Bulldogs Windup Season With Smashing Victory Over Holliday

Appropriate Ending For 2 of Burk's Star Players

The Burk Burnett Bulldogs ended the 1938 football season in a blaze of glory when they defeated the Holliday Eagles by the score of 59 to 7.

Coach Hill started the game with the lineup full of seniors who have seen little service but played with the squad all thru the season.

The game furnished an appropriate setting for the end of the high school playing days of Buck Willett and Harry Elliott, all-district men the past two years.

Willett and Freddie Brown were the leaders of the touchdown marches. Brown crossed the goal line six times and Willett made three touchdowns.

Willett intercepted a Holliday pass in the last quarter and ran 60 yards for a touchdown.

Lawler, Holliday quarterback, made the most sensational play of the game when he intercepted a pass and ran 65 yards for the only touchdown by the Eagles.

Cecil Foster Goes To Work At Paragon Tailors

Announcement was made by Neeley Vaught, owner of the Paragon Tailor shop, that Cecil Foster is now an employee of that concern.

Foster is an experienced cleaner, having worked for several years for Burk Burnett Tailors.

Crowd Attends Dedication Of Burk Burnett's New $100,000 School

Visitors jammed the school building for the first time in over a year when the students are housed in the same building. The old buildings were condemned in 1937, and pupils moved to church buildings for one year.

Superintendent C. J. Duncan, O. L. Clark, president of the school board, and H. Lee Clifton, principal of Hardin school, were in charge of the informal reception Sunday. Members of the board and the faculty escorted visitors through the building.

The following numbers were presented during the afternoon: Piano selections, Sadie Beth Tevis; "Garden of the Moon," "Ole Faithful," "Sail Along Silver Moon," and "Jeannie, I Dream of Lilac Time," Mary Jean Prince, Josephine Utts, Betty Jean May, Carol Lohofener, Doris Mae Grace, Colleen Mattingly, Charles Grace, Valta Brookman, Ruby Nelle Russell, June Golden, Jean Wills, Clara Mae Parker.

Clara Minister Made Secretary Walther League

Rev. Paul Kaiser, pastor of the Lutheran church at Clara, received word this week from the International Walther League, of his appointment as Field Secretary for that organization for North Texas.

Bears Open Cage Season With Win

Tall, lanky James Enloe led the Fairview Bears to a 16 to 13 victory over the Hardin Junior College Tuesday night at Fairview.

It was the first test for the 1939 Bears and from all indications, Fairview will have another good basketball team.

Hardin Junior College has defeated every High school team they have met. They have had several weeks' practice and the Bears had been working out only a week when they defeated them.

Coach Bernal Hays used Tommy West, Dale Boyd at guards; James Enloe at center, and Carl Winkles, C. W. Goins and Dean Smith at forwards.

Wendell Goins, a former Bear, gave his old teammates a little trouble as guard for Hardin Junior College. Holloway was the other guard, Hughes and Nixon were at forwards and "Too Tall" Thompson was at center.

Citizens Seek Better Libraries

Taking the position that making books available is an integral part of "free education" to which Texas is dedicated, a group of citizens are launching a movement to seek extended library aid from the coming session of the Legislature.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. E. H. Marek of Yoakum the committee now working on bills to be presented to the Legislature include these members: E. S. Street of Waco, Booth Mooney of Dallas, Mrs. Willis Sauer of Austin, Mrs. Julia Coddou of Houston, I. H. Burney of Fort Worth, John Gould of Wichita Falls, Helen Swift of College Station, Minnie F. Cunningham of College Station.

Tuesday's guests were: Earl Hodges, Dr. M. H. Glover, Scotty Scott, and Roy Jones.

New Bridge To Span Red River At Byers, Texas

Accomplishment of a long sought short route between Wichita Falls and Oklahoma City seemed to be eminent Tuesday when bids were announced on construction of a bridge across Red river between Byers, Texas, and Waurika, Oklahoma.

Brooks & Dahlgren, Inc., Oklahoma City, had apparently submitted the low bid which was announced as $345,188.31.

The new bridge will supplant an old toll structure, and it is expected that this shorter route to Oklahoma City will provide new trade sources for Wichita Falls and north Clay county towns.

Correction

In last week's Star we stated that A. R. Hill had been elected vice-president and treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce. The name should have been W. R. Hill.

Announcement

All stores and business houses in Burk Burnett will be closed Thursday, November 24th, which is Thanksgiving Day.

First Half of 1938 State and County Taxes Due Now

The first half of 1938 state and county taxes are now due and payable. If this first half is paid by the 30th of November, the last half will not be due until midsummer.

These taxes may all be paid at the Chamber of Commerce office where arrangements for extending this service to citizens of this area have been made by that organization.

It is far more convenient for those living here, or in surrounding communities, to pay their taxes at the local office than to make a trip to the County seat, and the Chamber of Commerce is glad to be able to render this service.

Automobile licenses and transfers may also be acquired at the local office.

Rotarians Are Entertained By Young Singers

Members of the Rotary club were entertained at their weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday by a quartet of girls from the local High school directed by Miss Ethyle Virginia Allen and accompanied by Dorothy Brown.

Those in the quartet were: Dorothy Mayburn, Peggy Kemp, Derestine Moore, and Sadie Beth Tevis.

Announcement was made at the meeting that on Tuesday, November 29, the club will be guests of the Home Economics department for luncheon at the High school. This is an annual affair and one which the Rotarians always enjoy.

Tuesday's guests were: Earl Hodges, Dr. M. H. Glover, Scotty Scott, and Roy Jones.

Cause Of Thanksgiving Ample, Says President

President Roosevelt said in his annual Thanksgiving proclamation Sunday that the nation had ample cause to be thankful for peace among other blessings.

"We have lived in peace and understanding with our neighbors and have seen the world escape from the impending disaster of a general war," the President said.

"In the time of our fortune it is fitting that we pause and offer prayers for the unfortunate people in other lands who are in dire distress at this season."

The proclamation designated Thursday, November 24, as a day of general Thanksgiving.

President's Proclamation
I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fourth of November, 1938, as a day of general thanksgiving.

Our fathers set aside such a day as they hewed a nation from the primeval forest. The observance was consecrated when George Washington issued a Thanksgiving proclamation in the first year of his presidency. Abraham Lincoln set apart "a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the heavens."

Let us remember them in our families and our church when, on the day appointed, we offer our thanks to Almighty God. May we by our way of living merit the continuance of His goodness.

Thrift Post Office Robbed Of $70

Burglars entered the Thrift postoffice early Saturday morning of last week and escaped with $70.00 in cash. They left behind a number of checks and stamps which they scattered about the floor.

Prizing open the front door of the Boyd Bros. store, which also houses the postoffice they entered the postoffice cage and helped themselves to the cash from the register which was unlocked, according to reports of Chief Roy Stapp and Deputy Sheriff Roy Blanscet, who investigated the robbery.

The burglary was discovered by Postmaster B. F. Jackson when he opened for business Saturday morning. The robbery is believed to have occurred between 3 and 4 a. m.

Federal authorities are investigating.

Work Starts Soon On Beautification School Grounds

The drive to raise funds for beautification of the Hardin school grounds was completed in the business section this week and sponsors found that they had a total of $79.00 contributed by business firms and individuals. Club contributions were not yet complete.

Mrs. Glen Bear was chairman of the committee making the drive and those assisting her were: Mesdames Walter Morris, R. E. Ebbs, H. R. Hayes, Hugh Jones, and Volney Hill.

Mrs. Carl Morrison is chairman of the beautification committee. The Burk Burnett Garden club will have charge of landscaping the grounds and will begin work just as soon as all trees, flowers and shrubs are purchased.

Business firms and individuals who contributed to this project were: E. V. Dial, L. and M. Food Store, Cicero Smith Lumber Co., Clyde Elder, Opal's Dress Shop, T. D. Oxley, B. H. Alexander, Johnny Anderson, Jones and Hamner, A. H. Bazell, W. S. Dutton, and Roy Jones.

Teachers Will Attend Institute

Superintendent C. J. Duncan announced early this week that the following teachers will attend the Teachers' Institute to be held in Dallas this week-end:

Ella and Annie Laurie Billingslea, H. Lee Clifton, Dorothy Flynt, Laura Fae Herring, Frances Hamner, Helen January, Katherine Lasseter, Verna Mae Petty, Tommie Phillips, Alfred Pierce, Guy C. Pryor, Kathryn Sharp, Lily Solomon, Margaret Tanner, Earl Woodall, Kathryn Wynn, Ella Griffin, Ethyle Virginia Allen, Helen Ingle, Ruth Jackson, Gladys Wesbrooks and C. J. Duncan.

Palace Installs New Heating Unit Theatre Building

The Palace Theatre has recently installed a new heating system. Two large automatic heaters have been installed, one over each exit, which operate somewhat on the order of a cooling system, save that instead of cool air they circulate warm air at a constant, set temperature.

Patrons of the theatre can now be assured of the same comfort they have in their homes.

Date Changed On C. Of C. Banquet

Announcement was made early this week by Herman Engelmann, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, that the date for the organization's annual banquet has been changed from the 31st of December to the 12th to avoid conflicting with the date of the Wichita Falls Junior C. of C. banquet, which is scheduled to take place on the 8th.

The local banquet is to be held in the auditorium of the Hardin school this year. Tickets will go on sale Monday of next week. W. A. Roberts, and D. R. Peevey, who form the committee in charge of arrangements for a program have nothing definite to report at this time, but announce that they have contacted one of the most famous speakers in this area, inviting him to make the principal address on that occasion, and are awaiting his reply.

The Chamber of Commerce has held an annual banquet at the close of each fiscal year since it was organized here. The retiring president makes his annual report and officers for the coming year are installed.

Directors to serve for three years will be installed with the officers this year. W. A. Roberts succeeds Wiley Browning as president; D. R. Peevey was elected 1st vice-president and W. R. Hill was elected 2nd vice-president and treasurer.

The six new directors are: J. S. Mills, R. C. Tevis, W. S. Dutton, Lige Chrestman, W. R. Hill, and Leonard Mattingly.

City Hall Decked With New Lights

The City Hall is wearing a new garland of high powered electric lights which puts it right in the "White Way" class.

We had never realized that that corner was so dark until we saw the difference that row of lights around the roof of the building has made.

City Manager Lynn Kincaid announced that it was his hope that this was only the first step in a new lighting system which will make this look like a new town.

He also announced that colored lights are to be used at the City Hall and more lights added for the Christmas Season.

It is understood that Christmas lights and decorations for the downtown streets are to be put up next week. The number of lights will be greatly increased this year.

THE ROYAL VISIT

There is something gratifying to American pride in the announcement that King George and Queen Elizabeth of England are to visit the United States and call at the White House next Spring.

It will be the first time that a reigning monarch of the British Empire has ever visited America. Perhaps if the idea of royal visits had occurred a couple of hundred years ago, say, we might still be subjects of the British crown.

At any rate, there is a strong and definite tie between this country and the nation of which most of the United States once owed allegiance, and we ought to be glad to show King George VI what a great country we have built by our own unaided efforts since we broke away from the control of his royal great-great-grandfather, George III.

As we understand it, the position of the King of England and Scotland and Emperor of Britain is that of a symbol rather than a ruler.

He is a figurehead, but a rather gorgeous figurehead. He symbolizes the greatest democracy in the world, a nation which in many respects is much more democratic than our own. The nearest thing we have in America to the King is the figurative cartoon of Uncle Sam, who stands for the American spirit as the King does for the spirit of Britain.

There has been some silly talk from Washington about the proper etiquette to be observed by the President and his wife when the King and Queen visit them. Should Mrs. Roosevelt curtsy to the Queen? That sounds like tommyrot.

If there is any question of equality, the balance is in the favor of the President and his wife, since the President is a more powerful ruler. But this is no a political visit.

The royal visit to Washington is a visit by one gentleman and his wife to another gentleman and his wife, and the proper etiquette is what is proper when one gentleman calls at another gentleman's house.

DON'T KID YOURSELF

In commenting on the belief of many that they "pay no taxes," the Kansas City Star says: "The complacency of millions over taxes would be sharply upset if a few facts were allowed to sink in."

The Star then takes a survey of "indirect taxes" made by a large life insurance company and shows what the man who thinks he "pays no taxes," actually pays in taxes each year.

Out of the $960 annual income an $80 a month worker receives, he pays $10.29 a month, or $123.48 a year, in indirect taxes that have to be added to the cost of necessities he buys, such as food, rent, clothing, fuel, light, recreation, insurance and dozens of other things—about 13 per cent of his income in this case. And the tax total increases as he earns more.

You are kidding yourself when you laugh about taxes. The less you earn, the harder they hit you from the indirect angle, for they increase the cost of every necessity of life you buy.

Ninth Installment Synopsis

Jocelyn Harlowe, raised in a French convent, at the age of 18 joins her mother, Marcella, in New York. Worried about her safety, because she is unfamiliar with the modern world and has developed into a beautiful woman, her mother's first wish is to get her safely married. Attending her first ball, Jocelyn meets Felix Kent, rich, handsome and nineteen years older than herself. Encouraged by her mother, she and Felix quickly become engaged. Alone in her apartment one night, a cripple, Nick Sandal, enters by the fire-escape, confides in her that he is her father and that her real name is Lynda Sandal. Uncertain about whether she wants to get married so quickly, Jocelyn goes to talk things over with her mysterious father. As Lynda Sandal goes to his house, climbs three flights of stairs and enters a room where he is sitting with several men in the midst of a card game. Later, when both Felix and her mother are away, Jocelyn returns to have a second visit with her father. There she meets Jock Ayleward, a gambler, from whom she seeks information about her father's life. He takes her to a restaurant to talk to her about him, but instead they spend their time talking about each other and dancing together. One night, alone in her father's rooms, a stranger enters whom she sees going through the desk. She speaks to him and in answer to his question says she is waiting there for her father.

One night Jock comes to her home and begins to tell her his story of how he was a mining engineer, worked under Kent and was sent to jail for making what was adjudged a false affidavit upon which worthless stock was sold to his townspeople. Jocelyn objects to his telling her this tale but tells her mother that she'd like to delay her marriage for a while. Her father, having moved to a better apartment, she goes to see him to offer to help him, but before she makes her offer he anticipates her plan and denounces it.

"It's just exactly the right I have. The dispensing of cruel truth is a parent's first privilege, my dear."

"I have had very little of the truth from either of my parents!" cried Lynda. "If it is your privilege to be cruel, then I might at least have the benefit of your honesty."

At that his eyes, his face, his whole soul seemed to narrow itself. "You have more of the truth in your tongue than you've admitted. The sharp truth, Lynda, I will ask you now to go back to Mrs. Harlowe. You are, after all, her daughter. That is to be remembered."

Lynda started blindly for the door. She was opening it when Nick flung himself after her, caught her and turned her about. "Aha," he triumphed, malicious, laughing even while he winced with the pain of his impulsive movement. With some extraordinary effort he had changed his front, impelled by a sudden panic at really losing her.

"I've broken down Miss Harlowe's high mindedness, eh?" Roughly he pushed his hand to and fro over her shining head until his repressed curly masses were wild enough to shame a Fiji Islander. "You came here to condescend to me, didn't you, my girl? Have I taken the condescension out of you a little?"

It was the truth and she recognized it. "Come, Lynda, let's go out. I'm darned if I like the rooms, myself. I've had a bid to join some of the crowd tonight at rather a swell joint. Want to come? They will like to look at you."

"Are you really well enough, Nick?" was her only protest. Reassured roughly by being told to mind her own business, she went into his bathroom to wash away the tears and to restore passable order to her hair.

In a taxicab which it cost Nick considerable torturing moments to enter, Lynda forced herself to ask, "Will Ayleward be there?"

"I dare say."

"Nick, do you know his history?"

"A man's history is the least important thing about him, Lynda. But—yes, I know it."

"And you believe his tale of persecution and of treachery?"

"Yes. Your young man."

"Believing that, you let me marry Felix?"

"Let you marry? Is it my business to let you in any sense of the word? I don't know the truth of Ayleward's tale. I don't care. If Felix used him as a cat's paw to pull a million out of a bad mine it's probably no worse a start toward fortune than that of many another highly respected millionaire. Having what he wants now, security, wealth and you, he'll be a better husband than a less successful and more scrupulous man."

"But it's not easy to meet Jock. There is a sort of disloyalty in my knowing him at all."

"I wish," she said with coolness, almost with nonchalance, "that you'd get rid of Ayleward, pay him off and start again."

"Why so, gracious and gentle lady?"

"He has been in prison. He is a professional gambler. I hate to think that you are dependent upon his charity, that you live by what he steals."

"A gambler doesn't steal, Saint Lynda. He eases people from their money only by their own consent. In other words, you are ashamed of me, my life, my friends and my condition?"

"No."

"Then why try to change them? I've no intention of changing anything for the sake of Mrs. Felix Kent."

"We mustn't quarrel."

"Ah, so you do love me a little! I'm not angry now, nor hurt. Only, Lynda, don't try to change me. As to young Ayleward, if you fell in love with him—"

"In love—with him!"

He went on evenly, "then I should be forced to free myself of you. Never of him. Now, listen, the boy is gold."

"You did not say that before, Nick. You said that he was not the man that Felix is. You said that he had a poor outlook on life and a character that might be called unstable."

"Well, that is all true. And of all possible husbands—"

"But I should never dream—"

"I know him well enough to disbelieve Jock's story utterly."

"Of all the possible husbands for Miss Jocelyn Harlowe, I can imagine none worse. A man with a grudge against life is not a happy partner for any woman. Better far a man who has given life a grudge against him."

"What does that mean?"

"A man who has put his foot on the neck of life and thrashed the hide off it!"

"You think that Felix Kent is such a man?"

"From what I know of him, Felix Kent is such a man."

The "swell joint" was really rather pretentious though Jocelyn suspected it to be rarely frequented by people known to her mother or to Felix Kent. Through glass doors the supper room appeared, decorated quite charmingly to look like a formal garden with a narrow pool in the center where a fountain played.

Lynda was of course enchanted. To one of the retired tables Nick led her. Here were already Jock Ayleward with two of the men Lynda had met on her first visit; James Drury and Gustav Lowe, looking extraordinarily sleek and solid and greeting her with a good deal of startled gallantry.

Almost immediately two other men joined them, young fellows in well-cut evening clothes, very slightly the worse for liquor, with the grace and the tang of genteel folk and the flexible frank faces of youth at revelry. They seemed to Lynda predestined victims of the ancient game of Fox and Geese, two goslings ringed by the hard-eyed three. Lynda was the only woman at the table and these newcomers visibly rejoiced.

One on each side of her they sat and made love pleasantly. They were not so far gone in wine that they had lost their wit and gentleness. Lynda would have liked to warn them; but this seemed not only treacherous but an act of such peril that her heart fluttered at the thought. And Jock already hated her? He obviously wished her anywhere else. Why, she heard him mutter to Nick, had he brought the girl?

"She'll be alright. I'll look after her."

"It's not her safety I'm thinking of. It's business."

Jock tauntingly rose and asked her to dance. His expression dared her to refuse him. They danced together smoothly and silently.

"You've learned," said Jock presently, speaking close to her ear, "you've learned to bear the touch of a jailbird. You can even let one hold you in his arms."

"I've come here. I must go through with it. I do not enjoy this dance."

"I think you do."

"Really?" She looked straight up into his eyes.

"Some of you enjoys it," he went on in spite of her icy look. "We dance well together. We both love music. If you could forget everything you think you know about me, if you weren't jealous of me—" she half stopped, "with Nick—" they went on, "and if you weren't a little bit afraid—"

"You're wrong. I'm not a bit afraid."

"Then why don't you tell Mr. Farleigh and Mr. Judson that they are the guests of some peculiarly adept gamblers and that before daylight they will certainly be sadder, wiser and poorer gentlemen?"

As he spoke this word which recalled to Lynda her first use of Kent's name in Jock's hearing, her very expert partner made a misstep, glanced doubtfully at her, recovered himself and almost with violence drove her, doubling the time of their rhythm and dancing like a dervish, away from that part of the room and before she knew it he had taken her out through one of the glass doors of the entrance.

"What is the matter?" Take me back to Nick."

"I'm going to be fool enough to take you home."

"Mr. Ayleward!"

"Toni Padrona's woman is in there dancing."

"And you're afraid of Toni's fists?"

"Perhaps, though as a matter of fact, I don't think Toni is present. Certainly it is not Toni who is dancing with her. But I believe Nick would want me to take you home."

"I can't possibly trust you."

"Miss Sandal, if you force me to make a scene you will regret it more than any one. Have you forgotten how angry you were with me once when I involved you in a scene?"

Ayleward stood above her to block her view of the glass doors; so she missed the rhythmic passing of Toni Padrona's woman clenched in the arms of Felix Kent, her eyes blazing into his with something that looked like hunger and reproach.

A few moments later she stood outside on the pavement with Jock.

He hailed a taxicab.

"I'll send you home, Miss Sandal?"

"No." She spoke quickly, arrogantly. "To Nick's rooms. I must see him again tonight."

"But, Miss Sandal, I have to go there now myself, at once."

"I'll only be a minute."

"Please go back and ask Nick—"

"I'm not ready for him to leave. He'll hold the party together for me."

In the taxi she asked, "Shall I have to wait very long for him?"

"No. As soon as I get back there I'll send him to you."

At the door of Nick's lodging house Jock let her in and in spite of her repelling gesture he mounted with her.

"I'm sorry. I must get something."

The something was an automatic pistol. He took it quite openly from the table drawer, examined it and dropped it into his coat pocket.

Lynda said slowly, "Some day you will see again the inside of that state's prison, I am afraid. And that will break Nick's heart. He thinks you are—pure gold."

"Please give me the gun. I'll be here alone. Quayle may find his way in."

"Not a chance." Jock's voice was low and uncertain. "He does not know this place."

He took the blunt firearm and slowly, as though her eyes compelled him, lowered it and laid it on her open hand. And over this hand, gun and all, his fingers strongly closed.

Lynda felt a rapture of body and of blood. It was sweeter than honey, more heady than real wine. She sat still, knowing herself possessed. She was not afraid; nor ashamed. And suddenly she knew why she had come back with him, why she had allowed him to accompany her. Jock came round the table edge, drew down her hand to the other in her lap, fell to his knees and laid his forehead on her hands. She felt his lips moving, she heard him say, "I love . . . I love . . ."

And she was conscious of what he said, of its meaning, of the havoc that it caused. She lifted her eyes as though for help.

They met Nick's eyes. He had followed them from the cafe instantly, had come in, had seen them and now throwing himself in one painful contortion across the room set his tormented hands upon Jock's collar and, using all his strength, jerked him up and back.

"You dare to take my daughter here, to make love to her. My daughter! Kiss her with your mouth of a convict, touch her with your hands of a card-sharpener."

Jock fairly covered. His face looked dazed. He quivered at the two words as though Nick had used a lash upon him. Then carefully, not to hurt Nick's hands, he freed himself and went toward the door. He said nothing, did not turn to look at Lynda.

"Don't be frightened, little Lynda," she heard her father saying. "He won't touch you again."

She could not speak. "You did wrong to come to me," groaned Nick. "No matter where I live my life defies your fingers."

Speaking, he was caught by a paroxysm of physical agony which kept Lynda there in pitiful and scared attendance until nearly morning.

At last she was driven to summoning Jock Ayleward. Her father gasped out a number and almost at once after she had taken down the receiver Jock answered.

Thanksgiving!

of us look forward to Thanksgiving as a holiday to close shop and go fishing, hunting, a football game, and opportunity to serve others. There are three better reasons for being thankful? It has been good, as well as those for whom we are largely responsible. Our friends have been loyal and business has been good—possibly what you have achieved as our own efforts, and that makes our being loyal to us in a business way enables us to service not only to you but to others, and we business shall never become so great and important demand upon our time so important that we lack of those who are unable to do for themselves, flower or sprig of evergreen their way. Visit to our store, even occasionally, tends to smile and liven our spirits.

Chevrolet Leads In Sales Over Past Five Years

A phenomenal record of 11,837,153 sales has been set by the Chevrolet Dealers of America during the last five years, according to W. E. Holler, General Sales Manager.

Mr. Holler has just completed his 5th year as Chevrolet General Sales Manager and it was brought out in an interview in New York as the Automobile Show started that 4,187,718 new cars and trucks were sold by company dealers during administration, while at the same time they were selling 7,647,435 used cars.

"The volume achieved by Chevrolet dealers during the last five years exceeded the largest company records for any previous five year period, including the boom years of 1929 and 1928 by 750,417 new passenger car and truck sales, and 1,849,012 used car sales," said Mr. Holler. "During this same five year period Chevrolet dealers sold 842,519 trucks, and this exceeds by 250,916 truck sales any previous five year truck sales in the 27 years' history of the company.

"This outstanding selling record actually obtained for the company six years results in five years of selling, and is a testimony to the co-operative selling ability of 8900 Chevrolet dealers in the United States."

Asked how this all-time peak selling record was achieved, Mr. Holler replied: "When fundamental policies are established that are fair and equitable to a dealer organization—and then they are carefully and conscientiously administered year by year—accumulated confidence and selling strength bears results not obtained by any other temporary activities or plans. We attribute this six year record of results, obtained in only five years, to the Quality Dealer Program, with its elimination of over-packing of dealers and its scientific appointment of dealer locations, with consequent strengthening of the entire Chevrolet merchandising structure as it deals with the buying public.

"The ultimate consumer has already discovered that the Chevrolet Dealer is a permanent establishment in the community, with his growing strength, financial independence and merchandising and service reputation.

"Some other policies as the planning partnership — where there is a committee of ten dealers on new car planning and ten dealers on used car planning in everyone of the 45 zones in the United States—enables Chevrolet Dealers to transmit directly the practical merchandising plans and programs that they feel are necessary for their own interests of their own communities: And when these are brought thru the Regions and National Committees in Detroit they become national policies which immediately effect the sales policies making them most practical in field operations.

"Not only does the consumer or purchaser recognize today outstanding reputation of the Chevrolet Dealer, but everything that the factory organization and the dealers together combine to promote in every local community has survived the test of dealer analysis, dealer thinking and dealer planning. It is a matter of record that 63 per cent of all of the recommendations made by the dealers have actually become the Chevrolet retail selling policies nationally.

"As a further confidence of the close dealer and factory relationship in Chevrolet, schools for dealers' sons have been conducted throughout the year 1938 with three graduating classes, comprising over 100 sons of dealers. These young men through the most strenuous practical retail merchandising courses have qualified for their diplomas, and has returned to their fathers' places of business to assume a leading position in the local dealer's operation. This proves conclusively that Chevrolet dealers realize and appreciate the heritage that can and is being built in Chevrolet retailing, to the extent that their sons in selecting a life vocation are now joining hands with their fathers in the operations of the independent dealer's local operation.

"It is recognized in the industry that these Chevrolet policies initiated over five years ago and carefully administered by trained specialists have been accumulating in value and result month by month."

It is not enough, concluded Mr. Holler, to declare in activities and writing fine dealer policies, but is much more important to see that these same policies are actually carried out in every detail for the interests and in behalf of the dealer organization.

This five year plan instituted by Mr. Holler has set a very definite trend, it is claimed, which other automobile companies have adopted in their relationships with their dealer bodies.

Federated Women Meet In Austin

One of the distinguishing characteristics between men and women is the spirit in which they attend conventions.

Most men look on a convention as a place to have fun, relax, and pay little attention to business. On the other hand, women take their conventions with a deadly seriousness, and fun, if any, is rigidly subordinated to the business of the day.

Business-like, therefore, were delegates last week as the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs held its 14th annual convention in the Senate Chamber in Austin.

Before the delegates were such problems as saving the state club house in Austin from foreclosure to pay off an $82,875 debt, adoption of a legislative program, and election of new officers for the coming biennium.

First problem disposed of was that of finances. Many years ago Mrs. Clara Driscoll of Corpus Christi saved the Alamo for the state by furnishing the money for its purchase.

Underwrites Debt
 Last week she did the same thing for the women's clubhouse. She agreed to underwrite the debt provided that each club in the Federation would pay $5 a year to retire the debt plus three per cent interest.

With three cheers, the women gleefully accepted the offer amid numerous laudations for Mrs. Seiver.

Next in line was the selection of new officers. Elevated to the presidency was Mrs. Joseph Perkins of Eastland. Named to other offices were Mrs. George W. Cox of Austin, vice-president; Mrs. Fred White of Port Arthur, second vice-president; Mrs. Van Hook Stubbs of Wortham, secretary, and Mrs. J. W. Walker, of Plainview, treasurer.

Texans Honored
 The convention also learned that two Texans had been named to posts under the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the national organization. Honored were Mrs. Volney Taylor of Brownsville, past president of the state Federation, as chairman of scholarship and loans, and Mrs. T. S. Reed of Beaumont as national fine arts chairman.

Adoption of a legislative program required little time. Headed by Mrs. Bob Barker of Fort Worth, the legislative committee recommended and got adopted 8 specific proposals:

Uniform narcotic law to bolster the present state law with emphasis on preventing the spread of marihuana addiction; fingerprint records of all citizens; state aid for library service; revision of the state sanitary code; a constitutional amendment authorizing a county health tax; uniform divorce laws to ban hasty marriages, prevent child marriages and refuse license to insane persons; state aid for dependent and neglected children; crippled children and the adult blind, and uniform automobile traffic regulations.

The convention also heard several prominent speakers including Governor Allred, who scored some eleemosynary institution buildings as firetraps.

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling germ-laden phlegm.

ingredients so that now in Creomulsion you get a good dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and may be taken frequently by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund your money. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

To You Who Have Made CHEVROLET THE LEADER We Extend Our Heartiest Thanks

And we also thank you for the record reception you are giving to the new Chevrolet for 1939, which plainly indicates that once again "Chevrolet's The Choice!"

Thanks to you, the motor car buyers of the nation, Chevrolet has again won first place in passenger car and truck sales in the year 1938 to date. This is the seventh time in the last eight years that Chevrolet has won leadership in motor car sales, and this definite preference for Chevrolet and its products is greatly appreciated by both Chevrolet and its dealers.

Thanks to you, also, the new Chevrolet for 1939 is now winning the largest public acceptance ever given to any new Chevrolet, making it plain that "Chevrolet's The Choice" again for the forthcoming year.

* Chevrolet always endeavors to bring you the highest quality motor car it is possible to build, and to price Chevrolet motor cars so low that they will be the nation's greatest dollar value. Naturally, it is pleasant to have you tell us we have succeeded, by giving such wholehearted preference to these products year after year.

May we take this opportunity to thank you again most sincerely for your preference and good will. And may we also renew our pledge to do everything possible to deserve your continued friendship in the future.

ELECTRIC BILLS SAY "OWN YOUR OWN AT HOME"

An average net monthly bill for 100 Killowatt hours in the states of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma costs an electrical consumer $5.44.

A similar bill in Burkburnett costs a citizen only $5.04.

Why this saving of 40c each month?

Because a municipal light plant is saving that amount for Burkburnett citizens. Rates are lowered when municipal plants are established in a community, for the interests of the customers are given primary consideration rather than those of financial centers.

If you approve a saving in dollars and cents, patronize your municipal light plant.

BRIDE-ELECT IS ENTERTAINED IN WICHITA FALLS

Miss Manilla Milford, whose approaching marriage to Jack Franks of Wichita Falls was recently announced here, was complimented with a lovely party and shower given by Mrs. Howard S. Clark and Mrs. C. H. Stagg of Wichita Falls.

The affair, given at the Clark home on Burnett street was an addition to a series of courtesies being extended Miss Milford.

The wedding, according to present plans, will be an event of November 23. The couple will make their home in Wichita Falls where the groom is employed by the J. M. Radford Wholesale Grocery company.

For Friday evening's party, the Clark home was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums and snapdragons in shades of gold and white. Games of checkers provided entertainment for the guests with prizes being awarded to Mesdames Mae Fitch and John W. Fitzgerald. They presented their prizes to the honoree who also received an attractive assortment of gifts from the guests.

Refreshments were served to thirty-three guests.

The Printers National Association, which is composed of employers of union printing trades labor, met in annual convention in Indianapolis on October 9th.

EXECUTIVE BOARD P-T A MEETS AT HARDIN SCHOOL

Executive board members of the Hardin School P-T A met in the auditorium of the grade school building Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 for a business session. Mrs. R. Kent, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Committee reports were given by Mrs. J. C. Parker and Mrs. S. A. M. Cooper. Mrs. Kent appointed committees for the banquet the P-T A is to sponsor.

Attending the executive session were: Mesdames Wiley Browning, Frank Kelley, J. C. Parker, H. C. Parker, S. A. M. Cooper, Henry Grace, R. Kent, W. S. Boyd, Tom Boyd, Miss Annie Laurie Billingslea; H. L. Clifton and C. J. Duncan.

AUXILIARY TO SPONSOR BENEFIT "42" PARTY

Members of the Firemen's Auxiliary will sponsor a Benefit "42" party on the night of December 1st.

The party will be held in the sales room of the Browning Motor Company. Admission charges will be 25c a person or 35c for a couple.

Railways of Ireland have laid off many hands recently because of falling business, and the unemployment and railway problem of the country threaten to become serious.

HARDIN SCHOOL P-T A HAS REGULAR MEETING TUESDAY

The first regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers of the Hardin Grade school was held on Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. R. Kent, was in charge. In the absence of Mrs. Sid Gamblin, program chairman, Mrs. Frank Kelley took charge of the program, introducing as the first number a song, which was led by Miss Allen.

Taylor Davis, pastor of the Church of Christ, was the guest speaker. He addressed the group on the subject "Opportunity."

Mrs. Kent gave a detailed report on the convention. The attendance prize was awarded to the students of Miss Solomon. Miss Solomon's room had 10 mothers present.

MRS. WIGGINS HAS PARTY FOR DAUGHTER

Mrs. P. A. Wiggins entertained young friends of her daughter, Josephine, with a slumber party on Friday night, November 18. It was the young lady's birthday.

The guests enjoyed a theatre party early in the evening. Returning to their hostess' home, they played games until 12 o'clock when they were served a midnight supper.

Those present were: Valta Brookman, Rubynelle Russell, Jean Wills, Betty Mills, Carol Lohofener, Colleen Mattingly, Dorothy Browning, Mary Jean Prince, Charisne Grace and the honoree, Josephine Utts.

DELEGATES TO P-T A CONVENTION MAKE THEIR REPORT

Delegates Mesdames R. Kent, Artie Whitesides, F. E. Cruce and Tom Boyd returned last Thursday evening from the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers held in Lubbock, November 15-17. They report a very successful, enthusiastic and well attended convention.

Noteworthy officials addressing the convention were: Cameron Beck, Vocational and Industrial Relations Consultant of the School of Business and Practice of Speech, New York City. Topics discussed were "American Youth for a New Day," and "The Cost of Leadership." Mrs. John E. Hays, National First Vice-President, discussed "World Peace is of Primary Importance to Protect the Children of the World"; Mrs. Ella Caruthers Porter, founder of the Texas State Congress, spoke, briefly outlining the origin and growth of the Texas Congress of P-T A from a small charter in 1903 to a membership of 131,000 in 1938.

The convention theme, "Parental Quests," was brought out by Mrs. M. A. Taylor, president, and several other speakers; subjects being, "Personality Development of the Child"; "Child Hygiene and Summer Round Up"; "Child Education during Social Changes"; "Community Advancement in a Democracy"; "Educating the parents and teachers to meet new conditions."

STUDY CLUB GOES AHEAD WITH PLANS FOR CHARITY

Mrs. Paschall Kimbrow entertained at the home of Mrs. D. A. Westbrook for members of the Junior University Study Club at their regular bi-monthly meeting Monday evening.

In line with their customary policy of contributing to all charitable movements, the club presented its collection of toys to the Boy Scouts to be repaired for Christmas presents to underprivileged children. They have also provided for lunch to be served to two children, whom they will select later, each day at the school cafeteria the rest of this year.

The club will observe their annual custom of presenting two Thanksgiving baskets to certain families they have chosen on Wednesday.

A contribution was made to the fund being raised by local clubs to beautify the Hardin school grounds.

The following program was presented by Mrs. Victor Spearman: General Topic, Mark Twain's story, "The Man That Corrupted Hadleyburg"; The Structure of the Story, Mary Bess Strong; A discussion of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, Mattie Dell Auld.

Miss Margaret Tanner was a guest. Refreshments were served to those present.

FIREMEN'S AUXILIARY HAS TWO NEW MEMBERS

Members of the Firemen's Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Robert Dunn on November 10th for their regular social meeting.

Two new members, Mrs. Herman Engelmann and Mrs. Carol Jackson, were welcomed to the organization.

Plans were made for the Benefit "42" party to be held on December 1, and committees were appointed to make arrangements for the party.

A game of Chinese Checkers was enjoyed and refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames W. C. Kiesling, N. R. Allen, John Allison, Wayne Goodlett, J. J. Blackstone, Herman Engelmann and son, Milborn, Carol Jackson, and the hostess, Mrs. Robert Dunn.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

On Thanksgiving Day, The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and its branches in all countries will hold a special Thanksgiving service to which the public is cordially invited. The service includes the reading of a Lesson-Sermon, the topic of which is "Thanksgiving," and opportunity is given for the individual members of the congregation to audibly express their gratitude to God for the blessings which have come to them during the year.

The Golden Text is: "Offer unto God Thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High" (Psalms 50:14).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Ye are the children of the Lord your God; . . . and the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, which are within thy gates, shall come, and shall eat and be satisfied; that the Lord thy God may bless thee in all the work of thine hand which thou doest" (Deut. 14:1, 29).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good" (page 518.)

This is a series of three sermons on the theme: "The Surpassing Christ."

All week-day activities are scheduled. Clara Lutheran Church welcomes you.

HARDIN CLUB HAS PENNY LUNCHEON

Mrs. J. C. Muller was hostess to members of the Hardin Demonstration club Monday. Covered dishes were brought by the members and a penny luncheon was served to those present.

Roll call was answered with the number of times loaf bread has been made.

Miss Leta Bennett, demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on cereals. She discussed the place of cereals in the diet; telling which cereals were most beneficial to the body and explained a chart which showed the vitamin content of various cereals. She cooked and served several cereals as part of the demonstration.

Committee reports were made and Mrs. M. R. Hewell gave a Council report.

Dates were announced for the Council Christmas party and the Hardin Club Christmas party. The Council party will be held in the Club house, Wichita Gardens, on December 20, at 2 p. m. The Hardin club party will be held December 14 at 2 p. m. Mesdames Willis, Mills, Minick and Brookman were appointed as a committee to make plans for the Hardin club party.

Clubs all over the County voted to study meats, meat products and their preservation and general house repair during 1939.

Those present were: Mesdames Tex Willis, Ray Mills, Lena Claer a guest, J. J. Blackstone, Hugh Jones, Fred Minick, M. R. Hewell, Richard Pink, S. E. Askins, Geo. Smith, D. H. Holtzen, A. A. Evert, J. First Grade News

Most of the people in the first grade have their Rhythm Band suits ready to wear.

We are all planning to have an enjoyable Thanksgiving.

5th and 6th Grade News

Clyde Peed is spending the Thanksgiving holidays in Shreveport, La. Betty Williams will go to Wichita Falls for the holidays.

3rd and 4th Grade News

Bertie Sue Wetsel is having to limp around at school, one of her toes is broken.

We were in the P-T A program last Monday night.

Seventh Grade News

The 7th grade had a Thanksgiving party which was a sensation. A group of interesting games were played and refreshments were served, then more games were played. Mrs. Peed, Mrs. Butts, and Mrs. Parson were chaperons.

Freshman News

The Freshmen came to school this morning with an odd feeling because today is the day that the second six weeks exams are scheduled to begin. We are hoping that we will pass them.

Sophomore News

Goody, goody! Only three days of school this week on account of Thanksgiving. But, oh, the dreaded six weeks tests that the three days will bring. We can settle down and enjoy the holidays in peace because the report cards do not come until next Wednesday. Until then, beware, Sophs!

Junior News

At last out of the sky, our long wait is over! The Junior pins have arrived and the anticipation of seeing them is over. We think this is a splendid Thanksgiving present: And speaking of Thanksgiving, reminds us of turkey, cranberry sauce, and all good things which come with it; the holidays are just around the corner.

Senior News

The old saying, "Business before Pleasure," does not always hold true. For on Friday, Nov. 18, the Seniors spent a very pleasant evening of dinner and games. It was in the form of a progressive party; cocktails served at Miss Ima Gene Reed's; main course served at Miss Frances Ramming's; desert enjoyed at the home of Miss Irene Welborne and the remainder of the evening at Miss Mary Lois Ferguson's playing games. This was all very pleasant, but what of the second six weeks exams on Monday, business?

Sport News

Girls, I see the old six weeks exams, peeping around the corner again so all of you get in there and pitch so you won't be slipping back around the corner with the exams (and off the volleyball squad!)

P-T A News

The Clara P-T A met Monday night, November 21, with Mrs. F. T. Grozier, president, in charge. A business meeting was held and following the business meeting Mr. Davvis had charge of the program.

The Rhythm Band under the direction of Miss Parris and Miss Isabell gave several numbers, followed by a novelty number by Wilma Butts, Mary Starnes and Glenda Moore.

The principal speaker of the evening was J. B. Golden, County Superintendent, who gave an interesting talk on Amendments to Texas State Teachers Association.

Four-H News

The 4-H club boys and their fathers are invited to attend the club meeting that is to be held at the Iowa Park auditorium Tuesday, Nov. 22.

The leader will be in charge and organize the club.

ROBERT L. RIPLEY
He Loves to Be Called the Biggest Liar in the World

Who do you suppose gets more mail than anyone else in the world? Clark Gable? No! Mae West? No! Rudy Vallee? No!

I know a man who always gets at least a million letters a year; and in one year he got three million letters from all parts of the world. That means more than eight thousand letters a day or twenty-eight letters while you are reading this sentence.

He has received letters without any name at all on the envelopes; they were merely addressed, "To the Biggest Liar in the World," and believe it or not, the Post Office delivered them to Robert L. Ripley!

Ripley makes a living by making people gasp. He made me gasp once when he showed me a letter written on a piece of human skin; and he made me gasp when he showed me a message that a man had written him on a single human hair. I couldn't believe it until I put the hair under a microscope and then I read the message just as plainly as if it had been written on a piece of paper. It said, "The finest welcome in the world to Robert L. Ripley."

The story of Ripley's own life is almost as incredible as his cartoons.

Ripley was "fired" from the first three newspapers on which he worked; yet he is making more money today than are the men who own the newspapers that "fired" him.

Ripley never studied drawing; yet he is the most widely imitated cartoonist in the world.

Bob Ripley has always been interested in sports. He wrote a book on Handball, and another on Boxing, and he started out in life to be a professional baseball player. He was signed up by the New York Giants; but he broke his arm while pitching; so he gave up baseball and started drawing sport cartoons.

One cold, December day in 1918—exactly one week before Christmas—he sat in his office trying to think of an idea for a cartoon. An hour or two slipped by. He couldn't think of a thing. The deadline was approaching. He had to draw something; so, in desperation, he picked up a few astonishing facts about athletics and made a cartoon which he called "Chumps and Champs." He didn't like the title, so he crossed it out and wrote "Believe It or Not."

That was the turning point of his life. One little idea on a dull, dreary afternoon, and presto—he was on his way to a sensational, world-wide success. But it didn't come immediately.

He drew a "Believe It or Not," cartoon once a week for ten years—and, believe it or not, it attracted little attention. For ten years, his feature tottered on the verge of failure. As Rip once said to me, "You work and slave for ten years, and then become famous in ten minutes."

That is about what happened to him. For one day, in September, 1928, he drew a cartoon that startled a million readers.

He created a nation-wide furore when he said that Lindbergh was the sixty-seventh man to make a non-stop flight across the Atlantic Ocean. People rose up in indignation and demanded that he retract his impudent and insulting lie.

But Ripley pointed out that Brown and Alcock had flown across the Atlantic years before Lindbergh was ever heard of—and so did the English dirigible R-34 with thirty-one men aboard—and so did the German dirigible ZR-3 with thirty-three men aboard. So Lindbergh was really the sixty-seventh.

William Randolph Hearst saw that cartoon, and was entranced. So he insisted that Ripley draw a "Believe It or Not" cartoon for every one of his papers every day.

And Ripley started skyrocketing to fame.

Big Rabbit Creek
November 20, 1938

Well, folks, this Sabbath afternoon is just as warm nearly as midsummer. The birds are singing in the tree tops down here on the Big Rabbit Creek just like Springtime, but listen, Hawkeye says don't get too far from your overcoats and you ladies don't lock up your furs and then get your keys misplaced, for in Hawkeye's opinion, you will need them in the next 48 hours and maybe sooner.

Emmett Boies, the Randlett Gin Company's manager, called on the Owens family a short while Sunday morning. He informed Hawkeye that he ginned around 500 bales of cotton this fall's ginning so far.

Well, about all the Big Rabbit Creek farmers is getting out their crops and is studying to beat the band which one of their father-in-laws or uncles or aunts would be the best place to visit for a short duration; just long enough to serve a big Tom Turkey Thanksgiving Dinner, as the day is just around the corner.

Hawkeye says he is thinking very strongly on loading up his old 10 gauger on Thanksgiving morning and shoot down two or three of those big mule eared rabbits and having his better half to cook up a big pot full of rabbit and dough instead of chicken and dough. Folks, believe it or not, they don't eat bad, as Hawkeye has tried them out.

Well, as the big trades day event was pulled off yesterday, Saturday, was a great interesting affair, as over 6,000 people were on the streets after the big event. Hawkeye says that at least 2-3 of the 6,000 people that were in Our Friendly Little City were shopping in their big grocery meat market stores and the big dry goods stores. The best of all, The Burkburnett Star, the best weekly newspaper in northwest Texas, has a big sacrificed sale on just for a few days. At 50c for one whole year, a saving of $1.00. Say, boy, it was just a fright to see how those thousands of readers of the Star marched to the printing shop to pay their 50c for another year's subscription as they knew a good thing when they find it, like getting the Burkburnett Star for only 50c per year.

Hawkeye, while walking east on Main street Saturday just stepped in the Big White House Grocery and Meat market to say "Hello" to his old friend, Ed Lewallen, one amongst the best meat cutters in Our Friendly Little City, Burkburnett, Texas. Well, sir, when Hawkeye got back to the fresh meat department, Hawkeye got his eyes focused at once on one of the nicest and finest decorated meat counters that Hawkeye or anyone else will see in Fort Worth or Dallas. They fine meats of all kinds the way they are placed in that big meat counter will just make anyone's mouth water. Of course, as Bro. Ed has made cutting a lifetime practice, he has become perfect.

This is just a little joke on Hawkeye. About 10:45 a. m., soon after Hawkeye landed in the city, by his good friend, Papa Willis, (Alias Guy) picking him up 4 miles out over in the sticks, he brought him in town. Hawkeye, while walking up the street just in front of that big Famous dry goods store, an old Model of 1920, Tin Lizzie, drove up at the curb and parked. In this Old Lizzie there sat an old couple, an old gentleman and an old lady, their ages were around 75 or 80. The couple got out and Grandpa and Grandma started talking to Hawkeye. Come to find out they were from Hawkeye's old home state, Arkansas; now laugh. Well, they came all the way from East of Hot Springs out of White River county. During the long conversation that Hawkeye had with Grandpa and Grandma, they were talking to Jim Jones, Grandpa soon told Jim Jones about reading in his Burkburnett Star about this big trades day event every Saturday in the Big Rabbit Creek news and about the big crowds of thousands that come every Saturday to Trades day event, as Grandpa and Grandma said they just didn't think there were that many living humans on this old earth until they drove their old 1920 Lizzie in the city Saturday. He says to Jones: "This is the most people that I and Lucinda has ever seen in our whole lives before. We have drove her," pointing to their Tin Lizzie, "over 700 miles just to come to this Friendly Little City and to see this big congregation. It's just a wonderful sight to me and Lucinda. Back thar in our home town at no time can you see over a dozen and a half of folks." Before Jones left Grandpa and Grandma he said he wanted to see that Hawkeye fellow; he wanted to see just how he looked and if he really did have hawk eyes and where he lived. Jones told Grandpa and Grandma that Hawkeye was just a little old dried up guy and that he lived over across the Big Pond in their sister state of Oklahoma. The old couple stayed in the city over night and the up-to-date lodging and rooming house but before the day was over they called at the Star office and took advantage of this cut rate on the Star of 50c per year and renewed their subscription for 5 years instead of just one year. As Grandpa said that he just couldn't do without the Burkburnett Star and the Big Rabbit Creek News.

DePriest of Brinkley, Ark.; two brothers, Alonza Bradley of Sherman and Jimmy Hayes of Bonham; three sisters, Mrs. Lula Woodley of Bonham and Mrs. Willie Shields of Sherman.

Surles Acting Mgr. Field Office Social Security

Appointment of Roscoe L. Surles as acting manager of the Wichita Falls field office of the Social Security Board has been announced by regional officers of the Board.

Surles has been with the Board since October, 1936, and comes to Wichita Falls from the Beaumont office, where he was assistant manager. He succeeds J. Gordon James, who assumes the management of the Board's El Paso office.

The Wichita Falls office, located at 206 Post Office Building, has as its functions the development of claims for old-age insurance and the assignment of account numbers. Workers outside the city of Wichita Falls who desire to apply for account numbers may obtain forms from their local postmasters. These forms, after being executed, should be forwarded to the Wichita Falls office, where cards will be issued and returned to the applicant.

All employments in the ordinary commercial or industrial fields are covered by the old-age insurance program, Surles said. Workers in such employments who have reached the age of 65 since January 1, 1937, and estates of workers who have died since that date, are eligible to file claims for lump-sum payments. These payments amount to 3 1-2 per cent of taxable wages received from covered employment up to attainment of age 65 or death.

Drive For Xmas Seals Starts Here On November 24

The annual Tuberculosis Seal Sale drive, sponsored by the Wichita County Tuberculosis Association, will start November 24th, according to Kindel Paulk, chairman of the Seal Sales committee.

Nothing less than the complete eradication of the scourge of tuberculosis from this country should be the aim of every citizen in giving support of the annual Christmas Seal Sale of the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated groups, President Roosevelt said today in endorsing the Association's thirty-second annual campaign which opens on Thanksgiving Day. Such support, says the President, "becomes a patriotic duty."

President Roosevelt said that the work of the tuberculosis associations in teaching people that the disease is preventable and curable and that people can be returned to health and strength is of the highest value.

"With the approach of the holiday season we are again forcibly reminded that the nationwide attack on tuberculosis is a year around campaign, made possible through the proceeds of Christmas Seals," President Roosevelt said. Since 1907 these well known seals, which will go on sale throughout the United States on Thanksgiving Day, have played an important part in stamping out tuberculosis and saving the lives of countless numbers of people stricken with this dread disease.

"The work which the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated organizations are doing in teaching people that tuberculosis is preventable, that it is curable, and that great numbers of tuberculosis patients can be restored to health and strength, is of the highest value. It deserves the support of our citizens everywhere. Such support in a very real sense becomes a patriotic duty."

"The proceeds from the sale of the Christmas Seals will furnish the sinews of war with which to attack this menace on all fronts: through preventive measures, education, free clinics, hospitalization and nursing service. Our goal must be nothing less than the complete eradication of this scourge of tuberculosis from our nation. Through the power of the Christmas Seal everybody can help in attaining the goal. In the true spirit of Christmas let us as a nation give generous support to this campaign to protect the health of every man, woman and child within our borders."

Highway Projects in 1940 Will Cost Over 12 Million

Projects for the 1940 Federal aid program costing an estimated $12,276,000 were announced by the Highway Department. Construction will start on the projects after July 1, 1939.

Engineers said the proposals absorb the entire allotment of regular Federal aid for the next fiscal year. The National and State governments will share equally in the cost.

The program as a whole must be submitted to the United States bureau of public roads for approval, after which plans and specifications for individual items must be submitted and approved.
