No Broadcast of Crowell Contest

According to word received from Crowell Wednesday, the local fans sponsoring the re-broadcast of the Crowell-Burkurnett football game will not be allowed to establish a phone connection at the Crowell stadium. Previously the local fans secured direct phone connection at the press boxes for the phoning of the game to Burkurnett to be re-broadcast over the loud speaker here. However, the Crowell officials expressed a fear that the promise to broadcast the game might cut down the attendance at Crowell. So all Burkurnett fans that wish to know about the progress of the game must attend at the Crowell stadium.

Have you a sole? We mean old soles that haven't completely lost their usefulness. Starting Saturday morning at nine o'clock the Lions club and Boy Scouts of Burkurnett will start the collection of old shoes for the underprivileged children in Burkurnett. They are asking every citizen in the city to seek and save all the discarded foot-wear for the special campaign.

This annual campaign brought the children of the Burkurnett schools last year 600 pairs of old shoes, and these were distributed by the welfare committee of the school to children who were too poor to buy shoes. In many cases the children supplied could not have attended the winter sessions without the aid.

This year the committee is attempting to secure at least the same number of shoes for the less fortunate children. Representing the Lions club will be Roy Magers, B. H. Alexander, and Bill Stapp as the supervising committee.

The Boy Scouts will make a house to house canvas during the day starting from the Lions club. The citizens have been requested to have the shoes ready for scouts when they call. If there are any persons who will be away from home during the day the shoes may be brought by the city hall or the high school. After the campaign the boys will bring the shoes back to the school for listing.

The program is part of the attempt of the school to aid the underprivileged children. An additional campaign will be waged Nov. 29 when the club sponsors the Players Guild of Wichita Falls in a play at the Burkurnett high school auditorium. The ticket sales drive on this play will start immediately.

The talented group of Wichita Falls has won a wide reputation in this district, and their initial appearance in Burkurnett is expected to attract a banner crowd.

Browning will be installed at the annual banquet Dec. 2. The president-elect is one of the most prominent civic and social workers in the city. He has been a member of the executive board of the Chamber of Commerce since its organization.

Dodson and Peevey are new members of the executive board, but W. R. Hill was re-elected to the position of treasurer for the seventh consecutive time.

Plans for the annual banquet were made by the board. The speakers committee with W. A.

With the words, "To those who know her not, no words can paint, to those who know her, all words are faint," Mrs. Prinzing introduced Mrs. Bill Ross of Pecos, Texas, a sister of Mrs. R. P. Reagan. This talented artist presented her own arrangement of the much loved play, "The Prince Chap" by Edward Pease.

Mrs. Ross, in her interpretation of the three act play proved herself an unusually entertaining dramatic artist. Stepping completely into the part of each, she portrayed the several characters in the play with a sympathetic understanding and brilliant characterization that made them very real to her audience.

At the close of the program the chairman presented Mesdames Kimbell, Duncan and Ross with gifts as an expression of the appreciation of the University Study Club.

The hostesses served refreshments to Mesdames J. L. Welch, Crowell, Texas; Mesdames J. H. Brumley, F. L. Pilkerton, D. R. Peevey, Rex Kolter, H. C. Ellis, C. P. Dillard, C. L. Bowman, Loy Nichols, J. Local Price Higher

More than 82,000 pounds of turkey have been bought by the produce companies in Burkurnett at 14 to 15 cents per pound according to the report released Wednesday by the local companies. The purchase represent a new high for this city, and the response of the farmers and turkey raisers in this area has been rapid during the two weeks period.

This year the market is 3 to 4 cents higher than at the same period last year, and the new high has made the raising of the large crops profitable for the farmers of the area. The market for Thanksgiving closes Friday. However, the market for Christmas turkeys will open December 1, and it is probable that the same high price will prevail at that time.

The reports of the buyers Wednesday were as follows: Dudley Produce 43,000 pounds, Thornton Produce 27,000 pounds, Holman Produce 12,000 pounds. The produce companies stated that they believed that an equal amount would be bought in this week. The Thanksgiving crop was about half in when the buyers checked up Wednesday.

A four and one half mile stretch starting near the O. L. Clark farm and extended through the precinct line will employ 74 men until it is completed in about three months.

The projects include the building of one large concrete bridge across Clibert creek and two smaller similar structures along the route. The men will be employed in a stagger system which will give each group at least three days work per week.

Puppet Show For School Children

A Puppet show that won wide acclaim at the World Fair in Chicago three years ago has been employed by the state health department of Texas and will be presented at the Burkurnett high school auditorium next Friday morning between 9 and 12 o'clock. The show is a cleverly arranged puppet demonstration of the care of teeth and the state health department has sponsored the show in every Texas school possible in order to teach health.

The show lasts about 45 minutes, and the patrons of the school have been invited to attend with their children. There will be no admission charge during the local engagement. The show is listed as one of the cleverest demonstrations of its type that was ever assembled.

Nichols Addresses Methodist Members At First Banquet

Ray Nichols, Vernon publisher, told the Methodist at the first quarterly banquet of the church Wednesday night to remember the tradition of the church and look forward to greater progress at the start of the third century of Methodism. The meeting gathered approximately 150 members of the local church in the banquet to start the next year's work under the direction of the pastor, Rev. H. M. Cowling, who was recently returned to Burkurnett by the Methodist conference.

The banquet was sponsored by the board of stewards of the church, and the food provided by the women's organizations. J. L. Caffee was master of ceremonies. J. C. Cook gave the invocation. Rev. Cowling was introduced to give the program of work for the year.

A series of lovely parties were held in Burkurnett this week announcing the marriage of Miss Erna Schwegler, daughter of Mrs. Pauline Schwegler of Burkurnett, to the Rev. Miss Bryarly Is Shower Honoree

Miss Ruth Bryarly, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bryarly, was honoree at one of the most elaborate showers of the fall season at the class rooms of the young people's department of the First Baptist church Tuesday night complimenting her on the occasion of the announcement of her marriage to Truman Chambers of Glenwood, Iowa, an event of the near future.

The rooms of the department were elaborately decorated in the fall motif with colors of brown and gold dominating the theme. As the program opened Miss Dixie Overton of Fairview played a musical number, and Mrs. M. E. Lewallen added another musical number.

The presentation of the gifts was by the entrance of a miniature bride and groom, represented by Carolyn Bird and Billie Earl Askins. These two marched into the room with a huge golden key and taking the honoree to the chest of gold opened the array of gifts. The gifts were placed on several tables decorated with chrysanthemums and other cut flowers and covered with lovely delicate lace.

The guests passed by the table viewing the many lovely gifts. During the procession Miss Dreda Miller and Ruby Owens sang "The Wedding Bells," accompanied by Miss Overton.

The hostesses were Mesdames Carl Miller, E. H. Carver, Will Teal, Cecil Todd, Lee Johnson, C. R. Chambers, Beulah Hall, Tom Boyd, W. S. Boyd, James Boyd, C. W. Boyd, Charles Miller, W. A. Strickland, James Johnson, J. G. Cheney, Lester Coats, and Misses Virginia Coats, Helen Grady, and Edna Styles.

DRIVER'S LICENSE

There is a possibility that driver's licenses may eventually mean something. In this district tests for the certificates will start November 15, and all persons who did not secure licenses in the first drive will be required to take a written and oral test and then submit to a supervised driving test in an official state car.

The first licenses were a farce so far as controlling the undesirable drivers. They had only one advantage, when the driver violated the law, the licenses could be suspended.

Under the present system the license can be made effective as an agent for traffic control. If the examiners are not too lenient, if they are allowed to award the license according to merit and use their judgement without political pressure or interference, many persons should be denied the right to drive who are unfit to be on the road.

Those who are interested in seeing the improvement in conditions on the state highway have a profound hope that the campaign will be efficiently administered.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS

The method of soliciting funds from the workers in various departments of state government to support the campaigns of the heads of these departments is as old as the system of elective governments. While we may pretend that we are amazed that the workers in the Texas state bureaus have been asked to donate to the campaign fund, we have always known that such an arrangement was a part of the election system.

The fact that we have known this makes it none the less a crime. The system was developed to its highest degree of efficiency under the Tammy domination of New York. By this process the organization collected huge funds, supplemented by donations from those protected while violating laws, or from those receiving favorable contracts for civic constructions. The party finally achieved a near death-grip on the New York City government.

We are not trying to deny that the same or similar things are happening in Texas, but rather we are saying that the public which gets so excited about the revelation is merely being hypocritical.

FINAL DECISION

There has been considerable dispute in Texas concerning the correct interpretation of the "possession of liquor". The dispute centered around the argument about whether or not it was illegal to possess liquors in a territory designated as dry. The Texas criminal court of appeals last week upheld the contention that it was no crime to "possess" so long as the "possessor" did not sell, offer for sale, or attempt to sell the liquor.

The case started in Hartley county where members of the liquor control board searched and seized "more than a quart" of liquor. In this case the district court held that the possession of more than a quart was prima facie evidence of the intention to sell. The charge to the jury included that statement.

While Hartley county is wet, the opinion of the appeals court expounded that the same rule would apply to a dry county, and that mere possession would not be evidence enough to base for a conviction of "illegal sale" or "intention to sell".

RED CROSS

Most people in Burkburnett think of the Red Cross as an organization which serves in far off places when disaster strikes in war, flood or similar regions. The year around service that this organization gives right here in Burkburnett is so unpretentious and with so little publicity that we fail to notice it. Day in and day out the organization carries out a program of public health service that escapes the attention of the majority of persons, even those interested in the organization.

Two years ago a tornado swept through Burkburnett and destroyed approximately $50,000 worth of property. Several persons were injured and one died. We saw the organization go to work efficiently and quietly to help restore homes and crops and aid those who had suffered injury. That act of aid did attract attention.

This same organization has been working in our community in public health survey for several years, and we have not been conscious of the work that it has done.

The public health service employees a nurse whose duties are mainly confined to aid of children in school. A brief examination of the work done by this department in Wichita county demonstrates the extensiveness of its

HEADLINES

Hitler seems to have reversed his field in world diplomacy by offering to become mediator in the China-Japanese conflict. The announcement of his willingness to act a mediator came with two other announcements of equally startling significance. He abandoned his insistence for restoration of the colonies lost in the war, and withdrew his announcement if demand for loyalty from former German residents of other nations. But deeper examination of his role as peace maker makes it less spectacular. Germany needs Japan at full strength in order to keep her (Germany's) Eastern border protected from the possibility of a Russian invasion. If Russia should become enraged at Germany, Japan could keep Soviets so busy on the east that they could not push an effective campaign against Prussian borders.

WEAKENING

The present campaign of the Japanese in China is weakening the Japanese in both world prestige and resources. The expensive "undeclared" war against China is costing Japan many millions of dollars every day. More than 200,000 troops and an unlimited amount of military supplies are gathered for the "punitive" expedition. This extra expense is causing a near crisis in the Japanese treasury, and the empire of the Rising Sun is required by necessity to stir up a patriotic fever for creation of a fund to continue the war. At its present rate the war will soon exhaust the surplus of money and materials in Japan. The lack of progress is definitely "losing face" for the Nipponese. Every day that the Japanese fail to achieve their objective in Shanghai and in the northern provinces of China causes a fall in the respect that the world has for the armies of the empire.

FUZZLING SITUATION

It is puzzling after the cry that the governor made to try to decide just what happened at the special session of the state legislature. The governor made the announcement that the pensions would not be payable unless the $15,000,000, in taxes were raised this session. His now famous statement of matching "dollars against humanity" caused all of the aged and their friends to believe that he was sincere in his expression of a desire for funds. They believed that a crisis had been reached and that the funds for old age pensions would not be available unless the taxes were levied. Yet less than a month after that statement which was accepted by his friends as the truth, the pension board announces that no cut will be necessary for at least two months, and that it is possible that funds can be secured for the operation of the fund throughout the year of a deferred payment basis. So now we would like to know just what is the position of the treasury?

FLOWER SHOW

Burkburnett has the right to be very proud of the flower show that the garden clubs staged last week. There were 280 entries of flowers at the show, and almost 1,000 persons visited the exhibition during the day. Before the show a local citizen said "I believe I'll go up and see the dinky little flowers." After viewing that array of blooms at the Lions club hall this same cynic started plans for a flower garden of his own. He said "I couldn't believe it was possible."

SENSIBLE MOVE

The Burkburnett farmers have adopted a policy that may be to their own benefit in the long run. Yet it will be difficult. The adoption of a single pure breed of cotton, Kasch, the farmers will raise the rating of this territory and benefit in the long run by the good quality both in actual value of the cotton, but in the higher rating that will be given the whole district by the men who buy Burkburnett cotton.

LOAN RACKETS

A recent report from the federal reserve system pointed out the growth of cooperative system for loans sponsored by companies for the benefit of their employees. In Wichita Falls one company organized such a system and found that the employees saved more money than ever before. The system was started by large organizations after several persons among their employees were victims of loan sharks. The loan sharks disguise under various high sounding names, and charge exorbitant interest and collection fees. They take advantage of the worker and sometimes double his interest rate to amount above the principal. Unless state regulation of such sharks becomes more severe, the bankers will ultimately find that these cooperatives will kill their "loan market."

field of work. The work included the inspection of all the children in Burkburnett schools up to and including the fourth grade. These were examined for defects and given advice about improvement of health. Home hygiene classes were held, prenatal cases among the poverty stricken receive attention, 1833 children in county and town schools were treated, 17 preschool conferences to improve the health of children were held.

The type of work is not so spectacular as the saving of homes and lives during floods and wars, but it is more important to the whole community. It gives a solid foundation of health for the people of the nation. It makes possible the assurance that the children of this generation and the next generation will be given a fair opportunity to study and work under best health conditions possible.
