Lions Hear High School Orchestra

Carl Pommerening and Guy C. Pryor had charge of the program at the last regular meeting of the Lions club.

Miss Blanche Butler was presented in several piano selections and the Burk Burnett High school orchestra played the following numbers: "Silent Night, Holy Night," "Come All Ye Faithful," "Jingle Bells," "Home on the Range," and "Always." They were directed by Earle Woodall.

A trio composed of Doris Frances Magers at the piano, Glenn Wood, saxophone, and Neal Hall, Jr., cornet, presented two numbers: "Sylvia" and "Anchors Aweigh."

C. E. Lundberg, Hubert Gragg and C. W. Thomas were absent. Gordon Thomas of Wichita Falls was the only guest.

C. Of C. Members And Guests Heard Gossett at Banquet

Two hundred and fifty members of the Burk Burnett Chamber of Commerce and their guests gathered in the auditorium of the new Hardin school building Monday for the 18th annual meeting of that organization.

They were addressed by Ed Gossett, congressman-elect from the 13th district, who summed up community problems as really only the problems of living together and urged everyone in this community to recognize and seek to discharge the responsibilities of good citizenship.

Heard School Band

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of the Burk Burnett High school band in its first formal appearance since organization early this fall. Under the direction of Miss Blanche Butler and Earle Woodall, music instructors, the band entertained the crowd during dinner.

Also interesting was the sextet from the Hardin Grade school under the direction of Miss Ethyle Virginia Allen who presented a series of seasonal songs. The girls who made up the sextet were: Peggy Kemp, Derestine Moore, Sadie Beth Tevis, Dorothy Maybarn, Joy McFarlane and Wanda Lou Gragg. They were accompanied by a classmate, Dorothy Browning.

Mrs. Robert Stephens and Bobby Stephens of Wichita Falls gave a series of guitar and accordion duets.

Browning Retired

Wylie Browning, retiring president, made the report of a progressive year of work and handed the gavel to his successor, W. A. Roberts. With Roberts, D. R. Peevey, vice-president, W. R. As representative of the Chamber of Commerce, A. R. Hill presented.

Bulldogs to Meet Hawks In First Cage Tilt Friday

The Bulldogs meet Iowa Park here on Friday night for their first conference game of this season. They were defeated by the Wichita Falls High school team last Friday in a practice game played in the Burk Burnett High gymnasium.

The Bulldogs were not daunted by that loss and go into Friday's game feeling that they have better than an even chance to win.

Russell Clements and Fred Brown are serving as co-captains of the team this year.

A volley ball game with the girls from Iowa Park will follow the basket ball game Friday night.

Everyone in Burk Burnett is urged to be present for the first conference game.

Wichita County Schools Organize Masters' Club

Guy C. Pryor Elected President

Superintendents and principals of Wichita Falls, Electra, Burk Burnett, Clara, Valley View, and Fairview met in the Home Economics building of the Fairview High school Wednesday night, December 14, and organized a School Masters' club.

Guy C. Pryor, principal of Burk Burnett High school was elected president; R. A. Jarrott, principal of a ward school in Wichita Falls, was elected vice-president; Bennett Cooksey, principal of the Fairview High school, will serve as secretary-treasurer.

H. D. Fillers, superintendent of schools in Wichita Falls, discussed the question: "Should the School Board Require Vaccination for Small-Pox for Students Entering School?" Electra has made this requirement of students since 1921; Wichita Falls will put the same requirement into effect in 1939. Other schools of the county will take the matter before their respective school boards in the near future.

The School Masters' club will hold its next meeting in the Hardin Junior College Tea Room in Wichita Falls, on January 11.

The following men were served at their initial meeting by members of the Fairview Home Ec. club:

H. D. Fillers, George Curtsinger, J. E. Parks, Burl Bryant, J. B. McNeil, J. B. Golden, T. B. Parnell, R. A. Jarrott, T. W. Brumalaw, and T. L. Rundell of Wichita Falls; B. M. Dinsmore, M. M. Young, and H. M. Campbell of Electra; C. J. Duncan, Guy C. Pryor and Lee Clifton of Burk Burnett; A. H. Breezeale and O. L. Campbell of Valley View; Ralph Davis and Roy Vin-nedge of Clara; and Y. C. Paschall and Bennett Cooksey of Fairview.

The meal was prepared and served by the Home Ec. girls under the direction and supervision of their instructor, Miss Lillie Mae Armstrong. The banquet room was beautifully decorated in the Christmas motif with holly, poinsettias, and candles.

THIRTY NEW MEMBERS

Twenty business men met at the Rotary Hall Tuesday morning at 7:30 for breakfast and to discuss plans for the annual Chamber of Commerce membership drive.

The drive started immediately after breakfast and will last through the rest of this week. Not all business houses or individuals have been contacted but thirty new members have already been added to the roster and representatives have met with the most wholehearted response experienced in the history of the organization.

This is one of the most enthusiastic drives ever held here and indicates great things for the coming year. There seems to be a better spirit of co-operation in evidence and the Chamber of Commerce is building its hope for 100 per cent membership on the strength of that spirit.

The following is a list, to date, of members of the Chamber of Commerce for 1939. This is only a partial list, since not all local institutions and no out-of-town members have yet been contacted. The out-of-town membership includes many head offices who have branch offices here and all other concerns with interests here. A complete roster for 1939 will appear in next week's paper.

Former Burk Couple Announce Birth Of Daughter, Patsy Ruth

The little girl was born Saturday, December 10, and weighed 6 1-2 pounds. Her name is Patsy Ruth.

Devol Students Will Present A Play Friday

Devol High school students will present "Bromide Barbara," a three-act comedy, at the Devol High school auditorium Friday evening, December 16, at 7:30.

Directed by Miss Tandy, the presentation will be the result of several weeks' intensive work and study. Those who have seen it in rehearsal say that it is a sure fire hit.

Ethel Gammill has the title role and those supporting her are: Ruby Willingham, Gladys Sykes, Jimmie Shirley, Jo Ella O'Brien, Jack Carlyle English, Nathan Simmons, Jessie Short, Inez Whitney, Ellora Watson, Conway Tompkins, Neal Bryant, Helen Gregory, and Sam Ellis.

A large crowd is expected to attend and Miss Tandy and her students wish to extend a special invitation to everyone in Burk Burnett to be present.

The children have learned to look forward to this yearly event and a large crowd is expected to be on hand Saturday.

Rattlesnakes, owls and weasels often share the burrows of the American prairie dog.

Scout Executive Speaks Fairview

R. K. Ayers, Field Scout Executive from Wichita Falls, addressed twenty boys and as many men at Fairview Tuesday night. Mr. Ayers explained some of the requirements for rank in the Boy Scouts and urged the boys and their fathers to make every effort to maintain a troop at Fairview.

The Mens' Brotherhood of the Thrift Baptist church is sponsoring the troop and Waid Bogy is Scoutmaster.

He will be here on Sunday. Church announcements appear elsewhere in this issue of the Star.

School Children To Aid In Fight On Tuberculosis

Schools in Burk Burnett and throughout the County will participate in the Christmas Seal Campaign December 13th through the 16th, according to J. S. Mills, chairman of the Bangle Pin Sale.

Christmas seals are sent to every home through the mail. Since 1934 children have not been allowed to sell Christmas Seals. They do their bit by buying the double barred cross, known as the Bangle Pin, which sells for five cents.

It is very important to interest students in the tuberculosis campaign, said Mr. Mills. They represent the group in which lies our greatest hope for control of the disease. By increasing our efforts in this group through more education and through tuberculin testing and X-raying, many breakdowns from tuberculosis can be averted.

Considerably more than half of the deaths from tuberculosis occur in years between fifteen and forty-five and the rate among young women from fifteen to twenty-five is one and a half times that of young men of the same age.

As an incentive to the students, attractive Christmas Seal Window Posters are offered to the room that has a hundred percent sale. The posters are four by five and a half inches with a background of navy blue with a double barred cross in scarlet. They are all ready to stick to the window. When you buy a Bangle Pin, you are doing your part in helping to stamp out tuberculosis, Public Enemy Number One of the youth of our country.

MY IDEAL

A TRIBUTE TO BILLY BARROW
By
Stanford McPherson

"My Ideal" is someone strong and brave,
Someone handsome and someone wise,
Someone who can be happy and yet behave,
And never be in hiding or disguise;

Someone with a love for his Mother,
His Father, his sister, and his brother;
Someone who is upright, loyal and true,
And who is never despondent or blue;

Someone who is polite and chivalrous,
Trustworthy, deserving, and courageous,
Who can bravely face "the crucial hour"
And trust in the Lord's saving power;

Someone who is considerate and nice
And will not stoop to fallacy or vice,
Someone who can walk "the straight and narrow,"
And such a one was Billy Barrow!

THE CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL

This is the season of the year when the children are the most important members of the family. Christmas is essentially the children's holiday.

That is as it should be. To enthrone and do homage to the children on Christmas day is not only commemorating and reverencing the Child who was born of Mary nearly twenty centuries ago, but it is elevating the child of today to his proper place as the future ruler of his country.

In a democracy, where everybody shares equally in the government of all the people, every child is destined to become one of the rulers when we who now share the responsibility have passed on.

In ancient days, when kings ruled by hereditary right, that was not true. The children of the poor and lowly had no place in the Christmas festivities. The sons and daughters of princes alone were regarded as worthy of the gifts of the people.

It took a long time for the spirit of the teachings of Him in whose honor Christmas is celebrated, to gain such possession of the world that over great areas and in the hearts of hundreds of millions His doctrine of the essential equality and brotherhood of all mankind prevails. And where all are equal, the children of the poorest have the same right to share in the gifts of Christmas time as any others.

THE NEW CONGRESS

All the signs point to a lively and interesting session of Congress, when the newly-elected members and the ones who succeeded in being re-elected gather on Capitol Hill.

From any sound point of view it seems to be a good thing that neither of the two great parties has such an overwhelming majority in the House of Representatives that it can ride rough-shod over the minority. It is as true of political parties as of every other human organizations, that they begin to deteriorate when they have undisputed control.

The best tonic for the morale of any party is to have to stand up to a strong opposition. The result is much more likely to approach the liberal, democratic standard of respect for the rights and views of minorities.

There are many important questions to come before the new Congress, on which public and party opinion is sharply divided. The division is not so much over the objectives sought as over the means by which they shall be made effective.

The results of the recent election indicate quite clearly that Democrats and Republicans generally are not very far apart in their ultimate purposes. Both want to ameliorate the condition of the less-favored groups of the people, both want to enable business and industry to put themselves into a position where they can employ more workers at better wages, so far as legislation can help bring that about.

It is too much to expect of human nature, however, that personal, political and partisan motives can be overlooked.

It is to be hoped, however, that the spirit of partisanship will not dominate the discussions over the new program of national defense. Once the people are convinced that our national security is even remotely threatened, there should be complete unanimity on the necessity for strengthening the bulwarks which are to protect America and the American principle from threat or attack by any of the totalitarian powers.

Plant models, for scientific display at the 1939 California World's Fair, will come from France under government bond.

Charles Kullman, internationally famous tenor, was soloist at a Treasure Island concert, fore-runner of many musical programs at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

Thousands of visitors to the 1939 California World's Fair will remain in San Francisco or return later to take up residence in Northern California, after the Exposition ends.

Chrysler's exhibit in the Vacationland Palace at the 1939 California World's Fair, will cover 12,000 square feet.

Opportunity—Jobs
Next time you hear anybody beefing about there being no more opportunities left in America for the ordinary man, tell them about the experience of Morris Kirshenblatt and his three sons. It came out in a legal proceeding in New York a couple of weeks ago, and to me reads like a story of the old pioneer days.

The Kirshenblatts came to this country from Warsaw, Poland, last April. They brought enough money, saved up through years, so that they could put up a bond to guarantee that they would not become public charges. Nobody told them there was not a chance to get a job in America, so in their ignorance they went right ahead and got themselves jobs.

Morris, the father, is working as a watchmaker, for $35 a week. The oldest son, Abraham, has a job at $25 a week. The second son, Jerome, has a $22 job. Henry, eighteen, is on a job which pays $15 a week. The youngest son, David, is only six, so he doesn't contribute anything to the family income, which is now $85 a week.

There is little likelihood of the Kirshenblatts becoming public charges, it seems to me.

Capacity—Skill
To be sure, the Kirshenblatt family brought with them the capacity for work. The father has a special skill which is in demand. I do not know that he has any more skill than American-trained watchmakers have.

I am sure of one thing, however, and that is that the highly skilled craftsman in any line who is willing to work honestly at his trade is not to be found in the ranks of the unemployed. More than one big employer has told me many times during these recent difficult years that he found it impossible to get enough really skilled workers.

I hear many persons kicking about the American system, which they hold responsible for the large number of persons on relief and the general complaint about unemployment. There is nothing wrong with the system—There is a great deal wrong with the widely-propagandized idea that the way to get ahead is to take life easy, work short hours and do no more than enough to get by.

Morris Kirshenblatt and his sons were reared in a different tradition. It used to be the American tradition, first put into words in Poor Richard's Almanac, written by Benjamin Franklin two hundred years ago. In those horse-and-buggy days American boys were taught that hard work and thrift were the keys to success. I think it is still true.

Training—Handicap
I am a bit concerned over that youngest Kirshenblatt boy, David, the six-year old. He is going to grow up as an American citizen, under American laws, go to American schools and in every way live the life that American boys of his age live. But I wonder whether he will have the same opportunity when he grows up that his father and his older brothers have found in America.

Certainly his father, presumably his brothers, began their training for work at a much earlier age than David will be allowed to go to work in America. The European system still apprentices boys of ten or twelve to master craftsmen, so that they begin to learn how to do useful work in the world, how it is done while they are still young enough to learn.

The American idea is to keep boys in school until they are almost grown men, and then turn them loose to start earning a living. The European-trained craftsman has a head start on them. He is a master of his trade when the American boys are just beginning to learn it.

For the genius and the intellectual who will do better in the white-collar occupations or the professions, there is much to be said for the American system. But I cannot help feeling that it handicaps a great many youngsters whose capacity is for the sort of work which does not call for so much schooling as for skill in the use of hands and tools. They are the ones who really create wealth.

Liberty—Equality
One thing the Kirshenblatts found in America, and which little David will grow up to consider the natural state of everybody, is liberty. In the dark and troubled countries of Central Europe, where he came from, few of the people have anything which we of America would call liberty, and none of his race has it at all.

In America David Kirshenblatt will find that the fact that he is a Jew does not put him under any more restraint than his Christian school mates are under. He will not be denied civil and social rights because of his racial strain, he will be free to think as he pleases, speak as he pleases, do as he pleases, so long as he does not break the simple rule that he must not do anything to infringe on the equal right of anybody else to do the same thing. If he doesn't like the government, he can say so as loudly as he pleases and nobody will put him in jail.

We take our liberty so much for granted that we cannot realize what it means to people who come from a country where they have lived in constant fear of the secret police, of being robbed of their possessions by the government, of being denied the right to live and travel where and how they please. Perhaps we need some new blood in America, to help bring back the old ideals of liberty as the most precious thing in the world, the one thing worth dying for.

HOUSE and HOME
by Mary E. Dague
Author of Sister Mary's Kitchen

Have you begun the feeding of the wild birds? Sunflower, hemp and millet seeds are liked by the seed-eaters, while the woodpeckers and some others find suet more to their liking. The birds of the red-bird family will welcome some coarsely cracked corn.

Here is a hearty luncheon dish that is easy to make and very inexpensive. To make a company dish of it pile it on a heat-proof platter, sprinkle thickly with cracked cheese and slide into a hot oven just long enough for the cheese to melt.

Luncheon Rice
Four tablespoons butter, 2 lg. onions, 4 cups canned tomatoes, 1 cup rice, 2 teaspoons salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 2 teaspoons sugar.
Melt butter in heavy frying pan or in the deep-well cooker of an electric range. Add onions, peeled and sliced and cook until onions are a pale straw color. Add tomatoes and seasonings and sprinkle rice evenly over top. Cover and cook slowly for one hour. Do not stir during cooking until rice has absorbed tomato juice. Then it will be necessary to stir occasionally to prevent sticking.

A little thing that means a great deal to the comfort of the entire family is the maintenance of proper humidity throughout the house during cold weather. The addition of proper moisture to the air in the home saves fuel and makes for health.

If you heat with hot air and your furnace is not equipped with modern air conditioning devices it's an easy matter to suspend a small pail in each hot air pipe under the register, then be sure to keep the pail filled with water. Although all old furnaces have a water pan this is usually too small to be effective, so additional moisture is necessary.

Meticulous housewives feel that they must have their houses spic and span for the Christmas holidays. Windows must shine and woodwork and furniture must be polished. Put a tablespoonful of soda in a pail of warm water when washing painted or varnished woodwork and furniture and you will save yourself much time and work.

To keep windows from freezing down tight sprinkle a little salt where the window rests on the sill and the window will open easily.

Good readers of the paper that's published in this county, Texas, is very sorry indeed to say something about that's due, or had done, but he just can't say he would tell a lie. Hawkeye don't be away. It's just the way. It's still as dry as a bone. Indications for any more rain are few. Farmers in this part of the county report that what wheat they have up isn't nothing like half a stand, with the exception of a Mr. Hade Reynolds, who lives south of Randall. He informed Hawkeye that he has almost a perfect stand up but he is needing rain it it bad.

Tobe Hardin and Mrs. Martha Nails motored over to Our Friendly Little City, Burk Burnett, Saturday morning. They picked up Hawkeye on the highway and it sure was appreciated as this old walking gets old.

Late Friday afternoon Mrs. Fletcher Babers received a wire from Heflin, Ala., that her aged mother, Mrs. Hooper, who lives near Heflin, was seriously sick and for her to come at once. So, very early Saturday morning, Mr. Fletcher Babers and his wife and their two sons loaded up just a few belongings and started for Alabama to be at the bedside of her sick mother. Fletcher advised John Ashton that they likely would be gone about three weeks and maybe 4. Fletcher turned his place and all his stock over to his friend John to look after same while he was gone; also advised John if it got to where it was hog killing time, for him to kill his 4 or 5 swine. Mr. and Mrs. Babers' host of friends are hoping that when they arrive at Heflin, that they will find Mrs. Babers' mother much better and that her illness won't prove fatal.

Walker Hatcher, who for the past two years has been farming the Dewey Austin farm on Big Rabbit Creek, informed Hawkeye that he had a three hundred and twenty acre farm rented 9 miles southwest of Iowa Park, Texas, 15 miles out from Wichita Falls on the banks of the Wichita river and will leave for his new location January 1, 1939. Dewey will also move on his own place the 1st. Walker's friends wish him and family all of the prosperity that can be had in their new home for years to come.

At this writing, at 3:25 p. m., it's getting very cloudy back in the north and northwest. It could happen that it may rain, but Hawkeye would rather think that by Monday morning we have one of those things which is called a norther. Hawkeye says he is going to stay pretty close to the big heating stove until he finds out for sure if it's coming.

The big trades day event Saturday was a great success, especially for every kind of business that's in Our Friendly Little City, as every business house was just chock full of shoppers. It seemed to Hawkeye that every shopper was trying to buy more than the other fellow, or the other lady, or boy or girl, as everyone was carrying out of those big stores great arms full of Xmas presents getting to hand them over to old Santa Claus. Over 6,000 people attended the big trades day, as every merchant in the city had a great big cut price on everything they sold, even down to the boot and shoe shiner; they had a cut price from their usual price for their work.

J. E. Wood was transacting business over in Temple, Okla., last Thursday.

One of the most up-to-date automobile salesmen; one of the owners and managers of the finest auto display rooms in Wichita County, Texas, Wiley Browning, motored Hawkeye and his horse collar over home Saturday after the big trades day event in one of those big fine easy riding 1939 Dodge models. Hawkeye just wants to say this about the 1939 Dodge models. It is a pleasure to ride in one of them. Hawkeye, through his Big Rabbit Creek news, takes this method of thanking Brother Wiley very much for his kindness, which is appreciated so very much by Hawkeye.

The housekeeper of Theo Kinaird is on the sick list and has been for several days. It's hoped by her many friends that it will not be but a short while until she will be up and around again.

The Hon. John Blackstone of Burk Burnett, also one of the head fire officials, motored down to Hawkeye's residence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Then they motored over to the Big Rabbit Creek school house where Bro. John gave a fine, instructive demonstration on fire hazards to the Rabbit Creek pupils. We very much appreciated the demonstration. Prof. and Mrs. Killingsworth also express their appreciation for the fine demonstration and lecture.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Christmas Eve In The Market Place

"The market place on Christmas. Things and things for sale, Tinsel baubles, gilded toys Along the Christmas trail. "Jostling crowds of shoppers; Trees of fragrant pine And Douglas firs, silver spruce; A never ending line Of noisy, eager vendors, Cry out their wares; "Whoever buys on Xmas Eve The Xmas blessing shares." "Southern smilax, holly wreaths, Sprigs of mistletoe . . . Everywhere the falling flakes Of starry Christmas snow. Throngs of harried shoppers, Children's eyes aglow, Reminiscent of a Light That shone—long ago. "Vendors in the market place Bid you come and buy . . . There was once a Gift that came, Priceless, from the sky."

Yours very truly,
"Hawkeye" Owens.

THE DOCTOR Tells the Story by W.E. AUGHINBAUGH M.D.

Superstitions
The two seasons which I spent in the Far North with the Eskimoes, studying this race and the diseases to which they were subject, were most interesting and forced me to the belief that no matter where one goes—in the frozen lands or in the tropics—superstition abounds.

The little tots of the Arctic have few toys and once I tried to interest some boys in playing with a string. The women of the tribe promptly took the string from the chubby fingers of my small friends. When I asked why they did this, one of the old men of the tribe explained that if boys played games with strings on their fingers, they might later in life have their bodies become entangled in the line attached to their harpoons, when hunting whales, seals or walrus, and thereby lose their lives.

Years afterwards, I experienced practically the same thing while teaching games to naked babies of a semi-wild tribe of blacks. The strings this time were jerked roughly from the hands of the nude young ones who were scolded. And the man who confiscated them took them to the fire and burned them, after uttering dreadful curses designed to offset the harm I might have caused the children.

The old chief told me through the interpreter that what I had done might, later in life, result in the deaths of these little boys, when they went to hunt game and used either nets or lines to tie them up.

Among some of the semi-nomadic tribes of Northern India and in Afghanistan, where I spent some time, wives of men hunting for game for are strictly prohibited from weaving or spinning on their primitive looms and wheels during the absence of their husbands because the game will be sure to turn and twist and wind about the ravines and gullies of the mountains, like the thread in the hands of the woman. As a result the hunter is sure to miss the beast when he shoots his long barreled gun at it.

In some of the Balkan States and in Southern Russia, during the sessions of the village council, women must stop spinning, otherwise the thoughts of the lawmakers will be twisted about in a circle, and appropriate laws cannot be passed.

All of which forces one to the conclusion that the world is not such a big place after all, because these customs must have originally begun with one tribe and been passed on to others during the intervening centuries.

Two thousand pounds of sausages and 4,000 pancakes were cooked over open-fire bonfires to help raise funds for a monument in Johannesburg, South Africa.

The Old Bell Fill Live Again

Many Burkburnett citizens remember with respect the old Grade school bell that used to call them to school. This bell is a sort of a symbol of the development of education in this town. It was mounted on a wooden tower when the first brick Grade school was built. Later, as the number of students increased, it was mounted on top of the building and it was rung with a long rope from the inside of the building. Still later, there was a need for a larger and better Grade school building so the old buildings were torn down and down with them came the bell. There was no more use for the bell and nowhere to put it. By no means was it forgotten about; the Civitas Club or the Good Citizenship Club of the High school is going to have it mounted on stone in front of the new Grade school building. On the base will be inscribed the name of the school, the officials, and the benefactors. This will be a worthy symbol of our schools.

Civitas Club Has Meeting

The Civitas Club of the Burkburnett High school held a meeting last Thursday. The purpose was to make new plans and to vote in new members. Eleven were voted in; they were: Geneva Campbell, Ray Allen Peavey, Norma Jean Cannon, Daphne Hunn, Helen Justice, E. L. Blum, Stanford McPherson, Evelyn Hash, Jean Thompson, R. H. Henry, and John H. Rigby.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 18th.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made" (John 1:3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is but one creator and one creation. This creation consists of the unfolding of spiritual ideas and their identities, which are embraced in the infinite Mind and forever reflected" (page 502).

Junior News

The Juniors have at last selected their candidates for all-around girl and boy—We announce Miss Ruby Nelle McClure as All Around Girl and Raymond Van Loh as All Around Boy. Vote the Junior ticket and put the best in office.

Trailer

Donald, why should you stand up one of your most beloved friends as Dorothy Schroeder, when we all knew that she was looking for you.

Well, we all see that Irene Van Loh is wearing Don Peed's Senior ring. Yes, pal, don't you feel big?

Say, Marjorie, how does it feel to wear a '39 Junior wristlet?

Well, Raymond Van Loh, we don't guess that you are so bashful after all, because we see that you invited Ruby Nelle McClure to go to that party Saturday night, or did you?

Say, Bonnie, it is better late than never, but next time try to get to the party before nine o'clock.

Well, now Frances Ramming, all of us girls will have to admit that you are cute, but it doesn't look as if the boys would come right out and tell you the same.

What ye say Mary Lois, was it some Fairview boy that attracted so much of your attention that you couldn't play volley ball at all, was it Pug Boyd? No, but it could have been, we think.

Soph News

The Christmas holidays are just ahead. The time between now and the mid-term exams, also is getting shorter and shorter. They are the only thing that dulls the brightness of the holiday spirit, but if we study hard, we should have no fear, and we hope the Sophs won't.

MODERN WOMEN
by EARLENE WHITE
President of The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

Miss Ruth Collins has been called the world's foremost lady jailer. Her realm is the Women's House of Detention, New York.

The Duchess of Atholl, who has been a conservative member of the British Parliament and was Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Education in former Prime Minister Baldwin's government from 1924-1929, has been a visitor in this country. She says that last summer a corps of women were being trained in defense duties with Lady Londonderry as their leader. Many of them are being trained as air pilots.

More than a million and a half women are listed in professional service occupations, according to the Department of Labor. Recent gains have been largely in the traditional women's fields of teaching and nursing. They have also gained in the law, as draftsmen, editors, reporters, college presidents and clergymen.

Frau Alva Myrdal, leader of the co-operative movement in Sweden, says that her country is making headway in placing more women in public office.

Mrs. Joseph E. Goodbar, president of the National Federation of Press Women, suggests that the next time the government takes an unemployment census the word "sex" be omitted.

A woman sky writer is a novelty to many of us at least. Mrs. Walter H. Liebman, an experienced pilot, helped her husband, a candidate for Congress, by calling from the sky to voters to cast their ballots for Liebman.

Nathalia Crane, of Brooklyn, who became a poet at the age of nine, has been made membership secretary of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Science. She is a member of Robert Frost's poetry committee of the International Mark Twain Society and has been invited to join the Elinor Wylie poetry committee. Recently she celebrated her twenty-first birthday.

Castor Bean To Be Raised For Profit

Dr. Henry Miller of Atchinson, Kan., vice-president of the Chemical Foundation of Kansas, who recently checked some experimental plots of castor beans at Texas Technological College, envisioned profitable production of this crop on the South Plains.

"The United States has no commercial production of the castor bean," he explained. "We import about 1,500,000 bushels a year, most of them from Brazil."

Recently discovered use of the bean, which can be grown under irrigation or dry land farming conditions, is conversion to tung oil, used in paints and varnishes. Castor oil is used in making a synthetic cloth, toothbrushes, lubrication for air-plane engines, and numerous other commercial products.

Yields average about 50 bushels per acre, he explained. About 150 gallons of oil and about two tons of stock feed can be pressed from 50 bushels.

It takes about 10 billion pounds of soap a year to keep the world up to its present level of cleanliness. The United States uses nearly one-third of this amount.

During the 17th century gallant young men delivered growing tomato plants to wives or sweethearts as tokens of love.

Approximately $3,000,000 in mutilated currency is sent to the United States treasury in Washington for redemption each year.

A very stout man was walking on the promenade of a seaside town when he noticed a weighing machine with the notice: "I speak your weight."

He put a penny in the slot and stood on the platform. A voice answered: "One at a time, please."

In 1677 Massachusetts bought the claims of the Gorges heirs to the state of Maine for 1,250 English pounds, or today the equivalent of about $6,250.00.

Man's oldest form of cookery—broiling—has been brought to a high point of efficiency in modern gas range ovens. Broiling with the accepted method of live flame, is tested by laboratory scientists with ingenious imitation "steaks" or "toast." These thermocouples must register a high broiling temperature—quickly—before the range is approved.

For example, transmission pipe line is carefully coated and wrapped with cellophane, which guards against corrosion and helps the pipe line give years of trouble-free service.

A special message for you who plan to extend out-of-town Christmas Greetings by telephone...

The Telephone Company feels that many persons, who have been in the habit of calling out-of-town relatives and friends on Christmas Eve, would really prefer to extend their Christmas greetings on Christmas Day. For this reason, we are glad to call your attention to the fact that, again this year, the low night and Sunday Long Distance rates will be in effect all day Christmas.*

To take care of the increased volume of calls, our switchboards will be "manned" to capacity. Even so, there will likely be periods—especially on Christmas Eve—when it will be impossible to put through calls to a few distant cities with normal speed. If you should be one of those inconvenienced by delay, we ask your indulgence in advance.

Thank you—and a very Merry Christmas.

SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

*The low night rates will also be in effect all day Monday, Dec. 26; New Year's Day; and Monday, January 2.

LOWELL THOMAS

He Got a Quarter of a Million Telegrams In Less Than An Hour

The Western Union Telegraph Company a few years ago announced it would send telegrams to Lowell Thomas free. Instantly, the wires all over America began to hum and "Tommy" was deluged with the avalanche of more than a quarter of a million messages in less than sixty minutes.

Lowell Thomas is one of the most extraordinary men I have ever known. He has written so many books he can hardly remember them himself; and he has spoken to four million people, face to face, in more than four thousand audiences in every English-speaking country on the globe.

Week after week, month after month, I saw people in London stand in line for hours—stand in lines that were literally blocks long—to buy tickets to hear Lowell Thomas tell the fascinating story of Allenby's campaign in Palestine and Lawrence's exploits in Arabia.

He has been a gold miner, a cow puncher, a newspaper reporter, an editor, and a college professor! And he has spent years roaming around Europe, Asia, Africa, Alaska, Australia, and the islands of the Seven Seas. He toured India with the Prince of Wales and was one of the first Americans ever to be given permission to enter the wild country of Afghanistan.

He formerly taught Public Speaking at Princeton University, and he is now probably the best known speaker living. He not only broadcasts the day's news to millions of listeners in America, but his voice encircles the globe.

He has an apartment at the swanky Waldorf-Astoria, in New York; but he would infinitely rather spend his time on his three-hundred-acre farm up in the Berkshire Hills, in Dutchess County, seventy miles north of New York City.

Getting back to the farm every night is almost a passion with him. He finishes his broadcast in Radio City at seven o'clock sharp. The last train for his home leaves the Grand Central Station five minutes later. Dash as fast as he can, through the city's traffic, he can't quite make it. So the New York Central Railroad has issued an order that the seven-five train must not pull out until Lowell Thomas is aboard. A round trip of one hundred and forty miles a day is the price he pays to spend the night and the next forenoon at "Clover Brook Farm."

He is paid five hundred dollars a night for speaking in public; yet he doesn't talk much in private. He prefers to listen to other people talk.

I have often seen him, on a winter evening, stretch out on the floor in front of the fireplace with his dogs, and lie there for hours, staring into the flames, without saying a word.

If you ever visit his farm, don't look for him in the cow barn. You are much more likely to find him diving in the swimming pool, monkeying around his mink and fitch and fox pens, fooling with "Nudist," his black bear, or riding a horse.

He is one of the busiest men I have ever known, and yet he never seems to be in a hurry. He is always calm and relaxed. For example, I remember one winter day when I was at his farm and we had to catch an early train to New York. We figured we had just seven minutes in which to eat breakfast, and the rest of us were in a nervous hurry; but "Tommy" calmly strolled into the dining room and wanted to build a fire in the fireplace so he could look at it while he was eating.

Lowell Thomas is perhaps the only man in the world who learned to fly an airplane before he learned to drive an automobile.

Texas Tech Ranks High In Enrollment

Fifty of 648 colleges and universities listed in the Journal of American Association of Collegiate Registrars, recently published, had more students enrolled year than Texas Technological College. Of these, only 17 were state schools. Tech's enrollment of 3,494 ranked second among 37 technological schools, Texas A. and M. college having the largest number with 5,192.

Nine largest institutions listed were New York University, Columbia University, Ohio State University, University of California, University of Illinois, University of Michigan, University of Washington, Wayne University and University of Texas.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

Wonder if the golden-voiced tenor is still in Nuevo Laredo? He went to Spain and sang in opera at Madrid but pined for his native land and returned to Mexico. He used to be in evidence a few years ago around the night spots in the city across the river from Laredo. We were introduced by a mutual friend and, upon request, he sang. The melody was "La Paloma" and, at the first notes, the dancers quit dancing to listen. Afterward, he accepted a glass of wine.

Much has been appearing in the papers these last few weeks about freight rates that discriminate against Texas. Judge Ralph Yarbrough of Austin "pioneered" in bringing this unfair situation to the attention of Texans. Away back last spring, in opening his campaign for Attorney General at Tyler, Yarbrough declared: "It costs more to ship a box of manufactured goods from Texas to the North and East than it does to ship the same box of goods from the North and East to Texas. Conversely, it costs more to ship raw materials into Texas than it does to ship them out of Texas." Is it any wonder that the industrial development of our State has been retarded?

One by one, the landmarks disappear. A narrow, dingy office building on Fort Worth's Main Street recently was renovated and, in the process, a sign that had been on one of the upper windows was removed. It marked the former offices of an oil company that was organized with scores of others—in the midst of the high hopes of the big Deadend boom. Hogtown long since has relapsed into its ancient calm and the company passed into oblivion long, long ago but the sign lingered. Passersby who invested were reminded no doubt of what "might have been."

Olin Cooper, mechanical genius of Rising Star, has spent three years in building an "animated theatre." Forty-five thousand bits of wood (187 varieties from 27 countries) were used along with material salvaged from typewriters, threshing machines, row-binders, baby beds and other contrivances.

The theatre is seven feet high, the same width and nearly four feet deep, inlaid with landscape pictures and embellished with carvings, scrollwork and molding. Eighty-five little electric lights flood the theatre and, when a button is pushed, the curtains slowly part, disclosing a stage with 25 little figures (including an orchestra). The entertainers play instruments, sing and dance. Cooper even composed the music that is played. He gained fame, some years ago, with his "Twelve Apostles Clock."

Every now and then, Jefferson receives tidings of a former citizen, M. L. Baugh, who set out, years back, to see the world, taking a guitar and a pushcart along. He has walked 20,000 miles visiting 43 states, and is now on his way to New York City to attend the opening of the world's fair next June. He sleeps in the cart and earns his living by playing on the guitar.

Xmas Seals Bring Light Into Many Blighted Lives

"How far that little candle throws its beams" . . . This well known speech of Jessica's in Romeo and Juliet well applies to the theme on the 1938 Christmas Seal. And the second line may be changed to read: "So shines this little symbol for a healthier world."

The pleasant custom of lighting a candle in the window on Christmas Eve has come down through the ages and the mother with her two children on this year's Seal links that seasonal ritual with the idea of family and home. The message of the Seal is, "Protect your home from tuberculosis." To carry out the suggestion of earlier days the three characters are costumed in the formal style of the Victorian Era.

The health situation in those days, however, was in a sorry state. That is why it is well to realize, as we buy and use our 1938 Christmas Seals, that we are living in an age when modern methods and intelligent co-operation have completely revolutionized health conditions in our country. In the middle nineteenth century, for example, people did not even know that tuberculosis was contagious. Although Dr. Robert Koch, a German physician, had discovered the germ that causes the disease in 1882, it was many years before the public learned the way infection spreads. In homes of those days any one who had consumption was doomed to death—he was kept indoors and watched over resignedly by his sorrowing family. When other members broke down with the "wasting sickness" they never realized that they had been infected by the coughing victim—they believed tuberculosis was inherited. The treatment prescribed then by the best physicians was exercise or an ocean voyage, plus many tonics.

In 1884 Dr. Edward L. Trudeau established modern sanatorium treatment of tuberculosis in this country and rest became recognized as all-important. Today we have advanced still further and through the tuberculin test and X-ray are able to detect tuberculosis in its early stages, when cure in most cases may be effected.

We are privileged indeed to be living in this healthier world. The death rate from tuberculosis, for years the leading cause of death, has been cut more than two-thirds since the turn of the century. Each year finds the public better informed in the need for prevention. Yet tuberculosis still takes more lives than any other sickness during the ages between 15 and 45. Until that important group of people have been protected, the educational work of the Christmas Seal must be continued.

Texas Chairman For Jackson Day

Marion S. Church of Dallas, prominent Texas attorney, has been appointed State Chairman for the Texas Jackson Day celebration for 1939. The state-wide Jackson Day dinner will be held in Dallas Saturday night, January 7, and Democrats from all sections of the state will attend. Announcement of the appointment of Mr. Church was made by State Democratic Chairman E. B. Germany. Mr. Church, who was born and reared in McKinney, Texas, is former president of the A. & M. alumni. He took his law degree at the University of Texas and later served as assistant district attorney and city attorney in Dallas. In the World War Mr. Church was lieutenant colonel of the Tenth Texas Infantry. A lifelong Democrat, he has been for years active in the party's state and national organization. He has opened Jackson Day headquarters at the Hotel Adolphus.

The little candle on the 1938 Christmas Seal throws its beams far out into the world. To those who are ill with tuberculosis it offers hope, encouragement. To others, it stands as the beacon of happy, healthful homes—homes free of tuberculosis.

Ft. Worth Att'y. Named Director Lubbock Tech

Mark McGee, Fort Worth attorney and former adjutant general of Texas, takes the first oath of office in Texas that omits the phrase, "I have never fought a duel—or acted as a second—or sent or accepted a challenge to fight a duel." He was appointed director of Texas Technological College last week by Gov. James V. Allred to fill the post left open when Clifford B. Jones was elected president of the College. West Texan by birth and training, he served as county attorney of Brown county for two years, soon after being graduated from University of Texas in 1910. He became adjutant general under Governor Miramonte in 1925, and was state commander of the Mexican Legion. In 1933, he was elected legal representative of Texas Public Works board.

Farmer (as he met a farmer on the road).—So, a mule with distemper, ye give that one of yours, he had it?

Si—Turpentine. Giddap. A week later they met a Si, I gave my mule turpentine and it killed him. Si—Killed mine too. Giddap.

Peebles—Didn't I see you arrive home yesterday? I thought she had gone for good. Peebles—Yes, she said she was first married. But I sent her a copy of a local newspaper with one in it.

anniversary celebration. Rev. C. M. Beyer of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Wichita Falls, was the principal speaker on the occasion. A close friend of Kaiser and long co-worker in the Northwest Texas territory, Beyer reviewed the Clara pastor's work.

From the congregation Kaiser received a substantial fund, a "gift of silver." A scroll citing his various achievements and signed by members of the congregation was also bestowed upon him by Alex Klinkerman, president of the congregation.

Brief tributes were given by Mrs. Arthur Evert, president of the ladies' aid; Alvin Muller, president of the Walther League, and E. A. Birkman, president of the men's class. Walter Koch, parochial teacher at Clara, prepared the scroll.

A social hour followed the tribute service.

It is in the field of young people's work particularly that Kaiser has made an outstanding record. After graduating from the Concordia Theological seminary at St. Louis Mo., in 1913, Kaiser received a call to Albany, Texas. Three years later he became pastor of the Clara congregation.

At present he is field secretary for the North Texas division of the Walther League. He is also a member of the publicity board of the Texas district of the Lutheran church, Missouri synod. For three years he was a member of the executive board of the Texas district of the Walther League.

"He has been successful in every way," Beyer summed up. "And as all leaders of the church realize, youth work is the most important division of our service. He has had abounding fulfillment of that ministerial objective."

Rev. and Mrs. Kaiser have three children, a married daughter, Mrs. Arthur Ramming of Clara; Donald Kaiser, now attending Winfield college at Winfield, Kansas, and a younger son in the Clara schools.

Study Club Had Xmas Party

Mrs. O. C. Wills and Mrs. Lee Clifton entertained on Wednesday, December 14, at the home of Mrs. Wills in honor of the University Study Club.

The house was lovely with Christmas decorations, featuring a Christmas tree from which the members received gifts.

In a short business session the club voted to sponsor the local unit of Campfire Girls.

Mrs. C. J. Duncan reviewed a Christmas story and Norris Bingham sang several Christmas carols. He was accompanied by Sadie Beth Tevis who also accompanied songs by the club.

Jean Wills played a piano solo and accompanied group songs.

Miss Helen January directed students from her Home Ec classes in serving the meal, which was prepared by the P-T A.

Mrs. Morris Strong was chairman of the decoration committee and was assisted by students and teachers in the primary art department. Decorations featured the Christmas motif and were entirely in blue and silver. They were declared to be probably the most effective ever used here.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
SNAPSHOT PARTIES

Humorous pictures—such as a series of a man eating a squirly grapefruit—provide fun at a snapshot party. Arrange such a party for your fellow camera fans.

WHENEVER snapshotters get together, the season is ripe then for a snapshot party. Such a party is a splendid entertainment idea—whether its intention is serious picture-taking or just plain snapshot fun.

The party can take two forms. Guests can be sent out on a "picture-hunt"—each one assigned to bring back snapshots of a certain type. Or, a room can be fitted up with a few photo lights at the host's home, and each guest given a picture idea to illustrate.

Guests should be told to bring their cameras, loaded with suitable film. Since most parties will be held at night, the preferred film is one of the new high speed "super" type. The host should also obtain a few simple exposure guides, to assist guests who have not had much experience in taking night pictures.

For a picture hunt, one guest can be assigned to picture street scenes; another can picture shop windows, and another can take snaps of electric signs. Brightly-lighted subjects without movement should be chosen, since outdoors at night short time exposures will be necessary with most cameras. Though if any of the guests have ultra-fast-lens cameras, give them stiffer assignments.

For an "at home" party, a list of picture-titles should be prepared. Humorous titles or assignments are preferable, and guests can serve as models for each picture. One person could be assigned to picture a characterization of Napoleon. Another could picture an Indian climbing a mountain, and a third might be told to portray a dachshund viewing a skyscraper. The more outlandish the titles, the more room they leave for the picture-taker's imagination—and the more fun he will have arranging his picture.

Properly, snapshot parties should be planned as a series—each member of a group holding one. Then, pictures taken at one party could be exhibited at the next. Such a party series can provide entertainment all season for a group of camera fans—and it would be a delightful project for a camera club.
