DRY FARMING CONGRESS.

The Dry Farming Congress called at this place, convened Wednesday with the following authorities present, viz:

Hon. Ed R. Kone Comr. State Agriculture Department; Prof. Fred W. Mally entomologist of Agricultural Department; Mr. J. W. Neil State organizer of farmers institutes and agricultural expert; Mr. Joseph Edmondson diversification and cultural methods.

The Congress was called to order at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning by J. E. Poole.

Invocation by Rev. C. B. Meador.

Welcome address by Hon. Bruce W. Bryant of Haskell. Response by Homer D. Wade of Stamford.

R. E. Sherrill was elected temporary chairman.

A. W. Oliver of Woodson, Throckmorton county, temporary secretary.

Mr. Joe Edmondson delivered address on diversification and cultural methods, which was listened to with marked interest. This was followed by experience meeting of farmers from various counties.

List of visitors showed farmers present from 14 counties.

AFTERNOON

Prof. Mally delivered address covering insect pests, principles of plant development, fungus diseases, cotton root rot, eel worm root disease. His address exhibited thorough technical information which he interpreted in common terms. His address elicited the closest attention and he had to answer many questions.

His address was followed by another exchange of experiences in which the farmers discussed many questions of interest in this section and Prof. Mally and Mr. Neil were frequently called upon for explanations.

Thursday morning the committee on resolutions reported commending the State Agricultural Department and work of A. & M. College, experiment station work, etc., and requesting the 32nd Legislature to establish experiment station in each county that will substantially cooperate, also to require teachers to stand examination on elementary agriculture before receiving certificate to teach and require teaching elements of agriculture in all public schools. Resolutions adopted.

Judge Kone spoke an hour and a half generally on the farming industry, covering a wide range and presenting many valuable points, many of which he clinched by apt illustrations. He was listened to with absorbed interest and it was evident that he made an excellent impression upon his hearers.

This address was followed by another interesting discussion by the farmers touching particularly upon diversification.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The committee on permanent organization reported a plan of organization by election of a president and secretary-treasurer.

Recommended that farmers' institutes be organized in each county, one or more, and that each president of an institute be ex-officio a vice-president of Northwest Texas Dry Farming Congress, and regular meetings and discussion be held as preparatory to annual meetings of the Congress. Recommended appointment of a Com. to draft constitution and by laws and report to next Congress, also to report on plan for permanently financing the Congress. Report adopted.

R. E. Sherrill was elected president for one year. Mr. Sherrill attempted to decline saying they ought to select an actual farmer, but the meeting would not hear to it and he yielded saying he would do his best.

B. E. Looney of Taylor county was nominated for secretary by a Taylor county delegate. Mr. Looney protested and insisted on election of J. E. Poole. His nomination was withdrawn and J. E. Poole elected by acclamation.

As a fund to cover postage, printing, etc., Taylor, Haskell, Stonewall, Jones and Young counties, each pledged $25.00. K. F. Hawkins of Seymour, $5.00 cash, J. C. Kirby, Rotan $5.00 cash, J. S. McCan, Rule 50c, E. A. Ray, Aspermont 50c, J. T. Cole, Stonewall $1.00, Byron B. Byrne Colorado $5.00 cash.

Resolutions were adopted expressing hearty appreciation of the work of Secretary J. E. Poole of the Haskell Board of Trade in promoting and calling this Congress also appreciation of the cooperation of Judge Kone of the State Agricultural Department and his able assistants, also of the hospitality of citizens of Haskell.

J. W. Neal delivered a splendid address on seed selection that was replete with valuable knowledge.

Owing to rain and the sudden change to cool weather the Congress was lightly attended, but the farmers who did attend paid the closest attention to the speakers and they constantly asked the speakers sensible practical questions. It is our opinion that the benefits of this Congress will be realized in a substantial way the coming year. The business men and professional men of Haskell were among the most interested attendants. Judge S. W. Scott was a conspicuous promoter and ably assisted Judge Poole in his efforts to make the Congress a success.

We wish to compliment Judge Poole for his untiring patriotic efforts in behalf of Haskell county since he has been Secretary of our Board of Trade, and we would urge the business men of Haskell to give him every encouragement in his work for he has proven his unselfish zeal for the commercial and agricultural interest of this section on every occasion for the past 17 years that he has been a citizen of Haskell.

EDUCATION AND VOCATION.

The Boston school board has established a "vocation bureau," the purpose of which is to ascertain the condition, the needs, the natural tastes, the hopes and plans, of the boys and girls in the grades...

It is demonstrable that the fair sex pay the heaviest toll, though by proxy, to the sugar refiner. The bon-bon and chocolate girl, and her name is legion, causes confectionery establishments to outcrop in every block.

A Missouri woman ate 453 nails, 42 screws, 9 bolts, 5 teaspoon handles, 1 nail file, 3 pieces of steel, 5 thimbles, 3 salt-shaker tops, 10 tapers for three-eighths-inch bolts, 63 buttons, 105 safety pins, 115 hairpins, 52 carpet tacks, 136 common pins, 16 large white-headed pins, 57 needles, 7 broken coatrack hooks, one string of beads four feet long, 70 large beads, loose; 85 small stones and pieces of glass, 7 prune seeds, 54 pieces of metal weighing three ounces, 19 hooks and eyes and a few other odds and ends, and now she is dead.

STORM SWEEPS CUBA MANY MAY BE LOST

HEAVY LOSSES HAVE BEEN SUFFERED AROUND HAVANA—N TEXAS IS SAFE.

PROPERTY LOSS IS MILLIONS

Wireless Telegraph Outfits Paralyzed and Land Lines Have Blown Down.

Washington, Oct. 18: The following special hurricane bulletin was issued by the Weather Bureau here.

"The hurricane which passed over Havana has moved northward during the day, the center having apparently passed close to and west of Key West, where a maximum wind of seventy-two miles an hour was reported before the wind gauge was carried away by the storm.

"While the hurricane winds have been confined to Cuban waters and Southern Florida, high winds have prevailed as far north as Jacksonville and high tides and heavy seas well into the Gulf of Mexico as far west as Galveston.

"Hurricane warnings have been displayed over the entire Florida Peninsula and thence northward on the Atlantic Coast to Elizabeth City, N. C., and emergency warning have been issued to the various stations in Florida to adopt every means of saving life and property.

"Moreover, storm warnings are displayed on the Gulf Coast, west of Appalachicola to and including Louisiana, and on the Atlantic Coast at the various stations from Hatteras northward to the Delaware capes. Shipping interests have been fully advised of the progress of this dangerous storm beginning with Thursday last."

What is believed to be one of the most destructive hurricanes experienced in some time in the Gulf of Mexico has caused millions of dollars' loss in property lines and possibly snuffed out hundreds of lives in Cuba, covering a large area around Havana, and Monday night was raging over a large part of lower Florida.

"That the Government considers this storm of the gravest kind is shown by the fact that hurricane warnings have been extended along the Atlantic Coast as far north as Delaware and every method is being used in warning shipping and people along the further probable course of the storm.

"This storm has heretofore been hard to trace, and since it was first officially reported, three days ago, it is said to have changed its course no less than three times, but now seems to be following a more definite course and seems to be passing up to the Atlantic Coast.

"Winds of forty to eighty miles an hour have been reported from a number of places in Florida, and although the storm is apparently moving slowly as a whole, the height of the winds would indicate that its intensity will not soon be decreased to any large extent.

"Wireless telegraph outfits have been paralyzed by the storm and land wires have snapped like threads in the fury of the elements. Torrential rains are falling over a large section of Florida, and because of inability to secure reports from scores of places that are apparently in the path of the hurricane it is feared loss of life has been heavy.

"The most modern of ocean steamships have had to put up hard fights, and many have sought places of safety. The crews on the big vessels at a number of harbors have found it necessary to run their engines while the ships are anchored in order to cope successfully with the very high tides and winds. Many small boats have been destroyed and others washed ashore.

"The historical city of St. Augustine, Fla., has experienced much damage from this storm, and last night reported waves going over the seawall there.

"Although far away from Texas, the storm has had a noticeable effect on tides at Galveston and off Brownsville and other places along the Gulf Coast. No serious damage has been reported from those sections, and last night's reports from the Weather Bureau at Galveston were that the Texas coast is now safe so far as this storm is concerned.

LAND COMMISSIONER'S REPORT

Important Recommendations Regarding Texas Mineral Lands Are Made.

Austin: Land Commissioner Robison has completed an important chapter for his forthcoming biennial report. It deals with the mineral land situation in Texas and recommends sweeping changes in the statutes governing the disposition of the minerals found on school lands and the sale of land as mineral bearing.

ABOUT COTTON BILLS OF LADING

The Formation of a Guaranty Company to Validate Cotton Bills Recommended. New York: A move toward a settlement of the difference now existing between European and American bankers over the cotton bills of lading controversy was taken up at a conference here when American bankers, aided by American cotton interests and cotton-carrying railroads, recommended the formation of a "guaranty" company to validate cotton bills at the moderate cost of 6c to 7c a bale.

This was merely a recommendation, however, for so far as could be learned, no action to organize the proposed guaranty company has yet been taken, and it is considered likely that opposition will be manifested on the part of the American cotton exporters.

The plan as suggested is generally regarded as a decided concession to the European bankers, who have been represented at recent conferences with New York bankers by Sir Edward H. Holden, chairman of the London City and Midland Bank, which does an enormous business in American cotton bills. The American bankers are not specially optimistic concerning the outcome and some are disposed to question the practicability of the plan.

WORK ON POSTAL BANKS AGAIN

Every Phase of Public Savings to Be Reported Upon to Secretary. Washington: The action of the Treasury Department in relation to the new postal savings banks will be made the subject of a special investigation and report to Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh.

This announcement is made at the Treasury Department by Assistant Secretary Andrew. Two committees have been appointed by Mr. Andrew, one consisting of Controller of the Currency Murray, chairman; Assistant Treasurer G. C. Bantz, chief of the division of public moneys; F. B. Daskam and S. A. Weldon. This committee will report to Secretary MacVeagh regarding the designation of banks as depositories of public savings bonds, etc. The other committee, consisting of Judge Tracewell, Controller of the Currency, chairman, and M. O. Chance, auditor for the Postoffice Department, will report on the auditing feature of the new banking system.

Fatal Wreck on the Katy. Gainesville: The Missouri, Kansas and Texas special, which was put into service between this city and Dallas and other places along the Gulf Coast, was wrecked on the return trip Sunday night when nearing the city limits of Gainesville. The special left Dallas at 7 a. m. and was due to arrive here at 10:45, and was running on time. Fireman C. D. Corthen of this city was instantly killed.

Zuber Remembers Austin. Austin: W. P. Zuber, who was at the battle of San Jacinto, will be in the procession next week upon the arrival of the remains of Stephen F. Austin, which will be buried in the State Cemetery, with ceremony. It is probable Capt. Zuber is the only man living who saw Stephen F. Austin. He is the only man known here who saw Austin in his lifetime. Zuber was living with a parents in old Harrisburg when Austin, the leader of the colony, passed through one day on horseback.

WALTER WELLMAN CROSSING ATLANTIC

WITH CREW OF FIVE IS BELIEVED TO BE ON EPOCH-MAKING VOYAGE.

IN BIG BALLOON "AMERICA"

Numerous Messages Indicate Ship is Having Easy Sailing With the Wind.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 17: Sailing into a thick fog that hung low over the Atlantic Ocean early Saturday Walter Wellman, with a crew of five men, is believed to be on an epoch-making voyage in the huge cigar-shaped airship America.

Starting from the beach a few minutes after 8 o'clock, the big air craft was soon out of sight of the cheering crowd that saw the big balloon go into the air. Since then no one with the possible exception of ships at sea has seen the strange craft and the only word from her came by means of the wireless telegraph.

Numerous wireless messages were received from the airship during the day and the latest indicated that Wellman is easily sailing through the darkness of the New York coast.

The men who are making aeronautic history in first over-ocean flight of an airship are Walter Wellman, commander; Melvin Vaniman, chief engineer and next in command; E. Murray Simonds, navigator; J. K. Irwin, wireless operator; John Aubert and Albert Louis Loud, assistant engineers.

The start of the America was one of the most dramatic ever occurring in this care-free resort of frequent sensations.

Roundly criticized by people who did not believe he would ever undertake what was thought to be a foolhardy venture, Wellman started the whole island by bringing the America out of the hanger and without ceremony going into the air.

Day after day it was announced that a trial flight would be made as soon as conditions were perfect. Earily this week it was announced that the airship would positively make a trial flight, and when no effort was made to bring the ship out of the big shed criticisms of Wellman became stronger.

It was about 4 a. m. Friday when the final decision to go up was made Chief Engineer Vanimar. All night he had watched the weather and as dawn broke he decided that now was the time. Arousing the crew, who slept in the hanger, Vanimar called Wellman on the telephone and notified him that the time to start had arrived.

Hastily jumping into his khaki uniform, Wellman summoned the members of his family and soon was on the way to the inlet in an automobile. Vanimar was also busy. Calling up Mayor Stoy and the Chiefs of the fire and police departments, they promised Vanimar to help get the big airship out. When all arrived and all was ready to move the great gas bag the policemen and firemen were instructed as how to hold down the immense balloon. Slowly it was warped out of the shed, great care being taken not to rip the heavy silken bag.

Siasconset, Mass., Oct. 17: Somewhere east of Nantucket Island, off the coast of Massachusetts and approximately 300 miles from Atlantic City, the starting point, Walter Wellman's airship America signaled a wireless "all's well" and a good-bye at 12:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon and swung on up the coast through the fog.

At 9 o'clock Siasconset first came into touch with the giant dirigible. Then, although the wireless range of the craft is comparatively short, owing to the necessarily limited power and antennae, the station was surprised to hear its call, "MCS," clear and strong, followed by "W," the code signal, from the airship.

Judging from the strength of the signals it was assumed that the America was in close proximity to Nantucket, and immediately all the life saving stations and light houses on the island were notified by telephone

WRECK ON FRISCO; 41 INJURED

Derailment Occurs on Bridge Over Culvert and Cars Are Soon Off the Track.

Tulhina, Okla., Oct. 14.—Forty-one people were more or less injured in a wreck that occurred when the Frisco train, known as the Limited, partly went through a seventy-five-foot culvert, between here and Compton, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The train at the time was going thirty miles an hour.

The accident is said to have been caused by the swinging of the tank car or tender in the rear of the engine, which, when it jumped the track, caused demoralization to the coaches behind. No one was killed.

Details of the accident were obtained through Division Superintendent H. H. Brown, with headquarters at Fort Smith, Ark., who, as soon as notified, hurried to the scene with a wrecking crew.

According to a statement made by him, which was immediately telegraphed to the general manager's office of the Frisco system at St. Louis, the train, which is known as the Limited, and which left St. Louis bound for Fort Worth, Tex., Wednesday night at 3:15 o'clock, was running at a speed of thirty miles an hour when the wreck took place.

While over the culvert the extreme oscillation from the right to left of the heavy water tender in the rear of the engine caused it to jump the track, tearing up the cross ties of the bridge. The tender, however, together with the mail car, baggage car and one coach, passed safely over the torn place, but when the chair car, immediately following, struck the wrecked place in the track the upright girders under the bridge spread, causing the chair car, which contained most of the passengers who were hurt, to suddenly dive down through the spread rails and stick fast.

The dining car in the rear of one chair car, bumped with great velocity against the wrecked chair car and swung at right angles across the bridge. The grinding caused by the sudden stopping of the ill-fated train tore the bridge almost into a complete wreck.

ONE-CENT POSTAGE IS IN SIGHT Mr. Hitchcock Says Postal System Can Soon Pay Its Own Way.

Washington: "Before the close of another fiscal year the Federal postal establishment will become self-sustaining. This will be accomplished without curtailing in the slightest the service given or lessening in any respect of its efficiency."

This statement was made by Postmaster General Hitchcock in connection with the announcement that he had submitted to the Treasury Department five days in advance of the time fixed by law his estimate of appropriations for the Postal Department and the postal service during the fiscal year beginning on July 1.

With the postal service able to pay its own way Mr. Hitchcock is convinced that 1c postage is now in sight as a practical business proposition.

Funeral of Senator Dolliver. Fort Dodge, Iowa: Funeral services for Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver will be held on Thursday at 2 o'clock, it was announced. The suddenness of Mr. Dolliver's death from heart disease, while a physician was listening to the irregular beating of the organ with a stethoscope took over one so much by surprise that some of the funeral arrangements are only tentative. The funeral services will be held on lawn at family home.

Agreement On Cotton Guarantee. Atlanta, Ga.: Private cablegram has been received from Liverpool by A. P. Coles, cashier of the Central Trust Corporation and one of the committee of five Southern bankers named to conduct negotiations with English bankers, stating that a form of cotton bill of lading guarantee has finally been agreed upon, to be effective when the old form expires, Oct. 31. Copies of these forms, it was said, have been mailed to the United States and the new phrasing and conditions have also been given to the press.

Conditional Gift of $250,000. Cleveland, Ohio: Announcement has been made of a conditional gift of $250,000 by John D. Rockefeller to the medical department of Western Reserve University. The gift, which is a personal one, is made conditional on the raising of $750,000 more by the university. H. M. Hanna, well known as trotting horse owner and enthusiast, has pledged $250,000 of the remainder of the proposed million dollar fund, according to the same announcement.

PORTUGAL SITUATION QUIETING

Decree Has Been Issued Granting Amnesty to All Military and Naval Offenders.

Lisbon, Portugal: The provisional government has received a telegram from President Comesse of Switzerland announcing that government's recognition of the Portuguese Republic. The British minister, Sir Francis I. Villiers, handed the Premier a note stating that Great Britain would recognize the Republic as soon as it was convinced that the revolution was absolutely ended and affairs in Portugal were in a normal state.

The government has issued a decree granting general amnesty to all military and naval offenders. The patriarch of Lisbon, Monsignor Tont, is announced, has signified his allegiance to the new regime.

Senor Teixeira Sousa, leader of the regenerator party, is organizing a new party which will accept republican institutions.

A commission composed of officials of the ministry of finance has been appointed to make an inventory of the royal palace and decide what property belongs to the King personally. This commission will also investigate the outstanding debts of the members of the royal family.

Jose Velvas, the new Minister of Finance, in an interview, said that one of the first acts of the government would be to impose secular education. At the same time the Republicans would fully recognize liberty of conscience. They did not care to destroy religious sentiment, but only would obligate the priests to confine themselves to spiritual matters.

Speaking with reference to financial conditions the Minister said that the government intended to readjust taxation and make the colonies bear their own administration charges. This, he added, would meet a third of the existing deficit without injuring the colonies, the preservation and development of which would be of supreme interest in Portugal's policy.

Portsmouth, England: The royal yacht Victoria and Albert have sailed for Gibraltar. Former King Manuel and the Queen Mother Amelia will return to England on the yacht.

Gibraltar: The Duchess of Guisea, sister of the Queen Mother of Portugal, has arrived here. It is stated that the Duke of Oporto and the Queen Dowager Maria Pia will accept the offer of Princess Cleotilde and take up their residence in the Castle of Moncalieri, a short distance from Turin.

WHITE PAYS VISIT IN BIPLANE

Aviator Pays Respects to American Dignitaries in Airship—Scheme is Success.

Washington. Using an aeroplane for his conveyance, Claude Graham White, English aviator, came from Benning to call upon and pay respects to Admiral Dewey, Gen. Leonard Wood, Major James A. Allen and other dignitaries of the army and navy.

Graham White smashed two aeroplanes during the day. The first accident occurred early in his flight, and before he set out to call upon the dignitaries of the State, War and Navy, and leave his cards for President Taft, Secretary Dickinson and Meyer. The other accident happened after his return to Benning, where an aviator meet is being held. In trying to alight after circling the ground the aviator's machine went on too great an angle, and one of the wings struck a fence, tearing away a section of the fence and demolishing the wing of the biplane.

This accident put out of commission the second of Graham White's machines. While the aviator was not injured.

PARKS ARE MADE OF ALLEYS

Authorities Improving Comfort of Poor by Condemning Unsanitary Buildings.

Washington: What is being done in Washington toward the better housing of persons who are compelled to live in the cheapest kinds of structures is disclosed by the annual report of the board of condemnation, which is composed of the Assistant Engineer, Commissioner, the Assistant Health Officers and the Buildings Inspector of the District of Columbia.

As a result of the investigation of the board in the last four years 1,000 buildings, housing 2,922 persons, were condemned as insanitary and demolished, and 676 buildings were ordered repaired and made more inhabitable. The value of the buildings demolished was $36,700. The rental value of these houses in four years was $16,666.

The condemnation board is working out a plan whereby several unsightly alleys are to be converted into public parks and play grounds.

Conditional Gift of $250,000. Cleveland, Ohio: Announcement has been made of a conditional gift of $250,000 by John D. Rockefeller to the medical department of Western Reserve University. The gift, which is a personal one, is made conditional on the raising of $750,000 more by the university. H. M. # ALL OF FLORIDA HAS BEEN STORM SWEEP

GREAT SQUARE OF TERRITORY WITHOUT MEANS OF COMMUNICATION.

FEW DEATHS ARE REPORTED

Many Believed to Have Perished Along East Coast.—No Word Received.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 19: What undoubtedly will prove to be the most destructive storm in the history of the southern extremity of the United States Monday night and Tuesday swept the entire Florida Peninsula doing damage estimated at several million dollars.

Forty thousand square miles of territory south of Jacksonville has been without any means of communication with the outside world for more than twenty-four hours.

The last reports from this section embracing all that territory south of a line from Tampa to San Augustine told of hurricane winds, hourly increasing in intensity, and rapidly falling barometers.

The orange crop is that territory and the vast trucking industry probably were ruined.

Jacksonville sustained heavy property damage, but it is believed there was no loss of life in the vicinity.

Along the Eastern coast many lives are believed to have been lost and the property damage must have been great.

The maximum wind velocity, seventy miles an hour, was recorded here when the center of the disturbance appeared to have passed up the Atlantic Coast toward Savannah. The wind velocity along the coast was greater than in the city.

Mayport, at the mouth of the St. John River, experienced a wind of eighty to ninety miles an hour, and half the houses there were wrecked. There has been no communication with any point south of Jacksonville, with the exception of St. Augustine, since Monday afternoon, and all wires north were severed, with one exception, shortly before dark.

It probably will be several days before the telegraph companies can restore their service to the vast storm-swept territory of Southern Florida.

A heavy downpour of rain accompanied the high winds everywhere. At St. Augustine houses in the business section were flooded at low tide, with promise of immense damage to business property when the high tide came in.

The city is in darkness, a gale was still blowing, the swellings were breaking over the sea wall, and thousands of dollars' damage had been done property along the water front.

Not a word has come from Tampa since the Associated Press wire to that city failed in the midst of a story which told of increasing winds, falling barometer, damage to roofs, etc. The telegraph companies don't expect to restore communication with Tampa before Wednesday, although several hundred men were rushed out here on the construction gangs.

The only loss of life reported was that of the drowning of three negroes at Key West, as told in an Associated Press dispatch via Havana. The territory from which no reports have come for twenty-four hours, however, is expected to show a heavy death toll.

Extraordinary precautions were taken by the officials of the East Coast Railway, which stretches out into the ocean for miles in the lower keys and the officials here believe that not a single force of construction hands was caught on the line by the gale. By reason of the warnings issued by the Weather Bureau, shipping is believed to have suffered very little. All the steamers in Florida waters have kept within harbors with the exception of a few of the big liners.

While the damage will be heavy along the coast, the greatest loss was in the interior, where the storm came upon the people with little warning, and in some instances without any notice at all.

Engine Explodes; Two Are Killed.

Texarkana: A locomotive engine attached to a work train on the Kansas City Southern blew up near DeQueen, fifty-five miles north of here. Engineer Columbus Chitwood and a negro named Elias Hawkins, a wiper at the DeQueen roundhouse, were sitting on the engine eating their lunch and both were frightfully scalded. The two injured men were taken on a special train and brought here that night, but they were past all human aid.

Texas Takes Fifth Place.

Washington: The population of Comanche County is 27,186. This is an increase of 4,177, or 18.1 per cent, since 1900, when the population was 23,009. By the census figures for the State of Massachusetts, made public, that State, which was seventh in rank in 1900, takes position ahead of Missouri, which was fifth in rank. Texas, which was sixth in rank, will be certain to exceed Massachusetts, which will make Texas fifth, Massachusetts sixth and Missouri seventh.

SYNOPSIS.

Lawrence Blakeley, lawyer, goes to Pittsburg with the forged notes in the Bronson case to take the deposition of the chief witness for the prosecution, John Gilmore, a millionaire. In the latter's house the lawyer is attracted by the picture of a girl whom Gilmore explains is his granddaughter, Alison West. He says her father is a rascal and a friend of the forger. Standing in line to buy a Pullman ticket Blakeley is requested by a lady to buy her one. He gives her lower eleven and retains lower ten. He finds a man in a drunken stupor in lower ten and retreats in lower nine. He awakens in lower seven and finds his bag and clothing missing. The man in lower ten is found murdered.

CHAPTER IV—Continued.

Some one was on the floor at our feet, face down, head peering under the berth. Now he got up without apology, revealing the man who had summoned the conductor. He was dusty, alert, cheerful, and he dragged up with him the dead man's suitcase. The sight of it brought back to me at once my own predicament.

"I don't know whether there's any connection or not, conductor," I said, "but I am a victim, too, in less degree; I've been robbed of everything I possess, except a red and yellow bathrobe. I happened to be wearing the bathrobe, which was probably the reason the thief overlooked it."

There was a fresh murmur in the crowd. Somebody laughed nervously. The conductor was irritated.

"I can't bother with that now," he snarled. "The railroad company is responsible for transportation, not for clothes, jewelry and morals. If people want to be stabbed and robbed in the company's cars, it's their affair. Why didn't you sleep in your clothes? I do."

I took an angry step forward. Then somebody touched my arm, and I unclenched my fist. I could understand the conductor's position, and beside, in the law, I had been guilty myself of contributory negligence.

"I'm not trying to make you responsible," I protested, as amiably as I could, "and I believe the clothes the thief left are as good as my own. They are certainly newer. But my valise contained valuable papers, and it is to your interest as well as mine to find the man who stole it."

"Why, of course," the doctor said absently. "Find the man who skipped out with this gentleman's clothes, and you've probably got the murderer."

"I went to bed in lower nine," I said, my mind full again of my lost papers, "and I awakened in number seven. I was up in the night prowling around, as I was unable to sleep, and I must have gone back to the wrong berth. Anyhow, until the porter awakened me this morning I knew nothing of my mistake. In the interval the thief—murderer, too, perhaps—must have come back, discovered my error, and taken advantage of it to further his escape."

The inquisitive man looked at me from between narrowed eyelids, ferret-like.

"Did anyone on the train suspect you of having valuable papers?" he inquired. The crowd was listening intently.

"No one," I answered promptly and positively.

The doctor was investigating the murdered man's effects. The pockets of his trousers contained the usual miscellany of keys and small change, while in his hip pocket was found a small pearl-handled revolver of the type women usually keep around. A gold watch with a Masonic charm had slid down between the mattress and the window, while a showy diamond stud was still fastened in the bosom of his shirt. Taken as a whole, the personal belongings were those of a man of some means, but without any particular degree of breeding. The doctor heaped them together.

"Either robbery was not the motive," he reflected, "or the thief overlooked these things in his hurry."

The latter hypothesis seemed the more tenable, when, after a thorough search, we found no pocketbook and less than a dollar in small change.

The suitcase gave no clew. It contained one empty leather-covered flask and a pint bottle, also empty, a change of linen and some collars with the laundry mark, S. H. In the leather tag on the handle was a card with the name Simon Harrington, Pittsburg. The conductor sat down on my unmade berth, across, and made an entry of the name and address. Then, on an old envelope, he wrote a few words and gave it to the porter, who disappeared.

"I guess that's all I can do," he said. "I've had enough trouble this trip to last for a year. They don't need a conductor on these trains any more; what they ought to have is a sheriff and a posse."

The porter from the next car came in and whispered to him. The conductor rose unhappily.

"Next car's caught the disease," he grumbled. "Doctor, a woman back there has got mumps or bubonic plague, or something. Will you come back?"

The strange porter stood aside.

"Lady about the middle of the car," he said, "in black, sir, with queer-looking hair—sort of copper color, I think, sir."

CHAPTER V.

The Woman in the Next Car.

With the departure of the conductor and the doctor, the group around lower ten broke up, to reform in smaller knots through the car. The porter remained on guard. With something of relief I sank into a seat. I wanted to think, to try to remember the details of the previous night. But my inquisitive acquaintance had other intentions. He came up and sat down beside me. Like the conductor, he had taken notes of the dead man's belongings, his name, address, clothing and the general circumstances of the crime. Now with his little notebook open before him, he prepared to enjoy the minor sensation of the robbery.

"And now for the second victim," he began cheerfully. "What is your name and address, please?"

"I eyed him with suspicion. 'I have lost everything but my name and address,' I parried. 'What do you want them for? Publication?'"

"Oh, no; dear, no!" he said, shocked at my misapprehension. "Merely for my own enlightenment. I like to gather data of this kind and draw my own conclusions. Most interesting and engrossing. Once or twice I have forestalled the results of police investigation—but entirely for my own amusement."

I nodded tolerantly. Most of us have hobbies; I knew a man once who carried his handkerchief up his sleeve and had a mania for old colored prints cut out of Godey's Lady Book.

"I use that inductive method originated by Poe and followed since with such success by Conan Doyle. Have you ever read Gaboriau? Ah, you have missed a treat, indeed. And now, to get down to business, what is the name of our escaped thief and probable murderer?"

"How on earth do I know?" I demanded impatiently. "He didn't write it in blood anywhere, did he?"

The little man looked hurt and disappointed.

"Do you mean to say," he asked, "that the pockets of those clothes are entirely empty?"

The pockets! In the excitement I had forgotten entirely the sealin grip which the porter now sat at my feet, and I had not investigated the pockets at all. With the inquisitive man's pencil taking note of everything that I found, I emptied them on the opposite seat.

Upper left-hand waist-coat, two lead pencils and a fountain pen; lower right waist-coat, matchbox and a small stamp book; right-hand pocket coat, pair of gray suede gloves, new, size seven and a half; left-hand pocket, gun-metal cigarette case studded with pearls, half-full of Egyptian cigarettes. The trousers pockets contained a gold penknife, a small amount of money in bills and change, and a handkerchief with the initial "S" on it.

Further search through the coat discovered a card-case with cards bearing the name Henry Pinckney Sullivan, and a leather flask with gold mountings, filled with what seemed to be very fair whisky, and monogrammed H. P. S.

"His name evidently is Henry Pinckney Sullivan," said the cheerful follower of Poe, as he wrote it down. "Address as yet unknown. Blonde, probably. Have you noticed that it is almost always the blonde men who affect a very light gray, with a touch of red in the scarf? Fact, I assure you. I kept a record once of the summer attire of men, and 90 per cent, followed my rule. Dark men like you affect navy blue, or brown."

In spite of myself I was amused at the man's shrewdness.

"Yes; the suit he took was dark—a blue," I said.

He rubbed his hands and smiled at me delightedly.

"Then you wore black shoes, not tan," he said, with a glance at the aggressive yellow ones I wore. "Right again," I acknowledged. "Black low shoes and black embroidered hose. If you keep on you'll have a motive for the crime, and the murderer's present place of hiding. And if you come back to the smoker with me, I'll give you an opportunity to judge if he knew good whisky from bad."

I put the articles from the pockets back again and got up. "I wonder if there is a diner on?" I said. "I need something sustaining after all this."

I was conscious then of some one at my elbow. I turned to see the young woman whose face was so vaguely familiar. In the very act of speaking she drew back suddenly and colored.

"Oh—I beg your pardon," she said hurriedly. "I—thought you were—some one else." She was looking in a puzzled fashion at my coat. I felt all the cringing guilt of a man who has accidentally picked up the wrong umbrella; my borrowed caller sat tight on my neck.

"I'm sorry," I said idiotically. "I'm sorry, but—I'm not." I have learned since that she has bright brown hair, with a loose wave in it that drops over her ears, and dark blue eyes with black lashes and—but what does it matter? One enjoys a picture as a whole; not as the sum of its parts.

She saw the flask then, and her errand came back to her. "One of the ladies at the end of the car has fainted," she explained. "I thought perhaps a stimulant."

I picked up the flask at once and followed my guide down the aisle. Two or three women were working over the woman who had fainted. They had opened her collar and taken out her hair pins, whatever good that might do. The stout woman was vigorously rubbing her wrists, with the idea, no doubt, of working up her pulse! The unconscious woman was the one for whom I had secured lower 11 at the station.

I poured a little liquor in a bungling masculine fashion between her lips as she leaned back, with closed eyes. She coughed, coughed and rallied somewhat.

"Poor thing," said the stout lady. "As she lies back that way I almost think it was my mother; she used to faint so much."

"It would make anybody faint," chimed in another. "Murder and robbery in one night and on one car. I'm thankful I always wear my rings in a bag around my neck—even if they do get under me and keep me awake."

The girl in blue was looking at us with wide, startled eyes. I saw her pale a little, saw the quick, apprehensive glance which she threw at her traveling companion, the small woman

I had noticed before. There was an exchange—almost a clash—of glances. The small woman frowned. That was all. I turned my attention again to my patient.

She had revived somewhat, and now she asked to have the window opened. The train had stopped again and the car was oppressively hot. People around were looking at their watches and grumbling over the delay. The doctor hustled in with a remark about its being his busy day. The amateur detective and the porter together mounted guard over lower ten. Outside the heat rose in shimmering waves from the tracks; the very wood of the car was hot to touch. A Camberwell Beauty darted through the open door and made its way, in erratic plunges, great wings waving, down the sunny aisle. All around lay the peace of harvested fields, the quiet of the country.

CHAPTER VI.

The Girl in Blue.

I was growing more and more irritable. The thought of what the loss of the notes meant was fast crowding the murder to the back of my mind. The forced inaction was intolerable. The porter had reported no bag answering the description of mine on the train, but I was disposed to make my own investigation. I made a tour of the cars, scrutinizing every variety of hand luggage, ranging from luxurious English bags with gold mountings to the wicker nondescript of the day coach at the rear. I was not alone in my quest, for the girl in blue was just ahead of me. Car by car she preceded me through the train, unconscious that I was behind her, looking at each passenger as she passed. I fancied the proceeding was distasteful, but that she had determined on a course and was carrying it through. We reached the end of the train almost together—empty-handed, both of us.

The girl went out to the platform. When she saw me she moved aside, and I stepped out beside her. Behind us the track curved sharply; the early sunshine threw the train, in long black shadow, over the hot earth. Forward somewhere they were hammering. The girl said nothing, but her profile was strained and anxious.

"If you have lost anything," I began, "I wish you would let me try to help. Not that my own success is anything to boast of."

She hardly glanced at me. It was not flattering.

"I have not been robbed, if that is what you mean," she replied quietly. "I am—perplexed. That is all."

There was nothing to say to that. I lifted my hat—the other fellow's hat—and turned to go back to my car. Two or three members of the train crew, including the conductor, were standing in the shadow talking. And at that moment, from a farmhouse near came the swift clang of the breakfast bell, calling in the hands from barn and pasture. I turned back to the girl.

"We may be here for an hour," I said, "and there is no buffet car on. If I remember my youth, that bell means ham and eggs and country butter and coffee. If you care to run the risk—"

"I am not hungry," she said, "but perhaps a cup of coffee—dear me, I believe I am hungry," she finished. "Only—" She glanced back of her.

"I can bring your companion," I suggested, without enthusiasm. But the young woman shook her head.

"She is not hungry," she objected, "and she is very—well, I know she wouldn't come. Do you suppose we could make it if we run?"

"I haven't any idea," I said cheerfully. "Any old train would be better than this one, if it does leave us behind."

"Yes. Any train would be better than this one," she repeated gravely. I found myself watching her changing expression. I had spoken two dozen words to her and already I felt that I knew the lights and shades in her voice—I, who had always known how a woman rode to bounds, and who never could have told the color of her hair.

I stepped down on the ties and turned to assist her, and together we walked back to where the conductor and the porter from our car were in close conversation. Instinctively my hand went to my cigarette pocket and came out empty. She saw the gesture.

"If you want to smoke, you may," she said. "I have a big cousin who smokes all the time. He says I am 'kippered.'"

I drew out the gun-metal cigarette case and opened it. But this most commonplace action had an extraordinary result: The girl beside me stopped dead still and stood staring at it with fascinated eyes.

"Is—where did you get that?" she demanded, with a catch in her voice; her gaze still fixed on the cigarette case.

UNCLE SAM'S NEWEST SUBMARINE

UNCLE SAM'S newest and most interesting submarine boat, the Salmon, is an object of international interest just now and is hailed on both sides of the Atlantic as the most remarkable submarine boat in the world. This fame is due to the Salmon's recent record-breaking cruise from the Atlantic coast to Bermuda and return—a deep-sea voyage such as has had no parallel in the history of under-water craft. The cruise to Bermuda was not only the first cruise by a submarine to a foreign port or out of sight of land, but it was the longest virtually continuous run ever attempted by such a vessel. The total distance covered aggregated nearly 1,700 miles and, as it happened, the little vessel encountered very rough weather during a considerable part of the trip.

Not only did this nautical excursion establish a new record for vessels of the American navy, but it surpassed all foreign achievements. The best performances previously recorded by American vessels of this type was found in the run of the submarine Viper from Cape Lookout to Annapolis, Md., a distance of about 483 knots, and the cruise of a flotilla of submarines from New York to Annapolis, a distance of 385 knots. Among the foreign performances of such vessels there stands out the record of

UNCLE SAM'S NEWEST SUBMARINE, THE SALMON

OFFICERS IN CHARGE OF RECORD-BREAKING CRUISE

English submarines of about the same size as the Salmon, which made the coastwise run from Dover to Dundee, a distance of 512 miles, and the famous performance of the French submarine Papin, which on one occasion made a cruise of 1,300 miles. However, this French achievement is overshadowed by the Salmon's cruise because not only was the distance of the latter much greater, but it was an open sea performance, whereas the Papin cruised along the coast, and, finally, the French vessel is much larger than the new American record-breaker, the Papin being of 550 tons displacement, whereas the Salmon is of but 320 tons displacement.

The Salmon, alike to most of the submarines which have lately been added to the United States navy, is a development of the original Holland type of submarine which first gave the Americans the lead in this class of shipbuilding. The Salmon is 135 feet in length by 14 feet beam and is a twin-screw boat, being driven on the surface by two gasoline engines of 300 horsepower each and propelled when submerged by electrical power supplied from storage batteries.

By way of fulfilling her mission of destruction the little vessel has four torpedo tubes equipped to fire the latest type of torpedo—that is, a torpedo 17 feet in length and 18 inches in diameter, having a radius of 4,000 yards and carrying an explosive charge of 200 pounds of gun-cotton. On her cruise to Bermuda the Salmon carried a crew of 21 men, but it was demonstrated on this cruise that under actual service conditions such a submarine can be operated, in so far as navigation is concerned, by five men—two on the bridge and three in the engine room.

The Salmon is capable of a speed of 14 knots per hour when running awash or on the surface of the water and 12 knots per hour when running wholly submerged. Only three minutes is required to change from surface running by gasoline engines to submerged running by electrical power. The vessel has, on trial, dived to a depth of more than 200 feet without any sign of strain or leakage being manifest anywhere on her steel cigar-shaped body. A unique feature of the equipment of an up-to-date submarine such as the Salmon, is a double periscope whereby, when the vessel is wholly submerged the officers on board can observe all that is going on at the surface of the water. Electrical ranges are provided for cooking the meals of those on board, and there is a reserve supply of 4,800 cubic feet of air, contained in 28 tanks, so that if need be the vessel could be "sealed up" tight and remain under the surface of the water for one or two days and nights without those on board having any communication with the outside world or coming to the surface for fresh air. On the Salmon's Bermuda cruise there were on board, in addition to the officers of the American navy, Capt. Arturo Cuervas of the Chilean navy, who went for the purpose of reporting to his government on the behavior of the vessel.

Modern submarine boats are of two types, the submerged and the submersible. The submerged when in light cruising condition moves with only a small percentage of the hull above the water; the submersible cruises on the surface much like an ordinary torpedo boat, which it resembles externally. The difference in principle between the two types is slight, but in construction details it is very marked. The submerged boats are usually nearly cylindrical with pointed ends, the general shape being much like that of a Whitehead torpedo. Submergence is effected by admitting water to the ballast tanks or by means of inclined rudders, or both. Submersible boats have two hulls, one inside the other. The outer hull resembles closely that of the ordinary torpedo boat, but has as few projections as possible rising from the general outline, in order to present a smooth surface when submerged. Inside this there is a second hull of nearly circular cross-section and as large as the shape of the outer boat permits. To effect submergence water first admitted to the space between the hulls, and this brings the boat to the "awash" condition. Further submergence is effected by permitting the ballast tanks to fill.

When or by whom was built the first submarine boat will probably never be known. It is said that Alexander the Great was interested in submarine navigation, while subsequent attacks of vessels were studied at least as early as the thirteenth or fourteenth century. M. Delpuch states that some English ships were destroyed in 1373 by fire carried under water. In the early part of the seventeenth century submarine boats were numerous, and in 1624 Cornelius Van Drebbel exhibited to King James I. on the Thames a submarine boat of his own design. By 1727 no less than fourteen types of submarines had been patented in England alone. In 1774 Day began experiments with a submarine boat at Plymouth, England, losing his life in the second submergence trial. In the following year David Bushnell built his first boat, with which Sergeant Lee attacked H. M. S. Eagle in New York harbor. Lee actually got under the ship, and the attack failed only because the screw by which the torpedo was to be attached to the Eagle's bottom was not sharp enough. Robert Fulton's experiments in France and America (1795-1812) demonstrated that a vessel could be built which could descend to any given depth and ascend at will. Plunging mechanism was devised about the middle of the eighteenth century, but Fulton developed the vertical and horizontal rudders and provided for the artificial supply of air. A form of periscope existed in 1692 and an improved kind was patented in 1774; in 1854 Davy still further developed it. Phillips' wooden boat on Lake Erie was crushed by the

Two Englishmen were resting at the Red Home Inn at Stratford-on-Avon. One of them discovered a print picturing a low, tumbling building underneath which was printed: "The House in Which Shakespeare Was Born." Turning to his friend in mild surprise he pointed to the print. His friend exhibited equal surprise and called a waiter, who assured them of the accuracy of the inscription.

"Pon my word," said the observing Englishman, shaking his head dubiously. "I thought he was born in a manger!"

HIS HANDS CRACKED OPEN

"I am a man seventy years old. My hands were very sore and cracked open on the insides for over a year with large sores. They would crack open and bleed, itch, burn and ache so that I could not sleep and could do but little work. They were so bad that I could not dress myself in the morning. They would bleed and the blood dropped on the floor. I called on two doctors, but they did me no good. I could get nothing to do any good till I got the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. About a year ago my daughter got a cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in one week from the time I began to use them my hands were all healed up and they have not been a mite sore since. I would not be without the Cuticura Remedies.

"They also cured a bad sore on the hand of one of my neighbor's children, and they think very highly of the Cuticura Remedies. John W. Haaty, So. Effingham, N. H., Mar. 5, and Apr. 11, '09."

The Place of Honor. Farmer Hodge was of the good, old-fashioned school, and he always gave a feast to his hands at harvest time.

It was harvest time and the feast was about to commence. Giles was the oldest hand and the hostess, with beaming cordiality, motioned him to the seat by her right hand. But Giles remained silently unresponsive.

"Come," said the hostess, "don't be bashful, Mr. Giles"—he was just Giles on ordinary occasions—"you've a right to the place of honor, you know." Giles deliberated a moment, then spoke.

"Thank you kindly, Mrs. Hodge," he said, "but if it's all the same to you, I'd rather sit opposite this pud den't!"

KEEP THE CLOSETS CLEAN

Point of Importance That is Too Frequently Overlooked by the Busy Housewife.

Usually there are about the house closets so dark that except at the yearly or semi-yearly housecleaning it is impossible to tell whether or not they are dirty. They are breeders of disease, even in the best-managed households, for no maid and few mistresses will crawl into the dark hole under the stairs or back in the kitchen after perfectly invisible dust.

One solution of the problem is to paint these closets white, ceiling, floor and walls. It is easy enough to see dirt then, and the other and more useful contents of the closet as well. If one can keep the hall closet clean and find the family overshoe on sight, simply by painting the closet white, then by all means let us hasten to the paint shop and remove the obsolete and horrible wall paper that usually incurs these germ hotels.

If the closet is still dark after this treatment try cleaning with the aid of the electric flash light. There is no danger of fire and corners can be closely investigated. All of which is an advantage to the housewife who does not love dirt and disorder.

But always, when cleaning day comes, consider first the closets and, most important of all of these is the stopping, dark, neglected closet under the stairs.

TWO FINE TART SIDE DISHES

Especially Good to Serve With Game or Roast Meats—Aids to the Appetite.

Sweet Pickled Apples.—A delicious pickle is this, made from sweet apples. Cut in halves through the stem, leaving the core in and the skin on. Put three cloves in each half as in pickling peaches, then make a sirup, allowing for every six pounds of apples three pounds of sugar and a pint of vinegar. Add a few cassia buds or pieces of stick cinnamon, put the fruit in and cook the sirup a little longer until thickened and pour over the fruit.

Grape Relish.—Pick from the stems seven pounds of grapes, rather under ripe, and separate the pulp from the skins. Put the skins in a preserving kettle over the fire, with just enough water to prevent their burning. Place the pulp in another kettle and cook until the seeds loosen. Press through a sieve and add to the skins with a half pint of vinegar, three pounds of sugar and a teaspoonful each cloves, allspice and cinnamon. Boil until thick. This is fine to serve with game or roast meats.

DOCTORS FAILED AGAIN--- THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY SAVED HIM

About ten years ago I suffered severely with inflammation of the neck of the bladder and was also troubled considerably by numerous desires to urinate.

One night I was compelled to get up from my bed nineteen times. I had several doctors but their prescriptions seemed to have but little effect. At last upon the recommendation of a friend I tried Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and found immediate relief.

I began to get well after the first half dozen doses, and am now in an ordinary state of good health. I consider Swamp-Root cured me and I believe it is a fine tonic and an unrivaled bladder remedy. You may publish this statement at any time or place you may wish.

Yours very truly,

He Knew.

A small boy brought up by a fire-eating father to hate anything connected with England or the English was consigned recently to eat dinner with the nurse while the family entertained a genuine English lord in the dining room. The grown-ups' meal had come to that "twenty minutes past" stage where conversation halts directly, when a childish treble fell upon the dumb-waiter shaft from the kitchen. This is what the astonished nobleman heard:

"Fe, fe, o, fum,
"I smell the blood of an Englishman."—Wasp.

CONVINCING PROOF OF THE VIRTUE OF Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

What is the use of procrastinating in the face of such evidence as the following letters represent? If you are a sick woman or know one who is, what sensible reason have you for not giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? For 30 years we have been publishing such testimonial letters as these—thousands of them—they are genuine and honest, too, every one of them.

Mrs. S. J. Barber says:
"I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine in the world for women and I feel it my duty to let others know the good it has done for me. Three years ago I had a tumor which the doctor said would have to be removed by an operation or I could not live more than a year, or two, at most. I wrote Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice, and took 14 bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today the tumor is gone and I am a perfectly well woman. I hope my testimonial will be of benefit to others."—Mrs. S. J. BARBER, Scott, N. Y.

Mrs. George May says:
"No one knows what I have suffered from female troubles, neuralgia pains, and backache. My doctor said he could not give me anything to cure it. Through the advice of a friend I began to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and the pain soon disappeared. I continued its use and am now in perfect health. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a God-send to me as I believe I should have been in my grave if it had not been for Mrs. Pinkham's advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. GEORGE MAY, 86 4th Ave., Paterson, N. J.

Mrs. E. F. Hayes says:
"I was under the doctor's treatment for a fibroid tumor, I suffered with pain, soreness, bloating, and could not walk or stand on my feet any length of time. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice, followed her directions and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. To-day I am a well woman, the tumor was expelled and my whole system strengthened. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. E. F. HAYES, 1800 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

Mrs. W. K. Housh says:
"I have been completely cured of a severe female trouble by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and want to recommend it to all suffering women."—Mrs. W. K. HOUSH, 7 Eastview Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be holden in the county of Haskell at the Court House thereof in the city of Haskell on the 21st day of November A. D. 1910, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 7th day of October A. D. 1910, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 696, wherein A. A. Aldrich and George W. Crook are plaintiffs and W. P. Whitman, T. G. Carney, E. P. Thomason, A. C. Foster, H. G. McConnell, S. W. Scott, Mrs. E. J. Parker and husband D. J. Parker, Sam Evans, Mrs. Laura Reagan and husband John E. Reagan, Josephine Murchison and husband John Murchison, Lucy St. Amant and husband F. A. St. Amant, J. B. Sikes and wife Sallie V. Emory Jr., as independent executors under the will of Francis F. Emory Sr., A. J. Sweet, J. J. Sweet, Wm. S. Sweet, Laura Bell and husband C. D. Bell, D. J. Parker, are defendants. The nature of the plaintiffs demand being as follows, to wit: Suit for title to and possession of certain real estate under allegations as follows:

Six Hundred Thirty Three and 33-100 Dollars ($1633.33), and plaintiffs allege that the annual rent of said 81 and 2-3 acres of land is of the value of Five Hundred Fifty Dollars ($550.00).

Plaintiffs allege that they acquired title to said property by purchase from the lawful heirs of Isaac Parker, deceased, to whom said land was patented, said heirs of Isaac Parker so conveying said property being then and there authorized to have and to hold the same, they being the absolute owners thereof at the time of such conveyance, the conveyance from said heirs to said plaintiffs being all duly recorded in the deed records of Haskell County, Texas; that the defendant, H. G. McConnell, acquired the title and right to the 103 1/2 acres owned by him, as aforesaid, under a deed from W. C. King, said W. C. King having purchased from Lucy Ann Haile and her husband, and the said Lucy Ann Haile having held and owned same as an heir of Isaac Parker, deceased, and by virtue of a deed made to her by the said Isaac Parker in his life time; the deeds conveying the title to said H. G. McConnell in the manner aforesaid being all duly recorded in the deed records of Haskell County, Tex., and the said H. G. McConnell also claims this title by reason and by virtue of the statutes of five and ten years limitations and by reason and by virtue of a judgment this court rendered in the case of J. W. Yarbrough, et al, vs. W. P. Whitman, et al; said judgment being rendered in this court on the 15th day of June, 1906, and which was afterwards appealed to the court of civil appeals for the second supreme judicial district of Texas, and in that court the title of the said H. G. McConnell to the 103 1/2 acres was by the judgment of such court confirmed; that the nature, and the claim, title or interest of the other defendants in said land is to the plaintiffs unknown, and the plaintiffs further allege that if there are other joint owners or claimants of said property they are to said plaintiffs unknown.

Wherefore, the plaintiffs pray for citation in terms of the law to be issued and served upon each and all of the defendants in the manner authorized and required by law, that upon final hearing plaintiffs have judgment against all the defendants for the title to and possession of the 81 1/2 acres of land above alleged to be owned and held by them, and that commissioners be appointed by the court to divide and partition said land after the adjustment of the title to said property, and that a specific number of acres corresponding in value and amount to the number of acres held and owned by the plaintiffs be by said commissioners of partition set aside, and then decreed by the court to be absolutely vested in plaintiffs, and that the remainder of said land be divided among the true owners as the same may be ascertained and determined by the court. Plaintiffs also pray for such other relief, general and special, legal and equitable, as the law and facts will authorize. Herein fail not, and have you before said court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your endorsement thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, at office in Haskell, this 7th day of October A. D. 1910.

CITATION.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Haskell County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded, that you summon, by making publication of this citation in some newspaper published in the County of Haskell for four weeks previous to the return day hereof, Henry Campbell, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the Hon. District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be holden in the County of Haskell at the Court House thereof, in the city of Haskell on the 21st day of November A. D. 1910, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court, on the 10th day of May A. D. 1910, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 660, wherein C. A. Bell is plaintiff and J. J. Deaver, J. M. Deaver, M. F. Deaver, Mrs. A. E. Brewer and her husband C. E. Brewer, Mrs. Minnie Caundry and her husband D. D. Caundry and Henry Campbell are defendants. The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows to wit: Suit for title to and possession of certain real estate and recission of sale of said real estate under allegations as follows: That the plaintiff was on the 1st day of January, 1910, lawfully seized and possessed of a certain tract of land situated in Lamb county, Texas, known as section No. 15 out of league No. 244 of Dickens county school land as shown from a plat of the subdivisions of said league recorded in the deed records of Lamb county, Texas, formerly recorded in Castro county, Texas, to which said Lamb county was formally attached for registration purposes, and reference is here made to said plat and said record for a minute and particular description of said section 15; that on the day and year last aforesaid the defendants, J. J. Deaver, J. M. Deaver, M. F. Deaver, Mrs. A. E. Brewer, Mrs. Minnie Caundry and Henry Campbell, who are her alleged to be the sole and only heirs at law of N. R. Deaver, deceased, unlawfully entered upon said premises and ejected plaintiff therefrom and now unlawfully withhold from the plaintiff the possession thereof to his damage Ten Thousand dollars ($10,000.00); that the annual rents of said premises is of the value of One Thousand dollars ($1000.00). That the plaintiff is entitled to the possession of said property for and on account of the following facts, to wit: On the 1st day of June, 1908, said property above described was held and owned by W. F. Tompkins, and on that day said W. F. Tompkins conveyed said property to N. R. Deaver, who then resided in said Haskell county, Texas, for a recited consideration of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00); the sum of Three Thousand One Hundred Two and 29-100 Dollars ($3102.29) in cash and One Thousand Eight Hundred Ninety Seven and 71-100 Dollars ($1897.71) assumed to be paid by the said N. R. Deaver to Dickens county, being part of the purchase money then due and owing by the said W. F. Tompkins to said Dickens county as a part of the purchase money for said land, and secured to said Dickens county by first lien thereon; the balance of said consideration for said deed was and is evidenced by five notes, each for the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1000.00) executed by said N. R. Deaver, payable to the order of said W. F. Tompkins, providing for the payment of interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum, payable annually as it accrues, both principal and interest payable at Haskell, Texas, and in each of said notes it is provided that failure to pay same or any installment of interest thereon when due, shall at the election of the holder of them or any of them mature all of said notes, and in each of said notes the maker specially agreed that if same should be placed in the hands of an attorney for collection or if collected by legal proceedings to pay an additional 10 per cent on the principal and interest due thereon as collection fees, which notes were and are secured by the vendor's lien expressly reserved in the deed from W. F. Tompkins to N. R. Deaver above referred to, and which deed provides that the same shall become absolute only upon the payment of said notes according to their face, tenor, effect and reading, and said deed is now in the possession of the defendants in this case, and they are each and all hereby notified to produce same upon the trial of this cause or else secondary evidence of the contents thereof will be introduced. Thereafter on the 5th day of August, 1908, the said W. F. Tompkins, for a valuable consideration, sold, transferred, assigned and conveyed the five notes for One Thousand dollars ($1000.00) each above described to S. A. Broach by his deed in writing bearing that date, and in which deed and transfer the vendor's lien reserved in the deed first above mentioned was also conveyed to said Broach together with all the right, title interest, estate, claim and demand both legal and equitable of the said W. F. Tompkins to said land, and every part thereof was also conveyed to the said S. A. Broach, and said instrument in writing making said conveyance was on said date, as aforesaid, executed and duly acknowledged by said W. F. Tompkins. Thereafter the said S. A.

Broach by his deed in writing conveyed the five notes for One Thousand Dollars ($1000.00) each to this plaintiff by his deed in writing bearing date of February 12, 1910, wherein and whereby not only said notes were conveyed but all and singular the contract lien, the vendors lien, rights, equities, title and interest in said land then held and owned by the said S. A. Broach, which deed and instrument in writing bearing date as aforesaid, was duly executed and acknowledged by the said S. A. Broach and delivered to this plaintiff, together with the transfer from W. F. Tompkins to S. A. Broach aforesaid. By virtue of his purchase of said notes and the interest held and owned by the said W. F. Tompkins and S. A. Broach in and to said land as aforesaid, this plaintiff became subrogated to all the rights originally held by said W. F. Tompkins as against the said N. R. Deaver his heirs or assigns to recind said sale upon failure to perform the contract or purchase by said Deaver or his heirs, and is now the legal and equitable owners and holders of said notes and said interest in said land, and said rights to recind said sale as fully as the said W. F. Tompkins would have been if he had not transferred said notes or his rights and interest in said land. Plaintiff alleges that subsequently to the execution and delivery of said notes by N. R. Deaver to W. F. Tompkins said N. R. Deaver has died and left surviving him the defendants named in this case as his sole and only heirs as above alleged; that said N. R. Deaver died intestate; that there is no administration pending upon his estate and no necessity for any; that no installment of interest and no part of the principal of either of said notes for One Thousand Dollars each above described, has ever been paid, and the defendants each and all have failed and refused to pay the note which became due and payable June 1, 1909 and each and every installment of interest on said notes as they became due, and thereby plaintiff became entitled to the right to declare each and all of said notes due and payable, which he has done, and subsequently thereto each and all of said notes have been placed in the hands of H. G. McConnell, an attorney-at-law for collection, with the agreement and understanding that said McConnell should have 10 per cent of the amount of the principal and interest of said notes as his fee for collecting same, which is here alleged to be a reasonable and proper fee to be paid said attorney for said services; and thereby the full amount of the principal, interest and collection fees provided for in the five notes for One Thousand Dollars ($1000.00) each above described has fully matured and has become due and payable at Haskell, Texas, payment of which, as aforesaid has been refused by each and all of the defendants, and said sum of principal, interest and attorneys fees of said notes, amounting now in the aggregate to the sum of Six Thousand Five Hundred Thirteen and 80-100 Dollars ($6513.80), which, according to the provisions of said notes, bear interest from this date at the rate of 10 per cent per annum until paid.

Wherefore, this plaintiff, being the legal holder and owner of the legal title to said property, and being the holder and owner of the right to recind the contract of sale and the sale made by W. F. Tompkins to N. R. Deaver by reason of failure to pay said notes as aforesaid, has elected and does now elect to recind said sale and reinvest himself of said property, and brings this suit for a recission of said contract of sale and said sale as aforesaid, at the place where said contract was performed as shown upon the face of said notes, which are in writing and duly signed by the said N. R. Deaver. The plaintiff prays for citation in the terms of the law to be served upon each and all of said defendants, requiring them to appear at the next term of this honorable court and make answer hereto, and upon the hearing that he have judgment recinding the sale of said property made by the said W. F. Tompkins to the said N. R. Deaver, as aforesaid, and cancelling any claim, right or title thereto by any of the defendants, and that the full title and the possession of the above described property to be divested out of said defendants and vested in this plaintiff; and that plaintiff have judgment awarding him his writ of possession and all costs of suit.

Plaintiff also prays for such other relief, legal and equitable, general and special as the law and facts of the case will authorize. Herein fail not and have you before said court, on the said first day of next term thereof, this writ with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Haskell this, the 7th day of October A. D. 1910.

J. W. Meadors Clerk District Court, Haskell County Texas.

By W. W. Murphy, Deputy.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Haskell County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded, that you summon, by making publication of this citation in some newspaper published in the county of Haskell, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 39th judicial district; but if there be no newspaper published in said judicial district, then in a newspaper published in the nearest district to said 39th judicial district, for eight weeks previous to the return day hereof, W. C. Scott, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the Hon. District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be holden in the county of Haskell at the court house thereof, in Haskell, Texas, on the sixteenth Monday after the first Monday in August (being the 21st day of November, 1910) then and there to answer a petition filed in said court, on the 18th day of July A. D. 1910, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 674, wherein J. H. Wilder is Plaintiff and W. C. Scott is defendant. The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit: Suit for debt, interest, attorneys fees and foreclosure of vendor's lien under allegations as follows: That heretofore, to-wit: on the 2nd day of November, 1907, the defendant, W. C. Scott, made, executed and delivered to one Wm. Oglesby his four certain promissory notes, each for the sum of $125.00, two of said notes due and payable November 2, 1908, and two due and payable November 2, 1909, and each of said notes payable to the order of said Wm. Oglesby, and each bearing interest from date until paid at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, said interest payable annually and if not paid when due to become as principal and bear the same rate of interest as the principal, and each note stipulating for ten per cent upon the amount of principal and interest due thereon as attorneys fees, provided suit is had upon said notes or the same is placed in the hands of an attorney for collection; whereby the said defendant became bound to pay and liable and promised to pay the said Wm. Oglesby the sum of money in said notes specified, together with all interest thereon and attorneys fees according to the tenor and effect thereof. That said notes were given for a part of the purchase money of the hereinafter described real estate, as follows: Two of said notes were given as a part of the purchase money for one acre of land situated in Haskell County, Texas, being one acre of land out of the northeast corner of out lot No. 94 of the Peter Allen survey of 3/4 league and labor, abstract No. 2, certificate No. 136, patent No. 365, volume 17. And two of said notes were given as a part payment for one acre of land out of said Allen survey situated in said Haskell County, Texas, and described as follows: Beginning 27.2 varas south of the northeast corner of out lot No. 94; thence south 27.2 varas; thence west 207.2 varas; thence north 27.2 varas; thence east 207.2 varas to beginning. That said land was heretofore, to-wit: on the 2nd day of November, 1907, conveyed to defendant by the said Wm. Oglesby by his deeds of writing of that date, in consideration, among other things, of the four notes herein described, and that in said deeds of conveyance a lien was reserved thereon to secure the payment of said notes. Plaintiff alleges that before said note became due he purchased same from the said Wm. Oglesby who was the owner of said notes at the time of the purchase thereof, and paid therefor a valuable consideration, and that he is now and was at the institution of this suit the legal owner and holder of said notes; that each of said notes are due and unpaid, and defendant, though often requested, has failed and refused to pay the same or any part thereof or any installment of interest thereon, but that the same remains still due and unpaid, that said notes have been placed in the hands of an attorney for collection and defendant has contracted to pay the attorney fees stipulated therein. Herein fail not, and have you before said court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and seal of said court, at office in Haskell this, the 4th day of August, A. D. 1910.
