Union Valley Gym Dedicated Monday In Oklahoma Meet

Representative Jed Johnson Praises Initiative Of Small School Community

Interesting Program

Representative Jed Johnson of the sixth Oklahoma district praised the vision of the people of Union Valley for their courage in undertaking to construct the new building at the dedication ceremony of the $10,000 gymnasium and auditorium in the small Oklahoma community Monday night.

The dedication speech by Representative Johnson was the climax of a program in which five communities in Texas and Oklahoma assisted the school in the celebration. Representatives from Walters, Randlett, Temple, Devol and Grandfield Oklahoma and Burk Burnett, Texas joined the community in the event. The new auditorium held the largest crowd that had ever gathered at the school for any purpose as 500 persons jammed the new building to hear the program.

The program started with a concert by the Walters high school band under the direction of Ray Fletcher. The Seven Aces Band of Temple continued the concert. The Walters band formally opened the program with the national anthem. Rev. A. B. Waldrep, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Walters delivered the invocation. George Huey, State WPA Administrator and Thomas B. Mathews state WPA engineer praised the community for its cooperation with the government in the project.

The speaker Jed Johnson, was introduced by E. W. Parrack, president of the school board.

The dedication of the gymnasium marked the culmination of the long dream of the community to have a place for its teams to have a place to practice. For ten years the teams had dominated Class B basketball. From a student body of less than 50 pupils championship teams have been produced each year that have won 10 district, four regional, and two state championship in Class B ranking. These teams have all played and practiced on dirt courts. The new building will give the teams and fans a place where games and practice can be held in comfort.

In addition community programs, religious services, and political meetings can be held from the beautifully decorated stage.

Rainbow Girls To Sponsor Picture Palace Theatre

Members of the order of the Rainbow Girls are selling tickets this week for the picture "Three Smart Girls." The play will be presented by Stanley Gartside, manager of the theatre, as a benefit for the organization, and the members of the group are showing how smart they are by selecting one of the best selections of the summer season for sponsorship.

The play will be presented at the Palace Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday August 11 and 12. All tickets sold previous to the opening of the box office will be divided with the organization. Five hundred ducaats had been printed this week, and the sponsor, Mrs. H. J. Exley promised that everyone would be sold.

Sixteen elaborate sets, ranging from an expansive night club to a half-mile sweep of modern homes representing Swiss lake country, as well as a modernistic penthouse, form the backgrounds for the filming of Universal's "Three Smart Girls."

The interior of a night club called "The Jungle" offers a setting for one of the key situations in "Three Smart Girls." Here Barbara Read introduces Ray Milland to Binnie Barnes, portraying the blonde temptress who hopes to snare the girl's millionaire father. Milland is given the assignment of luring the fortune huntress away from her prey.

"The Jungle" might be symbolic of a modern Diana running down her quarry. Steel tipped spears gleam from the walls, beneath a row of hunters' shields bearing barbaric designs of jungle trophies. As the players go through their lines, the drums begin to sound; pounding, echoing, challenging, there it comes, the chant of the jungle, stressed by the beating drums, a tantalizing rhythm that stirs the cultured races, as well as the savage to whirl in a mad dance.

At that point Ray Milland begins to effect the pian which the "Three Smart Girls" have developed. He dances with the international beauty who is forever seeking romantic conquests. The picture unfolds a modern comedy lightened by brilliant dialogue. Jeannine Durbin is the youngest of the three sisters, whose father is portrayed by Charles Winninger. Alice Brady and Misena Auer, who scored so heavily in "My Man Godfrey," are prominently cast.

A mob of children gathered and rushed through the street for the balloons that elusively flitted before a slight breeze. The lucky winners secured passes to the show at the theatre.

In the future one operating organization will be directly responsible for this local service."

Strickland cleared the decks for the championship match with a 6-1; 6-2 victory over Jack Vaught.

In the junior division Bill Amyx advanced into the semi-finals with two sizzling victories over Peevey. Amyx slammed through a two sets 6-0; 6-2. Woodward said the booth here was averaging better than 60 inquiries daily, while the state average is approximately 30 and few booths at other places report more than 30 calls daily.

THIRD TERM TALK

Allred may be able to win a third term as the governor of Texas, but many of his friends would like to see him observe the tradition so long accepted in the state and step out at the end of his second term. There is no law regulating either the number of presidential terms or the governor's terms, but custom is stronger than law in many instances, and we believe that it would be in this case.

Personally we do not think it a good condition for one group to dominate a state too long. Whether or not the group is benevolent does not matter. The control exercised by the governor can become too much for him to handle safely and well when he dominates the state executive policy too much.

The safe guard that we have established in our state government of distributing the appointment of state board over several administrations is an excellent check against political corruption.

There are two factors which we believe would weigh heavily against the possibility of the governor winning. The teachers are organized against him since the recent reduction of school taxes. The tradition is a strong handicap that he might have a hard time overcoming.

CIVILIANS IN WAR

Many of the stories written during the last two decades about international intrigue have used as a basis for fiction the possibility of one nation spreading disease among the citizens of a nation with whom they were fighting. These stories made very good fiction, but were discounted as highly imaginative products of the authors' minds.

Last week the report was spread by the rebels in Spain that the loyalists and their friends were spreading diseases including sleeping sickness, typhoid and similar communicable infections among the rebel civilians and soldiers. If the report is true, it is a fair indication of the complete change in warfare methods.

In the world war the fact that a large number of civilians were killed and their homes destroyed was considered one of the honors of the war. Yet in most cases these deaths and the destruction was a part of the battles fought between the opposing forces. The citizens were killed as by-products of the attempt to cope with the armies of the enemies.

Now war seems to have been reduced to absolute savagery. The opponents in the war are sending airplanes, in many cases carrying gas over the civilians section and raining death and fire on the noncombatants in the huge population centers.

But still more horrible is the thought of sending a man creeping across the enemy territory laden with capsules of deadly disease germs. These germs were introduced into food and water supplies and their deadly work started.

The horror of the epidemics that will follow such a policy is a shame that mocks the pretenses that we make of being civilized. We can think of no hell where punishment would be severe enough for the men who do such things.

SERVICE CLUB IN WORLD PEACE

Members of the local service clubs attended the international conventions of the Rotary Club and Lions Club always bring back the report that they have a better understanding of the citizens of other nations. When the men of several nations mingle for a few days in an organizational meeting of this type, these men naturally lose much of the prejudice and hatred that develops between nations.

Probably these meetings point the way to world peace and the abolishing of international conflicts. When the diplomats of several nations assemble they naturally bring all the arrogance and hatred to such conference of the nation behind. Diplomats assemble to secure bargains. They use every possible means fair and unfair to gain objectives. Under such conditions conferences officially called for the purpose of creating understanding and peace become just other causes of misunderstanding.

When men assemble in international conventions for the purpose of fellowship and entertainment, these men rub shoulders. The artificial dignity of diplomacy is forgotten. The men associate with each other as men and not as representatives of nations. When their fellow club men find them very human and very likable. The result is that each delegate takes back home an impression which creates goodwill.

More emphasis could be placed on these assemblies with benefit to all nations involved. The men from Burkburnett who attended the Lions and Rotary conventions in Mexico City brought back with them a very different understanding of Mexico than they had ever had before. Previously these delegates thought of these people as "greasers" or "wops". After that convention they understood that the nation was a group of cultured and attractive people whose accomplishments demanded respect and admiration.

"Drastic flood losses can be reduced by controlling stream flow at its source with the help of adequate cover crops, pastures, terracing and contouring." Following recent heavy rains in the Panhandle numerous county agricultural agents reported that land which had been listed on the contour retained the rainfall which fell on the land and that in many cases water stood in the rows for from 12 to 24 hours after the rains.

In nearby fields not contoured or terraced the rainfall ran off quickly and contributed to flood waters which gathered after the rains. Some damage resulted from the flood water. It is clear that land protected by terraces and contours, or by adequate cover crops, results in a double benefit to the public. The individual farmer retains more rainfall for subsequent crops and runoff water from his farm does not contribute to flood damage.

HEADLINES

Congress adjourns in about three weeks after one of the most interesting sessions that this the most powerful elective political body in the world has ever held. Three major bills will be presented during the last few days of the session. Housing, court reform, and tax loopholes are the only major left on the program. The bitter struggle over the court left the politicians and observers exhausted. The senate completed the work on the wage-hour law in a rush of activity last Saturday giving the president a large majority victory that overcame the sudden Southern rebellion. Now the bill has the right of way in the house. Under the bill a board would be created to set minimum wages over 40 cents per hour and hours at forty per week. Seasonal labor has been exempt from the provisions. Child labor is controlled by barring from interstate shipments products of manufacturers who use children in the process. In these provisions the house is attempting to change fixing minimums up to 70 cents per hour for work, and 35 hours per week.

Small Businesses

In order to encourage the recovery of small business establishments all over the nation, the bill eliminated employers of less than 10 persons from the provisions of the law. This is a mistake. On the whole with the exception of chain stores, a few communication companies, and similar organizations, the large companies pay better wages than small operators and small business organizations. Such organizations as cafes, small grocery stores, shall theatres, filling stations, drug stores and similar types of individual enterprises usually pay from 17 to 42 per cent below the national average. Cafes are especially guilty in working people, and if they are in this respect. These businesses employ fully 40 per cent of the hours. Of course that would exempt, the bill will do little to either increase wages or shorten the establishment of individual enterprises who could lower prices and fight competition of large concerns that are forced to raise wages and employ a greater number of persons for each job.

New Government.

At first the rebels in Spain refused to admit that the primary purpose of the rebellion was to restore King Alfonso to his throne in order that a dictatorship could be established, but every day of the war new developments point toward that objective for the Spanish. Francisco Franco formed a new cabinet last Sunday. In this cabinet five of the seven positions are held by Spanish nation lists who have vowed to restore the monarchy. There is only one person openly opposed to the monarchy on the new cabinet. That opposition in the general Liano who is always talking over the radio in Spanish, and for American broadcast in English.

Japan Cleverness

Every time that Japan thrusts into China to grab more territory the Nippons chose time when the European nations have a full program taking care of their own troubles and can't interfere. They possess Manchuko, Charar, Hopie, and other territory while the Europeans were fighting over their own conflicts. In addition they pushed an agreement down the throats of the Chinese during the world war

Supreme Court Appointment

The president has the opportunity of a life when he makes the appointment for the vacancy which will be created when justice Van Deventer retires. The president has been called all kinds of a radical and revolutionary by the opposition. If he appoints a sound man in the position he will do much to offset the influence of the criticism that arose during the court battle in the senate.

Car Loadings

Car loadings are a fair indication of the prosperity of any nation, and last week the loadings were over 36,000 over last year and 1,000 over the previous week. Shipments made by train now are substantial goods which indicate a heavy return of buying in all sections of the nation.

Dorcas Class Party

Members of the Dorcas class of the First Baptist church met on the lawn of the home of Mrs. A. H. Lohofener for their business and social meeting. The meeting was opened with the song "Lifted Me" Mrs. O. L. Clark led in prayer. Mrs. Glen Bear brought the devotional from Math. 23:31-40. An interesting program was presented by the class. Mrs. Leo Foster sang two solos, Mary Frances Clark sang two numbers. Grace Preston gave a reading. Refreshments were served to Mesdames Hal Goodlet, Walter Morris, Ira Hullum, D. H. Gregory, O. L. ris, Glen Bear, Wylie Browning, Clark, B. F. Gilchrist, C. O. Walling, A. L. Gilvow, Fred Thompson, H. A. Goodwin, N. R. Vaught, Claude Phillips, Leo Foster, and W. H. ## Has One of World's Richest And Most Varied Marble Deposits

The problem of what to do with the world's richest, most easily accessible and most varied marble deposits is being solved by the Lone Star Development Council. M. Law, Dallas geologist, has made a first-hand study of the state's limestone and marble resources. Decrying a lack of showmanship comparable to that of a cher who "would try to sell steak from a steer still out on the range," Dr. Law said that all Texas marble needs to become a gigantic "cash crop" is the relatively modest investment in equipment to harvest and polish some representative commercial samples of the state's 750 varieties, some smart and vigorous salesmanship on behalf of the material, and assurance to the architectural world that it could be supplied in quantity on reasonably short notice.

The "oyster age" of several million years ago laid down a bed of deep sea shell limestone marble extending in a 400-mile diagonal from the Red River to the Pecos about 40 miles wide and 1,000 feet deep. This deposit, Dr. Law's report said, contains "more marketable volume of this unusual type of marble than combined similar deposits of any five states."

At present this particular type of marble, whose polished cross sections reveal interestingly its oyster "ancestry" in ornate configuration, is not on the commercial market at all. In fact, thousands of acres of it have been "wantonly" crushed for use in road building, with no appreciation of its uniquely ornamental value.

Less distinctively Texas, but even more important commercially, Dr. Law said, is a similarly inexhaustible vein of dense limestone marble which outcrops over the counties of Blanco, Burnet, Mason, Gillespie, Llano, Lampasas, San Saba, and McCulloch. Resources of this deposit alone are equal to the marble contents of any two or three states in the Union.

"With about $3,000 worth of quarrying equipment and a little time we could have supplied from our own Texas deposits, the counterpart and equals of all the fancy marbles from Italy, Spain, France, Tennessee and Vermont that have made the state of Texas building an outstanding architectural triumph," Dr. Law said.

Twelve acres of outdoor space are set aside for model homes and landscaping displays at the 1939 World's Fair on Treasure Island in San Francisco.

More than twenty miles of pipe is being installed to furnish water to 20,000,000 visitors on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay, during the 1939 World's Fair at San Francisco.

Many industries of national rank are planning to erect their own buildings for the 1939 world Fair at San Francisco.

QUESTION: When should a roast be salted—before placing it in the oven or after?

ANSWER: Roasts are usually salted at the beginning of the roasting period. When broiling meats, however, each side is salted after it is browned because salting tends to retard the browning of meats. This problem is minimized with roasts because they are in the oven long enough to assure browning. The Hotpoint way of roasting meats—starting them to roast in the cold electric oven—means one simple step from start to finish.

QUESTION: What can one do with boiled icing that becomes too hard to spread on a cake?

ANSWER: Add sufficient boiling water, a few drops at a time, to bring the icing back to spreading consistency.

QUESTION: How can one make a devil's food cake red without the use of too much soda?

ANSWER: Use a good recipe which calls for about 1 teaspoon of soda. Let the cake batter stand in the pans 10 to 15 minutes before placing it in the oven. Then after the cake is baked, let it stand 1 or 2 hours before cutting.

QUESTION: How is it possible to fry a large quantity of bacon and eggs at one time?

ANSWER: It is difficult to find a large enough frying pan to hold enough bacon and eggs (frying the eggs after the bacon) for a good-sized, hungry family. There is a new griddle, however, which forms a portion of the broiler pan of the new Hotpoint electric range, which serves as a large efficient frying surface when used on the hi-speed Carrol unit. Over one-half pound of bacon can be fried at one time and the griddle is large enough to accommodate 12 eggs. The bacon is fried on HIGH heat and the eggs on the stored-up OFF heat.

QUESTION: How can one "refurbish" curdled mayonnaise?

ANSWER: Place 1 or 2 tablespoons of evaporated milk in a bowl and very slowly add the curdled mayonnaise, beating constantly with a fork.

A Dusting Hint

To prevent dust from settling on nearby furniture while beating upholstered furniture or mattresses, dampen an old bath towel, wring it dry and spread it over the part of the surface you wish to beat. Then beat right over the towel; the dust will be removed yet will not settle on other furniture.

Eliminates Soaking

To eliminate soaking and parboiling of dried fruits and baked beans, place the raw food in the Thrift cooker of the Hotpoint electric range. Cover food with water and proper seasonings, cover and switch to LOW. Cook until tender. This requires no attention.

and it makes marketing easier. Certain cultural practices, such as clean cultivation, proper fertilization and pruning, and especially satisfactory control of insects and diseases are essential for profitable production. In centers of heavy production every vineyard becomes a daily demonstration, and competition lends a hand. Both of these boons to good farming practice are denied to the isolated grower.

When the local market is satisfied, small surpluses are hard to dispose of. When a region becomes famous for a product, a steady market is developed for a standard pack in quantity.

Three counties have produced 200 tons or more, as reported in the 1930 or 1935 census or both. They are El Paso, Montague and San Patricio. Eight additional counties are shown to have produced 50 tons or more in one of these census reports. All of these, with the exception of Brooks, are in what is known as the West Cross Timber area, and a strip to the east of this including Grayson county. There seems to be no reason why production could not be greatly increased with profit using American varieties in this area and European varieties in Southwest Texas for the earliest markets.

Some of the best varieties of European grapes tested at the Winter Garden Station are Sultanina, sometimes called Thompson Seedless, Alicante Bouchet, Zinfandel, and Black Prince. Among the desirable American varieties should be mentioned two old southern sorts, Le Noir or Black Spanish and Herbemont, in addition to the Munson varieties referred to before, such as Lomanto, Lukfata, Marguerite, R. W. Munson, Extra, and Elvicond. A new grape of the Black Spanish type called Favorite would seem to bear watching.

Now if these words have a hollow sound because you doubt the possibility of production, take a look at some of these native vines. It's about time for green grape pie anyway.

Adding Machine Paper at Star

CASE FOR GRAPES IN TEXAS

There is a thing that might have a hollow sound and with a sense of unreality. This is as it should be. In this we continue to see possibilities for the future. We make money out of it. We have an enlarged grape industry in this state, and so on. There are a few more clear cut things that are often brought up in discussion. Perhaps the possibility of the grape industry in the state. Fortunately the qualities that make grapes well adapted to the soil have been common to the grapes of the past. His varieties are now being used by the Experiment Station to produce new sorts with a wider choice of desirable qualities.

Two types of grapes can be grown successfully, the European varieties, all belonging to the species Vitis vinifera, and the American varieties which have been developed largely from native kinds. Both types have excellent juice and table varieties. The vinifera, which are widely grown in California, are well adapted to the extreme western and to the Southwestern part of the state, while the American varieties do well on the lighter soils of much of the rest of the state.

Many of the European (vinifera) varieties have been grown very successfully by Mr. E. Mortensen on the Winter Garden Experiment Station located between Crystal City and Carrizo Springs. He has been able to eliminate cotton root rot as a serious factor in grape production by the use of rootstocks resistant to this disease. A selection of the wild Vitis champini known as Dog Ridge, is a vigorous grower, is resistant to cotton root rot, propagates readily, and seems to be congenial with most varieties. In addition it is reported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to be resistant to nematode. With this in mind the rootstock work of the Experiment Station is being extended to include a large number of American varieties since these are also seriously affected by nematode and by cotton root rot. The use of a rootstock of this type is a means of expanding the grape industry.

Tests of the American varieties are being made at the Main Station and at substations near Balmeria, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Naacodoches, and Angelton. Character of soil is an important factor in grape production. Most varieties cannot be expected to do well on heavy or on shallow soils. The use of a vigorous stock would tend to improve growth under less favorable soil conditions.

The development of increased grape production in definite areas does two things. It encourages the use of proper methods of culture,

"The Rest of The Record"

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
AUSTIN — There are times when every public official wishes he could lay before the people all the facts in a current controversy, so that the people themselves might judge whether his acts were justified.

Several editor friends to whom I made this comment have replied, "Well, Jimmie, why don't you write out those facts as you see them?" So I have decided to do just that, and take advantage of the generosity of these editors by laying before their readers what I call "the rest of the record." This is my first try at it.

SCHOOL CRITICISM UNFAIR
It's a strange thing when public officials are criticized for reducing taxes — for reducing taxes without detracting one iota from public service. Yet, believe it or not, that is exactly what is happening in the current controversy over the state's public school apportionment.

Because State Comptroller George Sheppard and I cut the property tax rate for school purposes from 20 cents to 7 cents, we are accused by other public officials — who should be as deeply concerned as we are over the average man's tax burden — of taking something, somehow, from the school children of Texas.

I tell you flatly, that is not true. At their best, these statements give you but a part of the record. And a very distorted part, at that. Every informed school official knows that since I have been governor, the schools have received far more aid from the state than ever before in the state's history.

RECORD FRIENDLY

For parents in general, who are not apprised of the mechanics of state aid, this explanation is in order. The state helps support schools through two means. First, there is the available school fund, which is divided among the districts on the basis of registered children of school age.

Then there is the "rural aid fund" or the "equalization fund," so-called, which is an additional grant to poorer rural districts.

Rural aid has jumped two and a half million dollars each year I have been in office! When I was inaugurated, it totalled three million dollars; today it is five and a half million. The present controversy isn't over rural aid; it is concerned with the available school fund, distributed on a basis of so much for each child — the state "per capita."

Now this fact is undisputed: During the first year of my administration, the state contributed $19 per student in the per capita apportionment toward the education of each of approximately 1,500,000 Texas children — and this payment likewise was the highest amount in Texas history!

But here is the fact which critics want you to forget: The per capita this next year will be even greater—at least $20, and perhaps a little more—and at the same time property tax payers will get a tax reduction! The revenues will come from other sources than ad valorem taxes on property.

Does that sound like taking anything from anybody?

TAX REDUCTION STAND

Upon what are the critics basing their charges? Well, here's how it all happened:

The law says the per capita shall be fixed by the State Board of Education, on or before August 1st. At this time the Comptroller shall furnish the Board of Education with an estimate of available funds. The Board is then required to do a simple problem in arithmetic—divide the total anticipated revenues by the total number of pupils—and the answer is the per capita.

Now another law says that the Automatic Tax Board, of which Mr. Sheppard and I are members, shall meet by July 20th and set a property tax which will insure enough anticipated revenues to pay $17.50 per capita.

I construe these two laws to mean that the tax board must meet first, find out how much money will be available for schools, and vote enough property taxes to make up the difference. Last year, that's what we did. We found we could reduce the school tax from 35 cents to 20 cents, and still pay the schools $17.50. Not a soul objected. Happily, revenues from other sources were greater than expected, and a per capita of $19.00 was possible.

But this year, for some mysterious reason, the Board of Education met first, and presumed that we would continue the 20 cent tax, regardless of need. Why they so presumed is as deep a mystery as why they met before they possibly could know what the revenues would be—for they couldn't know until after the tax board met. With the 20 cent tax rate, they could make a per capita—another way, an increase GAL TWO—THE REST OF THE apportionment of $22, or ex-

EARLY OIL STRUGGLE MAKES GREAT DRAMA

A vivid re-enactment of the battles fought over the world's first oil pipe line is an exciting feature of the big new cinema production, "High, Wide and Handsome."

Randolph Scott, as an oil pioneering Pennsylvania farmer, carries the brunt of the fight for control of the oil industry.

Lovely Irene Dunne has in the new picture probably the greatest role of her brilliant career.

First Pipe Line Depicted in Exciting Film Play

By LATTIMER SHAW

ONE of the most dramatic pages of American history—the discovery of oil and the birth of the gigantic oil industry—has at last engaged the attention of genius. The result is a magnificent and thrilling motion picture, "High, Wide and Handsome," which will entertain countless millions throughout the world during the next twelve months.

The story is that of the Tide Water Associated Oil Company and the desperate conflict between its Pennsylvania farmer pioneers, struggling to build a great pipe line to get the water, and the transportation interests fighting for control of the industry in the years following the discovery of "God's Gold" at Titusville, Pa., in 1859.

Produced by Paramount, "High

Wide and Handsome" is a return to the "colossal" scale of movie making, with an enormous cast, lavish sets, great location panoramas and quick violent action. The story was dramatized by Oscar Hammerstein II with five special songs by Jerome Kern, the pair who turned out "Show Boat" the east is headed by Irene Dunne, star of "Cimarron" and other great pictures, Randolph Scott and Dorothy Lamour with 36 other well known players in name roles backed by thousands of extras. Opening at the Astor Theater in New York, July 21, it will complete its run there and then go on its way around the world spending four or five months in two score key cities before being seen in the smaller communities.

Miss Dunne, a medicine show entertainer stranded in Titusville, Pa., marries Randolph Scott, a young farmer, while he is experimenting with the world's first oil well. From there the story moves rapidly into the vicious struggle between the oil drilling farmer and their commercial enemies. Battles with blacksnake whips, shotguns, stones and wrenches are depicted with vivid action and beautiful photography.

Workers are attacked and slain and locomotives haul the pipe from the earth. In the face of this violence the farmers carry on and build the world's first pipe line across rivers and over mountains to the refinery at Bayonne, N. J.

The story of that heroic struggle was taken almost directly, incident by incident, from the romantic annals of the Tide Water Associated Oil Company whose pioneers built this first pipe line to the sea. That original pipe line laid at so great a cost is still in existence today and still is bearing the priceless Pennsylvania crude across the Alleghenies to Tide Water's Bayonne plant where it is refined into Vedol motor oil and Tydol gasoline.

Uncle Jim Says

The mowing machine is the farmer's biggest aid in pasture improvement work.

The greatest improvement in pastures in humid regions, says R. R. Lancaster, pasture specialist of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, results from mowing.

The direct result of mowing pastures is to give good grasses which have been shaded out, an even start with poor grasses and weeds. Most troublesome pasture weeds can be eradicated by mowing twice a year for two or three years.

At the Angleton Experiment Station, mowing twice a year increased the yield of the experimental pastures from three to five times over nearby unmowed pastures. Hereford cattle, carried for two years on native pastures mowed twice a year, weighed approximately two hundred pounds more than a similar group on unmowed native pasture.

The best grasses are those that grow in the sunlight, according to Lancaster. Mowing removes weeds and tall growing grasses and permits sunlight to reach grasses which have been growing in the half shade.

If weeds are cut just before the seed mature, they will be at their weakest stage in food reserve and will not recover as rapidly as otherwise. The weed stubble from the first cutting should be tall enough to allow a second cutting below new branches that sprout from the stubble, Lancaster warned.

Junior 42

Members of the Junior 42 club met at the home of Miss Christine Turner last Wednesday for an interesting evening of games. Miss Bula Miller won high, and Bonna Dell Smith low. Refreshments were served to Misses Bonna Dell Smith, Mary Black stone, Bula Miller Betty Barnes, Myrta Mae White, Betty Jane Hill, Betty Marie Kelley, and the hostess, Miss Turner.

The New York World's Fair of 1939 will plant 10,000 mature trees and 250,000 shrubs in landscaping its grounds.

Widening River of Taxes Deluges U. S. Motorists With Higher Cost

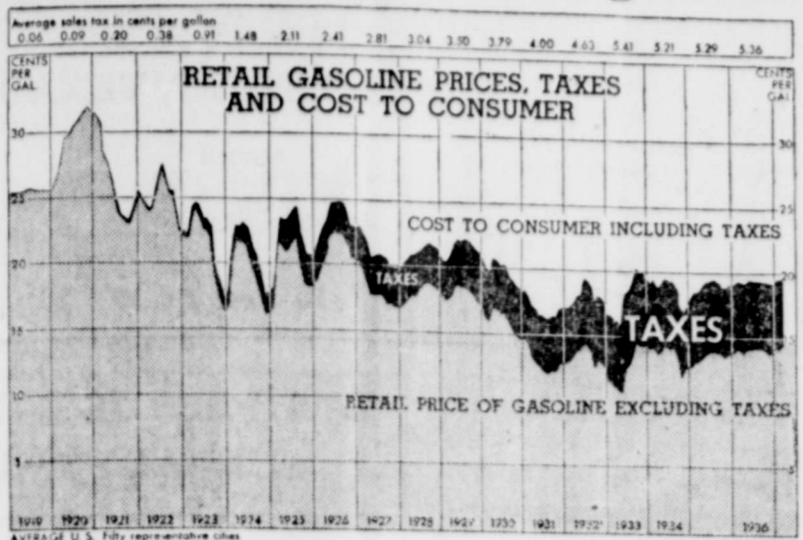

Chart shows how cost of gasoline taxes has increased since 1919, largely offsetting economies resulting from 50% reduction in gasoline prices. Preliminary estimates of the American Petroleum Industries Committee indicate these heavy retail sales taxes will extract nearly $1,000,000,000 from motorists' pockets this year.

Duplicating and hidden taxes, paid first to federal and then to state governments whenever and wherever gasoline is purchased, make a widening river of taxation deluging motorists with a higher cost. These taxes force motorists to pay one-third more for motor fuel.

Levied to finance highways, sales taxes on motor fuel cost only $1,000,000 in 1919, or a few cents per motorist. In 1936 the cost was close to $900,000,000, or over $30 per motorist. Estimates for 1937 indicate a total cost of nearly $1,000,000,000, greatest in history.

Despite the enormous increase in cost, proportionately less of the revenue is being used for highways. Millions of dollars are diverted to general purposes, thus causing neglect of roads and menacing public safety.

These levies, which constitute a retail sales tax sometimes exceeding 40% highest ever levied on an essential commodity, make the motorist America's Taxpayer No. 1.

Another big gasoline taxpayer is the farmer, who owns and operates about one-fourth of all motor vehicles. Diversion of road money to general purposes hits him hard because he pays expensive taxes for roads which never are built! Biggest tax collector is the service station operator, one-third of whose time, equipment, and labor consists of collecting taxes from his own customers!

Hope for improvement is seen by automobile clubs, taxpayers' organizations, and Petroleum Industries Committees in the growing sentiment for repeal of the federal gasoline and oil taxes, and for amendments to state constitutions confining the use of gasoline tax income to roads. It is believed also that the continuing increase in motor vehicle registrations and in gasoline consumption soon will make possible the reduction of gasoline tax rates, thereby curtailing costs to each taxpayer.

The point is that is should be held under perfect conditions, and everything provided to make the boys know that they are assigned to a tough job for this fall. And that in doing that job that they have the cooperation and the interest of all the fans in Burkburnett. We feel that our football men will not let the team down at a time like this. We know that they are interested. Those beautiful white and satin suits are a testimony of the interest of the fans in Burkburnett in the teams.

Big Rabbit Creek

August 1, 1937.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wood and family arrived home last Tuesday evening from an extended vacation trip back to Eastern Oklahoma. They were gone about 10 days. They report having a fine time and they said they enjoyed themselves just fine. J. E. also reported to Hawk Eye that all crops were as fine as he ever saw. Corn that will make 60 bushels or more per acre. Cotton was fine. Prospects indicated a bale per acre. Lots of apples, pears and other fruits and all gardens were fine. There wasn't anything that was needing any rain at all. J. E. is very much carried away with that country. They say back east that they haven't any bole weevils at all and every farmer is looking forward for a bumper cotton crop.

Well, this is the first day of August and is still mighty hot and everything is burning up. Late cotton is holding its own fairly well.

Mrs. W. H. Martin is on the sick list. She took real sick Friday night and was too sick to attend the big cash drawing of $40.00 Saturday evening over in our friendly little city, Burkburnett.

Mrs. Jess Kinnaird and her son, Irland motored up to Grandfield, Okla. Saturday afternoon to visit friends over Saturday night. They returned home Sunday evening.

Folks, it's a wonderful thing to see the thousands of people over in Burkburnett every Saturday. The nicest thing about it is that every one is so sociable and kind to each other. The city folks mingle and visit with the outside folks just like they have known them a life time. That's why every one goes to Burkburnett on Saturday. Another thing is all products are as cheap and lots of them cheaper than Wichita Falls and other surrounding towns, especially groceries and dry goods. You take the leading dry goods stores any day you can buy dry goods cheaper than you can buy the same article in Dallas or Fort Worth, Texas.

It's just 315 p. m. and its 104 degrees in the shade. Believe it or not, it's awful hot. It's just to hot to even sit around in the shade.

When Hawk Eye arrived in the city he went down to the Star office to see if all of the staff were on duty which they were and working hard. About the busiest one was Mrs. Fred Bookman, operating two typewriters at once making out statements to have ready to start out collecting Monday morning, August 2nd. It's a easy job for a collector in Burkburnett for the simple reason all business firms in Burkburnett come across with the dough to pay their bills right now, and Hawk Eye don't mean maby, either. That's just why Burkburnett is the prosperous and thriving city it is today.

Miss Geneva Wood and her brothers called on the Owens family Sunday afternoon and visited a short while with the family.

Hawk Eye before he forgets it wants to call his old nimrod friends as Fred Bookman, Wiley Browning, Leonard Mattingly, of the famous and several others over in Burkburnett of the fine turtle soup dinner he served Sunday. After Hawk Eye got back from the city Saturday evening he and his brother John, set out their trot line in Big Rabbit Creek. Sunday morning they went down and run the line. They took off several nice catfish and a big 7 pound soft shell turtle. Hawk Eye brought Mr. GAL TWO—RABBIT CREEK up to the house and with the assistance of his fine cook (wife) they cleaned it and Hawk Eye's wife cooked it. Say, boy, talk about a fine dish that turtle soup was fine as you ever flopped a lip on. While serving our turtle soup dinner I thought of my many nimrod sports. Over in the city, Hawk Eye says he don't believe their is anyone, man or woman who can beat his wife cooking a turtle. In fact anything else along the cooking line.

It seems by what all of the farmers states to the writer they have their crops all layed by, unless it happen to forget and give this part of Cotton country a good rain. If that should happen, of course their cotton and feed stuff would be plowed over again.

Jess Kinnaird is due to arrive home Monday or Tuesday from his 10 days vacation and visits with relatives and friends over at Ardmore, Okla. And around Wilson, Okla.

The eldest son and his family of Grandpa and Grandma Dillbeck, and who lives at Durant, Okla. arrived in the Rabbit Creek neighborhood Friday evening to visit his father and mother and brothers and sisters. Mr. Dillbeck stated that all crops was as fine as he ever seen in the Durant vicinity.

Before Hawk Eye left the city for home he went down to Little Henrys and Hicks big grocery and meat market. It was just a sight folks to see the customers that were lined up in front of the big meat counter. Mr. Bobo their meat cutter was cutting steaks and other choice cuts while little Henry was working it up its no telling how many hundreds of meat they sell every day.

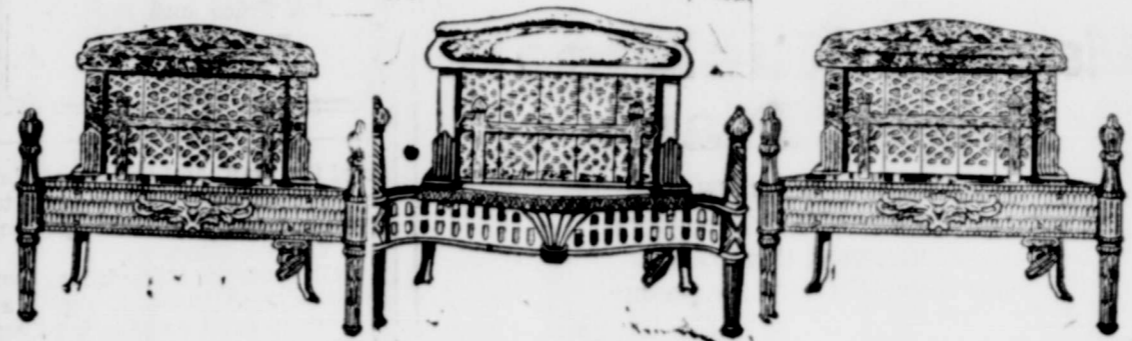

Dr. R. J. Dice of Randlett took Mrs. W. H. Martin to the General Hospital at Wichita Falls, Tuesday morning to be operated on for appendicitis. It's hoped by the results derived from the operation and she will be back home in a few days.

Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY VIRGINIA FRANCIS
Director Hotpoint Electric Cookery Institute

Every day finds us developing grand recipes in our Institute kitchen. Here, for instance, are two deliciously different ones that I'd dash out—apron and all—to give you over the back fence, if I were your neighbor. But inasmuch as I can't talk to you in person I need must do the next best thing and write you about them.

And in connection with these two recipes I have a surprise for you. Although one recipe is for Green Bean Stew and the other for Apple Snow Balls, you can cook them both

Green Bean Stew
(Serves 6)
4 tablespoons fat
1½ lbs. beef (cut in small cubes)
1 onion (sliced)
1½ quarts green beans (cut in ¾-inch pieces)
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
2 bay leaves
Salt and pepper to taste

1. Melt fat in frying pan, add meat and brown over Hi-speed Calrod unit. 2. Add sliced onion and brown. 3. Place in Thrift Cooker in your Thrift Cooker, together with some succulent ears of corn—and wait it a meal!

An appetizing three-dish meal can be prepared all at one time in the miracle Thrift Cooker of the electric range.

Perhaps it isn't news to you that your modern Hotpoint range can perform so cleverly, but if it is let me explain how this "miracle" is accomplished. The Green Bean Stew is placed in the bottom of the Thrift Cooker kettle, which stays right in its deep insulated well in the back of the range; then the long-legged rack is placed over the mixture and on this rack you put the "snowballs." Then you cover the food and turn the switch to HIGH heat. When steam appears from the vent, switch to LOW heat and let it steam for about 45 minutes. By that time the snowballs will be done, so they will turn the rack over to the corn which will want to steam for about 30 minutes; at which time the stew will be cooked to a savory delectability.

Let you're thinking this three-dish meal will taste like stew, more stew and then some more stew, let me assure you that this economical cookery unit has a way of keeping each food flavor intact and where it belongs. Now it's recipe time.

and add remaining ingredients; blend thoroughly. 4. Cover cooker and switch to HIGH heat. When steam flows freely from vent, turn switch to LOW and cook. 5. Remove bay leaves before serving. Time: 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Apple Snow Balls
(Serves 6)
1 cup washed rice
2 cups water
6 apples
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup raisins
Cinnamon

1. Cook rice in 2 cups of water in covered saucepan 45 minutes. 2. Spread rice on individual squares of white cheesecloth and place one peeled and cored apple in the center of the rice in each square. 3. Fill cavity of apple with sugar, a dot of butter, and a few raisins. Sprinkle with cinnamon. 4. Bring up ends of cloth so that rice will stick on all sides of the apple and tie on top, thus making a round ball. 5. Steam these balls until apples are soft. Remove cloth at once. Serve with cream. Time: About 45 minutes (exact time depending on variety of apples.)

Texas Farmers and Ranchmen Approve Game Conservation

COLLEGE STATION — That Texas farmers and ranchmen approve the game management demonstration plan offered by the Extension Service of Texas A & M. College is evident from the enrollment of 1,597,600 acres in 39 counties, according to R. E. Callender, game management specialist.

The plan, which has been in operation less than a year, calls for demonstrations featuring deer, wild turkey, antelope, beaver, prairie chicken, quail, fish, and other forms of wild life. Farmers and ranchmen who enter the game management program organize into associations and set aside their land as game preserve demonstrations.

In most cases the preserves will be open to restricted hunting. Hunters will pay a nominal fee, part of which will go to the own-

Dallas county leads in number of individual demonstrations as well as in total acreage involved with 648 land owners and 150,000 acres. Other counties listed by Callender as high in the state ranking include Stephens, with 124 demonstrators and 110,000 acres; Baylor, with 98,077 acres; Young, 83,586; Callahan, 76,500; Kaufman, 42,000; and Colorado, 40,000 acres. In Wheeler county 36,000 acres along Sweet Water Creek are devoted to beaver management.

In addition to working with farmers and ranchmen on the plan county agricultural agents have a number of demonstrations with 4-H club members, Callender said.
