MR. WALLACE'S TWO-PRICE PLAN

The Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Wallace, has suggested a project for utilizing farm surpluses and at the same time contributing to the relief of the needy one-third of the population. The Wallace idea is what might be termed "domestic dumping" of the agricultural surplus instead of giving foreign buyers the benefit of lower prices than American consumers pay.

The Wallace "two-price plan" would be for the Government to buy surplus crops through the Federal Surplus Crop Corporation at a lower price than the open market will pay the growers, then induce the railroads to make a special low rate, and at terminal markets offer the products so handled only to persons unable to pay full market prices, at a price to be fixed by the Government.

The plan seems to offer several complications. Are these goods offered at low prices to be sold thru the regular retail trade? If so, how is the dealer going to be compensated for handling them? How is the discrimination to be made between those who can pay the regular price and those who are to be the beneficiaries of the low price?

The Wallace plan is stated to be an answer to the advocates of the domestic allotment plan who would dump surplus crops which America cannot consume, on the foreign markets at whatever they will bring. So far the plan is in the early conversation stage. It looks as if Mr. Wallace had proposed it as a "trial balloon" to test public sentiment. Our information is that the idea has not met with encouragement by farmers.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

In the face of the increasing pressure from many sources for "liberalizing" the system of old age pensions for everybody, and the very considerable number of members of the new Congress who are committed to one or another of the various pension plans advocated in different parts of the country, it is more than probable that serious efforts will be made when Congress meets to amend the Social Security Act in various ways.

Plans which are said to have support by the Administration in Washington include raising the maximum Federal grant to states for Old Age Assistance administered by the states, from $15 a month to $20; beginning monthly payments under the Old Age Insurance provisions of the law in 1940 instead of in 1942 and to change the rates from the present minimum of $10 a month and maximum of $85 a month, to $30 and $60; to provide monthly benefits to widows and young children of beneficiaries dying before the age of 65, and immediately to extend the provisions of the law to cover farm workers, domestic servants, self-employed persons and other groups not now covered by the Act.

There are many questions which need to be answered before anybody can say positively that any one of these proposals would be desirable. There still remains unanswered the question as to how far the Government of the United States ought to commit itself to making liberal provisions for everybody above a certain age.

There is great difference of opinion about the financial soundness of the insurance phases of Social Security as now set up. And great confusion and many disparities have arisen from the workings of the scheme of co-operation between the Federal government and the states in the matter of pensions for the indigent aged.

We look for some exciting discussions and the spilling of a lot of loose language when the new Congress gets down to the consideration of old age pensions.

Luncheon clubs are beginning their meetings again and each hostess is eager for something different to serve when her turn comes. Oyster pot pie is unusual and most delicious. You can serve it in individual baking dishes or in one large shape as you prefer. A crisp vegetable salad and a fruit dessert would complete an attractive menu.

Oyster Pot Pie
 (For Eight Persons)

One quart oysters, 1 cup water, 1 cup cream, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons sherry, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-3 teaspoon white pepper.

Crust: Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening, 2-3 cup milk and water combined.

Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Rub in shortening with pastry blender. Add liquid, cutting it in with a broad bladed knife. Roll on a lightly floured molding board into a sheet about one-half inch thick. Cut with a large cutter.

Put oysters and water into a sauce pan and bring to the boiling point. Drain. Melt butter, stir in flour and when bubbling add cream, stirring constantly. Add oyster liquid, salt, pepper and sherry and cook until it is smooth. Add oysters. Put into baking dish, cover with dough and bake twenty minutes in a hot oven (425 degrees F.).

Hoops and muffs, tiny waists, and rich colors tend to make fashions more feminine than they have been for years. All of which demand extra care of your hands. If you go in for heavily colored finger nails to go with the "deliberate" colors of the season you will be interested in the new polishes with the same "deliberate" waxy undertones. Fiesta, Swamfire, Tulip and Vintage are smart, rich shades. Regency is a soft mauve-pink polish that will give your nails a delicate, ethereal look.

Although she is shy and fragile looking, has lovely wavy hair and likes feminine clothes, Mrs. Henrietta Sands Merrick, formerly of Washington, D. She knows the people there better than many others who have lived longer in that atmosphere. She once spent ten days in a haunted castle in the Kulu Valley and lived for a time in the Vale of Cashmere. When she crossed the Himalayas she was the only woman in the party which consisted of eight native servants and sixteen pack horses.

The leading woman member of the Finnish Parliament, Miss Kyllikki Pohjala, has been a guest here, coming over with seven others to represent her native country at the recent Tercentenary observance in Delaware. Miss Pohjala is serving her sixth year in parliament and is one of sixteen women in a body composed of 200. She studied for a year at Columbia University, where she took a degree, and began her professional career as a newspaper reporter.

The Tercentenary celebration marked the coming of the Swedish people to America was the occasion for the visit of a distinguished visitor from Sweden, Miss Kerstin Hesselgren, who in 1912 became the first woman member of the Swedish Senate. She is one of four women members of the League of Nations Committee on the Legal Status of Women. The Women of her country, she says, achieved equal rights in 1923 with the reservations that they may not hold army commissions or be preachers in the State Church. They were enfranchised in 1921.

BURKBURNETT'S NEW $93,000 HARDIN GRADE SCHOOL

Open House From Two To Four Sun.

School Board Members And Grade School Teachers To Welcome Visitors

EVERYONE INVITED TO ATTEND

Building Contains Eighteen Class Rooms, Two Lounging Rooms, Auditorium, Gymnasium and Cafeteria

Burkburnett's new $93,000 grade school building, evolved from a cost of a few dollars, which was nothing more than a shed and housed only five pupils, will hold open house Sunday, November 20th, from two to four o'clock.

The school has grown from a one-teacher to an 18-teacher institution and from 5 pupils to 596 pupils. From an institution operated without trustees to a system governed by a school board of six members.

Work of razing the old red brick building, which was constructed during the hectic boom days of 1918, and which was condemned in 1937, started on May 4, and eight days later the foundation for the new building was started. The building was completed November 3, at an actual cost of $94,738.55. The W. P. A. furnished $64,000 and the sponsor, the Burkburnett Independent School District, $30,000.

C. K. Kitchell of Anson, Texas, was W. P. A. project superintendent, and L. J. Gentry, sponsor superintendent. According to Mr. Kitchell there were 103 W. P. A. men employed upon the job, and they were paid approximately $21,000, most of which was spent in Burkburnett.

The building is a mat face buff brick and the roof is of rural Spanish red tile. The building contains 17 class rooms, library, cafeteria, auditorium, gym, stage, two dressing rooms, boiler room, janitor's room, four rest rooms, men and ladies lounging rooms, store room, book room,

L. Thorpe Helps Build First And Last School Bldg.

Local Contractor Has Distinction Of Helping First Building In 1911

Louie Thorpe, local brick layer, has the rare distinction of having helped build the first brick school building in Burkburnett and also of working on the recently completed Hardin Grade school building.

The first building was erected in March, 1911. A Mr. Biauski was the contractor, with the late J. G. Hardin foreman of construction.

Mr. Thorpe stated that the old building was one of the best ever built in Burkburnett. The material was the best that money could buy. The foundation was five feet below the basement floor, and contained a 6-inch sand cushion underneath. It is stated that Mr. Hardin had the contractor tear down some of the building because he failed to put in the desired sand cushion.

The building was a three-story structure and a 40-inch steel band was put around each floor. Chas. Ketchell who had charge of razing the building stated that it was one of the best built buildings that he had ever torn down.

Mr. Thorpe came to Burkburnett in 1910 and has built, or helped build, practically every brick building in the Burkburnett townsite. He built the brick building for the First National Bank, which is now occupied by

He also helped build the building on the corner of Avenue B and Main street for the Farmers State Bank and Farmers Supply Co., which was operated by R. H. Henry. The buildings are now occupied by Boyd Bros. and Owens and Brumley. The above buildings are only a few that Mr. Thorpe has helped build.

Texas Women Link 86 Towns In Tax Crusade

Women in 86 Texas communities have banded together in local groups to join the "first nationwide fight against taxes that penalize the consumer," the National Consumers Tax Commission reported today.

They are giving added impetus to the commission's campaign to "arouse tax consciousness among the women of America and to combat hidden taxes," according to Mrs. Kenneth C. Frazier, of Dallas, president of the commission.

Mrs. Frazier leads the crusade in Texas with Mrs. Volney W. Taylor, of Brownsville, Texas member of the NCTC national committee. The commission has headquarters in Chicago.

"Within a few months," Mrs. Frazier said, "housewives throughout the country have formed hundreds of groups to consolidate their protests against taxes that increase the cost of every purchase. These indirect levies now total more than 63 per cent of all local, state and national tax revenues."

Well, friends, do any or all of you ice cream eaters know the kind of fine cream that the big Ice Cream Store in Our Little City is serving now to the ice cream eaters? It's nothing more or less than Pumpkin Ice Cream. Hawkeye saw the windows full of posters telling about the Ice Cream Pumpkin, so he stepped inside and tried some.

Just after the main trades day event, Hawkeye walked up to the C of C to have his friend, Herman Engelmann, to take him home, as Herman had promised Hawkeye he would take him home, but he was called to Fort Worth on business and couldn't keep his promise. A Mr. Rice and also a Jimmie Samples were in the C of C office. Mr. Rice is the head advertiser for the Palace and Tex play houses in Our Friendly Little City. Mr. Rice is one of the best picture show advertisers in northwest Texas and a fine gentleman. were grocery carriers which holds two baskets full of groceries. Say, boy, it beats the old way of carrying around a basket all around the store with 40 or 50 pounds of groceries. You can fill up 2 big baskets full of groceries, 100 pounds in weight and push the whole cheese anywhere you want to by just your fingers, for Hawkeye tried one of them out. He loaded up two of them baskets with around 125 pounds and pushed the whole cheese around the inside of the big store with just two fingers, then took everything back and placed every article to its place. They are the finest things Hawkeye ever saw for sickly housewives and those who are weak in their heads and strong in their backs. C. H. is always on the alert for every device that comes out to make it easy on his shoppers when they trade at his big grocery store in Our Friendly Little City, Burkburnett, and elsewhere.

Owing to so many Oklahomans over on this side that's wheat farmers being a little late getting to Our Friendly Little City Saturday, due to plowing their wheat land up till the noon hour, from 1.30 to 3.45 they began to pour into the city. By the time for the main trades day event there were over 4,000 people on the busy streets and in the big dry goods stores and grocery stores. Over 200 transit colored folks were on the streets coming from the cotton fields in Oklahoma.

Just one word from the Big Rabbit Creek news in the behalf of the Hon. Buck Zimmerman, manager of the Palace and the Tex play houses; it's this: As the C of C manager, Herman Engelmann appointed Brother Buck to conduct the trades day event Saturday evening during his absence; well sir, Little Buck just crawled up on that truck just like a little man and had the drawing come off in perfection. You could hear his gentle voice through the megaphone all over the city.

The trades day event will be bigger than ever next Saturday. Let's all come and get there early so we can all get together and visit and talk over the bygone days and the opening of the Big Pasture.

Tex, which is head moving picture machine operator for both of the big picture houses, is a graduate machinist. In other words, it matters not where he is placed, concerning the moving picture business, Little Jimmie is there with the goods; also Mr. Rice.

It took those two fine gentlemen just 17 1-2 minutes to drive Hawkeye home in their big fine auto. Hawkeye greatly appreciated the favor and kindness which those two gentlemen bestowed on Hawkeye by bringing him and his groceries home. Friends, listen. At any time you want to see a real up-to-date movie picture day or night, just step in either at the Palace or the Tex. We Oklahomans has learnt this over two years past.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 20.

The Golden Text is: "Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee" (Isaiah 26:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him" (Psalms 62:5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul is the substance, Life, and intelligence of man, which is individualized, but not in matter. Soul can never reflect anything inferior to Spirit. Man is the expression of Soul" (page 477).

HOME BUILDERS HONOR TEACHER

Members of the Home Builders class of the First Methodist church surprised their teacher, Mrs. M. C. Tucker, at her home Thursday evening, November 10, with a gift for her newly arranged kitchen.

Thomas sang "Give Me The Rose," and Mrs. Thomas read an original poem dedicated to the class. Mrs. Tucker in turn surprised the class with refreshments. After a very pleasant time, the surprise party closed with the sing-

Selected by the vote of old club members, Miss Lucille Kemp of Burkburnett recently signed a club preference and was pledged to the Chaparral Literary Society at Texas State College for Women.

Formal initiation of the Chaparral pledges will come November 23 as a climax to the week of rush parties given by the 11 literary and social clubs on the TSCW campus, and three days of mock initiation, traditional with pledging on every college campus.

Throughout the remainder of the year, activities of the club will center around regular meetings, literary programs, and a social calendar which includes teas, luncheons, dinners, and dances.

WANTED: A Woman with Strong Arms to Work for 1/4¢ an Hour. Apply

YOUR ELECTRIC FOOD MIXER USES ONLY 1/4¢ WORTH OF ELECTRICITY AN HOUR!

No woman would be willing to do hard work for only 1/4 cent an hour, yet that is all it costs to run an electric food mixer. If you use your mixer for a full hour to whip cream, mix a heavy batter or to do other kitchen tasks in preparing a Thanksgiving dinner, you can figure that the cost for electricity will be only 1/4 cent.

Isn't that a small price to pay for using a handy servant that saves your time and your strength?

Other electric appliances do their daily jobs just as cheaply. For example, cleaning a room with an electric cleaner costs on the average only about 1/4 cent. That is why we say that electric service is the biggest bargain in your home.

Dutch Bread in the 15th Century

BREAD was a food as vital to the Dutch in the 15th Century as it is to us today, and the Dutch made a wide variety of breads, buns, pretzels, rusks and cakes.

The Dutch had many superstitions and beliefs based on bread and its uses. For example, the Dutch mother placed a piece of stale bread in her baby's cradle to ward off disease; and a large square cake containing citron and almonds was presented by a suitor to his sweetheart, signifying a proposal of marriage.

Dutch bakers in the year 1100 cried their wares by blowing a ram's horn and calling, "Bread's ready!" They were required to place their marks on each loaf of bread, as a guarantee of its quality.

Today, here in America, the housewife no longer waits for a call to get her bread. Modern methods of distributing bakery products have made them readily available in all parts of the country. The American housewife knows that her daily bread is of the finest quality ever known in the world.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
 OUTDOORS AT NIGHT

PICNICS, campfires, and hayrides are events which offer a wealth of picture opportunities. Some picnics are daytime affairs, but others take place at twilight or after dark—and there are no times more opportune for charming campfire snapshots.

For twilight snaps, wait until the sky is almost dark. Set the camera for a "time" exposure, place it on a firm support, and take a picture that includes the campfire, the group around it, and some sky. With proper choice of time the sky will reproduce deep gray, the campfire warm and brilliant—giving a picture full of the mystery and atmosphere of an ending day.

Campfire shots taken well after nightfall are wonderfully effective. They show the fire, the faces of the group about it—but everything else in rich, mysterious shadow. These can be taken just like the twilight shots, with a short "time" exposure. It is best to have someone sit between the camera and the brightest part of the fire—his silhouette will add interest and keep the fire from appearing too bright.

Modern films are fast, so exposures need not be long. With a good bright fire, try two to five seconds at f.6.3, or ten to thirty seconds with a box camera.

To show added detail in an outdoor night scene, use a flash bulb. It's easy. Have the camera on a firm support, shutter on "time," lens set at f.11. Open the shutter, flash the bulb, close the shutter—that's all there is to it. Flash bulbs can be used in a "synchronizer" that fires the bulb and trips the camera shutter at the same time—or they can be used in inexpensive holders that resemble a pocket flashlight.

Campfire effects can be obtained with flash bulbs, without a campfire. Set up the camera for a snapshot of your group, and flash the bulb from the ground, below or slightly behind the camera. The low angle of lighting produces the campfire effect. Amateur flood bulbs can be used on an extension cord in the same way.

Take the camera along on your next evening picnic or other outing. You'll come home with snapshots that are distinctive and different!

The Tsar Kolokol of Moscow (the Czar of Bells), is the world's largest bell and is reputed to have cost about $1,700,000.00. Nineteen feet in height and sixty feet in circumference, the bell is now used as a chapel. It was cast in 1733, and cracked while in the furnace—hence it was never rung.

Besides automatically holding room temperature at any selected heat, modern gas heating appliances can also automatically control the amount of moisture in the room. Human hair expands and contracts in direct proportion to the amount of water in the air.

Because Zachary Taylor never stayed in one place long enough to qualify as a voter, it is said he never cast a vote!

Thus, the action of human hair in a humidistat, automatically controls the amount of moisture carried into the room by the gas heated air.
