CENTRAL WARD SCHOOL DECLARED UNSAFE BY TRUSTEES; CLASSES TO BE HELD IN LOCAL CHURCHES; NEW BUILDING PROJECT PLANNED

STATEMENT BY SUPERINTENDENT REVEALS DEEP CONCERN OF SCHOOL BOARD ABOUT CONDITION OF BURKURNETT BUILDING

Church Boards and Congregations Aid Schools For Year

Methodist and Baptist Churches Offer Basements to House Four Classes

REPORT AT SCHOOLS

After the inspection of the school last Saturday by five members of the school board of trustees, the churches were asked to house four sections of the classes. At the Baptist church the board of deacons recommended the invitation to the school, and

C. J. Duncan, superintendent of school announced Thursday morning that the Central Ward school building which has housed approximately 300 children in the past few years has been deemed unsafe for further use.

The red brick building which was built during the boom to care for rapid increase in enrollment was declared unsafe by the school board, and the children normally attending classes in the building will be accommodated in temporary headquarters.

Mr. Duncan added to his announcement that plans are underway to build a new building—if possible by aid of PWA grant. However, if no grant is available the emergency must be met by local financing.

In the meantime classes will be held in the basements of the First Methodist church, the First Baptist church, and in all available space in the high school building.

By use of every available space in the high school building at the present time the school will be able to take care of 150 of the children of the upper divisions. Preparations have been made to bring these classes to the building. The present high school classes will be arranged to allow the new students to crowd into the schedule.

The remainder of the enrollment, an additional 150 students of four sections will be scattered between the Methodist and Baptist churches. The churches received the expression of appreciation from O. L. Clark, representing the school board for their offer of the use of the buildings for the classes.

Both the superintendent and members of the school board expressed a desire to not alarm the parents of the children, but did express a desire to protect the pupils from the possibility of a tragedy.

The building was recently inspected by members of the board of engineers of the PWA, and the verdict of this representation was that the building was unsafe. The engineers in a personal interview at that time emphasized the facts that cracks were appearing in the structure and foundation, joists and rafters had been displaced in the settling of the building, floors and stairs were becoming unstable. In a statement to local reporters the PWA engineers advised the immediate construction of buildings either by government aid or by the school district.

The school was inspected last year by members of a

Rotary-Lions Show At Palace Saturday

Kiddies To Be Admitted For School Supplies

Four comedies including two cartoons and an Our Gang show will be presented at the Palace Theatre next Saturday morning by the Lions and Rotary club for the benefit of the school supply fund of the two clubs.

The children of Burkurnett will be admitted to the show for a pen, pencil, or some other article that can be used by the underprivileged children during the school term. Even old clothes that still have wear will be used as the price of admission.

The materials will be turned over to the Lions and Rotary committee and will be distributed by that committee on the examination of the individual cases during the year. It is the hope of the clubs to be able to obtain enough supplies to last the entire year during the show, and several hundred children are expected to attend the show Saturday morning.

250 Fans Eat And Watch Players At Big Feed Tuesday

Team Dons New Suits and Shows Off Plays For 1937 Season

RULES EXPLAINED

More than 250 fans ate hot dogs, beans and pickles, and drank all the soda pop available last Tuesday night as they sat as guests of the football teams and coach and watched the 1937 edition of the district champions cut capers all over the football stadium.

To the tune of munching hot dogs, and the pop of pop bottles the Bulldogs gave an explanation of the prospects, rules, and plays for the year.

All dressed up in black and white and gold, the team went through its stunts under the direction of Coach Volney Hill and Assistant Coach Wallace Beasley and Polk Robison.

New Suits

The new suits were well received by both the fans and the football players. Every one of the players expressed eagerness to try the suits under real game conditions (they will Friday night Sept. 17.) Every uniform fit like a glove, and was padded and protected in the right spots. As for appearance, the suits offered the fans the classiest eye-ful of jockey satin that any Texas high school or college team has ever worn.

The players were introduced by Coach Hill and each gave his weight age and experience. These weight age and experience. These players then formed the teams for the plays and rules explanation.

Season Tickets

Superintendent C. J. Duncan announced the sale of season tickets, and the office was open after the game for the sale. 75 tickets have been sold bringing in $150.00 approximately the same number remain.

Coach Wallace Beasley and Coach Polk Robison were introduced. These assisted Hill in the plays and rules. Mr. Hill expressed special appreciation to Roy Jackson, and S. S. Reger for aid in preparing the food. Hill also thanked the fans for the good attendance.

THIRTY PLAYERS ENTER

Thirty Burkurnett golfers will start the first match play tournament for the local golf club at the community club links next Sunday morning at 8:30 with Al Ragsdale, tournament chairman as starter.

Two flights of players will tee off for the club championship. The nine hole course is located at the site of the former Hillcrest club, and according to R. P. Reagan, president, will be in good condition for the tournament play.

Lewis Sims, winner of the flag tournament will enter the match play as favorite to repeat his excellent game. In the second flight the contest will be more or less

Miss Burkurnett will be selecting next Monday night to participate in the elaborate pageant which will be presented as one of the features of the Wichita county fair at Iowa Park. The selection will be made by the members of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce at a meeting in the city hall.

Herman Ingelmann, secretary of the organization announced the date of the selection Thursday morning, and added that the Burkurnett organization was co-operating in every possible way to make the fair successful.

A Burkurnett committee composed of Jack Brumley, Frank Kelley and W. C. Keisling joined the Iowa Park executive committee Wednesday afternoon in inspection of the fair grounds. The chamber of commerce booth was selected for Burkurnett. A complete display of information about the community will be placed in the booth.

Louis-Farr Fight Presented Palace Theatre Fri - Sat.

Who won? That is the question that has raged in the United States and England since the Louis-Farr battle that presented one of the best boxing matches of the year recently, and Stanley Gartside, manager of the local theatre has announced that the Palace will be one of the first theatres in this section to show the 40 minutes of fighting blow by blow next Friday and Saturday.

The dispute that has swept the sport critics into a series of arguments and kept and uproar among the claimants on both sides can be settled personally by offering cards, just like those used by the judges, and each fan will keep his own score during the show and judge for himself the winner. The pictures from a ringside seat will show every detail and the interesting points of the fight the motion has been slowed down so that the blows can be seen in greater detail than at the actual fight itself.

So the fight fans are given the privilege of being the first in the nation to witness the round by round scenes of the battle in Burkurnett.

VISIT NOCONA

Next Tuesday night a representation of Burkburnett club members will visit the city of the Indians, Nocona. Burkburnett's Bulldog's first rivals in football this year. The visit will be for the purpose of inviting the fans from Montague county to join the local fans the first game of the season. The formal dedication of the local football field for the year will be that night, and Nocona promises to send a large delegation along with their team to help us.

A special program is being prepared for next Tuesday by the host clubs at Nocona, and a decent proportion of Burkburnett club members must attend. It is an opportunity to place the rivalry between the two cities on a basis of friendly sportsmanship. So keen has been the competition, so bitter the battle for supremacy in this district and region between the two teams that the bitterness sometimes threatens to dominate.

Keen rivalry is an excellent thing in high school and college athletic competition. But it mustn't become more important than the objective of the contest. This visit offers an opportunity for the citizens of the two cities to get together to keep the competition on the high plane that it has been during all these years that the two cities have played.

Last year Burkburnett went to the regional finals, and were defeated by the Indians. This is another year. We start all over again, not forgetting the loss, but reducing it to the proper status of a thing of the past.

So next Tuesday night every member of the Rotary and Lions club and every other prominent business man and fan in the city should accept the invitation from Nocona.

COST OF EDUCATION

Early in the history of the nation the responsibility of training or educating the child was left to the home. Most of the earlier training received with few exceptions was given by the mother or a spinster aunt. Only a few had the privilege of attending schools or colleges. As the nation developed one ideal predominated the national consciousness—the value of an educated or literate citizenship.

A new phenomenon developed—free public schools. This social development has in every sense been a definition of the difference between our democracy and the forms of government of other nations. Out of this desire for educated populace has grown an independence and pride that cannot be killed even by the bitter political ambitions of selfish men.

So Jefferson, in whom the democrats take so much pride, and all the other early leaders were justified in their insistence that on widespread public schools. These schools have builded the soundest democracy that the world has ever known.

In Burkburnett we face a less theoretical and more practical side of education. It costs actual hard cash to run a school system. In order to raise that cash, taxes are necessary. Texas are assessed for the purpose of providing for training that we as citizens voluntarily transferred from our own homes to a public institution. We delegated the school to take the place of the home classes by which former generations trained their children.

Now we must pay for this institution of democracy. pay for our delegation of the task of education to an organization. Taxes may seem unjust, the valuation may seem high, but whether they are just or unjust, low or high, they are a strict obligation that no citizens of integrity will evade.

JAPAN SURPRISED

Most nations must accept the invasion of the superior military machines without any hope of victory. For almost a hundred years Japanese troops have been invading Chinese sectors and appropriating huge slices of territory with impunity. The Japanese have been victors so often that they had come to believe that they had a divine right to take another slice of the sleeping dragon any time that they wished.

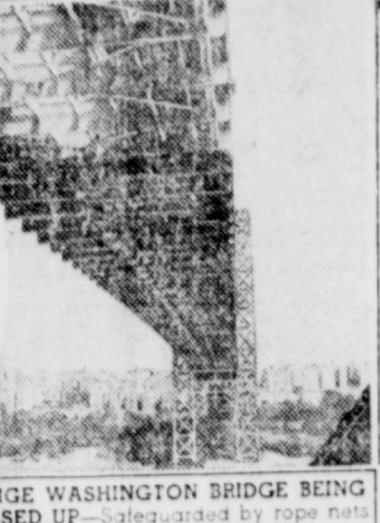

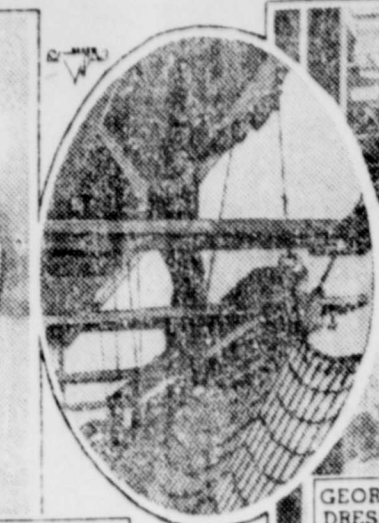

Every time the Japanese invaded, the European nations were so busy with their own fusses that they could do nothing about the ambitious Nipponese. In the last 20 years the Japanese have been so successful that territory as large as the state of Texas has been boldly appropriated as Japanese area.

It was inevitable that the Chinese so constantly humiliated should join in a common cause and resist the attack. That is what has happened now. The finest of Japanese military machine has been thrown against the wall of Chinese defenders, and this machine has been rebuffed with severe punishment.

That army that has been accustomed to fighting what was no more than a group of disorganized bandits has clashed at last with a real army. That army of defenders has the additional inspiration of fighting on their own homeland defending their own women and children. That inspiration adds a fierceness to the defense that even Biblical warriors found valuable three thousands years ago.

So this may be a different story. If other major nations keep out of the conflict, the Chinese themselves may successfully defend their homes.

STAR SNAP SHOTS

HEADLINES

Why men will continue to fight a losing battle in crime is hard for any reasonably-minded person to understand. Crimes are committed every day, and ultimately the bad men are caught or shot down by friends or police. Never once do they escape entirely without paying some inevitable penalty for their crimes. For many years in some cases the criminals seem to escape, but, like Kuykendal, sooner or later they meet a severe fate. Even the famous Jesse James who became the Robinhood of the midwest met his death at the hands of avarice on the part of an associate. So it has been when the laws fail to function and officers fail in their search even the comrades of the men themselves betray them.

Russia Demands
The boldest note of the current Spanish revolution has developed in the Russian demands of Italy. Following the raids of the mystery submarine last week, Russia openly accused the Fascists of sponsoring the raids. For this accusation they demanded reparations of the Italian government. The Italian-Soviet clash becomes the gravest note of the war. It is graver because it came about with full diplomatic formalities. Many nations have used their home newspapers to accuse various other nations of crimes against peace of the world, but this demand was formal note from the Soviet government. France and England had just asked Soviet Russia and Italy to cooperate in a meeting to prevent the outbreak in the Mediterranean.

Violent Deaths
Another holiday has passed and this time more than 350 persons died violent deaths from the accidents and crimes during the celebration. This 350 individuals leave behind another 2,000 who suffered injuries, some of them for lifetimes. Those who died are gone. They will not suffer. Their place in the world will be taken by other save in the hearts of those who loved them. But the injured may linger on in a bitter life totally unable to ever find normal routine again. They will become burdens on society or on their own families. That is one of the greatest tragedies of modern times.

Arrogant Parade
What started as a celebration or festival of Nazi party in Germany has been transformed into demonstration of the military strength of Germany and Italy. As the now famous annual party started with full military display of Germany's crack units of all types, a huge squadron of Italian fighting planes swooped across the field, and the Fascists joined the Nazis. This party that

Official Note
The official note read, "The Soviet charge d'affaires in Rome sent a note to the foreign ministry today in which after denouncing us for torpedoing tow Soviet vessels in the East Mediterranean, responsibility for the acts attributed to Italy and made demands for damage together with punishment for the culprits. Bold Language
That was bold language for diplomats to use in any sort of conversation. Most of the time such conversation is disguised in polite exchanges.

Division of Labor
Labor has the right to organize as it sees fit, but it is a shame as the organizations celebrated last Monday that they could not have marched in unison in a common parade. The split in the ranks of labor between the Green and the Lewis group has done more harm to labor than any other happening in the last century. There are three million more members of labor organizations this year than last year, but they are not together. This powerful bloc of American industry could accomplish a lot more if they should join hands.

Labor For Aged
One of the parts of tribute to labor last Monday was the speech of Secretary of Labor Perkins. The most important feature of the secretary's speech was the demand for labor for the aged. During the last 25 years a new social development has caused much suffering and poverty. There are very few companies today that will hire a man over 40 years of age, and the result is that many men just reaching the peak of their skill and just arriving at the age when they have enough sense to come in out of the rain are forced into less lucrative fields and to compete with unskilled labor. Perkins said, "It is hoped that the department of labor will be able to study the effect of any economic conditions and statutory provisions which may tend to discrimination on the basis of age in obtaining employment in public service and private industry."

The tourist business ranks second to oil in Texas according to statistics compiled by the Texas Planning Board which show that oil last year enriched the state $450,000,000; tourists, $446,000,000; all agricultural crops, $384,000,000; and cotton, $210,000,000.

Tanning extracts may be obtained from a number of Texas plants and trees, according to the Texas Planning Board. Among others are sumac, osage orange, canaigre, palmetto roots and agrito.

SUMMER SCHOOL For SCANDAL

By POLLY HALL

The first word in our title is no more; the second one begins three days; but our last word goes on and on. (Aren't reporters lucky?)

These next three days are going to be chocked full of pencils, fountain pens, and tennis shoe buying. The old note book may be good enough to get by on, but you'll have to feed it reams and reams of paper in return for all the nice essays and history answers you take out of it to hand in.

Derby and Marilyn are back and now no one must answer their letters. Just be quiet a while and they will unload about a ton of Colorado Jimmies and Johnnies. In spite of that, they are fitting back into the local scheme (v. i. z. the old boy friends) even better than when they left. The tennis tournament in Wichita occupied the sports minded urchins of the village last week-end. Even though everybody lost, they had lots of excitement watching the state finals. That fellow from Dallas who is the best tennis in the state also has the prettiest male legs in existence, according to Pauline.

That minor disaster of last fall, Paderewski McClendon, has returned for how short a time we don't know. Question: Where would about eleven of the better known high school boys be socially if it weren't for a game called football? Answer: The same place they are socially in the spring.

Barbara's do-re-mis are now bringing in the real kind, or at least they did last Sunday. Quotation from a letter written by a high school boy to another one: "If you have a girl, you should consider yourself lucky. I haven't one now." Quotation from Wayne Roberts: "Well, I'm lucky. I don't have a girl now."

Now with the last week of summer drawing rapidly to its inevitable close, one must think of Senior rings. (Whops! Where are those $8 coming from?) beating Nocona, learning as little geometry as possible for an S. Senior Stands, and all those very foolish things that go with acquiring a secondary education.

Lanette, having given the town a month's breathing spell is home again. She went to Bridgeport, Louvain is also back after a love affair in Tulsa and a vacation in New Mexico.

Rich deposits of the relatively rare fluor spar, a mineral which is all but indispensable to porcelain, glass and steel manufacturers, have been found in the Big Bend country, according to the Texas Planning Board's mineral resources committee which predicts that the Big Bend section ultimately will prove a source of wealth equal to that which the East Texas oil field has yielded. Gold, silver, lead, zinc and copper are being mined in the Big Bend now.

Rites Held For Schroeder Child

Funeral rites for Melba Janice Schroeder, six-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Schroeder of Burk Burnett were held Sunday. A brief service was held at the residence at 3:15 o'clock and a public service was held from the Clara Lutheran church at 4 p. m. Rev. Paul Keiser, pastor of the Clara church officiated.

Burial was in the Clara cemetery under the directions of Owens and Brumley Funeral home.

The infant died Saturday at noon at the family home here following a week's illness.

She is survived by her parents; one brother; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ray of Longview and Mrs. G. E. Schroeder of Burk Burnett, and several uncles and aunts.

Palbearers for the services were Erwin Schwieger, Harold Van Loh, Herman Englemann and Arnold Miller.

Juan Jose Martinez-Lacayo, consul general at San Francisco for Nicaragua, has been authorized to sign a contract for space for the Nicaraguan exhibit at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

An outdoor theatre (left) and parked dining terraces just above the street level, which will be warmed in winter and cooled in summer by the control of radiant heat or radio-like heat rays in the ether, were included in the plans for a city of 2000 A.D., shown in New York City recently by the Sixth Avenue Association in connection with the opening of combined showrooms for 14 building industry companies of the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation. Table in upper right shows science's most recent evaluation of the ether waves emanating from the sun and the position in these waves of the recently discovered heat rays which can be reproduced artificially and used to warm or cool people without warming or cooling the air.

WEATHERLESS city where streets will be warmed in winter and cooled in summer, with the buildings for out- operation in all seasons, is the projection of science.

Powering skyscrapers are by scientific towers of a glass that transmits 85 per cent of the sunlight but is not heated, and the buildings are shaped to admit sunlight into rooms, with some resembling arrowheads and airplane propellers.

Two architects, Max Baer and Olindo Grossi, winner of the Rome in 1933, design the city were shown recently by the Sixth Avenue Association in New York City at the opening of the world's largest building industry showroom by fourteen companies of the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation.

Breaking completely with former conceptions of cities with taller and taller skyscrapers, these designs speculate on how known scientific facts may be applied by the year 2000 to broaden and improve the life of the individual by bringing him more out into the open.

The heat ray or radiant heat, which is now beginning to be used in the latest air conditioning, is used to warm and cool people on the streets without warming or cooling the air. Similar to light and radio waves, this ray can be transmitted through the ether as are radio waves, and huge plates broadcast and receive it along the streets and in the open air theatre where the seats are built to catch the rays and turn them to the individuals.

Streets are parked without loss of street frontage by placing garden terraces above the first floor on a set-back that also serves to let sunlight down to the street. On these terraces are cafes that are warmed and cooled by broadcasters and receivers of the heat ray above each table.

Cross streets are dropped below the main streets with underpasses of glass, and underground arterial highways connect with compressed-air conditioned parking areas that occupy the unlighted centers of buildings.

Swp "Best By Far" Finds Customer Of Thaxton Bros.

After using 12 gallons of mail order paint, the building owner ran short. Rather than wait he dropped into Thaxton's Hardware and bought enough SWP to finish the job. The SWP was so much whiter than the mail order paint the owner had to repaint the whole building — this time using SWP. It required one-third less paint with SWP to cover the same amount of square feet. Adv.

New Fall, Winter Washable Styles Deceive Experts With Their Beauty

WEAR washable clothes all Fall and Winter!

That is the word from the style dictators, but it does not mean that the new fashions resemble the typical wash garments of summertime.

Only the expert eye of the most clever shopper can detect that any of these new garments are washable. Cotton, for example, appears in forms from corduroy and twill to luxurious nubby fabrics, with French crepes, alpaca and even tweed effects and surprising reproductions of wools. But although they look like styles that cost many times the price of these, the new dresses can be kept fresh and sprand-span by a quick trip to the household washing machine and a few moments of finishing on the family ironer.

The youthful, smart flowered crepe and the lovely spun rayon shown here, the latter with its cleverly contrasted stripes, horizontal in the blouse and vertical in the skirt, were exhibited at a recent style show that introduced the new fashions to store representatives from throughout the country. Both costumes, the spectators were told, can go into the household washer as successfully as the most unpretentious kitchen apron.

Commissioners Set County Rate At 60c

Wichita county's tax rate for 1937 was set at 60 cents after commissioners had experienced considerable difficulty Tuesday afternoon in reaching an agreement in their efforts to find some means of reducing the general fund deficit.

The levy had been tentatively set at 57 cents, a seven-cent drop from 1936, when the budget was discussed several weeks ago. Tuesday was the day for a public hearing on the budget, but the public was not represented when the commissioners convened.

Commissioner Miles Hines of Iowa Park proposed the court add a seven-cent building fund levy, which would bring the 1937 rate back up to last year's total of 64 cents. Commissioners Henry Hayes of Electra supported the suggestion, but Commissioners F. R. Knauth and Lee Cooper cast negative votes and County Judge H. W. Fillmore broke the tie against the proposal.

Haynes then proposed a five-cent building fund tax but this also was killed, 3 to 2. Cooper next moved for a three-cent levy for the building fund and the only negative ballot was cast by Knauth of Burkburnett, who maintained the court should leave the rate at the originally proposed 57 cents.

Heavy Overdraft

Wichita county's general fund, and the attendant officers salary fund, deficits in which are paid from the general fund, were $112,000 in the red Sept. 1. The general fund levy has been at the statutory maximum of 25 cents for many years and no provision is made for a salary fund levy. Due to the large overdraft the county will start paying salaries and bills in script Sept. 15.

when tax payments start, it was necessary to take a chance on the rate first indicated by the commissioners and begin preparation of the rolls.

Since the rate change the rolls cannot be completed before Oct. 15.

Scout Executive—

preceding his death, but, nevertheless, went to work as usual Tuesday morning. He suffered two slight heart attacks last week but dismissed them lightly.

At the time of his death Creighton was directing scouting in an area comprising 14 counties and affecting between 1,500 and 2,000 boys. He was 57 years of age, having given the last 15 years of his life to the promotion of scouting in Wichita Falls and the surrounding section.

Scouts to Attend

Scouts throughout this area were preparing Wednesday to pay their last respects to the man who had done so much for them through scouting. They will gather some 20 or 30 minutes before 10 o'clock Friday morning at Memorial auditorium. Dressed in full uniform they will take seats on the stage in the choir block being used in the Gipsy Smith revival meeting.

The scouts and their scoutmasters will also have charge of part of the services at Memorial auditorium, and will participate in the burial ceremonies at the cemetery.

Memorial auditorium is expected to be thronged by the legions of boys and men who have associated with the "Chief" in scout work.

Never Forgot Scouts

In the work which he loved above all other things, he had entrenched himself deeply in the affections of every boy with whom he came in contact. He saw many come into scouting as boys and go out as men, and it was his proud boast that he never forgot their names.

The chief scout executive is survived by his widow; two sons, Maynard and Bryant; a daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Davidson of Los Angeles, Calif.; a brother, Walter Creighton of Chicago; and three sisters, Mrs. Blake Hannon and Mrs. Cale Hopkins of Chicago, and Mrs. George P. Macatee of Houston.

Active pallbearers will be the scoutmasters of Wichita Falls. Named as pallbearers Wednesday were: W. R. McClure, Gordon Thomas, Graham H. Brown, James Brent and Ruble Johnson.

Plugs Gasoline And Cigarette Tax Laws

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 8.— State Comptroller George H. Sheppard ran a total on his books today and found that by plugging up the holes in the motor and cigarette tax laws, he had saved the State of Texas approximately $10,000,000.00 in three years.

There are, everybody agrees, only two ways to raise money to carry on the many functions of government: Enact new tax laws; or the less painful method of enforcing the existing taxes so that the state gets a maximum return.

The second method may sound easy; Comptroller Sheppard Sheppard found it anything but easy. Sheppard's employees occupied in collecting gasoline taxes will testify it's not easy. They will tell you of working nights — something almost unprecedented in state government — because at night is when the gasoline tax racketeer works. And the Comptroller wanted, most of all, to get the gasoline tax evader, the man who takes the pennies from the gasoline consumer and drops them in his own pocket.

It was with this idea in mind that Sheppard, coming to Austin from Sweetwater after serving thirteen years as tax assessor of his county and mayor of Sweetwater, started back in 1932 to plug up the leaks in the state's taxing structure.

The No. 1 job was to find the leaks; then discover why; and finally, obtain legislative assistance in plugging them.

The two "leakiest" laws were found to be the cigarette tax and the gasoline tax. Funds from the cigarette tax and the gasoline tax are divided between the schools and the old age assistance funds of government. Schools likewise get one penny out of every four cents tax you pay for gasoline.

Turning first to the gasoline tax law, Sheppard found that the first essential was to maintain the closest watch over East Texas refineries; to require exact and sworn reports so that the gasoline could be watched from the moment it came out of the crude oil until it reached somebody's gasoline tank. The maximum penalty for evasion of the tax was $200, the minimum $25 — and obviously, it was a very worthwhile business for the racketeer to make $1,000 — by evading taxes, for an investment of $25 to $200, in fines.

To sympathetic legislators, just as anxious as the Comptroller to see that the tax laws applied to all alike, Mr. Sheppard took his problem. A new law, one with teeth in it, was enacted. On the refineries in East Texas, Comptroller's men were placed in three eight-hour shifts to check every drop moving out.

Again, the figures tell the story most convincingly:

During the year 1934, consumption of gasoline increased in the United States 7.51 per cent; yet, in Texas, for the comparable period, tax collections showed an apparent increase of 14.09 per cent. The only possible inference was that $4,184,204 in tax leaks had been stopped.

During 1935, national consumption was up 14.94 per cent over 1933; while in Texas, the increase in consumption plus the stoppage of leaks made a showing of an increase of 25.11 per cent. In money, this was $7,457,266.

In 1936, national consumption was 27.08 per cent above 1933; while in Texas the increase was shown to be 37.71 per cent, and the total income from the gasoline tax was $41,190,011.

Figures on national consumption for 1937 have not yet been compiled; but for Texas' fiscal year, ending August 31, 1937, gasoline tax collections amount to the new high mark of $46,430,562.33.

On a percentage basis, this is 36 per cent more than four years ago, and demonstrably this percentage — which adds up to $16,735,117.93 — was largely due to plugging up leaks. Divided between the funds to which the money goes, after taking into consideration refunds and enforcement cost, it meant $9,753,515.50 additional for roads and $3,251,273.81 additional for the public schools for the year 1937, over the amount which likely would have been collected (on the basis of 1933 figures) had not the Comptroller determined to make the tax fall on all alike.

The same story is applicable to the cigarette tax law, to which Sheppard turned his attention as soon as the gasoline tax law had been corrected by the legislature. Although a smaller total amount is involved, the showing is even more impressive — an income more than doubled without any increase in price. While a small part of the increase may be due to increased consumption of cigarettes, most of the increase is due to the halting of tax evasions.

Four years ago, when Sheppard took hold, the counterfeiters of cigarette tax stamps and the itinerant peddler of untaxed cigarettes were making unbelievable inroads into the state's collections. Even making a substantial allowance for increased consumption it is estimated that the state was losing $3,000,000 annually to these racketeers.

An examination of the law disclosed many defeats. As was true with the gasoline tax law, the law, the enforcement provisions were entirely inadequate. The stamp then in use was readily adaptable to counterfeiting.

The new cigarette tax law and the new gasoline tax law were enacted by the same session of the legislature, in 1933. A new type of cigarette tax stamp, a serially numbered decalcomania stamp, which could not be duplicated or re-used, was devised. Numerous other leaks of a technical nature likewise were corrected.

This year, the cigarette tax will show an income of $6,660,000; in 1933, the last year under the old law, the net income to the state was approximately $3,000,000.00. That's a gain of more than 100 per cent.

One further phase of the tax collection program:

A corps of auditors was put on the books of gasoline and cigarette distributors, with instructions to find whether the state had been cheated in any instances. As a result, the state found claims of more than half a million dollars in delinquent taxes, and suits were filed through the attorney general. Several thousands of dollars have been collected through this work, and several offenders have been convicted under the new felony statutes.

Comparison of the collection costs on these two tax laws with other tax laws shows the tax has been collected at remarkably little expense to the state. The cost of collecting the gasoline tax amounts to 1 per cent; of collecting the cigarette tax, 2 1-2 per cent, while to collect ad valorem or property tax, the cost is 5 per cent. In dollars and cents, to collect $46,000,000 in gasoline taxes cost $423,944.06, while to collect $16,000,000 in ad valorem taxes cost the state approximately $800,000.

"These garters came from Paris."

"Very expensive I suppose?"

"Why, yes, they can't be touched in this country at any price."

Chartographers now have a brand new island to place on their maps—Treasure Island, 400 acres in area and the San Francisco Bay site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

MARVIN HALL URGES STATE OBSERVANCE FIRE PREVENTION

(SPECIAL TO THE STAR)

AUSTIN, Sept. 9.— Urging state-wide observance of the annual Fire Prevention Week, Marvin Hall, fire insurance commissioner, has written over 425 mayors of Texas cities and towns requesting their continued support of what he terms a "most profitable and worthwhile civic project." The week of October 3 to 9 has been chosen and appropriately named, Fire Prevention Week of 1937.

Adding impetus to the movement will be a proclamation issued by Governor Allred requesting cooperation and support from "every Texan interested in performing a distinct service to his state, to his community, and to himself."

"Fire uncontrolled is one of the most serious problems that confronts us today," Hall declared in his letter to Texas mayors.

"For years it has taken far too heavy a toll in life and property. May we suggest that you and your city officials, fire marshal, fire chief and his department begin making preparations at once for the proper observance of Fire Prevention Week this year."

Tersely expressing the theme of the Week's activities, Hall wrote: "The fire that never starts will never get out of control. Fires can be controlled, but not until every single Texas citizen accepts fire prevention as his individual responsibility."

"Since fire losses have a direct bearing upon the fire insurance rates which the people pay," Hall explained, "there are a great many practical benefits accruing from effective fire prevention. Fire prevention is a habit and easily acquired; and it is most pleasant to practice, for by practicing it, a life may be saved or a disastrous fire prevented." Calling for immediate action, Hall said: "Today, not tomorrow—for tomorrow it may be too late—is the time for you to call a fire prevention meeting. We suggest that you invite representative business men and women of your community, as well as school teachers, preachers, civic and patriotic workers, and Boy Scouts. It is everyone's obligation to prevent fires. Act today!"

Fifty-nine per cent of Texas' population lives on farms and most of the 41 per cent depend to some extent on farmer buying-power for a livelihood, the Texas Planning Board has learned in determining a sound land use policy for the state.

Texas chickens can be deloused by simply hanging a banana stem in the chicken house, according to a report received from California by the Texas Planning Board which states that lice leave the chickens and congregate on the banana stem.

The investment in highway made by Texas taxpayers will not be protected, the beauty of the roadside preserved, and the safety of the traveling public safeguarded until advertising signs are excluded from residential and rural districts, Marvin Nichols, of Fort Worth and head of the Texas Planning and civic conference, said recently.

Oklahoman Is Hit By Stray Bullets Near Burkburnett

Theo Puckett of Ninnekah Injured When Hunters' Shots Pierce Leg

GUNNERS UNKNOWN

Theo Puckett, Ninnekah, Okla. cotton picker, who had stopped about three miles south of Burkburnett on the Burkburnett-Wichita highway to rest with a group of friends who were on the way to Texas cotton fields, was injured by bullets from the gun of unknown hunters Monday afternoon.

The group of cotton pickers seeking jobs in Texas fields had driven past Burkburnett where they purchased food from a local grocery store. At the side of the road they selected a place to eat the lunch.

As the group was eating two 22 rifle bullets whistled overhead, and the third one struck Puckett in the left leg just above the ankle. The man was rushed to a Wichita Falls hospital where he was given emergency treatment and released when the wound was found to be clean and that the bullet had passed through the leg.

The party reported that two men standing near a parked car about 250 yards from where the cotton pickers were eating had opened fire and had not noticed the group of men eating. The hunters were out of view of the men parked along the road and the officers believed that the shots were accidental. No arrests had been made Tuesday.

Children Thrill To Candy Red-Hot Oatmeal Cereal

For youngsters who prefer eating candy red-hots to eating an apple a day, there's a snappy new cereal dish which calls for both red-hot candies and apples. It is a hot oatmeal dish that never fails to get a quick, cheerful response from the most indifferent of young appetites.

This Apple Cereal is prepared from the following:

- 2 small apples, sliced
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup water
- 1-4 cup cinnamon red-hot candies
- Hot cooked Quaker Oats

Cook the slices of apples in a syrup made of the sugar and water, to which has been added the red-hots. When the slices are tender, place them on top of each serving of hot Oatmeal, in a daisy design. Adv.
