AL SCHOOLS TO WELCOME COUNTY CONTESTANTS FRIDAY--SATURDAY

Starts Campaign Against House Peddlers and Solicitors

Asks to Make Sure Solicitors Have Endorsement

Board of commerce has started an intensive campaign being waged against house to house peddlers and solicitors.

The wish of the chamber is to exclude legislation of this type, but with the aid of all business housewives, house owners and promoters the same can be eliminated.

A chamber of commerce merchants' committee has been authorized to pass on all such solicitations and everyone is asked to make sure that solicitors have the full endorsement of the chamber before buying or subscribing to any such publications. Such action is being taken to protect the certain benefit of the community.

It has been stated by representatives of the chamber of commerce that the organization will cooperate with churches and other organizations to contact the business community, but strictly against the organization to campaign conducted by those who will reap the benefits.

It is hoped that the organization will serve themselves and the community more ably by first seeking the profit of the chamber of commerce.

It is always the best policy to keep the above in mind when dealing with such matters.

A. R. Hill and Frank Kelley Announce For Council.

No Places Contested

Two elections will be held in Burkburnett the first week in April as the city council members are offered for re-election. No one has announced for school trustees but in all probability the two present incumbents will offer for re-election.

A. R. Hill and Frank Kelley are the two who seek re-election on the council. These two members have served the city for the past several years, and Mr. Hill is mayor at this time.

The lack of opposition is causing very little interest and a very light poll is expected.

Prize Fighter 'Makes Good' On Golf Course Too

Beaner Garland's renowned prize ring wallop stood him in good stead in a match against Bowie Danforth on the local golf course Wednesday morning.

Teeing off for No. 7, Beaner took a vicious swipe at his Spaulding "Par-Flite," which rose to the occasion, figuratively and literally, by sinking into the cup for the third hole-in-one in the history of the course.

Number seven is a three par hole, 135 yards. The other hole-in-one shots on record were made by Leo Foster and Walter Bohner on No. 7 and 8.

Cooper Farmers Staged Rabbit Drive Tuesday

Approximately 150 men from Burkburnett, Wichita Falls and area joined with farmers of the Cooper community Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock to open what proved to be one of the most successful rabbit drives ever staged in that area.

The drive covered an area of several thousand acres and thousands of rabbits were killed.

All drivers stopped for lunch at the Swinford home where sandwiches, cake, pie and coffee had been prepared. The drive was resumed after lunch and stopped only when the light became too dim to go on.

J. L. Huffines, prominent farmer of the Cooper community, sponsored the drive.

City Sponsors Burkettes For 1939 Season

Riley Patterson's S. O. S. of last week really got results. The Burkettes will put out their best this year for the City of Burkburnett.

The girls held workouts Monday and Wednesday and, to date, 24 girls have showed up for practice. There is only one fly in their ointment; their little cotton-topped shortstop hasn't been able to show up for practice yet, but everyone is hoping she will be out next week.

The girls say they are ready to get started this year, and are willing to take any one on for a practice game right now.

"Jesse James" is coming.

ROTARY GOOD-WILL BUILDER

When we see those of our fellow townsmen who meet every week in the Rotary club, some of us may not realize that the club to which they belong in our community is part of a world-wide movement with clubs in nearly every country on the face of the earth. The appeal which brings our local Rotarians together each week is universal. This is proved forcibly by the fact that Crown Prince Frederik of Denmark, now on his way to the United States, is one of many of the world's prominent men who are active members of their local Rotary clubs. Crown Prince Frederik is an active member of the Rotary Club of Copenhagen, Denmark, with the classification "Government Administration."

Rotary believes that world understanding begins with the individual. Men of influence locally, nationally, and internationally, after they accept the principles of understanding for which Rotary stands, can contribute to the solution of many of today's problems locally, nationally, and internationally. As our local Rotary club meets, 205,000 men in 5,000 similar clubs are meeting in 87 countries or geographic divisions of the world.

Thus is our community a link in a world-wide chain, and thus are the Rotarians of our community adding their bit to the furthering of a universal movement. Who can prophesy the harvest which future generations may reap from the good will being sowed by today's Rotarians?

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS

His Sailors Were Afraid of Falling Off the Edge of the Earth

On every 12th of October we celebrate one of the most important events in our history, the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus.

As a boy in school, Columbus had studied a book by Pythagoras, who taught that the world was round. So Columbus got an idea. He figured out that, if it was round, he could find a short cut to India; and that would make him a fortune.

But the learned professors and philosophers, in the universities laughed at his silly idea.

They told him that the world was not round, but flat; and they warned that he would be committing suicide; that his ship would sail to the edge of the world and then tumble off into unending space.

For seventeen years, Columbus tried to get someone to finance his adventure. Finally, he was ready to give up in despair; and he retired to a monastery in Spain to end his days. He wasn't quite fifty years old then, but he had had so much trouble and so much heartbreak that his red hair had become snow white.

Finally, the Pope in Rome urged Queen Isabella of Spain to help Columbus. So the Queen sent him sixty-five dollars and Columbus, being in rags, bought a new suit of clothes and a donkey and set out to see the Queen. He was so poor, he had to beg for his food on the way.

The Queen gave him the ships that he needed, but he found it almost impossible to get a crew. Everyone was afraid to go. So he went down to the waterfront and boldly seized some sailors and forced them to go. He begged and bribed and threatened others. He even took criminals out of jails, and offered them their freedom if they would go.

Finally, everything was in readiness; and one-half hour before sunrise, on Friday, August 3, 1492, Columbus with his three ships and eighty men, set out on one of the most important and epoch-making journeys in the history of the world.

The colonies that Columbus founded in the new world met with nothing but disappointment and disaster. All the people in the first colony were murdered by the Indians. The Governor of the second colony was so jealous

Burkburnett . . . History

As revealed by the files of The Star 10 years ago.

One of the biggest Legion celebrations ever staged in Northwest Texas was conducted by the Oscar Frye Post of Burkburnett Friday night when over 300 Legionnaires, their wives, and the Boy Scouts gathered at the Legion Home to celebrate the organization's tenth anniversary.

Four Burkburnett merchants cashed checks for an unknown man Saturday. The checks, four in number, were all written on the First National Bank in the same hand writing, but different names were signed. The same man appeared here several months ago and floated several worthless checks. Both times he used the name of E. H. Owens on some of the checks.

W. D. Barrow, S. A. M. Cooper, G. R. Kincaid, and P. B. Browning filed their names as candidates for the offices of City Commissioner Thursday afternoon. A. G. Barton, J. A. Moore, W. W. Chambers, and J. F. Kelley have announced for the school board election.

Chief of Police Bill Garland was brought home last Friday from the hospital in Wichita Falls where he was carried after he had been hit by a "hi-jacker" car and knocked from the Red River free bridge Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lewallen, Miss Nancy Dunn and Miss Connie Mullins reported what appeared to be a hijacking party to officer Gilbow Sunday evening. The officer accompanied the Lewallens to the spot about two miles north of town where a bunch of boys were apprehended scaring motorists for the joke.

Vignettes of

BURKBURNETT BUSINESS INSTITUTIONS

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Articles of Association were written for the First National Bank of Burkburnett on May 15, 1907. Capital stock was $25,000.00. The Articles of Association appointed J. A. Kemp, W. E. Thomas, H. D. Creath, J. G. Hardin, J. Markowitz, A. Newby, and Frank Kell directors.

J. A. Kemp was elected president and J. G. Hardin served as active vice president.

In 1909 J. G. Hardin was elected president and retained that office until 1931 when he resigned for the reason that he was convinced that younger men could more ably serve the community.

In June, 1913, lots one and two, block 39, were purchased and the erection of the present building began. The new building was rushed to be ready for the increasing business in the fall.

On Jan. 13, 1914, it was voted to increase the capital stock $25,000.

I. E. Harwell was elected vice president on April 1917, and served in that capacity until 1931 when he was elected president.

In August of 1917, Mr. Harwell was instructed to buy the first Burroughs posting machines ever used in the bank for the bookkeepers.

In 1918, during the height of the oil boom, a second story was added to the bank building to meet the demand for office space, which was at a premium in those days.

The First National Bank has survived all the trials and tribulations which come to a small town bank and has gone hand in hand with the best interests of this community for almost 32 years.

At present, its total assets amount to $372,773.92. Six people are employed regularly to attend to the bank's business. Present officers are: I. E. Harwell, president; L. L. Harris, vice president; A. R. Hill, vice president; F. H. Harwell, cashier; and Eddie Young, assistant cashier.

Andes Walk, Inca Place and Pacific Promenade are names of streets at the Golden Gate International Exposition.

of Columbus that he accused him of all sorts of crimes, and had him arrested and sent back to Spain in chains. To be sure, he was turned loose as soon as he reached Spain, but the chagrin and disappointment of it broke his heart.

Columbus had accomplished one of the most amazing and courageous feats in history. And yet what did he get out of it? He had expected to make a fortune, and he died a pauper. He had been promised the title of "Admiral of the Ocean and Viceroy of India."

Yet he got no title whatever. The continent that he discovered was not even named for him. It was named for the maker of maps, Amerigo Vespucci.

However, Columbus has received one "break." He is given credit for being the first man to discover America, when he wasn't at all.

A thousand years before Columbus was born, Ho-Shin, a Buddhist monk from China, discovered America; and then 500 years before Columbus was born, a Norseman by the name of Leif Ericson, discovered it again, and you can still see what historians believe are the ruins of the houses that Leif Ericson built on the banks of the Charles River in Massachusetts.

Senior B T U Held Annual Banquet At Baptist Church Tuesday Evening

"Wells" was the subject of a humorous discourse by W. B. Teal at the annual spring banquet of the Senior B. T. U. held at the First Baptist church Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Teal stated that as spring comes, so comes the romantic urge, and he cited examples of the strange and often ludicrous things which love leads people to do. His subject was chosen from the record of a great many Biblical character's having met their future wives "at the well."

Opening the banquet program, M. S. Dean, sponsor of the organization, gave the invocation and Miss Margaret Russell, B. T. U. president and toastmistress for the occasion, introduced the following numbers: A group sing-song led by Miss Louise Kent; a short talk by Gladys Pinkston on the subject of "Accomplishments of the Senior B. T. U.;" and a five minute discussion of "The Future Goal of B. T. U.;" by Robert Mowery.

Miss Margaret Mathews presented the award for Bible reading to Miss Gladys Pinkston.

Louise Kent sang "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," accompanied by Mary Ruth Cooper, and led the group in another sing-song.

Benediction was pronounced by M. S. Dean.

Great bowls of fruit blossoms, true heralds of the spring, decorated the long table. Green candles in silver holders furnished light for the affair. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Dean, W. B. Teal and 21 members of the B. T. U.

In the story of the Lions club annual Easter egg hunt which appeared in last week's issue of the Star, the statement was made that "no children under 12 years of age" would be allowed to attend. The sentence should have read, "No children over 12 years of age will be allowed to attend."

We wish to especially thank Rev. and Mrs. Charles Thomas for their presence and spiritual guidance during our sadness.

Fairview P-T A Elected Officers

At a regular business meeting on Monday evening at the Fairview High school, officers were elected by the Fairview P-T. A. for the coming year.

New officers are: Mrs. Tom Williams, president; Mrs. L. B. Horr, vice president; Mrs. Louis Hough, secretary; Mrs. J. O. Roberts, treasurer. These new officers, together with Mrs. L. W. Forqueran and Mrs. Y. C. Paschall, were selected as official delegates to the district P-T. A. meeting in Electra April 18 and 19.

The meeting was opened by Rev. G. W. Bales who led in prayer. The Boy Scouts gave a very realistic demonstration of "Around the Campfire." The stage was set with trees, shrubs, and other properties to resemble an outdoor camp.

Besides giving an interesting program, the boys prepared "chow" which was served to the audience. The scoutmaster, Waid Bogy, was assisted by Bennett Cooksey and Mr. Todd.

Three visual education films were shown by Mr. Henderson: "A Game Hunt in Africa," "A Dog Show," and "The Songs of Carrie Jacobs Bond."

It isn't the heat nor the humidity nor the way the neighbors borrow when they throw a party that gets us down, but that, "I am holier than thou," spirit one political party takes toward another.

Electra took two titles and Fairview and Valley View split the other half of the league with a championship each. Electra defeated Fairview 11 to 10 in an extra inning game in the high school division. The Electra High school girls defeated Iowa Park, 46 to 31. The Fairview Grade school boys defeated Burkburnett 12 to 10 and the Valley View grade school girls defeated Burkburnett 21 to 17, which gave Hardin school two second places to go with the four wins in tennis.

Public Support Urged
Burkburnett is host city to the meet every three years. Special effort has been made by local authorities to conduct the meet efficiently and smoothly, serving the best interests of all contestants and keeping the spectator interest at a high pitch. Few people realize that in the annual county meet they are privileged to witness a series of events as colorful and appealing as the yearly pageantry of football. Everyone in Burkburnett is invited to attend the meet this year. The directors feel that these meets are very important to the participants and the encouragement and support of the local citizenry will aid very greatly in making a successful meet.

Local Scout Drive
For Funds Raised

According to Jingle Hayes, local finance chairman of the Boy Scout organization, district 11, of Burkburnett, practically everyone in this community has been contacted and enough money has been raised to finance the club for the fiscal year. Mr. Hayes has worked diligently raising this money and he is to be commended upon the completion of this work. A complete list of the subscribers and amounts subscribed will appear next week.

Wichita Falls, Iowa Park, Electra, Vernon, Chillicothe and Burkburnett. Delegations from the local club have made special visits to each of the other clubs in the zone to invite them to the meet.

Mr. Wood has been blind himself since childhood. The Hardin school choral singers, directed by Miss Ethyle Virginia Allen, and accompanied by Dorothy Browning, sang several numbers. Lewis Fulks was presented in a group of songs and piano selections. He was accompanied by Miss Blanche Butler. The program was in charge of Millard Fulks and Lee Clifton. Dr. I. D. Russell was reinstated as a member and L. L. Harris and Gordon Thomas were visitors.

Barbara Dell Morgan, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Morgan, died at a local hospital Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Funeral services were held from the Owens & Brunley chapel in Burkburnett Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Miles B. Hays, Baptist pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Rosemont cemetery in Wichita Falls.

Survivors include the parents, two sisters, Jo Ella and Patricia Ann Morgan, and the grandparents, Mrs. Lila Morgan of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Ed Williams of Burkburnett.

Noted Flier Killed In Crash Brother Burkburnett Man

Alonso Cope, veteran flier noted for his rescue flights, whose wrecked plane was found by an Alaskan prospector on Grand Island last week, was a brother of Sam Cope of Burkburnett.

Cope lived in Wichita Falls at one time, having been employed as a mechanic by the Sinclair Oil & Gas company. He received training as a flier in the World War, during which he saw active service. In 1924 he left Wichita Falls to take up commercial flying for the Pan-American company from Brownsville to Panama.

The plane in which he was killed was on a flight from Ketchikan to Juneau, Alaska.

"Trade At Home" Slogan Of 1921

It seems that people have always discussed the "trade at home" angle. In 1921 the Devol Review sponsored a contest for letter writers on the subject of "Why I Trade at Home."

The winning letter was written by O. S. Wilson, who still lives at Devol and who still adheres to the tenets set forth in the following, which appeared in the Devol Review on July 28, 1921:

"I trade at home because: It helps to build up your own town.

It leaves the money at home. It makes more friends at home.

If a man sets in trouble he has more friends to help him out.

It gives him a better credit at home.

He has the benefit of the goods as soon as he buys them.

He can see what he is buying. He gets a better line of goods. Not so apt to get swindled.

It saves buying stamps and paper.

It makes a man feel more like going to town.

If every one went abroad for everything we would have no town.

In buying clothing you have a chance to try them on and see how they fit.

Any merchant is always ready to accommodate a customer.

If you ask a question you are more sure to get an answer.

If you have boys and girls growing up you might want employment for them.

If you want anything quick you can 'phone in and have it sent out on the mail.

In case of sickness an order would be too slow; you might be dead before it came back.

If you buy anything of value at home you always get a nice present with it.

There is no danger of your money getting lost.

Buying at home there is no danger of its getting held up on the railroad.

A man don't always have the money. At home he don't have to have the money.

If you order, half the time you don't get what you order.

It encourages the merchant to try to get a better your produce.

It gives the merchant a chance to get a better your produce.

These are my reasons why I want to trade at home.

C. O. Wilson

 The Juniors asked for a little diversion last week. We wonder just what they mean—umh—If they want some excitement, we can furnish it.

Our speech class is rapidly turning into a dramatic club. We are soon to present a series of one act plays. You know our talent—don't miss them.

The picture work for the annual is finished. That gives us a little more time to catch up on our sleep in the study hall. Maybe we can enliven the dormant stage around school, to some extent.

Girls' Sport News
 Our tennis girls attended the county meet Saturday, but unfortunately they were defeated. Also our girls' soft-ball team failed to find home base.

Although these meets are over, the usual spring sports of baseball and tennis will probably dominate the field of athletics for the girls, while the boys busily prepare for the track events which occur next Saturday in Burkburnett.

Big Rabbit Creek

March 19, 1939

A. T. Postelwaite, a prosperous farmer of the Valley View neighborhood departed Saturday from his home for Blackborn, Okla., to be with his dear old mother to help her celebrate her 92 birthday. She was 92 years old Saturday, March 18, 1939. It's hoped by Bro. Postelwaite's host of friends that his mother will live to the 100th milestone or longer.

The sad news arrived in the Rabbit Creek community of the passing of Mrs. Ed Wilkins, the sister-in-law of W. R. Elkins who lives in the Rabbit Creek community. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Elkins were living in Waurika, when she passed away Friday night. She passed away from the cause of appendicitis as the appendix burst, so Hawkeye was advised. 12 or 13 years ago Mr. and Mrs. Ed Elkins lived in our neighborhood. When they moved to Oklahoma City they left a host of friends and relatives behind in their neighborhood. The entire Big Rabbit Creek and Valley View communities, both neighborhoods, extend their heartfelt sympathies to the husband, sons and daughters and all other relatives on the losing of the beloved wife. May God console and comfort those who are left behind in the losing of the dear mother and wife. She was laid to rest Saturday afternoon at Waurika, Okla.

You know, folks, that last Tuesday and night, we had another one of them things that's called sandstorms, that was almost as bad as the bearcat which we had last Saturday at 4:10 p. m., March 11. That was the worst sandstorm since March 21, 1919.

At this writing, the wind and sand down in this neighborhood is blowing a regular hurricane. The sand, dirt, and dust is something awful, as the wind is blowing from the southwest causing what underground season we had to evaporate fast.

As tomorrow, Monday, the 20, is when the sun (alias Ole Sol) crosses the equator, you may look for a storm of some kind, either a big rain and wind storm, maybe a norther, or it could be one of them things like we had on the 11th.

Some few have already planted corn 10 days past, but it isn't up yet. The majority of the old clodhoppers will wait till after the 20th—about Wednesday.

Hawkeye will plant their spuds Monday; will set out 500 Bermuda onion sets; plant half a gallon of English peas, and a big bed of mustard and lettuce. That is just a small boy's job when it comes to making a garden for Hawkeye.

The Owens family's new landlord, O. H. Darter, who purchased the W. H. Martin farm over a week ago, came down with his carpenter so he could take his observations of the amount that will have to be done to make a nice place to live, as O. H. is a live wire. He believes in fixing up a farm, especially the improvements. In a few weeks he and the carpenters will have the things shining like a cat's eye under a bed of a dark night.

Tobe Hardir, Mrs. Martha Nails, her son Charlie, motored up to Randlett Sunday morning to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Harris and family, also to partake of a big birthday dinner that was served at 12:30 sharp in honor of Mrs. Nails, as her birthday was Saturday, the 18th. There were over 60 friends besides the Harris family who partook of the grand dinner, which consisted of fried chicken, fish, roast pork and roast beef. Two long tables were set to seat the big crowd. After the grand birthday dinner was served, different games were played up to late in the evening when everyone started for home, wishing Mrs. Nails many more such birthday dinners. Mrs. Nails received many nice birthday presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Kinnaird's son, Arnold, who for several months past has had almost a nervous breakdown, so last Friday his mother, Mrs. Willie, took their son up to Grandfield, and placed him in the Grandfield hospital, under the care of their old friend and family physician, Dr. Fuqua. Arland will remain in the hospital a week or so; maybe a month, before Dr. Fuqua will send him home cured.

You know, folks, that the head officials of the big trades day event for every Saturday surely did arrange everything mighty nice Saturday, as the big trades day event was postponed from the last Saturday on account of the big sandstorm. Everything was very satisfactory to the public.

The nice talk of over 30 minutes duration which the Hon. J. R. Sullivan delivered at 2:45 p. m. at C. H. Parker's corner Saturday in Our Friendly Little

City in behalf of the Texas state governor, W. Lee O'Daniel's inaugural speech, which brother Sullivan attended in Austin, the state's capitol. It was interesting to over 3,000 people who heard his nice talk, as he outlined everything as he saw it. Brother Sullivan is an able speaker over the megaphone.

A big play party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Lamberneck's daughters in their home Saturday night. Over 75 young people, boys and girls, attended the party. Games of all kinds were played up to a late hour before the party was over, when everybody left for their places of abode and everyone had just a fine time and enjoyed themselves fine.

Jean Hatcher, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Hatcher, spent Sunday and served a fine Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dillbeck and family.

Keble Jones called on the Owens family Sunday morning and while with the family.

The funeral, was over in Our Friendly Little City Saturday, arriving at 11:28 a. m. and remained till 4:45 p. m. He accompanied Mrs. Jess Kinnaird and his children over to the city. By 3:55 p. m. over 5,000 cars were parked on all streets and by 4:30 p. m. at least 6,000 people were on the streets and in all of the business places shopping.
