Let Us Bow Our Heads In THANKS...

Today, in the spirit of the first Thanksgiving, let us give thanks to the Creator for all the blessings we have received... both as individuals and as Americans... a free people, living without fear in a free country. Like the Pilgrim Fathers, let us humbly acknowledge our debt to Divine Providence for all that we are and may hope to become. Like them let us bow our heads in a prayer of gratitude to the Giver of "every good and perfect gift."

How better express the gratitude that is in your heart than to gather with family and friends in Church on Thanksgiving Day?

THANKSGIVING

By R. D. Laney

Thanksgiving Day is unrelated to any particular historic event or to any great personality. It is an individualistic holiday, providing an opportunity for every person to thank God for the blessings that have come to him. It is a personal holiday and used to be deeply religious. The day has become an honored and honorable institution. It is unfortunate that so many of us wait until the last Thursday in November of each year to give proof of our gratitude. When we consider the circumstances and conditions under which the first Thanksgiving service was conducted by the early settlers on the bleak and almost barren shores of New England and compare their poverty with our plenty, we ought to indeed feel grateful in our present circumstances. They had so little but were so grateful. Today, despite wars and rumors of wars, we are the most favored and fortunate people on earth. Yet how seldom do the people assemble and how few when they do assemble, say "Thank you Lord, for thy guidance and goodness."

To be sure, Thanksgiving is well and good, and it should be observed because of its original intent and purpose. The Pilgrims who instituted the day had reason for their season of Thanksgiving: They had made bountiful crops in this new land and were enjoying freedoms and liberties after being oppressed and overtaken in the old country from which they came. Their Thanksgiving was sacred because it was felt deep down inside their souls. Everyone of us should pray thus: "Bountiful Father, provider of all our blessings, we are grateful. For these things especially, which aren't enjoyed by millions of our world inhabitants, we are thankful, for freedom of thought, religion, freedom from fear, want, oppression and threats. May we acquire and intensify a feeling of gratitude as we go thru life."

We are thankful that having witnessed Socialism at work, we could not believe that any system is preferable to a free competitive economy in which each individual, at his risk, forms the pattern of his life. For no matter how ideally worded in the books, Socialism reduces man to serfdom in the sense that he becomes bound to the decisions and will of the State; he is a creature of police power. When the government owns the means of production and distribution, the individual becomes a thing a statistical figure. He is lost on the morass of bureaucracy.

We are thankful that the Natural Law, revealed law of God to man as proclaimed by our ancestors in the Bible, offers to man pity, compassion, charity, love as ideals of life, which is a superior pattern to the Darwinian struggle for existence and the Marxian theory of unending class struggle. And that our outlook on life was broadened and proved that while the human race contains as many different kinds of people as there are varieties of roses, all human beings are much the same in their elementary nature.

We all should be thankful that we are citizens of the U. S. A., and that in this country of our birth, we are permitted to write and speak wisely or foolishly, in freedom. That we can worship our God without fear and that government controls our lives or threatens us with reprisals against our children. On Thanksgiving Day let us bow our heads before the gracious God whose shadow fell between us and possible grievous errors that could have tortured our lives and brought misery to our kind. There is so much to be thankful for.

Burk - Childress B Teams Tie For 3-AA Champs

Last Thursday night, the Burkburnett B football team journeyed to Childress where a District 3-AA championship game was played between the Burk and Childress B teams. The game was a tie 6-6. The teams will be considered co-champions of the 3-AA district even though Burkburnett led in penetrations 4-2 and first down 15-10. This left the Bullpups undefeated for the 1954 season. Burkburnett won the Eastern half and Childress the Western half of the district in order to play in this game.

The game was scoreless until early in the fourth quarter when Danny Howard sneaked over from the one yard line on the 4th down to give Childress a 6-0 lead, as the extra point was missed. With 3 minutes left in the game, tailback Don McKinnis passed to end Dois Walker for 10 yards and a touchdown to make a tie 6-6 as Burkburnett also missed the try for extra point. Burkburnett had the ball on the Childress 25 yard line when the game ended. Thus the scoring ended and Burkburnett and Childress both remained undefeated.

The Bullpups ended the season with 7 wins and two ties. Playing outstanding ball for the Bullpups this season were Ralph Adkins, Don McKinnis, John Buckilew, Johnny Veach, Don Cantrell, Jerry Mills, Wayne Smith, Dois Walker, Jerry Boren, Jerry Reagan, Don Elliott, Dale Sites, Terry Higgins, Frank Morton, Mike Hoffman, Billy Bob Marine, Charles Goode, Everett Walden, Ronald Walden Toule Schroeder, Floyd Whitney, Jimmy Burba, Leslie Kasper, Sammy Keith, Harold Morris, Chas. ## PRICES AND COMPETITION

Practically everything we buy nowadays costs twice as much as it did 25 years or so ago. Yet the cost of gasoline is still close to the 1925 level, exclusive of taxes.

Why should this be the case? The answer according to Professor Edmund P. Learned of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration is, "the healthy struggle for competitive advantage among all U. S. oil companies and gasoline dealers."

In an article appearing in the Harvard Business Review, Professor Learned tells of a study made of a leading midwestern oil company. This company was considered a price leader because of its dominant market position. Yet, in one state alone, its products were in competition with brands of seven large national companies, five well-established regional companies and a number of private brands. He writes: "The company's retail prices were the result of keen local competition. Consumers had ample opportunity to choose between varying elements of price, service and quality. New or old firms were free to try any combination of appeals to attract new business. Even the biggest marketer had to meet competitive prices. If, as rarely happened, a price was established that was not justified by economic forces, some competitor always brought it down."

Moreover, competition also improves quality. Two gallons of today's gasoline does as much work as three of the 1925 vintage. The intensive research and engineering work that made that possible was the result of the irresistible force of competition.

Horsepower Tells The Story

What enterprise is the greatest user of power in all its forms?

The answer, according to an item in Country Gentlemen, is agriculture, and its lead in this field is huge. Our farmers now have 115,672,500 horsepower available, in tractors, trucks, electric motors, stationary engines, and so on. By comparison, all our factories use only 28,800,000 horsepower.

Here, in a simple set of statistics, is the story of this century's agricultural revolution. The internal combustion engine and electricity have transformed farming into an advanced and complex business. Farm equipment of a thousand and one kinds has made it possible for a smaller farm population, working a relatively fixed acreage, to feed a vastly increased non-farm population. And it has given the farmer more than the means to increase his production, and to earn a better living with less physical work. It has given him the means to conserve and improve his land in the process, and to save it for future generations who will be called upon to meet a still greater demand for food and fiber.

The Wall Street Journal says that a rise in the production and sales of farm equipment is taking place. New and improved machines are catching the farmer's eye. Thus, the great revolution brought about by mechanical horsepower continues.

NO SECRETS

J. C. Penney, founder of the great chain system which bears his name has described the secret of success retailing. That secret, he said, "is that there are no secrets. There are people who, when the principles of business success are explained to them do not find the answer, sufficiently intellectual to be satisfying. In retailing the formula happens to be a basic liking for human beings, plus integrity, plus industry, plus, the ability to see the other fellow's point of view." That formula applies to any human endeavor.

ANTS ARE SOCIALISTIC

If human beings were like ants, living would be simple. The life of the ant consists of all work and no play, with complete social equality. It is the ultimate in regimentation.

When it comes to human beings, the Wall Street Journal aptly says, "If activity were all that was sought, economics would be a very simple matter. It would only be necessary as is successfully done in almost any socialist country, to see that there was not enough food, clothes, houses or consumer goods to supply the people. Then everybody could work busily from morn to night, and as long as they never caught up with the needs the activity would stay feverish."

But human beings are not like ants, they are individualistic in nature and must have freedom to do their best. That is why socialism and ant-like regimentation are not the answer to man's problems. To progress and gain contentment and profit from his work and at the same time preserve his individualism, is all important to him. He can't do this under ant-like socialism.

Uni. Study Club Met With Mrs. W. H. Holt

The home of Mrs. W. H. Holt was the scene of the regular Thanksgiving program of the University Study club as a part of our "American Heritage."

Mrs. J. D. Majors conducted a short business session. The club voted to sponsor as a project, lunch tickets for one child during the school year.

Mrs. B. N. Cauthorn and Mrs. Majors presented the program. Mrs. Cauthorn read Psalms and poems of Thanksgiving. Mrs. Majors gave a touching little Thanksgiving story "Thanks for a muscle." This was a human interest story of Mrs. Daley and her guests showing the desire of all for fellowship and companionship on this day and Mrs. Daley's ways of winning these desires.

Mrs. Burns won the door prize. Mrs. Holt assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Nunneley, served an attractive refreshment plate to the following members, Mesdames J. D. Majors, R. C. Tevis, B. N. Cauthorn, Joy Sessums, J. M. Pogue, T. M. Jensen, O. E. Melton, J. H. Rigby, R. P. Reagan, I. E. Harwell, P. A. Wiggins, S. S. Reger, E. R. ### Magnificent Obsession Comes To Palace Theatre

When a motion picture so completely overwhelms the emotions as does Universal-International's Technicolor masterpiece "Magnificent Obsession," such a picture must be considered an extraordinary experience.

And extraordinary "Magnificent Obsession" certainly proves to be when it opens Saturday at the Palace Theatre, a moving of experience few movie-goers of either sex will find it possible to resist.

To allocate credit for this superb achievement between the brilliant performances by Jane Wyman and Rock Hudson, the powerful love story by Lloyd C. Douglas (the author of "The Robe") and the inspirational mood of the entire production would be futile. For "Magnificent Obsession" is that perfect blending of story, acting, direction, setting and musical background.

The theme of the celebrated Douglas novel is keyed to a woman's great need for the man she has most reason to hate, a man who has almost destroyed her life. An accident to wastrel Hudson requires use of the only resuscitator in the area, a resuscitator owned by Dr. Wayne Phillips, who perishes from a sudden heart attack when he is denied the benefit of the equipment. As if that were not enough Hudson's reckless pursuit of Miss Wyman, Dr. Phillips' widow, results in a automobile injury and apparent blindness to her.

Out of Hudson's devotion to Miss Wyman in an effort to undo his lifetime of wrong comes the magnificent obsession, and obsession that provides one of the most compelling love stories ever told on the motion picture screen.

In the role of Helen Phillips, Miss Wyman is the pivotal point of this love story in a performance that adds considerably to her stature and supports the contention of admirers and film critics that she is one of the great actresses of our time. Gay in the excitement of an ecstatic first love, courageous and sensitive in meeting the challenge of a future seemingly without hope, Miss Wyman sets a standard that must have been an inspiration to the others in the fine cast.

In one of the screen's really great dramatic roles, Rock Hudson's star rises high in the Hollywood skies. His transformation from the wild reckless youth to a mature man dedicated to the woman he had wronged is no theatrical tour-de-force. It is as carefully and skillfully wrought, a characterization as the screen is likely to exhibit.

And in Barbara Rush, one of Hollywood's most capable young

Magnificent Obsession Opening At Palace Theatre For 3 Days

Rock Hudson and Jane Wyman become the screen's most exciting new romantic team in Universal International's "Magnificent Obsession." Barbara Rush is also starred in this Technicolor production of the celebrated love story by Lloyd C. Douglas, author of "The Robe." Ross Hunter produced "Magnificent Obsession."

women, a third star keeps pace in the role of the step-daughter who resist, then encourages the pursuit that first touches her life with disaster and later salvages hope from despair.

In Agnes Moorehead, Otto Kruger and Gregg Palmer the feature cast is studded with superb performers.

Douglas Sirk's direction and Russell Metty's fluid camera give mood and movement that will absorb audiences, while the imagination and good taste of producer Ross Hunter is always evident. And the Frank Skinner score based on moving themes by Chopin, Beethoven and Johann Strauss provides an unusually fine background for this truly magnificent picture.

Check Peach Trees For Tree Borers

Now is a good time to check your peach trees for peach tree borers, according to B. T. Haws, county agent. The peach tree borer is the insect that attacks the trunk of your tree. There are lots of borers in trees in Wichita County.

Paradichlorobenzene crystals will control peach borers.

No preparation of the soil is necessary except to break the crust for 15 to 18 inches around the tree and to remove any grass and weeds, about two inches from the base. For mature trees, of average size, one ounce by weight should be used; for unusually large trees 1-2 ounces is sometimes needed; for trees 4 to 5 years old, 3-4 oz., and for trees 1 to 3 years of age, 1-2 ounce, or slightly less, should be used. Immediately after the crystals have been applied, they should be covered with several shovelfuls of dirt, and the dirt packed with the back of the shovel to make a cone-shaped mound. The material should be applied between October 20 and November 25th. After about six weeks, the mound of earth should be torn down and the residue of crystals removed.

A material that can be used later is Ethylene dichloride.

Ethylene dichloride emulsion is the most satisfactory material for peach tree borer control. Directions for diluting the stock solution are given on the manufacturers' containers. Clear the grass and weeds from around the tree trunk. Build the ground level well above where the borers are working in the trunk. It is not necessary to remove the mound around the tree at a later date. The material can be applied any time after the leaves shed in the fall until early April provided the temperature is above 45 degrees F. and the ground is not too wet. Apply 1-2 pint of the diluted ethylene dichloride emulsion mixture on the ground around the tree for mature bearing trees. For trees 2 to 4 years of age use 1-4 pint per tree. Cover the liquid with a few shovels of dirt. This material may be purchased locally from your seed and feed dealers and drug stores.

Egg Producers' Outlook for 1955

The outlook for 1955 is favored for egg producers who sell on a graded market. But with expected lower seasonal prices, many backyard poultrymen may reduce or curtail production next year.

Based on the price prospects and trends in recent months, the natural tendency of farmers will be to raise fewer replacement chicks in 1955 says B. T. Haws, county agent.

Production for the first six months of 1955 is already "made" by the number of hens and pullets now on farms. After mid-1955, the volume of eggs largely depends upon the number of chicks started during the first half and saved for replacement.

Eggs will be plentiful during the first half of 1955, even more so than now, Haws predicts. Prices paid to producers in March and April may drop below the levels of the same months in '54, but can be expected to improve again in the fall of 1955.

A four percent increase in egg production this year in Texas has not kept pace with production in other regions but there's no cause for a high percentage reduction of layers on farms in areas where graded markets are available, the county agent says.

Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District News

More than five months have passed since this area has had effective rainfall amounts. However, according to Elvey Sargent of the local SCS office, several district cooperators have a good cover of grass remaining.

Having a cover of grass can be attributed to past and present range management. This management hinges around a grazing program limiting the number of livestock that would leave one half of the grass produced for soil protection and range plant improvement. Water penetration studies made by the Soil Conservation Service show that the amount of water going into the soil is in direct proportion the amount of cover on the ground.

One study showed that on a mixed land site on which 2.65 inches of rain fell in less than an hour the area moderately grazed had water penetration of 24 inches. On an adjoining overgrazed range the penetration was 12 inches. Storing water in the soil produces larger amounts of grass during drought periods.

Joe Cunningham, whose ranch is four miles west of Iowa Park has had ample grass for cattle this year on a pasture deferred during 1953. Total grazing has been increased and the amount of grass grown during the rainy season gives ample dry forage at this time.

R. G. Redman, district cooperator six miles northwest of Iowa Park has a similar story, deferred grazing, improved plant vigor, and limiting the number of cattle to avoid over use of the range plants.

John Barbour of Iowa Park is using a like program. Ralph Swinford of Friberg has produced good amounts of grass the same way.

VETERANS Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I have a nephew who's a World War II veteran drawing a VA pension because he is paralyzed from the waist down for reasons not connected with his service. He gets an extra amount because he needs regular aid and attendance. He has just been admitted to a VA hospital for treatment. Will his extra allowance continue, or will it be cut off?

A—It will continue while he is hospitalized. In many instances, the extra allowance stops when a veteran enters a VA hospital. But it generally is continued for paralyzed veterans and those who lost their sight.

Q—Would it be possible for me to take on the job training under the Korean GI Bill on a part time basis?

A—No. The law requires that on the job training under the Korean GI Bill must be on a full time basis.

Q—My daughter has been receiving VA compensation payments based on the death of my husband, a World War I veteran. She reached her eighteenth birthday during the summer vacation between school terms. Will she be eligible for payments for the time between her birthday and the time she resumes school?

A—Yes. Payments may be authorized for the period between your daughter's birthday and her re-entry into school.

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran, and I have never remarried. I also am a World War II veteran myself. Would I be eligible for two GI loans, one on the basis of being an unmarried widow, and the other based on my own eligibility?

A—No you would be eligible for only one GI loan, based on your own eligibility as a veteran.

Childress Blasts Burk Burnett 33-7

Halfback Michie Barron's three touch downs sparked the Childress Bobcats to a 33-7 district win in 2A-3 over Burk Burnett Friday night at Bulldog Stadium.

The victory cinched undisputed second place in the district for the Bobcats and gave Childress a 7-3 season record.

A big fighting Childress line featuring Tackle Bill Vehslage and Guard Alan Clifton held the Bulldog defense to small yardage.

Burk Burnett's lone scoring thrust was touched off by Halfback Billy Miz's scintillating 84 yard return of the opening kick off along the eastern sideline to the Bobcat 8.

A penalty cost Burk Burnett 5 yards but a pass interference ruling on a Gerry McCabe to Dale Boren toss put the ball on the 1 and Fullback Jackie Wright plunged across for the TD.

Lewis McDonald booted the extra point and the Bulldogs led, 7-0 in the first quarter. The Bobcats marched 39 yards in seven plays capped by Barron's 25 yard scamper, to score their first counter at 9:12 in the same chapter. Guard Harold Goodson flipped a wobbly 17 yard pass to Raney after a 15-yard penalty for the tying point and the Bobcats were never again headed.

Barron's 13 yard run at 3:11 of the second quarter scored Childress' second TD, ending a 42 yard drive, and Goodson booted the extra point. The half ended 14-7 with the Bobcats in command. After a scoreless third quarter Ripy moved across the Bulldog goal, climaxing a 43 yard drive in the opening seconds of the

Texas Safety Association

"After all, pedestrians are people, so give them a break in traffic."

In those words R. B. Rooper of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association and Chief Safety Engineer for Humble Oil and Refining Co., today appealed to motorists to do their share in making the current pedestrian safety program of the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council a complete success.

Any effective pedestrian safety program must have the wholehearted cooperation of both motorists and pedestrians, he said.

He reminded motorists that even when the heedless conduct of walkers puts a driver in a spot, the driver is not justified in retaliating.

Remember, he said, "the odds always favor the motorist. A human being is no match for a 3,000 pound vehicle."

Mr. Rooper believes that most drivers and walkers display a cooperative attitude in traffic. No pedestrian, he said, deliberately gets run over, nor does a driver run a pedestrian down with malice aforethought.

Most difficulties between drivers and walkers result from heedlessness on the part of one or both, or from a stubborn determination by someone to have his own way, he said.

He advised motorists to make it a habit to give the walker the right of way, even when he is not entitled to it. He also urged them to be on the alert so that they can compensate for any carelessness on the part of walkers.

Drivers should always slow down near schools and playgrounds, in residential districts, and in shopping areas, Mr. Rooper warned. They should be especially alert for the elderly whose reactions are slow and for children whose youth makes them impulsive and unpredictable.

In addition to the usual traffic hazards, he said "special dangers are encountered at this time of year. He listed these as:

1. More hours of darkness.
2. More rain.
3. The beginning of holiday shopping.

Such conditions, he said, mean that motorists should slow down to counteract reduced visibility should guard against wet and slippery road surfaces, should be on the alert for pedestrians whose vision is obstructed by bundles or umbrellas.

Constant alertness, plus more give and less take will go far in assuring the success of our pedestrian safety program, Mr. Rooper said.

Pray, don't find fault with the man who limps or stumbles along the road.

Texas State Dept. of Health

Dr. Henry A. Holle, M. D.

A high standard of community health is the best asset that a state can possess, said Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer, in speaking of the progress made in public health education since the first Thanksgiving Day was observed by our forefathers.

The State of Texas has much to be thankful for this year, he said, "in the steadily increasing interest and cooperation of the people of the State in matters to their health.

The control of the water and milk supplies, sewage disposal, vaccination against smallpox, immunization against diphtheria and whooping cough, food inspection, housing regulations, and many other measures have been spectacularly successful in reducing the killing power of a number of maladies that formerly took a terrific annual toll. Responsibility for success in the advancement of a public health program lies not only with the health department, but also with the people who support and encourage the community effort put forth by those who apply in their own individual lives the knowledge which they have acquired. The individual citizen, by the benefits of good health, is more well-being than he is. His program should involve conscientious effort to abide the simple rules of health and rational living.

In short when the private citizen fully appreciates the importance of good health practice his part, he will greatly enrich the efforts of medicine, surgery and public health in his behalf.

Grade School News

We are very grateful for the fine way that the parents and friends of the school children took time out to come by and visit with us for a most friendly visit. We had 736 to sign the registers in the separate rooms during National Education Week and the open house on Tuesday night, Nov. 16. This is certainly one of the greatest ways of showing the boys and girls that you are interested in the things that they are doing and their welfare. We most sincerely want to say thank you and want you to know that we are happy to have you come by and say hello.

We are looking ahead for the holiday season and thinking over the many things that we are thankful for, and do hope that the spirit of humble thanks will gladden your heart. You can best show your thanks by a great and friendly smile. Make everyone around you happy by giving forth that thankful cheer with a great smile.
