Joyce Faye Mallone Ted R. Slayter To Marry June 5th

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Mallone of Burkburnett, wish to announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Joyce Faye, to A-1C Ted R. Slayter of SAFB and Lake Charles, La.

A semi formal wedding has been planned for the early evening of June 5th at the home of the brides parents, on S. Ave. B.

The bride has chosen as her maid of honor Miss Jossie Vernon of Burkburnett. A-2C Don Numbers of SAFB will serve as best man. Bro. R. C. Morrow, pastor of Calvary Baptist church will officiate.

Miss Mallone is a graduate of Burkburnett High School and is presently employed by Bell Oil and Gas Co., of this city.

Immediately following the reception the couple will leave for a short wedding trip to Louisiana. Upon their return they plan to establish residence in Burkburnett.

347,977 Bu. Wheat Harvested Thus Far From 1954 Crop

Prior to Thursday morning, 437,977 bushels of 1954 wheat had been brought into Burkburnett. The receiving agents here are Kelley Grain and Elevator, Mills and Fleming and Burk Feed and Elevator.

Handling of the wheat this year has been very difficult because of the wide margin of moisture content. The extra dry wheat is kept separated from the higher moisture content wheat, which makes unloading at the elevators very slow.

Over the week end wheat came in so fast that the elevators could not handle it. Mills and Fleming run out more than ten thousand bushels on the ground to make room for incoming grain.

In 1948, this elevator made headlines and rated pictures all over the nation when they piled nearly one hundred thousand bushels of wheat in the street.

Pick-Up Men Play Important Role In Rodeo

One of the most important factors in the speed, success and safety of a rodeo lies in the chores performed by two riders who will fill the usually unglamorous role of "pick-up men."

It is their responsibility to pick the riders off the backs of plunging kicking, biting broncs when the timekeeper's whistle denotes the end of an eight or ten second ride. It is also their job to lead or haze these unruly animals out of the arena and into the catch pens.

During the dangerous bull-riding they are constantly at hand for any emergency and from long experience must make split-second decisions or act instinctively to avert serious accident or tragedy for a rider who is bucked down, gets hung up in a riding rope or has other of a score of possible mishaps.

The confidence with which a cowboy contestant begins his ride depends considerably on the ability of the pick-up men and there should be no lack of it here with one of the greatest teams of pick-up men in rodeo ready for action when the Boom Town Rodeo gets underway here June 23, continuing thru June 25.

The emphasis in Beutler Bros produced rodeos is on speed and they are credited with the fastest moving contest events in rodeo today.

Helping to achieve this result is a team of two great pick-up men in the persons of Elra Beutler, eldest of the brothers and Slim Whaley, Duncan, Okla., who has long been one of rodeo's great ropers.

Mounted on big, powerful horses of great endurance and especially selected and trained for their work, these two cowboys perform their difficult chore with an ease and smoothness developed with long experience in working together.

Whaley's roping ability is put to good use in the bull riding event when it is often difficult to get the infuriated and unruly animals out of the arena. With a quick flip of his ever ready rope, Whaley has a bull on his way.

Many rodeo fans have commented that it was well worth the price of admission alone to see these two men in action.

State Chiropractors To Meet June 10-12

North Texas will be well represented at the 39th annual convention of the Texas State Chiropractic Association in Galveston, June 10-12, Dr. Paul L. Myers of Wichita Falls, state director for this area, said this week.

More Rain Tues. Harvest Is Slow

More rain Tuesday night, approximately one inch, delayed the harvest of wheat a few more days. Rain last week had kept the combines out of the fields until last Saturday. Harvest had just got in full swing Sunday and Monday and it appeared most of the wheat would be cut in short order—and then more rain Tuesday night.

The rain was accompanied by straight hard wind which reached a possible velocity of fifty to sixty miles per hour here. At Wichita Falls one hundred mile an hour wind was recorded for a short time. No damage was reported in this immediate vicinity, other than a few uprooted shade trees. At Iowa Park some sixteen miles Southwest of here, one house was completely destroyed and two others damaged.

This year's harvest is similar to the one in 1950. Rains came then about every three or four days and the harvest was delayed several weeks. Some averages above thirty bushels to the acre have been reported, however, the general average will run closer to 10 to 15 bushels per acre.

Brahma Bull Riding To Offer Big Rodeo Thrill

Regarded as the biggest thrill of all by many rodeo fans, is the brahma bull riding event which will be seen at its best here during the Boomtown Rodeo, June 23-24-25. The climatic performance of the animals and their daring riders is usually the last event on the rodeo program.

While the latent danger of serious injury is always present in every rodeo event, it is particularly prevalent in bull riding where a thrown, dazed or injured rider could have his life snuffed out quickly if he should be gored or tramped by these ferocious behemoths of the rodeo arena.

Many a cowboy's life has been saved by rodeo cowboys who are always at hand to attract the attention of the enraged animals and lure them away from a fallen rider. Backing up the cowboys are two pick-up men, mounted on specially trained horses and always alert to protect the contestant.

Today brahma bull riding, a "must" on every progressive rodeo program is an event that would stagger the Indian breeders of the world's cattle.

Far from behind idolized in rodeo circles, the brahma is the bellowing recipient of threats, curses and clods of dirt, all hurled with deadly earnestness by cowboys who make a living trying to stay on its loose hide for the required eight seconds.

One of the most feared brahmas is called a "spinner," a bull that turns, twists and buck in incredibly tight circles. If a rider is thrown, a spinning bull often whirls into him, hooking with its heavy horns or trampling him underfoot.

Beutler Bros, Elk City, Okla., who will produce the rodeo here are constantly on the lookout for outstanding brahmas to add to their already formidable string. A "bad" bull is considered a "good" one. But there is a limit. Once a brahma is considered a "killer", he is not used in rodeo competition.

Boom Town Home-Coming Celebration and Rodeo June 23, 24 and 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Adams of Monahans, Tex., are visiting his brother, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams here this week. The Adams have just returned from a vacation in California and along the west coast. Mr. Adams is superintendent of the Gulf Oil Co in Monahans.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harris and granddaughter Linda visited Mr. and Mrs. Earl Magee in Chillicothe and Mr. and Mrs. Baines McBay in Quanah, Tex., over the weekend.

Girl Bruised In Horse-Truck Crash

A horse was killed and its rider slightly bruised when a truck ran into them just north of Burkburnett Friday afternoon.

Miss Sue Turnbow, high school student, was released after a doctor treated her for bruises. She was headed toward Burkburnett when the horse shied and was hit from behind by a one and a half ton truck driven by R. A. Kinnaird, Randlett, Okla., farmer.

The horse was hit in the stomach, killed instantly. The girl was thrown to the pavement, according to C. P. Hakes, State Highway patrolman who investigated.

Owner of the horse was L. D. Williams of Burkburnett.

Rodeo Parade Planned to Favor Camera Lovers

Floyd Marten, Rodeo parade chairman, has arranged the parade this year with special consideration for those who want to take pictures of the colorful spectacle. He plans to start the parade at the City Park, proceed to Main, or 3rd Street, then West to cross the railroad tracks.

The new arrangement will allow camera fans every opportunity to shoot away from the sun, which will make for much better photography. In previous years, it was necessary to shoot into the sun, with very few good pictures being taken.

Full particulars on the parade will be listed by Marten in the very near future.

Duncan, Oklahoma, beat the Boomers here Sunday afternoon 17 to 7. The Boomers were weakened as 8 of the regular players were not here, on account of the harvest and a few other reasons. Bill Flanagan was losing pitcher, the first game he has lost this season.

The Boomers' record for this season stands at 9 wins, 2 losses and no ties. The game with Duncan was only a practice game.

Most Versatile Clown in Business Coming to Burk

The most versatile clown in rodeo show business will be in Burkburnett for the Home-Coming Celebration Rodeo June 23, 24 and 25th. Wilbur Plaugher has been panicking rodeo fans for many years with his acts of comedy and his daring bull fighting episodes.

Plaugher's biggest trick is a real starter. A cardboard phone booth is set up in the middle of the arena. The clown enters it. Then a speeding truck careens into the flimsy structure and flattens it. There's no sign of Plaugher.

While his companions make much ado over the mock tragedy, the clown shows his face in the upper deck of seats.

Very few persons know how the trick is worked and many a papa is red-faced when Junior demands an explanation.

Dog and Duck Trick

Plaugher's dog and duck act probably comes next in popularity. Four ducks are set loose at one end of the arena. A border collie herds them to the other end in a matter of seconds and corrals the ducks into a sack held by the clown.

Circus Stunt

Another gag is a variation of the familiar circus stunt in which an auto disgorges an extraordinary number of passengers. Plaugher drives a sedan into the arena and out come 33 youngsters, 2 clowns and a burro.

Then there's the dog with fake rabbit ears which has been trained to run like a rabbit. The clown stalks him with a Daniel Boone type of musket. The "rabbit" keeps jumping the "bullets" but falls down when the hunter foots him with a ricochet shot off the arena wall.

Many Tricks

Plaugher sings, plays musical instruments and has a slew of magic tricks. He is assisted in the arena by a small wild burro, acquired in the Utah desert, and a trained horse, in addition to the border collie, the rabbit dog and the ducks.

The clown is appreciated by the cowboys for his alertness and daring in rushing to distract Brahman bulls when their riders have been thrown.

Plaugher makes his home in Prather, Calif., where he has a wife and two children.

Reared On Ranch

Born in Lima, Ohio, he was reared on a ranch and by the time he was at high school he had begun to ride the "rough string," breaking horses to the saddle. He was thrown on his head and his neck was broken while bronco riding in Sonora, California.

It was while he was riding bucking horses that Plaugher tried his hand at clowning. In 1947, he decided to make rodeo antics a full-time job and he says he enjoys it tremendously. His ambition is to appear in the Madison Square Garden Show.

Just for the record, Plaugher is 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighs 215 pounds.

Perhaps you never heard of Harvey Harper or Louis Rieben. They were guests of honor at a testimonial dinner in Newark, N. J. the other night to signalize fifty years of working together. Had you been there, those lines from "The Merchant of Venice" might well have come to mind: "How far yon little candle throws his beam! Son shines a good deed in a naughty world."

Half a century ago Messrs. Harper and Rieben began making under-sized electric bulbs for automobiles—that rescued early motorists from the nuisance, expense and uncertainty of kerosene lamps, carbide generators and bottled gas. Under the long familiar name of Tung-Sol, these pioneers of miniature electric lamps have continued thru the years to light the way for highway, air and water transportation.

For fifty years, Tung-Sol has, like a good shoemaker "stuck to its last" In this era of growing diversification when so many companies have been fanning out in all directions, the Harper-Rieben team has been content to specialize on lamps and electron tubes. As they explained years ago when radio was emerging from the "cat's whisker" stage, they added electronic tubes to their interests, since these devices are "electric bulbs with a college education." Now, we are told, they are the fourth largest producers of these magical capsules that energize hundreds of modern devices from the TV set and hi-fi record players in your home to the electronic brain of a guided missile or business machine.

To give this heart warming success story the Horatio Alger touch, we might mention that when Harvey Harper a youthful electrical engineer managed to raise $4,000 for a start in his own business in 1904, he advertised for an office boy. Louis Rieben got the job—and is now president, bossing 5,000 employees who make $40,000,000 worth of lamps and tubes a year in seven large plants.

Harper and Rieben embody the American idea, our most powerful and not-so-secret weapon—the one the Commie can't steal.

RESURRECTION

Since the dawn of the Christian Era, and probably for centuries before, man has dreamed and debated and speculated on the existence of a life-after-death. That there is such a thing is an article of faith in most religions but those who have crossed the River Styx can not come back to tell us their experiences.

But for the past eight years—only eight years out of the untold centuries of human yearning—there has been a way for us to know that we can still live after the Grim Reaper has cut us down. Whether we are entitled to a here after or not, it is ours for the asking—so long as we have the blessed gift of vision.

Today, thanks to the Eye Bank for Sight Restoration, thousands of people who once were blind are seeing thru the corneas of those who no longer have use for them. Since its founding in 1946, more than four thousand eyes have been donated to the Eye Bank, 210 E. 64th St. New York 21, N. Y. and the branches in Boston, Chicago and Winston-Salem. But more and more are needed, and will be needed thru the years. Your doctor, or oculist or optician can tell you how to make the greatest bequest that is anyone's to give.

When your eyes are closed in death—they can open a new life to another!

THERE'S A MORAL

While we wait to learn the outcome of the big British butter deal now under negotiation, we might reflect on its possible object lesson to Congress and the American people.

The sale of forty million pounds of the Government surplus to Britain would be at the world price of butter, which is about 47 cents a pound, compared with the present reduced price of 63 to 69 cents at home. Obviously if Americans could have bought this butter for 47 cents at the time it was made, there would have been no mountainous surplus—and a lot of American children might be better nourished.

To say that we can't make and distribute butter for 47 cents a pound is no answer. Nor is it any answer to make butter to sell at 80 to 90 cents when people won't or can't pay the price. But somewhere in between there is a price at which this traditional spread can again become a profitable item of trade—to the farmer, the creamery, the retailer and the consumer—instead of a wicked, rancid sacrifice on the altar of politics.

We think that is part of what Secretary Benson means by "flexible support's. And we think the people, who had to pay in taxes for butter they didn't get to eat, will be looking for such changes.

Cowboy Once Had Tough Chore To Do

In the days before chutes for horses were introduced to the rodeo game in the interest of speeding up the riding contests, rodeo riders made their preparations in the open arena.

This chore entailed "snubbing" the bucking horse to a saddle horse while the saddle was cinched on and the rider mounted.

In the old days, too, the bronc was usually blindfolded to keep him from knowing what was going on. The blindfold was jerked off as the ride began.

A bucking horse now goes into a chute too narrow for him to sidestep the saddle as it drops on his back. The rider may now settle himself aboard measure his reign and get well settled before the chute gate is opened on his signal and the bronc is turned loose.

The Pendleton Roundup for its amateur bronc event still employs the old method of "snubbing" the bucking horses in the open arena while chutes are used for the RCA riding event.

Under the able direction of Jake Beutler, the Beutler Bros. of Elk City, Okla., producers of the Boomtown Rodeo, have a chute crew that has few equals in the rodeo game. Largely due to the efforts of the men composing this well experienced crew, the Beutler rodeo productions are known as the fastest in the game.

Burk Students Visitors At SAFB

Visitors to Sheppard Air Force Base on the 25th of May were thirty-five students of the fifth grade in Burkburnett, Texas. The group was accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Imogene McLean of Rt. 1, Burkburnett, and several room mothers.

Arriving at Sheppard's South Gate at ten a. m. by school bus, the group transferred to an Air Force bus and proceeded to the Orientation and Exhibit Building where they viewed wall displays of scenes depicting various phases of the aircraft mechanics school and model layouts of the entire base. Each visitor had an opportunity to take the controls of a model F-86 "Sabre Jet" and a B-29 "Superfort" both operated by compressed air.

The next stop on the tour was the base flight line. Here the group took an inspection trip thru a C-124 "Globemaster" aircraft, visiting all three decks on the plane. Also, they were taken in small groups to the flight deck where they saw the myriad of instruments and controls which the crew of the aircraft use to control it. The crew chief of the plane demonstrated the operation of the huge clam shell doors of the plane and the freight elevator.

A short visit was also made to a YC-125 assault type plane. Sheppard Air Force Base is the only place this type plane can be seen. The plane is an experimental type being used in the aircraft mechanics school.

Upon leaving Sheppard at noon, the group enjoyed a picnic lunch in a Wichita Falls park. S-Sgt. Walter McManus served as tour guide.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Chambers will leave Saturday for San Antonio, to attend a three day convention of fire marshals. Following the convention, they will leave for the eastern states on their vacation.

Rodeo's Lingo Often Confuses The Uninitiated

Lingo of the rodeo game often requires explaining to the uninitiated. Here are some of the terms you'll hear cowboys use during the Boomtown Rodeo, June 23-24-25.

BICYCLING—The act of spurring with first one foot and then the other in the manner of riding a bicycle.

BITING THE DUST—Being thrown from a horse.

BLOWING A STIRUP—Losing a stirup before the signal ending a ride. This disqualifies the rider.

BOGGING THEM IN—When rider fails to spur and hooks spurs in cinch or D ring.

BUCKING, BUCK JUMPING, PITCHING—The operations of a bronc in trying to unseat a rider.

BULLDOGGING—Usually termed steer-wrestling; the throwing of a steer with head and all four feet extending in the same direction.

BULLDOGER—A steer wrestler.

CANTLE BOARDING—When the rider spurs with a full stroke to the back of the cantle.

CHAPS—The soft leather full length legging of over pants worn by a rider to increase the solidity of his seat on an animal.

COMMUNITY LOOP—Extra large loop thrown by a roper.

CROW-HOPS—A term contemptuously applied to mild bucking.

CUT OUT—To separate animals from a group.

DOG FALL—Wrestling a steer down with his feet under him. The throw is not complete until the steer is stretched out with feet and head in one direction.

GRABBING THE APPLE—When a bronc rider grabs the horn of the saddle to avoid being thrown.

HAZER—Mounted cowboy who assists steer wrestler.

HIGH ROLLER—A horse that leaps high when bucking.

JUGHEAD—A horse without spirit.

LATIGO—The strap that fastens the cinch to the saddle.

OUTFIT—The rodeo cowboy's equipment.

SCRATCHING—The act of raking a bucking animal with spurs.

"Insurance Mess" To Be Studied

An extensive and immediate clean-up of the "Texas Insurance mess" has been called for by Judge Ralph Yarborough in a statement this week.

Yarborough said that during three days in North and Central Texas, the question asked everywhere was the same: "What about this influence-peddling and the insurance rackets down in Austin?"

In his statement, Yarborough declared:

"Only the surface has been scratched, but it appears that the administration of Texas Insurance Laws, which is the responsibility of the Executive Department of our State, has not only been lax; it has been totally inadequate. The Texas Insurance Commission was found on May 12, 1954, in a judicial opinion of the Austin Court of Civil Appeals, to be guilty of 'fraud if not criminal laxity.'"

"Texas insurance policy-holders are losing confidence in the Insurance Commission of Texas. It is imperative that the Insurance Industry, which is the second largest industry in the State, be protected from the operations of unscrupulous promoters, and high powered influence peddlers."

"People who have not been guilty of wrongdoing would have nothing to fear from a complete investigation, and every honest company will welcome it. A complete investigation looking into retainers, bank accounts, expense accounts, income tax returns, and excessive personal expenditures of influence-peddlers, fixers, and state government officials connected with Insurance Law Administration in Texas is absolutely necessary."

"I do not believe that one of the 'fixers' was sucked in' on one of the shady deals on insurance that has been exposed in Texas, but that he went in with his eyes open. I think some people may know too much to be fired."

"If corruption and influence-peddling are to get the 'deep freeze' treatment in Austin, the public is entitled to know if the attitude of the present administration is to cover up and conceal a scandal in Austin that exceeds anything uncovered in Washington in the past ten years."

Texas Safety Association

"Split second action may save your life!"

Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation reminded motorists of this fact today as he stressed the importance of driving a car that will respond immediately in an emergency.

He spoke in behalf of the vehicle maintenance program now being sponsored by all official and non-official groups in cooperation with the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

The part that is played by good vehicle maintenance in the safe driving picture cannot be over emphasized," Col. Tilley said. "The skill and alertness of the most capable driver can be completely cancelled if his vehicle does not respond in an emergency."

"It is obvious," he said, "that a driver—no matter how skillful, cannot cope with a sudden emergency situation in a car that has worn brakes, a worn steering mechanism or some other neglected part."

Col. Tilley warned drivers that under some circumstances, a small worn out part can precipitate a serious accident. He said, "the only way in which the average driver can be sure his car is in top notch mechanical shape is to have it checked regularly."

He advised car owners to pay particular attention to the following points when having such a check made: brakes, headlights, rear and stop lights, tires wheel alignment, exhaust system and muffler, windshield wipers, glass, horn and rear-view mirror.

Not All Insurance Companies Weak

Seasoned fire insurance companies operating under existing Texas laws have an excellent record of stability and service to policyholders, Norris W. Parker, manager of the Texas Insurance Advisory Association, said today. The Advisory Association representing 151 capital stock fire insurance companies doing business in Texas.

"Publicity given recent court decisions involving certain insurance companies has confused the public as to the real issues involved and has raised some unfounded suspicions about those well-managed, well regulated companies which make up the bulk of those now operating in the state," Mr. Parker said. "Inexperienced management and inadequate financing, usually are the causes of a fire company going broke," Mr. Parker pointed out. "However, if the management is good and the financing sound, a company can meet catastrophe loss without damaging its stability."

The TIAA manager said that fire insurance companies operating in this state paid out over $24,000,000 in losses as a result of the Texas City disaster "without impairing the financial structure of a single company. Ability to meet catastrophes like this one or last year's tornadoes in Waco and San Angelo is proof of the prudent management and sound financing of old line, capital stock companies."

Answering charges that the old line companies had failed to police the business by demanding better laws and better enforcement, Mr. Parker said that his organization had not actively led such a movement because his Association did not want its motives misunderstood.

"We did not want to appear to be trying to legislate our smaller competitors out of business," he said. "But we do want to make it clear that our companies are in favor of legislation that will extend a broad application of insurance laws to which they are subject to companies of all types."

Electric lights were first installed in the White House in the early 1890's.

"Oklahoma" is a Choctaw Indian word for "red people."

Give Silage A Chance

It is still not too late to plant a silage crop this year. A number of Wichita County livestock producers are planting silage crops but more are needed. Silage doesn't cost! It pays, according to B. T. Haws, county agent.

Many good silage crops can be grown in Wichita County. These crops include corn, grain sorghums, sweet sorghums and legumes. Some of the best varieties of sorghums to plant are: Honey drip, Atlas, Hegari, Straight Neck, Early Hegari, Sumac and Sweet Sudan.

Several farmers in the county are at present cutting alfalfa Vetch and Oats and putting this in a silo. This makes good silage. It is recommended that preservatives be used with fresh cut legumes. You may add 50 pounds of molasses or 150 lbs of ground grain per ton and with grass add 30 lbs of molasses or 100 lbs of ground grain, per ton as a preservative.

A legume crop should be harvested for silage usually between the early bloom and full bloom stage and before the lower leaves begin to turn yellow and drop from the stems. Alfalfa can be cut for silage when ever it is ready to cut for hay. Sweet clover should be cut in the early bloom stage. A small grain vetch mixture should be cut after the vetch begins to bloom and before the small grain kernels begin to fill. Corn and sorghum crops usually are harvested when the grain is in the dough stage.

Stubble Mulching

Some of the farmers of the Burkburnett area have indicated to personnel of the local Soil Conservation Service office that they will plow one-half of a field the stubble mulch way and the other half the clean tilled way, or completely plowed under method. Names and comparative results will be given at a later date.

Proper crop residue management is one of the most important of all soil and water conservation practices in use today. Its greater value is perhaps in the western part of the state where rainfall is limited, where both wind and water erosion are problems. Stubble mulching which leaves the organic litter in or on the surface of the soil will protect the soil from erosion by wind and water and will allow the soil to absorb and retain as much moisture as possible.

A sweep type plow is the ideal type of equipment suitable for stubble mulching. Tillage may be done soon after harvest or delayed until shortly before planting time.

The first tillage after harvest on wheat land is made at the greatest depth. This will be about 3 or 4 inches deep and each cultivation which follows is made at a shallow depth to avoid the compact layer called a plowside or hard pan, which comes from always plowing at the same depth. This procedure also serves to provide a compact seedbed at planting time, because each tillage firms the soil below the depth of plowing. In the first tillage operation the amount of power required to pull a sweep-type plow is about the same as needed to pull a one way plow operating at the same depth.

In most years wheat can be drilled with most any type drill desired. In years when there is an exceptionally large amount of straw, a disc type drill will become clogged and it will be better to use a deep-furrow drill. Wheat drilled under the mulch will be less bothered by crusting if rain occurs between seeding and emergence. The soil under the mulch seems to dry out more slowly, bakes less, and forms a thinner crust.

There never has been but one way for every son of Adam to have his sins paid for, and that was, and is, by the shed blood of the Lord Jesus Christ. If His is not an Old Testament way, then there was no salvation in the Old Testament. When we search the Scriptures we would see Jesus. What do you look for? Preaching service at Eleven a. m. In these trying days when the whole world is as a rumbling volcano getting ready to erupt in all of its fury, it is doubly important that we have an intellectual understanding and heart acceptance of the wonderful teaching of God's Word on future events. tradition of the South, and one it usually, to rule on the narrowest, widest, possible. That is, it rarely extends beyond the decision in the case before the Court's decision that segregation in the schools of the Fourteenth Amendment. But it did not rule on the constitutionality, at that time, of types of other segregation laws enacted in the name of which are as in tax-supported schools, colleges, and universities, housing developments, recreation and park facilities.

May 24, a week after its decision, it departed enough from its tradition to direct that lower courts read into certain other cases that the rule laid down on May 17, in effect, covers practically all of the segregation laws now in force in the South. The handwriting on the wall is plain, and its meaning would be hard to overlook. This is the way it looks to almost anyone who has read the comments on this question. Segregation of races is enforceable by law, in any institution or activity under public or governmental auspices henceforth and is contrary to the Constitution of the United States.

The Negro press and others have rejoiced, but they have not gloated over the decision. At least some observations may be worth essaying for whatever contribution it might make towards helping one sector of the nation to understand another. For here is a question to be examined as it affects other phases of social equality besides our public schools. They hail this the second Emancipation Proclamation, but they show awareness that neither decree nor the Fourteenth Amendment brought them automatically the substance of equality. The decision as it affects the Northern states where public school segregation has been required by law, does not compare in magnitude with those facing the South where extra legal segregation of Negro homes and social life and job discrimination form the more characteristic signs of the division between the whites and the Negroes.

Here the issue is traditional, economic, emotional, political and oral. The reaction has ranged from passionately bitter to the rationally serene. In the long sweep of history the public school cases passed by the Supreme Court may be written down as the point at which the South made its last protest in the road to final acceptance, and to some extent modified, and under the most bitter protests. Under the decision the South will finally be compelled to give up its constitutions and to accept the prevailing standards of the nation at large as the legal basis for its relationship with its minority race — the Negro.

This would not in itself bring about any shift in Southern attitudes or social equality, not even any far reaching immediate changes in the pattern of bi-racial education. Wholesale as this is, it would not be realistic to assume that racial problems will henceforth evaporate on the whole, however, the South has met the long-awaited hour with restraint and poise. Make no mistake, however, many good people of the South, neither politicians nor Negro haters, feel very deeply about this decision. They have in instances, where circumstances suggested, accepted equality of opportunity for him. They bear no hatred for him, but rather a friendly esteem. But their convictions that there should be preserved a separation between the races rests upon concepts of propriety and morality which cannot and never will be ignored by the people of the South.

All of this is disturbing, but not fatal to the two races. The South is seen moving into a new era. The days of isolation are gone with the opening up of new roads, and industrialization is now in the picture. The cultured, political and economic isolation which is necessary to the preservation of the region's special identity is breaking down, the Southerners themselves are speeding the process in many ways, whether they are always pleased with the results.

As to the future, there may be isolated instances of violence, and there may be some local defiance of any directed change but it is doubted that any actual defiance will be statewide and official. There will be attempts to win delay, to find detours within the letter of the high court's ruling, and some of these detours could be dangerous. Should an attempt be made to pay state tuition money to private and church schools, such action would be held to breach the wall of separation between church and state.

Time To Control Pecan Nut Case

Now is the time for the Wichita County pecan producers to check their pecan trees for the number one enemy of pecans and that is the pecan nut case bearer.

The pecans in the county seem to be setting a good crop according to checks made by B. T. Haws, County Agent. A number of farmers had planned to spray earlier but due to rains have been unable to do so.

The case bearers are the worms that bore little holes in pecans and cause the pecans to fall. The eggs are laid on the tip end of the pecans after the pecans are set. When the eggs hatch, the worms do not bore in the pecans first, but instead move up on the twigs and start feeding on the small buds. This feeding on the buds lasts for 3 to 5 days then the worms move back to the pecans and bore in the base end of the pecan. After the worms go into the pecans the spray will be ineffective.

When eggs are found and worms are hatching, it is time to spray. Three pounds of 50 percent DDT wettable powder or 1 pint nicotine sulfate plus 2 quarts summer oil or 2 pounds of 15 percent wettable powder in 100 gallons of water may be used to control this pest.

Capt. New Killer Of Black Spots on Roses

Rose growers troubled by black spots on rose leaves will welcome captain—a new effective control. This new substance added to a spray is a sure control for the number one enemy of roses.

Black spot first appears on rose leaves as tiny dark spots which spread and kill the leaf. It may cause leaves to turn yellow and drop off. The loss of leaves weakens the plant and single flowers or pale flowers may form. Black spot causes die-back which begins at the bloom and runs all the way down to the roots.

B. T. Haws, county agent says roses need to be treated within 24 hours after every rain. When the weather remains cloudy for a long period, roses should be sprayed once every ten days.

Various effective treatments for black spot are available, but sprays containing captan will stop black spot after it has started.

If sprays containing captan are not available, use a light dusting of copper-sulphur dust or 325 mesh sulphur. Another control is bordeaux spray which would be used according to directions on the container.

Sophie Tucker, famous American entertainer, was born in Russia.

Be A Copy Cat

"CATHEDRAL IN CENTRAL PARK", by Meyer Liebowitz of Brooklyn, made with a 4x5 Pacemaker Speed Graphic, 1/200 at f 11 on film.

ST photographers, giving instruction to amateurs, tell you "Don't be a copy cat. Think up your own picture." However, one of the best ways to improve your own photographs is to duplicate professional pictures that you like. It's a wonderful satisfaction to make a crackerjack picture, if the idea was not your own. But with a good one under belt, see what you can do to improve the picture, or to make another one even better than the first. Making a good picture gives a photographer such a feeling of achievement that he becomes more interested about his work, and makes an effort to improve it. If you find a nice picture in the Golden Gate bridge or Statue of Liberty, and you hear either of these places, take your own picture from another angle. Maybe you will have better lighting; maybe the sky will be more attractive or dramatic than in the "professional" shot. At any rate, don't hesitate to copy the good picture. Now comes the best part—see if you can get a better picture. Maybe an angle from a lower camera position or from the side, would give a more pleasing effect. Look around, picturing the result in your mind. Try a few different angles, a filter, and varying exposures. Think how much you'll enjoy taking a better picture than the "pros." Watch all the magazines closely. The travel and women's magazines as well as the photo publications. Each time you see a picture that you like, try to adapt it to your own locale. Let the good pictures that you see, give you ideas for your own pictures.—T. T. Holden, Graflex Photo Director.

Burk Garden Club Picnic At Home Of R. C. Tevis's

The Burk Burnett Garden club met in the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Tevis. A nice picnic supper was served the members and their husbands as guests. Mrs. A. R. Bunstine gave the invocation. Mrs. Glen Bear, president, turned the meeting over to Mrs. D. C. Dodson who introduced Mrs. Sylvia Ramming. Mrs. Ramming, in her charming way, brought us a story "snobs" A guidebook to your friends, your enemies, your colleagues and yourself. This little book puts its finger on people's pretenses not only where it hurts, but where it tickles as well. Mrs. Bear thanked members for their efforts in making the party an enjoyable one. Those enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Clack and Mrs. Sylvia Ramming, guests and the following members and their families: Messrs. and Mesdames Walter Riley, R. C. Tevis, D. C. Dodson, F. Picnic Enjoyed By MJF May 30

The MJF met for their closing session for summer in a vesper service on the church lawn. The worship center was most inspiring and consisted of world globe with candles on either side with an open bible. Behind this was a tall lighted cross. The chimes played as the juniors assembled. Hymns were sung, the Twenty-third Psalm repeated in unison, then Mrs. O. E. Melton gave the Indian vernacular of this Psalm. She also read the story "Duty" by Gladys Murrell. Mrs. Jim Pirtle conducted two bible games. The service closed with the MJF benediction.

Sack lunches and drinks were enjoyed by Pat Kay Inlow, Judy Hofacket, Thomas McDonald, Eddie Eastman, Linda and Gary Wood, Sharon and Shirley Boyle, Johnnie Yarbro, Sandy Ott, Sandy Majors and two visitors Sherry McLean and Carolyn Clements. Our fall session will start the first Sunday in September.

YOUR FARM PROBLEM

The Wichita Valley DHIA Association in a report from A&M College ranked first in the state in the average pounds of milk, which was 870 pounds and first in the state in the average pounds of fat, which was 32 pounds. In the Wichita Valley DHIA Association there is a total of 20 herds of dairy cattle in the association. In Texas there are 321 herds and 14,375 cows in the DHIA Association. During the month of April the average pounds of milk for the state per cow was 660 pounds and the average pounds of butter fat per cow was 27 pounds.

Pasture is no longer a term to apply to land that is too steep, too rocky or too poor to grow crops. Good pastures and good pasture management are essential for the successful operation of a long-range dairy program. No dairyman can afford to neglect his pastures. It has been estimated that 38 percent of all the feed consumed by dairy cattle comes from pasture crops. Pastures could make a still greater contribution to the total feed supply if they were made more productive and were more efficiently. Plan a sound year-round pasture program. Good pasture planning and management will insure an abundance of succulent forage for the dairy herd, reduce the need for high priced supplement feeds, and produce greater annual profits.

Mrs. Johnnie L. Herring underwent major surgery in the Wichita General Hospital Saturday morning. She is reported to be recovering satisfactorily at the present time.

VETERANS Administration Questions and Answers

Q—About two years ago, a veteran friend of mine applied to VA for disability compensation, but failed to take any further action on his claim. He did not show up for his physical examination, and did not contact VA in any way. At this late date, could he still follow thru on this same claim?

A—No. VA considers that a claim is abandoned, if a veteran ignores VA's request for evidence or an examination for one year after the requests were made. Your friend will have to file a new application. If he is awarded compensation, it will begin as of the date the new application.

Q—I was awarded a VA pension around the middle of the year. In computing my income to see whether I come under the ceiling set by law, must I count income for the entire year, or only that part of the year during which I was on VA's pension rolls?

A—You must include your income for the entire year, even though you were drawing a pension for only part of the year.

Q—I am a disabled Korean veteran. If I take vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 16, will I have to give up my monthly compensation payments?

A—No. So long as you are eligible to receive the payments you will receive them — even though you are taking training under Public Law 16.

Q—I was awarded a disability rating by VA, and I think it should be higher. I want to appeal. Is there any time limit on filing my appeal?

A—Yes. Your appeal must be filed within one year from the date VA made its original award.

Q—I have a $10,000 National Service Life Insurance term policy, and I'm thinking of converting to a permanent plan. Do I have to convert all of it, or could I convert part and keep part as term insurance?

A—You may convert part of your insurance to one or more permanent plans, and keep the rest as term. You may convert in multiples of $500, starting with a minimum of $1,000.

Q—I'm planning to take a correspondence course under the Korean GI Bill. How large a GI allowance can I count on getting from the VA?

A—Your GI education and training allowance will be equal to the amount that the school requires non-veterans to pay for the same course.

Q—I applied for disability compensation, and the VA turned me down. I filed an appeal. Would I be entitled to a hearing, so that I could appear in person and argue my own case?

A—Yes. You would be entitled to appear, without expense to the Government, at a formal hearing. You also could bring with you whatever witnesses, recognized attorneys or representatives you may designate.

Q—I'm a World War II veteran taking a correspondence course under the GI Bill. My entitlement is due to run out, but I've completed more than half the course. Will I be entitled to finish, even though I won't have any entitlement.

A—Yes. provided that your eligibility ends after you have completed satisfactorily more than half the lessons required by the course. The extension, however, will be limited to the number of lessons that $125 will buy.

Q—Is it possible for a World War II GI Bill trainee to change his course, even though the cut off date has passed?

A—It is possible to change a course while in training, but only for reasons satisfactorily to VA. Such reasons might include not making adequate progress in your present course thru no fault of your own; wanting to change a course more in keeping with your aptitudes, or if the new course is a normal progression from the one you are now taking.

Q—Does VA make direct GI loans to help veterans start a business?

A—No. Direct GI loans may be made by VA only for the purpose of buying or building a home or farmhouse, and then only in certain areas where private capital is not available.

Q—I want to go to school under the Korean GI Bill. Since I was discharged before August 20, 1952, I understand I'll have to begin before August 20 of this year. Would it be possible for me to file my application now, and begin class this coming fall?

A—No. under the present law you actually must begin your studies before the August 20 cut-off date. The filing of an application alone is not enough.

Q—I'd like to train in a foreign college under the Korean GI Bill. Will VA pay my way abroad and back?

A—No. You will have to pay for your own travel. All you will receive from VA will be a single monthly allowance to cover each month of training.
