Minutes of the last meeting, and the treasurer's report were given by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. F. Cadenhead, Sr.

Mrs. Byron Frazier gave the salute to the volunteers at the hospital. She gives her love, her work, and attention to those she serves. There is nothing that can compare to the miracle that she wields in her magic wand.

The bright pathway to service was presented by Mesdames Frazier, C. W. Banner, R. L. Foote, E. L. Wyche, Hill Oates, J. F. Cadenhead, Sr., and Miss Velda Carter.

Character is most important in service, as being reliable is an asset in working together. We must realize to be happy is to enjoy the satisfaction of spreading good cheer.

Stitching And Stewing

By Ruth Ann Fansler County H. D. Agent

"Mother and Dad," said the young man on the day of his college graduation, "you didn't help me a bit to get this degree—you only helped me establish my philosophy of life."

What is it that places one in a position capable of changing or directing a person's life? The young man could have been placed at the door of a prison, on a concert stage, or in the cab of a truck. The statement made would still apply.

An organization has officers and leaders that influence its activities. A country has its legislators. A family—we put Mom and Dad into this position. You, Mom and Dad, are the people who function as change agents, leaders and managers who influence and direct lives.

A manager is—a person or persons in a family who because of his actual or supposed ability and authority, solve problems through planning, organizing, controlling and directing the work of others. The manager is expected to influence the behavior of the group.

In a family, the manager isn't always just mother or father. It may be both. It may be father and son, in some situations. It may be mother and daughter in others. Or, it may be the children in still others. Either or both parents can take responsibility along with the children for:

- decisions concerning policies of the family
-organization and intergration of resources and activities
-interaction of all family decisions to achieve family goals

When we speak of "manager" we mean the one who manages—not just the wife and mother.

A WET TALE

By Lee Barnett

The astronauts' view of the earth, a vivid blue and white marble, in its appointed place in the vast universe, is of course, breathtaking. It also gives opportunity for perspective to us earthbound creatures, who might not plan a space life in the near future. We can see our planet as the moon sees it—that should be revealing and useful.

How perfectly wonderful, for instance, not a grain of sand earth, nor seems the water in the oceans to spill into space, nor yet do people fall away, even though no man can say to be "on top of the world".

In fact, looking so comparatively small and compact, it is easy to comprehend that there is indeed nothing new between earth and sun. We see sand shifting quite a bit in West Texas, but it is not new sand. It has been in earth since it was made. There is no new water being made either. What water there is, was, and will be. Obviously all the water on earth would be enough to keep man from being thirsty (for a time), if it were drinkable. But it is not. Obviously, too, water keeps body and soul together. A man can live longer on water alone than he could on food without water, cool, clear water.

Drinkable water is not wastefully abundant anywhere on this earth, man has to manage his supply. Rivers flow to the sea. However, dirty water gets while in the river, when it meets and mixes into the purifying, salty seawater, it would be clean again to drink, except for being too salty. But wonderfully ingenious, the sun draws water from the sea into clouds and from there in the form of rain it returns to the earth—clean.

Any woman knows hair washed in soft rain water turns into silk... and beans cooked in rainwater make for compliments to the cook. To raise the prettiest flower or plant in a pot, it's best to water with rainwater. It stands to reason, the thing to do would be to catch rainwater if we want to grow healthy babies and survive on the best water this earth has.

Every household could catch all the water it needs when it rains. "That's silly!" We like water out of faucets and besides, who has enough pots and pans for between rains... But we could build us a lake.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

If you have lived in one place all year and have worked for one employer, probably you haven't been faced with the problem of getting your W-2 form. You may even have already received your refund check. However, if you move around and still don't have all of your W-2's, you better let your old employers know what your address is now, so he can mail you your W-2's. Don't file your tax return until you get all of your W-2's because the computer will simply hold up your refund or the processing of your tax return. The computer will also send you a nice little form letter saying, "Get your W-2's."

Internal Revenue can help you in some cases, but ordinarily they expect you to talk to your former employer and get the W-2. If you cannot secure a W-2, Internal Revenue will furnish you with an affidavit form for you to estimate to the best of your ability, your earnings, Social Security tax and the income tax that was withheld by your employer. If you don't have all of your W-2's—now is the time to start getting them.

"Disaster Preparedness Conference" Is Slated For Tuesday, April 8th

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today that a "Disaster Preparedness Conference" will be held in Wichita Falls on Tuesday, April 8, 1969.

Speir said that a number of important topics will be covered. Speakers will include representatives of the Associated General Contractors, National Guard, Texas A&M Rescue School, U. S. Weather Bureau, and others.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In the opinion of a knowledgeable doctor in San Antonio, approximately 90 percent of the crime in that city can be traced to the use of and traffic in narcotics. Expert studies conclude that if the dope trade was halted more than 50 percent of the street crime in this country would stop.

In spite of all the talk and all the information developed on the subject, comparatively little is being done to cope with the two basic problems involved, namely, the source of supply and rehabilitation of addicts.

The challenge is not limited to the mere arrest and imprisonment of the dope addict or even the retail "pusher". If the use of narcotics increases on the scale which it has in the last 8 years, the time will come when there will not be enough enforcement, enough prisons or rehabilitation centers to accommodate those apprehended and those who seek self treatment.

Not only is the supply of drugs a problem in our own nation but it is international in scope and must be attacked world-wide if to be successful in averting a most serious threat to the future.

A campaign against organized operations of supply has been kicked off with an intensity not heretofore attempted. It is old stuff to cite statistics but dismal facts might tend to wake us up.

This is not a problem confined to one locality. It is becoming one which affects every community and everybody in it. It does no good to simply cite conditions, such as the multi-million dollar business and huge organized crime profits, the agonized enslavement of hundreds of thousands of Americans and the billion dollar appetite that drives the victims to crime but it is a shocker which may be necessary for action.

At the present time the Federal Government spends about $26 million a year trying to stem the flow of heroin, cocaine and morphine, estimated at about 20 tons annually, which pours in to this country from foreign sources. This sum of $26 million is less than the United States Government spends to enforce tobacco and alcohol regulations. It is the smallest sum in the budget of any major crime control effort. This sum compares to the value of 250 pounds of heroin, an amount which has been confiscated in a single arrest. It is less than 1/10 the profit that organized crime makes out of importing narcotics. It is really an infinitesimal amount compared to what society as a whole pays in losses to petty crime to keep the addicts going.

Our government has agreements with a number of foreign countries to cooperate in the control of unlawful smuggling but the profits are so high and the organization so efficient that much greater effort has to be made. Only about 10 percent of this stuff is intercepted when coming into our borders.

Our government's record in rehabilitation is extremely weak. We only spend about $10 million a year on treatment of addicts at facilities located in Lexington, Kentucky, and in Fort Worth. This is less than one-fourth of expenditures of some of the larger States in efforts to reclaim victims of the terrible habit. The Federal Government grants some $4 million a year to State and local Government for treatment programs. Every day the uncured and unrehabilitated addict steals many more times this amount and often times at the point of a gun.

Whatever is done is too little and too late. The fact remains that with this threat hanging over our Country, mammoth efforts must be made to prevent further serious deterioration. The appalling and sad fact that our youth is threatened beyond anything ever known, deserves a declaration of all-out war on this evil. In terms of money, if what is needed is done, it will be costly but not costly in terms of human beings and in fact, not even costly as related to material losses from crime directly associated with the narcotic racket.

PERRY ELECTED

James R. Perry, of Haskell, has been elected social secretary of the 1969-70 sophomore class at Texas A&M University.

Perry, currently a freshman, is majoring in pre-veterinary medicine and is a member of the A&M Corps of Cadets.

He is a graduate of Paint Creek High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Perry, Route 2, Haskell.

Violations Prove Costly

Nine out of every 10 fatal highway crashes in 1967 involved driving violations, the Insurance Information Institute reports. Accidents attributed to speeding were blamed for 16,700 of the 53,100 fatalities.

Industrial Arts No Longer Consigned To The Back Room

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article about Phil Bledsoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Silver Bledsoe, of Haskell, appeared recently in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Phil is a graduate of Haskell High School and presently is Industrial Arts Teacher at Wedgewood Junior High. Bledsoe's art students built a model home as a class project, which won a high school division contest two years ago at Texas A&M University.

"There used to be a time when industrial arts students, like women who smoke, had to sneak off to do their thing. Industrial arts, or mechanical drawing and shop, as it was called, were usually housed in a shack separated from the main school building, and students would have to dash through the rain to class.

It's not that way anymore, says Phil Bledsoe, industrial arts teacher at Wedgewood Junior High.

"In the beginning, industrial arts was given its own room in the back of the school building to handle the misfits that were out of place in the academic courses or to do the janitorial work of the school.

"Today, after a long struggle, the industrial arts department is one of the most popular and one of the most recommended departments in the public schools.

"The courses of today employ the most modern equipment. The average high school in a sizeable city will have about 17 courses to choose from."

Industrial arts students in high school can study wood-working, metalworking, drafting, plastics, electricity, power mechanics and pre-engineering.

Bledsoe takes pride in displaying the top quality work his junior high students have done in the four years he's been teaching. Some of them have taken top awards in state industrial arts contests for high school students.

He says industrial arts gives a student a chance to do something on his own. It makes him work and it keeps him out of trouble.

"In the four years I've been teaching," Bledsoe says, "I've never had one discipline problem."

But in order to challenge students and teach them, the industrial arts teacher has to keep up with modern developments and trends in the field.

"When an industrial arts teacher fails to keep up with modern industry and fails to relate new processes and materials to his students, he no longer is useful as an industrial arts teacher," he says.

"Industrial arts is on its way up and the opportunities are unlimited," he adds. "In the future, industrial arts teachers will be required to broaden their industrial backgrounds in order to meet the demands of our industrial society."

"More modern teaching aids will be used and team teaching will be employed in industrial arts courses. There also will be more applied science and industrial technology taught."

Bledsoe also has some suggestions about improving the total educational program.

"Pressures should be taken from students. This could be done by replacing the traditional grading system with a non-graded system. In many cases the student may be more interested in scoring high in a subject rather than having his interest focused on actual learning. On the other hand, a stu-

Rochester Takes Lead In 16-B Track Meet

Rochester proved a rude host Tuesday, gaining momentum behind a 1-2-3 sweep in the 120-yard high hurdles to take a 30-point lead after 3 events in the 16-B track meet here.

The Steers rolled up a 52-22 edge over defending champion Rule going into Wednesday's action.

Tony Hollingsworth ran a 17.8 time in the hurdles to lead teammates Bill Alvis and Keith Gauntt to the sweep. The Steers picked up valuable points besides those 24 with a second and a fifth in the shot put and a 2-3 finish in the pole vault.

Rule's James Lisle captured the shot put with a heave of 46-7.3/4 which cracked the district record of 46-6 1/2 set in 1956 by C. W. Drennan of Weinert.

Paint Creek's Jim Ballard copped the third event on Tuesday's card, going over at 11-6 in the pole vault.

Charles Franklin Places In San Angelo Relays

In the San Angelo Relays Division III finals, Saturday, Haskell's Charles Franklin placed 5th in the Long Jump, with a 20-7, and won fourth place in the 100-yard dash.

Haskell "copped" 11th place in the meets with 6 1/2 points, having finished ahead of Coleman and Hamlin.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

The Internal Revenue Service computer is a meticulous machine. If the computer has to have a schedule or a form to support some statements, it doesn't hesitate to ask for the missing documents. The IRS error report coming from the computer center in Austin points out that many North Texas taxpayers have started an unwanted correspondence session with the computer. The computer needed such forms as Schedule B, Schedule C, Schedule D, Form 2440, "Statement to Support Exclusion of Sick Pay," and Form 3901 "Moving Expense Adjustment".

Most folks don't like to write to a computer, so we recommend that you re-check that tax return. Make sure that all required supporting schedules or statements are attached.

Tax Questions And Answers

(This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.)

Q—Taxes were taken out of my pay on the summer job I had last year. How do I get this money back?

A—You must file a tax return to obtain any refund that may be due. Tax forms and instructions are available at local IRS offices as well as many banks and post offices.

Q—I've read where a lot of people are making mistakes on their tax returns because of the surcharge. What are they doing wrong?

A—Taxpayers are either forgetting to add the surcharge or they are figuring it wrong. Mistakes like these delay processing as well as any refund that may be due.

To avoid mistakes check your instructions which explain how the surcharge should be handled.

Q—Can I deduct the federal tax I pay on my phone bill?
A—No, this is an excise tax and excise taxes are not deductible.

Q—My brother has been sent to Vietnam by the Army. Does he have to file a return?
A—Military personnel who do not have to file returns while stationed overseas may want to file their 1968 tax return after he leaves Vietnam.

Keith Chapman Recipient Of Special Honors

KEITH CHAPMAN

Keith Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chapman of Haskell, has recently been honored by The Southwestern Company of Nashville, Tennessee. Last summer Keith won special recognition in competition with more than 4,500 outstanding college students who were selected from approximately 400 colleges and universities to participate in the Southwestern Summer Program.

In competition with hundreds of students from schools such as The University of Oklahoma, The University of Missouri, The University of Texas, The University of California, and Harvard, Keith won the Gold Award a coveted award given to students in the Southwestern Program who work 75 hours or more each week of the summer. This is quite an accomplishment and to win this award, he certainly executed a tremendous amount of drive, initiative and determination. Also, Keith was recognized as one of the "Top Thirty", First-Year men working with the Southwestern Company.

Already, he has begun to select fellow college students to participate in the program with him this summer. Mr. Al Godwin, Regional Sales Manager, predicts that Keith and the men who work with him in 1969 will make an outstanding record. Keith is a student at Texas A&M University in College Station. He holds the First Place 1968 First Year Salesman for A&M and topped all A&M first year sales from previous years. Due to the outstanding job that he has done in the past, he has been asked to return as Student Manager.

Farm Bureau President Says "We Must Become Safety Conscious"

Most farm accidents are preventable, and must all become more conscious if we expect to see the upward trend of farm accidents due to farm accidents. John Paul Perrin, Farm Bureau president, said recently, "All too often the death of a person relative to make us safety minded."

Statistics for 1968, compiled by the Bureau of Vital Statistics and awarded to the Haskell Farm Bureau by the Farm Bureau Safety Department, show a six percent increase for 1968 as compared to the previous year. In 1968, 297 persons in Texas were killed as a result of farm accidents, compared to 280 deaths in 1967.

Joe Wagoner, Farm Bureau Safety Director, said, "We're being less safety minded. The rural population decrease, we would at least have the number of deaths from farm accidents to decrease."

were burns 54, falls 44, tractor accidents 33, drowning 23, and farm machinery other than tractors 22.

Most of the increase for 1968 is attributed to the increased number of deaths due to falls and tractor accidents as compared to 1967. The only category that showed a marked reduction of fatalities was drownings. Thirty-three drowned last year, compared to 41 in 1967.

The Lone-Star State Had Record-Breaking Visitor Industry In 1968

The Texas Highway Department's authoritative survey of the record-breaking Texas visitor industry for 1968 has been released.

The report showed out-of-state visitors arriving by automobile out-numbered Texans by half during the year. The 16.6 million automobile visitors poured $1 billion into the State's economy.

The survey is prepared annually by the Highway Department based on information gathered from questionnaires completed by visitors who were assisted by the Department's Tourist Information Centers. In addition, regularly scheduled visual traffic counts are conducted by Highway Department personnel.

A highlight of the survey is the 9.1 per cent increase in out-of-state visitors by automobile and a 25.8 per cent increase in spending while in Texas.

The survey also includes estimates gathered by the Texas Tourist Council, representing the private sector of the travel industry in Texas. The Council estimated that another 5.9 million visitors arrived by commercial carriers—planes, trains or buses—spending an additional $467.5 million in the State.

A QUIET SUNDAY

As holidays go, perhaps Easter is imbued with more of a feeling of peace and tranquility than any other.

One of the greatest pleasures of Easter is the awareness of the new spring season that it brings to all of us.

The origin of the customs of Easter go back to antiquity, as does the symbolism of the Easter egg.

DRUG ABUSE

For quite awhile now, the use of marijuana has been touted in some circles as a harmless diversion that can provide a stimulating new experience.

It is appropriate at this time to remind those who still cling to this misconception that the American Medical Association and the National Research Council have stripped marijuana of its aura of "respectability" and shown it for what it is—a dangerous drug.

In a recent statement, the two groups, among the most qualified authorities on the subject, emphasized that just because marijuana is not physically addicting does not mean it is not dangerous.

For one thing, those who use it repeatedly can become psychologically dependent—preoccupied with smoking "pot". This can lead to neglect of personal hygiene and of productive tasks and eventually to becoming a burden on society.

What about those who use marijuana only sporadically?

Unlike the typical drinker of alcohol, the typical smoker of marijuana uses the drug for the express purpose of becoming intoxicated.

Getting high—whether on alcohol, pot, LSD, or "speed"—is an attempt to dodge the responsibility of coming to grips with reality.

The medical profession and others in the scientific community are the first to acknowledge that more needs to be known about the long-range effects of marijuana and other drug abuse.

While science works to sift out further findings, none of us should be deluded into believing that the abuse of marijuana or any other intoxicating drug is either safe or the "in" thing to do.

MY ANSWER

—Troy Culpepper—

Are there undeniable proofs that Jesus was resurrected from the dead and is alive today?

After the crucifixion on the cross, Jesus' body was placed in a tomb. Pilate ordered soldiers to seal the tomb.

The convincing proof of Christianity is the resurrection of Jesus. It was central in the preaching of the church in the first century.

On the first day of the week Jesus arose from the dead and appeared to Mary Magdalene.

The undeniable proof that Jesus was resurrected and is alive today is for you to live like He is.

marked that he had taken the Free Press for twenty-two years. We can add that he always paid for it and never wanted it any other way. We remember when he and his family came to this county. He was the first German to settle in this section of the country and was a pioneer farmer. He had nothing but a large family and some ponies and an old wagon, but he took up a section of school land and succeeded in farming from the start. He helped to prove what crops could be successfully grown and has done as much as any living man to prove the agricultural possibilities of West Texas. Mr. Bolander has raised a large self-sustaining family, the kind of people who make a country.

We realize the laudable part our Churches play in community life... their contribution in both a spiritual and material sense toward community welfare and common good. These Churches, their teachings and their membership exert a tremendous influence that touches every home and every business. This function they have in common with our schools, civic bodies and other organizations. All of whom through various methods perform services for the good and benefit of all... In recognition of the splendid ideals and achievements of the Haskell churches, we urge everyone to attend Church services.
