Bulldogs Go to Chillicothe to Play; Wildcats Most Powerful Team In Years

Burkburnett Bulldogs wound up their week's training yesterday afternoon without adding any more injuries to the already large list and will leave here Friday about noon for Chillicothe where they will engage the Wildcats that night in what promises to be the best game of the season with the winner probably marching on to the 9-A conference.

Since the opening of the season the Eagles have been having things pretty much their own way, and are making their first championship bid in a number of years.

However, the Bulldogs are out to win the district and they blasted the hopes of the Crowell Wildcats two weeks ago when they won a score of 20-7. Last week they rolled up a lopsided score of 32 to 6 against the Holiday Eagles.

Even the most casual glance at the district 9-A standings this week reveals something grossly out of place. What is Crowell doing down there in the dampness of the second division?

The Wildcats got their record of two games lost and none won by playing Burkburnett and Chillicothe in successive weeks. They are eliminated from consideration as a title contender. And the two teams that whipped them are in the driver's seat though casting uneasy glances at Seymour and Iowa Park.

Thus, the game this week at Chillicothe, between the Eagles and the Bulldogs bids fair to settle the championship race right off the bat. At any rate, the winner of the game will be favored to take the rest of its opposition.

Available comparisons give Burkburnett an edge in the contest. Their smooth-running attack which is almost entirely dependent on Back Page

Stores Asked To Close At 6 P. M. For Game

Also the buying public is urged to cooperate with the merchants and do your shopping early. Don't forget! Shop early so you too, can attend the game and at the same time you will be doing the employees of the stores a favor by allowing them to attend this most important game of the season.

Shotgun Blast Takes Life Of Charlie Reed

By Hawkeye Owens

Mr. Charlie Reed, 48, who has lived near the Taylor store since the opening of the Big Pasture, committed suicide Sunday night at 8 p. m., with a 410 gauge shotgun. For several months, or years, Mr. Reed has been going to Wichita Falls to have his eyes treated by an eye specialist. His last trip to the specialist was one day last week. The doctor advised Charlie that he had done all he could do to save his sight but it was all in vain, as he was likely to lose his eyesight at any day, or hour, in both eyes. He came home and seemed to be cheerful as usual.

Sunday night several of his friends gathered in to have a social game of checkers and "42." Charlie was sitting in one game, so Hawkeye was informed, when all at once he got up and walked outdoors on the front porch and shot himself in the right breast. He lived till a few minutes after 11 o'clock and then passed over the River to that World better than this one. He left to mourn his passing, his wife, two grown sons and one married daughter, Mrs. Grace Darter, who lives near Taylor store.

His remains were laid to rest in the Randlett-Fairview cemetery, Monday afternoon about 3:30. Hawkeye is unable to state the minister who officiated.

Charlie Reed will be missed in the Taylor store neighborhood by his host of friends, especially his wife and family. He was a devoted husband and father. May God bless and comfort the ones who are left behind will be Hawkeye's nightly prayer. "The departed; the departed! They visit us in dreams. They flit about our memories. Like sunshine over the streams."

Band Uniforms To Arrive in Time For Game Friday

The school band will be in full uniform for the football game Friday night, according to the latest information, which is to the effect that the uniforms will arrive Friday morning.

The uniforms were purchased with funds raised by subscription of local business houses and individuals. The committee, appointed by the chamber of commerce, which contacted subscribers, deserves especial credit for their untiring efforts in this cause.

This committee, composed of H. S. Grace, chairman, Wiley Brownning, and W. S. Duval, raised $420 of the $670 needed to buy the uniforms. They conferred with school officials who agreed to join the chamber of commerce in underwriting the rest of the debt, for which a note was made.

These men, the organization they represent, and the local townspeople are to be complimented upon the manner in which they cooperated to accomplish a much needed project which is bound to bring credit and honor to the community.

"DON'T DRAG YOUR FEET, GET ON THE BAND WAGON"

If you were to ask 50 different residents of our town the question, "What is the matter with Burkburnett?" you would get just about the same number of divergent answers with none of them very near the truth. The real trouble is not with Burkburnett but lies with the people that live in it and who are making their living off of the other residents of the town and from the community at large.

It would be difficult to find a town in the whole northwest that is more favorably located and has more natural advantages than does our little city. We have a regular county seat trade area and practically all the other essentials that are necessary for the building of a good-sized town. Additional proof that Burkburnett is favorably located is from the fact that it has shown less decline during the ten or more years of the depression than most any other small town in the country. This fact cannot be laid to the constructive efforts of the residents, since no aggressiveness has been shown within that time.

With the possession of all natural advantages for the upbuilding of the town, why do we not profit by our assets? It is not from lack of good citizens—we have some of the best people any town ever had—but more from lack of teamwork and harmonious spirit of cooperation. We have too many firms who are trying to operate on the plan of a country crossroads store. Actually many of our merchants are afraid of progress. They seem to think progress is something that would hurt business, when the real facts are that some of us are going to wake up after it is too late to find a new, progressive competitor arrived on the scene who will put us out of business. It is the sad truth that our people appear to be much better organized in disorganization than they are in harmonious action.

Without serious doubt, the year 1940 will see the turning point in Burk's career. Are we going to direct the trend upward or are we going to drop into oblivion? Let's gear into the forward movement that is beginning to take shape here now and by concerted action and loyal cooperation with the men who have the vision to do the things that have to be done, assist in making one of the best towns in the northwest. If you have been luke-warm in community spirit, forget your petty jealousies and stop your foolish bickerings. Take hold of the old "bandwagon," either by pushing or pulling and help get it over the crest. If you just will not lend your efforts in the forward movement and are one of those kind that always pile on for a free ride, for goodness sakes, don't drag your feet.

Eagle Claws Not Sharp Enough For Burk Bulldogs

The Burkburnett Bulldogs rolled over the Holiday Eagles 32 to 6 here Thursday night with the second string Dogs playing the greater part of the game. Coach Hill's rough and rugged Bulldogs rolled up a 20 to 0 lead in the first quarter before retiring Freddie Brown and company.

After a scoreless second period the Bulldogs struck again, but when Holiday struck back with an aerial attack that netted a touchdown Hill rushed back the regular for another quick touchdown. After that the reserves held the lead through a scoreless 4th period.

Levi Garrett, plunging fullback of the Bulldogs, came through in a big way to add his punch to that of Freddie Brown, the spark-plug of the Bulldog backfield, and the pair marched gayly in the first period.

Halloween Grows Up—It's Noisy But Safe

Since Halloween has "grown up," police chiefs write "No depredations" and "No property damage" on their records with amazing frequency following the night's celebrations. Even greased trolley tracks, flat tires, and shattered street lamps, faint echoes from the "good old days," are on the way out. But don't imagine, asserts an article in the current Rotarian Magazine, that your modern youngsters have less rascality in them than on Halloween nights of yore. It is rather that these energies are being better directed.

"The boisterous old spirit is still there, but Rotary clubs and other groups of grown-ups have led it into ball parks, armories, coliseums, and moving-picture theaters to release it there in real sport that spares persons and property. The police like the idea. So do the householders. But best of all, the kids like it," the article assures us.

Halloween programs differ from town to town, but here are some typical examples from "no damage" cities. In North Chicago, Illinois, the Rotarians take over the city auditorium and in the basement they stage more than a dozen boxing matches, while on the floor above a dance and informal games are in progress.

At Calexico, California, a service club stages a "mirth-quake." It consists of a costume parade, field contests, and free tickets to a theater. Sheridan, Wyoming, reverses the order, starting their affair with an afternoon movie and ending up with refreshments in the evening. Civic organizations cooperate.

In Cheboygan, Michigan, the mischief makers are kept within bounds with a fast-moving program which includes a parade, a bonfire, a pie-eating contest, and a dance.

And so it goes. There's just as much energy used, just as much noise made, and just as many spooks haunting the streets, but no one gets hurt, the front gate is safe, and everybody has lots of fun.

Prorating Petroleum

Texas does not need federal control of her oil fields. But Texas does need a wisely and fairly administered system of proration which does not seek to reward special interests or friends or to punish any foes.

It has been said that one out of every nine businesses in the State, is a business that has something to do with oil which is rated as the leading industry of the State.

This fact should be responsible in such a way that the public generally would become aroused to its protection against the encroachments of Washington and the necessity at the same time, of curtailing waste and too hasty methods of production.

Haphazard and unfair consideration to the all important matter of conservation of our natural resources can only work toward one end—the most disastrous—the destroying of our greatest heritage.

Of course, there should be in Texas, as well as in all petroleum producing states, cooperation with every industry, that the internal economy of the country may be made as strong as possible. It is a measure of National protection to keep it strong.

Burkburnett History

As revealed by the files of The Star 10 years ago.

A gas explosion in the Corner Drug Store Thursday afternoon about 1:30, shattered glass in showcases and windows, damaged merchandise and fixtures, and slightly injured two persons. A match struck by Ferris Smith, clerk in the drug store, who was searching for a gas leak, caused the explosion which was so great that Dr. H. S. Van Cleave, whose office is over the store, was thrown from his chair. A. H. Lohofener, owner of the store, and Ferris Smith suffered slight burns.

Dr. and Mrs. I. D. Russel returned Wednesday from Evergreen, Ala., and Florida where they have visited for the past three weeks.

Mesdames W. R. Hill, H. A.

Brooks, and Dudley Ellis are expected home today. They were delegates to the State Convention of Federated clubs at Mineral Wells.

The County Council Parent-Teacher Association held its first quarterly meeting of the year at the Fairview School, Thursday, November 14.

F. R. Knauth, county commissioner from this precinct was presented a certificate which designated him the most worthy citizen in the community in 1938 by the American Legion in a meeting held in the Legion hall last Friday night.

Billy Ashlock, who has been dangerously ill for several days, has been reported as better.

Mother's Night

CORA M. SILVIUS

"Oh, I couldn't go that night. You see, that's mother's night."

I looked at the speaker; she was one of a group of schoolgirls. "I could go any night but Tuesday and Saturday; those nights belong to Mother and Father."

"What do you know about that?" was the surprised response of one girl. "I'm glad my mother doesn't make me stay at home two nights a week."

"Oh, but Father and Mother do not make me stay at home. We often go out. But we all do what they choose on those nights."

Being curious I started out to investigate this girl and her home. I found the family consisted of the father, mother, 12-year-old Peggy, Roddy, who was eight, Betty, the youngest, and a grandmother.

The wise parents had decided one evening a week to each of the family.

On Monday both parents devoted the evening to their eldest daughter. Perhaps they took her to a concert, for she was very fond of music, or they might invite some interesting person for dinner—it would always be someone Peggy herself had selected. At another time, Peggy and her parents would assist in entertaining them. It was Peggy's night.

On Tuesday, which was mother's night, Grandmother always took charge of little Betty. No matter what came up Peggy allowed nothing to interfere with Tuesdays. Her friends had learned this and respected her for her refusal to break her rule. On these evenings food shows, fashion shows, or art exhibits were often visited. In the summer Peggy sometimes arranged a picnic supper. Occasionally Father would read aloud from a recent book. But whatever was done it was the result of Mother's choice, and all members of the family, to the extent their ages would permit, took part in it. Thursday was Roddy's night. He was a member of a club—"gang" he called it. Every other week the boys met at his home. What marvelous times they had! It was unanimously agreed that Roddy's father and mother were "O.K." Often the group merely did the club work and then played games; sometimes an entertainer was brought in; occasionally they had a fudge party and told stories.

Friday was Betty's night, and although she went to bed at her regular early hour, how she did enjoy the attention paid to her wishes! Sometimes Mother would help her sew for her dolls, and Father would make furniture for her doll house. At another time she would want assistance in making scrapbooks to take to the hospital. She was always ready with her plans, and often a long story appealed to her more strongly than anything else.

Saturday night was the best of all; that was Father's night, and what surprises he did spring on them! Father seemed to have a great many friends who were especially jolly people. Once a steel mill was visited, and at another time they looked through a large telescope at the stars. Invitations to come and see or hear or learn something of value were constantly being received.

But I didn't tell you about Wednesday night; that was Grandmother's night. And she was such a dear! She was always so willing to exchange evenings with someone else if there was any reason at all for it. Though if Mother and Father knew, in time, that she already had made definite plans of her own for that evening, one or the other made strenuous objections to the sacrifice. Often it took hard work and firmness on the part of both of them to prevent it. Such is the way with grandmothers!

"Through the kindergarten we try to teach young children correct social attitudes. This naturally includes having the proper respect for the rights and opinions of other people. Children should be trained early to understand where their own privileges cease and where the rights of others begin."—S. D. Copeland, Superintendent of schools, Augusta, Georgia.

From The High Chair To The Electric Chair

By O. D. Dial, Minister, Church of Christ, Burkburnett

Solomon said, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." Prov. 22:6. Again, Prov. 13:24. "He that spareth his rod hateth his son; but he that loveth him chasteneth him betimes."

In this great democracy, tolerance is practiced, mercy is extended, charity is performed, and forgiveness is demonstrated. This is well and good, but it should never be followed to the neglect of department. When we consider that fact that we have the greatest civilization and the greatest nation on earth, and often called a Christian nation, the following statistics are alarming. J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, gives the following figures: "Our annual crime bill is $15,000,000,000, or about $120 for every man, woman and child. This represents 400 per cent more than we spend annually for education. It equals our annual food bill." He says, "Every 22 seconds a serious crime is committed in our supposedly civilized land. Every day from dawn to dawn, 33 of our citizens are murdered. Last year 1,500,000 serious crimes were committed and 13,000,000 lesser crimes. There are in America today more than three and one-half times more criminals than there are students in our colleges and universities. For every school teacher in America today there are nearly four and one-half criminals. Of these criminals, 12 per cent of the murderers, 28 per cent of the robbers, 24 per cent of the rapists, and 52 per cent of the automobile thieves were under 21 years of age."

These cold, cruel facts are alarming. Something is wrong, somewhere. It is enough to cause serious thinking parents to shudder and quake with fear.

After years of research and study, the truth is revealed and the blame is placed in the proper place. Note the following quotation from Mr. Hoover:

"It exists largely because of a lack of discipline. Thirty million homes hold the solution. If the younger generation is properly trained and the example is set properly before it, the safety of tomorrow is secured—the course is from the high chair. It is up to the parents to see that the end is not the electric chair."

The Word of God taught these principals many centuries ago.

The first commandment promise was to children, fathers and mothers must themselves in such a way to command the honor of their children, both in respect and obey their Parent, if they expect their children to respect and obey the faith and obedience.

Paul gives us the solution, Eph. 6:4. Fathers provoke not your wrath; but bring the nurture and admonition of the Lord." Fathers and mothers you not train up your child the way he should go, by proper example before being a Christian? You have the influence of child to lead him in the should go. Will you not a true Christian and be the high chair to save you from the electric chair?

Public Welfare Director, Adam R. Johnson has received notice that a state-sponsored program, assuring nearly 6,000,000 school lunches for destitute children this year, will be put into operation; and that more than $1,216,430 has been allotted under the project to supply free school lunches to Texas children. Local sponsors contributions in each school will be made by the schools themselves, the entire program to be handled and administered through co-operation of the relief division of the public welfare board and WPA Texas officials. This means that approximately $1,000,000 will be expended for hungry and undernourished and underprivileged Texas boys and girls.

Another bit of interesting information is contained in the announcement that the Texas allotment of $887,987 has been made for the continued program of canning surplus food in the chain relief administration canneries over the state.

An outstanding event of the month of September was the annual Granger Corn Festival which glorified corn and paraded Central Texas beauties as an added attraction and which was held the 27th and 28th of the month.

Whether or not Governor O'Daniel will call a special session of the Texas Legislature is still a major subject of discussion, with his followers standing pat on the assertion that he will not.

The Governor has suggested that voluntary contributions to a pension fund be freely and generously given through the proper channels in the form of a loan. Many relatives of aged Texas fathers and mothers have been making such contributions as loving gifts all through the years.

Waste continues to be a crime of the present day civilization in this country. Texans need to return to the customs of their forefathers. There was a time when parents would protect a $200 organ or a $500 piano as a sacred thing, not allowing their children to finger the keys except under strict supervision. Now autos costing a thousand dollars or more are allowed to stand in all kinds of weather or be driven by youths in their teens at break-neck speed down main street at all hours.

Fine Feathers Make Fine Hats—The sky's the limit in the new fall hat styles—and that's no pun. If window displays in the smart stores mean anything, men are going to be very much a feathered species this winter. Practically all the new felts have feather decorations. These doodads range from tiny feathers that are barely visible to sizeable plumes. One that we saw had a complete wing, perched—a bit giddily, we must admit!—over the left ear.

DEVOL SCHOOL NEWS

The Juniors will be in charge of the next assembly which will be presented in the Devol auditorium, Oct. 27.

The fifth and sixth grades had charge of the assembly program presented last Friday. It was under the direction of Mr. Tanner and everyone enjoyed every bit of the program.

The Freshman class is planning a Halloween party to be given early next week.

The Senior class is really proud of their rings that they received last week.

The Junior and Senior quartette is learning some new songs. We Wonder Why? . . . Jerry's letters do not come as often as they used to? Nelma seems so happy lately? Freda has been so happy all week? Louise was so happy last Friday night? Hugh and Don go to Burk so much? Blanche invited a certain boy to the party last Friday night? Eva Lou seemed so sad Sunday afternoon and then changed to Sunday night. It couldn't have been a certain Chevrolet salesman? Joy was so happy Sunday night? Gladys enjoys buying picture frames? Ruth just wouldn't know who attended the party last Friday night?

The rental plan for instruments has been largely responsible for the interest being taken by students in the campaign. A total of 25 prospective bandmen is practically assured. If you plan to join the band please get in touch with the director in the next two weeks as classes will start just as soon as the new instruments arrive.

County Enjoys Taxpaying Rush

Wichita county tax collections for October may near the $250,000 mark and it appears certain the general fund will be "out of the red" when that fund's tax receipts for October reach County Treasurer Tom McHam some time in November.

During October, 1938, Wichita county took in a total of $8,323.98 in state, county and other current levies. This was approximately half of the collections for Friday, Oct. 13, 1939, which amounted to $16,208.50.

The reason for this change is that taxpayers this year receive a 3 per cent discount on current state and county levies paid on or before Nov. 2.

Taxpayers, both large and small are taking advantage of this discount. Jim Robinson, county tax assessor and collector, Saturday predicted October collections would exceed $200,000 and might be near the quarter million dollar mark.

He expects $100,000 collection of county taxes. As the general fund receives 45.5 cents from each county tax dollar, this would provide sufficient money to much more than bring the general fund "out of the red." Last year that fund maintained a deficit until February.

Poll tax payments are slow, totaling approximately 250 to date. No discount is allowed on poll payments.

On basis of a $200,000 October collection, taxpayers would save $6,000 through the discount.

Taxpayers have been free in their comments on the discount to tax department clerks and these statements explain the big October rush. A typical remark follows:

"In the past years I have paid school and city taxes early and let you fellows wait until January. But this year I am going to let them wait and save the discount."

(Hosea 13:14) "The Lesson-Sermon includes the following: 'Science and Health by the Scriptures' by M. Eddy: 'If it is true lives, this fact can be in Science to the opprobrium that man dies. Achievement Day Observed By County Clubs

Accomplished programs of women's home demonstration clubs in Wichita county for the past year were revealed Wednesday to district and county agents who made one of the annual achievement day tours to view the work of Hardin, Barwise, Enterprise and Sunshine Hill clubs.

Miss Ruth Farquhar, county home demonstration agent; Miss Vida Moore, district agent; G. R. McNeil, county farm agent, Mrs. Margaret Marrs, supervisor of the resettlement administration and J. A. Seefeld, district agent, were accompanied on the tour by Oral Jones, vice president of the City National bank of Wichita Falls and key banker for this area.

Forty members of the clubs and their guests met at the home of Mrs. A. A. Evert near Burkburnett at nine o'clock Wednesday morning. There they found handicraft representative of Hardin club on display. Prominent among the displays were three all woolen blankets which were woven from wool sheared from sheep owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Knuth. The blankets are beautifully woven in solid colors of blue, rose and green and cost only $1.00 each.

The homes of Mrs. J. C. Muller, A. E. Birkman, and C. B. Kiesling, all members of the Hardin club, were visited after the Evert home. Other members of the four clubs joined the tour all along the way so that at the end of the tour at least one hundred were present.

Luncheon was held at Mrs. W. J. Flippin's bake shop near Electra. Mrs. Flippin is a member of the Enterprise club. The 4H club girls of Enterprise entertained at luncheon with a short program. Club members joined in the singing.

The homes of Mrs. L. H. Klinkerman, Mrs. E. W. Dillard, and Mrs. L. D. Smith were visited in the afternoon. Members of the Hardin club announced that they have tufting thread for sale in white and colors. Anyone interested in buying was asked to contact Mrs. J. J. Blackstone in Burkburnett.

The two district agents eloquently commended the work done during the past year in this county.

Mrs. Milford Was Hostess To Circle No. 1 Monday

Circle No. 1 of the Baptist W. M. U. met in the home of Mrs. F. M. Milford Monday afternoon for Bible study. Mrs. O. L. Clark was teacher.

The meeting was opened with song and Mrs. Will Teal led in prayer. Mrs. G. W. Ferguson read the First Psalm as the devotional.

Mrs. J. L. Coats, personal service chairman, gave a report on the box which was given to one of the Circle members.

The benevolence chairman, Mrs. E. H. Logan, urged each Circle member to remember the box to be packed for the Orphan's home in November.

The Circle voted to visit and send cards to all new members before Monday, October 23rd.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Will Teal on Monday at 2 o'clock. Those present were Mesdames O. L. Clark, Will Teal, Burl Simpkins, E. H. Logan, Ted Smith, Martha Pinkston, J. L. Coats, L. E. Bundy, G. W. Ferguson, Murphy Dear and F. M. Milford.

Study Club Heard Review Of "Mr. Emmanuel"

Members of the University club were guests of Mrs. A. R. Bunting at her home Wednesday afternoon, October 18.

Following a brief business session, Mr. P. G. Williamson reviewed "Mr. Emmanuel," latest novel of the brilliant Louis Golding who wrote "Magnolia Street." "Mr. Emmanuel" deals with the situation in Germany during the 'Jewish Purge' and members were deeply impressed with Mrs. Williamson's graphic review of this unforgettable story.

Mrs. R. H. Henry was welcomed to the club as a new member and Mrs. B. N. Cauthorn was a guest.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. J. H. Davis on November 1st and will be on Child Welfare.

A lovely refreshment plate was served to Mesdames J. H. Davis, Jesse Hageman, W. R. Hill, O. B. Jordan, George Kerr, L. N. Peyton, H. W. Prinzing, G. C. Pryor, J. H. Rigby, P. A. Wiggins, P. G. Williamson, R. H. Henry, B. N. Cauthorn and the hostess.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

Friendliness, as we all have often heard, costs nothing, yet it can sometimes mean far more to the other fellow than you might imagine.

Some time ago, this observer recognized an acquaintance on the other side of the street and raised a hand in greeting. He walked across and said, "You aren't ashamed to admit that you know me, then?" In reply to my perplexed question, he told of being sued because of a business disagreement. A man of sensitive and imaginative nature, he felt that the world was against him—a feeling that would have been deepened and darkened if I had spoken perfunctorily or if my own problems or the sun shining in my eyes had caused me not to see him.

He went up the street with a smile lightening up his face. Incidentally, when the matter came to trial, the whole case was found to have been based on a grudge and he won.

Don't be stingy with cheery greetings and handshakes.

It is amazing that our quest for old jokes took so long to unearth this one:

Smith—They've quit sending mail to Washington.
Jones—Why?
Smith—He's dead.

Equally ancient is this:

HALLOWE'EN PICTURES

A box-camera could get this, with high speed film, one small "flood" bulb inside pumpkin, snapshot exposure. Try some like it this Halloween!

HALLOWE'EN, with its parties, decorations, and grotesque masquerades, offers fine opportunity for weird, unusual pictures. And these are easy—it's mostly just a matter of placing your photo bulbs, to obtain a novel lighting effect.

Ordinarily, photo bulbs are placed at the subject's eye level, or above. But for weird effects, you place them low—so that the light shines upward into the subject's face. It's a simple trick, but it produces surprising results.

Try this idea in a jack-o'-lantern shot, such as the one above. Use just one small No. 1 flood bulb inside the pumpkin, at a distance of two feet from the subject's face. For box cameras load with high speed film, of course, and open to the largest lens aperture. For finer cameras and high speed film, set the shutter for 1/25 second and lens aperture at f/11. Incidentally, see that the photo bulb does not touch the wet

The end of the world was predicted for the oil industry by some not exactly unbiased prophets during the 1938 campaign if the people insisted on taking control of the State Railroad Commission out of the hands of Colonel Ernest O. Thompson. But the voters went ahead and exercised their own judgment and elected Jerry Sadler, anyhow. The doleful prophets, slow to become reconciled to the will of the majority, kept up their dismal forecasts for a while; but, strange to relate, the oil industry has gone right on—if anything, just a little more stable than before. Commissioner Sadler has had to put in a good deal of his time in court where some companies have attacked pronation orders issued during the Thompson regime and some of those orders have been lambasted by the courts; nevertheless, Sadler—working with Chairman Lon A. Smith—has labored successfully not only for the welfare of the oil men themselves but to protect the great stake which the mass of the people—who have neither the time nor the money to go to Austin—have in this vast industry.

Big Rabbit Creek

Last Sunday night, week ago, a nice little rain of one-half inch fell all over this part of Big Rabbit Creek neighborhood and the Red River bottom. This rain was needed very badly to enable the grain growers to sow their wheat and fall oats for which it is believed that there is enough moisture in the ground to bring up the wheat and oats. Of course, if there isn't enough rain to follow up this last little rain, the wheat and oats will soon die out.

Hawkeye and his wife, Mrs. Ed Owens, and Winnie June Martin, motored up to the county seat Monday to transact some business arriving back home that evening.

Fletcher Babers is one of the busiest farmers in the Big Rabbit Creek neighborhood as he arose Saturday morning ahead of the cock crow, loaded up six of his big fine fat hogs in his trailer and took them down to the packing house this side of Wichita Falls, came back home and loaded up 2,000 pounds of cotton, took it over to the gin and ginned it off besides having a slight break down with his trailer. He did all of this work before 10:45 a. m. That's some juggling around for one morning's work, don't you think so? If it hadn't been for his good helper Fletcher would have baled out with his hired men and baled a hundred bales or more of cane hay before dinner, but she just talked him out of the notion of doing two days' work in less than a half day.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins, who live over in Temple, Okla., motored over to the Big Rabbit Creek community Sunday morning and spent the day with his son and daughter-in-law and their single son. The Wilkins brothers are chopping wood for Dewey Austin.

Last Friday afternoon while Charlie Griffin, who is farming the Indian lease near the Big Rabbit Creek school house was working on top of his windmill doing some repair work, he got overbalanced and fell to the ground, a distance of about 20 feet. TEXAS OUT-O'-DOORS

Austin, Oct. 18—White winged doves, apparently headed for destruction a few years ago, have beat it back to such an extent that it is estimated 4,000 hunters took more than 50,000 in one county the first week of the open season, according to reports received by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission's executive secretary.

White-winged doves are in excellent shape throughout South and Southwest Texas and Willacy county's report of 50,000 birds being killed in two days is an excellent example of the sport in Texas this year. White wings provide more difficult shooting than mourning doves. Airplanes, motor cars and trains are carrying large parties into Southwest and South Texas. The season remains open there until November 15.

Grand juries throughout the state, conscious of the increasing interest in the preservation and propagation of Texas' game and fish, are cooperating with the Game department to a higher degree than ever before. The latest action taken was by a grand jury at Groesbeck, which instructed officers in that area to cooperate with the department in preventing dynamiting of fish. Constable J. C. Clayton has all his forces assisting in game and fish law enforcement.

Judges, too, realizing that game law enforcement, as well as propagation work, is vitally important if Texas is to continue to be one of the leading hunting and fishing states in the union, are handing out stiff sentences and fines for violations. Ten non-resident hunters recently paid $50 each in Cass county. Two Bexar county men were each fined $75 for illegally importing game into Texas. A Knox county man found it cost him $100 to serve elk meat out of season.

It is not definitely known how fast doves can fly, but one was killed near Dalhart recently while traveling at such an amazing speed rate that when it catapulted to the ground its breast was split open.

A mother quail has been trying for weeks in McMullen county to regain a banty chick it hatched along with several bobwhites. The quail nested three yards from the front porch of a house on the Byrne Ranch. She hatched a bantam chick and nine quail and then left the nest with her brood with five eggs unhatched.

When the owner of the ranch found the bantam chick would not follow its foster parent he took it to the house to raise. Every day since then the mother quail has come up to the edge of the porch, calling and fussing, trying to regain what she considered her chick.

Texas is leading the entire nation in game restoration work through use of Pittman-Robertson federal funds, J. Paul Miller of Washington, D. C., biologist in charge of research for P. R. projects, said while in Texas recently.

Five states, Missouri, Oklahoma, Oregon, Virginia and Mississippi, are following the Texas plan of operation in some form or another and indications are a dozen more will be using the Texas program with a few months the executive secretary of the game department said.

"The entire nation is watching Texas' game restoration program," Mr. Miller said. "It has grown so rapidly along the right lines and has produced such good results that we can expect many other states to adopt the Lone Star State's program soon."

A Beaumont woman recently found killing birds with a 22 rifle for the purpose of feeding her cat rather expensive. Apprehended by the game warden stationed at Beaumont on a county road, the woman admitted she was shooting birds to provide food for her cat. She also admitted that the $36 in fine and costs she paid would have bought a lot of cat food from the grocer or butcher. She was violating three laws at one time, i.e. shooting from a motor car, shooting from a public road, and killing birds protected by State law.

ent on Fred Brown's running, subdued Crowell, 20 to 7, while Chillicothe last week had to be content (and very content at that) with a 7-6 verdict over the Wildcats.

Morrison, if he recovers from his injury that kept him out of uniform during the Crowell game Hopkins, Davis, Scrubbs and Johnson all have shared prominently in the Eagle's ground-gaining.

A factor of the outcome will be the stiff Chillicothe schedule, which placed Throckmorton, Crowell and Burkburnett in consecutive order at the start of the campaign.

The Seymour Panthers, who have lost only to Stamford of district 10-A this season, remain prominent in the race. They beat Throckmorton last week by a larger score than Chillicothe managed, 24 to 13, and this week they have an open date, as does Crowell.

Iowa Park in the limelight since Carl McKinnon started his galloping, will tackle its hardest opposition thus far when entertaining Throckmorton Greyhounds. The Hawks are undefeated in the conference.

Unlikely to affect the pennant race, the well-matched game between Holliday and Archer City at Archer City will draw much interest. For the first time in several years, both elevens are able to play all comers on something like an even footing with Archer City probably the most improved.

Baptist Training School Attracts Many Students

The training school for teachers and officers of the Sunday school department being conducted at the First Baptist church opened with an enrollment of fifty-seven Monday night, according to the Rev. Miles B. Hays, who is conducting one of the three classes.

He also stated that the enrollment increases nightly and is expected to be much larger before the week is over.

It was voted Monday night to lengthen the study period each evening so that the required time may be finished one day earlier, thus allowing those who wish to attend the football game Friday night. This concession was made in a spirit of cooperation with the local school and the football team.

Mrs. Miles B. Hays is conducting a class in the study of "Art of Teaching Intermediates"; Mrs. W. L. Walker is instructing a class on "Guiding Primaries"; and the Rev. Hays is teaching from a book called "The Church Using Its Sunday School."

Ruth SS Class Notes

Members of the Ruth class of the First Baptist church enjoyed an interesting talk Sunday given by Miss Margaret Turner on the subject: "Choosing Life's Principles."

Miss Grace Harding will speak to the class next Sunday. Mrs. J. D. Terrell of Austin, a former member of the class, was present.

Mrs. Carver, teacher of the class, expressed herself as being

Mrs. A. Dodson Honored By Friends

Mrs. A. Dodson was surprised by her friends and neighbors on Wednesday evening with a flower shower. The occasion was her birthday and the celebration of the completion of a lovely little conservatory which her husband has had built for her.

Forty guests gathered at the Dodson home with bulbs, pot plants, cuttings, etc., to fill the shelves of the conservatory.

The hostess rose brilliantly to the occasion, in spite of her surprise, with a last minute preparation of delicious refreshments of cake and coffee.
