Texas State Guard, Company C Of Burkburnett Needs Recruits

Platoon Sgt. E. Mowery of Company "C", 25th Battalion, of Burkburnett makes his initial appeal for more recruits among local men:

Attention, you! By amending the National Defense Act, Congress authorized the creation of defense guards in the various states, set up under authority of the War Department.

The Texas State Guard was created by the Texas Legislature in an act of February 14th, 1941, to perform a specific duty.

Thus, the State Guard is not a purposeless fly-by-night organization conceived by an imaginative promoter or some street-corner crackpot. Nor is it made up of amiable and well meaning oldsters. Nor is it filled with play soldiers armed with pop guns.

The Guard was established with authority to perform a necessary function in this nation at war. The Secretary of War, the Congress, the Governor of the State attest to and endorse the necessity of this function, which is to contribute to the security of this state and the U.S.A.

HARDIN GRADE SCHOOL SCHEDULE

Monday, October 25th, the doors at Hardin Grade School will be open at 9:05 a. m. and the students will be tardy at 9:35 a. m. The teachers are to report for study at 9:00 a. m. The Supervised play period in the morning for the first, second, third and fourth grades will be from 11:00 to 11:20 a. m. First and second grades will get out for lunch at 12:05 p. m. Fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades will return to work at 1:00 p. m. Third and fourth grades will return to work at 1:10 p. m. Fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades will return to work at 1:25 p. m. Afternoon Supervised play period for the first, second, third and fourth grades will be from 2:45 p. m. to 3:05 p. m. First grades will be dismissed at 3:05. Second grades will be dismissed at 3:45 p. m. Third and fourth grades will be dismissed at 4:15 p. m. Fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades will be dismissed at 4:30 p. m.

The State Guard is prepared to be the first holding force in the face of an invasion (Rotterdam thought it impossible, too); to guard up paratroopers; to round vital installations; and perhaps most important of all is it stands ready to handle civil disturbances, riots and disorders.

State Guardsmen also feel an obligation to the men in the armed services, whose stakes here at home likewise are high and no less dear. Do you feel any such obligation?

Clara Lutheran Church To Observe Mission Day

Trinity Lutheran Church at Clara, will observe its annual Mission Day next Sunday, with three special services. Guest speakers will occupy the pulpit and a large attendance is anticipated.

The morning service begins at 11 a. m., with the Rev. E. H. Riese, of Littlefield, delivering the sermon.

The afternoon service, beginning at 8:00 p. m., Chaplain Mel Wertman, of Sheppard Field, will bring the festival message.

Dinner and luncheon will be served at the Parish school building by the ladies of the congregation.

The purpose of Mission Day, as the name suggests, is to stimulate interest in world-wide missions. An observance of this kind is doubly indicated at this time. We must redouble our efforts to bring the Gospel of Christ crucified to the world torn by war and hatreds. We must prepare for the future. The postwar world will be one of immense suffering. A wave of materialism, a general letdown, moral fatigue, civic strife will come as the aftermath of war. The Christian Church must be prepared to proclaim the Gospel everywhere as soon as the war ends, to bring comfort to millions of discomfited souls and to counteract the moral letdown throughout the world.

In view of these facts, annual Mission Day, is of the greatest importance and meaning at this time.

Let us come in large numbers and be encouraged to work, pray, and give for missions.

Paul Kaiser, Pastor.

Burk 'Dogs To Play Childress 'Cats Friday

Coach A. D. Beck looks upon a recent series of accidents which have laid up three of his first-string men, with a sad eye. The bulldogs meet Childress this week, classed as one of the top teams in this district, in the third conference game to be played this year. The game is to be played in the Bulldog stadium, beginning at 8:00 p. m. Also leaving for the navy will be Buster Hughes, who has been filling the fullback spot on the team. Hughes is the only 'Dog who has some football work behind him before this year.

Practice sessions this week practically wrecked Beck's lineup, with three men going to the bench with injuries during one day's scrimmage.

In the face of all the, Coach is optimistic, and is confident that his boys will give a good account of themselves, though they tackle superior forces.

Aleutian Veteran On Rotary Program

First-class Electrician's Mate Ray Hayes, who has just returned from the Aleutian Islands, told of some of his experiences and the hardships and wonderful job the army and navy was doing in that faraway place. He defended the navy position in the battle at Kiska, stating that to those who have never been there do not have any idea of the weather conditions. He stated that the fog there was thick as a knife and the Japs knew the weather conditions better than Americans and they also had the advantage of fighting from the top of the hills, while the Allies were in the valley. The Japs would wait for the fog to life and then fire right down on the Americans.

Geo. McClarty, chairman of Burkburnett's 2nd War Chest Drive was present and made a few remarks and urged the Rotarians to give liberally when called upon.

Guests were Lon Howard and W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls. Dr. Sullivan had as his guest, Jack Scott, and Dr. Holt of Sheppard Field, was the guest of Carl Morrison.

BURKBURNETT STAR, THURSDAY, OCT. 21, 1943

The Old and the New

Some Burk Burnett merchants still figure on taking business as it comes, hoping that they have made enough of a name for themselves that they don't need to hump to keep going. There are others who, no matter what conditions are, try always to attract new customers. They go out of their way for new trade, but let the old ones take care of themselves, figuring they will always be there. You can take your choice of which merchant will build up a better business. Consider the third type of merchant however, who sells and advertises, who attracts new business and keeps the old satisfied. Both new and old pass through his door, establish trade for him beyond his store building. They pass on the word of their satisfaction through service. Too many businessmen today cover personal negligence by using the war for an excuse. They have always been lax in reordering, stocking goods, trying to secure new merchandise and attempting to please customers. Now they use the war as an alibi. This is a policy that is sadly lacking in business acumen. We know that war measures have restricted, curtailed and limited goods, but too many times we are getting down-right inefficiency covered up with a film of war powder. Blow it off and you will find a dealer who, after the war, is going to have to scrape a bit to regain his lost customers, and he may not get them back again if they have found satisfaction across the street or around the block.

Getting Our Breath

It has been suggested that we take time, after the final peace, to get our breath and regain our proper perspective of governments before we sit down to make contracts regarding them-and-us. It sounds like the advice that says count to ten before you speak or think before you leap. This sort of wisdom has been proven worthy through the years and will not fail us today and tomorrow. We hear many extreme ideas propounded by many people. There are theories that might involve us in a situation that might later destroy us, unless we think carefully. Each nation will try to command that which is most acceptable to her security and her possessions. Can we cool off enough to use international reasoning, to stay tightly with our country and look out for her good, for the best for her people as well as to consider the welfare of the rest of the world's people? Time will help us see more clearly.

They Have An Answer

Someone asks why we fight as we so fight. We haven't been brought up to fear a conquering nation, to understand the foreign intrigue of bickering countries, to know hate for our neighbor over the border. Our soldiers have been criticized by those who say they do not know why they fight or what they want from the peace. Ask a soldier why he fights. Does he hate that German he is out to "get", does he know of Hitler's policies and hopes, of Japan's intentions should she gain her point? He will tell you he is fighting an enemy, not because he was called a German but because he is a foe. The soldier will point out that there is no country like his own and that he will die, if necessary to preserve it. He might add that he has always liked a good fight, has been getting a thrill out of the adventure, of tasting of danger on land, at sea or in the air. Many personalities, many ways of expression but all fight through loyalty to their homeland and to get back quickly to that home. Not ponderous thinking, but straightforward facts from Burk Burnett boys and all men behind the guns.

What Next

Maybe most of us haven't had time to give much thought about the sort of autos the manufacturers will produce in peacetime. We have seen some pictures of probable models that show more advanced stream-lining. That there will be alterations, there is no doubt, with laboratories right today altering and proving, in preparation for the product to go on the market after the war. Of one thing we in Burk Burnett feel pretty certain, and that is that the automobile of the future will NOT have a guarantee that it won't kill. Whatever they may do to body design, mechanism, even to seat covers, they still won't get the automobile where it won't maim and slay. We killed 32,000 people with the 1941 model! Our only hope is that perhaps we have become used to the slower speed, more agreeable to taking our time and in giving the other driver more, and thus reducing the danger of accidents for the peace that lies ahead.

Burk Burnett History

As revealed by the files of the Star 20 years ago.

Twenty Years Ago—

The recent floods of this section have been the most disastrous in the history of the country in many years. The rains which began Friday, sent the Red river on a rampage that carried away the Devoil bridge and the M.K. & T. railway bridge Saturday, notwithstanding the latter was weighted and supported by a number of heavy box cars, all of which went down with the bridge. On Sunday night at 3:00 o'clock the long toll bridge went out, the raging torrent carried more than 300 feet, while the water went out of bank on the Oklahoma side and formed a five foot slough a few yards beyond the Oklahoma abutments.

Postmaster eligibles for Texas announced today are: Burk Burnett, Texas, James S. Gore, Miss Eulala A. Smith and Fred L. (Pat) Crawford; Mart, Harry E. Thomas, James A. Coleman and James E. Cooke.

Sam B. Spence of the Chamber of Commerce was in Ardmore, Oklahoma, Friday attending a meeting called by the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce. The purpose of the meeting was to organize an association as its purpose the general promotion of the counties of Texas and Oklahoma bordering the Red River.

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Artie Griffin to Major E. Whitesides, by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Griffin, came as pleasant surprise to the many friends of the family in this city, Wednesday, Oct. 17. The marriage took place in the home of Rev. John D. White, who officiated at the ceremony.

The largest still ever discovered in the state, according to local officials, was found on the bank of the Red River, three miles west and due south to the river, Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff McLain and Constable Wade Crane, assisted by Sheriff May and Constable Ed Jones. The still had a capacity of 712 gallons and in addition to finding the still, 1,550 gallons of mash was found and poured out.

The Magnolia Company is reported to have started the one hundredth well on the Riley lease.

I. C. EVANS, Principal

The new pupil to enter L 1-1 last week was Shirley Joyce Lewallen, who came to us from Fayetteville, Arkansas. We now have thirty boys and girls in our class. We were glad to have two of our mothers visit us Friday. Mrs. McClarity and Mrs. Muler came and remained for the Assembly program.

We weighed this week and all of us are going to try to gain at least one pound next month.

For our Nature study one day, we planted two Narcissus bulbs. We're going to give them plenty of water and sunshine to make them grow into pretty blooms.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, would you mind tellin' Charlie here what you told me the other night walkin' home from lodge. I can't word it just the way you did."

"Sure thing, Tim. Here's what I told him, Charlie. There's no such thing as votin' a nation, a state, a county, or even a community dry. We had proof enough of that during our 13 years of prohibition. What you really vote for is whether liquor is going to be sold legally or illegally...whether the community is going to get needed taxes for schools, hospitals, and the like, or whether this money is going to go to gangsters and bootleggers. That's the answer, boys... simple as A-B-C."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Allied Armies Meet Stiff Resistance From Nazi's Defense Line in Italy; Japs Flee Solomon, New Guinea Bases; More Taxes Sought to Pay War Costs

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

U. S. troops stalk carefully through battered Italian town on march to Rome. Doughboys are on lookout for snipers.

ITALY:

Fight for Rome

Beating forward to Rome, Allied armies ran into what appeared to be the Germans' first stiff defense line across southern Italy.

In taking up their new positions, the Germans entrenched themselves on the north bank of the Volturno river on the western coast, and along the open, narrow plain on the eastern coast. Between the two coasts, their troops dug into the rugged mountains.

In all, the line ran 125 miles across Italy. Allied Generals Montgomery and Clark brought up reinforcements for the first thrust at the enemy's new positions, while U. S. and British airmen pounded German supply routes leading to the front.

Observers kept one eye cocked on the Balkans, where German and British units were fighting for small islands in the Aegean sea, from which an invasion fleet moving into Greece or Jugo-Slavia could be bombed.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:

Jap Posts Crumble

The Japanese position in the Solomons and New Guinea is slowly crumbling. With the Allies holding the advantage in sea and air strength, the Japs have found it increasingly difficult to supply their distant outposts, and latest in the group to be abandoned was Kolombangara in the Solomons.

Unable to use big cargo or naval vessels because they would become easy prey for the superior Allied sea and air forces, the Japs are continuing to rely on barges for supplying their advanced bases, and, as in the case of Kolombangara, evacuating men. Operated at night, these barges are hidden along the seashores by day.

In New Guinea, the Allies beat back light patrols guarding the approaches to Madang, Jap air and shipping base on the northeast coast. The Allies were skirting the enemy's main defenses in a wide, circling movement, to fall on the base from the rear in much the same pattern as their conquests of Lae and Finschafen.

PEACE AIMS:

Three Faiths Agree

Identical peace aims have been enunciated by representatives of the three great faiths of the United States in a seven-point declaration. After months of study, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, Catholics and Jews, issued a seven-point postwar program.

Salient points are:

1. A just peace based upon recognition that "not only individuals, but nations, states and international society are subject to the sovereignty of God and the moral law;" 2. States must repudiate racial, religious or other discrimination; 3. Safeguards for all peoples, large and small; 4. Equal educational opportunities and political equality for minorities.
5. Guarantee of faithful fulfillment of international obligations; to provide collective security by limitation of armaments; to compel arbitration of disputes; 6. International economic collaboration "to assist all states to provide an adequate standard of living for their citizens;" 7. Security of labor and participation of labor in decisions affecting its welfare.

PHILIPPINES:

Immediate Independence

To combat Japanese propaganda designed to obtain the support of the Filipinos in the war against the U. S., congress has received a bill to grant the Philippine Islands their independence as soon as possible rather than in 1946.

Following introduction of the bill, President Roosevelt recommended that action be taken on the proposal, with provisions for economic freedom, postwar rehabilitation with U. S. help, and military security through U. S.-Filipino cooperation.

In attempting to consolidate their hold over the Philippines, the Japs have been dining the natives that the U. S. is insincere in its promise of granting them independence.

TAXES:

More Sought

Declaring that the American people are able to pay for at least 50 per cent of war expenses through taxes, Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson urged a reluctant congress to approve the government's program for 10 1/2 billion dollars of new levies.

The program calls for higher income and corporation taxes, and increased rates on tobacco, liquor, amusements and luxuries of all kinds. The program also was to slap new levies on candy, chewing gum, soft drinks, greeting cards and other items.

Present taxes are paying for about 38 per cent of war expenses, and the additional 10 1/2 billion dollars would bring the figure up to almost 50 per cent. In his statement to congress, Vinson declared that higher taxes also will serve to prevent inflation.

The government also proposed increased social security taxes for higher unemployment payments and temporary disability and hospital benefits.

DRAFT:

New Regulations

Although the senate killed Sen. Burton Wheeler's bill to postpone the induction of fathers until January 1, it moved toward providing stricter utilization of other manpower.

Through adoption of a substitute bill, the senate voted: 1. Occupational deferments would be limited to pre-war fathers, unless employers could prove indispensability of single or childless married men; 2. All deferments would be subject to review by the appeal board within the district where the employer was located; 3. A board would be appointed to study lowering present physical standards to make use of 4F's.

In the senate bill which went to the house for consideration, allowances to service men's wives were increased to $50 and to $30 for the first child, and $20 for each additional child.

At present the 4,000-pounder is the largest bomb used by the United States. British bombers, however, carry 8,000-pound bombs. Since they are larger than "block busters" they might be nicknamed "town tossers."

LET Freedom RING!

Once upon a time the ringing of a bell signified independence for the American colonies. From that day, independence has been an American symbol, representing not only our independence as a nation, but also the personal freedom of thought and action that is typically American.

Today, with our nation engaged in a struggle for Victory, it is fitting to consider again all the meanings of the phrase—"Let Freedom ring." There are the four freedoms, for instance—freedom of worship, freedom of speech, freedom from want, freedom from fear. In the America we hope for after the war, we want to know that all of us can enjoy these freedoms, and the security they afford.

There is a fifth freedom that we, as Americans, must treasure and uphold. It is the freedom of private enterprise—our right as Americans to work, to build, to invent—to seek our fortune and, perhaps, to find it!

That is the kind of independence that has made this country great. Freedom of enterprise—let's keep that, too, for postwar America!

Auxiliary Needs New Members

Auxiliary Unit No. 264 of Burkburnett, Texas, is beginning an intensive membership drive.

We are offering you a membership in the American Legion Auxiliary today because you are the mother, wife, sister, or daughter of a man who has served America in war; because you have experienced the pangs of anxiety for loved ones, the sacrifices and hardships which war brings to the families of the fighting men; because these experiences have made you value more highly the things for which our men have fought—are fighting—America and all that it means; and because we know that you desire to continue to serve, in war and in the peace that is to come, with them, our fighting men, for America.

To get a true beginning in the understanding of exactly what an Auxiliary membership means we must look back to the very start of the organization's life.

The first and only purpose of the Auxiliary is to serve with the American Legion for America. All of its activities have this end in view.

Peace will come and the men of the armed forces will come home. They will add their young strength to the mature power of the American Legion.

You are privileged to be part of this great force.

A membership in the American Legion Auxiliary awaits you. Take it. You will always value it among your dearest possessions.

The government has launched a voluntary conservation program to make every resource and manhour available for the war effort.

We are co-operating with the government in this conservation program and are asking our customers to avoid waste of electricity and other war materials.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, Defense Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman and War Production Chairman Donald M. Nelson explain the program in the following joint statement:

"Conservation of fuel, manpower, equipment and materials is a 'must' for the United States if we are to achieve the maximum war production every American wants.

"Every pound of coal, every gallon of oil, every cubic foot of gas that can be saved means that our national energy pool is strengthened just that much.

"These savings and the countless others that will result from a broad conservation campaign may appear small in the average household or the average industrial or commercial plant.

"We have, therefore, called upon the coal, petroleum, electric, natural and manufactured gas, water, communications and transportation industries to join with us in a broad conservation campaign to accomplish these results.

NO SHORTAGE OF ELECTRIC POWER

In regard to electric power, J. A. Krug, Director of War Utilities, recently stated in a public address: "There is today no shortage of power. This is in sharp contrast to the situation as to many other vital necessities.

POWER SYSTEMS CO-OPERATE

Electric power systems in Texas are co-operating to supply large blocks of power to war industries in Texas and the Southwest.

SKILLED WORKERS PROVIDE POWER FOR VICTORY

We join other power companies in paying high tribute to the men who operate the power plants and to the men who build, maintain and operate the vast networks of transmission and distribution lines that supply dependable power to industries that are producing vital materials and machines of war.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former feature editor of a North Carolina newspaper, has been inducted into the army and has spent some time in training at Fort Bragg.

CHAPTER V

"Me?" The idea had never occurred to me. "I'm just not the executive type, I suppose. Back at the News, the boss told me that if I stayed there sixty years, I'd never get promoted. I'm just not the type that gets promoted."

"A mess sergeant, according to military legend, is a cook whose brains have been baked out."

"You're too energetic sometimes!" he roared. "Just this morning, when the lieutenant was coaching the platoon in rifle sighting and you were on fatigue duty as usual! That was a pretty one! You ran up and down the battery street twenty-two times in thirty minutes and you saluted the lieutenant every time you passed him! Do you think he ain't got a thing to do but return your salutes all morning?"

"You don't salute an officer every time you see him when you're right there at his side practically all day. You salute him the first time you see him and the last time you're going to see him."

"And then when the lieutenant explains that to you," he sighed, "then what do you do! The next time you see him, you salute him again and then ask him was you supposed to salute him that time!"

All of us rising student cooks are eligible to become mess sergeants, Staff Sergeant Adams told us in our first cooking class yesterday morning. Then we can sit out in the cool dining rooms and yell back orders for the cooks to yell at the student cooks to yell at the kaypees.

"If the cook is not feeling cheerful, he can pick on at least one student cook and at least five kaypees. On the battlefield, he is in the safest position behind the lines, since the food is endowed with more sentimental value than the top sergeant. The jokes about Army cooks being shot at from both sides are not based upon fact."

Yesterday we started to school, with cookbooks and manuals and loose-leaf notebooks for our homework. The only way in which it differed from public schools was that the naughty boys didn't have to go and sit with the girls. Also, the dunce seat, instead of being in the corner of the classroom, was said to be behind a large sack of potatoes in the battery kitchen.

In the kitchen, they tell us, all the cleaning-up work is to be done by the kaypees, so that the cook may be doing more important things. This, unfortunately, doesn't apply to the daily task of cleaning the stoves thoroughly. The stoves, it says here in the books, are the cook's tools and he must do his own grinding.

The stoves must be cleaned inside and out—thoroughly. First, shake down the fire. All the live coals must go into the ashpans under the grate. That much is simple. Then remove the ashpans, red coals and all. It must be dumped into the ash can out on the garbage rack. This entire procedure should be simple, too, it says here. All you have to do is catch the front handle with a heavy glove and catch the little hook in the rear with the far end of your cap lifter. Here we go!

During this time, you will become increasingly aware that the glove over the ashpans handle is becoming hotter and hotter. Just as you get your toe into the door, the heat penetrates the glove and you decide—very suddenly—that perhaps it's best to drop the whole matter. Drop it slowly, carefully, tenderly—if you can. Do not drop it upon the wooden floor. Look around, if you think you have time, and locate an overturned boiler on which to set it. Whew, that hand's hot! No boiler? Then drop it anyway!

You will find that dropping the ashpans, even though you did it gently, has released a small amount of floating ash, all of which will be absorbed into your mouth and nose. Patience, brother. See that the ashpans isn't lying where it will burn anything, such as a perfectly good wooden floor. Pour cold water on the glove, wait for the resulting steam to blow away, prop open the door as you should have done in the first place, and try, try again.

This time you will almost reach the garbage rack before the glove again gets hot. Slide, Kelly, slide! You won't get there without dropping the whole pan into the clean road, but at least you tried.

By the time you have finished and look about you, the kaypees have finished their work and are sitting around gazing at you as if you were a steam shovel. A very, very black steam shovel.

"Isn't gas a wonderful fuel?" Private Sher and I were sitting out on the back steps to dodge the cleaning work going on inside when we saw the sergeant bearing down on us from the other end of the battery street.

"It's no use scooting inside, Hargrove," said Sher. "He's already seen us. Look tired, as if you'd already done your part of the work." Private Sher is the goldbrick champion of Battery A and always knows what to do in such an emergency.

"We both draped expressions of fatigue over our faces and the sergeant skidded to a halt before us. He reached into his hip pocket for the little black book and aimed a finger at both of us.

"Bums!" he shouted. "Bums! I worked my fingers to the bone yesterday morning getting this platoon to pretty up the barracks for inspection. Comes inspection and two privates have dirty shoes lying sprawled all over the floor under their bunks! Private Hargrove and MISTER Private Sher! Report to Corporal Farmer in fatigue clothes."

"We reported to Corporal Farmer, who looked at his list of jobs. "As much as you don't deserve it," he said, "you two goldbricks are in line for canteen police."

"Mr. Private Sher and I walked up the battery street toward the canteen. "Is this canteen police business good or bad?" I asked.

"Coming, Mr. Sher. And a good day to you, corporal!"

Your Broadway and Mine:

Sallies in Our Alley: Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau went into the Hotel Delmonico pharmacy, made a small purchase, and handed the clerk a $100 bill. The clerk, failing to recognize him, scrutinized the money carefully. "I hope it's good," he said. "It ought to be," was the dry reply. "I made it myself." Ann Corio, mentioned almost daily by a racing paper (The Morning Telegraph) phoned the picture firm she works for and complained. Surprised at any complaint squawking about too much publicity, they asked Ann what was wrong. "What's wrong?" she yipped. "My name's in it so much that people are starting to bet on me!"

Sounds in the Night: At Havana Madrid: "He's in 4F. Walked through a screen door and strained him self!" . . . At the Stork: "I'll cut you down to Mexican size!" . . . "What size is that?" "It ain't tall!" . . . In Reuben's: "He doesn't enter a conversation. He invades it!" . . . At Leon and Eddie's: "She gets on his nerves. Her favorite perch" . . . At the Latir Quarter: "They've been going unsteady for years!" . . . In Ver-sailles: "My dear, I no longer care that you no longer care" . . . "It's worse than that, darling. I no longer care that you no longer care that I no longer care!"

The Magic Lanterns: Mark Helinger herded the whole Warner Bros. payroll into Edouard Cantor's support in "Thank Your Lucky Stars," and what did that get him? A wow, that's all! Cantor and Dinal Shore give zip and melody to the main yarn, and the olio trimmings come from such mighties as Davis Bogart, Garfield, Flynn, De Havill Land, Sheridan, not to mention et al cetera . . . Sonja Henie is still the most skillful and winsome cutie on skates, but the story has her cutting the same old Figure 8 in "Winter-time." It's all about a broken down Winter resort, with Sonja getting Jack Oake and Cesar Romero out of the barrel, or something. Pretty to look at, but the tale is as cold as Sonja's ice . . . Charles Laughton, who can make hamminess artistic, is handcuffed in "The Man From Down Under." He plays a blustering old Aussie warrior, mixed up with a couple of Belgian orphans. A Jap attack is rung in to straighten out matters, but Laughton had beer too maulled by the writers to recover . . . "The Kansan" gives you Richard Dix, Jane Wyatt, Victor Jory, et al, out thar in the sage brush country, a-fightin' and a-lovin' and a-liche-in'.

The Magazines: William Shirer discussed "American Traitors of the Radio" in Harper's, meaning the correspondents who hired out as liars to Goebbels. They were weakies, said Shirer, fearful that they couldn't make a living if they came home. Mebbe—but what about those back here whom the Reich reached? They were living high—hobnobbing with our biggies and feeling inferior to nobody . . . Will Rogers, Jr., is all for a fast break with Franco, he states in Coronet. When the Axis is cracked, he warns, the Nazi big shots will scoot into a friendly Spain and be free to cook up some new barbarities against civilization. Unless! . . . Carl Hermann Frank the Czech who betrayed his people for Hitler's marks, has more to shiver over than even Quisling. Frank, according to Collier's profile, ordered the slaughter of 250 Czech youths. He had them shot down while attending the funeral of a patriot, also murdered by Frank's masters . . . Morton Eustis describes in Theatre Arts Monthly how a North Africa air raid broke up Josephine Baker's act. When the all-clear came Josephine picked up and carried on. Showing no war will rob a performer of that bow.

The Front Pages: Sen. Lodge, back from the battle areas, blasted the "rosy propaganda" back here. He plans to report to congress that "our fighting men are mad because of the false optimism of the news at home" . . . Erudite Times opinion boys are flunking a simple arithmetic course. Last week they said: "The first front is Poland, the second France and the third the Middle East." The day we invaded the European mainland the same editors said: "The second front is now ablaze in Italy" . . . A newspaper like the New York Herald Tribune deserves every American's applause. Thoroughly Republican, but it never forgets it belongs to America, which made both parties possible.

Observations: The hungriest street in the world—the one on W. 33rd St. between Fifth and Broadway. Has 19 restaurants . . . The subway ads that read: "Sunner Welles is the coolest man in Washington" . . . The old horse market on E. 24th between Lexington and Second. Because of gas rationing and rubber ditto the trading in nags is enjoying its biggest boom in 50 years . . . The Brig-Gen'l with four rows of campaign ribbons, and the sailor exclaiming: "Look at all that fruit salad!"

Household Hints

For the children's sandwiches add chopped raisins to peanut butter, also a speck of salt, and use as a filling between slices of whole-wheat bread.

If pillows are forced into pillow cases that are too small for them, the cases will soon wear out.

Dried fruit, if cooked in the oven, need not be soaked first. Cover fruit with water. Bake in a covered dish. Slow oven cooking seems to bring out the sweetness of the fruit. If sweetening is needed, add a little sugar or honey.

If coconut is a little hard for desserts, soften it by soaking several minutes in milk or fruit juice.

Oilcloth covering for cupboard and pantry shelves is a real work-saver. To keep crumbs and dust from collecting under the edges, seal them with cellulose tape.

When making a dress sew the collar and collar-facing in place before closing the under-arm seams, so that the work lies flat on the machine.

When dampening and rolling up the wash before ironing, put at the bottom of the basket the pieces you like to iron best and which are the easiest. That way, the last of the ironing will go fast and seem easy.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

South America supplied 65 per cent of the world's rubber needs in 1890, while in 1922 only about 6 per cent came from that section.

Synthetic rubber is defined as a man-made combination of molecules that form a substance having the chief characteristics of crude rubber.

In 1938 the total of American-controlled rubber plantations was about 260,000 acres, mostly in the Far East.

When dampening and rolling up the wash before ironing, put at the bottom of the basket the pieces you like to iron best and which are the easiest.

Bulldogs And Cubs Put Up Good Battle

By W. E. Laxon
Star Sports Reporter

A Bulldog line, that showed marked improvement over previous games failed to hold Olney's only serious threat Friday when they lost 6-0 in the closing minutes of the contest.

Plays, including a 1 yd. pass to Ligon, 12 yard plunge by Collins, and two other gains by Ligon, paid off for the Cubs after a give-and-take struggle most of the way until the final push.

The usual around end gains made by Preston was lacking in Friday's game, and a new spinner play gained the most yardage for the Canines.

The Bulldogs bark was worse than their bite in their only threat following a recovered Cub fumble deep in enemy territory.

After two line plays, a Burk fumble ended the only minor threat the Bulldogs mustered.

Friday, the Dogs will try to tree the Childress Bobcats in another home tilt.

Childress is out to be second or third place team when the conference battles end, and the Burk game is scheduled to be a breather for the Cats.

October 10, 1943.

Dear ones:

As you can see from the other side of this letter I have been to church this morning. When it is nice weather we have service on the seaplane deck, but in bad weather we move into the crews' mess hall.

Everything is quite regularly carried on aboard ship. We have certain days for most everything. There is a time to air our bedding, a time to get up and a time to go to bed. We have to see that the ship is clean everyday, but on Friday it's super-clean because that is the day for inspection. Four groups of officers each inspect a section of the ship. They look into everything, trying to find dirt. A yeoman goes along to write down the places where they find it. A Doctor goes along to be sure everything is sanitary. It's almost like cleaning house every week and calling in the city council to see if you did a good job.

Saturday morning we have a different kind of inspection. Every one lines up and the Captain looks us all over to see if our clothes are clean and our shoes shined. Sometimes he stops and asks us questions about our work or about planes or something else that we should know. It sure is embarrassing when he asks something a man should know and doesn't.

Each division on the ship has a soft-ball team. If our ship is where we can, we go ashore and play ball or go swimming. We have a pretty good time most of the time, but miss you all a lot.

Yesterday four of our aviators were decorated for bravery. It made us all very proud for the Commodore said when he presented the medals that we all had a part in keeping the planes flying.

Love, Wallace.

That western judge that demanded women remove their hats in his court, probably isn't planning on running for re-election.

At least you have to admit that the battle of Salerno was a close call.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Christian Science Services Sunday

"Probation After Death", is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 24.

The Golden Text is: "I have set the Lord always before me; because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved" (Psalms 16:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: Cast away from all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit; for they will ye die, O house of Israel! (Ezekiel 18:31).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy: Imperfect mortals grasp the ultimate of spiritual perfection slowly; but to begin aright and to continue the strife of demonstrating the great problem of being, is doing much" (page 254).
