Our Seniors To Play Last Game Thursday Night

Four seniors will be playing their last High school football game Thursday night (Thanksgiving) when they meet the Holiday Eagles at Bull Dog stadium.

All four boys are first string players and have contributed much to the strength and spirit of the team this season.

Burkburnett Bulldogs will play the season with the game Friday night. From the standpoint of wins and losses this season, outsiders may not think the local team has had a very successful year. But to those who have followed the team every game and take into consideration that this is the first time in four years Burk High had a football team, the record is more impressive.

FIRST DEER HUNT

Paul Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Sullivan, Sr., 409 Magnolia, killed an 8-point buck in the Organ Mountains, northeast of Las Cruces, N. M., Nov. 17. Paul is engineering student at New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

He took advantage of the week end and went on his first deer hunt. After hunting an hour, Paul sat down to rest and watch for a buck. In a few minutes a short, fired by another hunter, rang out and frightened the eight-point buck, who was hidden below. This buck made a perfect target for an offhand shot, and the buck fell without further chase.

Ernest F. Dillon, sales manager of the AleXite Engineering Co., of Colorado Springs, Colo., was here last week end for a visit with friends. He was on a business trip to El Paso and points in New Mexico and came by his old home town. His wife and two children remained at their home in Colorado Springs.

It has long been a matter of pride with Americans that theirs was a land of plenty. Bidding friends and relatives to the Thanksgiving dinner was a way of celebrating earth's generosity. The old-fashioned feast was heralded by laborious preparations weeks in advance, making ready for the holiday's groaning board.

Outside fall winds and rain lashed the shutters and beat the whirling leaves into sodden heap while inside the kitchen activity with its accompanying delicious odor made man grateful for his home and the Pilgrim fathers for initiation of the yearly custom. Who can forget the chopping and grinding that produced mince-meat, the mingling smell of raisins and currents, apples and spices that, added to the ground beef in the big wooden bowl, brought forth a pie unsurpassed in any land?

Finally Thanksgiving arrived with the household in a flurry of activity, visiting womenfolk bustling about in starched aprons to help with the last minute details. The table long with its extra leaves, embraced the smooth, snowy cloth and welcomed every piece of company china and silver. Relish dishes, the silver caster, stalks of celery standing upright in tall cut glass, dishes of pickles and molded jellies, golden butter and cranberry sauce, crowded the centerpiece of fruit or fall flowers. In steaming glory reposed the fat browned turkey oozing chestnut dressing and bring forth acclaim from a hungry assembly. Mountains of mashed potatoes, squash and candid sweet potatoes made color, boats of giblet gravy and a green vegetable to argument the already full menu. Appetizers and fancy salads took second place. Soup was surplus food. Delicious savory Thanksgiving dinner midst those we loved. And always with the memory of the feast comes the recollection of the prayer that preceded it. Sincere and grateful words, uttered before the supplicants of the Lord's harvest.

Thanksgiving comes to us this year with its grace before meat. Notwithstanding present lacks Burkburnett has abundant reason to give profound thanks. Today as in those yesterdays, we are favored by the beneficence of nature and the blessings of a benign providence.

Needed Moisture Added By Rains

Much needed moisture covered the Burkburnett area Sunday night and Monday as rains came in welcome quantities.

Although more than an inch of rain fell, there is still not enough season in the ground. Recent rains have added to the prospect for good crops next year but the season was only a few inches deep. Stock water is still low, which will be a sad note for duck hunters until the situation is remedied.

Tuesday night the Palace Theatre was packed and jammed to an overflow crowd into street for nearly a block when an enthusiastic following of the Lions club gathered to witness their negro minstrel show.

All reserved seat tickets were sold out the first day they were placed on sale. At eight o'clock Tuesday night when the show was scheduled to open, two or three hundred people could not find standing room in the theatre. An announcement was made to the overflow crowd that the show would be played the second time that night for the benefit of those who could not get in to see the first showing. It was ten thirty when the curtain opened for the second show and many who had bought tickets and felt that they could not stay so late had gone home. The house was only half full for the second performance. Lions wish to express their appreciation for the patience and understanding to the ones who had to wait.

The auction sale, which consisted of articles donated by liberal merchants, was rushed because of the shortage of time, though overall the results were gratifying. Prestone sold for nine dollars per gallon when bids came thick and fast.

CHRISTMAS TOYS

The toys that disappeared from the stores during the war, return in a gala display to fascinate children of Burkburnett. The lifelike rubber baby dolls are more cuddlesome than ever, construction sets, metal wagons and dump trucks makes youthful eyes sparkle. Bicycles and electric trains find an appreciative public while the new electronic devices on many of the toys are viewed with awe. Automatic whistles and odorless smoke issuing from a model train intrigues both old and young. Electric ranges in miniature, that cook and bake, make little girl's eyes pop. It is good to hear that cannons, guns, tanks and soldiers aren't nearly so popular in the top department this year.

A Lesson In Conservation

We were sitting on Bill Webster's porch the other night, chatting over a glass of beer—when the talk turned to forest preservation, soil erosion, and other things that affect a farming community.

Judge Cunningham speaks up: "It's all right to worry about conserving our natural resources," he says, "but there's a far bigger problem when it comes to conservation—and that's preserving our democratic way of life, our sense of personal freedom, our respect for one another's rights."

From where I sit, the Judge is right. All America's great resources, our abundant natural wealth, are lost the minute we lose the right to work them as free people in a free land!

Whenever you see or hear of an encroachment on our rights—whether it's the right to free speech, or the right to vote as we see fit, or the right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer in licensed, law-abiding places... watch out!

Analysis of Piece of String Gives Multitude of Clews
 How much information concerning a crime may be obtained from an insignificant bit of evidence by laboratory analysis was illustrated not long ago in a case of attempted murder in Berkeley, Calif., says Collier's.
 An analysis of a piece of string left at the scene revealed that it had come from a farm having pine trees, certain rare plants, a Jersey cow, a sorrel horse, black-and-white rabbits and Rhode Island Red chickens. With this description, detectives soon located the farm and captured the criminal.
 Pattern No. 8068 is for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36, 3 1/2 yards of 35 or 39-inch.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS
Corn Belt Fills Feed Lots;
British Push Nationalization;
Hike Prices to Offset Costs

Released by Western Newspaper Union
EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

With heavy snow drifts preventing feed wagons from reaching marooned cattle on Colorado ranges, airplanes dropped hay to animals. Picture shows feed being loaded in aircraft for mercy flight.

CORN BELT: Fatten Cattle

With corn belt cattle feeders filling their feedlots at a record rate, consumers can look forward to plentiful supplies of prime beef by next spring and summer, the department of agriculture declared. Purchases of beefs from western grass lands for fattening in October were the highest for that month and topped the 1945 figure by 14 per cent.

Large feed supplies resulting from the banner 1946 harvests have spurred the heavy feeding operations, department specialists said. If present corn and livestock price differentials persist, feeders could double the value of their grain by fattening cattle.

The re-establishment of a free market also has contributed to an increase in feeding activities, it was said. With ceilings off, finished beef will command a price commensurate with its quality and assure feeders of a profitable return on costly feedlot operations.

HIGH JUMP: Important Operation

Amid rumors that other nations were preparing expeditions to search for reported uranium deposits around the south pole, the U. S. announced that Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd would lead a navy contingent to Antarctica in December on a scientific study.

While Byrd's force will make exhaustive geological surveys in the polar wasteland to uncover any uranium, the famed explorer declared that his band also would undertake intensive studies of geographical, meteorological and electro-magnetic conditions. Weather developing in Antarctica affects all parts of the world.

Four thousand men, 12 ships and at least a score of aircraft will compose Byrd's operation High Jump, as the expedition will be known. No part of the task force will be kept in the region during the Antarctic winter but Byrd will establish a small base capable of supporting a small party for 18 months in the event of national need.

BRITAIN: Labor Program

Great Britain's Labor government served notice that it will press ahead with its socialistic program as parliament assembled amid a colorful medieval setting in London.

Indicative of their cautious approach to socialization, the Laborites announced that nationalization of only the inland transport and power industries was planned for the current session. By going slowly, the Laborites hope to transform essential segments of the economy without disruptive effects and at the same time arrive at a fair and sound financial agreement with private owners.

The Laborites also disclosed their intentions to regulate the delicate postwar British economy to prevent serious dislocations. Securities exchanges are to be controlled; the free cotton market will remain suspended, and the government will work for guaranteed prices and markets for principal farm products.

DECONTROL:
Prices Rising

Price rises all along the line accompanied decontrol of the nation's economy, with producers hiking items for full coverage of higher wages and material costs and producing lower prices when output reached volume proportions.

Biggest manufacturer in the industry, International Harvester boosted prices of farm implements and tractors 9 per cent to offset wage increases amounting to 60 per cent since 1941 and higher material costs. Declaring its intention of keeping prices at a minimum, the company stated that it based its increases on present costs and did not anticipate future higher operating expenses.

Zenith Radio corporation announced an increase of from 2 to 20 per cent on radios and radio-phonograph combinations.

Leading shoe manufacturers expected a 10 per cent rise in all standard lines as a result of the increase in the cost of hides from 15½ cents a pound to 30 cents.

Previously, General Motors and Crosley had boosted the price of passenger cars by $100 and industry spokesmen predicted increases in some steel items, building materials, clothing, batteries and lumber.

Long held within rigid ceilings despite mounting janitorial and maintenance expenses, landlords petitioned for a 15 per cent boost in rentals. An estimated 16 million housing units have been under rental control in addition to hotels, rooming houses and tourist camps.

WEST:
Snow-Bound

Approximately 15 people died and cattle losses were counted in the hundreds as Colorado was hit by the worst snowstorm in 33 years. At the same time, deep snow piled up in southern California's mountain regions and rain and wind lashed the sea coast.

C-47 twin-engine army cargo planes, ski-equipped ships, weapon carriers, bulldozers and tractors were put into use in Colorado to reach snow-bound ranches and feed thousands of shivering and hungry cattle hemmed in by tall drifts. On one ranch alone, bales of hay were dropped from the air to 10,000 head of cattle standing stiff-legged in three feet of snow.

As rescue planes winged over the area, marooned ranchers were advised to make one cross visible from the air if they needed food, two if they required medical help. Supplies intended for overseas shipment were diverted from the Pueblo, Colo., ordnance depot to meet the emergency needs.

Teen-Agers at Work

Teen-age employment has continued at a high level since the war ended, according to the annual report of the National Child Labor Committee issued by Mrs. Gertrude Folks Zimand, general secretary.

U. N.: Trustees' Terms

Proposals for United Nations trusteeships over strategic territories or dependent peoples ran into rough sailing at U. N. deliberations at Lake Success, N. Y., with holding powers reluctant to relinquish their control.

The take-it-or-leave-it basis of the proposals was pointed up by the Union of South Africa's determination to annex or retain control of Southwest Africa in defiance of Soviet Russia's demand that the territory be placed under the U. N. Citing article 77 of the U. N. charter, Union representatives said that trusteeships were to be instituted only through agreement with affected parties.

With no territories of her own to surrender to U. N. control despite extensive land grabs in Europe in World War II, Russia has hollered the loudest for an effective trusteeship system. Compromising differences between the services and state department, President Truman submitted a proposal for nominal U. N. supervision over strategic Pacific islands, with the U. S. maintaining absolute military control.

PANAMA CANAL: Study Alteration

Working under a special congressional grant, top meteorologists and hydrodynamic, dredge and excavation engineers are busily engaged in studying the alteration of the existing Panama canal or construction of a new waterway to accommodate heavier modern traffic and decrease vulnerability to atomic warfare.

Erected at the turn of the century, the canal's narrow channel and locks are too small for the latest warships and merchant vessels. Water storage capacity of Gatun lake reservoir will be insufficient to handle prospective traffic by 1960 or a diversion of traffic from Suez canal in event that vital artery is closed by war.

To meet modern needs engineers are considering increasing size of reservoirs, lengthening locks from 1,000 to 1,500 feet and widening them from 110 to 200 feet. Against these plans, some technicians argue that it would be better to build a new canal with fewer curves and wider turns. However, it would be necessary to clear the bordering jungle, install sanitary facilities, and erect dock and administrative installations.

House That Theft Built

William and Christina Leonard (inset) of Portland, Ore., solved their housing problem, but at other people's expense. Held by police, the pair were alleged to have confessed that they built a three-room house of stolen timber, cement and shingles, and furnished it with plumbing and electrical equipment, radios, typewriters and other articles valued at $10,000. To assure her warmth, no doubt, Mrs. Leonard was said to have included a $1,200 mink coat in the loot.

COTTON: Ponder Curb

With the recent break in the cotton market fresh in their minds, department of agriculture officials moved to limit speculative trading in cotton futures on the New York, New Orleans and Chicago exchanges.

Agriculture Secretary Anderson announced that he would ask the Commodity Exchange commission to restrict daily speculation or holdings to 30,000 bales for all futures instead of the present limit of 30,000 bales for any one future.

The department acted as its crop reporting board predicted a 1946 crop of 8,487,000 bales, 525,000 bales less than last year. Although the new crop is expected to fall below both domestic and foreign demands, it will be supplemented by substantial carryovers from previous years.

Meanwhile, with cotton futures down almost 10 cents from the October peak, prices remained firm following the crop forecast and reports that farmers were withholding deliveries for higher returns.

CONSUMER DEBT:

American consumers are going into debt twice as fast as at any other period in history in buying goods and services on credit at an all-time record rate, according to a study by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

The increase of $2,693,000,000 in consumer credit obligations which occurred in the 12 months ended October 1 is almost exactly double the previous record 12-month increase of $1,352,000,000, which took place in the year 1936, the study points out.

A LETTER ON CHRISTIAN LIVING

LESSON TEXT—Acts 19:23-30; Ephesians 6:13-15.

MEMORY SELECTION—Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might—Ephesians 6:10.

The war is never over for the Christian. He is called to a constant strife against the world, the flesh and the devil, which knows no armistice or peace conference so long as he lives or the Lord tarries.

Paul, who had now set out on his third missionary journey, was this time permitted of the Holy Spirit to witness and minister in Asia.

For three months he spoke in the synagogue, as was his custom, but when his ministry resulted in many converts others hardened themselves in opposition. So he withdrew (a bit of strategy in this spiritual warfare) to neutral ground in the "school of one Tyrannus," where he could teach and reason with them daily.

Paul knew by experience that this could not go on, for he had learned as we should learn to

I. Expect Opposition—It Will Come (Acts 19:23-30).

The comfortable and contented Christians of our day who just want to be let alone to carry on their worship are certainly not related to the real Christians of Paul's type.

The enemy of our souls is often content to let us go on in comparative peace as long as we do not bother him unduly, but once we put up the banner of a holy life and service in God's army, he begins a terrific counterattack. Paul had felt it already in the hardening of listeners' hearts (v. 8).

1. Selfish Opposition (vv. 23-27). One way to bring a violent reaction against spiritual truth is to let it interfere with business. Demetrius and his fellow silversmiths professed to be concerned about the threatened destruction of the heathen worship of Diana.

Many of the enemies of the gospel in our time are fighting against God's Word because they are in a business which is condemned by it.

2. Senseless Tumult (vv. 28-30). Knowing that their opposition was without true foundation, they inspired and agitated a wild demonstration.

Shouting a slogan which had no real meaning, they lent their voices to the tumultuous agitation against God. Finally, one sensible man, fearing the punishment of city officials, quieted them (Acts 19:35-41).

The Ephesians were just like many in our day who fear man more than God. But, may we ask, if you fear the judgment of men, how think you to escape the judgment of God? After all, it is God and His Word you oppose, unconverted friend. Do you think He will hold you guiltless?

Paul was not afraid (v. 30), for he had also learned that the servant of the Lord can

II. Count on God—He Will Deliver (Eph. 6:13-18).

Writing to the church in this very city where the Lord opened "a great door and effectual" for Paul (1 Cor. 16:9), he admonishes them and us to make full use of the provision which God has made for victorious warfare.

There is a complete armor, and a mighty weapon, the sword of the Spirit, but none will do us the slightest good unless we put it on and go into battle. If we think we can do without the breastplate of righteousness (and some Christians and church workers seem to think they can), or neglect to carry and use the shield of faith, we can only expect defeat. We fight great spiritual enemies (see vv. 11, 12 of this chapter) and we need the best in both offensive and defensive equipment.

The girdle of truth binds up the warrior and eliminates the hindrances to rapid movement. The breastplate is righteousness, not his own but Christ's, but it must be appropriated and used.

The soldier must be well shod for the long rough journeys and to give him a good foothold in the day of battle. Peace in the heart provides such a firm vantage point in the fight for God.

Faith is the quickly moved shield, catching all the fiery darts. Here again it is not my faith or yours alone, but our faith in God, putting him between us and our enemies.

The sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God, is our all-powerful weapon. Let us not neglect to use it. We are so prone to talk about the Bible, to defend it, to argue for its truths. Talking about a sword does not make it effective. Let's really use it.

Prayer is always to be counted on and it is both a defensive and offensive weapon. It keeps us in touch with the Captain of the Lord's hosts. We call for help, get orders and transmit news of victory through prayer.

At Carlisle, the conductor of the seedy-looking individual out ticket or money, grabbed by the arm and put him train with the help of a well-kick.

At the next station he found same fellow and again threw off, accentuating the force of nature.

At the third station the was astonished to again find chap, who attempted to just quickly enough to escape the lenience of the attack.

"How far do you think you going to get like this?" demanded the conductor.

"As far as Chicago," replied persistent one, "if my const can stand it."

AROUND THE HOUSE

When making a new dress for your little daughter, make a matching hanky. She'll remember to take one then, for she'll always be looking for one to match.

If you need a kitchen stool to get at those high shelves, use an old baby highchair. Remove arms and tray and paint the stool to match your kitchen set.

Rag rugs will stay flat and will not rumple if they are washed in hot water and again in cold water. Use a heavy starch. Iron when dry.

The material in fibre rugs is excellent and durable for youngster's rooms. Many makes have double life since they are reversible with pattern on both sides. When you buy one of these rugs see that it has woven ends of fairly heavy weight for lasting wear.

The corners and crevices of your furniture sometimes need extra attention. Use a small new paint brush. Dip it in furniture polish, then give the corners and crevices a real going-over. Makes a really thorough dusting job.

When washing collars and cuffs of shirts scrub lightly with a small brush. This quickly removes the soil and saves time.

Keep Record On Production Costs

No business man would attempt to operate his enterprise without keeping a record in detail of each transaction, each expenditure, and each inventory. Failure to keep records would make it difficult, if not impossible for him to determine if his business is showing a profit or losing money.

While perhaps it is not necessary for him to keep a record in such detail, the poultryman should also keep track of his cost of production and his poultry income in order to know where he stands financially with his flock. A simple bookkeeping system will suffice. About the only requirements are that your figuring is accurate and that entries are kept up to date to avoid the omission of certain items.

Cut Production Costs
 By keeping such a record, the poultryman not only is able to see how much money his flock is making, but also by studying the record, he can probably visualize more easily how production costs could be reduced. Flock owners who keep no records run the risk of letting their expenses get out of hand.

The poultry man has two big items of expense. These are the cost of his chicks and the cost of feed, and they may account for 90 per cent or more of his total expense. Others which must be calculated are cost of medicine, litter, insurance, fuel, miscellaneous supplies, and depreciation on house and equipment. Another is bird mortality — and this presents the greatest opportunity for boosting profits. Mortality of 15 per cent is not considered much above average, yet if this could be cut to 10 per cent or less the cost of production per bird would be reduced and income would be greater.

Increase Rate of Lay

If your birds are laying, care of eggs and the rate of egg production are the important factors. Do what you can to keep egg production from falling, and establish a system for handling and storing eggs in such a way as to maintain the highest possible quality between the time they are hatched and when they are taken to market.

How you manage your flock will probably determine whether your expenses are greater or less than average. Be alert for every opportunity to pare your costs without risking the good health of your flock. A flock record book will help you to do this.

 Preaching Services, 7:30.
 Last Sunday we had a good day — 368 in Sunday School with a good crowd for the preaching services.
 The Training Union was just a little off—only 112, but a splendid night crowd.
 We are now facing December, the closing month of the year. How shall we close this calendar year? Shall we let the work drag, or shall we put forth special efforts and climb upward each Sunday? It all depends upon you and how much you are interested in keeping the attendance up for all the services.

Have you a neighbor who is not going to any church? Do you realize that you are responsible for every lost person, unenlisted christian in the city of Burkburnett?

The pastor will probably speak Sunday morning on HEAVEN, and Sunday night on "Our Canadian."

Bring some friends with you—be in your place Sunday for every service—invite the strangers, unchurched, and uninterested. A great big welcome awaits one and all at the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. L. L. Millikin and Mrs. B. Danforth visited their daughters at TSCW in Denton last week.
