ROTARY CLUB CELEBRATES 13TH BIRTHDAY AT PARTY

Approximately fifty Rotary members, Rotary Anns and guests gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Wiggins on West Main street Tuesday evening for an informal program of entertainment celebrating the thirteenth birthday of the Rotary Club in this city. It has been the custom of the club at this time of the year to have a banquet in honor of this occasion which have been very much enjoyed but by the featuring of this informal entertainment much comment was received from the Rotary Anns as being one of the most pleasant evenings.

The tables were attractively arranged and a purple and gold color scheme emphasizing Rotary colors was carried out. Paul Browning, the only charter member of the club, acted as toastmaster and was introduced by Alvin Hill.

A singsong, led by George Taylor, accompanied at the piano by Miss Peggy Gideon, opened the affair. After which Miss Blanche Butler, local piano instructor, and Roy Davis, student of Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey of Wichita Falls, presented a number of piano selections. Arthur Davis, a student of Ethele Allen Nelson, rendered two violin numbers. George Taylor of Wichita Falls, who is well known in this section of the state for his old favorite songs on occasions like this, and on the radio, entertained until the hostess served a lovely refreshment plate.

Closing the events of the evening was several request numbers sung by Mr. Taylor and last but not least, led the group in singing the "End of a Perfect Day".

Grand Jury Condemns Citizens For Little Evidence

Scoring citizens who are unwilling to testify regarding liquor and gambling law violations and condemning federal internal revenue agents for their refusal to give evidence, the Wichita county grand jury made a lengthy report on the results of their special investigations into night clubs and similar places to Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court shortly before noon Monday.

Nine defendants were indicted on charges of violating Texas liquor laws. They were Hal Mayer, Bert Mayer, A. A. Pettijohn, R. A. Ferguson, Johnny Clark, Jack Hill, Jim Morton, Bill Doe and Frank Archer. All are charged with possession of whisky for sale except Ferguson who was indicted for both possession and sale of liquor.

In accepting the report Judge Martin congratulated the grand jurors on their work. He commented on the fact that the federal government in issuing liquor sale licenses in dry states had actually encouraged law violations and added that the collection of this excise tax was held unconstitutional in a decision handed down last week by the U. S. circuit court of appeals at New Orleans.

Other indictments were returned by the inquisitors as follows: Fred Johnston, murder; Luke Crear, murder; Ted Bumpus, assault on murder; R. E. Rose, embezzlement; Otto Medlin, burglary; B. F. Wiley, burglary; Elsworth Grundy, two cases of chicken theft; James Grundy, two cases of chicken theft; Esteban Beltran, chicken theft; Winston Baity, theft over $50 and receiving and concealing stolen property; Kenneth Mendenall, two cases of forgery; Ernie Jones, theft over $50; Robert Thomas, two cases of burglary; and 12 cases in which the defendant was not under arrest or under bond.

Johnston was billed for the hammer slaying of Mrs. Maude Hefley, who died in a local hospital several days after being found in her bedroom suffering from a crushed skull. Crear, a negro, is charged with the fatal shooting of his wife at the Kell field airport, where both were employed in the restaurant there. Bumpus, also a negro, is charged with assault to murder in connection with an attack upon J. C. Ward, pioneer Wichitan, at the latter's home, 1104 Austin street. Mr. Ward was struck in the head with a broom handle and seriously injured.

Members of the grand jury were John F. O'Donohoe, foreman; J. T. Harrell, Herbert Voelcker, L. W. McCrory, J. C. Mytinger, Wichita Falls; O. C. Wills, J. S. Mills and J. C. Adams, Burk Burnett; A. F. Kimmell, route 1; H. C. Obenhaus, Electra; and W. F. George and Curtis Sewell, Iowa Park.

Mr. Voelcker, Mr. Mills and Mr. George were named by Judge Martin as a grand jury commission to meet Monday afternoon and draw the grand jury panel for the April term.

Warning

Another warning is given owners of stock in Burk Burnett who permit their cows, horses and other stock to run at large, according to a statement issued by City Manager Reagan this week. Ordinance No. 23 provides that such animals shall be impounded and sold after ten days unless claimed and settlement made for feed. This ordinance will be enforced to the letter, and the public is urged to keep their stock up.

Much stock is doing excessive damage to property in the city, pointed out Mr. Reagan, and citizens are asked to cooperate in lessening this menace. All stock reported running at large will be placed in the city pound.

Volney Hill was elected last year as coach of the football squad. He had a very successful year but the school trustees and patrons of the school are expecting even greater things this year.

Star Ads Bring Results!

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce met in special call meeting Wednesday at noon for the purpose of investigating a plan submitted by Fred Brookman which will be known as Treasurer Day. After the plan was explained to the directors they went on record as being heartily in favor of same.

The plan in brief is this: The Treasurer Day Club is an organization of merchants and business men working together in a big trade expansion program and the first weekly Treasurer Day program will be held the first Saturday in April.

Everyone who registers in Burk Burnett with the stores listed as members of the Treasurer Day Club are eligible to receive the cash award.

Register Only Once

It is only necessary to register once to be eligible to receive the free cash award. The plan works on the same principal as Bank Nights that are operating all over the country. One name will be called and if the person is not present the next week the award will be increased $25. To file more than once causes additional work for the registrar, and in no event will the name be listed more than one time.

A more detailed report with the list of those who are members of the club will be listed in next week's paper.

Relief Gardens In Burk Burnett Planted

H. D. Smith, local relief director, received 800 pounds of seed potatoes last Wednesday to be used in the relief gardens. The ground was prepared for planting last week and the planting took place the latter part of the week. The ERA director stated that they had also received 60 pounds of beans, 80 pounds of peas, pumpkins, carrots and beet seeds and the planting of these would take place this week.

The products from these gardens will be distributed next fall to the persons on the relief rolls.

Jackie Vaught Is Hurt At School

Jackie Vaught, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neeley Vaught, is confined to his home this week suffering from a head injury.

Jackie was playing in the gym at the high school Tuesday at noon, when he fell, striking his head on a chair. He was taken to the Burk Burnett clinic for first aid and later taken to his home. His injury is painful, though not considered serious.

House Begins Three-Day Debate Proposal To Pay Soldiers' Bonus With Patman Bill Holding Slight Edge

All cash bonus bills which have been introduced at this session were made eligible by the house today for a vote on the floor.

After less than 30 minutes of discussion, the house approved a resolution bringing up the Vinson cash payment plan immediately for 10 more hours of debate. Then, under the resolution, any other bill—including the Patman $2,000,000,000 currency expansion proposal—may be offered as a substitute for the Vinson bill and voted upon.

The campaign to obtain immediately cash payment of the $2,000,000,000 soldiers' bonus swept on to the floor of the house of representatives today. Leaders freely predicted that when the three-day debate is over and a vote taken, probably next week, the proposal will be passed.

These forecasts were made despite a new warning that President Roosevelt is prepared to veto outright cash payment. After a visit to the White House yesterday Chairman Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi, the senate finance committee said he believed the president would veto such a bill.

Though certain that the house would vote "aye" the leaders were not so sure about which bill would be chosen. Cautiously, some of them were inclined to give the edge to the Patman bill, which would call for the issuance of new currency to redeem the ex-soldiers' adjusted compensation certificates.

This view was disputed by Representative Vinson, Democrat of Kentucky, who introduced the American Legion's bill. This also calls for cash payment immediately, but unlike the Patman measure does not name any particular method of raising the money. Its backers have said that matter should be left to the government.

BABY BONDS

Beginning March 1 securities of the U. S. government went on sale at all county-seat postoffices at $18.75 for a bond which will have a face value of $25, payable 10 years after date of purchase. They are called "Baby Bonds" because they are in smaller denominations than the government has ever issued. The purchasing power of $25 ten years hence cannot be forecasted by anyone. But despite its huge borrowing and heavy expenses this government's credit is still good, and the new bonds are going like hot cakes in every section of the country. Burkburnett citizens who possess cash for which they can find no investment that satisfied them as to safety, would do well to consider these "Baby Bonds."

The interest rate is low, of course, and the bonds are non-transferable. But the government promises to return at least the principal of the investment, with a little interest after one year, on 60 days notice, whenever the bond buyer demands it. As with all other issues, the safety and ultimate value of these securities will depend to a considerable extent upon the total amount issued. But there is no reason to believe Uncle Sam will permit the issue to become so heavy as to be dangerous, or to "bite off more than he can chew." They are offered solely for the small investor, for those who seek a safe place to invest their spare dollars but who do not have enough spare ones to purchase regular government bonds in high denominations. It may turn out to be a happy idea. It has, at least, started out with the enthusiastic approval of the public, if sales so far as to be taken as evidence.

STABILIZING EASTER

While the U. S. has not approved or disapproved of the numerous plans offered for changing the calendar, it is understood that steps are being taken along with 25 other nations to bring about the stabilization of Easter. This country has indicated its willingness to participate in a conference on the subject. The average Burkburnett citizen, knowing how difficult it is to keep track of the important holiday, probably will see the wisdom of its stabilization. Practically all other major holidays are fixed as to date. Easter alone of the ones most generally celebrated is movable, often occurring as much as three weeks apart in date in succeeding years. It is believed that a fixed date, agreed upon by the entire Christian world, is possible. It would be generally welcomed, for as it is now the average citizen cannot tell what date Easter falls on without consulting an almanac or waiting until a new calendar comes out.

Another trouble with some Burkburnett people is they insist on using words much larger than their ideas.

You can't point out one single Burkburnett citizen who ever dodged the worst by sitting down and hoping for the best.

Some Burkburnett men who boast a woman never made a fool of them may be bragging about their own ability.

No wonder Burkburnett people had more religion in the old days. The colder the weather the easier it was to start the horse.

An expert suggests that raising bees will help the farmer. It's a good idea. The farmer is so used to being stung with everything he tries that a few more stings won't make any difference.

WHEN YOU TAKE A LAXATIVE

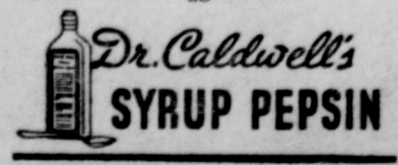

... use a spoon

It isn't what brand of laxative you take that's so important—it's the form. A liquid laxative can be taken in any required amount. If only a little is needed, you need never take a bit too much.

Doctors favor the easily measured liquid laxatives. Instead of any form that does not encourage variation from the fixed dose. A fixed dose may be an overdose for you—or your child.

Always remember this one thing about constipation: the secret of any real relief is reduced dosage.

Give the bowels only as much help as may be needed, and less help as the need grows less. You will find Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin an excellent aid in regulating the bowels. It contains senna and cascara (natural laxatives) and it will clear-up any bilious, sluggish condition without upset. Delightful taste, and pleasant action. Your druggist has it.

and by the City Charter of the City of Burkburnett, Texas, be held in and for the City of Burkburnett, Texas, on the first Tuesday in April, the same being the 2nd day of April A. D. 1935, for the purpose of electing the following officers: Two Commissioners to be elected for the City at large to serve for a period of two years.

The said election shall be held in the City Hall in the said City, and A. Lohofener hereby made presiding judge of said election, and said election shall be held in accordance with the General Election laws of the State of Texas.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order shall be published in the Burkburnett Star full thirty days prior to the date of election and same shall be sufficient notice and a copy of same issued to the presiding officer above named is hereby made and shall be sufficient writ of election.

Passed and approved this 20th day of February A. D. 1935.

Farmers Plan To Discuss Phases Of Farm Problems

COLLEGE STATION—A statewide movement for the study of public affairs relating to agriculture through community discussion groups, conducted by a farm leaders, gained impetus last week when W. H. Darrow, Southwestern representative of the AAA, and R. H. Bush, Extension agricultural economist in organization, made a tour through several East Texas counties meeting with farm and home demonstration councils in joint session.

At each county meeting, representatives from local communities met and discussed, pro and con, national and local agricultural problems under the main topic, "Is American agriculture in crisis?" Plans for this movement are to take up the following questions in subsequent meetings: "Who will loan the farmers money?" "Can America consume farm surplus?" "Can the farmer produce freely while industry plows up?" "Who pays the processing tax?" "What's ahead for the cattle business?" and "America must choose her course in foreign trade."

Representatives in these demonstration discussion groups attacked freely all sides of these problems. Each representative made assurance that he would organize his particular community into discussion groups. This movement grows out of discussion organizations started nearly a year ago by county agricultural and home demonstration agents for the purpose of discussing national situations, agricultural problems and policies.

Bush stated, before each of the county discussion meetings, that Secretary Wallace said last winter that he was looking forward to seeing every community in the United States organized and holding these community discussions.

"Interest in this type of study of public affairs," Darrow stated, "is steadily growing and expanding throughout Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, Colorado, and Utah."

DALLAS—By digging a trench 15 inches deep around a four foot cedar elm tree leaving a ball of dirt the size of a big water bucket, Hilda Achramm, year improvement demonstrator for the Estelle 4-H Club in Dallas county, has made preparation for adding another shade tree to her yard this fall. In digging the trench, the big roots were cut in two and the ball of dirt will fill with small roots during the spring and summer. At the time of transplanting in November, Hilda will clean the trench out, fasten a sack around the ball, cut the tap root and transplant the tree into the yard of her home.

BEEVILLE—For her family of three, Vera Ray, farm food supply demonstrator of the Clareville Home Demonstration Club in Bee county, canned 1010 containers of 52 varieties of food during 1934, according to Miss Lorena Yates, home demonstration agent. The value of her pantry was approximately $200, and it cost only $28.25. This included the purchase of lumber for building pantry shelves, tin cans, jars, bottles, fruit, tomatoes, labels, sugar, vinegar, and spices.

PLAIN—My new clothes closet cost me only 15 cents for tacks, nails, and corner locks," Mrs. E. L. Ellison, wardrobe demonstrator in the West Ward Home Demonstration Club in Yoakum county, told Miss Lilith Boyd, home demonstration agent. "I made the frame out of a stove grate and covered it with cardboard boxes. The hinges for the door came off of an old cabinet and the paper to cover it inside and out was given to me."

The closet is 28 inches wide, 50 inches long, and extends to the ceiling. Five shelves on one side are convenient for storing folded materials and one shelf extending the full length of the closet above the rod is used for hats.

MEMPHIS—"It pays to plant standard varieties of grain sorghum," Bob Ewen, Hall county 4-H club boy, told James A. Jackson, county agricultural agent, after milo maize with that of two other acres.

Young Ewen harvested and one-half tons of heads from the two acres of milo maize and 1934 pounds of heads from the other two acres. The milo maize gave a net return per acre of $18.72 while the net return from the other was only $8.14 per acre.

CRYSTAL CITY—Supplement oats that were frozen off during a recent cold spell, H. L. Harkey, Zavala county cattleman, has built four large self feeders on skids and is filling them once a week with begari run through a hammer mill, according to Fred LeCone, county agricultural agent. The mill is portable and easily moved from feeder to feeder. Cows and calves are doing nicely, the agent reports, and

Behind the scenes with THE TELEPHONE LICENSE CONTRACT

Last year we spent almost a million dollars to find better methods of giving you good telephone service. We paid it to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., parent company of the Bell System. For it we received, as one of the 24 associated companies of that System, the services of A. T. & T.'s great staff of telephone experts and engineers.

Staff Services... at Cost
The A. T. & T. has provided substantially at cost the many services this staff performs. In fact, in the last few years it has taken an actual loss on the work it has done for the operating companies.

The yearly fee we pay is equivalent to about 3/10 of one per cent of investment in telephone plant. Still another way... less than a cent and a half of every dollar we receive from telephone customers.

Yet without it, telephone service fast, as clear and as low in cost as now receive would be quite unimagined.

We have passed on to the telephone user in the Southwest the beneficial savings of this staff work, in the belief that an undertaking planned for the long run, like the telephone service, such a policy will in the end bring us the sounder, more enduring success.

General Motors Issues Booklet On 'Knee-Action'

What the public has indicated it wants to know about "Knee-Action" wheels is covered in a booklet just issued by the Customer Research Staff of General Motors.

This booklet, entitled "The Story of Knee-Action", is somewhat of a departure in automotive literature in that it is based on the queries and comments resulting from General Motors questionnaire surveys during the past year—the period in which "Knee-Action" cars have been in the hands of the public.

The forty-eight page booklet discloses such interesting historical facts about independent front wheel suspension as that the French designer, Amedee Bollee, Sr., built a steam car in 1878 embodying a crude type of independent suspension.

The ten basic objectives sought after by General Motors engineers whose researches ultimately led to the development of "Knee-Action" construction are outlined. The feature is discussed not only in terms of comfort but also in terms of steering, braking control, roadability and safety.

The profusely illustrated book is being mailed to several hundred thousand motorists who answered the General Motors questionnaires during the past year as well as to others requesting it.

A REAL LIFE ROMANCE

Holding the beautiful girl close to him, he gazed into the unfathomable depths of her gazelle-like eyes. Anxiety and concern were expressed in every line of her face, which had that touch of youth that needs no make-up. She gazed into his face as if she dreaded what he was about to say, and as though she meant to read his very soul. A sigh escaped her lips from time to time and she breathed as if she was swept by some inner emotion. For many minutes thus they sat—neither speaking, each gazing into the others face.

"Yes," said the oculist at last, "one eye is seriously affected and if it is not treated it will develop a decided squint."

We have figured out that if you could see the 35,000 killed by autos last year lying all in one pile you probably wouldn't consider the auto such an improvement after all.

She thought the gifts were simply grand And held them close with loving hand, 'Twas something new in baby's world, And set her little head a whirl, She didn't know just what to say, But helped her friends to romp and play.

What a happy time they had, Making baby's birthday glad, While baby played her cutest pranks, Perhaps to show her friends her thanks, For their gifts and friendship true, Perhaps to show what she could do.

A young English schoolboy's composition on breathing, which appeared originally in New Health, English journal edited by Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, recently was reprinted in "How To Live". The young health enthusiast's masterpiece came to life in response to the question, "Tell all you can breathing."

"Breath is made of air. We breathe with our lungs, our lights, our livers and kidneys. If it wasn't for our breath we would die when we slept. Our breath keeps the life a-going through the nose when we are asleep. Boys that stay in a room all day should not breathe. They should wait till they get outdoors. Boys in a room make bad, unwholesome air. They make carbonic acid. Carbonic acid is poisoner than mad dogs. A heap of soldiers was in a black hole in India, and a carbonic acid got into the hole and nearly killed one afore morning. Girls kill the breath with corsets, that squeeze their diagram. Girls can't holler or run like boys because their diagram is squeezed too much. If I was a girl I had rather be a boy, so I can run and holler and have a great big diagram."

Long and Coughlin. Most observers and thinking citizens have been inclined to take little stock in the talks of Huey Long and Father Coughlin, the radio priest, concerning plans for redistribution of wealth. The consensus has been that their plans sooner or later would fall of their own weight. But it can be denied no longer that Long and Coughlin have developed a gigantic following of people who lack information as to the fallacies of the arguments, however logical they sound, that have been spread by these politically smart showmen.

One reason that serious attention to their proposals is now necessary is that some of their arguments are being advanced from high places in the federal government. I refer specifically to the testimony before the house committee on banking and currency by Marriner S. Eccles, governor of the Federal Reserve board and as such the titular head of the nation's banking system. Mr. Eccles did not quite take a leaf out of Huey Long's book. He approached the position of the Louisiana senator, however, when he proposed a redistribution of income, whereas Senator Long has urged a redistribution of wealth.

Mr. Eccles suggested in his testimony in effect that it would be all right for a man with say ten million dollars in capital to keep that sum, provided his income was redistributed. Mr. Eccles went back to the days immediately following the World war to illustrate his argument and showed that at the top of the post-war boom "one tenth of one per cent of the families at the top of the income received as much as 42 per cent of the families at the bottom of the list." Furthermore, he said that the single average family in the big income class got as much as four hundred families at the bottom of the income list.

"This one-tenth of 1 per cent was unable to use all the income in consumption," he continued. "They therefore had to find an outlet in the investment field. As a result, the capacity to produce increased out of all proportion to the capacity to consume."

So Mr. Eccles took the position that a solution of the depression was a redistribution of this income with the idea that it would increase purchasing power in the lower brackets. The governor offered no explanation of how those in the lower income class were going to obtain possession of the redistributed income of the rich because his argument stopped at the point where the government would take this money by taxation.

That is the recognized weakness of the programs advanced by Senator Long and Father Coughlin, and Governor Eccles showed no ability to solve the problem.

On top of the outbursts by Long and Coughlin and the serious testimony by Governor Eccles comes Senator Nye of the North Dakota progressive, with a bill in the senate to create a central bank. Senator Nye's action has caused many humorous expressions. Here we have a senator who has fostered, even boasted about, progressive ideas and has called himself a liberal. It is necessary only to recall that the father of the central bank idea was the ultra-conservative Alexander Hamilton, the first secretary of the treasury.

Senator Nye advances a bill with the thought that the central bank would avoid hamstringing of credit. I think financial experts all agree that this is true. The thing which Senator Nye overlooked, however, is that Mr. Hamilton's central bank collapsed and brought ruin and grief to thousands. The reason it collapsed was because in removing control of the banking facilities from experienced bankers, the whole thing had been turned over to the control of politicians who, generally speaking, are experienced only in politics. It seems paradoxical that the North Dakota senator should advance as a liberal scheme the creation of a central bank which one hundred and fifty years ago represented the height of conservatism.

The Nye legislation was offered in the same week that Governor Eccles had proposed in his testimony on the banking bill in the house that the Federal Reserve board should have complete control of the credit expansion and contraction in this country. I believe most persons will have difficulty in considering the two schemes as separate and distinct.

It is to be noted that there are at least ninety-nine radical members of the house of representatives who are convinced that the federal reserve system has failed of its purposes. Most of them have been repeating without rhyme or reason the accusation that bankers are "refusing" to make loans. They think, therefore, that if there is a central bank or if credit control is placed in the reserve board and taken away from the federal reserve banks where it now reposes there will be additional loans forced out of the commercial banks. History indicates, however, that this is fallacious. No business is going to borrow money when it doesn't need it and neither is any person in his right mind going to make a loan unless he has at least reasonable assurances of repayment. It will be recalled that President Roosevelt at one time spoke disparagingly of the "refusal" of the bankers to make loans. The President subsequently learned that attempts to pump money out of banks must fail for lack of borrowers. I think everyone acquainted with conditions must agree that the Eccles idea and the Nye legislation mean absolutely nothing in the way of recovery aids, for it has always been true, you can lend a horse to water but you cannot make him drink.

The fallacies being put forward by Senator Long and Father Coughlin, and now being nibbled at by Governor Eccles and Senator Nye obviously have been accepted by thousands of people. Senator Long claims that at least six million persons are supporting his scheme. It would seem to be the time, therefore, for citizens to begin to analyze the trend of events, if they are influenced by such leadership.

In connection with this trend, it is interesting to observe how much trouble Senator Long and Father Coughlin already have caused for the administration. It must be said frankly, Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers thus far have not found a way to deal with it. They have tried fighting back and each time they have succeeded only in furnishing fresh ammunition for the Long-Coughlin team. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader in the senate, made one of his greatest speeches of criticism of Senator Long's schemes, but the result was only a fresh outburst by the Louisiana senator who took Senator Robinson's own words and converted them to his use.

I reported to you previously that the administration had prepared at one time to take action against Senator Long on income tax questions. But apparently the powers that be have decided that such a course, instead of putting Long back in his place, would make a martyr of him. Among the observers here the belief prevails that the only way Long's attacks can be stopped and his tactics broken up is by ridicule. No politician, however thick-skinned, can stand being made the butt of jokes.

The administration has told congress that it wants to keep the NRA. Through Donald R. Richberg, sometimes called the assistant president, the administration's position was laid before the senate committee on finance the other day with the suggestion that the proposed new NRA should be confined to matters of interstate commerce. That is, the administration proposes that in extending the NRA for two years from the coming June 16 expiration date, it would apply only to industry engaged in lines of commerce and endeavor that carries across state lines. By the same token, the proposal would eliminate the codes of fair practices from application to the so-called service industry and could not, therefore, apply even to hours and wages in those local plants now under codes.

Mr. Richberg's statement immediately provoked discussion which certainly can be expected to increase in volume because it is in the nature of protests from those who claim to speak for labor. Sidney Hillman, of the NRA high command, immediately protested as did William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. Each of these individuals contended that the NRA would be a worse failure than it is now if it were confined to the narrow definition of interstate commerce and applied only to those industries. Mr. Hillman, who is labor's representative on the National Industrial Recovery board, when he learned of Mr. Richberg's statement promptly struck back with an emphatic observation that the country would not permit such action.

"It is unthinkable," he said, "that congress will withdraw the only protection that the three million or four million underpaid, overworked and helpless workers in the service trades now have. Some of them as a result of the NRA are for the first time in their lives getting one day of rest a week and something a little better than the cooie wages they have been paid in the past."

"I am not interpreting the Constitution, I leave that to the Supreme Court of the United States. But I have been impressed by opinions given by outstanding members of the bar that a condition of keeping millions of workers at starvation wage levels does affect interstate commerce."

Thus is presented the conflict of views between administration appointees, and reconciliation of their views is not made easier by the activity of the labor leaders. It is to be recalled that Mr. Green and some of his stalwart labor associates are not enthusiastic about Mr. Roosevelt and his labor policies any longer. They are not going to be satisfied as easily as they were 18 months ago when they accepted various and sundry promises believing that those promises were to solve labor's economic problems. The administration, therefore, is confronted with genuine danger through the complexity of this political situation.

CORRECTION
In the list of Seniors who will be candidates for graduation in May, which was published several weeks ago, Eddie Young was listed as having only 15½ credits at the end of the semester. Sitting On The Side Lines

Sitting on the side lines,
Looking at the white lines,
Waiting for the coaches call,
Lonesome little fellow,
Never gets a hello,
Never gets to see the ball.

But someday soon,
I'll sing a new tune,
Then I'll be the big hero;
I'll grab that pig-skin,
From the crowd a loud din,
Yellin', "Watch that bozo go."

Skipping over the white lines,
Far away from side-lines,
Flying with the winning score.

Pictures in the papers,
Of me cutting capers,
Listen to the grandstand roar.

Homemaking Education Rally

The Homemaking Education Rally is a rally of homemaking students held annually by the Home Economics Division of the State Department of Vocational Education. Each year from 400 to 900 students and teachers attend this rally.

The majority of school entering the Rally have a three-year program or course in homemaking education in the high school, though some have only a two-year program. Some schools have classes for boys and some of them for parents. Originally the Rally was called "The State Girl's Contest." The name was changed in 1930 to Homemaking Education Rally in order that other phases of the work could be included. The emphasis in the Rally has always been placed upon achievement by individuals. Excelling one's own record we believe is of much greater importance than winning over others.

You can imagine how quiet the seniors would be when something that was happening, Bill Jefferson on a skull cap so Mr. Brookman it off and one of the girls said, "The boys got together and made a song that went something like this: 'We're gonna have our pictures tra la la la; We'll put in our memory book, tra la la la; We don't care how we look tra la la; Hubert Gragg was probably the composer, or at least the lyrics of the chorus. The boys had their pictures made first so they would make the girls laugh and raise their eyebrows. After they had passed to the girls they got along nicely. To expect to get a memory book at the end of the school with these pictures in it. For more information on this episode, ask Mr. Brookman."

A FAIRY TALE

Once upon a time, a long ago, a fat red-headed boy lived in a little town called Burk. He was to write poetry and he spent spare time waiting his friend's poems. The best poems were these:

An Oyster met an oyster and were oysters two.
Two oysters met two oysters and they were oysters, too.

Six oysters met in a pint of and they were oyster stew.
His future looked very bright and it turned out wonderful.
He took his father's place in the inner Drug Store when he grew

Plea Made By Students of State Supported Schools

Students of State-supported institutions of learning are making a plea to all those interested in education for the common people to write to their Representatives to oppose House Bill No. 627, which proposes raising tuition from $50.00 to $150.00 per year, an increase of 200 per cent.

The consensus of student opinion is that such a measure would defeat the purpose for which State-supported institutions of learning were originally organized—education of the citizens of Texas irrespective of their financial status. Many students now attending our State schools would be unable to attend even now only by practicing the most rigid economy.

It is urged that those who have the desire to see Texas youth get the best education possible write to their Representatives favoring House Bill No. 743, introduced by Fisher and Adkins, which provides for tuition fee of $15.00 per semester or $10.00 for a term of three months, a reduction of $20.00 per year. Non-resident students to be charged the same tuition fee which their state charges Texas students. The passage of this bill will make possible the continuation of a college education by those already engaged in student labor, and also the entrance of those desiring such an education and unable to meet the present payments.

Use Sincerity, Courage To Attract, Hold Men, Says Actress Colbert

A list of ten valuable and inflexible rules for attracting and holding a man is Claudette Colbert's contribution to the wondering femininity of the nation, often curious as to the source and reasons of a film star's attraction for the males.

As outlined by Miss Colbert, who is currently starred in Paramount's "The Gilded Lily," coming Thursday to the Palace Theatre, the rules deprecate rather than over-emphasize the value of feminine allure and beauty in the pursuit of the male. In fact, only the first relates to physical attraction while the remaining nine bear on the improvement of personality, character and helpfulness.

Here they are, as Miss Colbert outlines them:

1. A woman must be the epitome of femininity.
2. Yet, despite that femininity, she must be able to take part in and enjoy manly sports.
3. She must be a good listener and an attentive one.
4. She must always strive to be attractive to other men as well as her own — yet never in a flagrant or flirtatious manner.
5. She must keep the respect of a man by attaining something herself, be it a career, or a hobby, or charity work. But he must admire her for what she accomplishes.
6. She must be courageous and a good sport when things go wrong.
7. She must be a ready conversationalist, knowing what she is talking about from her reading and observation.

8. She must never be domineering or possessive.

9. She must follow the dictates of fashion in a manner to make the man proud of being her companion in public but never conspicuously enough to make him too aware of her. Her knowledge of social savoir-faire must give her complete ease and self-assurance.

10. She must be sincere.

"Of course, all these attributes in one woman would be expecting Utopia," said the star. "But I am sure that a woman who really strives to attain these ten attributes can be attractive to men."

In "The Gilded Lily," which gives

Miss Colbert her first singing and dancing role since "Torch Singer", she is supported by Fred MacMurray, Ray Milland, C. Aubrey Smith, Luis Alberni, Donald Meek and Grace Bradely. Sam Coslow and Arthur Johnston wrote the music for "The Gilded Lily". The picture was directed by Wesley Ruggles.

This poultry demonstrator grows all the feed for his flock and keeps up his foundation stock by hatching and raising baby chicks each year. Some months when egg prices are low it is nip and tuck with the red ink he says. But there are enough good months to show a profit for the whole year every time.

Adjusted Service Certificates

Question of the payment of balance due on the Adjusted Service Certificates is still holding center of the stage in Washington. Although the measure was not brought to the House during the week, as was expected, it is to come up for general debate Tuesday, March 19th. Eight days of debate are scheduled and may have up to four hours for their advocacy or opposition.

On Thursday, March 14th, the Rules Committee, in executive session received the requests of members of the Vinson Bill that would have prevented the bill from coming on the floor.

Advocates of the Vinson Bill are using every means at their disposal to advance the Vinson Bill. A sort of parliamentary trick is resorted to in an effort to prevent the replacement of the Vinson Bill by the Patman Bill. It might also be noted that a number of former foes of payments of any sort on the Adjusted Service Certificates are now members of the Vinson bloc.

On Thursday, March 14th, the writer spoke in the House and called to the attention of the Members the statement of the Honorable Henry Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, in regard to Section 5 of the Vinson Bill as to whether or not this section would render unnecessary additional legislation authorizing the issuance of bonds to carry out this legislation. The statement was as follows:

"Section 5 of the bill in question is an authorization of an appropriation, and would, of course, need to be followed by an appropriation. If such an appropriation were made, the money would come out of the general fund of the Treasury which is added to from time to time as expenditures require, by the sale of government securities under the general statutory authority for such sale."

Naturally therefore, a bond issue would be necessary for the sum of $2,000,000,000 is involved and the Treasury has no such amount available to meet such an appropriation.

On the other hand Congressman Patman calls attention to the fact that his bill needs no bonds and will not increase the national debt in any way. And with regard to the soundness of the money to be used, he cites the testimony of Governor Eccles, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, before the Banking and Currency Committee on March 14th.

Mr. Hancock: "Then Governor, on the question of soundness, which, in your judgment, is the more sound, a Federal Reserve note, issued against the United States Government Bonds, or a United States note issued against certain gold reserve?"

Mr. Eccles: "I think they are equally sound."

Mr. Hancock: "I asked that because I think, within the next few days, it is going to be quite an issue. I do not want to involve you in any other legislation, but there are two measures of great importance pending before Congress at this time, involving the payment of money. One is known as the Vinson Bill, and the other as the Patman Bill, and under the former, bonds would be used to secure the currency, whereas under the latter, it would be paid with United States notes. Certainly I am glad to get your opinion."

Works Relief Bill

The administration has been bearing down on the Senate the past week and the result was that it finally gained the upper hand in the squabble over the prevailing wage amendment to the Works Relief Bill. The McCarran amendment was defeated March 15th by a vote of 83 to 2. This provides for the prevailing wage on all permanent public buildings projects and leaves wages on other projects subject to the President's discretion.

Eleven poultry demonstrators in Wheeler county advise their agricultural agent that they have so managed their affairs that poultry and poultry products paid all February grocery bills and running expenses.

A flock of 200 white leghorn hens has kept the credit of Mr. Boss Clark of the Raleigh community in Navarro county in A-1 condition all through these lean years according to his report to the county agricultural agent.

P-TA Sponsors Athletic Banquet

Wednesday night the basketball boys and volley ball girls were honored with their yearly banquet. It was sponsored by the P-TA and athletic council.

The auditorium was decorated beautifully in the colors, blue and white. At one end of the auditorium in large letters was F. H. S., and at the other end was Bears. The tables, in the shape of an F, were covered with blue and white. At intervals placed on the tables were large polar bears and ice bergs. Along one table was placed the trophies won in the past. There were nearly 100 persons present, including the basket ball boys and volley ball girls. Welcome was extended by Mrs. Walker, the president of the P-TA.

A very entertaining program was furnished. Miss Thelma Moss sang two delightful numbers. Mr. Johnnie Anderson sang two numbers and the Lions Club trio sang. Everyone enjoyed these numbers. Mr. Curtis, football coach of Electra, was the speaker. He made a nice talk, bringing out the necessity of training rules and obeying the coach. He complimented our floor guard, Scotty McCall, upon his sportsmanship. Mr. Y. C. Paschall acted as Master of Ceremonies and certainly was a success.

The last thing on program was the awarding of letters by Mr. Paschall. The boys receiving letters were: Clarence Bridges, Scotty McCall, Bill Wells, Leroy O'Guinn, Harlen Boyd, Charles Morrison, Henry Fuller, Elbert Zinc, and J. D. Mills. The volley ball girls receiving letter were Lavern Beavers, Ada Marsh, Virginia Bogy, Ruth Vogel, Elva Stimpson, Ruth Miller, Mildred Morrison, Evelyn Mills, Carrie Ruth Stonecipher, and Lucylee Graham.

The basket ball manager, Simon Hanks, received a sweater and both coaches, Mr. Brand and Mr. Watkins received sweaters. Mr. Watkins was ill and was unable to attend the banquet.

Thanks are extended to every one making the banquet and awarding possible by the basket ball boys and volley ball girls.

New Teacher F. H. S.

Miss Thelma Moss is taking the place of Miss Maude Gentry, who has moved to Alvarado. When Miss Thelma Moss sang for the Fairview students and faculty, she immediately won our hearts. We are pleased to greet Miss Moss and hope she remains with us. She will take over the Choral and Glee Clubs also. May she make a success!

We sincerely hope Miss Gentry finds her position in Alvarado as pleasant as in Fairview. Many of her friends and pupils will miss her.

Put back your 10c or your 20c now so you'll be sure to have the price of the ticket when the time comes. You would never get over it if you were to miss this Senior play. So "be prepared".

Senior St. Patrick Party

The senior class enjoyed a St. Patrick party at the club house in Stringtown Saturday night. This party was given by the class mother, Mrs. John Wells. Many clever games were played, but the most amusing was the old game of pinning the pig's tail. The fun came when the pig was taken down and a certain teacher was led outside through a door (was her face red?). Another amusing incident was a certain lady teacher crooning to a certain man teacher.

The guests enjoying delicious plates carrying out the green and white color scheme were: Wessie Hearrell, George T. Roberts, Geneva Seidlitz, Doris Roberts, Simon Hanks, Virginia Bogy, Marion McClarney, Harlen Boyd, Elva Stimpson, Bill Wells, Ford Hearrell, Y. C. Paschall, Jr., Clarene Bridges, Charles Morrison, Mary Elizabeth Wells, Ruth Vogel, Ada Marsh, Miss Ray Davis, Miss Lois Thompson, Miss Thelma Moss, Mr. Charles L. Jones, Miss Patty Thompson, Miss Toby Baird, Mr. Erwin Brand, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. John Wells, and Mr. and Mrs. Y. C. Paschall.

The Seniors gave a toast to Mrs. Wells, hoping that she should continue her splendid cooking.

Junior Class Presents "The Tin Hero"

What is more priceless in this world than a good, hearty laugh? On snap judgment, one would say, "Nothing." Then think how absolutely priceless two solid hours of continuous laughter would be. If you want a sure cure for the blues, if you want to forget your cares, your debts, the worries of everyday life, be sure to witness a performance of "The Tin Hero", to be presented at the Fairview High School auditorium on Friday, April 5, by the Junior Class. Plays of this type are supposed to be funny, but "The Tin Hero" upsets all precedent by being ten times as funny as the average farce comedy. Imagine the comedy that can be wrung from the situation of a fond and a stinging mother, who exaggerates everything pertaining to her son. She makes mountains out of mole-hills and when her son writes her from Cannes, France, that he has saved a young lady from drowning, the mother immediately circulated the report that her son is a hero and a champion swimmer, as a matter of fact, the son cannot swim a stroke, but when he returns to his home in America, he finds a hero's welcome

Fire Marshal Urges Great Care In Burning Trash

House holders were urged by Fire Marshal John Blackstone today to use great care in burning papers and trash in their yard, because of the high winds common at this time of the year. He said that he sympathized with everyone's desire to keep his yard and premises neat and clean but at the same time pointed out that, if not carefully watched, may blow around and the burning fragments communicate the fire to nearby property or buildings.

"The best method if it is absolutely necessary to burn material out of doors, is to make the fire in a wire basket or some other container that will keep the blaze from being scattered by spring breezes." We should also be careful that the fire is not made in or near dead grass leaves and brush left over from last summer. These materials dry out quickly in this season of warm weather and brisk winds. When dry they will burn briskly allowing fire to travel very fast.

Mr. Blackstone also emphasized the desirability of having a grown-up watch the fire until it is entirely out. If this isn't done it may get away or little children may play around the bonfire. There have been numerous instances of kiddies being burned when they did this for they often make a game of seeing who can come closest, or take turns in jumping over the flames.

Little girls are in particular danger around the leaping flames of bonfires, because of the filmy material of their dresses, and because their dresses flap around more freely, and are more apt to take fire than the close fitting clothes the little boys wear. On the other hand the boys are more bold in approaching the flames. It is a good policy to keep all the children from the fire.

While speaking about the spring breezes, the Fire Marshal also touched the subject of kite flying.

He said that the boys should be cautioned about flying kites with anything but string, as a metal wire used to send the kite up may come in contact with live wires and communicate the current to the boy on the ground. He also warned against youngsters climbing poles to get kites off electric wires. Boys and other people as well should be taught to regard all wires as live wires. If they do they will leave them alone and will not be in danger of being electricuted or badly burned.

FARM HINTS

From N. T. A. C.
Summer Spraying of Peaches and Plums
By M. B. Lebo, Professor of Horticulture
N. T. A. C., Arlington, Texas

Everyone growing peaches and plums has been disappointed to some extent by injury to the crop caused by ciruellos, plum gougers, scab and brown rot. To control these insect pest and disease injuries, the grower must spray his trees thoroughly, applying the first spray as soon as the majority of the blossoms have fallen from the trees. For more complete control the second application should follow the first in two weeks, and the third should be applied about three weeks before the fruit ripens. Where only one spray application is made, it should be the one just after the majority of the blossoms have fallen.

The spray-mixture recommended by the Texas Extension Service in Bulletin No. 73 to control the above insect pests and diseases is 1½ lbs. of arsenate of lead and 6 lbs. of dry lime and sulphur in 50 gallons of water. The arsenate of lead controls the insects and the dry lime sulphur, the diseases.

Dry lime sulphur is prepared commercially by a number of insecticide firms. It is convenient to use and can be added to a full tank of water and the spraying begun immediately. The dry lime sulphur should be stored in a dry place to prevent rapid deterioration.

In the application it is important that every part of the tree be covered with the spray material. This can be done more efficiently if the spray is applied under about 200 lb. pressure as a mist. If a power-sprayer is not available, the spraying of a small orchard may be done by using a barrel spray.

R. C. Boswell Re- ceives Air-Conditioned Refrigerator

R. C. Boswell of DeLeon, Texas, was awarded the first air-conditioned refrigerator in the Texas Ice Carnival of the Air contest, according to an announcement made this week by Mr. Helms, manager of the Peoples Ice Company here, local sponsors of the contest.

The ice industry of Texas is presenting a sparkling, new program of radio entertainment over the Texas Quality Group, each Thursday evening at 6 o'clock.

An air-conditioned refrigerator will be given each week to the person in Texas who writes the best letter of 50 words or less about the advantages of ice refrigeration.

Boswell's letter, selected from several hundred, is as follows:

"The smallest initial and the lowest operating costs; the best conditioned air possible; continued, low even temperature; freedom from food taints; an abundance of pure ice; proper air humidity and uninterrupted service make ice refrigeration the best form of refrigeration known to man."

Now as a citizen you are facing problems which often are puzzling. However, you are certain you wish to be a staunch backer of what is best for your town. For whatever is profitable to the town, is profitable to you.

In terms of the popular song you want to be a "backer-upper" rather than a "breaker-downer." You want to be a "backer-upper" for the local light plant, for it is proving a good investment for you. Continued support is essential. Be a "backer-upper."

Representative C. M. McFarland Writes

Washington, D. C.
March 15, 1935

Fred Brookman, Editor Burkburnett Star Burkburnett, Texas Dear Sir:

"I have received a communication signed by a large number of my and your friends in Burkburnett and vicinity requesting me to oppose any increase in the gasoline tax. Unfortunately I was inadvertently misquoted in the Wichita Daily Times last Monday and upon receipt of my copy of the paper I immediately sent a statement rectifying my position, in which I stated that I am and have been at all times, opposed to this proposed increase in gasoline tax, a position which I still maintain and shall continue to maintain.

"In view of the fact that some seventy-five or one hundred people have signed this petition and their addresses are not given, I feel that your subscribers would join me in thanking you for giving space in your valuable publication to this letter, or a news item to the effect that I had received their communication and was taking this means of answering the same.

"With warmest personal regards, I remain

Sincerely yours,
C. M. McFarland,
Rep. District 111"

What a blessing it would be if the Constitution required the killing of one fool law before another fool law could be enacted.

A lot of men think the world owes them a living but they are too lazy to try and collect it.
