ACCURATE COUNT NECESSARY

For some strange reason some of the officials in the federal government are not anxious to get an accurate count of the unemployed. What is the motive for this hesitancy should be frankly and openly admitted. We cannot understand why such a check on number of persons needing and number desiring work would not be valuable for everyone concerned.

The government assumed the task of caring for those who were destitute, and since the start of the depression the guesses about how many people were unemployed varied from the conservative estimates made by the extremely optimistic to the wild top of 23 million by the more pessimistic.

But never during this period has there been an accurate check of exactly the number who needed aid or who were willing to work even if jobs were available.

It appears now that either the government or private and municipal organizations will have the task of caring for several million of these people as permanent unemployables. There have always been a large number of people who did not and could not work—even a larger number who would not work even had the opportunity been given them.

Under the present census arrangement each household will receive a blank, and the information is of importance. Those who wish to work will find employment in the near future. When the census is completed the government and private charitable organizations will know exactly how much work is to be done.

The government will also have the valuable information about those who will not work when they are able-bodied and are offered profitable employment.

The WPA and other government forms of aid have created an attitude that "regardless of how lazy we are the government will not let us stare." This census should make it possible for the government to discard that idea.

A LABOR PARTY

One of the most persistent predictions about John L. Lewis is that he will attempt to form an independent labor party for the next election. This report has achieved more than passing notice.

We sincerely believe that labor would make a serious mistake if they desert the policy of many years making an attempt to organize an independent party. The power of the labor group is its ability to stand as a bloc between the two major parties. Under the present arrangement the labor group can swing the election or almost any legislation that is desired. The group holds the balance between the two parties.

The policy was adopted many years ago with the labor group going to the party that offered the greatest inducement to labor. Thus labor has been able to drive some shrewd bargains for the advantage of its membership and all working men.

It might be possible that Lewis could achieve a party organization which would become a national threat, but we believe that he would be able to do more for himself and for the labor group by holding his power as a balance between the two parties.

SINGLE SEED PLAN

The farmers of the Burkburnett area met last Saturday night for general meeting and to hear Congressman W. D. McFarlane. During the session the resolution was adopted by the 125 farmers present to adopt a uniform seed for cotton in this district. A committee composed of farmers and business men was appointed to take care of the situation.

During the last few years one of the handicaps of the farmers of this district has been the lack of uniformity in the quality of the cotton produce. There was no inducement for the individual farmer to produce a better grade of lint. His cotton was ranked with the general low grade of the area.

This area earned a bad name a few years ago when a long staple gin was constructed for this district. A few of the less scrupulous persons took advantage of the situation and mixed the low grade and high grade cotton. By this process they gained a higher price for their inferior cotton which was graded long staple.

The deception was soon discovered and the result was that the whole area suffered from the deception of a few. The products were classified by buyers as "undependable." If the farmers followed the leadership of those who were present last Saturday night and adopt a uniform plan for cotton planting, the entire area will become much more prosperous. The seeding will eventually be simplified.

Farmers as a rule have difficulty in collective action. Let's hope that they will follow unitedly the suggestion, and that every farmer in the district will take advantage of the opportunity to improve the rating of this district. The resolution became both an opportunity and a challenge to the farmers. It is an opportunity inasmuch as they have the chance to improve their own efficiency. It is a challenge inasmuch as it is a responsibility for them to attempt to improve the rating of the area and aid their fellow farmers.

JUST A MOMENT TO THINK

Marriage

Marriage is a topic of interest to everyone. I am not acquainted with the institution through personal experience in it as it is not my fortune or misfortune to be married. And I do not offer a panacea or cure-all for the evils attending so many marriages causing unhappiness and divorces. I merely make a short discussion on the topic. Many will say single persons know little or nothing about marriage, having not experienced it. But others are broader. They say single persons have not been too close to the woods to see the forest. They say single persons' views have not been warped by unhappiness, or blinded to the evils by extreme happiness. They, therefore, might judge the beauties and faults of marriage unbiased.

It seems from observation and experience that marriage is a part of the normal person. Those not married often throw their procreative energies into other phases of their lives and are often considered queer. Has not the fear of being an "old maid" caused many undue headaches? So if marriage is the norm, and if marriage is to have those attending pleasures expected, then why not make the most of it!

What are some of the causes creating a lack of connubial bliss; what might cause a young couple to lose faith in each other and even in the institution of marriage? Reasons, of course, are numerous, and often deep studies in psychology are required to find the innermost. If we are living in a modern age, is it normal to some only chronologically, and not in the intellectual or thinking process. Reasons for incompatibility range from ignorance to sheer perversity.

Often marriage has been kept on a pedestal, only the finer points being brought to the uninitiated. Those same people who boast of their modernity and forwardness in the thinking process are often the same mothers or the same fathers who fail to tell their daughters or their sons what to expect in marriage. Eight mothers out of ten fail to tell their daughters what to expect of the sex life of her marriage, about the most important thing in marriage—that force which brings marriage about. The generations past have tabooed this phase of human life to such an extent that even in our so-called modern age, sex can be discussed only in lowered voices and in select groups. If boys go to the altar with a greater knowledge in these regards than their brides, they also go with much falsity unsanctioned by research of science and this is as fatal as complete ignorance. How long will we remain ignorant? Just so long as we think things pertaining to sex are unholy and are the gifts of satan rather than of God, so long will these matters perplex us and give the divorce slysters lucrative incomes.

Often our own mothers and fathers encourage our stubbornness, inaccracies, over-aggressiveness and inconsiderateness by remarking in our presence: "Now, isn't that cute?" Now those things that were cute to "mammy" or to "pappa" soon become intolerable to an individual one's own age. There is such a thing as compromise, which might also, in most cases, be called good behavior. A man's bluff might win a business deal for him, but his wife knows him and his bluff is mock lack of courtesy to her. Minds not malleable enough to compromise are too stiff to last long.

When the glamour of the wedding has worn off, real love ought to set in. But by that time affected courtesies and deceptions are laid aside and the couple is often too sure of each other. Some might profit by trying Rembrandt's philosophy. When jibed for painting his wife's pictures so long after marriage, he reported that he did not consider his wife as his, but only something for him to care for and enjoy for a short while. His was lasting love.

Discrepancy in ages, great religious preferences, and a multitude of other things might cause schisms of the nuptial ties. On the other hand, there are couple apparently happily married who differ greatly in age, religion, etc. The thing is what we make it. If we want to be dissatisfied we can be.

We see people claiming their divorces were caused by too much family-in-law, or stupidity on the other person's part, or a natural psychological incompatibility, and any number of other reasons. In my opinion, in nine out of ten cases, the fault is about 50-50. In the first place, one is a stupid ninny to marry a drunkard thinking a great reformation will take place on that happy day of wedlock. One has not the grey-matter he had twenty-five years before the day of the wedding if he thinks the "hick" he married will suddenly and miraculously become a socialite. He has the dullness of a completely oxidized nail who thinks that the mass of villainy he marries will transform, at the altar, into god-like virtue. Such things don't happen, and people on the verge of being married ought not be asinine enough to believe otherwise.

When things go wrong, question yourself first to see if the blame is all or partly your. If none of the blame is yours, be tolerant and tactful and you'll make many rough places smooth.

HEADLINES

How the world will escape each new crisis puzzles any one who reads the headlines of the papers. "Italy accused of piracy," "Japan Kills British Ambassador," "Germany Tears Up Treaty," "Spanish Loyalists Bomb German Ship," "Russians Attack Japanese Regiment," "Chinese Invade Protected Area." All of these headlines have signified things which have happened during the last six months. Less than a decade ago any one of the events could have caused a world war. Yet the world remains aloof from a general conflict. In slang terms one nation is afraid and all the others are glad of it. That seems to define the situation. Not a single world power is prepared to bear the burden of a general world conflict. The cost of such a conflict would be more than any nation could stand just at the present time.

Latest "Crisis"

Last Saturday the Japanese troops invaded the British area near Shanghai and killed three British soldiers. These soldiers were protecting the line of fire directly in the retreat of the famous Chinese "suicide brigade." The final 300 men had pledged themselves to die at the post protecting the retreating Chinese columns. But as they retreated, the Chinese drew the line of the Japanese attack straight across the line of the foreign settlement and the result was the Japanese artillery and infantry attacks found marks inside the British area. The three wounded and three dead British guards must either be apologized for by the Japanese or another "crisis" has been created.

United States

Most of us remember the story of Aesop in which the cat drew out the nuts for the monkey, and incidentally received a very badly burned set of paws. The next settlement in line of fire is that of the United States, and it appears that we may become the catspaw for the British. The English can not afford to withdraw any of the power she has concentrated in Europe. The situation is too tense there. They can only depend on aid from United States before taking a decisive step in the Orient.

Increased and Decreased
During the first nine months of the year the accidents in the United States causing deaths increased about 9 per cent while traffic was increasing 10 per cent. There is some mild consolation in the fact that the traffic is increasing more rapidly than the accidents. But there isn't any real satisfaction. While cars increased by 100,000, safety measures shown have been taken to prevent the relative increase in accidents causing deaths.

Barred From the Screen

Montague, the wizard golfer, has been barred from the screen since the winning of a release from the ancient charge filed against him in New York. After his release he was offered a test on the screen and a lucrative contract to show pictures of the proper way to play golf. Then Commissioner Hays said that the pictures could not be released. This is one of the wisest things that the censor has done in many years. There is no doubt that the sensational trial and accompanying publicity would have caused a record crowd at the first few shows, but there is no doubt but that the movie fans would attend to see a sensational figure rather than a good actor or a good golfer. One of the most putrid things in the field of American entertainment scheme is the tendency to capitalize on the fame of persons standing trial for criminal charges or members lies of criminals.

Duke of Windsor
The Duke of Windsor wife are "happily married," and now wish to do some serious work to the United States to a foundation for the underprivileged. King Edward VIII has his cabinet by visiting miners and noting the said that something about the conditions that district. It was mination and not that caused his ability plans are to devote of five million dollars donation and secure in the United States conditions for the creation of the population of live. Probably no other world is better off power and publicity to handle such funds. Beyond a shadow of doubt to find many huge penation which will be erously to his plans.

Dept Warns Malta Fever

Nov. 4.—Undulant typhoid fever, a disease which is spread by cattle, goats and other animals, is being reported throughout the nation, according to W. Cox, state health officer. He said that the disease has been reported in several counties in Texas and in other states. The disease is characterized by a high fever, headache, and aching muscles. It is a serious disease and should be reported to the health department. The true prevention of undulant fever is based upon the detection of the disease in livestock and the elimination of infected stock from the herds. Dairy herds should be tested for bacillus abortus. This is a task that cannot be accomplished in a short time. Pasteurization of milk will prevent the spread from this source.

and even months before normal health and strength are restored. In Texas, the goat, horse and cows are the usual spreaders of the disease. The germs of undulant fever enter the body through the mouth or skin. Therefore, care should be used in handling animals known to be infected and dairy products from the same sources should be pasteurized, if used. More men acquire this disease than women and adults seem more likely to have it than children. More cases are found in the rural areas than in the cities. The true prevention of undulant fever is based upon the detection of the disease in livestock and the elimination of infected stock from the herds. Dairy herds should be tested for bacillus abortus. This is a task that cannot be accomplished in a short time. Pasteurization of milk will prevent the spread from this source.

Current Club Holds Early Coffee Thurs.

Mrs. A. H. Lohofener was hostess to the members of the Current Literature club Thursday morning in an elaborate morning coffee at her home on West Fourth street. The reception suite was elaborately decorated with a profusion of artistically arranged autumn flowers. The blossoms emphasized the pink and green color scheme, the club's chosen motif.

In the dining room the handsomely covered coffee table was centered with a large arrangement of pink roses. Presiding at the silver coffee service were Mesdames B. F. Gilchrist and Blong. Mrs. Gilchrist was leader for the musical program.

The program included classical numbers: "Spanish Dance," Noris Bingham; "The Moon Rocket," Dorothy Browning. Popular numbers were: "Song of the Marine," and "Calling You Home" Ray Allen Pevey; "Girl of My Dreams," Blanche Butler; "Night Came in Shanghai," Delpha Finch.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Wiley Browning November 18. Those present included Mesdames C. J. Morrison, guest, and Glen H. Bear, J. L. Caffee, B. M. Cropper, C. Dodson, B. F. Gilchrist, A. R. Hill, F. A. Jameison, A. H. Lohofener, R. L. Mattingly, Roy Magers, M. W. Majors, George McClarty, Joy Sessums, W. Browning and Boling of Wichita Falls.

Trotsky Says U. S. Can't Stay Out War

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (Special)—Leon Trotsky today predicted the United States will be unable to stay out of the next world war which will be started, he said, "toward the end of the next three or four years," by a worldwide depression and the betrayal of Hitler by Mussolini.

"The United States is anxious to steer clear of the conflagration," he writes in the current Liberty magazine, "but it was in 1914 too. It is impossible to be a great power with impunity. It is easier to decree neutrality than to practice it, and Washington is now changing its course."

The Russian exile insists another depression will strike soon and "Hitler would be happy to seize France's colonies in alliance with Great Britain, even in a war against Italian Fascism. For his part, Mussolini . . . will betray Hitler, as the Italian government in 1914 betrayed Hohenzollern and Hapsburg."

War is now being delayed while the powers increase their supply of arms, he says but adds, "the status of armaments . . . is not the principal factor. The blow which will set off the new war will, in all likelihood, be struck by a turn in the economic cycle." Trotsky holds no hope of averting the catastrophe or staving it off.

"This," he says, "would require at least the razing of custom barriers, the restoration of international debts, and an increase in mass buying power through reversal of the armament machine. "All but the blind will recognize that there is no reason to expect such a miracle."

McFarlane Speaks To Local Farmers

Congressman W. D. McFarlane, representative from the 13th district to the national house of representatives, received an enthusiastic reception at the meeting of the farmers of this district at the high school auditorium last Saturday night. A large number of farmers applauded and cheered the representative as he analyzed the struggle of the Democratic party in attempting to aid the farmers. The conservative stand of the supreme court came in for some bitter denunciation by the speaker, and this part of his speech was received with approbation by the farmers.

McFarlane will speak over station WBAP-WFAA next Sunday night at 9:30 on the subject of

Entertainment and Instruction Linked In Free Hollywood Production Due December 1, 2, 3 in Palace Theatre

There is always something new under the sun. Entertaining proof of that statement will be presented by the Burk Burnett Star, which is bringing to the Palace Theatre a motion picture that pioneers in fresh, stimulating treatment of the oldest and most important subject in the world—Home-making.

Long ago the Cooking School graduated from a curiosity to a popular necessity in many parts of the country. Now it has graduated again, leaping this time into Hollywood stardom.

For this is no routine lecture, no methodical demonstration that the Burk Burnett Star will give to the women of the community for three days without charge, starting December 2nd.

The Burk Burnett Star takes a genuine pride in being among the first to sponsor "The Bride Wakes Up" a full-length feature picture, directed and filmed in Hollywood, with a competent cast to interpret the appealing story. Women young and old, and men too, will appreciate the humanness of this romantic screen story, in which home problems have been approached from an entirely new angle. Entertainment, profitable instruction, humor and romance are woven deftly into a production which abounds in ingenious camera studies and remarkable close-ups. The camera has modernized the Cooking School, magnifying its benefits, losing none of its hospitable, friendly charm.

In fact, there are close-ups of a new chocolate layered cake and a lemon chiffon pie that are destined to send the hungry audience hustling home to duplicate the culinary triumphs. Free recipe sheets each day will provide added incentive. Experienced housekeepers will thrill to the adventures of the winsome bride, whose husband begins to boil when he finds that she can't even boil water. But this bride is blessed with resourceful determination, even though the faithful servant in her girlhood home made every effort to spoil her.

What happens after the honeymoon is over? What happens when the bride becomes aware of the critical gaze of some of her husband's old sweethearts, who are not apt to forget heavy biscuits in a hurry?

To unravel the mystery in advance would be to rob this clever tale of its novel approach. However, the audience is due to share a series of neighborly food consultations, in which expert home specialists reveal the secrets which govern the perfection of flaky piecrust, fluffy cakes, molded icebox marvels, appetizing salads, and correctly roasted meats.

Never has the wizardry of the camera brought a subject more closely and naturally to the watchers. It will be a real cooking class, just at though the model kitchen were right on the stage, with the exception that the view actually will be more complete for each person in the audience. The guests of the Burk Burnett Star in the back rows will share the same close-ups of the busy mixing bowl which are being seen in the front of the Palace Theatre. When the graduated measuring spoons drop their level portions into the bowl, when the wooden spoon is creaming the shortening, and the dry ingredients are being sifted, each step of that measuring, blending and mixing process will be pictured faithfully through a series of fascinating close-ups.

So realistic is the atmosphere of the modern kitchens, with their gleaming, convenient equipment and cheery informality, that the audience really feels part of the scene. So the deft worker seems to be talking directly to each person in the theatre, rather than to the puzzled bride.

Every listener will find a harvest of practical ideas among the suggestions for more efficient homemaking, covering such daily problems as laundry, refrigeration, up-to-date entertaining, beauty secrets, news of modernized home equipment and tips on making these mechanical servants yield the highest degree of usefulness. Not only will the picture be free, but there will be a host of daily gifts and surprises arranged by the Burk Burnett Star and participating firms, who are joining forces to make the unusual entertainment available to the community.

A Statement By A. W. Birdwell

President, Texas State Teachers Association

The adjournment of the special session of the legislature without passing a tax measure leaves the Teacher Retirement System of Texas without revenue provided by the state to match the contributions now being made by Texas teachers, but this does not mean the failure of the plan.

The Teacher Retirement System has been approved by the people of the state and by the legislature. It is therefore a binding obligation on the state, and the opinion universally expressed is that the contributions of the teachers must be met.

There is no reason for the teachers of Texas to be pessimistic or to assume a defeated attitude. We therefore urge them to retain their membership in the system and thereby preserve their prior-service rights. We hope that they will continue to make the 5 per cent contributions of their salaries as required by the statute setting up the retirement program.

Texas has never failed. Texas will not fail now. The contributions of teachers to the retirement system are absolutely safe. There is no way for contributors to lose one penny. Success of the plan for teacher retirement has not failed; it is merely delayed.

It is probably better that no provision be made for financing teacher retirement at this time than that inadequate provision should have been made. The whole problem remains as an unfinished task to be accomplished by the legislature at a later date, when factional politics is less active. We still have faith in Texas.

24-County Farm Security Meeting Be At Seymour

A Farm Security meeting, with the Extension Service cooperating will be held for 24 counties at Seymour Wednesday, Nov. 10. The public is invited to hear explanation of aid in buying farms which can be extended under the new Bankhead-Jones act, and other help offered by Farm Security Administration to low-income farmers unable to obtain financing from any other source.

E. M. Evans, Dallas, regional director of the Farm Security Administration, will be one of the principal speakers. The Extension Service program will be discussed by S. A. McMillan, College Station, economist in farm management.

Counties to be represented are: Clay, Montague, Wichita, Archer, Crosby, Garza, Wise, Jack, Young, Stonewall, Throckmorton, Baylor, Haskell, Knox, Dickens, King, Kent, Foard, Hardeman, Wilbarger, Parker, Palo Pinto, Stephens and Shackelford. The meeting will start at 10 a. m. boards of FSA, both rural rehabilitation and debt adjustment, are also expected.

Regional Director Evans said that FSA "is prepared to finance, among low-income farmers, the sort of program which the Extension Service has so successfully introduced among other farm groups."

H. H. Williamson, Texas director of Extension Service, said that the low-income farmers with whom FSA is dealing "have bankrupted more Texas bankers and merchants than any other group."

He said Extension Service workers "have realized the need of reaching this group, but had nothing to reach them with. Their first need is financing, without which advice and guidance is ineffective."

The meeting at Seymour will explain the plan of cooperation between the two agencies, FSA and Extension Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Officials of the General Motors Corporation have elected to sponsor the Chevrolet division for 1938, to give special attention to the plans and programs of the largest unit of the corporation and to aid Chevrolet in every way possible during the coming year to attain its objective of new car and truck sales. "This year's quota is the highest sales quota ever undertaken by any division of General Motors."

A. P. Sloan, Jr., and W. S. Knudsen, chairman of the General Motors board, and president, respectively, have communicated with the more than 300,000 shareholders of the corporation, telling why General Motors is officially sponsoring Chevrolet for the new model year that started this week with the opening of the New York Automobile Show. They complimented M. E. Coyle, Chevrolet general manager, and W. E. Holler, general sales manager, for the large growth of the company during the past four years and pointed out that Chevrolet is now a lion-car-per-year company with sales of 1,015,000 for 1937, 1,168,000 for 1936.

Both Sloan and Knudsen, enthusiastic concerning the advanced dealer-factory relationship that W. E. Hooller has organized in the Quality Dealer Program and the Dealer Planning Committee.

"What Chevrolet does in given year," said Sloan, "is of vital importance, not only to General Motors and the Chevrolet division, but also to business general, for Chevrolet's operations are so large and extensive as to have a marked influence on the welfare and the lives of millions."

Knudsen stressed service public through the Chevrolet dealers, as he commented on the fact that the corporation backing Chevrolet in 1938 with power and ability.

"In its unique position as leader in the low-priced field," he said, "I know that the Chevrolet division will accept the challenge that leadership brings, namely, maintaining its leadership in service to the public through the Chevrolet dealer organization."

Funeral Services Held For Groves Child On Friday

Funeral services were held from the Burkburnett Church Christ last Friday afternoon for Thomas Aaron Groves, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. ### For The Price Of One Cigarette

How expensive is electricity? Facts prove that it is about the cheapest thing we use. For the price of a single cigarette—not a package—the average home owner can light a 40-watt bulb for almost four hours, or operate a radio for nearly two hours, or percolate coffee for 21 minutes, or run an automatic refrigerator three and one-half hours, or run an electric clock for 3 1/2 days, or operate an electric fan for more than two and one-half hours, or operate a washing machine for 31 minutes, or toast bread for 21 minutes, or run an electric dish washer for 42 minutes.

For the price of an entire package of cigarettes the average home owner can pay all his electric bill for more than a day. For the price of a movie show, the family can use electricity for two weeks or more. For the price of a Sunday driving trip, it can pay its household electric bill for a month or two.

Here are simple comparisons anyone can understand. They refute better than anything else the stale and fallacious political argument that the cost of electricity is one of the most burning problems of the day. To the average citizen the cost of almost anything else in his daily life is more important than the cost of power.

Proclamation

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME—GREETING:

WHEREAS, The people of Arkansas have at times joined the people of the nation in an insistent request and sincere appeal to the motion picture industry for higher types of motion pictures, and,

WHEREAS, we feel that a people should be as quick to praise that which is good and conducive to a higher type of education and culture as to condemn that which is not, and,

WHEREAS, There has come from Hollywood through the studios of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer a picture which we feel to be one of the finest and most sincere portrayals it has ever been our pleasure to witness of the life of a man, a woman and a people.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Carl E. Bailey, Governor of Arkansas, do hereby recommend to my people a picture, THE GOOD EARTH, as one of the most remarkable pieces of inspirational and educational literature ever brought to life on the screen.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand at Little Rock, Arkansas, this the 6th day of August, 1937.

The NYA has provided also assistance for recreational leaders in 12 Texas counties, and now has projects of this type operating in Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, Waco, Amarillo, and San Antonio.

Mr. Kellam told the recreation leaders about the Resident Work and Recreational Leadership Training Project conducted last summer at Southwest Texas State Teachers College in San Marcos for 42 NYA workers. In addition to performing useful work on the College campus, the youths received spare-time training in recreational leadership and community program organization under the supervision of regular faculty members of the college.

"Assisting in the development of a recreational and leisure-time activity program is one of the major objectives of the National Youth Administration," Mr. Kellam told the recreation leaders. "We cooperate with established recreational agencies, so that the community programs may be broadened and extended. Your suggestions as to how we may better do this are invited."

Wesley Bible Class Has Business Meet

Members of the Wesley Bible class met at the home of Mrs. F. L. Pilkenton Thursday afternoon. The home was beautifully decorated with Chrysanthemums, roses, and Marigolds. Mrs. J. L. Caffee, class president, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Henry Prinzing had charge of the entertainment for the afternoon. The hostess group included Mesdames F. L. Pilkenton, Truman Garland, Arthur Dickson, Lige Christman, F. E. Gruce, and G. R. Cheney.

House Favors Voluntary Farm Program Control

Most of the members of the House Committee on Agriculture seem to prefer a voluntary farm program as to most commodities.

Personally I favor the voluntary or premium method rather than penalty or compulsory control.

By using soil conservation payments and adding additional funds secured through tariff equalizing taxes, premiums can be paid to the farmers as an offset to the tariff, and he will then have a better income, and at the same time his products can flow into the markets at home and abroad.

On the other hand, the penalty or compulsory control method will tend to curtail our markets both here and in foreign countries by encouraging foreign competition and domestic substitution.

There are two extremes. Some favor production in unlimited quantities regardless of price. Others would undertake by compulsory control to gain a temporary high price regardless of its final effect on outlets and markets. A middle course that would undertake to secure a fair price and at the same time to produce all that the market will absorb both in this and other countries would seem to be desirable.

It is important that our foreign markets should not be surrendered. Any adjustment or control program should be shaped so these markets can be gradually regained.

Burkdogs Prepare For Annual Game With Crowell Cats

Two Teams Have Impressive Records To Carry Into Title Contest Nov. 19

Bulldogs Ready

The Burk Burnett Bulldogs settled down to a week of leisurely practice Monday afternoon in preparation for the battle with the Crowell Wildcats. This week will be spent in the polish of the fundamentals and drill on plays reserved for the special game, and coach Volney Hill and his assistants are out to bring home Burk Burnett's first victory on the Crowell field.

The game is a natural. It will match two teams that have not been defeated this year since the Crowell team is favored to walk over the Seymour Panthers this week-end. Each team has calmly extracted victories by huge margins from the luckless teams of the district 10-B all this year. The stars will parade against the best defense that have been gathered by the conference in many years.

Burk Burnett has an impressive record of 8 lopsided victories. They have defeated Nocona, Quanah, Chillicothe, Throckmorton, and Iowa Park.

In the meantime the Crowell team has swept aside Floydada, Matador, Archer City, Paduchah, Haskell, Chillicothe, Throckmorton, and Iowa Park.

Burk Burnett will depend on one of the greatest backfields that has ever represented the school. Paced by Tolly McKown, Evans, Bates, and Willett make an attack that hasn't been even slowed up by a class B aggregation this year. While this group is in the game they have scored on the average of a point per minute for every minute that they have played in their own class.

The defense is equally good. There hasn't been a point scored through the Burk Burnett line. And with the exception of the touchdown by Quanah, there hasn't been a point scored against the team while the entire first string was in the game.

The power in this defense is the line from end to end that has stopped every attack cold this year. Up until the Seymour game only one first down had been made through the line. Two additional ten yard gains were made in the Panther contest off tackle. So the record up to date stands with three first down gains made through the line. Passes and end runs have accounted for the remainder of the required first down markers.

Passes haven't been too effective. The team has intercepted 14 passes this year, and in two cases the passes intercepted have been returned for touchdowns.

But the Crowell game will be a battle. The Wildcats have been impressive every game with the exception of the Throckmorton contest. In that game the contenders came near being caught flat-footed by the Greyhounds and eked out a 7 to 6 victory.

When the two teams meet Nov. 19, there will be the largest crowd ever gathered for class B football in this district.

Uniform Seed Will Be Discussed When Farmers Meet Here

Bad Weather Causes Postponement of Scheduled Meeting

Inclement weather Tuesday night caused the postponement of the general mass meeting of farmers of the Burk Burnett and Oklahoma area near Burk Burnett until next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the city hall for the purpose of discussing a uniform cotton seed.

The farmers voted two weeks ago to use the same type of seed, Kasch, in this district and the additional meeting is for the purpose of signing up all the farmers and making arrangements for the details of securing the seed in car load lots. All Texas and Oklahoma farmers are urged to attend.

The movement was sponsored by the chamber of commerce and the county agent G. R. McNeil. It was adopted in an effort to increase the grade and staple of cotton in this district and increase relatively the income of the farmers. Other communities in the county have adopted similar plans.

Burk Flower Show Exhibits Blooms

The flower show was declared to be one of the most successful projects ever presented in this city by the hundreds of visitors that jammed the Lions club hall last Thursday afternoon and night to see the exhibition of beautiful flowers presented by the Burk Burnett garden club and the Burk Burnett garden club and the Bluebonnet Garden Club.

More than 280 entries were listed by the flower lovers of this city, and each attracted attention of the crowds that packed the halls for the hours of the show.

The feature of the show that surprised even the sponsors was the quality and quantity of the roses. Approximately 50 entries in this division gave evidence of the popularity of the flower in the Burk Burnett gardens. The magnificent blooms made the work of the judges difficult in the contest divisions.

The presence of the chrysanthemums made the flower show an array of beauty in every color of the rainbow. Flowers in this division were represented which seemed beyond the belief of the audience.

During the program artist of Burk Burnett and Wichita Falls gave informal programs. Those appearing were Mesdames Roy Wood and M. C. Tucker, and Jack Grant, Norris Bingham, Louis Faulks, and Misses Jo Ella Morgan, Wanda Goins, Barbara Crissey, and Blanche Butler. The cowboy band played a series of selections.

In the prizes listed in last week's paper, Mrs. Sloan Mills entries winning the prize listed incorrectly, and the winners of Bob Tevis was listed Mrs. R. C. Tevis.

The judges were guest of Mrs. R. P. Reagan at a luncheon attended by the presidents of the two Burk Burnett clubs.

Ed Gossett And Fred Brookman Speak At Club

Ed Gossett, county chairman of the special Red Cross drive and Fred Brookman, publisher of the Burk Burnett Star, were the speakers at the Rotary club program at noon Tuesday. Gossett spoke on the drive of the National Red Cross which will start on November 11. This drive will include the quota of $500.00 from Burk Burnett.

Mr. Brookman spoke on interesting phases of the publishing business as a classification talk. The many interesting features of the business so mystifying to the layman were analyzed.

The visitors from the Wichita Falls Rotary club were Barney Flynn, Carl Hodges, J. M. Isbell, Luther Hoffman, Charlie Hartsook, C. D. Bartlett, J. C. Bernard, Eddie Brown, and Aaron Epp. Guests of the club were Rev. H. M. Cowling, W. S. Abbott, and Ed Gossett.

Stacks of grand gifts, just like Christmas. Don't miss them on December 1, 2, and 3 in the Palace Theatre, warns the Star.

Bulldogs Crush Panthers 34-6 In Title Game

The Burk Burnett Bulldogs continued the march toward their championship at Seymour last Friday night by crushing the Seymour Panthers 34 to 6. The game showed that the Bulldogs gave evidence of a lack of active games since the offense and defense did not work to the high degree of perfection of other games.

However, the team did click off a perfect alignment of new plays that produced scoring magic enough to dominate the game. The first drive to the goal line started 15 seconds after the game started, but it stopped on the two yard line.

A few moments later McKown and Willett combined to take the ball to the one yard line. McKown plunged over for the touchdown. The Panthers took the ball on the kick and started to march down the field, but resorting to a loop pass the attack boomeranged and Willett, Burk speedy back caught the aerial on a dead run and stepped 55 yards to the goal line with the desperate Panthers trying to hem him in before the march ended.

In the second period Burk Burnett pulled out of the bag the play which caused so much comment. The play was a short pass over the line from McKown to Willett. It was so perfectly played that Willett galloped 43 yards to a touchdown. At this point coach Orr of Seymour went into a series of violent protests and was on the field for official ruling on the play.

Burk Burnett suffered from penalties when the strict calling of the game set them back time after time when they were in scoring position. However, tiring of the official interference with the progress they took the ball on the 26 yard line and in straight hard plunging football carried it 74 yards to a touchdown.

The final score came in the last quarter when a 54 yard march ended with John Blair's end around play gaining a touchdown 13 yards out.

Coach Volney Hill sent in a mass of subs who could not stem the desperate thrusts of the Panthers. A 27 yard pass almost over the goal line carried the Panthers to their final effort and a score Barber passed to Mileska.

One of the most interesting features of the game was the extra point kicking of Murray Evans. Evans, one of the brightest prospects in the Burk Burnett lineup ent four perfect points over the bars to bring his total consecutive efforts to 14 and a tie with the district record of 10-B. One more successful kick would have given him the all time record for this area.

The series of kicks started in the Iowa Park game went through the Holidate contest and four tries into the Seymour game.

In statistics the Burk Burnett team out played their opponents. Burk gained 374 yards to 119 yards. In passes the Burk Burnett team added another 142 yards to a touchdown. At this point coach Orr of Seymour went into a series of violent protests and was on the field for official ruling on the play.

Big Rabbit Creek

Rev Mowery of Burkburnett a Baptist minister came over to the Rabbit Creek Church Sunday morning and delivered a fine sermon to a large congregation. Hawk Eye has been advised by one of the Baptist members who belongs to the Rabbit Creek church that Bro. Mowery would be called to the Rabbit Creek church as pastor.

An all afternoon singing was held Sunday afternoon at the Big Rabbit Creek school house a fine quartet came out from our friendly little city of Burkburnett and delivered several fine selections which was greatly appreciated by the large assembly. You are cordially invited to come and be with us in our worship.

Since last Wednesday, Hawk Eye has been on the sick list and at this writing isn't any better. He went over to our friendly little city about 3 p. m. to get some groceries for his wife and did stay till after the big cash drawing. He left soon after the drawing as he was feeling so bad. He met his esteemed friend and a good Samaritan the Hon. Fred Brookman owner and editor of the best weekly paper that's published in North West Texas. I told him Bro. Fred. I want to get back home as I was feeling so bad. He says lets go, so I got my groceries in his big fine car and in 14 minutes from the time we left the Star office Bro. Fred drove through the big yard gate. Hawk Eye wants to thank his friend many times over in the Rabbit Creek news for this kind deed.

Boys I wish every one who has a gun of any kind that will shoot, or even if it just looks like it might shoot, gather them up from both sides of the pond and make a settlement of about 4,000 crabs which we have over on this side. They are just trying their best to eat up all of the corn that isn't gathered yet. All of the head feed is being demolished. The pecan crop has already been ruined by them.

Mrs. Jess Kemp, one of the Rabbit Creek farmers, lost one of his big fine black mules a few evenings past. The mule was valued at about $1.50 and was found dead in his field.

Home Builders Hold Class Meeting

One of the loveliest social affairs of the autumn season was the covered dish luncheon in the home of Mrs. E. A. Gosnell of Wichita Falls, Nov. 3, in the honor of the members of the Home Builders Class of the First Methodist church of Burkburnett.

In the center of the long table at which the guests were served was an attractively arranged bouquet of white and bronze chrysanthemums. At the conclusion of the luncheon the guests retired to the living room where Mrs. B. M. Cropper, president, called the class to order.

The session opened with a song with Mrs. M. C. Tucker, at the piano. Mrs. H. C. Gilbert brought the devotional and prayer was led by Mrs. W. C. Lewis. During the business session minutes of the previous meeting were read and the history of the class given by the secretary, Mrs. C. N. Thompson. Payment of dues and standing committee reports were presented. Mrs. M. W. Majors led the group in prayer. Inteen members and eight guests were present to enjoy the hospitality of Mrs. Gosnell, a former member of the class.

Last Thursday night this neck of the woods received a very nice little rain which retorted cotton pulling for over a half a day.

W. H. Martin and wife made a business trip up to our county seat, Walters, Okla., Monday morning.

Hawk Eye is very poorly at this writing, Monday night. That's the reason that the news didn't get out on Mondays mail.

—HAWK EYE.

No Broadcast of Crowell Contest

According to word received from Crowell Wednesday, the local fans sponsoring the rebroadcast of the Crowell-Burkburnett football game will not be allowed to establish a phone connection at the Crowell stadium. Previously the local fans secured direct phone connection at the press boxes for the phoning of the game to Burkburnett to be rebroadcast over the loud speaker here. However, the Crowell officials expressed a fear that the promise to broadcast the game might cut down the attendance at Crowell. So all Burkburnett fans that wish to know about the progress of the game must attend at the Crowell stadium.

Have you a sole? We mean old shoes that haven't completely lost their usefulness. Starting Saturday morning at nine o'clock the Lions club and Boy Scouts of Burkburnett will start the collection of old shoes for the underprivileged children in Burkburnett. They are asking every citizen in the city to seek and save all the discarded foot-wear for the special campaign.

This annual campaign brought the children of the Burkburnett schools last year 600 pairs of old shoes, and these were distributed by the welfare committee of the school to children who were too poor to buy shoes. In many cases the children supplied could not have attended the winter sessions without the aid.

This year the committee is attempting to secure at least the same number of shoes for the less fortunate children. Representing the Lions club will be Roy Maggers, B. H. Alexander, and Bill Stapp as the supervising committee.

The Boy Scouts will make a house to house canvas during the day starting from the Lions club. The citizens have been requested to have the shoes ready for scouts when they call. If there are any persons who will be away from home during the day the shoes may be brought by the city hall or the high school. After the campaign the boys will bring the shoes back to the school for listing.

The program is part of the attempt of the school to aid the underprivileged children. An additional campaign will be waged Nov. 29 when the club sponsors the Players Guild of Wichita Falls in a play at the Burkburnett high school auditorium. The ticket sales drive on this play will start immediately.

The talented group of Wichita Falls has won a wide reputation in this district, and their initial appearance in Burkburnett is expected to attract a banner crowd.

Miss Bryarly Is Shower Honoree

Miss Ruth Bryarly, chaiming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bryarly, was honoree at one of the most elaborate showers of the fall season at the class rooms of the young people's department of the First Baptist church Tuesday night complimenting her on the occasion of the announcement of her marriage to Truman Chambers of Glenwood, Iowa, an event of the near future.

The rooms of the department were elaborately decorated in the fall motif with colors of brown and gold dominating the theme. As the program opened Miss Dixie Overton of Fairview played a musical number, and Mrs. M. E. Lewallen added another musical number.

The presentation of the gifts was by the entrance of a miniature bride and groom, represented by Carolyn Bird and Billie Earl Askins. These two marched into the room with a huge golden key and taking the honoree to the chest of gold opened the array of gifts. The gifts were placed on several tables decorated with chrysanthemums and other cut flowers and covered with lovely delicate lace.

The guests passed by the table viewing the many lovely gifts. During the procession Miss Dreda Miller and Ruby Owens sang "The Wedding Bells," accompanied by Miss Overton.

The hostesses were Mesdames Carl Miller, E. H. Carver, Will Teal, Cecil Todd, Lee Johnson, C. R. Chambers, Beulah Hall, Tom Boyd, W. S. Boyd, James Boyd, C. W. Boyd, Charles Miller, W. A. Strickland, James Johnson, J. G. Cheney, Lester Coats, and Misses Virginia Coats, Helen Grady, and Edna Styles.

Two of the loveliest gifts of the shower were from two Sunday school classes: members of the
