BURKBURNETT STAR, THURSDAY, AUGUST 26, 1943

Help Keep Burk Burnett a Clean Town

For a number of years Burk Burnett has been considered a very clean and desirable town in which to live. Many moral problems have arisen in surrounding towns and communities that have not laid hold upon Burk Burnett.

Since the beginning of Sheppard Field activities, many new residents have expressed the fact that they came to Burk Burnett because of the wholesome atmosphere they found here. Many others who have located here have expressed delight with the moral aspects they found and are continuing their stay among us, partly because they enjoy their wholesomeness.

One reputation has been established it needs to be maintained, if it is a good reputation. Burk Burnett has called into a mass meeting last Monday night to discuss the ways by which this fine atmosphere can be maintained in the face of serious problems that are facing neighboring towns from a moral point of view.

In every community there are those who do not share in the desire to maintain high moral standards. Some parents are serious offenders in the indifference which they pay to the moral habits of their own children.

Nature has set before mankind some very strict regulations of discipline. When man violates certain Laws of nature he dies. He is not given a second chance to offend nature.

Society has always found it necessary to have police protection, in one form or another, to keep down offenses against society. Those who are interested in obeying the laws are not alarmed by the presence of a policeman. Those who do not want to abide by the laws, do not want a policeman to come around and check up on their violations. Those who are undertaking to do the right thing do not need to fear the presence of police, and those who are not doing the right thing need police.

Give your support to keeping the city a clean, desirable place in which to live.

Ruling On Deferment for Training is Made

A longer stay in institutions of higher learning is possible for 17-year-old boys under the new selective service regulation in regard to critical occupational deferments, according to Max Fichtenbaum, assistant registrar at the University of Texas.

Previously the regulation fixed July 1, 1945, as the deadline for a student to complete his educational training, the assistant registrar said today. The new policy makes a student eligible for deferment if he can complete his training with 24 months after certification.

This means that a 17-year-old freshman boy can enroll, September 1, complete a year's training by the time he is 18 and must register, and will then have 24 months of deferment, giving him the equivalent of six full semesters of university work.

United War Chest Drive

Kindel Paulk and Walter Cline of Wichita Falls, met with the Rotarians last week and explained the details of the new War Chest Drive which is to start sometime in October, after the Third War Loan drive in September has been completed.

We need more such meetings. These men wanted to meet with the Chamber of Commerce, but it seems it is impossible to have a Chamber of Commerce meeting. (There has only been one held this year). The gentlemen figured the next best bet to get a fair sized crowd was at the Rotary Club and consult on the drive.

You know in the past when marked by the Wichita Chamber of Commerce, we were pushed over in one corner, beat over the head and told what to do. Mr. Paul and Mr. Cline had an entirely different angle to present to us in that they asked us what we thought best on the forthcoming drive for funds for the different organizations. Thanks a million, Mr. Paulk and Mr. Cline... let's hope you gentlemen keep an eye on what's going on in the smaller communities in the county; we'll all do more and we'll get along better.

Dove Season to Begin Sept. 1

Sportsmen with shotgun cartridges will have 42 days of dove shooting beginning Sept. 1, according to regulations mailed to the county clerk's office by the Texas Fish, Game and Oyster Commission.

The limit for mourning doves a day will be 10 and no more than 10 birds will be allowed in the possession of the hunter at one time.

The season on ducks and geese will be from Nov. 1 through Jan. 10, 1944. The duck limit is set at 10 birds a day with hunters allowed twice, that number in their possession. Only two geese may be bagged in a day. Shooting will be allowed from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

As revealed by the files of the Star 20 years ago.

Twenty Years Ago—

The first bale of cotton for the 1923 season was brought to Burk Burnett Thurs. Dick Long, who lives on the Hardin farm west of town, grew and delivered the lucky bale. It brought twelve and one-half cents per pound in the seed at the gin, and was purchased by the Hunt-Rigsby Co. The weight of the seed cotton was 1460 pounds, bringing a total of $182.50, a premium above the market price of $50.00.

Linemen of the Wichita Falls Electric Company are engaged in setting poles in the alleys in the business district, preparatory to removing the poles and wires from Main street to the alleys in compliance with a provision of the City Charter. City Manager, Robt. L. Brumalow has also notified the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., to remove their poles and wires to the alleys and when this is done, much will be added to the civic attractiveness of the main thoroughfare of our city.

The street paving work is progressing after a brief delay on Ave. C. The base on two blocks of Ave. C. has been laid and according to Mr. Rand, superintendent of the work for the Plains Paving Co., topping of the base will be completed today. He expects to have the block of Fourth Street finished by Saturday night, which will complete a circuit around the block bordering on Third Street, Ave. C, Fourth Street and Ave. E.

Service began on Monday on the new rural free delivery mail route out of Burk Burnett. Most of the patrons along the route have erected mail boxes and those who have not are urged by the postoffice department to do so immediately. The patrons of the route will receive mail on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of each week until an average of 150 pieces a month, per mile, or 3900 pieces are delivered, when the service will be made daily instead of tri-weekly.

The Home Demonstration Clubs of Wichita Falls are closing their three-day encampment Friday at the Magnolia Prescott Station, under the direction of the County Demonstration Agent, Miss Webb, of Wichita Falls. About 65 members were in attendance from the several clubs over the country and a pleasant outing was enjoyed by all.

Modern Interest In The Ancient World

THE PYRAMIDS OF EGYPT

(By Boyd I. DeVore)

Among the seven wonders of the ancient world were the Pyramids of Egypt. They stand today a few miles from Cairo, an almost eternal monuments to an ancient civilization.

We feel that our day deals with its geometric numbers, but those who built the pyramids had an eye on the size. They were built as burial vaults for the Kings of Egypt.

The largest of the three famous Pyramids is called the Pyramids of "CHEOPS". It is supposed to have been built between 2900 and 2477 B. C. If it were hollow it would make a shell for St. Peter's Church at Rome. It is made of limestone blocks and it estimated there are some two and a half million blocks used in its construction. Its total weight is estimated at six million tons. There are enough rocks in it to build a wall around the nation of France. The base covers 13 acres of ground, and is approximately 768 feet on each side. Originally it was 482 feet high.

The building of a similar pyramid today would constitute an enormous outlay of labor and constitute an almost insurmountable engineering feat. It is generally accepted that these limestones were cut from quarries and then brought by human power along the roads that gradually sloped upward, and were built on upward as the pyramid was raised, and laid in place with perfect fit. When the pyramid was finished the dirt that surrounded it was removed and the road taken away.

The labor consumed in building this one pyramid, and there are seventy other pyramids in one group a few miles away, has been estimated to be some six billions of man hours. At a dollar an hour this would be six billions of dollars. Many of the workmen must have been the finest artisans of the day, for the rocks fit together with such absolute precision that a slight mistake in cutting would cause a rock to be discarded.

Not only do these pyramids stand as monuments to the perpetual memory of the egotism of their builders, but the burial vaults that they contain are all but inaccessible. These chambers were left well up in the pyramids and are accessible only by long, crooked, narrow, passage ways that slope upward to steeply that it is very difficult to get to the burial chamber. In this chamber the King was buried with his faithful courtiers and with his slaves. Enormous wealth was laid in the tomb and ample armor for all who were buried there. These burial customs would indicate a belief in immortality, and an expectation that the servants, arms, and wealth would be needed in the next world.

Texas Aviation Plant Needs 19,000 Workers

DALLAS, Aug. 25.—North American Aviation's largest plane making unit, located between here and Fort Worth will need 19,000 more workers before Jan. 1 to meet its heavier bomber and fighter plane production schedule, Jresident J. H. Kindelberger said today.

In a speech prepared for delivery at noon Kindelberger disclosed also that the company has spent $116,000,000 in his vicinity alone for pay rolls, machinery, subcontracted part and materials. The personnel increase actually will require hiring of 24,000 persons because of labor turnover, he said.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Quite a stack of newspapers I left you yesterday, Judge. Aren't you in the newspaper business, are you?"
"No, I just enjoy reading different papers so my nephew George sends them to me whenever he takes a business trip. I got a big kick out of some he sent me from several counties where they still have prohibition. Particularly from some headlines that read 'Drunk Driving Arrests Rise'."

"Bootleggers must post Ceiling Prices', 'Federal Agents seize 'Trick' Liquor Truck'. Doesn't that go to prove, Joe, that prohibition does not prohibit?"
"I watched conditions pretty carefully during our 13 years of prohibition in this country. The only thing I could see we got out of it was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor... plus the worst crime and corruption this country has ever known."

SOUTH PACIFIC:
Slip on Noose

By occupying Vella Lavella island, American troops slipped a tight noose around remaining Japanese forces in the central Solomons. Vella Lavella lies to the north of Kolombangara island, where 8,000 Nipponese stood entrenched. To the south of Kolombangara is New Georgia island, which U. S. doughboys dominated.

As General MacArthur's offensive developed, with the central Solomons in the Americans' grip, the Japanese were left with outposts only in the northeastern area of the islands.

As MacArthur's Solomons' forces wound up for the knockout punch, waves of Allied bombers staged a surprise attack on the Japanese airbase at Weewak, New Guinea, destroying 120 planes and killing 1,500 personnel.

Methodist Make September Back To Church Month

At the Board of Christian Education meeting last Wednesday and the Steward's meeting Monday night, plans were laid for emphasizing attendance at Church and Church School during the month of September. Polio scare, hot weather, vacations, and other things have interfered with the attendance of many families during the past few weeks. It is hoped that attendance will increase a great deal during the closing month of this Church School year.

Announcements and letters are to be sent out encouraging regular members to be in attendance and new members to come the first Sunday in September. On that night a special program is planned.

Rev. Kiker to Show Pictures for Methodists

On Sunday night, September 5, Rev. Ira C. Kiker, Executive Secretary of the Church School work for the North Texas Conference is to be present at the evening worship hour to show pictures he has taken at S.M.U., the Intermediate Camp at Lake Murray and at Mt. Sequoyah, Fayetteville, Arkansas. He has some pictures of the classes and activities of the camps and gives an interesting lecture in connection with the showing of his kodachrome pictures. It is expected that a good attendance will be present for this service.

Promotion Day Program Planned

For the last Sunday morning in September a Promotion Day program is to be presented by the children and intermediates. It is to be under the general direction of Mrs. Sam Cope and will be presented before the sermon at the Church hour.

October begins the new Church School year. Attendance to date this year is slightly below the 1942 average, but well above the average for the same period in 1941.

Last Sunday Blake Browning took over his new duties as General Superintendent, Joe Nichols took the work of the Adult Superintendent and Miss Ordette Cope began her work as Superintendent of Youth Work.

CALENDAR

The Womens Missionary Federation will meet at the Methodist Church on August 30, 1943. The program includes a talk, "Leadership Pilgrimage", by Mrs. B. I. DeVore. The devotion by Mrs. S. S. Reger, and a piano solo by Miss Kay Morrison. There will also be an executive meeting immediately following the program.

Plans Completed For Bible Church At High School

A vital interest is being manifested in the Bible Survey course offered at the High School for this winter. The course is offered as an elective for those students who care to take it. It is taught as a non-sectarian course, dealing with the moral, social and historical values of the Bible.

Request for the course was made by the Ministers of the city, and they are providing the teachers. The State provides only the class room and equipment. The Ministers have been selected by lot, from those who could secure a state examination, to teach without any pay.

The first semester the course in Old Testament will be offered. It will carry one half unit of credit, the same as any other standard course. Rev. Austin Varner of the Church of Christ is to be the teacher.

The second semester the New Testament will be taught by Rev. A. E. Harrison of the First Baptist Church. Either the first or second semester may be taken without the other and receive half a unit of credit. If both courses are taken the student will receive a full unit of credit.

It is expected that many of the students will avail themselves of this fine opportunity to learn more about the Bible and receive credit for their work.

Pruett-Bracken Rites Announced

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Pruett announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ruth Helen Pruett of Randlett, Okla., to 2-c Petty Officer Altus D. Bracken of the U. S. Navy, stationed at Oakland, Calif. The couple were married at Grandfield, Okla., August 22, 1943.

"Who is my neighbor" was asked by Christ on one occasion and He said, "The man in need". This Sunday morning we are to have the privilege of helping our Neighbor. THE CHINESE RELIEF OFFERING.

Surely everyone is acquainted with the terrible conditions existing in China, because of the awful war. Sunday morning everyone will have an opportunity to help in this worthy cause.

Texas Baptists have been asked for $75,000. No definite amount has been asked our church. Only to do our best. When $1.00 will feed a Chinese child for many days we should strive to do our very best in this offering.

Many ought to give a dollar—many $10.00, and many even more than that amount. Let your conscience be your guide, but as we do let's be sure we can go home after the services Sunday knowing we have done a worthy thing in a worthy way.

Our Sunday School attendance was up Sunday. Over the 250 mark. It should crowd the 300 mark this Sunday.

Were you in your place? Or did you use the Lord's Day for a day of selfish rest. Some worked all week and took the Lord's Day to rest so they could work another week for SELF—Give Christ a very small place in their life and no time at all.

We are to remember we "Stewards" of our TIME just as much as we are Stewards of our talents—Money, etc. We have a few people who tithe their money, but keep all their time for themselves.

God is very liberal. He gives us six days to work, enjoy the opportunities He gives, and asks for just ONE DAY to be spent in His House. Oh, what thieves some of his people are. However, we are to remember there is coming a day of reckoning. We'll have to answer for all the Sabbaths we have squandered—wasted—withheld ourselves from His services.

Welcome to all our services. BAPTIST REVIVAL SEPTEMBER 28th—OCTOBER 10th. A. E. Harrison, Pastor.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SUNSHINE PICTURES INDOORS

Natural lighting from windows adds an artistic touch and appeal to pictures.

USUALLY sunlit pictures are made out-of-doors, but have you ever thought of looking indoors for sunny-picture opportunities? There's a marvelous field and one, I think, that has been neglected.

Wherever sunshine comes through a window or illuminates a corner of a room, there is opportunity for a sunny picture. Post a subject in this sunlit corner—for example, a small girl playing with her dolls, or a boy playing with his toys.

Often the surrounding walls will pick up sunshine and reflect it so that your subject is lighted from several directions, and you record a play of light which adds unusual quality and depth to the picture. Beautiful pictures can be obtained by a combination of sunshine coming through a window, and artificial light from household electric bulbs.

For example, place your child on a sunny window seat. Then arrange your lights as you would for a regular snapshot at night, so that they illuminate the child's shadowed side. Or, if you do not care to use artificial lighting, a reflector placed on the shadow side will serve admirably. The reflector may be a large piece of white cardboard, white paper, or even a pillow slip or white cloth. Any of these will serve to reflect back the light from the window onto the shadow side of your subject so that more detail will be shown in the finished print.

Interesting effects can be obtained, too, when sunbeams slant downward to the floor. If you will place a toy, a flower, or some other small object just at the bottom, or end, of the sunbeam so that the shaft of light leads to it, and then take the picture, you will be pleased with the result. In making these pictures, take care to give an exposure full enough to pick up some detail in the shadows.

Interesting effects of backlighting can be obtained with a sunny window. If you have a cat, for example, with soft white fur, place it on a window sill. The sunlight shining through the fur will surround the pet with a beautiful light halo which makes a splendid picture.

Attractive silhouettes can be made by using a window which looks out on a sunny outdoor scene. Just place your subject at the window, in profile. Turn out any room lights and make an exposure which would be correct for the outdoor scene, or maybe a trifle longer. Since the light indoors will be much less than the light outdoors, you will obtain a silhouette effect.

Load up your camera now and prepare to begin a collection of sunny pictures in your home. Such pictures are a valuable addition to any album.

But use discretion when taking your sunny pictures. Think before you shoot and make every snap of the shutter count because there is a scarcity of film. Conserve it. And don't forget to have extra prints made of your best snaps to send to your friends and relatives in the Service. Pictures will give them a "hit."

Home-Sick Texans

The editor received the following letter this week from Othel and Bonnie Reeves, former Burkburnett citizens now living in California, and are they home-sick. Well, we will leave it to you after you have read their letter:

1920 Pine St., Apt. 5
San Francisco (15) Calif.
August 19, 1943.

We take this opportunity to let you know how much we have enjoyed the paper since subscribing a few weeks back.

We especially enjoy the news of the boys in service and keep a constant watch on the street for one we know, but as yet we have seen only one, Robert Nelson, of the Navy.

So much of the time we notice where someone from there is in or around San Francisco, we wanted to let our address be known so that any one who will may pay us a visit.

My brother, who used to attend school there would be pleased to hear from any of his friends who care to write. Address his mail to: Cpl. Lewis C. Kuhl, Co. C—1st Bn., 22nd Marines, Co-Left Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif. He is fighting in the South Pacific, and probably near many of his old classmates, if he knew it.

Anyway you see fit to this across is allright with us just decided that it was the way to let the hometown folks that any who may venture to us is welcome to call on us. From home is a welcome sight to a home-sick Texan—and us.

As ever,

Othel and Bonnie Reeves

With four gallons of cream "much cake to spare," you imagine the good time enjoyed by all the twenty-five who were present.

Then to cap it all off—a beautiful table spread with appetizers to match was presented to "pastoret".

The pastor and family joyfully saying "thank you" and have enjoyed your fellowship—the cream and cake, too, surely say "COME AGAIN."

Jimmy Boyd To Speak for Methodist On Sunday Night

Next Sunday night J. W. Boyd teacher of the Men's Bible Class, is to speak at the First Methodist Church at the evening worship service. Rev. DeVore is to speak at the First Methodist Church in Wichita Falls.

Mr. Boyd is completing his first year as teacher of the Men's Bible Class and has had an excellent response. J. L. Caffee is President of the class and attendance continued to be from forty to fifty for several months; even the polio scare and the general lessening of attendance has not dropped the present average much of any below forty.

From time to time, throughout the year Laymen's services are held, similar to the one planned for August 29th. Methodism is giving an ever increasing recognition to the Lay members, both men and women, in the services of the church.

A Sermon by Rev. A. E. Bell

Supply Pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church

"THE WORK OF GOD FOR MAN"

Of course there are many things that man can and should do while on earth; but the first and altogether essential thing is the one we will discuss briefly. Until you do this you have no claim on God, neither is God under any obligation to you. The Lord Jesus makes this clear in the sixth chapter of John's Gospel, Verses 28-29. He is in conversation with a group of people gathered around him because they had eaten of the food miraculously produced by His great power. From the few loaves and fishes. What I think matters little, what God says is all. Here the God-man says in substance, "Do you wish to do the will or work the works of God, then I will tell you what to do. Believe on Him whom He hath sent." Now, dear reader, you and the entire world lie in darkness and without hope, without faith, in the all-atoning blood and all sufficient grace of a crucified and a living Christ. The Bible knows nothing of reaching a man without simple trust in the Lord Jesus. Even before he was born, people believed on Him yet to come, and the priest offered animal sacrifices for their sins, and God winked at them (or passed over their sins) because they trusted Christ to come and make the supreme sacrifice. Abraham believed God and it was counted to him for righteousness. Gen. 15-6. In the dispensation of Grace, this great promise to Abraham is in full effect. God reckons all righteous who believe on the Lord Jesus. The righteousness of God is imputed to all who believe on Him. Listen, Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter, "Fear God and keep His commandment", for this is the whole duty of man. Ecclesiastes, 12-13. Today He commands us to repent and believe on Him whom he hath sent, Acts 17-30,31; Acts 16-31. Just and his demons know there is a Saviour is not enough. The devil and his demons know God, a God, a Saviour of Christ—but do not trust Him, but tremble in His wonderful presence. To believe on Him means to rely on Him to hide in Him. As your Lord and Master. In Noah's day many people saw the ark and believed about it, but not in it. And they perished because of unbelief, only eight were saved, by faith in John 1-12-13 we find an account of those who by faith received Him and were born of God. My dear sinner friend the will of God for you is to trust in Jesus. This is the way to peace, happiness, and nobility. The way home is Jesus, the blood sprinkled way. This is the way, this is the work of God.

God bless you is my prayer.

Hershey Calls For Draft of Fathers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Only the possibility of a congressional stop order remains to prevent the drafting this year of seven out of every 100 pre-Pearl Harbor fathers in the nation's dwindling man power reservoir.

Assembly of God Revival Continues

The revival at the Assembly of God Church at Corner of Ave. B and College is making great progress and is in the second week. The interest is increasing. The evangelist J. D. Mahaffey is doing some fine preaching; in fact he is knocking on everyone's door with his messages. He is preaching the old fashioned gospel. Services begin each evening at 8:30 and the public is invited to attend these services and to enjoy the Spiritual blessings.

Friday night there will be a "Special Divine Healing" Service and you are invited to bring the sick to this service to be prayed for. Last Friday night there were a goodly number who were gloriously healed, one woman was brought in who could not get there without assistance and has been working in the altar each night since. God is still healing in these days as He did in the past days, for He is "The same yesterday and today and forever." This revival will continue as long as the Lord leads, Pastor Worth Williams says.

CARIBBEAN CONSPIRACY

by BRENDA CONRAD

THE STORY SO FAR: Anne Heywood, beautiful daughter of a wealthy New York newspaper publisher, goes to Puerto Rico on an assignment for her father's paper...

CHAPTER XVI

Pete Wilcox came into the lobby of the Granada. "Is Miss Heywood in?" he asked.

It seemed like hours before he could wrench himself loose from the tiled floor and get away.

Anne closed the door of her room and stood for a moment in the dark, leaning her head back against the frame, her eyes closed.

She tried to control herself. "I... gave them to Mr. Taussig. He said if he could see them for half an hour he could decide if Russell was the man for a big job they have."

"You're being a fool, Anne," she thought. She took her pumps off her feet, put them on, closed her eyes and jumped down onto the cool firm sand to where the street came to a dead end in the palms.

"Take me—" She stopped. The driver was looking at her oddly—as well he might, she thought. He'd look odder than that if she went to the Bachelor Officers' Quarters at Fortress El Morro.

"To the Escambron," she said. It was hard to remember what a lady did or didn't do in Latin countries. The Valeras would probably have very rigid ideas on the subject.

She got out. For an instant she hesitated, and then hurried inside and to the telephone. Her heart sank as she wondered what she could do if he was not there. She waited. Suddenly his voice came.

"Pete—this is Anne. I'm at the Escambron. Can you come quickly? I'll be outside on the walk, about half-way down. I've got to see you."

"Good morning," she said brightly. "I thought you'd forgot. I've been up an hour and had breakfast."

The slight frown on Mr. Taussig's face cleared. "Splendid." He glanced up at the clock. "Where is Mrs. Porter?"

"She's asleep, poor kid." A car had come up the drive and stopped under the portico. She recognized Diego Gongoro's black limousine—Steady, old girl, she told herself sharply.

"Better make it late, and if we're back early it will be a pleasant surprise," said Mr. Taussig. "About five."

By five o'clock Mr. Taussig expected confidently to be a substantial distance from the Island of Puerto Rico. In the long watches of the night he had come to one or two very definite conclusions chiefly concerned with his own future well-being.

ten to me. I haven't got the charts, but he thinks I have. That means...

Anne Heywood opened the door. She was aware of Sue Porter, tense and motionless, waiting behind her. "Good evening, Miss Heywood," Mr. Taussig said pleasantly. "I wonder if you'd allow me to come in for a moment."

Anne hesitated, her hand on the doorknob. "I think we three should have a conference," he said. "I personally would like to lay my cards on the table, face up."

He was suave and serious. Anne stepped aside. "Come in, Mr. Taussig," she said coolly. Sue moved back against the writing table. Her face was streaked with tears, her eyes red and swollen.

"I think Mrs. Porter has explained the situation," Mr. Taussig said. "It's absolutely necessary for you to return her husband's charts—unless, of course, you are purposely trying to ruin the two of them."

Anne's eyes, dark amber and steady, met his calmly. (He really believes I have them, she was thinking.) "You do both of us an injustice, Miss Heywood," he said reproachfully. "What I was about to say is this. If you will return Mrs. Porter's property—or rather the property of the United States Government—at once, I will give you...

Anne closed the door of her room and stood for a moment in the dark, leaning her head back against the frame, her eyes closed. She was happier than she had ever been or ever known she could be. She went along the narrow passage into her room and stopped, looking at the waste basket. Maybe she had better read the girl's note after all. Not that it mattered, because that was the past, and pasts didn't count. It was just...

She stopped abruptly. Out in the hall was the sound of hurrying feet, coming closer, a quick frantic tattoo on the polished floor. She put down the pen and turned around. They were just outside. In the next instant the door burst open, and Sue Porter flashed it shut behind her again.

"Anne!" she cried. She was as white as death, her eyes desperate with fear. "Anne! Give them back, Anne!" Her voice broke into terrible sobs. "Oh, please, Anne!"

Anne went to her quickly. "Give you what, Sue? What is it? What are you talking about?" "Russell's plans... the specifications."

She tried to control herself. "I... gave them to Mr. Taussig. He said if he could see them for half an hour he could decide if Russell was the man for a big job they have. Just for half an hour, he said. I thought... Oh, Anne, I thought..."

"I know what you thought," Anne said brutally. "Go on." "But he didn't bring them back. I kept calling up, but I couldn't get him. And just now he came over. He said they were gone—out of his room. He was terrible! He frightened me so I knew what I'd done. I said 'Who'd steal them? Where are they?' and he said, 'Go ask your friend Miss Anne Heywood. She's the thief. She's spied on me every turn of the road.' He hates you, Anne!"

Anne turned her head quickly, her heart throbbing suddenly in her throat. Someone was in the hall, on the other side of the door. It was a sound of cloth rubbing softly against the wood.

There was a knock on the door. It came again... insistent and yet somehow furtive, as if whoever it was was looking up and down the hall to make sure no one else was coming.

Sue raised her body slowly from the bed. The room was suddenly static with fear. "Don't, Anne," she whispered. "Don't open the door!"

"What is your profession, Mr. Taussig?" "I am a sanitary engineer, Miss Heywood." Anne smiled. "Of course, I knew that. And when can I have this story?"

"Tomorrow morning, at six o'clock. If you will meet me downstairs." Mr. Taussig had not really believed it would be so simple. "I keep the specifications as safe conduct until then?"

Sue Porter's eyes were burning green, her cheeks hotly flushed. "That is the understanding," Anne said. "Good night, then, Mr. Taussig." Anne waited until he closed the door, putting her hand over Sue's mouth. "No!" she whispered. "No!" Then she said aloud, as casually as she could force herself to say it, "You stay here tonight with me."

She looked at her watch. It was after twelve. Sue stared at her dumbly.

"Now look," Anne said suddenly. "You put a chair under the door knob and go to bed. I'm going out and find Pete. I'll get back if I can, but if I can't I'll go over to your house and stay until morning. Have you got a key, and what's the nurse's name if I have to explain?"

"Maria," Sue answered weakly. She fished down in her pocket. She held out the key. "What are you going to do, Anne?"

"I don't quite know. It all depends. You just stay here and sit tight. If the phone rings say I've died or I'm taking a bath or something. Do you understand?"

Sue nodded. "And don't worry, sweetie. Everything'll work out."

Anne went to the window overlooking the ocean and leaned out. The tiled roof of the bar was five feet under her sill. It sloped up gently and down again toward the sea wall. Beyond it was the sandy ocean beach. She could get out all right. Getting back in was something else again. Still, getting out was more important than getting in.

"Don't worry if I don't come back," she whispered. "Just stay here till you hear from me."

She hung her bag over her shoulders, slipped off her pumps, fastened them inside her belt and swung her feet over the ledge.

"If I get arrested I'll phone you."

She gripped the sill and let herself down, the stucco grating against her knees, felt her feet touch the uneven tiles, and let go the window. She crept to the end of the roof above the terrace. Her heart rose. The trellis with the bougainvillea over it was near enough for her to catch hold of... if the terrace was empty. She listened, reached out, caught it and swung herself across, climbed down, brushed herself off and slipped around to the sea wall.

"You're being a fool, Anne," she thought. She took her pumps off her feet, put them on, closed her eyes and jumped down onto the cool firm sand to where the street came to a dead end in the palms. She hurried up under the palms to the broad avenue in front of the hotel and crossed the street to the taxi stand.

"Take me—" She stopped. The driver was looking at her oddly—as well he might, she thought. He'd look odder than that if she went to the Bachelor Officers' Quarters at Fortress El Morro.

"To the Escambron," she said. It was hard to remember what a lady did or didn't do in Latin countries. The Valeras would probably have very rigid ideas on the subject.

Improved Uniform SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for August 29

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

ISRAEL'S SIN AND RESTORATION

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 32:7-10; 34:4-8, 27, 28.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is long-suffering, and of great mercy, forgiving iniquity and transgression.—Numbers 14:18.

God is righteous, and cannot look with approval or in forgiveness upon sin until His mercy has been stirred and set free to act by repentance. Then He whose wrath is hotly kindled against man's transgression shows Himself as the tender and gracious God, "keeping loving-kindness for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin."

This grace of God is fully revealed in Christ and the redemption which He brought to man, but is prefigured in the experiences of Israel under the law.

I. God's Wrath Kindled (Exod. 32:7-10).

There are those who would have us think of God as a benevolent old gentleman who is easily hoodwinked by clever sinners who can talk fast to cover their iniquity. Even if He does see it, He is supposed to be so tenderhearted that He overlooks their sin.

Such folk had better read these words, "That my wrath may wax hot." The wrath of God is a real and awful affection of the divine nature and it is revealed against man who sins against His holy law.

The special sin of Israel on this occasion was idolatry, which is the setting up of some material symbol to represent the invisible God. Moses had been with God in the mount for 40 days. He had been the Lord's representative in their midst. His presence had evidently been the chief stabilizing influence.

Having their eyes set on a man, or a material object to take His place, they had lost sight of the invisible God. So they proceeded to establish this idol which would provide a center of worship. At first it was evidently intended to remind them of God, but soon it led them into heathen revelry (Exod. 32:6, 17, 18).

Whatever a man puts between himself and God, even though he may at first intend it to be but a reminder of God, will lead him away from God. Ritual, symbols, theology, scholarship, all good in their places, may become the idols which separate present-day man from God.

II. God's Mercy Invited (Exod. 34:4-9).

Aaron had only a weak "alibi" to offer. The golden calf had practically made itself (see Exod. 32:24). How quick man is to justify himself instead of admitting his guilt. No doubt our excuses sound just as silly as Aaron's in the ears of God.

Moses knew better. The sin was dealt with in drastic fashion. When one deals with a wild ravenous beast, there is one remedy—"shoot to kill." Not only were the leaders of the wickedness slain, but the ground gold of the calf image was put into water, which all Israel drank. Thus were they all marked as sharing the guilt of this idolatry.

There is a lesson here for us. America is far from God. We need to seek His face in repentance. But let us remember that we (that is, Christian men and women) are a part of America. It is our guilt, and we ought to be on our faces before God, pleading for God's mercy upon our land.

Moses was now ready to seek the Lord's mercy for his wayward people. He is the intercessor, the intermediary. God had a man who had compassion and love in his heart, and the Lord heard him. Loving-kindness and tender mercy flowed forth in place of flaming anger.

Note that God has not changed. He is the unchangeable One. His wrath is still hot against men's sin, but man has repented, and moved out of God's wrath into His love and grace. That too is always being shown to His obedient children.

III. God's Covenant Renewed (Exod. 34:27, 28).

Moses had broken the first tablets of commandments. The people had sinned and were not then ready to listen to any word from Jehovah. But now they were prepared to receive it, and God renewed the covenant as He again gave Moses the law.

There is no need for despair in the heart of the one who deals with God. The missed opportunity for obedience and blessing may be gone forever, but God is still on the giving hand ready to meet the returning prodigal, ready to give beauty for ashes (Isa. 61:3) and to restore the years that the locust has destroyed (Joel 2:25). Amazing grace!

In the keeping of these commandments, Israel was assured of the blessing of God. As we pointed out last week, the real fulfillment of the law came in Jesus Christ, who did not set aside its requirements, but met them all, for all who believe in His name.

Prospectors Interested In Plant That 'Eats' Gold

The plant known as "horsetail" or "scouring plant" is actually a gold eater. Found most commonly where gold is present in the soil, this plant absorbs gold from the soil and stores it in its tissues. Although approximately 4 1/2 ounces of gold is found in a ton of horsetail, prospectors are not interested in the plant as a source of gold but, rather, as an indicator of gold in the ground. Because of its high silica content, this plant was also a favorite in olden times for scrubbing table tops, pots and pans.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

It did have a bearing on rubber use—the close to 24 billion gallons of gasoline used by highway vehicles in 1941. California led the states with a mark on the edge of 2 billion gallons. These are numbers for the "A" card holder to conjure with.

Tires for our fighting aircraft consume from 35 to 96 pounds of rubber, depending on the size of the plane. Inner tubes take from 24 to 54 1/2 pounds.

At a rubber plantation in Haiti, a 75-foot tree was pulled to the ground by the weight of cryptostegia vines which had fought one another to climb it.

Use Waste Space For a Linen Closet

EVERY homemaker knows how many steps could be saved if table linens could have a special closet in the kitchen or pantry. In one home that we know of space for such a closet was going to waste all because cupboard doors or drawers would interfere with the door shown here in the small sketch. At the right you see how that space became an efficient linen closet.

The high compartment was a door of plywood. Below this are shelves with a curtain on a shade roller. The curtain runs up and down between the shelves.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears has prepared a large sheet giving complete working sketches for making this closet and the laundry bag. All dimensions are given and step-by-step directions are illustrated. An itemized list of all materials and fittings is included. Ask for Design No. 256 and enclose 15 cents. Address:

Here, at Least, We Have A Man of His Word!

Jones looked coldly at his friend Smith. "A short time ago," he said, "I thought you never meant anything you said. Lately I have changed my mind."

"Oh," replied Smith, somewhat surprised, "and what caused you to change your opinion of me, may I ask?"

"You remember borrowing five dollars from me?"

"Yes."

"You said that if I lent it to you, you would be indebted to me forever."

"Yes."

"Well, you're keeping your word like a man."

AROUND THE HOUSE

Household ammonia will remove finger prints from window panes and glass tabletops.

These hot nights place your fan in an open window, facing the room. The air should not strike sleepers.

People with normal digestions will have no trouble digesting hot, new breads if they are eaten with roughage foods and not in excess.

After filling jars in canning season test them for leaks by tapping the bottoms with a knife or spoon. The sound will tell whether or not the jar is sealed.

Oil, grease and tar stains respond to kerosene. Some women put a cup of kerosene in the suds when washing work clothes.

Marks caused by match-striking on a painted surface can be removed by rubbing with a out lemon.

Christmas . . .

Weeks are required for a ship to reach many of these stations. There can be no assurance, of course, that the first ship sailing for any of these locations will have space available to carry Christmas parcels. Gifts may have to wait until vitally needed supplies and equipment have been shipped, to assure victory and to save the lives of our men. If the parcels are not mailed early, that delay may prove to be just enough to prevent their arrival by Christmas day, with consequent disappointment to the men who are offering their lives for their country and ours.

Mail of all kinds is vital to the spirit of fighting men. Every officer who has inspected our Army and Navy postal facilities overseas has reported that thousands of fighting men disregard mess call when it conflicts with mail call, and that the spirit and efficiency of their men receive a distinct lift when mail is distributed, and that a delay in mail service caused a decided decline in spirit with a consequent let down in efficiency.

A disconsolate soldier or sailor who thinks he has been forgotten at Christmas obviously is not at his best. So the gifts MUST be mailed on time so that they can arrive on time.

Rules for Christmas mailings to the fighting forces overseas were made public in June for the guidance of early shoppers. They include:

Intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited. Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, must have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages.

Since the armed forces are being plentifully supplied with food and clothing, the Army and Navy recommend against these as gifts.

Addresses must be written clearly and completely. In addition to the return address of the sender, a parcel for an Army man should show the name, rank, Army serial number, branch of service, organization, Army post office number, and name of post office through which the parcel is routed. A typical address for an Army man:

Private John R. Doe (Army serial number)
Company F, 167th Infantry
A. P. O. 810, c/o Postmaster
New York, N. Y.

The address on a parcel for a Navy man should include the name and rank or rating of the addressee, the Naval unit to which he is assigned and the Navy number assigned thereto, or the name of his ship, and the fleet post office through which the parcel is routed. A typical Navy address:

John M. Jones, Seaman first class, U. S. Navy

SAY WHAT YOU THINK!

In Germany, Japan, and Italy you can not say what you think—you never could. In dictator countries, to speak the simple truth is often the speaker's own death sentence. And if the Axis wins this war, freedom of speech will remain in memory only, in these United States of America.

Sam, Gabe, and Henry are talking county politics down at the corner store tonight. How American that is, and how close to our hearts, as Americans, is the freedom, the thrilling sense of liberty it represents!

In America, freedom of speech, the right to say what you think, is one of the things that has made our country great. We cherish it, would fight and die for it.

Yes, freedom of speech is one of the first principles of the American way. It is like freedom of the press, freedom of religion, freedom of initiative, and freedom from want and fear. Anything else is unthinkable.

Listen to them: "Why, I wouldn't vote for them fellas," says Gabe . . . Speak your mind, Gabe . . . and you, Henry . . . and you, Sam. This is America!

Rodeo To Be Held With Fair

Iowa Park, Aug. 24.—A real "ride 'em cowboy" rodeo, without which no fair in West Texas could be a typical show, will be staged at the Wichita County Fair on September 2, 3, and 4, at eight thirty each evening. A feature which will add much to the enjoyment for the spectators is the fact that only amateurs will be entered as performers. Ranch boys and farm hands from surrounding counties and local talent will be the entertainers.

Ted Overbey will announce the events. Dewey Spruiell, with his educated mule, will do the clowning acts. Will Hodges of Bellevue, son of W. L. Hodges of Valley View; Lige Reid, Jr., of the Tom Burnett ranch; Lois Blair and Sonny Lavender of Mankins; Ward Stine of Ringgold, Bill Overbey, Wayne Lehman, and Wilburn Bedford of Iowa Park, and Arnold Morris and the Payne Brothers of Wichita Falls are samples of the amateurs who will enter the contests in calf roping, broncho riding, and double mugging. The girl sponsors ribbon roping promises a lot of fun. O. M. Jones and Lee Lovell will be the flagmen.

Those interested in registering will not that rodeo offices have been opened in the Iowa Park Confectionery. Local promoters are Boss Smith, Sol and Wayne Lehman, Bill Overbey, and Dewey Spruiell. Cap Benson of Temple will be one of the judges. The old baseball field just west of the fair grounds has been put in shape, new grandstands have been built, and a good lighting system will be ready for service this Friday evening, when a group of cowhands will try out the field in a calf roping contest open to the public. The rodeo is already off to a good start.
