the well on the Colbert ranch in this county, 13 miles south east of Haskell, struck a flow of gas Thursday, March 26 at a depth of 1820 feet. The well was immediately capped. There was an 80 foot cave in below the casing, and the salt water was mixed with the gas. Tuesday morning, when the well was uncapped it begun to flow oil and salt water. The drillers will ream out and lower the casing, and when this is done experts expect an oil gusher. Stamford parties are drilling several wells in Haskell county.

There is the greatest confidence expressed by oil experts, make them spend it,

The drillers who are drilling | that this whole section is underlaid with oil and gas, and a rumor is current that in less than than two weeks drilling will begin near the city of Haskell.

Hundreds of farmers and oil prospectors have visited the wells being drilled, and if the Scott well is brought in as is being expected, there is going to be something doing in this old town. The Scott well is now in the oil sands and if it is located right, has every prospect of being a gusher. If it is a failure, the people who are behind it will begin another, as they have plenty of money and the oil indications are strong enough to generate the faith necessary to

Wanted: A Husband.

The mayor of Houston has received a letter from a former Texas widow, now residing in Michigan, who frankly states that she is tired of the North and longs to return to the Sunny South. She asks the assistance of Mayor Campbell in finding her a husband in Texas, in order that she may return to the land of her birth.

There are half a million bach elors and widowers in Texas, cording to our census records, to whom this proposition should appeal. The spirit of chivalry still holds its beauteous sway in Texas and of this vast number of eligibles surely there is one who will agree to transplant this blooming widow" from the rosen regions of the north he blossoming South.

Ferguson has a strong following and they are stayers. If the race is to be between Ferguson and Ball, it will be clean and dignified and either one can take defeat like men. There is one thing certain, either of them will go into office free to give a statesman like administration, independent of any coterie of politicians.

Recent investigations of the management of the public service corporations, such as railway companies, has shown that the boards of directors are taking all the revenues by trades with subsidiary corporations. owned by the boards of directors. The stock holders have robbed and fleeced and the public have been swinddled out of billions of dollars. Such swindling operations is what has made the many multi-millonaires in the financial centers. The people are coming to believe in government ownership as the only remedy. Some day the innocent public will wake up to the fact they have been fleeced. Every Texas railroad company is bank rupted. The road bed and rolling stock has run down to provide graft for the big financiers, and it is dangerous to travel. Time is yindicating the doctrine of state ownership of public utilities. He tried for an hour to induce her to tell him the name of her new flance, during 1913. The amount and date but, having promised her mother that she would answer no questions with egard to her future, she stood firm. Finally he asked her if he should write a number of names on a bit of paper to tell him whether the name he wished to know was on the list. Since the man was a newcomer and she did not believe Auchinkloss had ever seen or heard of him, she consented. He wrote twenty names on the paper and handed it to her. She handed it back to him with a request to be released from her agreement. Auchinkloss released her and immediately took his depar-

Several weeks rolled around, and Miss Willmarth saw nothing of her discarded lover. She did not even meet him on the street. This was surprising, because the town in which they lived was small. More weeks passed with like result. His place was not supplied by the new suitor, because Mr. and Mrs. Willmarth had decided that he might not pay their daughter any attention whatever till she had passed her eighteenth birthday. Then the couple might be engaged, but for a year before marriage. Such an arrangement prevented any one from linking the two names to-

Four months passed between the time Auchinkloss was discarded and Mabel's eighteenth birthday. #### SEVEN MILLION DOLLARS FOR GOOD ROADS

Fifty-one Out of 86 Elections Successful-Two-thirds Majority Statute Detrimental.

There were 86 road and bridge bond elections held in Texas during 1913 and 51 of them carried by large majorities resulting in the appropriation of $7,267,000 for highway improvement, according to data compiled by the Texas Business Men's Association. This is more than double the amount of bonds issued in this state last year. The aggregate amount of bonds voted on in 1913 was $11,661,000, but 35 of the issues, involving a total of $4,-394,000 were defeated. This amount of money is sufficient to build a first class highway from the Red River to the Gulf.

Harris County Leads. Harris led all other counties in the amount of bonds issued, having ratified an election of $1,000,000 on February 20th. The smallest issue election was carried by an overwhelming majority, a heavy vote being polled. Brazoria County takes the palm for holding the greatest number of elections. Four issues, sary two-thirds majority vote.

The Record by Years. The law governing the issuance of bonds for highway improvement permits a coupty, precinct or road district to bond its property for amounts not exceeding one-fourth of the assessed valuation. This One thing I wish you to tell me: Has statute went into effect in 1909 and since that time nearly $25,000,000 has been appropriated in this manner for road building and maintenance. The largest amount was voted in 1911, when $8,915,000 in bonds were issued. The record by years since the passage of this law follows:

Amount of Bonds. 1909 ..... 781,000 ..... 4,015,000 ..... 8,915,000 ..... 3,496,200 These figures, with the exception of 1909, are taken from the records kept by the Texas Business Men's Association and are compiled from data furnished by commercial organizations, county judges, good roads associations and other authoritative sources. The 1909 figures are from the State Comptroller and represent the road bonds registered in Austin that year. Following is a list of the counties which issued road and bridge bonds

The statute, requiring the issuance of highway improvement bonds only by the sanction of two-thirds of the voters balloting has been a stumbling block in the way of better roads. At least 80 per cent of the defeated issues during the year received a ma-jority of the votes cast, but lacked the required two-thirds ratification by a few ballots.

Practically every one of the counties in which issues were defeated in 1913 are making preparations to hold the second election, and in many in-stances the road districts are being mapped out to exclude those voters opposed to bond issuance for highway improvement. At the present time elections involving $4,000,000 are in sight and will be decided dur-

RAILROADS WILL HELP THE FARMER

Common Carriers Will Co-operate is Marketing Farm Products-Middlemen Charge Higher Rates for Handling Farm Than Factory

By Peter Radford.

The leading railroad systems or the nation will establish market bureaus to assist the farmers along their lines in marketing their products The following lines have acceded to the request of the Farmers' Union and announced their willingness to enter into active co-operation with the farmers in marketing their products: Missouri, Kansas & Texas Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, St Louis, Southwestern and other "sys tem" lines.

veyed the field and the Federal Government, through the parcel post has demonstrated the possibilities of the common carrier as a useful agency in marketing farm commodities I consider the action of these giars business concerns in determining to co-operate with the farmers in marketing their crops, to be the great est product of human thought or the Western hemisphere during the past year, and it demonstrates that the educational work of the Farmers' Union has brought the nation to a clearer understanding of the real problems of the farmer. To give information on marketing is far more valuable than to give advice on production. There is a mutual interest between the railroads and the farmer which cannot exist between any other lines of industry. The railroads are the teamsters of agriculture and they are employed only when there is something to haul. Good prices will do more to increase tonnage than any other factor, and railroads want tonnage. Agriculture has many inherent disadvantages which require combined effort to overcome in market ing. There are millions of producing units working independently and selling without knowledge of market conditions. The harvest is once a year, while consumption is pretty evenly distributed throughout the entire year, and most of the farmers, through custom and necessity dump their entire crop on the market as soon as it is gathered. The problem of organizing and systematizing the markets is one in which the farmers invite assistance of all lines of industry friendly to their interests.

The express companies have sur

Farmers Bear the Burden.

The business of the manufacturer lends itself more readily to organization and the facilities for studying the markets are more easily available. The result is that the merchants are compelled to handle most staple manufactured articles at very little profit, and as a consequence the merchant must look to prducts which he buys direct from the farm for his profits.

The reports of the Federal Department of Agriculture show some very interesting information and enable a comparison between the costs of marketing products of the farm . and those of the factory. A few items will serve to illustrate the general run. The cost of getting sugar from the refinery to the consumer is $3 cents on the dollar; the cost of getting tobacco from the factory to the consumer is 14 cents on the dollar. In selling a dollar's worth of eggs: the middleman gets a profit of 50 cents on the dollar. In selling dollar's worth of potatoes, the middeman makes 70 cents on the dollart in selling a dollar's worth of fruit the middleman gets 84 cents on the dollar, and on cantaloupes 82 cents

Farmers' Bulletin No. 570, pub-lished by the United States Depart-ment of Agriculture, in discussing this subject, said:
"The high price paid by consum ers, ranging from 5 to 500 per cen in some cases, more than the farmer receives, indicates that there is pleaty of room for lowering the cost of farm products to consumers and at the same time largely increasing the cash income per farm, without increasing farm production. This condition is undoubtedly a marketing problem which will have to be solve by better organization of farmers and improved methods of marketing.

Large Shippers Influence Rates In railroad rates the inequalities are equally as glaring. Rate making in its primitive stages was largely influenced by demands and arguments of large shippers, but i dom appeared before rate-making bodies, and the burden of expense intransportation lies largely against the traw products of the farm.

In banking, our securities are discounted against, as compared with the products of the factories and the lines.

ped one evening at a little hostelry in the province of Cordova. It was quite dark before I ate my supper, and the table was dimly lighted by a couple of candles. But behind me was an open Goor through which streamed a bright light from a kerosene lamp hanging in the hall. During the evening I sat at the supper table reading, being alone, with no one to talk to. I spent the time thus till 10 o'clock, when I closed my book and pushed back my chair preparatory to going to my room and to

Just as I did so I saw on the white wall before me a shadow of a figure. The head and shoulders only were defined, and even from these I could not tell whether the person behind me was man or woman. I sat looking at it before turning to see who it was, for it was immovable, and I fancied that it was watching me. One thing about it arrested my attention. The shadow of the head was so shaped as to convince me that either the face or the back was turned directly toward me. That which I noticed especially was that while one ear cast a shadow the other did not. I was speculating how this could be when I saw the shadow of an arm slowly raised. In the hand was something, either club or knife. I did not stop to consider whether I was about to make myself ridiculous; I instinctively ducked under the table. There I remained a few minutes and, hearing no sound, peeped from under the cloth. Seeing no one, I slowly crawled out, keeping an eye open for any one who might be laying for me. looked about me. The shadow had disappeared; I was alone. Looking downward, I saw something red on my pulled up my trousers and saw that the calf of my leg had been slit by some sharp instrument. The wound was still bleeding.

I had a problem to decide, and quickly. Some one had intended to murder me, doubtless with a view to appropriating my effects, but the attempt had been foiled by my quick duck. was still in danger. What should I do? Go out into the darkness or remain where I was? I decided that my best chance was to pretend to be undisturbed till I could get at my revolver. which was in my room ers, and that improvements was to lock the door, the second to examine my wound. It was some two inches long and about a quarter of an inch deen.

After deliberation I concluded to repossibly the would be murderer was unaware that he had cut me, and the landlord might have been deceived by my story of a dream. I kept awake in a newspaper published in your all night, with my revolver cocked in my hand. In the morning I mussed the bedclothing, and after making such sounds as one would make in dressing I softly opened my door and looked carefully out into the hall. Seeing no enemy, I went downstairs. Reassured keep up my simulation, and, taking a seat at the breakfast table with my Witness Guy O. Street, Clerk back to the wall, where I had seen the meal, then went out, paid my bill and departed.

If the persons in that house had known what was in my mind-in other words, if I had not deceived them-I would never have been permitted to depart. I went to the city of Cordova and straight to a police station, where I told my experience to an officer. He was much interested in my story and when I had finished said:

"There are bandits in the mountains near where you were lodged, and we have for some time suspected that the landlord of the inn is in league with them. Persons have been missed, traced to that place, after which nothing has been learned concerning them. We will now set a trap for them.'

I remained in Cordova several weeks awaiting the results of the trapping. One day the landlord and half a dozen ill favored men who had been caught red handed were marched into the town to the police station. I went there and looked them over. The chief police officer inspected them and, going to one villainous looking man whose hair fell over his ears, pulled it aside and exposed a place where an ear should be, but it was not there.
