, and is the first of its kind in this area. Others are located in Amarillo, Fort Worth and Abilene. It is a contemporary design with a futuristic motif. Many of the cities dignitaries and businessmen were on hand for the opening and had a tour of the new facility. Two Texaco representatives, Al Stanley, District Sales Manager; and Richard Hasten, promotion, were on the scene. Harold Lindsey, Jr., with the assistance of Ronnie Bejessie, will manage the new station. Both are qualified mechanics.

Lindsey also works on most foreign cars. During the days of February 2-3-4, they gave away free lighter fluid, lubricating oil for home use, balloons and lollipops. Other prizes of greater value will be given away to lucky persons who go by and register.

Among those present for the ribbon cutting were: Jack Aaron, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Jim Frye; Gene Allen, manager of the Chamber of Commerce; W. T. Zimmerman; Joe Salter; C. J. Lippard; R. C. Chambers; Claude Reed; C. M. Archer; D. C. Dodson; Dick Johnston; and Bill Vincent.

Mrs. Harold Lindsey, Sr., and Mrs. Jimmy Lindsey served coffee and soft drinks from a concession.

Women IN THE KNOW

By Jean Kinkead, Women's Consultant, The Travelers Insurance Companies House Hunting

During this house hunting season the dream of acquiring "That Little Place in the Country" becomes all but irresistible for vast armies of city or apartment dwellers. No one knows this better than the real estate people. Women in the know are especially wary about the properties they are being shown on these honey-colored days when just about any little lean-to on a patch of green looks good. These gals have certain major considerations, first among which, of course, is price. (One rule of thumb for homebuyers is to keep the price within 2 1/2 times the annual income.) What else?

1. The availability of water, electricity, gas, telephone, sewers, mail delivery, street lights and garbage collection.
2. The neighborhood and, if there are children, the school system.
3. The soundness of the essential structure.
4. The plumbing. (How old? How much pressure? Are pipes copper?)
5. A satisfactory heating system. (What is annual cost of fuel?)
6. A safe electrical system, adequate for modern usage.
7. The taxes and any special assessment charges.

When they find the right house at the right price, women in the know encourage their husbands to buy. It's true that mortgage rates are still high, but the forecast is that they will remain so for quite some time. Meanwhile, property values will probably continue to rise, so there is little to gain by waiting and much real satisfaction to be lost.

As a householder, you'll want the best home insurance protection you can afford. Ask your Travelers man to tell you about the various combinations of policies he has, offering a wide range of prices.

The $10 million Institute of Texan Cultures, Texas' exhibit at HemiFair '68, will tell the story of the 26 ethnic groups in Texas history.

Report from Congress

GRAHAM PURCELL, REPRESENTATIVE, 13TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

Dear Friends,
As I write this report to you, international events are developing at a rapid pace, and the tension could be greatly intensified or substantially relieved by the time you receive this. As I report to you, over 14,000 of our military reservists and National Guardsmen have been called to active duty. It must be assumed that the primary cause is the gravity of the situation with relation to Korea which, while building quietly because of the recently increasing number of clashes along the demilitarized zone, has been given critical prominence by the North Korean piracy of the USS Pueblo.

When I had the opportunity to go to Panmunjon just over a year ago and see the actual confrontations which have been going on since 1953, I became more acutely aware of the kind of border incidents which have been occurring more frequently in recent days. I toured our installations in South Korea and witnessed a regular meeting between U.N. representatives and the North Koreans.

I believe our President has been acting properly in using all available diplomatic channels to try to obtain the return of the Pueblo and her crew.

The United States cannot permit any national power to, with impunity, commit acts of war and piracy against our nation. However, our position of world leadership imposes upon us a responsibility to use responsibility and restraint in our dealings with any crisis.

I will support whatever measures are necessary to bring about the safe return of the 83 Americans who have been taken prisoner by North Korea and to return into our hands the USS Pueblo. I have the greatest confidence in President Johnson's determination in this regard.

I can remember several occasions, since we have been required to substantially increase the American manpower commitment in South Vietnam, when the President and the Department of Defense have been criticized for increasing draft calls instead of utilizing existing reserve forces. I believe the current situation vindicates the Administration's decisions in this regard.

The manpower requirements in Vietnam have increased at a rate slow enough to allow us to induct and train adequate personnel without impairing our reserve forces in this country.

Our reserve forces have been, and should be, retained for just such immediate emergencies as the current crisis involving North Korea.

I do not, in any way, minimize the enormity of our commitment and our task in Vietnam. However, we must realize that the strongest nation on earth, the most significant stumbling block to continued communist aggression around the globe, must be ready to act promptly and decisively on a moment's notice any place on earth.

I for one am glad that our nation has strong and able reserve and National Guard forces which have been retained on a readiness status in spite of our heavy Vietnam commitment.

I pray, as I know every American citizen prays, that the current crisis will have been resolved very promptly, by the time this report is received. Our country does not seek armed conflict. Rather we seek a peaceful world, free from aggression, with justice and freedom for all men everywhere. It is tragic that the actions of the enemies of freedom will not allow these goals to be accomplished without the armed enforcement of limitations upon their expansionist activities.

Let us all join together in the hope that the foes of peace will one day realize that we are determined to stand as long as necessary in the path of their attempted enslavement of other nations and that this realization will finally bring the kind of peaceful world we all seek.

Inside Fashion BY BOBEI

Fashions come, and fashions go. But mostly they go! Remember the "one-season chemise?" I think most of us would agree that such radically new fashions rarely outlast the fast fad stage. Not so with the pantsuit, however! I'm happy to report that after two years, the pantsuit is not only still going strong but from all appearances is destined to become a wardrobe staple. And just like many another brainchild of the twentieth century — like the shift and all-weather coat—the possibilities for variety are infinite. No doubt you've already seen many pantsuits around. They're being designed with short jackets, long riding type jackets, sleeveless jackets... ankle pants, mini shorts, culottes—you name it! And in every pattern and fabric imaginable! Why the rage? Well, if you have one, you already know that it's delightfully comfortable. Moreover, most pantsuits make us girls look taller and thinner. And what could be better than that! Look at the long, lithe lines of the stunning suit shown, for example. That subtle shaping is achieved with bonding—the joining of an inner fabric to the outer one. Without it, this delicate tussah silk fabric could never hold its own! With the "built-in lining," though, this Gino Rossi suit is perfect for resort hopping as well as entertaining at home. And because it's fashioned of a COIN fabric—the permanent bonded fabric—you can dry clean it without giving it a second thought. Your dry cleaner advises that the COIN hangtag on a garment is your assurance that—like today's pantsuit—the shape of the garment is here to stay!

A grave is a chamberbox compared to a woman who sulks.

Success With Soups And Sauces

"Soup's On!" and all appetites are tempted to the table. There's just nothing like the spicy aroma of a freshly-made soup, whether it's a clear broth to start the meal or a hearty vegetable, tomato, bean or pea soup that makes a meal in itself.

One of the really classic soups is onion soup. While perfectly acceptable onion soups are available in packaged mixes, no chef ever made his reputation by opening a can. The recipe below for onion soup is a perfect example of how carefully selected ingredients and perfect cooking slowly blends each ingredient until a perfect new flavor is created.

The secret, therefore, is not only what the kettle cooks, but how the kettle cooks as well! Since long hours of simmering are required for a full blend of flavors, the utensils you use can make a difference.

Home economists usually advise the use of aluminum cookware for making soups and sauces. Aluminum, the best heat conductor of the various materials used for utensils, heats faster and more evenly, eliminating the hot spots that cause burning and scorching. Thus, lower heat is required, constant stirring is unnecessary, and there's little fear of boiling over.

HOMEMADE FRENCH ONION SOUP

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 6 cups thinly sliced onions
- 6 cups beef or chicken broth
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- French bread, thinly sliced and toasted
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan or shredded Gruyere cheese

Melt butter in a quart non-stick coated aluminum saucepan. Add onions. Sauté until lightly brown. Add broth and seasonings. Cover, bring to a boil and simmer 35 minutes. Place toast on top of soup, sprinkle cheese over toast. Put in a 300° F. oven until cheese melts. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

DESIGNS FOR YOU-TH "PLUS" FASHION

There's no snag to sewing up a beautiful wardrobe for yourself when the New York Designers' Collection Plus includes high fashion patterns from masters like Rudi Gernreich, Pauline Trigere, and Laird-Knox.

The man who just about started it all—Rudi Gernreich—starts you off with McCall's Pattern #1011, an airy little dress with flowing butterfly sleeves. The squared-off neckline and delicate shirring under the bustline are practically a tradition with Gernreich—and a cult with his followers. This clever accenting is very feminine, and the dress flows delicately from it. The pattern features three lengths from shorty to floor length gown.

More Gernreich in Pattern #1012. This time the romantic sleeve has been modified and caught at the wrist. The look is simple and classic with the dress building like a Greek column — forming a pedestal for your face to rest on! It's equally effective in chiffon or wool.

Pauline Trigere spells elegance, and the computer number for that is Pattern #1007 from McCall's. A forever skimmer with square neck and matching stole (worn as a hood, if you like), it can also be made into a short dress or a floor-length gown. Laird-Knox sends you out in a wonderful walking suit, gift-wrapped with a ribbon scarf. The cut of the jacket has done away with unnecessary suit bulk around the shoulders, underarms and collar — and it tapers elegantly over your hips. If you choose, you could live in a wardrobe of just these suits—in flannels, tweeds, petit point wools, double knits, or chincilla cloth. How many will you make of Pattern #1008?

The dye is cast, as well as the prints, weaves and knits — and they spill over fabric counters across the country. Are you game? Pick your New York Designers' Collection Plus pattern and sew it up!

PROGRESS

Progress is on the march. There is a great boom in building. Cures are being found for maladies that have killed mankind for centuries. Industry is doing magnificent things. But what sort of progress is being made in human relations—this term that includes respect for the person and property of others and good will among men.

There is one agency striving for progress in this field. This agency is the church. At the birth of Jesus Christ, the following prophecy and promise was given to mankind by a host of angels: "Glory to God in the Highest Heaven! Peace upon earth among men of goodwill!" Luke 2:14, (Phillips translation). Only when the majority of men on earth are men of goodwill, will we have peace.

Attend church this week and align yourself with the forces of God.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

A Bitter Blow to Freedom

THE defection of Svetlana Aliluyeva, 40-year-old daughter of Stalin, is of great significance.

This woman had high status in the Soviet Union. She enjoyed many privileges and lived well. By defecting she risks her own life and that of her son and daughter in Moscow. The son is 22, married, and a medical student. The daughter is 17. She must have grave fears for their safety and well being. To take this great step of isolating herself from her country and her children and all family associations, to live in a country entirely new and strange to her, must have been caused by deep convictions and great dissatisfaction with life in the Soviet Union.

Svetlana is a woman of religious faith. Five years ago she was baptized and became a member of the Russian Orthodox Church. She believes in God. She cannot endure the atheism taught by communism, nor its suppression of the right of the individual citizen to direct his own life, and to freely express himself. She is not alone among the good people of Russia who take this view of life. There must be tens of millions like her. Multitudes of them no doubt would like to escape, but have no opportunity to do so. The Kremlin tyrants will sleep uneasily on their beds and will have much less satisfaction in the luxury they enjoy after the defection of this member of the inner circle, who enjoyed many of the same privileges. They must realize that something is desperately wrong with the system which they uphold and which maintains them in power. They know that multitudes would like to do what Svetlana has done, and are only awaiting an opportunity to free themselves from the tyranny under which they suffer.

That our country disappoints the unhappy victims of communism and postpones their deliverance by the aid, comfort and cordiality which it extends to the Soviet Union, must be a bitter blow to the citizens of that country and very galling to the great majority of our own people, who would like to extend the hand of friendship to them and to lend them every possible assistance in their struggle toward freedom.

Time Out For Beauty

It Makes Scents...

Perfume has waited its way through more than fifty centuries of history, mystery, and intrigue. And if one is to believe the legends of Cleopatra, Helen of Troy, and the influential Madame du Barry, you have to admit it's played a powerful role.

Today, we take a less dramatic view of fragrance. But while a subtle scent may no longer topple a throne or cause an army to capitulate, there's no denying it still contributes mightily to the image a woman wants to create.

And fortunately, the days of "saving scents" for "special occasions" are rapidly disappearing. Women tell me they use it daily—splashing cologne on after baths, dabbing cotton wads with toilet water and tucking them in their underclothes, and carrying around a little purse atomizer of perfume, applying it as often as lipstick. They are learning to use the wide variety of fragrance forms daily, for the personal lift it gives, whether at the end of a busy round of home chores or during business hours when impressions are all-important.

Now, there's a new scent concept—oddly enough based on a very ancient one—of fragrance in lotion form. Dorothy Gray has a new one called Secret of the Sea Velvet Mist—and it has a marvelously two-faced beauty purpose. First, it scents, and secondly, it smooths and softens the skin. Because Velvet Mist is oil based, it glides on luxuriously and envelops the wearer in an aura of fragrance. Unlike alcohol based perfume, the new lotions don't quickly vanish into thin air.

Since lovely fragrances delight both the wearer and the one nearest to her, it makes sense to wear scents. Try this silky, lotion idea soon, it will "become" you—in every way.

Service Council Meets Recently To Elect Heads

Election of two committee chairmen and report from other departments featured the regular meeting of the Burk Burnett Community Service Council, Thursday night, at the Reddy Room.

Clyde Slusher was elected to head the youth department and Rev. Don Youngblood the welfare committee of the council. A successful Christmas lighting campaign was reported to the group of council representatives by Mrs. J. T. Erady, chairman of the parks and beautification department of the council, who expressed her appreciation of the cooperation her committee received from home owners, judges and donors of prizes.

Rev. Youngblood reported that his committee coordinated the giving of baskets to the needy during the holiday season and that 72 families received these gifts.

Gene Allen, representing the Chamber of Commerce, outlined plans for the rapid development of the Eoomtown Oil Patch including the building of a porch and new front on the building now on the park site, which is to be a simulated general store. He pointed out the need for volunteer labor and financial assistance for the park.

Joe Salter, president of the council, told members that he had made a trip to Seymour at the request of Seymour clubs which were organizing a community service council along the lines of the Burk Burnett Council. He added that similar requests had come from Dowle, Childress and Quanah and that information about the Burk Burnett Council had been supplied these communities. The certificate of merit awarded Burk Burnett in "Operation Sparkle" and the huge scrapbook presenting Burk Burnett's participation in "Operation Sparkle" were on display and received much attention from council representatives, all of whose clubs had assisted in the projects covered by the book.

FEWER BUT LARGER FARMS SAYS USDA

The number of farms in the U. S. continues to decline but their size is increasing. The USDA's Crop Reporting Board estimates there'll be 3,059,000 farms operating in the nation in 1968, down 3 per cent from the 1967 total. The average 1968 farms, at 369 acres, will be 2.5 per cent larger than in 1967 and 28 per cent larger than the average farm in 1959. Texas with 195,000 farms leads the nation in farm numbers.

Mr. And Mrs. J. C. Adams Celebrate 50th Anniversary With Open House

Pioneers, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams, celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary with open house, January 28th, Sunday, receiving many guests and many beautiful gifts and flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams, owners of Adams Drug Store, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, January 28, by holding an open house at their home, 315 East F. St. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams, Jr., were host and hostess at the affair.

The years together leading to the Golden Anniversary, began in 1918 when they exchanged their marriage vows. They came to Burkburnett in 1919 and began in the drug store business which is still in operation.

Adams, a former mayor of the city, is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, other civic organizations, a Mason and a Shriner.

Mrs. Adams is a past president of the Garden Club, a member of the Eastern Star and she and her husband attend the First Baptist Church. The serving table was covered with a gold satin cloth overlaid with a gold net. In the center was a three-tiered cake with golden bells and the numeral 50 on the top.

Out of town guests attending the celebration held in the home which Adams built in 1921, were: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wilkinson; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lucas; all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Adams; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hogle; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Cox; and Pender

Peevey; of Wichita Falls. Others from out of town included: Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Adams, Monahan; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Joe Chamblee and son, Scott, Dallas; Mrs. Chloe Fuqua, Grandfield, Okla.; Miss Margaret Mathews, San Antonio; and Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Peevey, of Austin.

Many of the couple's local friends attended also and signed the beautiful gold guest book for the Burkburnett pioneers.

The Adams' have three granddaughters and two great-granddaughters. The oldest granddaughter is now in Germany with her serviceman husband and wired a large bouquet of yellow roses for the occasion.

Miss Cathy Alexander will be returned to her home in Burkburnett Friday from the Scottish Rites Hospital in Dallas where she underwent surgery several weeks ago. She is reported to be progressing very satisfactorily. Cathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Alexander, Jr.

SEN. RALPH YARBOROUGH'S NEWSLETTER

President Johnson set the tone of the second session of the 90th Congress with his State of the Union message last week. It promises to be a busy and complicated year, with many vital domestic programs up for consideration and others facing renewal.

The tremendous cost of the war in Vietnam is going to force us in the Congress to be doubly cautious in our spending policies and yet I do not believe that we can afford to stop our education, health and conservation programs at home. We must not erase the progress we have made these past eight years in fighting poverty and unemployment.

Instead, we must forge ahead and tackle still-pressing problems like crime in our cities, and the hunger and poor housing in our urban and rural slums. We must stop polluting our streams and rivers, and we must conserve those natural beauty spots like the Big Thicket region in Southeast Texas.

The year 1968 is a vital one for education programs. The higher Education Act which has helped colleges and universities expand all over our nation is up for renewal this year. We can make no better investment with our federal tax dollar than in the education of our bright young men and women. I intend to urge the Congress to work toward a guaranteed college-level education to every qualified American who wants one, without regard to his ability to pay tuition costs or to buy his expensive textbooks.

The Vocational Education Act which provides funds for job

Burk Garden Club Meets Recently In Election Luncheon

Election of officers was the order of the day, Wednesday, Jan. 24th, for the Burkburnett Garden Club, when they held their Annual Election Luncheon at the Derrick Restaurant, with Mrs. A. T. Nice and Mrs. J. B. Riley as hostesses.

The tables were graced with beautiful arrangements of fresh yellow roses, with yellow rose corsages marking the places of officers present. Mrs. A. R. Bunstine gave the invocation. The president, Mrs. N. Crane, conducted a short business session following which Mrs. Bloodworth, vice president, presided over the election of officers. The following were all re-elected by unanimous vote: Mrs. Newton Crane, president; Mrs. Lloyd Bloodworth, vice president; Mrs. E. N. Cauthorn, secretary; Mrs. D. C. Dodson, treasurer. Mrs. Joy Sessums was appointed parliamentarian and Mrs. A. H. Lohoefer, reporter.

Mrs. Crane read a very fitting article on club work and a poem of inspiration. She reported that the club had set out and placed over 600 plants, trees and shrubs during the last year. She also stressed the District Four Spring meeting in Vernon on March 5th and 6th and asked all who could to attend.

Mrs. Dodson was the "Bee-keeper" of the day and told of the several new varieties of roses and plants and of the geraniums that can now be grown from seed. Eighteen members and one guest, Mrs. Francis Raines, attended.

During 1967 Servicemen's Group Life Insurance administered by commercial insurance companies supplied $36 billion worth of life insurance protection to 3.6 million servicemen at minimal cost, according to the Veterans Administration. The U. S. Government paid the cost of the extra hazardous risk.

The 166 Veterans Administration Hospitals are affiliated with 76 of the nation's 88 medical schools in a partnership that provides better medical care for veterans and helps to train half the nation's new doctors in 20 fields of medicine.
