The tournament originally planned as a city enterprise was by the city government when R. P. Reagan, city announced that the city to sponsor the local players will enter in three classes, boys and girls, and adults. An advanced classification may be arranged for the more experienced and a final championship between the winners of divisions.

Registration for the tournament has been set for Thursday afternoon. All tennis players have been asked to register with the Burk Burk Burnett. The schedule will be by Cook, Chester Robt. Al Ragsdale. The entry matches has been set for all men for each 50 cents flat for all entries.

Finals for the tournament are to be held at the city hall Monday night. The first player review was James Walling Jr. of the junior class. The tournament will be played on the new courts at the high school. As PWA projects, recently completed to give school sets of courts in

in Demo Club udies Kitchens

Members of the Hardin Home demonstration club met Monday at the home of Mrs. Johnson with Mrs. M. R. in charge of the business plans for the county fair. The meeting was held in the kitchen, and standing committee reports. Miss Leta gave a council report and each member to make plans for the encampment to be at Medicine Park August 24-

Program included a song by Mrs. Hicks and a report by Mrs. Brookman of trips to the Bad Caverns.

Bennet brought an interesting demonstration of large size for the kitchen, including storage bins and materials. The kitchen, as a part of the home and the objects of related nature of interest in round discussion.

Present included Messrs. Fred Minick, Robert Dunn, D. A. Westbrook, Geo. S. E. Askins, J. J. Black, M. R. Hewell, R. S. Pink, L. S. Smith, Fred Kensing, Leta Bennett and Mrs. James Johnson. Visitors enjoyed the meeting, M. Davidson and Mrs. H.

Thrift Church Of Christ Revival To Start Sunday Nite

Under the direction of William Wilhoit, members of the Church Christ at Thrift community will start a revival next Sunday nite at 8:15. The minister, a local man has been a pumper at the Stringtown Magnolia area for several years, and his work in this district among the churches has been uniformly successful. Interesting messages for each service are in prospect for the meeting. He held a revival last year that was well attended in the same church.

Majors Tells Club About Convention Lions At Chicago

Interesting Fellowship Of International Organization Discribed By Local Delegate

Joe Majors, owner and manager of the local variety store, gave an interesting account of the Lion's International convention as the feature of Tuesday's meeting of the organization. The speaker represented the local club at the Chicago meeting, and reported one of the most successful meetings in the history of the organization.

Mr. Majors told of the speakers that gave inspirational addresses, and prophesied a successful future of community service and world fellowship through the work of the organization. The club representing almost every nation in the world bound together the leaders of these nations in common ambitions and ideals. These programs will inevitably lead to peace and fellowship between common peoples.

Side Trips

Mr. Majors was accompanied by his mother Mrs. M. W. Majors, and daughter Jonita Majors. The party enjoyed a visit with relatives and many interesting side trips during the convention. A boat ride on the big lakes, a major league baseball game between the Senators and White Sox, and a tour of the district were enjoyed by the party from Burk Burnett.

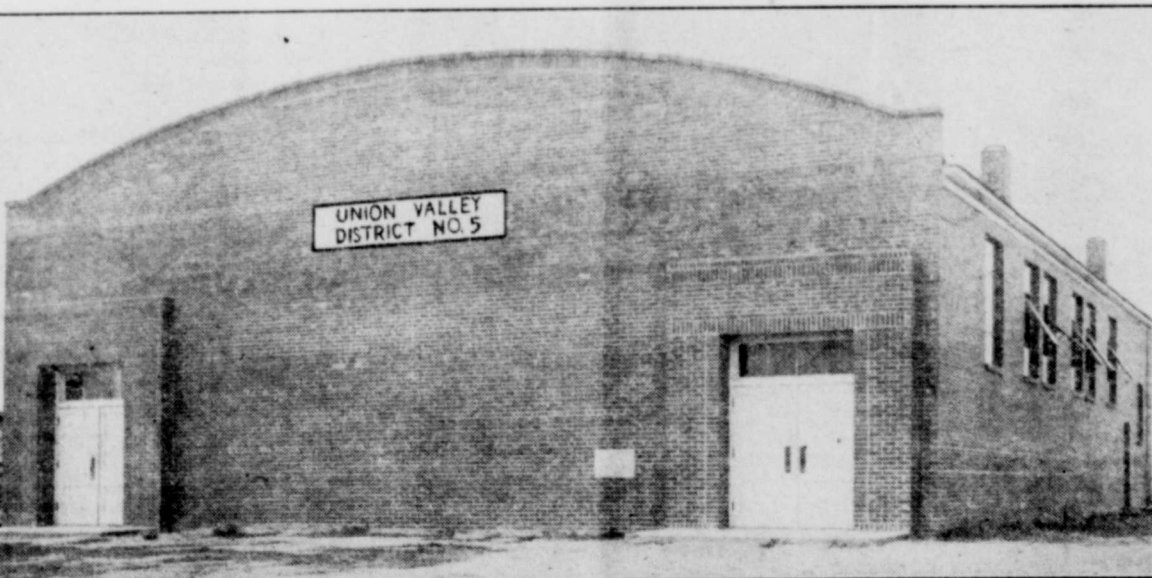

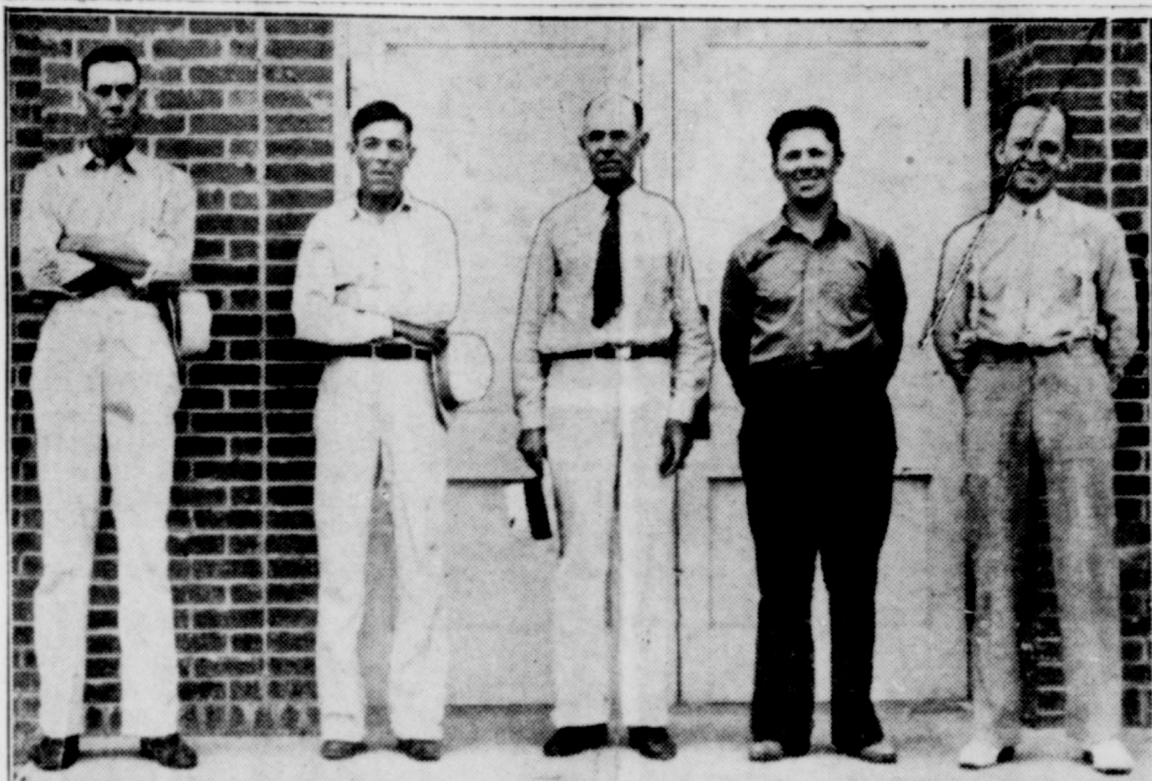

One of the outstanding features of the meeting was the report from the outstanding clubs in the United States and the world made by the president of these organizations. The handling of community service, finances of the organization and general meetings of interest were stressed in these reports.

Texas Employes Host Of Families

The local employes of the Texas company were hosts of their wives and members of their families at a picnic and swim at the Westmoreland swimming park Wednesday night. The men provided the swim and the chicken supper, and the visitors the sweets. There was plenty of chicken and all accessories at the party.

Those present with their families were L. D. Rainey, Ray Mills, H. C. Ellis, W. Gibson, J. Moore, Glen Howard, Steve Marchand, Joe Story, L. Watson, Pap Woods, Bert Rose, Ralph Brookshier, Harvey Garret, and Wiley Bloxom. Visitors were Edna Marshall and son Jimmy Roy, Valta Brookman, Mrs. Marshall Chrestman of Corpus Christi, Mr. and Mrs. Van Emdem of Wichita Falls.

'Basket Ball Capitol' Comes In Out of Rain

A dream that has become a reality for the patrons of the Union Valley school five miles northwest of Randlett, Oklahoma. For 12 years the school has dominated class B basketball in the Oklahoma interscholastic basket ball play, having won two state, four regional and 10 district championships. All this time the school teams practiced on a dirt court out of doors. Now the school is dedicating one of the most beautiful and practical school gymnasiums and auditoriums in this section next Monday night. At the top are the men who have led in the project for the new $10,000 building, from right to left they are E. W. Parraek, president of the school board, E. G. Brooks, secretary, R. L. Alexander, R. T. Frough, coach and superintendent, L. S. Wilson, principal. In the middle is a picture of a few of the 80 trophies won in interscholastic competition in basketball. At the bottom the $10,000 building that will give the fans comfort while they watch the teams, make dramatic programs, and even on Sunday religious programs, of the community possible under beautiful and pleasant surroundings.

McLaughlin's Open New Cream Station In Burk Burnett

C. C. McLaughlin has opened a new cream station in Burk Burnett. He is located in the building formerly occupied by Mrs. H. D. Smith's lunch room.

Mr. McLaughlin is an expert cream man, having been in business in Ardmore a number of years before locating here. He stated that he would appreciate a trial from the farmers who have cream to sell and will guarantee them a good test and top market price.

Later on Mr. McLaughlin intends to extend his business to include the buying and selling of produce, poultry, hides, etc.

We welcome Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin and family to Burk Burnett.

Degree Bestowed By Local Masonic Group

A called meeting of the 88th district lodges at the local Masonic hall bestowed a masters degree on Harry Kithas last Monday night with district deputy L. A. Litzenberg of Wichita Falls as the feature speaker in the after-lodge meeting. Ted Green and worshipful master W. P. Russel presided at the conference of the degree. Russel opened the lodge formally and Green administered the degree. There were 35 present at the meeting, and a picnic for the 88th district was planned for September 8.

Amusements of all kinds and of distinctly novel contrivance and interest will be concentrated at the New York World's Fair of 1939 in a zone reaching for a mile along the shore of an ornamental lagoon.

City Grocery And Market Remodels Front Of Store

The most modern unit available will be installed by the City Grocery and Market, according to Henry Prinzing and Bud Hicks, owners of the store, for the keeping of vegetables fresh. The front of the store is being remodeled completely. The plate glass is being tore out Thursday afternoon. The sprays installed will make it possible for the store to keep vegetables on display at all times and at the same time keep them completely fresh. Mr. Prinzing and Mr. Hicks invite all their customers and friends to inspect the new system which will be ready in the near future.

Stien songs will be a lively part of the brewing industry's display at San Francisco's World's Fair in 1939.

Central Christian Church To Close Revival Sunday

Crowds Have More Than Equalled Membership Each Evening

The Central Christian Church will close its revival Sunday August 1st. The final message will be "The End of the Trail" which will deal with life's end on earth, and our either having lived our lives successful or unsuccessful. What makes for a successful life as far as personal satisfaction is concerned? Will we be as happy when we come to the end of the trail as we are today, and will we continue to live in the hearts of those that are dear to us?

Central Christian hopes that the final message will prove of great benefit to the large number of youngsters, as well as those who have been traveling upon the trail of life for a considerable length of time.

The church has been more than pleased with the crowds that have attended. To be sure it has not equaled those of much larger congregations, yet has been far above that of the average revival held in the church before.

Members of other churches in the community have contributed with their presence, and friendships have been created which will never be forgotten.

The messages that were delivered were out of the ordinary, in that they attempted to bring a vital religion from heaven to earth with the research work of the world's greatest thinkers, and scholars; relying not only upon the scriptures, but also the language of the universe and human experience.

New songs and old songs have inspired and given heart again to many and drawn many hearts together.

Rev. Inlow has been appreciated by the community as he has mixed with them, and his splendid Christian personality has brought joy to many homes. The young people and juniors have had many pleasant evenings at the church with him, and he, no doubt, will continue to live in their memories and the messages which he has brought likewise.

The juniors, under Rev. Inlow's supervision, have enjoyed a number of outings and again Saturday they have a delightful evening ahead of them. They continue to invite other juniors of the city to join them in this delightful Christian atmosphere.

There will be only three more days until the close of the revival and all who have not had the opportunity to attend are invited. The messages these closing days will be as follows: Friday evening (July 30th) "The Cross in Human Experience." Life cannot possibly be filled with ease and comfort all the time. Life is a struggle from beginning to end, a struggle that brings glory to virtue. This glory can be revealed only in striving, fighting, righting the wrong, overcoming, making life a

Burk Appliance Partnership Is Disolved Here

The dissolution of the partnership between Jack Daniels and Henry Porter known as the Burk Burnett Appliances was announced this week by Henry Porter who is leaving the firm under the new agreement. The company will continue to operate under the same name and place as formerly. Mr. Porter announced that he had left the firm jointly owned by him and Mr. Daniels, and that he, Porter, was not responsible for obligations created under the new arrangements or for any accounts owed by the firm heretofore. The company was organized recently and moved into the new building next to the Palace Theatre. Mr. Porter has been associated with the organization for several months.

Representative Jed Johnson, member of the national house of representatives and brilliant speaker, will formally dedicate the new $10,000 gymnasium at Union Valley school community Monday night August 2 in a program starting at 7:30. The congressman who has developed a wide reputation and a profound and interesting speaker will be welcomed at the small community on the occasion of the fulfillment of the dream of the school for a recreational and athletic center.

The dedication will make possible the presentation of programs, basket ball and volley ball games in one of the most beautiful auditoriums and gymnasiums in the southern part of the state. For many years the school has been a leader in class B athletics and has had as an ambition the new building.

Basket Ball Capitol

So brilliant has been the record for winning championships that the school of less than 50 high school pupils has become known all over the state as the class B basket ball capitol. It has won that title in a series of championships that have brought the community 80 championship trophies. These trophies represent 10 district championships, four regional titles, and two state championships. That record can not be equaled by any other school in the state.

The remarkable part of the winning has been that the boys have not had an indoor court at any time during the history of its wins. Practicing in the cold and severe weather, the teams remained outside to develop a hardness that carried them, both boys and girls through a series of state titles.

Music Planned

There will be two special musical features on the program. The Walters band will play both an opening concert and a special national anthem number. The music by the seven acers from Temple, Oklahoma will be a high light in the program.

The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. A. B. Waldrep of Walters, Oklahoma. Words of appreciation for the cooperation of the community will be delivered by George O. Huey and T. B. Mathews. PWA officials who assisted in the project.

Beautiful Building

The building is one that will be beautiful and practical. It serves as a religious meeting place on Sundays. Plays and programs of the school can be presented from the stage. The volley ball and basket ball games will be played on the smooth hard wood floor. Built in brick and tile it will give the patrons the comfort that they deserved by their long loyalty to the school and teams in the past.

Burkburnett businessmen voted to join the community in the meeting. Members of the chamber of commerce will send a large delegation to the special event.

Cowboy Band Will Feature Rodeo At Seymour Reunion

Burkburnett Organization Welcomed At Huge Event In Baylor County

Burk Invited

The Burk Burnett Cowboy Band has been invited as the special musical feature at the annual Baylor county rodeo in Seymour this week, and the players left Wednesday for the big show. For two days the band has received the cordial welcome at the big affair, and were accompanied by a large number of Burk Burnett people.

A special invitation was extended Burk Burnett citizens by former residents of this city that are in Seymour at the present time the band received generous terms for the two days service, and the funds will be added to the uniform expenses.

Amendments

When Texas votes August 23 on six constitutional amendments, several obvious gaps will be filled in the patchwork of the out-of-date constitution. Of course Texas looks forward to the time when a new model constitution will be written, but in the meantime we must be content with an occasional patch. The first of the amendments is to fix the liability of the stockholders of state institutions.

The second amendment will provide for the aid of destitute children. Children under 14 will have the possibility of receiving 8 to 12 dollars protection per family. The aid of the federal government would be added in such cases.

The third amendment concerns the fee system. This system was abandoned recently by amendment. Now the state legislature offers the proposition to fix all salaries—even their own by law not fee. The fourth is to require that valuation of property be kept within the actual cash range of that property, and would permit discount for ad valorem taxes.

The fifth amendment is of little interest outside of Harris county and would permit that county, with Houston as its big city, to issue bonds for roads. The final amendment will authorize aid to the blind and destitute persons.

Death Of The Court Bill

So far as the present session of congress is concerned the supreme court changes will be impossible. Unless there is a rapid change of the attitude of about 30 senators, the president will have to be content with a revision of the lower federal courts and the recently passed law allowing the justices to retire voluntarily at 70 years of age.

The battle that has raged under surface for the past six months has been the truest test of the real political and social attitudes of the congressmen than any thing that has been submitted since the civil war.

Many congressmen who have breathed sighs of relief that they will not have to vote on the actual court bill itself have indicated more strongly by their willingness to allow the bill to be committed to an actual vote that they do not have the liberal philology about which they brag so much during the campaigns.

These men who would not lineup with the democratic president on a program which was the only way that the present president's program could be presented uncontested by the conservatives are deeply in sympathy with the elements. As one senator said off record recently, "We have passed many laws at the president's request, because we didn't dare defy him. But we knew that a conservative supreme court would stop the laws from becoming effective."

That type of weakness should be eliminated from the legislative halls. It should be hidden beneath an avalanche of votes from the indignant citizens of each side of the dispute.

Peter Molyneux, who is one of the hired hands of the most conservative crowds, defends Senator Connally for his stand. That of course is exactly what you would expect of Molyneux when you remember the fact that he was hired during a recent election to make speeches condemning the "holding company bill." Those radio speeches that he made indicated his political philosophy. At the same time the fact that this type of editor came to the defense of Connally indicates what the Texas senator stands for in politics.

Anyway in the fight over this question Molyneux asks, "Will the south remain solid?" Frankly for the welfare of the democratic party it would be better if the south didn't remain blindly solid. We receive too little attention and regard both in elections and between elections for our steady voting.

However, we do not think that the south will split over the question that has been recently playing havoc with the party loyalty of senators and congressmen.

There Is Still a Need

Last week the Star appealed to the citizens of Burkburnett for money to buy the local police radio equipment. Such equipment will increase the efficiency of the department immeasurably. At first there was a generous response, and several Burkburnett citizens mailed in or brought checks to the city clerk. The list of these persons has been made elsewhere in this paper.

However, the goal has not been reached. There is still a large amount needed before the devices necessary for quick communication can be installed. There are a large number here who wish to help, but haven't sent in the check. It is our hope that this fund could be raised without solicitation, that the business men and other citizens would send in the funds voluntarily.

We still believe that a large number who are able and who intend to send in the money have merely neglected doing so. Mail your dollar or check to "Radio Fund" in care of city clerk, Burkburnett, Texas.

The police have worked efficiently under the general handicap of not knowing exactly where the latest information available was. They faced the tasks of hunting bandits and thieves courageously, but working blindly most of the time. Had the information been immediately available a greater amount of time and money could be saved and enforcement increased.

Camels Banished From Desert By Newest American Transport

MODERN American inventiveness has reached out to banish another centuries-old institution in a far-off land.

Ships of the desert that ply the sandy seas between Damascus and Baghdad are heading for their last port. Who will traverse 600 miles of Syrian sands by camel-back when he can spin comfortably and far more quickly across them by sleeper bus?

The desert has no terrors for this new transport means, now supplanting even the fastest automobile facilities. Using the same construction principles as America's popular light-weight, fast trains, it has a top speed of sixty-five miles an hour behind its 150-horsepower tractor that covers 600 miles in fifteen hours. Sand storms and stifling temperatures are part of the serious weather vicissitudes with which Syrian desert travelers have had to contend, but they are no handicap to the bus travelers. They ride in a tightly sealed vehicle air conditioned by most approved American methods, their surroundings as comfortable as they are in the air-conditioned homes, trains, offices and factories with which Americans daily are growing more familiar. In Washington William B. Henderson, executive vice-president of the Air Conditioning Manufacturers' Association, said the Syrian desert service is the latest striking evidence of the acceptance of this great health and comfort principle.

Punts And Passes

Very Few Fans Have Realized What Polk Robinson has meant to the teams in Burkburnett. He came to Burkburnett with little or no experience in coaching, and under Hill has done a remarkable job with his part of the team. In basket ball he has brought the boys along so as to secure a higher degree of efficiency that his materials justified. He has fitted perfectly into the team of teaching football, and been a very handy man to have around during the season. Of course it is necessary during the hectic rush of the season to give credit to the head coach. The newspapers play up his faults and good points. The assistant coaches receive a minimum of attention and mention. That isn't because they are not important, it is merely the habit of newspapers to do things that way.

Polk Reached His Greatest Efficiency last year. During the heavy schedule that matched the team against the best in this region, the steadiness and strength that has characterized his life was evident in the boys that played under him and Hill. There isn't any other person that is as quick to praise Robinson and his work as Coach Hill. The greatest tribute that can be paid to any man is by his own colleagues in his work. These men who are associated with us see our work at its best and worst, and their approval means something.

Now That Robinson Has Decided to try the oil business from the drilling end (as rough neck) we feel that he deserves and his work deserves some special mention. Hill is a brilliant coach and makes his boys work hard. But they are in condition when game time comes. After each game these boys realize the reason for the hard work. The result is that the boys respect Hill and would fight for him at the drop of the hat. When a coach can make boys like him he has done a greater job than winning pennants. Robinson is the opposite type in some degrees. The boys respect him. They know he means business. He isn't a free and easy-going as Hill, but when he does start talking he means to have his audience listen. And you can't help it. That deep base voice that more than fills the average auditorium, gym or even football-field carries a threat or thunderous dynamite when Robinson gets riled.

Robinson Was Catching On To this coaching business rapidly, and he would have ultimately made some school a very good coach. Personally I think that I will miss him more than any person that has left Burkburnett in a long time.

The Date For The Meeting Of the team has been changed from July 29th to July 30. Coach Hill recently forwarded the word that he would be in town on the latter date. I am looking forward anxiously to see how many members of the spring training camp will turn out for the meeting. There was a goodly number of prospects out last spring. Now what I am interested in is the number of boys that will stick for the next two or three years. The boys will have little chance to break into the bigger games this year, but they will be very necessary for the teams success. The reserve strength is what counts. If the coach can throw in a few new players without weakening the team too much, the regulars can get a fresh breath once in a while and play much better. Then once in a while a boy gets a little smart. The fact that there is a player on the bench just about as good as he is will keep many players working harder. This year's team will be good. What I want to know is what about the following year?

The Time To Start Preparing for next year is not when the season gets under way. The real team for 1938 will be the team that comes out to help the regulars and first string practice this year. These all district men will be gone, and the new lineup will have to be the men that are cannon fodder for this year's squad.

Wichita Students At Rotary Club

F. A. Jamieson, chairman of the Rotary club, presented a series of musical numbers and readings by Wichita Falls talent at the meeting of the Rotary club at noon Tuesday. Miss Virginia Fuller gave a reading, and Mrs. Tom Coleman a piano solo. Mrs. J. E. Hall in a violin number. Mrs. George Palmer was a guest presented with the group.

The contest continued to be interesting and members of the organization were working for the trophy and dinner. Visitors from Wichita Falls were Scotty Scott and Jimmy Summerville. Herchel Martin of Anadarko Oklahoma was present.

Firemen Study At State School A&M

J. J. Blackstone and Herman Engelman, representatives of the local fire department at the state school spent the week July 19 to 23 in a series of hard working sessions of study at the College station class at Bryan. The state school for firemen was one of the most interesting in the history of the organization. Mr. Engelman enjoyed the work in the general courses, and Blackstone enrolled in the advanced courses at the school.

There were 530 students representing 220 towns and communities in the state. Aside from the specific course in fire fighting selections from general first aid and advance instructor first aid were offered. Both the Burkett firemen did serious work in both study and demonstration and that many useful points had been brought back for the local department.

Four Men Charged In Drunken Cases

Four Burkburnett men were charged at Wichita Falls by Chief of Police Bill Stapp before county courts in cases ranging from drunkenness to driving while intoxicated. These men were arrested over the weekend by members of the local police staff, Turner, Harris, Stapp and Blansett. Three of the men fined were Doc Gregory $15.00 and cost, Carl Brown, $15.00 and cost, and D. E. Carlock, $15.00 and cost.

The most serious charge was filed before the county attorney on L. H. Hughes who was released on bond after formal filing of charges for driving while intoxicated. The trial will be held in the near future.

YOUNG WOMEN TO DISTRIBUTE FREE ICE CREAM

To acquaint the residents of Burkburnett with the unusually refreshing flavor of the New Coconut Ice Cream, the Pure Ice Cream Store will canvas the entire city with free samples of ice cream Friday. This ice cream is a combination of blended fruits and shreds of coconut, specially prepared to produce a refreshing taste. This new flavor has been so popular this season that its successful introduction will be made by the young women pictured above.

They Announces Representative 112 Floratorial

Announcing my candidacy for the Legislature for the 112th district, composed of Wichita and Wilbarger Counties, I have a very brief statement to the voters. The district was conceded to me by custom and precedent of the 112th district. This has been respected by the people of Wichita County. By reason of greater strength it would be possible all times for the people of this county to elect a citizen of their own county for this office. This county has two places in the Legislature, and for many years a State Senator has been elected from Wichita County, and it is conceded that fairness in the division of political representation demands that this place be given to a resident of Wilbarger County. The people of this county have always been in a sense of fair play and have always been in harmony with the people of Wilbarger County. These things are true. I wish to appear as a candidate for the important office solely as a representative of Wilbarger County and because proper candidates may live in this county.

Candid Snaps J. C. C.

Some nice little girls had a lot of fun last week. They decided that it would be fun to steal water melons, and so out they went to a nearby patch of delicious melons with the intent on bringing home the juiciest in the patch. Well they found the patch, and after climbing through a mile of barbed wire fence, catching all the stickers and sand burrs in the neighborhood, and gathering a ton or two of misquitos, they gathered a few choice specimens. About that time a well trained dog appeared on the scene, and the adventurous ladies forgot all about their fences and briars. The lone melon was green according to latest reports. Ask them about it.

A Novlette
He was a smart man here in 1919, and made more than two million dollars. Oil spouted all over his farm. His daughter entered a store and asked for a coat.

They showed her a $75.00 model. It was so cheap that the daughter who had attended school three years before in overalls and carried cornbread sandwiches was insulted. She objected to the boss and had the clerk fired for discourtesy. Later she bought a coat of the same style on which the price had been boosted about five times.

The other half—He was through Burkburnett two weeks ago, looking for suckers. It was a proposition to drill a well here. That daughter (of all things) is clerk in a small store at Ft. Worth. Supporting an unemployed husband that married her when the wealth poured in so rapidly. Maybe there is a little justice in this world.

Good Shots
To take the most typical pictures of local men would require the following poses: Ray Hill looking far away at each cloud hoping for rain. . . Ross Reagan, after transportation for his team. . . R. D. Owens Jingle Hays, and Raymond Wallace taking up another collection for the football team. . . Stanley Gartside, putting up a new sign, or decorating somebody with another crazy exploitation idea. . . (did you see that Santa Claus) . . . Mr. Laney, talking politics. . . Sid and Gus Heine, talking anything. . . John Blackstone. . . starting the fire truck. . . Leonard Mattingly "Now that reminds me of a story" "Jack You Ain't Got A Chance" Kelly, running the firemen's wheel each year at the carnival. . . and Gayle Preston, flipping a coin. . . Coach Volney Hill with a sad look on his face the day before the game. . . Mike Begun, at almost any club meeting. . . Charlie Bradford, bawling out his partner for a misplay at 42. . . And I would like to take a picture of all the elbow benders, but it would take too many films.

Ample provision is being made by the New York World's Fair of 1939 for a maximum attendance of 800,000 persons in one day.

Court Holds NLRB Right In Dispute Local Union Case

The Civil court of appeal of the fifth circuit at New Orleans held that the National Labor Relations Board in the ruling asking for the reinstatement and reimbursement of George Bebe-meyer, former secretary of the Burkburnett Oil Field Workers Union, local 258, in a ruling at New Orleans last Thursday afternoon.

The ruling affirmed an order of the NLRB that the three local oil companies cease interfering with the union activities of their employees.

The companies affected were the Bell Oil and Gas Company, Tulsa Burke-Divide Company and Reno Oil Company of Wichita Falls. These three companies have extensive operations in the Burkburnett oil fields.

According to the courts opinion, the firms refused to reinstate George E. Bebe-meyer, who had been discharged allegedly for union activities, when their employees returned following a strike. Bebe-meyer had been in charge of the operation of a re-pressure plant that was jointly operated by the three companies.

Back To Board
The court remanded the order to the board, however, for further clarification relative to re-employment and reimbursement. The opinion said that when the board's order is clarified, the circuit court will issue an order directing its enforcement.

The dispute was one of the first cases of the nation to reach the national labor relations board. It started in an oil field workers strike here two years ago. The strike ended after the field had ceased operation for approximately one week. Mr. Bebe-meyer, the man whose case has been under dispute, was one of the prominent leaders in all both before and during the strike.

The strike was the second which had been attempted by local organization. The union has been organized here for several years.

Burk Citizen's Brother Dies

I. P. Carper, 82, brother of L. A. Carper of Burkburnett, died at his home in Cleburne, Texas last Friday afternoon, and funeral services were held from the Lone Willow community church Sunday. Mr. Carper was operated on last April, but did not have sufficient strength to recover completely and died after several months illness. He was well known in Burkburnett where he visited his brother several times since 1919. Several Burkburnett people attended the services at Lone Willow.

E. Cadorin, famed Italian sculptor, was a recent visitor to Treasure Island, site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition. Cadorin is one of the few red-haired Italians in San Francisco.

TRUCK-BUILT for Your HEAVY loads

GMC trucks are not heavy-built, nor cumbersome—but they carry heavy loads with ease. GMC's have the ideal balance of unsprung chassis weight. This saves gas and tires, and prolongs truck life. Reserve power, chassis equilibrium, strong reciprocating parts and exclusive safety features make GMC's the most enduring for varying loads, especially as they grow heavy!

Pellagra Due To Diet Deficiency

"Pellagra is a disease that is caused by not eating the right kind of food and shows itself usually by a strange kind of reddening and scaling of the skin," said Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"The person with pellagra usually suffers loss of appetite, indigestion, diarrhea, soreness of the mouth and tongue, nervousness, low spirits and more or less general weakness.

"Thousands of Texans suffer with this disease and approximately one thousand die each year. More cases appear in the spring and early summer months than at any time of the year. This is because more people live on a restricted diet during the winter. It comes to those whose diet does not contain all that is needed to keep one in good health. The missing essential in the diet is called the pellagra prevention factor or vitamin. We know this because people who eat the right kind of food do not have the disease, because those who do have the disease and eat the right kind of food do get well and remain well as long as they maintain a proper diet and also when people are fed the wrong kind of food they develop the disease. Pellagra is not a communicable disease. The treatment should be directed by your doctor and the main thing is diet. Do not rely on patent medicines.

"The prevention of Pellagra depends upon eating the right kind of food at all times. To make sure that the diet is right, it should always contain plenty of milk daily, some fresh meat and as many fresh vegetables as possible. Tomatoes, whole wheat products, salmon, yeast, and fresh fruits are especially valuable. Having provided these essentials of a proper diet, the rest may be arranged according to family or personal likes. In this way, you avoid pellagra."

Flavoring Broilers And Fryers With Different Proteins

The flavor of chicken meat is distinctly modified by certain feeds used in supplying the protein content of the ration, according to R. M. Sherwood, Chief, Division of Poultry Husbandry, Texas Experiment Station, who has been conducting a series of experiments to determine the effects of feeding different types of protein. Mr. Sherwood found that the feeds flavor the meat and that the extent of this influence upon flavor varies somewhat with the character of cooking and also differs when the meat is tasted hot or after it has cooled. He states that while these flavors vary they may not be objectionable depending upon the different tastes. One flavor may be quite satisfactory to certain persons and not at all satisfactory to other persons. With this point established we should say that we may be selling chickens fattened with soy bean meal for those who like that flavor.

But there is another twist to this story and that is that Mr. Sherwood has found that by making up the usual 18 per cent of the ration with high protein feeds, using a combination of say 3 of these protein sources about equally to form the protein concentrate, a resulting flavor that is more or less neutral may be obtained and thus the average taste better pleased.

Sherwood's experiments have included studies with meat and bone scraps as the protein source in the ration and he has used sardine meal, dried skimmed milk, cottonseed meal, and soy bean meal. He used 6 different combinations of these several protein additions, and thinks the best combination was 6 pounds each of sardine meal, soy bean meal and cottonseed meal which with 30 pounds of wheat gray shorts, 3 pounds of dehydrated alfalfa leaf meal, 1 pound oyster shell and 48 pounds ground corn made up a very satisfactory ration. He is not satisfied with the mineral level in this ration, however, and is already planning other studies to see of a better balance of the bone meal and oyster shell may be obtained. In these studies he expects to test his mineral combinations with the best as well as the poorest protein combinations. In his studies with the influence of protein additions, Mr. Sherwood observed due regard for gains in live weight, for good quality of feathers and rapid feather growth, as well as for the prevention of slipped tendons. Having achieved these desirable points he was able then to make nice distinctions in the resulting flavor when the different protein sources were used.

I think it is rather interesting that we are able to produce one or another flavor in chicken meat simply by shifting the source of the protein concentrate and I shall not be surprised if some of the animal nutrition specialists develop a practical means of producing a variety of choice flavors in beef, pork and mutton. At any rate, it is something to be able to decide on a desirable flavor of chicken and then proceed to grow chickens of that flavor.

This matter of flavor and palatability generally is not guesswork for a scientific method has been worked out by Dr. Sylvia Cover of the Rural Home Research Division, wherein a paired-feeding system provides a most accurate test of these qualities, and these tests furnish a further guide in the matter of proper cooking.

Of course flavor is not the only consideration in poultry meat production of pounds of meat and of chickens that are healthy and of fine appearance; but this must be done with due regard for holding down the cost of the feed. Certain protein concentrates are high in cost as for example the different forms of milk, in fact, the animal proteins such as milk, meat and bone scrap, and sardine meal are at times higher in price on a protein basis than the vegetable proteins such as cottonseed meal and soy bean meal. In such a case it is desirable to use the vegetable proteins as liberally as possible in the interest of economy, but of course, the ration must not be seriously impaired in so doing. The experiments along this line have shown thus far, that either cottonseed meal or soy bean meal makes an efficient protein addition insofar as gains in weight are concerned; and now in the light of these flavor tests may demand that one of these cheap proteins be used in producing the very flavor desired.

Nana, Art Miracle, Displayed At Fiesta

Fort Worth, July 29—"Nana," world famous painting which is so lifelike that it almost breathes is on display on Sunset Trail at the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta.

The exhibition at the Fiesta marks the forty-fourth year that "Nana" has been shown in the United States. Purchased by John Sutton and now owned and exhibited by his son, H. F. Sutton, "Nana" was brought to the United States in 1893 to be displayed at the Chicago World's Fair. "Nana" was purchased for $33,000 and the present owner has refused offers as high as $85,000 for the picture. Its exhibition history has caused it to be referred to as "the little gold mine."

"You keep 'Nana,' son, and she will keep you," John Sutton told his son soon after the picture was purchased. And H. F. Sutton has found his father's advice literally true for "Nana" has earned more than $2,000,000 for the Sutton family since the picture was purchased 56 years ago from the Russian artist, Suchorowsky, who painted it. More than 9,000,000 persons have paid admissions to see the painting.

TCU First Team In Southwest To Start Fall Football Grind

Fort Worth, July 29—Football practice in the Southwest Conference starts Sept. 7. But for Coaches Dutch Meyer and Mike Brumbelow of Texas Christian University it has already started. The Horned Frogs play Ohio State University (coached by their former mentor, Francis Schmidt) at Columbus Saturday, Sept. 25.

"And that means we have to have everything ready to get the most out of the few days practice we'll have before we entrain for Columbus," Coach Meyer observes.

He and Brumbelow are laboring several hours every day over elaborate charts of the plays they plan to use in the toughest opening game T. C. U. has ever scheduled.

Their job is made somewhat easier with the knowledge that the 1937 football squad will be the largest that T. C. U. has ever had. Fifty-seven men are eligible to report.

"We'll have a lot of good men," Coach Meyer comments. "We'll have more power and more speed in the backfield, and we'll have another strong line. I believe we'll give a pretty good account of ourselves, even if the schedule is a tough one."

PRICES

Prices this week end are better than last, note the below list, several changes over last week. The continued hot weather and pasture shortage is curtailing production of milk. The demand however is better now for milk products than a month ago. Naturally we can be expecting a better price for cream.

Wheat, oats, corn and all grain prices are some lower this week. Feed prices are going to be some lower; with feed cheaper and produce prices higher you can well afford to feed. Note the below prices of feeds.

HEADLINES

The death of Robinson after six months strenuous session of congress started the other members thinking about the possibility of the accumulative exhaustion that they were suffering during the present session. The meeting of congress this time has been the most nerve racking that the members have ever attended. They have been on the spot since the session started. The supreme court bill made many otherwise contented politicians uneasy. There never has been as much maneuvering and swapping of positions as there was during this brief period. All types of party and political pressure was brought to bear to bring committal in a definite manner. The newspaper men made life still more miserable by attempting to get a definite statement out of the men for the press. Now Senator Norris succumbs to the heat and returns to his native state for a vacation. So with the supreme court still out of the way the congressmen are casting longing eyes toward adjournment.

Unfinished Work

It is highly probable that the session will end with two major bills unfinished. The president has cherished the idea of securing a far, control bill through this session of congress. The two most powerful obbies in the capitol—farm and labor—are asking for the passage of definite legislation. The farm bill includes the "ever normal" granary idea. Under such a plan the national supply for domestic sale will be controlled by the government with the price steadied at a profitable level. During the lean years the farmers would be willing to accept such a plan, but the fat years such as the one we have now would find the average farmer unwilling to hold to the plan. Not many persons are willing to forego present profit for future benefit. That is the whole weakness of the American farmer's position.

Tenancy Bill

The president finally signed the tenancy bill. The bill will make possible the purchase of 3,000 farms this year and an increasing number each year. The first provision allows for the rehabilitation of small farms to prevent the owners from slipping into tenancy and to help the share cropper improve their status. The second provision will ask for the retirement of land unsuited for agriculture. Such submarginal land will be returned to pasture and parks. The submarginal land causes most of the erosion and sand. The families living on these lands will be aided in securing better farms.

New Idea

We are sure that the air cooling and air refrigeration engineers will not like the suggestion advanced recently by Senator Copeland. The emedicine man of politics advised the senators that the deaths of several of their colleagues was due to the air cooling system that had been installed at session, the congressmen have the capitol. So instead of over heat and work following the strenuous succumbed to the shock of entering and leaving the air cooled places. Everyone knows the shock of entering or leaving a highly cooled building, but it is doubtful that the engineers will approve of the senators statement.

Blanton Case

Texas has suffered from a cancer of defiance of the law for a long enough period. In the Blanton case where the man disappeared on the ranch in the thickets of the lower Rio Grande, law has been defied. The officers have been corrupted and failed to discharge their duties. Even when private investigation started the officials interfered to the extent of arresting the private investigators. For that reason the public was glad to learn that the rangers have decided that they will never quit the case until it is solved. Just because the owners of the ranch are rich and powerful, there should be no lessening of the prosecution of the search for the cause of the death and disappearance of the two men.

Tax Dispute

Very few actions of the state government have caused the furor that followed the appropriation of $22.00 for the schools and the subsequent action of the tax committee setting the tax at seven cents. Now there has developed one of the most interesting struggles that the state has witnessed in many years. The school teachers line up on one side and large property owners on the other side. Both have well developed and powerful lobbies. We think both sides have been silly. The state school board could have been reasonable say at a 20 or 21 dollars figure. The tax board led by Jimmy Allred could have been less radical with a nine or ten cent rate. Each side has been unreasonable and the fight is approaching the status of childishness.

Successors

The successor to Joseph T. Robinson as senator from Arkansas probably will be Governor Carl E. Bailey. Governor Bailey received the democratic nomination which amounts to election in Arkansas, and will be elected in a

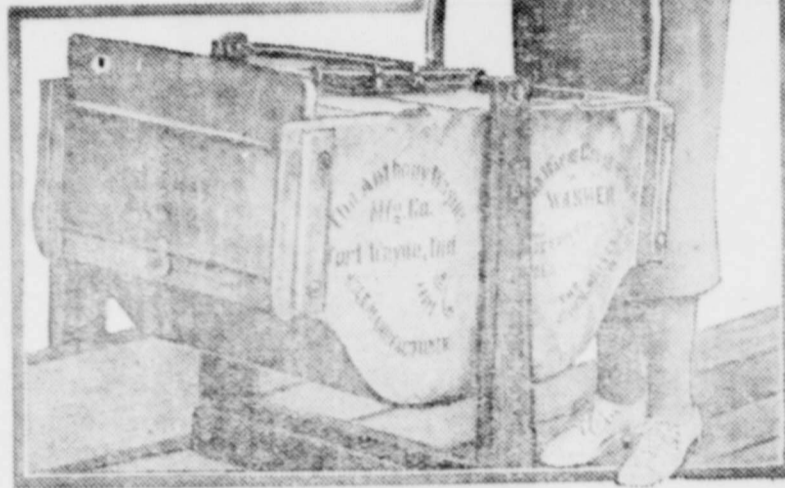

"Sensation" of 1893 Home Becomes Relic Alongside 1937 Washers

YOUNG housewives will have difficulty believing that the queer-looking contraption shown here is a household washing machine.

Grandmothers and great-grandmothers will easily recognize it for what it is, despite the fact that it bears no resemblance to the sleek, shining models of today.

This washer is 44 years old. When found by an enterprising washer salesman it had been used for the entire period by a Wisconsin family which sentimentally clung to the back-breaker in spite of the advancement that has been made in design and efficiency in almost a half-century since this was a sensation of American inventive genius.

It is hard to imagine that this hand-operated washing machine, working like a cradle and slowly, laboriously, cleansing clothes after a fashion, ever was hailed as a sign of a new day for overworked womanhood, but it was an exciting innovation once upon a time, just as today's more than 12,000,000 washers are regarded as simply routine home equipment by the housewives who own them.

general election called for Sept. 14. The problem has been settled without the election of the widow of the former senator from the state. It has been too often the custom in the United States to elect the widow of a prominent man after his death in office. This practice has grown so rapidly that in many cases it was ridiculous to watch. The man is progressive and has always been in sympathy with the ideas of the president. It will take a powerful man to replace the democratic floor leader.

In the senate Barley has been elected to follow the late floor leader. By the majority of one vote the Kentucky senator will take the place of the staunch friends of the president. He will have the task of lining up the senators for administration measures. It is one of the most important positions in the nation. It ranks third in order of importance in power. The president, vice president, and the senate leader is the order of importance in American politics.

COUNTY GIVEN STATE BALLOT

A copy of the ballot to be used in the special election of Aug. 23 for voting on proposed constitutional amendments was received Thursday from Austin along with other election supplies, according to county clerk Julian McFall.

Ballots for use in this county will include names of candidates for the legislative post recently vacated by Albert G. Walker of Vernon. Since Aug. 10 will be the last day for filling such candidacy, the ballots will be printed after that date. Candidates thus far announced are R. R. Donaghey, Vernon; W. E. Wilson Jr. and O. B. Kelley, Wichita Falls.

The first proposed amendment would fix the amount of liability of stockholders in state banks. The second is designed to provide aid for destitute children under 14, not more than $8 per month per child, and not more than $12 monthly to any one family. Aid of the federal government in such a program would be accepted.

The third proposed amendment would authorize the legislature to fix the manner and basis of compensation for all district, county, and precinct officers. The

Motoring Tips By Chevrolet

Only a few days ago, the newspapers carried a story about a man who had made a 17,000-mile trip without once blowing his horn. This driver emphasized the point that he handled his car in such a way as to obviate the need of warning signals at any time. And in spite of the fact that all cars have horns as standard equipment today, his example is one which the average motorist could profitably study heed.

Driving, under the traffic conditions which prevail in most places today, is a job which requires the undivided attention of the man or woman at the wheel. The modern car is built to react quickly to the various controls; but the controls themselves still have to be operated by human agency, and it is just as vital as it ever was that the driver concentrate on driving. He can do this best if he maintains a calm state of mind. And it is hard to remain calm and cool when horns are screeching on all sides.

There can be no denial that the over-use of horns runs counter to the interests of safety. For one thing, it is a far-from-soothing influence. It tends to confuse and hurry traffic. It reflects the impatience of the horn-tooter, and communicates that impatience to others. Startled by the sound of a horn at close quarters, a motorist will frequently pull over too suddenly, endangering his own car and others. Or if he reacts in the other of the two most common ways and gets angry, he will probably refuse to get over at all, and you have one of those private feuds which often lead to "cutting around", and frequently end in mishaps.

I have seen a driver, rushed by an insistent horn behind him, pull out into heavy traffic without a proper wait, and damage his own car and another, while the horn-blower took advantage of the confusion and went his merry way. And almost everybody has seen a driver, startled by a blast from the rear, swerve so suddenly as to endanger himself and others as well.

Proper use of the horn would be more general, if every driver would remember that other on the streets naturally judge him largely by the way he drives, and especially by his horn technique, since that comes forcibly to their attention via the ear. The use of a warning signal when about to pass is legal and proper; but there is no reason why it should be an insistent, ear-splitting blast that says: "Out of my way! Here I come" Neither is there justification for that other practice, prevalent in some sections, of leaning hard on the horn button when the lights change from red to green, to hasten the starting of the cars up in front.

The horn is a useful accessory, and one that should be kept in order. Whether or not it makes its full contribution to the safety and pleasure of driving depends upon the restraint and judgment with which it is used.

Tenmarq Wheat In Burk Area Proved Successful Type

Emil Schroeder, local farmer, proved for the third year that the new type of wheat "Tenmarq" originally introduced here by Buster Morgan is a successful type for this area. Mr. Schroeder planted 120 acres just west of the city and on completing the measurement this week found that the crop had produced 3802 bushels. This is an average of 3113 bushels per acre. Since the grain was introduced to this area by Mr. Morgan from whom Schroeder bought the seed this year, it has produced consistently a heavier yield than any other grain tried here.

Since the successful adventure by Mr. Schroeder, a larger amount of the area is expected to be planted in the future. While nearly land of other grain types produced less in every case the "Tenmarq" has been heavy yield even in dry years.

The wheat was originally developed in the Fort Hays Kan. experiment farm. It is basically a combination Marquis, noted for heavy yield, and Turkey, noted for hardiness and heavy protein content. In extreme drought years it produced from 18 to 20 and averaged over 20 substantial assistance to relieve the farm tenancy situation in the nation. Wednesday, the House extended for one year the present 3 1-2 per cent interest rate on Federal Land Bank Loans and reduced the Commissioner's loans from 5 per cent to 4 per cent interest. Thursday, the House passed the natural gas in interstate commerce Friday, the House had a general debate in which Representative Cox (D) of Georgia, and Representative Hoffman (R) Michigan, bitterly assailed the CIO and the labor strikes now occurring throughout the Nation, and Representative Maverick, of Texas, spoke defending labor's right of collective bargaining and pointed out the danger of prohibiting such a right.

The La Follet Civil Liberties Committees on Friday gave the first public showing of the Paramount News Reel showing how seven men were shot in the back and killed in the Memorial Day massacre at the Republic Steel Company Plant in Chicago. These pictures fully support stories of the press as to the brutality of the police in attacking, shooting, and clubbing these men as they lay on the ground.

Only two appropriations Bills remain to be acted upon and these will be sent to the White House early this week.

The Congress is feeling better after last week's outing and is showing signs of passing before adjournment, the larger part of the ten-point program, which I discussed last week.

The new court bill will be before the Senate until it is disposed of, followed by the departmental re-organization maximum hour and wage laws and farm legislation.

Big Rabbit Creek

Well sir, Hawk Eye almost went up Salt Creek Sunday afternoon from the awful hot afternoon. What made it so much worse on him was his weight. So much fat that when it gets up to 104 degrees as it was between the hours of 1:45 and 5:00 p. m. Its just getting too hot for them fat guys like Hawk Eye is.

Cotton has wilted more today (Sunday) in this neighborhood than any day since the hot weather set in. Some cotton over the country if it would rain a week couldn't help it much as its just too far gone.

Last Wednesday morning bright and early Fletcher Babers loaded his family in their car and headed East for Alabama, his birth state, not far from Mobile Ala. for 3 or 4 weeks visit with his parents Bros. and Sisters and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ashton and daughters left this Tuesday morning on a months recreation trip out in California and the Yellowstone Park in Colorado. They will arrive back home Sept. 1st.

Hawk Eye and his short haired companion and their brother Johnny spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Martin and daughter Winnie June and Margaret.

The Pickins Sisters from Hartford, Arkansas just closed a very successful 10 days and nights singing lessons at the Valley View School house.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hooper spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Martin.

Rev. Hicks will open up a 10 days and nights singing instructions the last week in August at the Big Rabbit Creek school house folks don't forget the etime, the last week in August.

Mr. Fred Brookman, the Owens family's staunch friend drove over to their home Monday morning and motored Ed and his wife down to Wichita Falls, Texas to transact some business.

Mr. Charlie Nails and his mother motored over to Milburn Okla. Saturday morning, leaving home at 3 a. m. they took Mrs. Martha Nail's sister and two sons back home. Mrs. Bone has been visiting with her sister for the past two weeks. Charlie and his mother arrived back from Milburn to Burk Burnett in time to attend the big $40.00 cash drawing Saturday evening at 4 p. m. in Burk Burnett, our friendly little city.

Say folks, Hawk Eye just got it into his cocoanut that he wants to go into Cooper's big dry goods and variety store, which he did, and say he states that he was very surprised when he got in that big store and it was just packed with customers. That big store has everything you can think of to sell. Walking into that big store is just like walking into a big dry goods store on Broadway, New York. Burk Burnett is very fortunate to have the Cooper Brothers in their city.

This is just a little information to the out side world. At any time any one who wants to see some of their old friends that they haven't seen for a coon's age, just go over to Burk Burnett, Texas, one of the most thriving cities in Northwest Texas. Just walk a few minutes up and down main street and you will sure find your friends or relatives as he will sure be there every Saturday at the big cash drawing for people comes from all over Texas and Oklahoma and Arkansas and Mo. and Kansas. If anyone doubts this statement all that Hawk Eye asks of you just come to Burk Burnett, Tex. any Saturday and see for yourself. You can purchase anything from a nigger baby doll to a airplane. And all prices are in line with any other city in Texas or any other state.

Yours Truly, Hawk Eye

Engagement Lorean Alvey Is Announced

One of the social events of the Fall season will be the marriage of Miss Lorean Alvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Alvey of Burk Burnett to John S. Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gibson of Conroe, Texas. The nuptials will be read in Burk Burnett during October according to the recent announcement of the bride elect's parents.

The bride is a native of Burk Burnett where she lived all of her life, and was graduated from the Burk Burnett high school in 1935. During her high school days she was a popular member of the class. Mr. Gibson formerly lived in Burk Burnett and is now enlisted in the U. S. Navy and stationed at Coca Sola, Panama. The young couple will make their home in Honolulu after a honeymoon in California. Mr. Gibson will be transferred to the Islands after his leave here.

Central Christian—

Continued from first page better place in which to live. The only way is by means of the cross, which the greatest of all times, Jesus, presented to us. Yet, this way shines with joy and happiness never to be destroyed, if adhered to firmly, and the only means of promoting progress in life, both of the individual and the community. Hear the stirring message Friday night.

Sunday morning the subject will be: "Opportunity Fidelity and Reward." This will be based on the parabolic teachings of the Master. What reward may we expect? Silver and gold, home in heaven where we will have nothing to do but sing and shout? Or will there be still a better reward? Should we seek a reward? Is it selfishness which would cause us to do so? Hear this message Sunday morning, and life may mean just a little more to you than it ever did before.

Sunday evening: "The End of the Trail" Work over, strife ended, peace abounding. The tides of love life will abound.

Baptismal services will be announced later.

Central Christian wishes to express its thanks to the fine cooperation of the people of Burkburnett in making this revival the success that it has been. Night after night fine people of the community, many members of other churches, have assisted in many ways besides attending. Also to those who have assisted at the piano, during the absence of Mrs. E. R. Martin, who was called to the bedside of her sick husband, the church wishes to express its appreciation. These include Mrs. J. H. Exley of the Presbyterian Church, Mr. Norris Bingham of the Baptist Church, and Miss Maxine Melton of the Methodist church who has played most of the time. Their splendid ability, charming personalities and unselfish willingness has truly inspired all. Also, those fine young people, who have assisted in the choir from churches in this community.
