WHISKEY EXPORTS

One of the promises that the proponents of repeal made when the amendment was submitted in 1932 to the American people was that the states would be protected against the importation of liquors from nearby wet states. That pledge has been disregarded, and has caused enough trouble and bitterness against the situation so as to endanger the present status.

One of the chief criticisms of the prohibition era was that the states that were dry forced those that were wet to remain without the whiskeys and other alcohols. Now the situation has been reversed. The dealers in Wichita county cried large tears last week when the state bureau made a pretense of enforcing the law.

Yet those very men that wept so pitifully were the ones who said only four years ago that the dry states would be protected. Now they say that they will be bankrupt unless they can continue to ship into Oklahoma.

Their sincerity is challenged by the fact that much of the liquor labeled for interstate shipment was mere evasion of tax in the state. The wholesalers would label the liquor for export, and then truck it to some local saloon in order to evade the tax.

For the sake of their own welfare, these liquor dealers ought to get together and agree to protect the states that have expressed a desire to retain prohibition. If they do not, the rotten situation which they will create may cause them defeat and return of a prohibition status.

CONTROL OF AIR

The importance of control of the air has been emphasized in the Spanish conflict. The Rebels have gained mastery of the air in the conflict, and with it have made the situation very uncomfortable for the loyalists. The major actions have watched the developments of the war, and that single phenomenon has been a very strong lesson to the entire world. Since the success of the Rebels seems to be inevitable, since they destroyed most of the loyal air fleet, the other European nations have started a more intensive program of perfection of air forces.

At the start of the struggle, enough soldiers were brought over by air in repeated trips to give the rebels a good army. The air planes have been used repeatedly for important battles and have been the deciding factor.

STRAW VOTES

Every magazine and paper of importance is holding its series of straw votes in this season to try to make a definite guess about the general election in November. The Literary Digest ballots came to Burkburnett this week, and there have been a large number of them marked and sent back to the national weekly.

The Digest poll will be watched with unusual interest this year because of the uncertainty of the election results. With one party claiming all but three states and the other claiming more than half. The reports of the parties are greatly discredited, as is usual in political battles. The Digest has been accurate, within limits. The margin of error might be enough to swing a close election, and this year might provide just such a test. During the past, the predictions of this famous straw ballot have been made during a year when a landslide was inevitable.

There is entirely a different situation this year. Just how much change there has been made is impossible to indicate. The young vote from the first time voters might be the power that swings the ballot from one party to the other. At least the poll will be watched with more than usual interest.

SCHOOL STARTS

The start of the classes at school next Monday serves as a reminder to us of the obligations which we as a community have in educational endeavors. Our school system is not perfect; there are many improvements which could be made; but these improvements will never be made as long as the public remains indifferent to the success of the community's most important civic enterprise.

The superintendent, school board and teachers staff have worked miracles, considering the materials and financial conditions with which they have had to work.

Interest in the school is an obligation that is deeper than mere community pride. The habit of the race to train its young and prepare them for life is as old as the race. The instincts of savage tribes lead them to prepare the youth through ritual and ceremony to greater efficiency.

In our advancement we have made this process cooperative. The machine like efficiency of the modern school makes us forget that it is more than just a community business. We have forgotten the sacred duty that we have. When school opens, or even before it opens, we should become more intelligently informed as to what our schools are doing, and what can be done to aid in the future.

HEADLINES

Plans for the drouth erosion have been made, and the president and others will set them into action as soon as he completes his swing through the mid-west. The plans include several important features. The regions will be divided into sub-areas, and studies will be made to determine what kind of agriculture practice and treatment will be required. Submarginal lands will be permanently taken out of cultivation. That is, they will be taken out of commercial production.

Soil conservation policies will be practiced on all arable lands. The work relief program of major public works and the actions of farmers by themselves in co-operation groups contributing to the carrying out of the program. Long term credit must be available to farmers attempting to help themselves. Land not too far depleted shall be leased by the government or optioned with the stipulation that the owners carry on an approved program for conservation of grass and forest.

Oklahoma Pension

The announcement of the $5.00 pension in Oklahoma has caused a fuss. The tax and pension administrators of Texas can appreciate the reaction. During the first two or three months of administration of the act in Texas, there was a general dissatisfaction that was caused by the smallness of the amount. The amount now in some cases was actually less than was received under the former law. That will never satisfy the public.

Hearst Policies

Generally speaking, newspaper men trust Hearst reports less than those of any other news organization. Hearst's recent action in politics confirm the growing opinion that the work of his service is colored by political prejudice. No one was surprised when he was charged with being the boss of the Republican candidate, Landon. It is just the type of thing that has always characterized the political philosophy of the noted publisher. His recent approval of the candidate approved the policy of refraining from speeches. The Democrats can't criticize his speeches if he doesn't make any.

King of Spain

The announcement last Friday that the King of Spain would return to his throne if the rebels won, was not surprising to the rest of Europe. From the very start the rebellion has been no more than a thinly disguised plot to replace the king in order that a fascist type of dictator could be set up under that form of government. The military dictatorship will continue long after the rebels win their victories. And it appears now that they will win. The republic might have stood a long time, had it not disregarded the military cast in Spain and kicked the leaders of that division out of the high government offices, if it would have endured for several years. With the military leaders against them, the Republic could not hope to retain control. Japan learned that lesson many years ago. The militarists are courted with great favors.

New Dealers

In every state with two exceptions where those who supported Roosevelt were required to run, the new dealers were given majorities in nomination for offices. That fact indicates that the present administration still has some power.

College Classes To Open Term in Church Building

Hardin Junior college classes will be held in the educational building of the First Methodist church, Eleventh and Travis until the new building is ready for occupancy, President H. D. Fillers said Wednesday.

The college head said it is expected the main part of the new building will be ready for classes early in November and until that time all classes will be held in the building which was turned over to the college through the action of the church board.

Enrollment for the college will be held Friday and Saturday, Sept. 11-12 at the church building. Classes will start the following Monday morning.

All science laboratory classes are to be held in the afternoon at the old Junior college building, now used exclusively by the high school.

Although a complete program has not yet been established, it is expected morning classes will start at 8:30 o'clock and continue until 1 p. m.

"If things hum along" Fillers said, "We should have the main part of the new building ready by the later part of September or early the following month. The opening date depends on whether the work continues as rapidly as it now is progressing."

Workmen this week will erect the top on the tower of the building. Other parts of the structure have been completed rapidly and few delays have been encountered since early days of the construction.

"The educational building of the church is well adapted to this type of work," Fillers said, "and the school board wishes to thank church officials for their action."

Entertainment to be in form of a Barbecue and Picnic
Teachers Introduced
Members of the Rotary and their wives and husbands will be hosts and guests of the teachers and officials at the annual banquet, Sept. 15. The party this year will consist of the usual banquet and will include a barbeque and a picnic at the water works.
Several years the clubs have hosted the teachers, and annual parties the most of speakers available have been given. This year the meeting will be purely informal, and the entertainment will consist of the usual routine.
The committee to entertain will consist of the following: Mrs. J. W. Akin, Mrs. J. J. McGaughey cut and served the wedding cake.
The bride is a graduate of the University of Texas and has done post graduate work at the Universities of Colorado and Calif.
Mr. Forman has his B. S. degree from the North Texas State Teachers college at Denton and also has done post graduate work. Both Mr. and Mrs. Forman are instructors in the Wichita Falls public schools.
Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Tevis Baker of Houston, brother and sister of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Reaves of Burkburnett. Following a trip to Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. Forman will be at home at 1406 1-2 Bell Street.

Eugene Forman Weds Miss Delta Kemp

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Kemp of 1714 Kemp boulevard, announce the marriage of their daughter, Delta, to Mr. Eugene O. Forman, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Forman of Anton, Texas.

The ceremony was read at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. S. F. Martin, pastor of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church. Only members of the family and a few friends were present.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Margaret Bone sang "O Sweet Mystery Of Life," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., who also played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin as the bride party entered. While the marriage lines were being read, she played Liszt's "Liebestraum."

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, wore a handsome autumn gown of leaf taffeta fashioned in from a Gibson girl model. Her corsage was of white carnations and fever-few. Yellow gladioli and marigolds were used profusely in the decoration of the reception suite.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held, when Mrs. J. J. McGaughey cut and served the wedding cake.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Texas and has done post graduate work at the Universities of Colorado and Calif.

Mr. Forman has his B. S. degree from the North Texas State Teachers college at Denton and also has done post graduate work. Both Mr. and Mrs. Forman are instructors in the Wichita Falls public schools.

ding included Mr. and Mrs. Tevis Baker of Houston, brother and sister of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Reaves of Burkburnett. Following a trip to Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. Forman will be at home at 1406 1-2 Bell Street.

K. C. Spell Speaks At Lions Meeting

K. C. Spell, Wichita Falls Lion, spoke to the members of the Burkburnett association at the meeting Tuesday night on the fellowship and association of Lions work. The speaker told of the advantages of meeting men of a class through the organization and its activities. The talk was impressive to the membership. It was in a more serious vein than the speaker usually assumes.

The program also presented Howard Clements in a piano solo, and Ruth and Dreda Miller in a vocal duet. The program committee was Leonard Mattingly and Joe Majors.

The organization voted to join the members of the Rotary club in the annual party for the teachers and school officials. The party will be in the form of a picnic held at the water park. The date suggested for the meeting was September 15.

Methodist Church

Rev. Paul Martin, presiding elder of the Wichita Falls district, will preach at the Sunday evening service. By an overwhelming vote of the congregation, the plan of unified services was continued into September. The last message of the series of the Lord's Prayer will be given in the morning services next Sunday starting at 9:30. It will be on the lure of evil. Listen for the announcement about our evening services for Wednesday.

L. G. Hagard, pastor.

Chester Duncan Tells Rotarians Of Convention

"Who's goin' with you?"

He happened in to the hotel the other day, and we got to talking about you—now don't blush or get confused, girl—you're entitled to a good send-off, and I gave you a good one."

Punts And Passes

Pass. Or even better watch the end feint a pass receiver, to open up the line for a quick opening play. Incidentally watch John Blair and Tom Spray at those ends. They might be the medicine that the squad needs.

Other Line Men

The whole line should work like a beautiful piece of machinery. When the end play goes through, it is because the guard has blocked the right way, or the tackle has smashed the defense out of the hole for the back. Or in case of a pass or kick, the line has held the defense back long enough for the passer and receiver to form their plays. Probable one of the most important players on the team rarely ever is mentioned but the fans ought to watch him. That is the center. The only time the crowd notices his work is when he makes a mistake and throws the ball away. But he has to be one of the smartest players on the team. His task is more than just pushing the ball backwards. It is necessary for him to lead his players. Judge a little ahead of time where the player stands to get the ball, not where the back is, but where he is going to be when the ball gets in play.

Important

This is just how important the line is. My prediction for the year is that if the center, played by Doris Hageman, and the two ends get in condition and play bang-up ball, that the team will win this year. The team has the material, the ability, if they will just stick it out and stop this everlasting quitting, get in there and play ball, keep their minds on the game, play hard, play like it was important to win, the history might be changed this year.

Returning

Incidentally Carl Cook will be back. Coach Hill received word this week that he is returning.

Control of Soil Adds To Life of Reservoir

COLLEGE STATION— Water and power reservoirs in many parts of the country, representing several billions of dollars in investments are being endangered by excessive silting, according to the Soil Conservation Service bulletin. "Siltation of Reservoirs" just issued by the department of Agriculture. Cleaning a reservoir, the bulletin emphasizes is usually too expensive and the only way out is to stop erosion and keep out the mud.

The problem of protecting these reservoirs from destructive silting goes hand in hand with the problem of saving farm and ranch lands from ruin by uncontrolled soil erosion, according to Henry M. Eakin, in charge of Sedimentation and Hydraulic Studies for the Soil Conservation Service, and author of the bulletin. The main reason for permanent conservation of reservoir resources, he says, must be found in the control of silt production at its primary sources—in the fields, pastures and watersheds area behind the reservoir. This can be done by more widespread and effective application of established erosion control methods.

Eakin points out that although certain supplementary practices of debris disposal may be employed to guard reservoir storage capacity against silting, they are generally subject to prohibitive difficulties and limitations. "Siltation of Reservoirs" is Technical Bulletin 524. Copies may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. at 40 cents each.

Rites Held For Mother Mitchell

"Grandmother" J. W. Mitchell, 77, died shortly before midnight Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Lynch of Burk Burnett.

She had been in ill health for the last six months. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the First Baptist church under the direction of the Rev. Miles B. Hays, pastor. Burial was in the Burk Burnett cemetery, directed by the Owens and Brunley Funeral home.

Joe E. Brown At The Palace Next Friday

For the first time in recent movie history, the rival sweethearts of a film here are so nearly identical in appearance that one might easily be mistaken for the other. They could almost be twins.

The picture in which they appear is Joe E. Brown's latest First National comedy, "Earthworm Tractors," which comes to the Palace theatre on Friday and Saturday. The girls are June Travis and Carol Hughes.

Brown, as the demon salesman Alexander Bots of the William Hazlett Upon stories in which "Earthworm Tractors" is based starts the picture engaged to Miss Hughes.

He finishes it about to be married to Miss Travis. June has dark hair, bluish green eyes; is five feet four and weighs 116 pounds.

Carol has dark hair, bluish green eyes; is five feet four and weighs 114 pounds.

The resemblance between the girls is even closer in some respects than these statistics indicate. They are both athletic, healthy outdoor girls, very feminine but far from the old-fashioned hot-house variety of woman flower.

And the resemblance between them doesn't figure in the picture. There is no trick in the script by which one is to be mistaken for the other, or anything that calls for the similarity. Director Raymond Enright could just as well have chosen a blonde for one part or the other.

"But I didn't," Enright explains "because I believe in this instance Joe E. Brown's characterization logically motivates his falling for a girl of a type similar to these girls."

Big Rabbit Creek

August 30, 1936

The report came to the writer that Mrs. Postarweight is very dangerously ill and has been for several days. It is hoped by all who live in the Rabbit Creek district that a change will be made for the better, and that in a short time she will be up and around again.

Mr. W. H. Martin, his niece and her little daughter and Mrs. Ed Owens and W. H.'s little daughter, Miss Winnie June, all motored down to Wichita Falls Saturday morning to transact some business. Driving back to the oil city, Burk Burnett, in time for the big cash drawing and do their shopping.

Well folks we are still in the grip of this awful drought. It was 10 weeks Friday at noon since the last rain fell down on Big Rabbit Creek. It's a miracle how the cotton and feed stuff is staying so green. At this writing cotton is just beginning to shed its squares. All of the matured bolls are still on and in some cotton fields some of the small bolls are opening.

A Mr. Woods, who is farming the old Tom Lee homestead farm just across the creek north from the W. H. Martin farm, and his family pulled out a bale this last week. Mr. Woods had it ginned at Randlett Friday afternoon. Hawkeye was told that it took between 35 and 40 acres to get this bale of cotton. Mr. Woods thinks he will make 8 bales.

Mrs. Ed Owens and little Winnie June Martin called on Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Alexander Sunday morning.

W. H. Martin and niece and her little daughter, motored up to the county seat (Walters) Monday to transact some business.

As Hawkeye has failed to be on the streets of Burk Burnett for the past two Saturdays now he is awfully afraid that everything will close up their doors. Especially the ice cream store and the Burk Burnett Star office as Hawkeye as soon as he gets into the big oil city makes a bee line for the ice cream store to get one of those big double header ice cream cones that Jimmy Henderson serves to the public. From there he goes to the Star office to visit with the Star staff.

For some cause 27 head of Henry Bentley's white faced cattle got out of his pasture down on the river last Saturday afternoon about 3:30 p. m. and came north by the W. H. Martin place. They got into D. L. Alexander's cotton and a Mr. Wood's corn crop during Saturday night and did a lot of damage to both crops, so Hawkeye has been informed. Mr. Bentley's son and his hired hand came Sunday morning and gathered them up and put them back in his Red River bottom pasture.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ashton and daughters were shopping over in Burk Burnett Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Elkins and daughter were shopping over in Burk Burnett Saturday.

It will be ten days or two weeks before cotton pulling will start up in full blast on Rabbit Creek and in the bend of the Red River bottoms. It is stated that as low as cotton is at 10 cents per lb. and such a short crop that 50c per 100 pounds is all that will be paid here in the Red River bend.

Quite a little norther came down from the north night before last. The nights being cool is helping cotton to withstand these awful hot days.

School is to start Tuesday, Sept. 1st over at the Rabbit Creek school house as the writer has been informed, but is unable to state who will teach the Rabbit Creek school.

What The Rose Told

A seed sentrofts for food in the ground. In dark damp earth they found. Beautiful forms and petals so soft. A charming rose-bud blushing aloft. Bright eyes saw the bud so rare. Fair hands took it with love and care. To one on a cot in a quiet room. It's radiance broke the sufferer's gloom. Glorious miracle of earth and air, Sending hope through grim despair. How strength begun in the earth's dark mound. Thus to the sufferer clearly bringing visions of hope through darkness springing from cold earth burst the form divine. Creator miracle and warm sunshine. Form death to life's eternal bloom. Hearts and souls burst mysterious gloom. From spoils of hope and the craven's greed. Where Mammon's vultures on wreckage feed. The secrets of earth gave form to the rose. The secrets of triumph great laws disclose. Souls born in my story rising above. From mystery comes life, faith and love. New visions vanquished the sufferer's woes. As he list to the story told by the rose

Digest Ballots Arrive In Burk

Individual ballots have been mailed to voters of Burk Burnett and nearby communities in a new Literary Digest poll of over 10,000,000 persons to ascertain who will be the next President of the United States. The votes should be distributed by the post office locally within a few days, according to advice received today from the magazine's publishers.

Returns from Texas in this 1936 referendum will be tallied as a unit so they may be compared with the voting in other states, it is announced.

The voting of the post-card ballots is secret as no signature or other identification is required and the return postage is paid by the magazines. To guard against tampering and counterfeiting a specially manufactured cardboard is used for printing the ballot, according to the sponsors of the poll, and all spurious votes can be detected immediately and destroyed.

WE ARE IN A NEW ERA

The march of progress has brought us to a new era where electricity is a necessity rather than a luxury.

Electricity is essential to the health of your family, for it runs many labor saving devices in the home. It supplies current for mechanical refrigeration which preserves pure food. It gives light for children to study by and to read for amusement.

Just as electricity is coming into more usage, so are municipal light plants becoming more necessary to the welfare of a community. Give yourself the benefits of home industry by trading at home.

THE KEYHOLE

(Walter Wontchell, Editor)

Things we imagine you knew all the time:

That Butler Westerfield could get the family car to go golfing any time he wanted it.

That Chester Duncan would spend money like a drunken sailor on a 24-hour shore leave.

That H. Lee Clifton had rather write a check than to argue with his wife.

That Volney Hill would instruct the football squad to be very careful not to get rough with opposing players.

That Polk Robinson's fancy would lightly turn to love at the slightest provocation.

That (in mid-summer) T. J. Blackwell was really serious and thought we would have sold him a large bill of furniture before this time.

That the entire staff of teachers enjoyed the annual Rotary-Lions Banquet more than they did castor oil.

That the entire staff of teachers will really enjoy the barbecue Tuesday eve, the 15th.

That Owens and Brumley have more furniture bargains than any other furniture store in North Texas. If you don't know it, we can prove it. We'll just leave it to ourselves.
