MOTHERS TO MARCH FOR POLIO FUNDS

Car Inspection Deadline Nears

A lot of Texas car owners are to be mightily unhappy three days from now.

That was the opinion expressed last night by Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, at a conference with George By, Chief of the Safety Department's Motor Vehicle Inspection Division.

A review of the motor vehicle inspection figures at the 37-way point in the current inspection program showed that only 1 out of 5 autos in the State have their annual safety check as required by law.

"That means," Garrison said, "a lot of Texas car owners are to be mightily unhappy 3 months from now because they can't be allowed to operate on streets and highways with the proper approved inspection sticker."

The Public Safety Director also pointed out that the longer the delay, the longer will be the waiting line at the inspection stations as the April deadline approaches.

A simple note of encouragement was offered by Chief Businessman who said that the State's Kansas-7000 inspection stations are equipped to handle the inspection of some 2 1-2 million cars which have not yet been checked without prolonging the waiting line provided the connections begin taking their cars to be checked without further delay.

At year-end, failure to secure the inspection by April 15th will subject the motorists to a probable fine if they continue to operate their cars after that date.

-NOTICE-

The American Legion is sponsoring a drive for old clothing to be sent to the orphans of Korea. If you have any around the house that you no longer want, we would be glad to pick them up.

Just call No. 984-J or 751-W and we will come by after them.

Dimes Goal: Rebuild Lives

Making new lives for polio victims is a major goal of the March of Dimes, now in the second week of its drive for $64,000,000 in polio-fighting funds, according to Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

"From the time a polio patient is first diagnosed, skilled hands and wise heads are at his bedside to save a life and return the patient to normal living," Dr. Van Riper said. "For this, most patients need financial aid from the March of Dimes."

National Foundation research and professional education programs constantly provide new knowledge and trained personnel, he explained. The eventual conquest of paralytic polio is the goal and much progress has been made, but polio still cripples, he said.

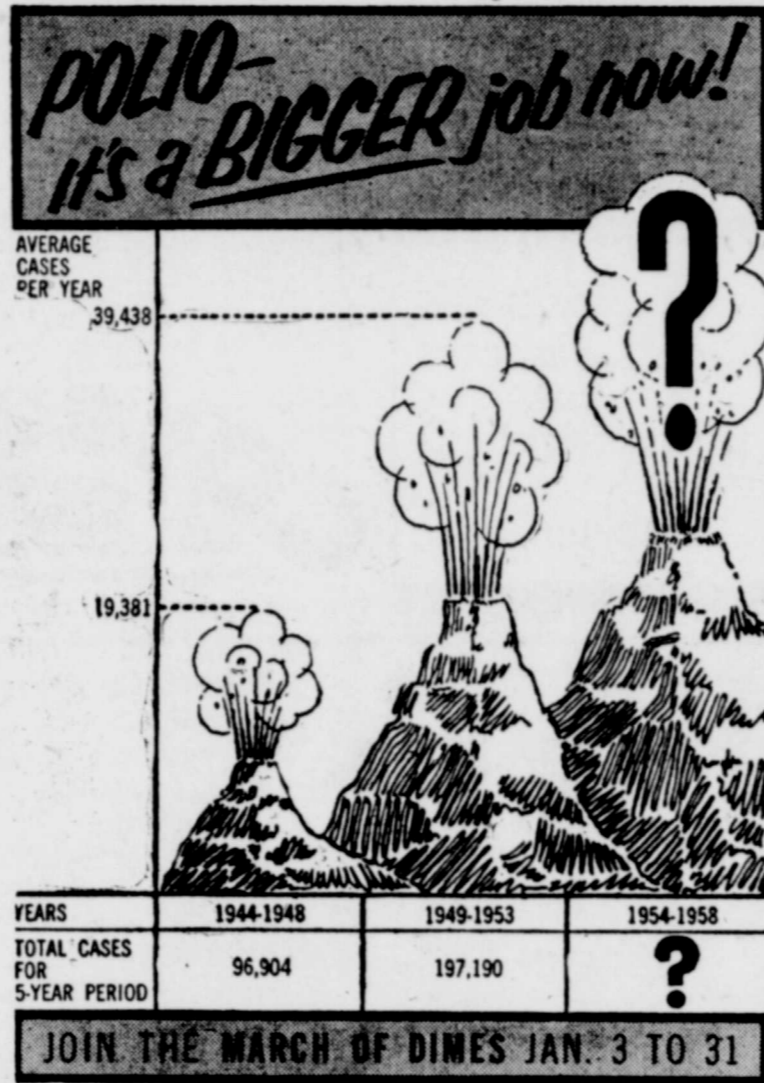

More Getting Rehabilitation
"New treatment techniques, involving physical therapy and orthopedic surgery, plus improved self-help devices can give mobility to many paralyzed arms and legs," he declared.

A survey of 34,377 polio patients admitted or re-admitted to hospitals in 1953 showed that 6,298 of them had come back for this purpose, he added. Reports of admissions and re-admissions to hospitals during the first nine months of 1954 list 5,577 patients in this category out of a total of 25,097 admissions—more than one out of five.

Parallel Efforts
Describing the goals of the National Foundation, Dr. Van Riper said: "While the prevention of polio is our final objective, provision of the best available care and treatment must parallel our efforts to control it. We must provide the kind of treatment that will allow polio patients to return to their homes prepared and able to take an active part in the life of their community. You might say we must treat the whole person, not just the disease."

March of Dimes aid is essential, he declared. More dimes are vitally needed now to help thousands of polio patients realize their potentialities.

The campaign will continue until Jan. 31.

Price Daniel Urges Relief For Cotton Farmers

Senator Price Daniel of Texas urged that administrative or legislative steps be taken immediately to alleviate hardships resulting from the reduction of cotton acreage allotments.

If additional allotments cannot be provided in hardship cases within the present over-all allotment, then some reasonable national allotment should be made to take care of these cases," Daniel told the Senate.

"Time is of the essence, and effective relief must come in the next few weeks in order that the farmers may know what they can plant."

Daniel said the reduction in allotments to family-size farms is particularly alarming. "We are losing farm families at an alarming rate already, and there is no incentive for young men to stay on cotton farms or to start farming. It is a serious social and economic situation which must be remedied."

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harms and Mrs. Mike Harms visited Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Colligan and Mrs. A. J. Harris over the week end.

You CAN Pick Your CANDIDATE BUT... THE RIGHT TO VOTE IS YOURS ONLY IF YOU... PAY YOUR POLL TAX!

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

DULUTH, Minn., Publicity: "It has been from the Bible that America has learned that the humblest man is a priceless child of God and that every man's opinion in matters relating to the common welfare has in it the bugle call of sovereignty. In the midst of a world of disappearing freedoms, America is gloriously free."

ALBANY, N. Y., Taxpayer: "Public power pushers are riding high, wide and handsome again, howling holy horror about 'giveaways.' If giving private industry permission to develop waterpower is a giveaway of the people's power resources, couldn't it be claimed that there was a similar 'giveaway' of the people's land resources every-time a lumberjack chopped a tree? How about the miner who digs deep into the earth for coal or the man who builds his own home? Are they, too, the recipients of 'giveaways?' After all, the land in which they dig or build is 'the people's land.'"

LODI, N. J., Messenger: "It would seem to us that if the closed shop doesn't 'create' jobs, it could only be thru feather-bedding. And we would certainly consider our own freedom not merely 'curtailed', but practically extinguished if the law forced us to buy a union card and pay dues in order to be allowed to make a living."

How To Cause A Natural Gas Shortage

A few months ago a Supreme Court decision held that under existing law the Federal Power Commission has the authority to regulate the price of natural gas at the wellhead. And this poses a highly important question: Can the government do better than producers in assuring a steady dependable supply of the gas at reasonable rates?

To begin with, gas prices have been regulated for years in two of the industry's three phases of operation. Local distributors are subjected to the state and local laws governing public utilities, and the interstate pipelines come under federal jurisdiction.

The producers have no exclusive franchises or sheltered markets. The vast majority have been independent businessmen, selling in a competitive market within the confines of a single state. There is a risky enterprise. It costs an average of more than $100,000 to sink an exploratory well and eight turn out dry for every successful one. Obviously, they must see a chance of profit if they are to continue to take such risks and thus make sure our future gas supply will be adequate.

From 1945 to mid 1954 the cost of natural gas rose only 12 percent, as compared to a jump of almost 50 percent in the general price structure. The producer's share of what the consumer pays for gas is about 10 percent. If government regulation forced the wellhead price down the saving to consumers would be insignificant, but producers would be dealt a ruinous blow. The inevitable result would be less gas and an eventual shortage.

A number of members of Congress have said that they favor freeing the producers from federal price-fixing. In the interest of an important industry and the consumers who depend on it, that should be done without delay.

FROM RANCH TO TABLE

Pork used to be consumer's favorite meat in this country. But two years ago beef took over the leadership, and its sales now lead those of pork by a substantial margin.

We Americans have, happily, become conditioned to having cuts of beef available whenever we want it. All we have to do is walk to the butcher shop and make our choice. Nothing is simpler. But the production and distribution machine which sees to it that those cuts of beef are waiting for us is far from simple.

A feature story in a recent issue of Life shows the major steps involved in getting beef to the consumer. It observes, "to satisfy the demand for more and better grade beef the meat industry has evolved a complicated but smooth flowing production line." First comes the rancher, who sells his steers to an agency man. Then they are sold to the feeder, who keeps them on concentrated rations for five to six months, during which time they gain two pounds a day. Next the commission man enters the picture, buying the fattened steers and selling them to the packers. Packers butcher and process the meat, and then it goes to the retailer, the final link in the chain between ranch and dining table.

Life says, "Each handler is at the mercy of constantly changing prices caused by fluctuations in supply and demand all along the line." As in any competitive enterprise there is plenty of risk for the participants. But the job is done—day in and day out, with peak efficiency and economy.

Veterans Administration Questions & Answers

Q—Toward the end of my grace period, I made out a check for my monthly GI insurance premium, but I just now remember I forgot to sign it. I have plenty of money in the bank to cover the payment. What will happen? Will my insurance lapse?

A—Your insurance will not lapse. VA will send you a letter notifying you of your error. You will have 31 days from the date of your letter to send in another check, bringing your premium payments up to date.

Q—If I make advance payments on my GI home loan, is there any minimum size the payments must be?

A—Yes. Your advance payments may not be less than the amount of one installment, or $100, whichever is lower.

Q—My husband, a World War II veteran, bought a home with a GI loan before he was a service-connected disabled. I am an unmarried widow. I still be eligible for a GI loan in my own right, even if he used the benefit?

A—Yes. The fact that his GI loan entitlement was not served to bar you from yours, as the unreimbursement of a veteran.

Q—I am a lawyer. I lost my profession to go to the armed forces, and I have been discharged. Would I be allowed to take some courses in law under the GI Bill, before resuming practice?

A—No. The law prohibits veterans from training activities they already had completed by reason of prior experience. Before service, you had already reached your objective.

"Action!" is the keynote of the rodeo at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, opening Friday night with two performances daily thereafter through Sunday, Feb. 6. The wild horse stampede (upper left) calls for cowboys, on foot, to try to grab a mane and clamber aboard. Other pictures are: Buddy Heaton and his comedy bucking horse, (upper right); a wild Brahma bull tosses a barrel — and Jimmy Schumacher, clown—high in the air; and (lower right) Bill Linderman, a great bronc rider, roper and steer-wrestler, former all-round world's champion cowboy who will be one of the 400 contestants.

Bulldogs Eke By Quannah For Title

Owen's tremendous clutch shot with just seconds remaining gave the Bulldog team a thrilling victory over the Quannah in the finals of the Burk Burnett Basketball Tournament last Saturday night.

A Quannah player fumbled the ball out of bounds with 20 seconds remaining, and Burk moved into position for an amazing shot. The "Pride of Burk Burnett" coolly arched the ball high into the air and dropped neatly thru the rim of the winning basket.

In other games of the evening, Burk outlasted a fighting Quannah quint for third place, 61-43. Burk squeezed past Iowa 43 to 40, in the consolation game, and Chillicothe dumped Burk "B" team for seventh place. Byers, the original 8th team in the tournament, withdrew after its first two losses. Owens scored 17 markers for the winners.

Tommy Walling paced Seymour with 22 points, and Puzzan Brown tallied 20 for Electra. The Panthers had to stage a desperate second half attack to chill the Tigers, who almost scored the upset of the night.

Roy Swift and Jerry Evans combined to give Holliday enough scoring punch to down Iowa Park. Iowa Park held a 20-19 halftime lead, but Holliday controlled the backboards in the third quarter to wrap fifth place in the tourney. Dennis Fletcher scored 13 for the Hawks.

Buddy Burt tallied 21 points to lead Chillicothe to an easy victory over Burk "B". Kenneth Estes scored 13 and Jerry Boren added 12 for the junior Bulldogs. Coach T. J. Bailey's wonderful Indians stayed ahead of the host team most of the contest, despite the fact that the Bulldogs were using a tight zone defense.

Billy Sellars almost cinched the game for Quannah with a 15 foot jump shot from the corner with 1:28 left. He had missed two chances from the same spot earlier in the fourth quarter. The Tribe's Jimmy Johnston sank two free tosses with 41 seconds left to give the Indians a three point lead, but Burk was not to be denied.

Jerry Hodges flipped in a 20 footer with 20 seconds remaining and Quannah had the ball, but lost it one second later when a Tribesman fell to the floor and fumbled out of bounds.

This event set the stage for Owen's game-winning shot.

In addition to Sellars, who scored 12 points, Charlie Richardson and Dwayne Hargeshiemer were outstanding for Quannah. Keith Patterson and Hodges sparked Burk.

Your 1954 Income Tax

How To File Your Return WHO MUST FILE

Every citizen or resident of the United States, whether an adult or minor, who had $600. ($120. if 65 years of age or over) or more of gross income in 1954 must file an income tax return on Form 1040 or 1040A.

Most of your tax is withheld from your wages every payday or paid on Declaration of Estimated tax every quarter. However, the law requires you to file an annual return to determine whether you owe more or you should get a refund.

WHEN TO FILE

Your income tax return should be filed between Jan. 1 and April 15, 1955, and not later than April 15, 1955. Try to avoid the last minute rush. Those few individuals who keep books on a fiscal year basis, must file by the fifteenth day of the fourth month after the close of their taxable years.

HOW TO PAY

Any balance of tax shown to be due in Item 13, Page 1, of your return on Form 1040 must be paid in full with your return. You may pay cash or by check or money order. Checks or money orders should be made payable to "District Director, Internal Revenue Service."

HOW TO SIGN

You have not filed a legal return unless you sign it. If you and your wife are filing a joint return, both of you must sign the return. You do not need to have your return notarized since your signature has the same legal affect as swearing to the truthfulness of your return.

Where To Get Forms and Help

As far as practical, the District Director mails forms directly to taxpayers. If you need additional forms, you can get them from your District Director's office, and also at most banks and post offices. Many employers also keep forms for the convenience of employees. The address of your District Director of Internal Revenue is 2101 Pacific Ave. Dallas, Texas. After reading the instructions, you should be able to prepare your own return, unless you have complicated problems. If you do need help, you can get it at you District Director's office. A more detailed publication entitled, "Your Federal Income Tax" may be obtained for 25c from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

Friendliness Pays Off

Gentlemen: My family and I had the very pleasant pleasure of spending the Christmas holidays in your fair city of Burkburnett.

The one thing that impressed us very much was the spirit of co-operation between the business people all boosting for a better community.

Our first stop in Burkburnett upon arriving was Clarks Drug Store, to refresh ourselves after our long trip, while we were having sodas, Mr. Gresham seeing we were strangers made us feel welcome, presented us with a local paper and wished us a pleasant stay. Little courtesies like this from friendly merchants makes you want to come back again and again and enjoy friendly people in a friendly community.

Grow Silage Crop Says Co. Farmer

One of the best things that the livestock producer can do in 1955 is to grow a silage crop says Wymore Downing, well known Wichita County farmer. Silage is important in Wichita County because it is not possible to have good, green, succulent grazing the entire year. This has certainly been true for the past several years. We always have several months during the year that food is a problem for the farmer in feeding his livestock. Silage is part of the answer to this problem. Farmers are urged, in making their 1955 crop plans on their farm, to think seriously about planting a silage crop. Silage is a must in a dairy program and is good insurance for the beef cattle producer. Silage is a valuable asset on any dairy farm, but it needs a fair chance in Wichita County to prove that "it doesn't cost, it pays."

Mr. J. D. Chastian, dairy farmer in the Valley View community, states he is having breeding and calving problems this year due to his not having silage. Mr. Chastian was ill this year, and was unable to put up any silage.

A large amount of good roughage normally wasted or allowed to deteriorate into poor quality feed because of maturity could be preserved as silage, according to B. T. Haws, county agent. The cost of storing silage, is low, and it will not burn. Silage not only is good insurance against drought but also, green forage converted into silage contains more digestible nutrients than are obtained from the same crop harvested from a similar area as hay.

A dairyman who does not plan for silage in his feeding program may be losing a great opportunity to increase his profits. With good plans for using silage and with adequate facilities for storing and feeding it, the drudgery and hard labor required otherwise is no longer a troublemaker. Silage can be planned for use in the feeding program as conveniently and easily as any other feed.

A trench silo is the cheapest method of storing a silage crop, according to Haws. The cost of construction maintenance and interest on the investment is only about 10 percent of the cost of a tower silo built of steel, concrete slabs, or tile blocks. A trench should be at least eight feet deep to reduce the percentage less from surface spoilage. It should be at least eight feet wide to permit packing with a tractor. You will need to store at least three tons of silage per cow.

Mr. Lester Brooks, superintendent of the Iowa Park Experiment Station, is doing lots of experimental work with silage crops. Farmers are urged to talk to Mr. Brooks about varieties of crops to plant for silage.

Mr. Dan Roberts, manager of 77 Ranch is a believer in silage for beef cattle. He is feeding only silage to some of his breeding stock, as well as steers.

DOES YOUR HOME HAVE WARM FLOORS?

COMFORT DEMANDS IT. Your body should be evenly warmed from head to toe. Children should be able to play on the floor without added danger of catching colds. Drafts should never form!

Ever visit in a "toe-tucker's" home? These people can't enjoy true comfort heating. Cold floors keep their feet chilly. (Chances are, their cat sleeps up on the sofa.)

Automatic flue-vented perimeter gas heating systems actually put heat in the floors . . . maintain only a slight difference in room air temperature from floor to ceiling! You enjoy an environment comparable to a balmy, 72-degree summer morning!

IS YOUR HEATING SYSTEM FLUE-VENTED?

Flue-venting is standard with modern heating systems. Air from the combustion chamber is carried through a vent to out-of-doors. Indoor air stays fresh, more healthful, more pleasant. Window sweating is reduced. Be sure your system is flue-vented.

Views From The Congress

FRANK IKARD
 President of this month, Eisenhower issued a proclamation which set January 31 as the termination of GI benefits which is known as the "GI Bill." This proclamation is alive the historic policy of separating peace-time service from military service for our Armed Services. It is action taken by the President. There has been legislation introduced which will allow the service on January 31 to accumulate educational benefits. I would favor this bill because it would be in the service on January 31st were assured that they entered that field have certain educational benefits. It all boils down to the fact that anyone who is not in the service on January 31 of this year will probably not be entitled to any of the benefits under the so-called "Korean GI Bill."

The committee on Ways and Means of which I am a member began hearings this week on H.R. 1, which is the legislation that would extend the Reciprocal Trade Acts for three years. Generally speaking, I think that we must continue in this country a policy of reciprocal trade and freer and freer movement of goods from one country to the other. The relative free interchange of goods in a free world is necessary. There are, however, a good many exceptions to this general rule. These hearings are expected to continue for about two more weeks. In all probability this will be the first piece of major legislation that is acted on by the House.

Last Spring, the Supreme Court in a decision that has come to be known as the "Phillips Case" decided that the Federal Power Commission had the jurisdiction to regulate the sale price of gas when it was sold by the producer at the "wellhead." This, of course was a revolutionary decision in that it extended the power of gas, which, up until the time of this case, had been relatively unheard of. There is no more reason to regulate the sale of gas at the "wellhead" than there is to regulate the sale price of a pair of pants at the factory where they are made or a sack of potatoes at the field where they are grown or any other commodity that moves into the market. This would be an instance of the Federal Government moving in a way that we have never done before in a peace time. I am hopeful that Congress will pass legislation that will amend the Natural Gas Act so as to make it very clear that the Federal Power Commission does not have the power to regulate the sale of gas by the producer and that this action can be taken at a very early date. I expect to introduce a bill within the next few days covering this question.

It has only been this week that the final organization of Committees has been completed, the last appointments having just been announced. Since these assignments have now been accomplished, the work in all the Committees can get under way. It will be only a short time until they will start reporting bills to the Floor for action.

Keep Your Guard Up

As the attention of every citizen is directed to the subject of reserve forces as the result of President Eisenhower's warning that a strong and combat ready reserve is paramount to the defense of America, the strongest reserve force in being today — the National Guard — is brought into sharp focus.

In every war of our nation our militia has served. In two World Wars and in the Korean conflict, the National Guard mobilized and trained hundreds of thousands of civilian soldiers. The colors of our nation's National Guard carry the battle streamers of nearly every major campaign in which this country has been engaged. The Guard has a proud and long history.

It is not the desire of peace loving Americans to support a fully mobilized army, air and sea force. Nor is it economically possible for us to support such a force. The answer then is the strong reserve urged by the President. The National Guard is the most active and ready reserve in existence today.

Actively training — on the ground and in the air — are nearly 400,000 officers and men, a substantial proportion of them combat veterans of World War II and Korea.

These men, citizens-soldiers and 100 percent volunteers, are in more than 5,600 organized and equipped federally reorganized units in more than 2,000 cities and towns in the 48 states, the District of Columbia, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska.

The Army National Guard has a strength in excess of 325,000 actively training in over 5,000 units. Its goal for the current year, which ends on June 30, 1955 is a strength of 375,000. Backbone of the Army Guard is its 22 infantry divisions and 5 armored divisions.

The Air Guard has more than 50,000 officers and airmen in over 620 federally reorganized units. Its 27 combat wings, composed of 87 tactical squadrons of fighter and light bombers, eventually to be 100 percent jet plane equipped, form an air un-derella over our States and Territories. Fiscal year end strength goal for the Air Guard is 60,800, with 3,400 pilots, in 688 units.

This is a substantial force, a sound base on which a stronger reserve may be built. It is a well trained force of citizen-soldier who are required to work hard to meet the standards of training prescribed by the Departments of the Army and the Air Force. The speed with which eight National Guard divisions, 66 tactical squadrons of the Air National Guard and hundreds of other service and combat support units of the Guard answered the call in the Korean emergency is indicative of its readiness. The Guard is our only ready reserve force today. It could be an even stronger and more ready force if steps are taken to strengthen our entire reserve.

It is imperative that we keep our Guard up.

We have been enjoying the nice snows and hoping that we will have another one real soon. We are somewhat disappointed that we have not been able to throw a few more snowballs than we have been allowed to do, but we feel that we will make up for the difference when the next snow comes.

We have worked very hard during the first part of the year and feel that we were rewarded with the holiday that we had from school last Friday. When we are out of school for a day or two we enjoy coming back and finding out what our friends did for excitement. Most of us were able to enjoy some of the television programs that we had been missing during school hours.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wood, formerly of Wichita Falls, have moved back to Burkburnett to make their home after several years absence.
