Bulldogs Open Football Season At Bowie Friday, Sept. 10

Large Crowd Fans To Follow Team

Friday night a large group of fans and boosters will follow the Bulldogs to Bowie, where they open the season's football campaign. Some of the Quarterback members thought of organizing a caravan to leave the building in a group, but it was decided that, however, many individual cars will make their way to Bowie to lend their support to the Bulldogs. The off time in Bowie is at 7:30 P. M. It takes something like an hour to make the drive, so there is plenty of time and care to take. See you at the Friday night!

Allocation of County Tax Rate for Sat. Vote

Friday an election will be held to give the Commissioners Court the privilege of allocating the County tax rate. A while back the Legislature passed a law giving Commissioners Courts this right, if approved by a vote of the people.

Under the present set-up in this County, the general fund runs into the red some forty and fifty thousand dollars. Other funds of the County will have a large surplus. Unless the Commissioners Court can re-allocate the funds, it will be necessary to borrow money and pay interest on it to take care of the general fund. This is not a desirable business, when other funds are sitting idle.

At a talk with Slim Holman, Commissioner of Precinct No. 2, he stressed the fact that the election Saturday in no way affects the County tax rate. It will not and cannot raise the rate. It will give the Commissioners Court the right to use the funds they have available for borrowing money and pay interest. Vote FOR the re-allocation Saturday.

B. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Harris, is arriving this week end after returning from the U. S. Navy. Ted is expected to receive his discharge in four months early so that he can re-enter Texas Tech. He was previously enrolled in an architectural engineering school before his enlistment in the service.

Current Literature Club Made Award of Music Scholarship

The Current Literature Club of Burk Burnett whose motto is "Search for Knowledge," also believes in lending a helping hand to ambitious students.

Elaine Bowles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bowles, has been chosen as recipient for the 1954-55 term of study with Mrs. Eugenia O. Lincoln, local teacher of piano and theory. The club pays all tuition for the nine months. The pupil in turn must prove her worthiness by diligent study and practice and must be willing to use her talents for the church, school or any worthy community project.

Mrs. F. G. Jeffers, president of the club, her chairman of fine arts, Mrs. Roy Magers, and each member of the club is to be commended for having chosen musical scholarship as their project for the second year. Last year, Martha Jo Dintleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Dintleman, was the club's choice for study.

Mrs. Lincoln gives one scholarship each year based on the student's previous year's work and Royce Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller, was her choice for this year's award.

The third scholarship student is Patsy Groves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Groves. The anonymous donor, a local matron, bought a used piano for this student last year and the parents gave her lessons. Now, this lady makes it possible for Patsy to continue her music study by paying all expenses for the current term.

Music, the universal language, is so essential in life. What would it be like if we took all music out of our lives? No patriotic music for opening of sports contests, no lullabies to soothe the crying child, no bands for service men, no choruses to sing God's praises—Music is almost a necessity in a child's life and that individual who contributes to the musical development of any student has done a Christian deed and a community service.

Note of Appreciation

Mrs. M. L. Dintleman wishes to thank the Methodist Church members for their many kindnesses and for the beautiful floral offerings during her recent sorrow in the loss of her father, John Franklin Turnbow.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen and Mrs. Phil Carpenter visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tex Allen in Oklahoma City Tuesday and Wednesday. The Allens had just returned from Toronto, Canada, where they spent the summer. Phil Allen returned to Burk with the Allens and Mrs. Carpenter to spend a few days.

Dr. and Mrs. Philip A. Carpenter attended funeral services in Fort Worth Saturday morning for Dr. Carpenter's uncle, Mr. Hugh Warren.

Dr. L. H. Brown To Conduct Revival At Calvary Baptist

And now the time is about here. We speak, of course, of the revival meeting which begins at Calvary Baptist church, College & Ave. B. this coming Tuesday night. We believe that we have as able and as interesting a preacher of the Word as is possible to procure. He is Dr. L. H. Brown, of Ardmore, Okla. If you like scholarly expounding and explaining of the Scriptures in a way that will thrill your hearts to the shouting point, then by all means don't fail to hear this man. But for all of his Bible preaching ability, Bro. Brown is an humble, everyday Christian gentleman, who loves people, and has an interest in lost souls. He thoroughly enjoys His work for God, and you are impressed with that fact when you hear him preach. He is not snooty, nor sour puss, but a down to earth man of God who is working a good time telling the wonderful story of the saving grace of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Plan to attend every service. Night services begin at 7:45, and the day services are at ten a. m. starting Tuesdays.

This coming Thursday, Sept. 16th, Calvary Baptist will have all day services with preachers from all around. Dinner will be served at the Church.

Regular Sunday services will be at their regular time, with the pastor in the pulpit. May the rest of you be in your places that we might get the right start for the revival. Our Sunday School lesson is Exodus, chapter four. There is a class for all ages. Welcome, neighbor, to all of our Ray C. Morrow, Pastor services.

COURAGE LEAKING TOO?

While Republican leaders are pointing with pride at their accomplishments in checking "creeping socialism", we would like to view with a little low pressure alarm a leak that already has developed in the dike.

The Administration and Congress that had pledged themselves to get government out of business, reversed themselves during the last session and a week before adjournment rushed through a bill that puts Uncle Sam into the home building business for armed services families after private enterprise had been doing the job for five years.

The late Senator Kenneth S. Wherry of Nebraska in 1949 sponsored legislation which eventually gave the nation 78,000 units of family housing for its armed forces, without the use of tax funds. They were built by private financing and operated by private enterprise as low-rental housing. The law was named after the Senator and has been renewed since as a part of the National Housing Act.

Now the military leaders have come back to Congress and said they need 150,000 more homes and that they want to build them themselves during the next five years. The cost will be about $2,100,000,000, and they say they will need another annual $9,000,000 for upkeep and maintenance. They asked for $350 million as a started. Congress approved the idea by passing legislation which authorized the appropriation of $175,000,000 for nearly 14,000 units of housing now.

The House and Senate Appropriations committees put their collective fingers in the break during the last week of the session by cutting the money to $75 million and limiting the manner of its use, but plugging a leak is not mending a break.

The passage of this White House supported legislation concerns us because it seems to be a trend toward putting the government back in business, and we're worried that the Appropriations committees may tire of their Dutch Boy role or that they may be overpowered by the tremendous forces on the other side during the next Congress.

WE NOW LEARN from scientists in Bonn, West Germany, that the Russians have mined enough uranium since the war, in territory held by the US Army on VE Day and later turned over to Red Occupation forces, to make a supply of atom bombs that could destroy ever major city of the US or Western Europe.

And since we gave them the know-how, we are at least consistent.

HEADS UP

A jolting reminder of the things we dare not forget is now ready for distribution by The American Legion thru its 18,000 posts. It is "A Report to the American People" in booklet form and entitled: "Air Power in an Age of Peril."

To implement the opening words of President Eisenhower, "—the world lives not in an instant of peril, but in an age of peril," the booklet recites facts we have probably heard before, but ostrich like, would prefer to hide from:

The hydrogen blasts at Eniwetok equalled at least a million tons of TNT, a force 50 times that of the atomic bomb that flattened Hiroshima, and 100,000 times that of the biggest block buster of world war II.

Washington is 439 air minutes from Moscow, Chicago 458 and Los Angeles 629. In 22 minutes a modern bomber could blast New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington.

In 1950, General Nathan F. Twining, present Air Force Chief of Staff, said "The Air Force we have today is the one we bought three and four years ago. The Air Force we need today is the one we failed to buy at that time. We presume that the General has not brought this statement up to date for security reasons. But we can be sure that the margin of time for resisting devastating attack has narrowed considerably since then, while it still from the drawing board to combat readiness.

takes from seven to ten years to bring a modern bomber In this eloquent plea for "a clearly-defined, consistent National Air Policy, subscribed to by the legislative, executive and military branches of Government," The Legion lists four essentials for "Air Power in an age of Peril": US air forces in being, a stable aircraft industry, leadership in air research and development, a strong airline and civil aviation industry.

And certainly the keystone of this arch of defense is "a stable aircraft industry." As the booklet states, "At no time will our air strength be greater than our ability to build superior airplanes in quantity." And again, "This industry must be kept strong and healthy. We can never again afford the wasteful burden, or invite the peril, of the costly stop and start, peak and valley aircraft production programs of the past."

"Experience has indicated," says the booklet, "that an estimate of 25 percent savings thru a long range aircraft procurement program may well be conservative, according to Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbot."

University Study Club Met In Home Of Mrs. Bill Crosley

The University Study Club held its initial meeting at the home of Mrs. Bill Crosley at ten o'clock on Sept. 1st. Assisting Mrs. Crosley in hostess duties were the other two members of the year book committee, Mrs. J. D. Majors and Mrs. S. S. Reger.

After the guests were served a dainty coffee plate, the president, Mrs. A. R. Bunstine, called the meeting to order. In her address, she quoted Will Rogers, "It's a great country but you can't live in it for nothing" and so she said "we may apply this to our club work."

Following a short business session, Mrs. Majors presented the yearbook pointing out that we should keep in mind that the objective of our club is not solely entertainment nor social activity but adult education.

Those present were Mesdames Melton, Rigby, Scruggs, Tevis, Burns, Sessums, Cauthorn, Harwell, Wiggins, Jensen, Bunstine, Reagan, Reger, Crosley and a new member, Mrs. Newman.

Grade School News

We have had a very exciting week of school work, meeting all the old classmates from last year and the many new ones that came to us from many places in the United States and foreign countries. The first grade boys and girls are venturing out into a large new world where every day brings many new adventures and exciting incidents. There are many exciting things to be observed and do on the playground and in the school building, all 121 of our first grade boys and girls seem to be very happy and some are asking how long it will be before they will be able to stay at school during the entire day. They have a lot of enthusiasm and ambition in face of the extreme hot weather that we are having at the present time. We are hoping that we will receive some moisture and get some relief at a very early date.

The Youth Center belongs to the citizens of Burkburnett. It was built by your donations and as you can see by the report above, it is supported chiefly by your donations.

There is yet $300.00 indebtedness against the building and we must have financial help to open the Center for Fall and Winter. We give to many worthwhile drives and organizations where a large part of the money goes out of town. All the money donated to the Center stays here to help the boys and girls of our community. You have a real investment here, both in the building and, even more, in the lives of the young people that it serves. Many youths use the Center who do not pay their dues. If all parents and youths would realize their responsibility toward this organization, pay their dues and insist that others do so also, the Center could become self-supporting. We need not only money, we need people with an art, an ability, a talent, that will help carry on an educational and recreational program such as is needed by these boys and girls. The Board of Directors do not own the building; ours are not the only ones using the Center. It belongs to every person in town and the surrounding community. Please come forward and help in a financial way and in ideas as to how the Center will best serve our youth.

T-B Association Thanks Burk People For Co-operation

Saturday, September 4th was a banner day in Burkburnett in this city's fight in discovery and control of tuberculosis, in co-operation with the Wichita County Tuberculosis Association. A total of 1316 chest X-rays was made at the Corner Drug Store as people came in large bunches throughout the day. It was not only a record for Burkburnett, but a record day for the whole county. More Burk residents visited the unit in a single day than in any other city, including Wichita Falls.

Miss Margaret Hall, executive secretary of the Wichita County T-B Association called the Star office Wednesday morning and offered her thanks to the paper for its part in giving publicity to the free chest X-ray last Saturday. She also asked the paper to express her thanks, and those of the Association, to the citizens of this area for their wonderful spirit of co-operation in the project. Miss Hall especially wants to thank all the ladies in Burkburnett who helped with the organization of the drive, and the registration at the Corner Drug.

Star Burk Halfback Breaks Collar Bone

Burkburnett's hopes for a district championship were dashed slightly this week when the Bulldogs' ace wingback, Robert Reagan, suffered a broken collarbone.

Coach Joe Bob Tyler stated that the 170 pounder broke the bone in Wednesday's practice and underwent an operation last Friday.

Reagan will be out of action for the entire season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Loftis and son Tommy of College Station spent ten days here recently in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Browning.

As a result of resolutions adopted at the recent Department Convention at Fort Worth, Texas, activities of the Veterans Land Board would be amended and expanded. One resolution would remove the present prohibition which prevents a loan to a veteran upon land where more than half of the mineral rights are sold. It urges the deletion of that portion of the law. Another resolution would limit to $10,000 the amount a veteran can borrow for purchase of land from the Veterans Land Board. It also recommends the broadening of the law so a World War II or Korean Veteran can borrow up to $10,000 for the purchase or building of a home.

Mrs. Redman Has Burk Star Dated Sept. 21, 1923

Mrs. R. G. (Rufe) Redman has an issue of the Burkburnett Star dated September 21, 1923. By now it is discolored and very brittle. That issue had four pages, and Ben L. McDonald, who still lives in Burkburnett, was editor.

An ad on the back page had the following items: Ladies' All Wool Sweaters, $1.95; Men's Dress Shirts, 85c.

The American State Bank run its financial statement, and listed total assets at $362,563.26.

Logan (Casey) Service Station was then located at 107 West Main.

It seems the Russians had ideas then too, which were not fully accepted here. From the editorial page this warning: "If the newspaper men do not want any of the ideas now sizzling in Russia to explode here, they can find plenty of faults here that need correcting, and continue to advocate such reforms persistently."

Two Burk Students Get ROTC Posts

Two Burkburnett senior students at Midwestern University have been notified of their appointment to high office in the ROTC unit at the university.

The young men have been in the ROTC unit during most of their college careers and following graduation next spring will attend six weeks summer camp. On successful completion of the summer camp they will receive reserve commissions in the Army.

Burt Lancaster Is Sensational As One-Man Army In "Apache" Film

The violence, the turbulent drama, the sweep of adventure and the primitive, passionate love of an Indian girl for her warrior beloved, shine forth in the Technicolor production of APACHE, with the glint of authentic history. As seen on the Palace Theatre screen Sunday-Monday, APACHE brings us the long forgotten saga of Massai, last of the Apaches and as fierce and savage as the wild western mountains which begot him.

With catlike grace and flame-like fury Burt Lancaster incarnates the brave who single-handed kept a whole United States Army at bay. It is easily one of the most fantastic screen portrayals ever presented. Lancaster as Massai almost never leaves the screen. Riding, crawling, fighting, screaming, loving—and even dying—Lancaster must face strenuous, superhuman demands for depth of acting and physical agility. He meets the challenge as no one else could and the reward for all of us is one of the great western dra-

Humble's new HOUSTON RESEARCH CENTER... is dedicated to man's impelling curiosity in the search for knowledge and its useful application in the specialized fields of petroleum exploration and production.

Dedicated to Man's Impelling Curiosity

Most of us interpret the value of research in terms of immediate benefits. Research means that we get a better automobile, an improved gasoline, or an outstanding motor oil.

At Baytown Refinery, the Humble Company maintains one of the finest laboratories in the petroleum industry for that kind of research.

But behind the study that goes into the improvement of the products it sells, Humble for years has fostered basic research related to the discovery and production of oil and natural gas.

The United States uses so much oil from day to day, and needs so much more to provide for the emergencies of national defense, that studies leading to the discovery of new supplies and the more efficient management of existing reservoirs are more important than ever before. Consequently, Humble's expenditures on this sort of research are the heaviest in the Company's history and its staff of research scientists is larger than it has ever been.

To house the expansion of these research sections, Humble recently completed its new Research Center at Houston and will formally dedicate it this week end.

Here the scientists of the various departments involved in the discovery and production of oil will utilize common facilities, and here they will have the stimulation of close association with other scientists whose efforts are dedicated to a common end.

The new Houston Research Center will provide facilities for research in:

- Fluid Mechanics
- Geophysics
- Geology
- Geochemistry
- Drilling Muds
- Well Log Interpretation
- Subsurface Instruments
- Reservoir Behavior
- Well Stimulation
- Well Cementing

World Council

R. D. Laney
 Apostle Paul told radiant Christians of his hope that they should be able to see the light of the day. As the assembly of the World Council of Churches has chosen the Christ for its theme, comes to Evanston, Ill., it is appropriate to set forth for this large hope in today's monumental

This thought was founded on a theology which teaches that Christ as the divine manifestation of their difficulties. This brings us to the heart of the Evanston theme: "Christ — the Hope of the World."

By comparison with the monolithic Church of Rome, or the splintered churches of the democratic West have been small in size, insignificant in area. Except in quality, no spokesman for Protestantism could speak with a voice equivalent to that of the Pope. More than this has been the growing feeling that a shattered, scattered Protestantism is an affront both to Christianity and to Christians. A relative decline in the emphasis on doctrinal teachings in many churches has not negated this.

That protestant leaders welcomed Orthodox membership into the World Council and its predecessor organizations is indicative of this conviction: that only a world fellowship of churches, replacing a disinterested or antagonistic disorder, can fulfill complete church needs. How far has this ecumenism, this unity-drive advanced as a movement? Few churches in Evanston agreed that now, or at any other time, their denomination can or will convene and agree to drop even one cherished point of doctrine.

No member of a major American denomination agreed at the meeting of the Council, that he would welcome removal of the denominational notation from the lintel of his church door. Yet thousands of consecrated church members applauded reports of the measured but irresolute movement towards closer church cooperation, toward bridging of interdenominational chasms. Basically, World Council membership appears to be based on a search for peace, to remove, where possible, conflicts from the church.

the World Council of Churches Second Assembly, since the success of the World Council, as well as closer church fellowship, probably will stand or fall with laymen interest.

Except in quality, no spokesman for Protestantism could speak with a voice equivalent to that of the Pope. More than this has been the growing feeling that a shattered, scattered Protestantism is an affront both to Christianity and to Christians. If you haven't a church home we would like very much for you to visit us where the full gospel is preached in the old time way. There is special music and singing each service. Each and everyone has a warm and hearty welcome to come worship with us.

even if peace in the world cannot be obtained.

A determined effort for unity despite fundamental disagreement in doctrine, was made by the delegates of the World Council of Churches, as it has formulated a statement of Christian hope, based on the Second Assembly's main theme, "Christ — the Hope of the World." This disagreement in the World Council committee reflected the divergent approaches of the European and American theologians on eschatology, the doctrine of the "final things," such as death, immortality, resurrection, and judgement.

Thus our hope cannot be described as either "this worldly" or "other worldly" as directed toward an earthly utopia of a paradise beyond the grave. It is solidly grounded in the transformation of present human experience by Christ acting in consciousness to bring to light man's eternal status as the son of God. This, as we see it, is the basis of all true unity, the unity the churchmen at Evanston were seeking. It is the basis of our deepest convictions and the reason for our hope.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Any simple outdoor setting, such as this one, is fine for keeping a record of parent and child together year after year.

Plan a Special Picture-a-Year Album

The other day we saw a very interesting picture series—the kind that would be a wonderful addition to any family album. We'd like to pass the idea along to you.

First, there was the picture of mother leaning over, holding up baby's arms while baby put out his foot experimentally. The picture was taken on the lawn with a hedge which had recently been planted in the background. That was the first picture. Every year to the day after that, mother and child stood in the same spot for another picture. The first few years, the hedge had it all over the child in growth. But in the last picture, taken this year, the boy, now seventeen, towers over both his mother and the hedge.

It looks as if in another year or two he might be able to reach down and hold on to his mother with HER hands above her head! This picture series took no particular skill. It was snapped in bright sunlight. The images were clear—they had been taken at a distance of six feet for the earlier pictures, and eight feet for the last three or four. They were all snapped with the same camera too, an ordinary box-type that was inexpensive when it was bought and is still in good use.

The investment in the camera was nothing compared with the enjoyment this family gets in taking out just this one picture series to show their friends.

It is the kind of series any family would like, and can easily take. Along with the usual birthday and Christmas snapshots, it'll give you a wonderfully vivid record of how the children grow. It's a little like the old-fashioned idea of measuring the youngster periodically and marking it on the kitchen wall—but a lot more fun. —John Van Guilder

Fingerprints Are No Problem

For this smiling mother, Junior's dirty finger marks no longer add many minutes of scrubbing to her already busy day, for she's discovered the secret of latex paints.

Only a few years ago, handwriting on the wall left by crayons in tiny hands, spots of grease in the kitchen, fingerprints on walls and woodwork made short work of Mother's nerves, more work for her hands. Today mothers are finding that problems like these can be "has-beens" when walls and woodwork are painted with the new quick-drying, interior paints based on synthetic latex, developed through cooperation of the chemical industry and the paint manufacturers.

Why? Because as this paint dries, it forms a tough film on the wall which binds the color in, seals stains out. Color can't be scrubbed off as with old-fashioned paints; neither are stains absorbed. Only a light wiping with soap and water is necessary to restore that clean, freshly painted look.

Budget-conscious homemakers daily are taking paint brush in hand to give their homes these easy-to-clean walls. Latex paints, available in a wide range of colors in flat, gloss and many specialty finishes, are so easy to apply even an amateur can do an expert job. Paint goes on evenly; brush or lap marks do not show. Brushes or rollers wash clean quickly in ordinary tap water—no smelly brush cleaners.

These paints dry to the touch within an hour; furnishings can be back in place almost immediately. Whether family project or professional job, it doesn't take a major disruption of the household for Mother to enjoy the ease of cleaning that comes with latex-painted walls.

DOUBLE DUTY

Fringed miniature terry guest towels now serve double duty on the dining room table. These colorful little cotton towels are just the right size for table mats—plus the fact that they're easy to wash and don't have to be ironed. Cannon Homemaking Institute reports that the miniature terry towels come in pastels, bright hues, and white, attractive for informal table settings.

DUTIFUL DUSTER

A lightweight coat is a necessity for summer-into-fall wardrobes. To fill this need, designers have come up with the answer in coats like this denim duster, the National Cotton Council reports. The modified duster is styled in Avondale Onyx denim sparked with contrasting cotton velveteen collar and shiny buttons.
