Do You Want Double-Parking?

A petition presented to the City Council by the Woman's bs of Burkburnett, along with other clubs, has some good mendations for the betterment of our town. It aps in this week's paper.

The City Council, eager to cooperate to bring about betonditions here, is working on the suggestions.

One of the recommendations was that double-parking opped in Burkburnett. The Council can, without a doubt this selfish practice immediately, or make it so expenhat offenders will be few. But the Council does not to take drastic action on this matter if citizens will s they know they should do and stop it.

A careful check of double-parkers the past few days als that more than 80 per cent of the offenders are n who belong to one or more clubs here. Now do they everyone else to refrain from the practice so they continue to impose on others, or are they willing to ognize the rights of people who park at the curb as they ld and do likewise themselves?

The practice of double-parking is a complete disregard other people. When you block them from the street to yourself a few steps you are doing them an injustice. r time is just as valuable as yours. Double-parkers who ionally park at the curb are the first to raise old Billy someone parks behind them. If you started from your me and found the driveway blocked you would not like Neither do other folks like to have their way blocked own. Let's be more thoughtful of others.

UNO: Weather Storm

Fraught with danger to the United Nations Organization and world peace, the tense Russo-Iranian dispute melted under the promise of diplomatic compromise, with Moscow saving face and Tehran its CONGRESS:

Secretary of State James Byrnes, Pay Adjustment chief U. S. delegate to the UNO security council, started the happy train of events, suggesting that both countries state their position in the dispute over Russian failure to withdraw from Iran before UNO considered action in the case.

Russia had walked out of the security council after its decision to consider the question and Byrnes' proposal offered an excellent opportunity for the Reds to walk back in without losing prestige. Making the most of the chance, the Russians wrote UNO that they were pulling out of Iran without imposing any conditions for their retirement and their troops should be gone by

RAIL PAY: Balk at Findings

In protesting the 16-cent-an-hour raise awarded by a labor-management arbitration board, railroad union officials declared that the boost granted failed to meet higher living costs and adjust differences in pay between railroad workers and employees in other industries.

Declaring railroad workers were entitled to a 46-cent-an-hour increase, B. M. Jewell, representing 15 non-operating unions, and E. E. Milliman, president of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, asserted that the minimum award should have included 111/2 cents an hour for higher living costs plus the general industry-wide 181/2 cent-an-hour postwar advance. Meanwhile, railroad officials also complained against the arbitration board's wage decisions, estimated to add up to $400 per year for 1,220,000 members of three operating and 15 non-operating unions and cost the carriers $584,000,000 an-

Echoing the carriers' warnings that increased wages would require rate boosts, President Fred G. Gurley of the Santa Fe announced that the 16-cent-an-hour award was too large and his road would immediately appeal for higher freight tariffs. Stating that the wage increases would add $25,000,000 yearly to Santa Fe operating costs, Gurley said the boost coupled with higher material, supply and fuel costs against reduced income made the step necessary.

Because both the railroads and unions had agreed to accept the arbitration boards' findings as final in submitting their dispute for settlement, no work stoppage loomed because of disagreement over

Man-Made Moonlight Illuminates Austin, Texas

Austin, Texas, is believed to be the only city in the world that is illuminated by "artificial moonlight as well as by street lights." For many years, it has been floodlighted by the soft blue glow of mercury-vapor lamps installed in clusters atop 29 iron towers which are 14 stories in height and located so that their light is shed over eight square miles of the city.

Donovan Desired To Help the Court!

For some time Donovan and his wife had not been getting along so well. Finally Mrs. Donovan sued her husband for separate maintenance. In due time the case came up in court, and, after hearing both sides, the magistrate deliberated for a time, then addressed Donovan.

"I have decided," he said, "to grant your wife's request. This court shall allow her $10 a week.' Donovan beamed back at the judge and said, "Why sure, your honor. And that's very generous of you. I'll see if I can add a dollar or two to that now and

Manage Chicks Carefully For Higher Profits

Profitable chick management is very likely the subject of discussion on a good many farms at this time of year along with the many other topics relating to spring farming activities. So lets give a little more thought to our chicks and consider a number of pointers on management that might prove helpful.

First give your attention to the condition of your brooder house. Has it been carefully cleaned and disinfected? Is the litter dry and clean?

Avoid Crowding Crowding is a menace that may cause slow growth, cannibalism, uneven development, feed waste and high mortality. Make sure that your chicks have enough room to avoid any of the costly developments that crowded quarters may cause.

Observe your chicks actions to determine if they're comfortable. If they huddle near the hover they're too cold; if they gather in far corners it's too warm When the chicks first go into the brooder house the brooder stove should be regulated so as to provide a temperature of 85 degrees to 95 degrees at the hover. Lower this temperature about five degrees each week until 70 degrees is reached where it should be held until heat is no longer

KEEP YOUR SHAPE

Today you have a double reason for taking good care of your car. You want to keep it rolling and protect your trade-in value! . While production of the new Ford is being increased as rapidly as possible, it will be some time before enough new cars are built to supply all who want them. In the meantime, it's a common sense precaution to give your car the best possible care and attention. ● Your Ford dealer has the skilled mechanics and modern equipment to save you time and money. Right now he can give you fast service.

So it's good business to bring your car "home" to your Ford dealer. He knows your car best-uses genuine Ford parts-and gives you friendly, dependable service. Remember - Ford's out in front in service, too!
