Who Is Essential?

Each local draft board is a unit within itself. For this reason, inequality of selection is noticeable throughout the nation. Of course, there is the state appeal board but nine times out of ten, it upholds local decisions for the simple reason that lawfully it has no authority over local boards. It can merely suggest but that does not mean that boards must rigidly conform to such suggestions.

Recently a scale for farm draft deferment was handed to local selective boards, having as its basis war units in production requirements. The number of crop acres, livestock, poultry and dairy cattle to a certain scale being the chief requirements for an essential farmer. Now this scale has been lowered from sixteen war units to eight units of essential war production. This as it stands is all very well except that, "local boards are not required" to use this particular guide. They may formulate one of their own or make variations as they see fit." It is almost certain that particularly all draft boards will use this as their guide but should they see otherwise, this would be the excuse for their inequality in draft deferment decisions. Mr. Someone in "What" county may be producing a combination of products equal to eight units and his board considers him essential while Mr. Someone in "Where" county may be producing according to Mr. Someone, yet his board may have formulated a higher scale guide of their own, making Somebody non-essential. This is an example showing the inequality that may develop from such an approach toward farm draft deferments.

This situation can be equally unfair toward even local draft boards. It puts them too much in a spot any way you look at it. Perhaps the fault lies in the fact that there is no other body or head over their decisions. Such a unit would tend to equalize minimum and maximum requirements. The placing of the selective service system under the WMC apparently did not lessen the power of local boards as a unit. This business of being all around fair and just, especially in the job of selective service is ticklish business and for this reason, measures effecting equality and inequality should be recognized in Washington. At least, they should be more directive and informative.

Simplified Income Tax

Pay-as-you-go tax plans can not be as simplified as they would at first seem. Instead, their details may mean "one of the worst headaches we ever had." For one thing, the pay-as-you-go plan definitely insures a steady stream into the national treasury. As a rule the lower income group has their money spent practically the day they receive their pay check so by March there certainly isn't enough for an income tax. Pay-as-you-go means that this group would not be continually swamped under back income taxes and it means too, that by such a plan the United States treasury would not suffer loss from the "can't pay" groups.

But the "headache" will come in fitting details universally. Pay-as-you-go is simple for the regular wage earner but who is going to subtract the wage earner's employer's salary? The farmer's income cannot be sliced in a simplified manner every time he sells a calf or a load of produce. There is the matter of depreciations, exemptions and so on that have to be computed and a general per cent that takes these things into consideration certainly is bound to run into difficulties.

Washington will do well to have a workable pay-as-you-go plan into effect by midsummer. It is far from a simple plan when you regard facts that must be taken into consideration—but the government must have revenue and ways and means to devise such a treasury income must be worked. You may be sure someone will have a good thumping headache before or after the plan goes into effect.

Tragic Comedy

If the people of this country really wanted to control inflation, they could do so.

The country is faced with rising prices. Why? Read the headlines in the daily newspapers of a single day. A million and a quarter railway workers demand further wage increases. One faction of shipyard G bgn figzsfign wage increases. Hundreds of thousands of coal miners demand additional wage increases. One faction of shipyard workers announce they will withdraw their "no strike for the duration" agreement if a National Labor Relations Board decision favors another labor action. And then, labor leaders call on the President to reduce the cost of living.

They all blame the farmer who is short of machinery, short of farm labor, unable to pay war wages, but charged for everything he buys on a war-wage scale.

Can the result be other than higher prices instead of lower? The situation would be comical if it were not tragic.

Unless we, as individuals and collective groups within the nation, show less greed and more love for our country, it is a total waste of time to talk about controlling inflation—no power on earth can stop it, until the explosion comes.

Burkburnett . . . . History

As revealed by the files of The Star 10 and 20 years ago.

10 YEARS AGO—

Members of the Civic Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday night to make plans for the beautification of Burk Burnett with J. M. Thomas, chairman, in charge.

Burkburnett Star today is moving its quarters to 407 Avenue C next door to the City Hall and will be settled in a few days in its new location. This change will place the firm in the business center of town and will be much more convenient.

A banquet to celebrate the organization of a Rotary Club in Burk Burnett in 1922 will be given Thursday night of next week at the Methodist church. Rotarians will be honor guests and have charge of the program.

Mrs. Marshall Chrestman was honoree at a good luck shower Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Arthur Everts with Mrs. Carol Baker as joint hostess.

Husbands of the University Club were honored with a turkey dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mattingly last week, when elaborate decorations carried out a Valentine motif. A track and library meet was the outstanding feature for the affair.

At a regular meeting of the city commissioners last Monday night an election was ordered for April 4 at which time two commissioners will be elected. Alvin Hill and Dave Barrow are the two whose terms expire.

20 YEARS AGO—

The Owen Wood Oil Corporation well on the W. J. Sides farm, one mile south of Burk Burnett, hit this week what is termed by drillers to be the best looking sand in Shallow Field. A rich oil sand was found at a depth of 1295 feet and was penetrated five feet.

The retail merchants and business interests of Burk Burnett entertained permanent organization at a meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce office Wednesday night. The following directors were elected at the meeting: W. R. Hill, Dudley Ellis, H. I. Johnson, J. M. Alexander, J. D. Majors, F. M. Bentley, J. Kelley, W. H. Davis, S. S. Reger, and J. D. Ahern.

On October 25, 1922, the citizens of Burk Burnett voted in favor of adopting the Commission form of government and elected fifteen men to draft the charter. These men have met from time to time and, it is reported have a charter practically ready to present to the people. In fact, it is now typewritten form and only needs the o. k. of the commission after which it will go to the City Council and an election will be ordered.

The Wednesday Needle Club entertained with "42" at their recent meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Fisher, which was given in special honor to the husbands of the members. A buffet supper was served to thirty odd guests in attendance.

HARDIN GRADE SCHOOL — NEWS —

I. C. EVANS, Principal

We all enjoyed playing out in the sunshine so much this week. We hope to have some more pretty weather next week.

We lost two more pupils this week, Bobby Ray Boydston, and Nancy Ann Adkison. We miss them very much.

We are sorry to say it, but some boys and girls are going to fail this year if they do not attend school more regularly.

Group 1 is ready for a new book and they are very anxious to read it. It is about our pets.

The following children made S on all their spelling papers all week: Bobby Whitney, Jill Bernethy, Garland Hart, Mildred Chavvis, James Talley, and Phyllis Nolen.

Pauline Evans L 1-2.

Group 1 of H 111 is now reading the second primer of this term. The primer, "We Three," contains stories about Wolf, a little bear than can talk and do everything that they do. The boys and girls are enjoying Wolf's pranks.

Charles Jeffress withdrew from school Friday to move back to Oklahoma. We are sorry to lose Charles, and we hope that he will be happy and do well in his new school at Elk City.

Annie L. Billingslea, H1-1.

We are really enjoying this beautiful warm weather. We like to run and play in the sunshine, and it is helping most of us get rid of our bad colds.

Nearly all of our boys and girls were back in school every day this week. It is very necessary that each one come every day if possible, now. Group one has finished one large reader and is ready for a new one Monday.

Those having "S" papers in spelling this week are: Mary Johnson, Keith Hubbard, James Welborn, Merlene Maney, Barbara Vaughn, Melvalene Hill,

FRANKLIN Provides Protection from the Destruction of Disease

To avoid death losses is both profitable and patriotic. The war program calls for a big increase in meat production. To safeguard this vital food supply, every calf should be vaccinated with FRANKLIN Blackleg Bacterin. There's no more safe and simple way of providing this protection than a shot of FRANKLIN Concentrated Culture Bacterin. Each dose of this powerfully potent product contains the immunizing elements of more than 10 cc of whole culture. The famous FRANKLIN method of producing concentrates gives the stockman a high density of the antigenic properties in a convenient small 1 cc dose. The cost is but 10¢ per dose with shipping.

W. Douglas, W 1-3.

The following names were added last week to our chart of hearts for buying defense stamps: Robert Glenn, Kay Harris, Philip Baker, and Peggy Shoefstall. Our total amount for defense stamps this year so far is $136.20. We hope to have at least two hundred dollars by the end of the term.

The boys of L 2-1 started a private scrap drive last week. Soon the girls were helping also, and several play periods were spent in hunting scrap iron and rubber on the playground. Melvin Ramos donated his rubber cars and balls. We want to thank Mrs. Lundberg for taking our scrap to the city scrap pile. We hope that Uncle Sam can use all of it.

We have a miniature army camp on one of our tables, and on the other a commando set. Kay Harris, Norma Dodson, Kenneth Riley, and Donald Willis brought the material for these tables. We can see from these boys how many things Uncle Sam needs for his army.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Quite a stack of newspapers I left you yesterday, Judge. Aren't you in the newspaper business, are you?"
"No, I just enjoy reading different papers so my nephew George sends them to me whenever he takes a business trip. I got a big kick out of some he sent me from several counties where they still have prohibition. Particularly from some headlines that read 'Drunk Driving Arrests Rise'."

"Bootleggers must post Ceiling Prices," "Federal Agents seize 'Trick' Liquor Truck," "Doesn't that go to prove, Joe, that prohibition does not prohibit?"
"I watched conditions pretty carefully during our 13 years of prohibition in this country. The only thing I could see we got out of it was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor... plus the worst crime and corruption this country has ever known."

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for February 28

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JESUS RESTORES LAZARUS TO LIFE

LESSON TEXT—John 11:32-35, 38-44. GOLDEN TEXT—"I am the resurrection, and the life."—John 11:25.

Suffering, sorrow and bereavement are so common in our day that this lesson is peculiarly appropriate. Life, even to the Christian, finds its full measure of things which hurt and grieve. Many ask: "Why must I, a follower of Christ, bear such burdens?"

The answer is, that while the believer is not "of the world," he is "in the world," and here he must meet the problems of life, including the evils to which the flesh is heir because of sin. The fact that Jesus is our Friend and our Saviour does not exempt us from human sorrow, but it does assure us of the needed grace to bear the trial and makes us ready to trust Him even in life's darkest hour.

Lazarus, the friend of Jesus, was sick. The home in which Jesus had found rest and fellowship was in deep trouble. Jesus was no longer in Judea. In haste, word was sent to Him of His friend's illness. But He did not come.

Why does He delay? Such is the heart-city of thousands today who call on Him in their hour of trouble. The purposes of God we cannot fully understand. We need only to trust Him and abide His time.

Notice that His failure to respond at once to the message of Lazarus' sisters did not mean that He had deserted them (John 11:4-6). Nor did it mean that He had denied them His help (v. 7).

Above all, note that He came. He always does. Jesus has never failed any child of His. The time and the manner of His answer to our prayers may not conform to our opinion of what should have been done; but let us remember that we know only in part. He knows all. Let us trust Him. Job, in his darkest hour, said: "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him" (Job 13:15).

The steps from sorrow to victorious joy in this story are three in number.

I. Death and Tears (vv. 32-25). By the time Jesus came, Lazarus was dead and his family and friends could only weep as they said: "If thou hadst been here—" Try as we may to temper its cruel blow, the fact remains that death is the enemy of man. It came into the world as the result of sin (Rom. 5:12), and only in Christ is it "swallowed up in victory" (I Cor. 15:54). Until the glorious day of Christ's returning, when the redemption of the body will be complete (Rom. 8:23), death will continue to bring sorrow to the heart and tears to the eyes.

But let us not fail to notice that as the friends of Jesus, we do not sorrow alone. "Jesus wept" (v. 35) with Martha and Mary. We know that He weeps with us in our trying hour. He is the "friend that sticks closer than a brother." He is the one who gives grace to meet the deepest sorrow, and to bear it with grace because of His tender fellowship.

II. Faith and Hope (vv. 38-40). "If thou wouldst believe, thou shouldst see the glory of God," said Jesus to Martha. She must look beyond the evident fact of the deadness of her brother and see God's glory in His resurrection. Thus faith assures us that those who believe in Christ have more than the comfort of His sympathizing presence—they have a sure hope (read I Thess. 4:13-18).

Sorrow and unbelief would becloud our faith and thus rob us of our hope. Martha needed to have her faith stimulated by the gracious words of the Lord; and then she triumphantly put her hope in Him, the Christ of God. Once we recognize Him as God, we have no hesitation in believing in His miraculous power.

III. Christ and Resurrection (vv. 41-44). Majestic and authoritative are the words of Christ, "I am the resurrection and the life" (v. 25). He it was who gave life, for was He not "in the beginning with God"? And is it not said of Him, that "all things were made by him" (John 1:2, 3)? Paul tells us that "by him all things consist" (Col. 1:17). He is the only one who could say: "I lay down my life . . . I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it up again" (John 10:17, 18).

So it can rightly be said that if we have Christ we have everything—both in this world and in the world to come. But if we do not have Christ, we have nothing; we are without God and without hope. "He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live" (v. 25) is the promise of Christ to us. Let us believe it.

The resurrection power of Christ is at work in the world today raising the spiritually dead to newness of life in Him.

May we see many such a Lazarus called forth—loosed from the grave clothes of sin and set free.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

In Zanzibar, Africa, carps used by the natives have tires made of elephant hide, which serves the purpose of rubber.

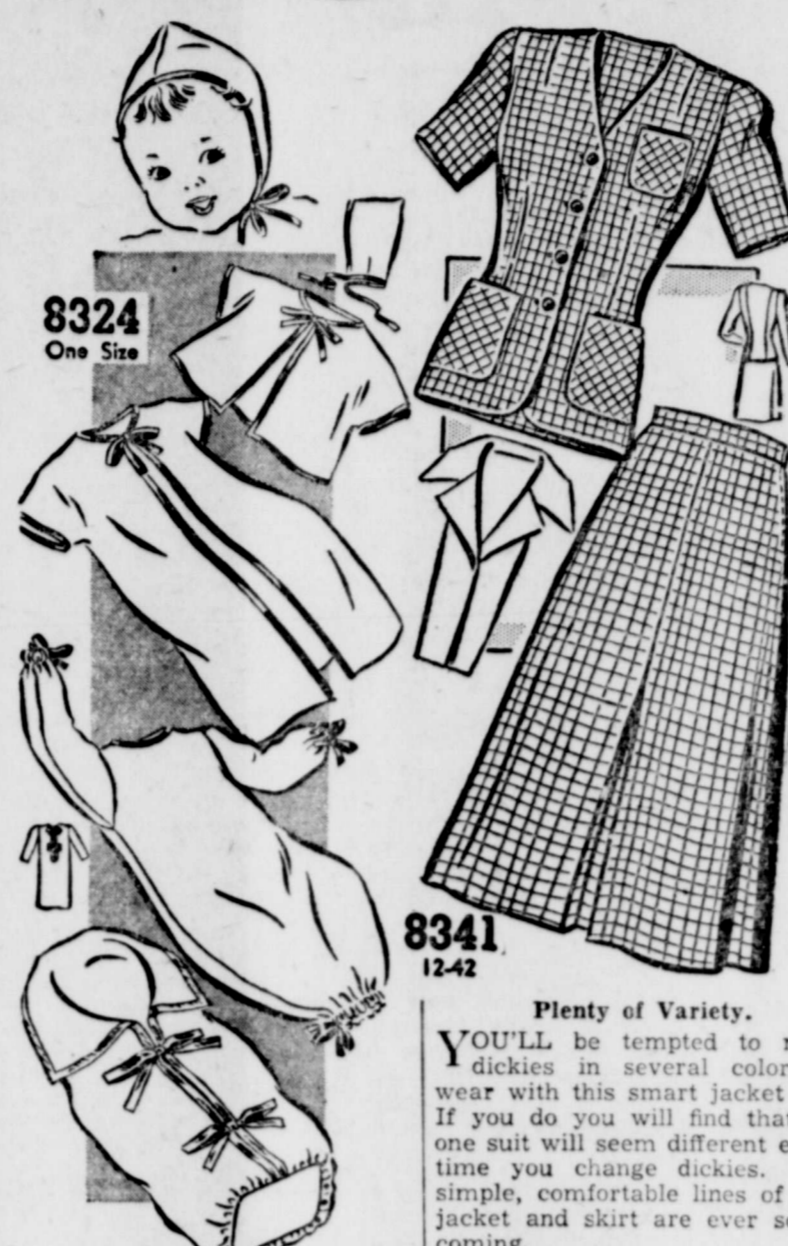

In Bulgaria natives paint pictures of their enemies on their tires so they can be regularly splattered with mud, as a gesture of contempt!

Cars and trucks for transportation account for 56 per cent of the Army's rubber requirements.

Cord tire construction, the type common today, first made rapid inroads on the cord-woven fabric tire in 1915. Low pressure balloon tires made their appearance in 1924.

Cryptostegia is a new word for the rubber lexicon. To Floridians it is the technical name for the Mexican morning glory, which has been recognized as one of the most promising rubber-producing plants.

But when he speaks of his favorite cigarette, he says: "Camels." They're first with men in the Army as well as with Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen. (According to actual sales records in service men's stores.) A gift of a carton of Camels is always well received. ## First Baptist Church Program

Sunday School, 9:45. Preaching Services, 11:00. Training Union, 7:00. Preaching Services, 8:00. Baptismal Services.

The Lord gave us a fine day last Sunday. Our Sunday School attendance was up—over the 300 mark, yes—with your absence—just think what we would have had had you been in your place! There were five who took their place in our Church Sunday. Three by letter and two by baptism. The Lord is surely answering somebody's prayer. Are you praying for the services? Are you praying for the Lord use you?

Then, too, for the Sunday night we had almost a 100 in the Training Union and over two hundred for the preaching crowd. The pastor mentioned Sunday morning about so many "concerns." Those Christians that come just "once" on Sunday.

To me it seems that they are just saying, "well I hate to go at all, but guess I had better make at least one service on the Lord's Day, then I can do what I want to do the rest of the day." Of course there are a few, Old people, or those not quite well, who might be excused from the evening services, but surely the Lord is not pleased with so great number staying away.

A part of a great victory was won, Tuesday when the Court set the election, which is to come up, on Saturday, instead of the 10th, and the "beer hogs" wanted it. Now the thing for us to do is to go to vote and snow them so far under the beer will get "hot." Get ready for a fight—get ready to vote the 13th.

COMING UP! Our revival—just two weeks from this coming Sunday. All over town you will notice, "March to Church in March," which is the slogan of the First Baptist Church during March. Let's send these cards to our friends—then let's "MARCH TO CHURCH IN MARCH"—Always welcome at First Baptist Church—All services.

Let's pray—work—visit—and be used of the Lord during our days before our revival—THEN, IN THE REVIVAL. A. E. Harrison, Pastor.

Scientist, on Sunday, March 7. The Golden Text is: "As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God" (Romans 8:14).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "This people have I formed for myself; they shall shew forth my praise" (Isaiah 43:21).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Science of being reveals man as perfect, even as the Father is perfect, because the Soul, or Mind, of the spiritual man is God, the divine Principle of all being, and because this real man is governed by Soul instead of sense, by the law of Spirit, not by the so-called laws of matter" (page 302).

Extension of Home Dept. Planned Methodist Church

At the Board of Christian Education meeting Sunday night Mrs. B. M. Cropper reported on the continuous growth of the Home Department. It was planned that a representative from each school would be asked to help in her work.

The reception of new members almost every week was reported. The average attendance to date is about the same as last year. Mrs. Sam Keith was elected Superintendent of Intermediate work to help the Young People's Division of which Mrs. O. B. Jordan is Superintendent.

Plans were laid to secure a new teacher and appoint a Superintendent of Junior work, the place vacated by Mrs. Keith, to assist in the Children's Division of which Mrs. Sam Cope is Superintendent. Song Books were ordered for the Primary Division and Bible helps for the teachers and literature for the entire Church Schools.

Reports were given on the Training Class that was held earlier this month and on the one now in progress. Plans were begun for another class early this summer.

The largest attendance for the present quarter has been in the Men's Class with well over forty each Sunday. J. L. Caffee is President and Blake Browning is Adult Supt. The Class that has made the largest percentage of growth is the Co-ed class of which Mrs. O. B. Jordan is teacher.

"We take off Our hats"

... said President Roosevelt

"Our forward progress in this war has depended upon our progress on the production front ... you and I take off our hats to those responsible for our American war production."

—From President Roosevelt's Message to Congress, Jan. 7, 1943.

American industry is deserving of these words of commendation. Its historical record of war production is reflected in greater protection for our armed forces. It is lessening the time when enslaved people shall be free. It is speeding the day of Victory and the return of our heroic fighters.

American industry, founded and operated on the principle of free enterprise, made possible this "miracle of production," so dramatically described by our President. When the test came, the state-controlled industries of the enemy countries were no match for it.

In this achievement, the gas industry of America, of which United Gas Corporation is a part, has played an important role. Gas has been a vital ally of American industry in speeding and expanding war production.

The preservation of this American system of free enterprise ... and our American Way of Life ... are what we are fighting for. Nothing should be permitted that will take these rights away from us. This system made America great!

OES Opposes Increase in Farm Parity; Showdown in North Africa Prelude to United Nations Invasion of Europe; Reds Continue Ground-Gaining Drive

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

How momentous have been the results of the Russian winter offensive against the Nazis... The beginning of the Red drive last fall, through the relief of Stalingrad and the sweep of the Russian momentum westward and south, Hitler's forces have had to yield virtually all the land they gained in their 1942 spring offensive.

TUNISIA: Ready for Zero Hour

Only a continuance of the traditional African rainy season and the necessity of waiting until stores of supplies were sufficient had prevented the long-awaited Allied offensive for final control of Tunisia.

Signs and portents had pointed unmistakably toward an early showdown. The elevation of Dwight D. Eisenhower to the full rank of general and his appointment as supreme commander in Africa had indicated a centralization of command preparatory to decisive action.

Axis forces had been completely cleared out of Tripolitania, and the British Eighth Army after a short rest had resumed movement by storming into southern Tunisia along the coastal road over which Marshal Rommel's retreating army had passed.

ACE IN THE HOLE by JACKSON GREGORY

THE STORY SO FAR: Ann Lee and Cole Cody, beneficiaries under two identical wills made by Early Bill Cole, arrived in Bald Eagle by stage coach, only to learn of Bill Cole's death a few days previously.

CHAPTER IX

"You're not a very good shot, are you?" said Cole Cody, lazy and slow-spoken and impudent. Even his eyebrows mocked Ann.

"Then why only mess me up like this, making it hurt like seven kinds of hell and at the same time do me no more harm than a hot stove lid dropped on your toe?"

"Mr. Cody," said Ann, very prim and very polite. "I am sorry, in a way, that I shot you. See—"

"You're place! What on earth are you talking about? Have you gone crazy? Oh, maybe you always were crazy! Of course, that's it! That explains everything!"

"Listen, and don't be so smart. You're kind of pretty, and maybe it's gone to your head. Men, I guess, seeing you at a dance, all dolled up, have told you a lot of lies, and you think you're Cleopatra, maybe, or the Queen of Sheba.

"Why, you—you—"

"You—lie! You're worse than that man Rance Waldron. He says it's his place too—and it's mine! Now, Mr. Cody, will you—Will you tuck your shirt tail in, and go climb a tree?"

"What Mr. Cody did was scratch his head, thick-thatched with abundant dark hair, and hold his peace a moment and do a bit of thinking, staring at her all the while.

"It's still reasonably early in the morning," he said after he had driven her frantic with his leisureliness. "You've got lots of time to comb your hair and wash your face—Go look in a looking glass, and you'll do both!—and get into Bald Eagle before noon.

"When I was a very little girl," she told him sweetly, "I used to say that I hated things. Castor oil was one, and there were others. But, dear me, I didn't know what I was talking about. For only now, Mr. Cody, I do know now what the word 'hate' means.

Cole Cody had a way of exhaling cigarette smoke that, she was dead sure, could infuriate anyone on earth. He did some exhaling. Her nails bit into her pink palms.

At last Ann spoke up, and very quietly, considering who it was speaking.

"Mr. Early Bill Cole," she said, spacing her words nicely, "was a gentleman and a very fine man. He was a friend of my father's. He knew that he had to die. So he made his will. It's quite too bad.

With Ann watching his slightest move, he shot the key home.

Mr. Cody, to disappoint you, but Mr. Cole left everything he had—to me. Yes, that's what I said. He made a will to that effect—and I've got that will! Now—Will you get well and go!"

He moved over to the table, feeling a trifle unsteady and blurry in the head, and sat on the table's edge, one foot swinging.

"We'll soon find out about all this," he said. "I've got a key—a key old Early Bill sent me—"

"A key! You've got a key! What sort of key?"

"A key that's made to unlock something," he snorted at her.

"What do you suppose, asking what sort of key? Now, when I find what it's to unlock—There's an old devil in town they call the Judge—He's crazy as a bed-bug, no question. But he knows a lot of things. Between him and another crazy old coot name of Doc Joe—"

"Doc Joe isn't a crazy old coot! He's a dear! But—but—Where did you say you got your key?"

"Forget that I've told you as much as I have! Are you and I old friends who tell each other all our heart's secrets? Are we—"

He moved away from his vantage point, and a moment later the doorway framed him. He stopped there, studying them.

"I don't think I know you very well," said Cody. "Do you happen to be one of my guests?"

"We met just now," Rance reminded him, cool and insolent, as was his fashion. He pinched his chin, looking reflective.

"It's like this," said Cole Cody, very slow-spoken. When he spoke that way he was generally saying one thing and thinking far afield.

"Mr. Early Bill Cole," she said, spacing her words nicely, "was a gentleman and a very fine man. He was a friend of my father's. He knew that he had to die. So he made his will. It's quite too bad.

"That's quite a speech," conceded Cody, nodding approvingly. "Yep, I got it. Only it's my bet you're out on a limb. Here are the three of us, you and Miss Lee and me, all putting in our claims."

"That's the quite a speech," conceded Cody, nodding approvingly. "Yep, I got it. Only it's my bet you're out on a limb. Here are the three of us, you and Miss Lee and me, all putting in our claims."

"There's the key to the mystery, as the fellow says—Maybe! Who'll bring me a lock for my key?"

"There!" said young Cody. "That's the key to the mystery, as the fellow says—Maybe! Who'll bring me a lock for my key?"

And with her cherished carpet-bag clutched tight. She got it open, she ran a hurried hand down into it, she plucked out an old, black iron box. An iron box with two locks, as anyone might see.

"So that's it, is it?" he jeered at her. "A strong box with two locks, and you've got a key for one, and are going clean crazy like Pandora and Blue Beard's wife, trying to burgle it out! And no can do—without the other key! Mine! Well, and he never spoke more drawingly, "there's no hurry, is there? How about waiting until tomorrow? Maybe it might be best to wait until my wound heals over! That's an idea!"

Ann set the box down hastily, and shot her key into the proper lock. When the mechanism gave its satisfied responsive click, she looked up at him triumphantly.

"Where's your lock for it to fit?" he shot back at her, and grinned his most malicious grin.

"What's going on in there?" I thought you two, after the lady had popped a bullet into the gent, would have had enough of each other. Mind if I drop in and join in the pow-wow?"

Gardening for Food and Freedom

After this country entered the war a plan was made for every person who had the ability, and was capable of success, to produce more food for our armed forces and for our home. Every pound of food that can be produced at home releases that amount from the general store for war purposes. It also helps in producer-to-consumer handling. In addition, gardens provide fresh foods for the family table, thus insuring an adequate supply of essential to good health. Food rationing is becoming a reality. It is also more evident that diets may be inadequate and better balance if a good part of our needs are produced at home. The call for more home gardens is a call and is being heeded as such by those who have the space, the time, and the ability to help themselves and their country.

Gardening for Food and Freedom

Gardening provides a means of utilizing after-hours spare time profitably and patriotically. Not only that, but it offers the finest type of diversion and recreation. The out-door exercise it provides is a reward in itself. The satisfaction of having produced something worthwhile is a grand stimulant. The knowledge that you have harnessed nature to provide for you and your country gives self-confidence beyond imagination.

To work with the soil and make it produce clean, fresh food inspires greater appreciation of the good earth and the country in which you live. It emphasizes the fact that mother nature is the source of all food and fiber from whence comes life's necessities. The gardener can better appreciate the land for having tilled it. He can better appreciate the sun and the rain for having co-operated with them in producing needed foods. He can better appreciate the country in which these blessings are so abundant. He can better serve that country when he gets the feel of the soil and knows that he is helping mother nature to provide foods for the millions who are fighting out there and the other millions who are being set free to live again on God's green earth.

Everyone wants to do their share in winning this war, and one way to do it is to plant a Victory Garden. The P.-T.A. of Burkburnett is asking the people of Burkburnett, and also the farmers, to plant a section of their Victory Garden for food for the cafeteria for next year.

If you wish to help in this undertaking get in touch with Mrs. O. B. Brooks, president of the Parent-Teachers' Association, or Jingle Hays, chairman of the Victory Garden committee, and let them know what you will plant, and how much!

Point Rationing Offers New Values

Very soon now that our new Point Ration Book No. 2 will be the latest addition to our war library, an effort is being made to give it a new measure of value. Every time a rationed article is purchased, both actual cost and one or more cent or more coupons will have to be used. Coupons in the book have four different values... one, two, five and eight points. If you'll get out your pencil and a piece of paper, you'll see that these four figures can be added up to everything between one and 16, and that four or 12 and numbers larger than 16 can be made by using two sets of coupons. For instance, the missing four can be obtained by using two 1-point coupons, or a 1-point and two 1-point coupons. Twelve is made possible by combining a 1-point and two 1-point coupons, or two 1-point and a 1-point. Sixteen or more points can be figured using two 1-points plus whatever smaller value is needed.

Office of Price Administration, in charge of rationing, advises that it will be wiser to use the large point coupons whenever possible and to save the smaller value ones for use toward the end of the rationing period. In other words, if three rationed items are purchased, valued respectively at 1-point, 1-point and 1-point, use a single 4-point coupon instead of a one, two and five. Then when the end of the ration period approaches and you want something valued at one or two, you won't find yourself left with only coupons valued at five or eight.

County's Salvage Over 30,000 Tons

Wichita County's salvage committee for the war effort observes its first birthday this week with a record of having shipped out more than 30,000 tons of salvaged material. It was a year ago Feb. 22 that the salvage committee headed by Jerry Vinson came into being to organize the county for the all-important purpose of getting in the scrap for war production. The work of the committee was reflected Wednesday in the report of W. O. Kimmell, who has kept accurate figures of the county's salvage shipments, as chairman of the results committee, which revealed that from Feb. 22, 1942 to Feb. 10, 1943, the county had shipped out 31,159,487 pounds of material. Despite the lack of any campaign, a total of 3,100,743 pounds of material was shipped between Jan. 10 and Feb. 10, indicating that the salvage is still coming in. The last monthly tabulation included shipments (in pounds) as follows: Electra—scrap iron and steel, 589,480; metals, 5,754; rubber, 4,590. Burk Burnett—scrap iron and steel, 183,820.

The county, during the 12-month period, shipped 1,300 pounds of tooth paste tubes and 1,300 pounds of silk stockings. Of the rendered grease total 7,257 pounds was from household fat collections.

Dale Carnegie

Author of "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

Twenty-two years ago a daughter arrived in the home of an architect in El Paso, Texas. The child seemed like any normal infant. Strong, healthy. Her father's name was Golner, and the little girl was given the first name of Nana.

One day when she was two years old, her mother saw that Nana wasn't feeling well. That night a fever developed. The doctor was called. And then the parents heard the dreaded words - infantile paralysis. When it was all over, she was a club foot.

Gandhi, a Martyr To the Cause

Motandas K. Gandhi, leader of the Hindus in India who are seeking absolute sovereignty with no supervision from England, is a martyr to the cause. His position is unique from many angles. He was born of one of the higher castes of India and educated in the best Universities of England. As a young man he was a leader of fashions. He dressed in the latest clothes and led in the dancing and social life of his day.

After returning to India with a good job, and marrying, he began championing the cause of the underprivileged of India. His influences grew and for a time he was a political aspirant. Long since his personal ambitions have faded and he is rather a spiritual leader to the Hindus. Less than half of the enormous population of India are Hindus. Many of these are violently opposed to Gandhi's methods.

Frequently in the past this 73 year old leader has staged hunger strikes to force the British Government to submit to his desires. He has had only partial success in former efforts. Gandhi's non-violent methods have been the pattern for the sit down strikes of our own nation. When England put a heavy tax on salt, Gandhi led his people to the sea shore where they evaporated salt water and made their own salt. When British police interfered they offered no resistance at all.

England imports raw materials from India and sends India manufactured products in their place. Gandhi adopted the simple loom cloth, made of homespun, as protest to the commercialization of India by England. Gandhi has led his followers to raise their own cotton, make their own thread and weave their own cloth, in an all-out effort to win freedom from England. Gandhi is not a Christian. He has never accepted the Christian Religion. He says that he bases his life on the Teachings of Christ in the Sermon on the Mt. and on the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule, but rejects Christianity because of denominational strife, and commercial complications.

If Gandhi does die in prison he will be an immortalized martyr to his followers. Frequently it is easier to deal with a flesh and blood leader, than an immortalized spirit. World Leaders differ as to whether India would be better if worse off without the supervision of England. Civil war would inevitably result from England's giving India sovereignty, and foreign powers would be sure to seize the opportunity for intervention and the probable dismemberment of the nation. Dr. E. Stanley Jones, for more than 40 years a Methodist Missionary in India thinks that absolute sovereignty, with the probable after affects, is better for India than supervision from England or any other outside nation. The raise the question as to whether or not England has been a benefactor to India in the past, is like asking whether the United States is more civilized today than ported, blood rushed to the feet, the muscles began to build up. Her parents saw a miracle happening before their eyes. Then came dancing steps. Here, suddenly, was a new offense for the child. A new life. She determined, this little lame girl, to become a professional dancer! At the age of twelve she began studying with the famous dance instructor, Kraslov, in San Francisco, not just dancing, but ballet dancing, the most intricate form of dancing art. What a former club-footed girl study ballet dancing!

Nana Golner's first professional engagement in "A Midsummer Night's Dream." She made the first ballet short in motion pictures. Then she danced in London, Success! She was the only American girl in the famous Russian ballet. She has danced in most of the leading European cities, eight months in South Africa, three in Johannesburg, where she danced for those she likes most to dance for, the working classes. Dancing before the sophisticated King of Sweden didn't give Nana half the thrill that she experienced when dancing for the people who come to see the ballet because they really love it.

R. E. Stroble Services Held Here Wed.

Funeral services were held from the Owens & Bumley Chapel here Wednesday afternoon for R. E. Stroble, 41-year old resident of Wichita Falls and Stamford.

Stroble died Tuesday afternoon of a heart attack at the home of a daughter, Mrs. B. Q. Cooper, in Stamford. He had been in Stamford about three weeks.

Mrs. Stroble, his wife, was buried in the Burk Burnett cemetery in 1935. Survivors include his daughter, Mrs. Ernest McConnell, Wichita Falls; his mother, Mrs. Sarah Stroble, and three sisters, Mrs. Charlie Confield, both of Apache, Okla.; Mrs. Jim Laird, Dallas; Mrs. Frank West, Los Angeles, Calif.; and four grandchildren.

KEPT THE BEEF

Los Angeles Police have reported recovery of 3,400 pounds of hijacked meat, but it's all bologna—the meat, that is. Still missing are 1,600 pounds of choice roasts and top steaks. Officers said they found the stolen truck, some hard and the bologna. But the hijacker kept the beef.

It was when the first permanent English settlement was established more than three centuries ago, England controls the police force, army, railways, banks, post offices and means of communication in India. Nearly 400 million people have received enormous benefits from England. Gandhi is trying to lead them back to a simple life, free from commercialization and modern culture. He has had a very limited success. The future must speak for itself.

ALKA-SELTZER BRIGHTENS MY DAY

OCCASIONALLY, I wake up in the morning with a headache. It sometimes wears off along the middle of the forenoon, but I don't want to wait that long, so I drink a glass of sparkling ALKA-SELTZER. In just a little while I am feeling a lot better. Sometimes the week's ironing tires me and makes me sore and stiff. Then it's ALKA-SELTZER to the rescue—a tablet or two and a little rest makes me feel more like finishing the job. And when I eat "not wisely but too well," ALKA-SELTZER relieves the Acid Indigestion that so often follows. Yes, Alka-Seltzer brightens my day. It brings relief from so many of my discomforts, that I always keep it handy. Why don't you get a package of ALKA-SELTZER at your drug store today? Large Package 66c, Small 36c.

Methodists Take Lead in Chaplains Among Protestants

Methodism has had an excellent response from the ministers with regard to the Chaplaincy. The Roman Catholic Church is the only Christian body in the United States larger than the Methodist church. Methodism has more applicants for the Chaplaincy now than at any former time in its history. A large class was accepted and enrolled on Jan. 26th, and another large class is to report on Feb. 15th. This group will probably number more than fill the Methodist quota.

Quotas were set for each denomination on the basis of membership, and these quotas have been increased from time to time as the need grows greater.

The following quotation is from an address given by Bishop A. Frank Smith last week in Houston. The Methodist Church quota as of January 1st, was 998 Chaplains. We have 900 commissioned. In comparison with the Roman Catholic Church, the only other large denomination in quota of Chaplains, we have filled 90 per cent plus of our quota while they have filled 85 per cent. Without detracting at all from the fine men who are rendering service as Catholic Chaplains I must point out that almost everyone of our Chaplains had families to leave and difficult personal sacrifices to make. This situation is not faced by the Catholic Chaplain.

We, who stay at home have a definite part to play. Our pastors must prepare our people for the sacrifices immediately ahead. The loss of American lives before this conflict is over will be beyond imagination. We must comfort our people and prepare them for the realities which they face. We must inform and harden them for the tasks ahead. The Program of the Church must go on. Small credit it is to us if we keep the Church going in sunshine and fall in time of difficulties.

Of the seven million population of Australia, about 560,000, are in the armed forces.

Roy L. Smith To Speak In Wichita

As a part of the Week of Dedication, Dr. Roy L. Smith is to speak morning and night at the First Methodist Church in Wichita Falls, Feb. 28, through March 5th. Dr. Smith is editor of the Christian Advocate of the Methodist Church. His office is in Chicago. He is a prolific writer, contributing to some 3000 periodicals and publications. Before coming to the editorship of the Advocate Dr. Smith was pastor of the Methodist Church with the largest Membership in the United States, and prior to that he filled several leading pulpits and wrote editorials. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Perkins have established the Perkins lecture-ship with an endowment of $10,000. The proceeds from this fund is to be used each year to pay a lecturer to come to First Church. A steeper Christian leader could not have been found than this outstanding preacher.
