Rotary Club

H. D. Smith, local FERA administrator, had charge of the program at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday and gave a talk on the relief activities of Burkburnett. He stated that each new applicant was thoroughly investigated before they were accepted, and if found worthy were put on the relief rolls. He further stated that there were at present 270 families or 1350 people on the relief rolls, with 220 families working and 50 on direct relief. That the average here was five to a family and that work was given according to the size of the family and budget set according to the needs. A family of five received 56 hours work per month, or $16.80 with the following commodities issued: potatoes, butter, rice, canned beef, and clothing that is being made in the local sewing room.

The city at present has 6 projects under way, viz: county, which can employ 75 men and timekeeper; city, 25 men; school ground, 10 men; sanitary project, 20 men; sewing room, 8 ladies; cafeteria at school, as many as 5 workers. This does not mean that there are that many working at present, but means that Burkburnett can employ that many if the occasion arises.

The government is at present feeding all school children at the cafeteria whose parents are on the relief rolls, which numbers 150 children. Mr. Smith stated that from Nov. 16, 1933 to April 1, 1934, which was during the CWA setup that money received in Burk from direct relief was $3,520.88; during same period money received from work relief totalled $33,204.58. Making a total of $36,725.46. From April 1, 1934 to Nov. 30, 1934, during the regime of the FERA, which replaced the C. W. A., money received from direct relief totalled $5,189.49; for work relief, $10,967.75. Making a total of $22,157.22, or a grand total from Nov. 16, 1933 to Nov. 30, 1934, of $58,882.68.

Mr. Smith stated that from Jan. 1, 1934 to Nov. 30, 1934, the following commodities had been issued from his headquarters: 21,179 pounds of smoked pork, 15,232 cans of beef, 4,000 pounds of potatoes, 3,790 pounds of lard, 875 2 1/2 pound sacks of flour, 60 blankets, 120 men's overalls and 33 jumpers, 240 bottles of cod liver oil, 100 goats, 20 mattresses, 4,269 yards of piece goods, which has been made into women and children's wearing apparel and men's shirts.

In closing his talk Mr. Smith invited any business men, who thinks that he is having a hard time making ends meet, to visit with him a few minutes any day in the week and after listening to some of the hard-luck stories told he will leave with the explanation that he is getting along fine and don't know it.

Cecil Jenkins, a new member, was introduced by Jack Brumley. Mr. Jenkins is owner of the Mity-Nice Bakery, a new business enterprise in Burkburnett.

Lions Club Entertains News Boys

Rotary Club

The Wichita Falls Times and Record News newsboys were the guests of the Lions club Tuesday night at the First Methodist church at a banquet. Nineteen boys and their director, N. R. Allen, attended the meeting. The boys staged a battle royal for the Lions and each received a pair of gloves from the club as Christmas presents. The speaker was Houston Bolen of Wichita Falls who spoke to the boys and members of the club on the value of time. The speaker urged the boys to invest their time wisely so as to realize a maximum of benefit from the expenditure. Roy Jackson was presented as a new member of the club.

Delinquent C. C. Members Urged To Pay Assessments

The Finance Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and organization officials reveal the fact that the delinquent dues to the Chamber of Commerce this year is in excess to the amount due at the same time last year. All members who have not yet paid their dues are requested to pay up and get into good standing. Some of these delinquents have been receiving the benefits of the workings of the organization and have received their membership cards showing them in good standing with the organization and as yet have not sent in their dues as pledged.

Boxing, Basketball and Plenty of Fun

Smoky Shafer The quintet from Iowa Park will invade the Bulldog kennels tonight in a conference basket ball game. Both teams were forced to await the end of the football season to begin practice and therefore will meet on an equal basis as far as practice is concerned.

In the Round Robin and tournament contests last season the Hawks of Iowa Park annexed both games, but with a new and capable coach the inexperienced material is expected to round out into a smooth working machine in the near future as improvement has already been shown.

Complete new uniforms have been ordered and are expected by the game time Friday. These include shoes, playing suit, and wool warm-ups. This will add color to the game along with the band and pep squad which are always present.

As an extra attraction before the game and during the half three boxing bouts are scheduled. One of the bouts is to be a newsboy free-for-all, it will be no end of amusement to the spectators, as six newsboys will be in the ring at one time with nothing to hold them back but a five minute time limit. In the regular bouts the schedule shows: Wade Goodlet, 155 lbs. vs. Murry Evans, 150 lbs.; and La Vern Patten, 98 lbs. vs. Dorace Hageman, 100 lbs. These fight are extremely interesting as any of the spectators at the last event can tell you.

The probable starting line-up of the Bulldogs is: Baptiste, forward; Robertson, forward; Allen, Center; Rose, guard; Young, guard.

The game starts promptly at 7:15 and plenty of entertainment follows. For the small sum of 25c and 15c you can see a good basketball game three good fights and meet your friends and your friend's friends too. SO BE THERE!

Burk Public Library To Open by January

Miss Natalie Gorin, librarian at the local high school, will have charge of cataloguing books for the Burkburnett Public Library, according to an announcement from the board of directors yesterday. Miss Gorin will complete this work during the holidays, and the library will be open to the public around the first of the year, it is hoped by those in charge.

Burk Boy Winner Spelling Contest

In September a free $50.00 scholarship in Foster Business College was offered to the one sending in the longest list of words spelled from the letters in the word Foster. The contest closed at midnight, Saturday, December 15th.

Notice Again

Members of the Chamber of Commerce who have not yet voted the ballots for new directors are again urged to do so at once. The ballot box is located at the Corner Drug Store and members are urged to vote their ballot by the 21st of December.

Fairview P-TA Met December 17

December 17 at seven o'clock the Fairview Parent-Teacher Association held its monthly meeting. The program was one of the most interesting that has been given this year. The first number was a Xmas program in song by the High School Glee Club and Choral Club. Miss Maudell Gentry was in charge. Rev. Hagard of the First Methodist Church of Burkburnett gave the Devotional. His theme was also the Christmas Story. Last, Mr. R. D. Watkins, principal of the High School, gave an unusually interesting talk on "Character Traits Developed by Play."

After the program, a short business meeting was held.

Some Burkburnett citizens who used to complain because they got silver dollars in their pay envelopes would now be glad to get any kind of dollars in them.

SPECIAL

Hey! Kiddies, remember what we printed last week about Santa Claus ... Yep ... it's true, he is to be here on Saturday at 1:30 p. m. and wants all the kiddies of this territory to come to town to see him and tell him what he wants for Christmas. Old Santa Claus will be on the streets and will visit all the stores and especially the toylands. And he also wrote me that he would visit Burkburnett again on a return visit MONDAY at 2 p. m. to visit all the little boys and girls who might not get to see him next Saturday. Santa Claus says "Now don't forget! Come to town to see me next Saturday."

Needy Children Receive Hair Cuts Courtesy Barbers

Hair cuts, hair cuts, who wants a hair cut? Or maybe, two cuts? Thirty children were the proud possessors of nice, new, fresh, shiney hair cuts Friday morning as a result of a gift of the local barbers to the underprivileged children working through the attendance department of the local schools. Black hair, blonde hair, red hair, white hair, sandy hair, it all flew Wednesday when the local barbers held open house to these boys and girls after their regular hours of work. "Now, I'll have more neck to wash", one little boy replied as he looked into the mirror at the back of the neck that had for the first time a real "barber shop" cut. "My dad use to cut mine with a bowl", one said, "but we have lost the scissors".

Any way when Santa Claus comes next Monday night he will find thirty heads of trimmed hair, necks clipped, as a present of the local barbers. Shops that aided Santa Claus in distinguishing the boys and girls were: City Barber Shop, Modern Barber Shop, Allison's Barber Shop, Mims Barber Shop, Lady Barber Shop, Orient and Dixie Barber Shops.

Palace Sponsors Free Show Friday Matinee

Notice Again

The Poultry Show sponsored by the vocational agriculture class with Jack D. Everheart as director and backed by the Chamber of Commerce drew large crowds on Friday and Saturday, December 14th and 15th. There were 300 fowls exhibited at the show and great interest was shown by the crowds who viewed the showings. The show was held in connection with the work of the newly established department of agriculture within the Burkburnett High School with Jack Everheart as Vocational Agriculture Teacher.

Excellent displays from two other departments of the High School were also shown. These departments were the Home Economics and Manual Training classes. Showing of handiwork in the Manual training department were shown to be of high grade quality as well as the dresses, etc. displayed by the girls Home Economics class.

There were many divisions in the chicken judging department. A. Lohofener carried off most of the prizes in the Rhode Island showing. Others winning first places were: Brahmas, hens, Quannah Nichols; young pen, Bob Trask; Buff Orpington hen, I. D. Dunnaway; pullet Dave McNeill; old pen, Lloyd Gwinn. White Leghorns, hen, Avis Finch; pullets, G. L. Wigham; old pen, L. M. Carnes; young pen, Melvin Bills. White Plymouth Rock, hen, W. A. Browning. White Rhode Island, hen, Quannah Nichols, Ancona, pullets, Melvin Bills. Black Minorca, hens, Norman Brittain. Silver Laced Wyndottes, old pen, Lloyd Gwinn; young pen, Lloyd Gwinn. Cornish Game, hen, Dave Holtzen; old pen, Dave Holtzen. Hamburg Bantam, cock and hen, G. Wilkins. No first places were awarded in Barred Rocks. First place for the young turkeys was won by E. Martin. In the game fowl division first places were won by J. H. Terry, J. G. Allison, M. Green, V. Goodlett, W. T. Vance and E. Stradley. The poultry show was judged by a Mr. Ray who filled in due to the absence of Mr. I. D. Brown, of Wichita Falls, who had been selected to do the judging. The dairy cattle and young colts which were shown as an additional attraction to the poultry show were judged by county agent, G. C. McGown.

The guessing of the number of grains of corn that a turkey which had been kept up without food was one of the high spots of interest to the visitors to the poultry show.

The sponsors of the poultry show and those who were connected in any way with the same wish to take opportunity through this means to thank all individuals and business firms who lent assistance in making the show possible. Especially do they want to thank Mr. Mike Begun for the use of the building, the Shamburger Lumber Company for the use of the lumber, the Burk Motors and the Barrow-Grace Motor for use of trucks, City light department for lights, and to any others who might have been overlooked who have given their assistance. Last but not least do they thank the people who entered their fowls for competition in order that the show be possible, and the Burkburnett Star for the publicity given.

C. P. Logan, manager of the Palace and Tex Theatres, announces that there will be a free show for the kiddies of Burkburnett at the Palace Friday evening beginning at 3 o'clock. The children who wish to see this show are asked to get in touch with H. D. Smith and he will furnish them with a ticket. The children have all been admitted and there is room the parents of the children will be welcome to view the show.

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Time flies swiftly, and today we find ourselves on the threshold of another Christmas season. Already the atmosphere is charged with that unmistakable spirit of "good will toward men." The mellowing of hearts that have known their burdens in the months now past and gone is but an advance herald of the glad event but a little way ahead.

Through snow and storm and drouth and parching temperatures, as well as through skies that have not been without their sunshine, we come again to the season when all human worries are forgotten in one universal song of rejoicing, in one world-wide chorus of "Peace on earth." With the rejoicing comes the age-old custom of extending greetings and good wishes. And here we pause to carry out, in the happiest spirit we know, our part of that joyful old custom.

Christmas finds some cause for happiness in every heart, regardless of how much or how long that heart has suffered. It is the one season of the year when mankind finds a childlike simplicity in the belief that the peace he feels in his own heart must rest upon the world at large, and that surely it must forever prevail. Christmas brings a new birth of Hope, and upon Hope alone is our future, and the future of the whole world founded.

We extend to everyone in Burkburnett and surrounding territory our heartiest wishes for a full measure of Hope and Faith, the greatest of all blessings. We trust their share of the substantial things of life—health and comfort—will be a generous share. Whatever their hearts crave, may they receive. We wish for you and yours the power to forget at this Christmas season all things that may have carried a cloud into your lives during the year now fast drawing to a close. We wish for you the power to forever remember the happiness past months have brought you. We wish for you ahead unmarked by a single cloud—a year of prosperity, of comfort and contentment. May this Christmas bring you every blessing to which the human heart is a rightful heir, and may those blessings be abundant enough to keep you, and those about you, happy throughout all the years to come.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

Again there has appeared throughout the country those bright little harbingers of the holiday season called "Christmas Seals." They have become familiar to Burkburnett citizens as the means by which some 2000 tuberculosis associations throughout the land, all affiliated with the Red Cross, raise funds to carry on their work. It costs but a penny to attach one of these little stickers to the letter or package you mail today, but a few cents to put one on every letter and every package. And yet those pennies help in one of the noblest fights ever waged for humanity—the fight to cure, to prevent and to ultimately wipe out tuberculosis in America. Your duty is clear, and you are urged not to overlook it. Buy and use Red Cross Christmas seals.

One reason why business doesn't pick up is because so few are trying to pick up business.

The average Burkburnett citizen now lives 30 years longer than did his forefathers in 1800. He has to in order to get his taxes paid.

There is good in all things, even hard times. Think what a war might be in progress if all the nations weren't broke.

Here in Burkburnett a nickle isn't supposed to be as good as a dollar, but it goes to church oftener.

One out of every four people are now on the government payrolls—and the other three are eager candidates.

TWELVETREES DRAMA BASED ON REAL LIFE

"One of the most daring social stories ever published in McCall's Magazine." So it is said of Elisabeth Cobb's novel, "She Was a Lady," which comes to the screen of the Tex Theatre on Friday and Saturday.

Miss Cobb writes "She Was a Lady" from incidents in the life of a family she once met. However, only part of the story is true, the main part being fiction. This is Miss Cobb's first published novel. She has contributed many short stories and interviews, but never gathered enough courage to attempt a book until recently. She is now at work on her second.

CAESAR

Selected after an exhaustive search of all Hollywood's available talent, Warren William plays the role of Julius Caesar in Cecil B. Critics everywhere have commented on the startling likeness of William to the existing portraits of the famous Roman Emperor who loved the Egyptian Queen and lost his life because of that love.

Motor Ass'n To Meet In Dallas

Austin, December 10—Looking forward to mapping a more progressive program for their growing industry, motor transportation men of Texas will meet in a three-day convention in Austin the last part of December.

Conclave plans have received such unusually good response, according to Walter Beck, in charge of Texas Motor Transportation Association activities, that arrangements are being developed for a comprehensive motor truck and equipment with the business sessions which will open December 27 and close three days later.

Splendid facilities of the University of Texas will be employed for both convention and exposition. Business meetings will be conducted in huge Gregory Gymnasium, one the University Campus, and a paved and parked area, 120 by 550 feet, will be the scene of the exhibition of the most modern machines and equipment.

"To Discuss Problems"

The convention is to be held to iron out a variety of problems confronting the industry, Beck said. "Out of the meetings and show will come a clear picture of both good and retarding conditions existing in the industry."

Some of the convention purposes will be consolidated trucking code gains, talking over problems of each class of operators, and learning the latest developments in equipment, operating practices and services.

Discussions and expert speakers will be parts of special meetings of various groups, including private, local cartage and dump truck operators, common carriers, oil field haulers, and topics to be aired will be of deep interest to everyone, from the operator of one truck to the owner of a fleet.

Texas Motor Transportation Association members have elected the following new officers:

Henry English, Lubbock; Harry E. Stewart, E. D. Balcom and E. J. Kahn, all of Dallas; A. W. Dunn, Marshall; W. M. Dewey, F. G. Dorsey, R. L. Lohse, and Campbell Sewall, all of Houston; Harry Leonard, San Antonio; J. E. Weaver, Jr., Midlothian; John E. Collier, Fort Worth; Eugene T. Thompson, Beaumont; E. A. Brown, Austin; A. R. Dally, Lubbock, and Charles

Herder, Weimar.

Dorsey was made president of the association; Balcom vice-president; Walter Beck executive vice-president, and Lohse, Secretary-treasurer.

Senior Personalities

CHUCK MORRISON
 The scene of our plot opens with the entrance of our friend, "Chuck" into a small oriental looking room. Seated at a small desk is a stranger. By his dusky skin and his white turban, we know him to be a Hindu, and by the crystal ball resting on the desk in front of him we presume him to be a fore-teller of the future. Our friend and class mate hesitates at the door, but the seated man beckons with his hand, and Chuck takes a chair opposite the desk and the crystal. Chuck breaks the silence first: "I suppose that you, being in your profession, already know who I am and what I want, Mr. Haraj". Haraj: "Yes, my friend, I know. Your name is Charles William Morrison, and you wish to know if I can really perform all I say I can. I can, and to show you I shall begin now. (Passing his hands over the crystal, he mumbles some words inaudible to us.) Oh! Once more my faithful crystal is going to depict scenes of life from some mortal! I see you as a baby very small and very red, on a farm near Gotebo, Oklahoma. I see you growing up amid the wilds of nature and the contentment of a good home. When you are five you move to a place fairly buzzing with excitement. I see something black, slimy and glistening. Oh! It is oil, and you are living in a group of houses on an oil lease. The group is called, Stringtown. And now, you have grown into a boy six years old. I see you with the new school books. I see you take your place in the well equipped school house named "Fairview". Time and you progress. You are a good pupil and are liked by all your teachers and class mates. At the present time you are a Senior of the same well-equipped high school named Fairview. You are a member of the Senior basket ball team and the boy's choral club. Your monthly report cards always seem to be favorable. Of your classes you like history best, but you prefer Mr. Watkins to any of the teachers. You have remarked that you are very fond of spinach and Coca Cola's. You like blue and white best of the colors. Oh! Ha! There is a woman in your life. She is very pretty, yes. Her hair is very beautiful. Her initials are M. L. B. You have known and liked her for a very long while it seems. Your attention is divided between her and your liking for hunting duck, but in the end, "love will have its way". The future is vague, my son. Your present plans are to join the navy, a very practical idea, or enlist in a military academy, which is also a capital idea. At any rate, I see you leading a fine and honorable life filled with peace and happiness. The globe is growing dim now—oh—it is gone!"

With these words the conference ended and our friend went his way rejoicing.

The Monotony of Being Good

Oh! Tow I hate to be good! How tiresome it is to have to sit with your hands folded at school and at home! Oh, I know that you are supposed to study at school, but that means that you are being good.

What fun it is to throw paper wads or chalk at someone! More fun still, is to shoot some one with pins or anything that has a sharp edge. Sometimes it is not quite so funny when you do not judge your throw correctly and hit the teacher. It is

New Process "Washes" Oil of Impurities—Makes Cars Start Quicker

An ice coated engine in a test room with the temperature at zero, started instantly with a motor lubricant made by new Clearosol Process, which "washes" oil clean of natural impurities as you would wash dirt from your hands with soapy water.

STARTING of engines in winter has always been the car owner's worry. In many cases the trouble is due to improper lubricating oils, which causes piston rings to stick and valves to gum. A process to refine oil properly has been sought ever since the automobile has come into general use.

Recently the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company announced a revolutionary new way to refine oil that is expected to change the entire trend of present day refining, and to save trouble and dollars for motorists.

Chemists and engineers have long sought a way to completely remove from oil the harmful elements which nature imprisoned in crudes millions of years ago. They have been striving to discover new methods which would supplant older systems of refining, complicated and unsatisfactory in many ways.

The new way known as Clearosol process uses powerful solvents to "wash" oil of impurities, as you would wash dirt from your hands with soapy water.

It is the most effective process that has ever been developed to produce all of the desirable characteristics for motor oils in one operation.

Just as conditions of operation in modern automobile engines impose high temperature stresses upon the oil used, so also conditions of low temperature winter operation require that the oil preserve its fluidity at low temperatures. Thus trends in automotive engine design, as well as new ideas as to the service expected from both engines and oils, demanded the development of motor oils having characteristics unheard of a few years ago.

The discovery of the process should be of great benefit and savings to motorists in upkeep and repairs. From the car owner's standpoint, Mobiloil Arctic made this new way lasts up to 25 per cent longer; motorists will have no stuck piston rings, gummed valves or other annoying motor troubles due to the oil; it will greatly cut down carbon in the motor caused by improper lubrication.

Senior Rings of 1935

Well, the happy days are here again, and the Seniors feel dignified. I should say they do. They received their rings December 6. They were very glad because they had waited so long, but finally the rings came.

The Seniors have answered more questions the last week than ever before and naturally they waved their right hand, constantly, trying to attract attention. If they met any one in the hall or on the street the first thing they would say was: "Look at our new rings" But really and truly they are proud of them because they mean so much to each Senior of 1935.

Essentials of Primary English

By Grace Kreager

Have you ever stopped to think that the use of improper English by the child starts very early? How many of you have ever heard some three or four, or often five year old child say "Me hungry" or "Me don't want no cereal"? And the fond parent thinks the child too young for correction. Would it not be as easy for the child to say, "I'm hungry", or "I don't want cereal"?

Does not this start the first improper use of words and limit the child's ability to properly express himself later? This limited way of expression often does not stop at pre-school age but is allowed to continue. As an example, I have known children who, at school, are handicapped because at home they are still permitted to use the so-called "baby-talk".

Thus much depends on the proper supervision in correct English usage in the Primary grades. Pupils in the first, second, and third grades who do not acquire the essentials are handicapped in their English when they reach the upper grades.

Following are standards of achievements for the first three grades:

First Grade

1. Written Work
There is no requirement for achievement in independent written composition until the second school year. However, the foundation is laid for this work. Training in written composition consists of two phrases.

A. Directed work, in which the pupils become familiar with the following points:

1. Period at end of statement.
2. Question mark at end of question.
3. Capital at beginning of sentence.
4. Capitals in writing names of persons, places, and days of week.
5. Writing name and address.

Writing correctly the date, including the month.

B. Independent work — construction of sentences with work cards

2. Oral Work
Take an inventory of the class errors for a period early in the school term. From this list select the five forms that occur most frequently. Do not attempt too many forms the first year, but aim for perfection. The following list is suggestive:

- A. Grammatical forms
I saw him.
Jack and I went.
I have no pen.
I haven't any pen.
- B. Drill on pronunciation of words: just, get, catch, going, calling, mother, think, and ate.

This list should be based upon the needs of the class.

Second Grade

1. Written Work
A. Capitalization
1. Beginning sentences
2. Names of persons
3. Names of various places
4. Days of the week
5. The pronoun I.
2. Oral Work

Take an inventory of the class errors, and do not attempt too many forms.

- A. Grammatical forms
I haven't any.
Tell Jack and me.
My pencil is broken.
I am not going.
We ate it.

B. Drill on pronunciation and enunciation of words ending in "ing" and others, as: "ate, give, you, your, catch, sing, and know."

3. Composition type lesson.

- A. Select topics of interest.
- B. Develop the topic in such a way as to permit each child to speak from his personal point of view.
- C. Aid the children in thinking clearly in sentences.
- D. With a few sentences and instructions given, train the child to organize his subject matter.

Third Grade

1. Written Work
A. Capitalization
1. Review of first two grades
2. New work

- a. Titles of stories
- b. Titles of poetry and first word in line of poetry
- c. Names of months
- d. Name of your state (Introduced three or four others)

- B. Punctuation
1. Period at end of sentence
2. Question mark at end of question

3. Correct punctuation used in writing name and address
4. Correct letter form
- C. Abbreviations

1. Mr. and Mrs. (Teach difference between Mrs. and Miss.)
2. Names of days and months
3. St.
4. Dr.
5. Their own initials

2. Oral work
A. Grammatical forms
Has Jack gone yet?
2. He went home.
3. That isn't mine.
4. It is I.
5. There were three boys.
6. I have seen a mouse.
7. She gave me a pencil.
8. He doesn't know.
9. Set the vase there.

10. Sit here, Mary.
11. May I help you?
12. They came home.
- B. Drill on pronunciation and enunciation of the following: didn't you, can't you, don't you, couldn't you, running, was, of, sing, think, and drink.

3. Composition
The procedure is the same as given for the second grade. Use much descriptive work. Stress letter writing to classmates, friends, etc.

4. Story telling
This may be taught in connection with Silent Reading. Select short stories of interest to the child.

Home Economics

We were glad to see so many people come by our exhibit last day and Saturday.

Some of the home economics classes are making Christmas presents this week. The foods they are making Christmas candies they seem to be the most popular in school at the present time.

Friday night H-7-1 had their party at the home of Doris De About twenty was there. Even received a gift. Delicious refreshments were served and everyone enjoyed themselves.

VOLLEY BALL GIRLS PLAY ELECTRA

The volley ball girls played Thursday night and were defeated. The girls showed slight improvements. They need practice and need to concentrate on serving team work.

All the girls are interested in volleyball and are working hard to expect to make a better showing against Iowa Park Wednesday afternoon.

Vocational Agriculture

The results of the Poultry Show that was staged Friday and Saturday showed that it was a success. There were many citizens of fair city that should be credited with the success of the show.

An exhibit of colts, chickens, keys, geese, ducks and rabbits was shown. The exhibit was carried in the same manner as a County Fair and even some of the people would have won a place at the fair.

Those who made the show a success were the following: Mike Gun, Barrow-Grace Co., Gas Water Co., Light Plant, Frankley, Majors.

The tennis courts are being completed. The clay has been put down and they are being leveled. They will be ready for use in forty or forty days.

The residence on the corner campus has been sold and moved soon. After this is done the corner of the campus will be beautified. This will greatly improve appearance of the campus.

Mary V. C. (next morning picnic) I feel just like I had a picnic in my stomach this morning. Wayne P.—I know the reason, because you ate that brick of cream.

Mr. Duncan—You're a fellow who's always equal to any situation aren't you?
Eugene R.—Yes, I was born in emergency hospital.

Travis M.—For love of you I become anything.
Olena C.—Become a millionaire.

Loyd G.—Would you marry me?
Francis C.—Well, a husband with no money to me would be like a garage with no car in it.

R. H. Morse—Will your dog bite?
Almeta—Yes, and he doesn't know what either.

Odus H.—(at fountain pen counter making a purchase) You are buying this for my girl?
Clerk—A surprise, eh?
Odus H.—I'll say so, she is expecting a watch.

HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY

During the month of November with its twenty school days High School Library circulated 723 seven-day and 118 overnight books. These figures mean that the average over eighty-six books have been charged out each day the students in the high school building. As the students know seven-day books include all of the books on the high school reading lists and all other biography, fiction and travel. The overnight books include collections of declamatory special reference books for history and other similar material.

In the month of October, there were twenty-three school days, 1,112 seven-day and 103 overnight books were circulated. The library, on twelve school days, September, issued 368 seven-day and 27 overnight books.

Did You Know?

That Louis Sims was selected district half back by the coaches of this district?

That it costs $335.65 to operate school one day?

That Dorothy Hagar made G's last six weeks?

Neighborliness . . . .

No one is rich enough to do without a neighbor and none so poor that he is not made to feel the thrill of living near the right kind of neighbors.

The neighborliness of the faculty of the schools and the people of Burkburnett is one of the city's greatest assets.

We want to tell you that we appreciate your business during the past year and hope that our business dealings with you has been such that you will visit us often during 1935.

We Wish You, One and All

Big Rabbit Creek December 16, 1934

Mrs. Dave Jones had one of her fine yearling steers torn up by the same pack of dogs mentioned last week. The steer had to be killed, so the writer was informed a week ago today (Sunday). They killed one of Mr. John Aston's fine sheep and the following day, Monday afternoon, was when they attacked the steer.

The Randlett gin reported ginning seven bales of cotton Saturday. Mr.
Roberts advised the writer that he would continue to gin cotton until after Jan. 1, 1935. A great many farmers are waiting for their cotton boles to all open up before going over for the last time.

At this writing the indications overhead looks very favorable for a snow which would be very much appreciated on the wheat and oats that were planted last fall.

Quite a few of the farmers in the Rabbit Creek Community have their teams on the relief work up at Randlett hauling gravel for the graveling of the streets of Randlett.

Mr. Tobe Hardin, Mrs. Martha Nails and her son, Charlie motored over from their home to the Owens family Saturday night and spent several hours visiting with the family their call were welcomed. Call again.

The writer has been informed that a Xmas tree and a fine program will be rendered at the Big Rabbit Creek school house Xmas eve, Monday evening. Everyone is cordially invited to attend as a fine time is expected and the best of all Santa will sure be there from the far North to greet every little boy and girl also lots of the older ones.

J. B. Fletcher motored over to Ardmore, Oklahoma Saturday afternoon to see a friend of the Fletchers who is very ill.

Well, folks, the time is drawing near for old Santa Claus to come again, but owing to the awful drouth which every country went through with this summer all over our nation, old Santa won't be loaded with toys and candies as he usually is for the little kiddies, but we all should be thankful that God has been as good to us as to spare our lives to see another Xmas come and go.

Mrs. Maud Owens had a very sick horse last Wednesday, but Ed and John commenced doctoring him and in an hour or so he was out of all danger. He had an attack of the Colic. The boys always have a good supply of horse and mule medicine on hand.

Mr. Keeble Jones for the past week has been hauling and stocking his uncle John Ashton's fine lot of feed that was cut a few days past.
Keeble is stacking the feed on John's

Indian Lease and he is doing a nice job.

Mrs. Dave Jones finished pulling her 1934 cotton crop Saturday, so the writer has been informed. Mrs.
Jones had a large force pulling boles
all of last week.

F. E. R. A. WORKERS MAKING FALSE STATEMENT SUBJECT TO PENITENTIARY IMPRISONMENT

The following communication was received this week by H. D. Smith, local F. E. R. A. administrator from the Texas Relief Commission, Austin, Texas, and is self-explanatory:

To All County Administrators:

The stamp is to be used on Forms 1-A and 1-B. It is to be signed at the time of the application interview. In the case of families already on relief. The case worker may secure the signature the next time she visits the family or the next time the head of the House comes to the office. The signature indicates that the statements contained on the application and budget forms are facts.

"Sec. 36. made their duty to administer such oaths free of charge, on such forms as may be prescribed by the State Board of Control, setting forth the conditions and circumstances which entitle such person and or family to such direct relief or work relief, and any person knowingly making any false statements under oath, as above provided, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be punished by confinement in the penitentiary not less than two (2) years nor more than five (5) years."

New Dodges On Display

Detailed announcement of the 1935 Dodge line, widely awaited because of pre-season crediting the new models with important innovations, will prove interesting reading because the manufacturers, not content with keeping abreast of prevailing trends, offer several unexpected features.

It is apparent that Dodge body stylists have outdone themselves in creating a series of bodies to which streamlining has been applied with eye-filling and practical beauty. The student of mechanical developments also finds many interesting points designed to invest motoring with still greater comforts and, in a variety of ways, with still greater safety and economy.

New Engine and Chassis Features
The thoroughness with which Dodge have gone about their task may be gathered from a partial list of 1935 Dodge details. Aside from completely redesigned bodies, these include a Dodge high-compression Red Ram engine, a new and interesting "synchronomatic" front suspension, a ventilated clutch, a synchro-shift transmission, further improved hydraulic brakes, and a number of engine and chassis features through which certain control functions, formerly the duty of the driver, are now performed automatically.

In the body interiors, made more comfortable by a perfected, clear-vision ventilation system, Dodge designers have evolved new heights of convenience. There is an almost lavish display of leg and elbow space and, in the way of appointments, about everything the exacting buyer might expect.

In dimensions, the bodies of 1935 Dodge models are considerably wider; there is more space between floor and roof, though the car's overall height is not increased. The fact that no filler-apron bridges body and running boards not only gives the body sides a pleasing aspect of tailored smoothness, but makes it possible to lower the car floors nearly 4 inches without sacrifice of road clearance.

"Synchronomatic" Springing Explained

Of strongly outstanding interest is the Dodge "synchronomatic" front wheel action which, because of its unusual construction, will attract much attention. The suspension incorporates a rigid front axle; specially soft, thin-leaf springs; double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers and a rubber-cushioned synchronizing mechanism called the Dodge "ride levelator."

In Memoriam

WHEREAS, it has pleased Almighty God in His Infinite Wisdom to call from our fraternal family, our blessed sister: Sister Josephine Estes.

THEREFORE, be it resolved that we, the members of Burkburnett Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, in order to perpetuate her memory, to express an appreciation of her worth, to condole with her grief stricken family, and to make known to all our trust and reverence in the righteousness of the Divine Will, does hereby extend to her bereaved family our sincerest and tenderest sympathies, and pray that the passing years will leave them only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the comfort that must be theirs in the simple belief that "God, still rules, commands order, and will not forget."

Out of Life's garden where bloometh Flowers of wonderful hue,
God planted a rose of rare beauty,
The soul of our sister true,
He watched it unfold its petals,
As day by day it grew,
Warmed by the rays of sunlight,
And kissed by the evening dew,
It wafted its own sweet message
On wings like a carrier dove,
To the hearts and lives of others,
A message of Faith, Hope and Love,
And when one day Death threatened
To touch it with withering blight,
The Father Himself stooped earthward
And plucked this fair one from our sight.

But He left the perfume with us
Of this blossom sweet and rare,
Which transplanted blooms eternal
In His Heavenly Garden fair.

Another thing pioneer Burkburnett families didn't have to contend with was somebody misplacing the keys to the car.

Dinner Party for Fairview Faculty

If you fain would go to a Goose
 Dinner, come with me for awhile.
 Because Mr. and Mrs. Paschall really know the where and when and the why about Goose.

Just imagine the Fairview Teacherage Dining Room decorated with holly, and the center piece for the table a snow drift with deer and cedar trees half covered in the snow.
 Because it really was that way. And the place cards were little boys peeping over large snowballs into the faces of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Watkins, Miss Lillie Mae Armstrong,
 Miss Lois Thompson, Mr. Erwin
 Brand, Miss Lillie Mae Armstrong,
 Miss Lois Thompson, Mr. Erwin
 Brand, Mr. Charles L. Jones, Miss Maudell Gentry, Miss Pattie Thompson, Miss Toby Baird, Miss Reagan
 Jacobson, Miss Ray Davis, Miss Lois Blalock, Y. C. Paschall Jr., and the host and hostess respectively as if they had made the ball from the snow drift in the center and rolled it to each plate.

But what about the goose—Well, it was delicious, and the gravy and salad and corn, and cake with whipped cream, and oh, just everything that goes with Goose. I must stop talking about the things to eat and tell you a big surprise, but you must know that the brown in the Goose and gravy and the tomato color and green in the salad and the color of the apple sauce made a beautiful color scheme—especially for a Goose Dinner.

About that time there was a hub-dub and heydey, for you know teachers after four o'clock, but wait until I tell you. Mrs. Watkins had slipped away from he place and was coming into the door again with a down comfort for the teachers made old Santa Claus leave for Mr. and Mrs. Paschall. Just about time Mr. Paschall and Mrs.
 Paschall began not to be surprised, well, Miss Jacobson came in with a present for Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, and we thought all the time she was in her place. Then Miss Davis presented the teacher's present to Mr.
 Brand, and last, Miss Armstrong presented Miss Blalock with the present the teachers had selected for her. Then all were surprised, for the dessert was being served, fresh coconut cake, etc. etc.

Don't ask me how I knew all this for it surely isn't any harm to peep
 —just a little.

It is the usual procedure when one motion picture company leads the way with a "different" type of production, the rest soon follow like sheep and the public finds another "cycle" of similar pictures offered for their entertainment, as evidenced by the vogue for ganster stories historical biographical pictures
 "back-stage" pictures and so on ad nauseam.

Occasionally, however, a more venturesome producer strikes out on an entirely new path and leads the way for the rest. Nat Levine, president of Mascot Picture, is filmdom's latest pioneer in striking out from the beaten path with his unusual special feature production, "Young and Beautiful" which the enterprising manager of the Palace Theatre has scooped the field by booking for its first showing here on Tuesday and Wednesday.
