First Savings & Loan Association Authorized to Make FHA-Insured Property Improvement Loans

The First Savings and Loan Association has been approved to make FHA-insured property improvement loans to homeowners.

The approval was contained in a letter received by Mr. C. R. Meadows, Jr., executive vice president of the association, by Mr. Roy F. Cooke, Assistant Commissioner of the Property Improvement Program of the Federal Housing Administration.

Loans are available to all homeowners for remodeling, modernizing, additions and repairing homes under this widely used FHA insured low cost plan.

The money loaned for home improvements under this program are from funds of lenders approved by FHA. The First Savings and Loan Association is the most recently approved lender authorized to make these FHA-insured loans.

Any individual, contractor or material supply dealer who wishes to participate in this home improvement program is invited to make application at the office of the financial institution.

The benefits of this program have been proven over the past years. To date more than 23 million families have obtained FHA insured loans to improve their properties. The total amount of money borrowed by homeowners exceeds $12 billion.

Homeowners can borrow up to $3,500 for periods ranging up to five years. All types of property improvements, such as kitchen built-in appliances, additions and alterations, painting, and decorating, insulating, plumbing and heating, wiring, cement work, grading and landscaping and others which add life and value to the property are eligible for FHA-insured improvement loans.

The Federal Housing Administration urges all homeowners to deal only with reputable, established contractor or building supply dealers. A telephone call to Chamber of Commerce or Better Business Bureau can quickly establish the reliability of a business firm.

WHAT IS YOUR HURRY?

is too short at any age but to a child just in the threshold of life it is very precious. You are hurrying, late to open your shop or at business appointment? You must hurry to prepare lunch or get ready for a meet- ing in no particular hurry but you do have your mind to remember to-day. So you are in your own problems.

You notice those children around your feet? The ones trying to get to school on bicy- cle? Did you see them running to catch the bus? They are in a hurry but their rush at school and be our better citizens of to- morrow. They are eager and anxious to learn all a- round and their place in it.

You be the guilty one that destroys one precious lives? To all Mothers and Fathers of our life. A life spent in protecting, loving, and for that little piece of humanity.

Love our children and want them protect- ed? Help us? When you pass your schools these things and not your own problems.

As says, "and a little child shall lead the way."

Buster Morgan, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said "We are particularly anxious to have the views of our school students as to the needs of the city, one of the greatest hopes of any community is that of being able to provide sufficient employment opportunities so the school students of today will remain after their schooling and education is completed to carry on the work of their parents."

Jim Harwell, manager of the Chamber of Commerce said, "we hope that this series of meetings Thursday will stimulate a spirit on the part of the people that will extend itself into the committee activities and bring forth actual accomplishments of civic progress."

After the community clinic meetings are over the Chamber of Commerce will outline a program of work based on the ideas and suggestions presented by persons attending the meetings.

The Approaching Choice

The Democrat and Republican parties have outlined the patterns on which they hope to shape the next four years of American history. Each party is campaigning hard to win voter support for its proposals.

The parties are agreed on general goals: national strength to face and defeat the Communist challenge; a better life for all Americans. They are agreed also that the way to accomplish these goals is through economic growth. Here agreement ends and sharp division arises on the best way to promote economic growth.

The Democratic platform calls for federal spendings, on the theory that this will stimulate more production. The Republicans place less emphasis on direct government action and more emphasis on encouraging free enterprise. They contend that this system has proved itself by building the greatest producing nation in the world.

Since the goals are the same, voters should carefully investigate the means. For in November it will be the voters who must decide which route to follow, and it will be the voters who must live with the results.

Meanwhile, Back At The Capital

That billion dollar surplus the federal government turned in for the fiscal year just passed seems to have whetted the spending appetite of every politician in Washington.

Bills totaling fantastic billions are stacked up in this brief session of Congress guaranteeing to cure all the ills of America and Americans, from city slums to old age. The cure-alls have one simple ingredient—money. The money, of course, is tax money—and precious few legislators are mentioning the bitter fact that more money they arrange to spend, the more inflation is going to lessen the worth of any money left in our pockets.

Not all these spending proposals are as altruistic as they sound, either. It's against the law for a candidate or his supporters to buy votes, but there's no law against his party voting in Congress to "give" blocs of voters something out of the general tax pot. There's no law, either, to keep Congress from giving away more than is in the pot—and leaving an I. O. U. to be paid off later by voters Congress purported to "help" or by their children.

Well, if "help" is what we want, "help" is what we'll get. And more government controls, more taxes, more debt and more inflation to go with it.

From Now 'til November

Both Democratic and Republican legislators will be trying to build a campaign record during the closing part of the 86th Congress. They will vote for the bills they think will win votes. Both parties will be anxious to "give the people what they want." And since so many people want so many things, we may find ourselves overwhelmed by Congressional generosity.

Unfortunately, more Congressional spending—no matter what it is for—will add to the inflation that already has cut so much purchasing power out of the dollar.

Some very expensive proposals remain to be acted on by Congress. Each of them would benefit some special group of voters. But their total effect would be to hurt all citizens through inflation.

Our Congressmen are under strong pressure to vote for these bills. They will do so unless they receive some indication from us that we believe it is more important to stop inflation than to obtain government handouts for ourselves or for any special groups—however worthy those groups may be.

More For Less

Michigan's Rep. August E. Johansen says he expects any day to get a letter from a constituent telling him: "Please vote us $6 billion a year more. Also please reduce taxes. If you do not do both, we'll get ourselves a new Congressman."

The Representative says no one has put it to him just that way yet, but he does get letters asking for both more federal spending and less taxes.

Unfortunately, not even the US Congress has found a way to provide more federal "aid" without charging more taxes. Which should make it pretty clear that if we want to stop the rise in taxes, it will be necessary to stop the increase in government giveaways and spending.

This conclusion was contained in the report of a subcommittee to the state Conference on aging. Drop in the state pension rolls was attributed to more Social Security benefits, more company retirement plans, more oldsters working or receiving other support.

The Sophomores of Burkburnett High School have elected their officers for the 1960-61 school year. After three days of making posters and passing out pennants, they had an assembly in which all the candidates had to make a one minute speech in front of the student body. The officers elected were: Kathryn Siber, president; Don Overton, vice-president; Julienne Abdouch, Secy-Treas.; and Marilyn Bailey, reporter.

Delegates were also elected for the student council. The council is an organization in which the students, through the delegates, voice their ideas and their opinions. Those elected were Mary Durham, Marilyn Vaughn, Pam Duke and David Littlefield.

Q. The original owners of our home laid asphalt tile over the wooden floors in the kitchen, and we plan to resurface the floor with rubber tile to conform with a remodeling theme. Is it possible to lay rubber tile right over the asphalt?

A. You can put the new tile directly over the asphalt, but probably would find it a lot simpler if you removed the present floor covering. Since tile adheres by suction rather than cement, uprooting the asphalt is no difficult task.

Clearing the floor to the wood is recommended for these reasons: The added height of the floor often appears awkward where the new tile meets the doorway to another room, and, too, doors which presently swing over the asphalt tile may not move freely with the floor raised. If neither of these factors enters into the picture, two preparatory steps must be taken before laying the rubber tile over the present floor: (1) Remove all wax from the asphalt tile and (2) "rough up" the asphalt tile with open-face production paper because the adhesive will not adhere to a smooth surface.

Q. Could you tell me when, and how, pin rivets are used as wall fasteners?

A. These hammer-driven fasteners are for use on masonry or concrete walls. Holes to receive pin rivets should be bored with your electric drill the same diameter as the shank of the rivet and about 1/8 deeper. The rivet is pushed through the roughing or work piece into the hole, then expanded and secured in the wall by hitting the rivet head with a hammer. In that the expansion is only slight, nail shields or machine bolt anchors should be used if heavy loads must be supported by the wall fasteners.

It's The Law In Texas

State Sometimes Inherits Property

Made your will? If not, the State of Texas may wind up as owner of your estate upon your death. Under our statutes, the estates of persons having no heirs who die intestate revert, or "escheat", to the state.

Such provisions have been carried over from the English common law. There, under such circumstances, the estate escheated to the British Crown. The theory of the process is that the sovereign (or state), having been the original owner of all lands before they were parceled out to individuals, is entitled to a return of such lands when the possibilities of legal inheritance have been exhausted.

This idea has been expanded to include personal property as well as real estate. It also applies in the case of a person absent for a term of seven years and not known to exist who leaves no heirs and no will.

Presumably, there is hardly a person who does not have some individual or charity that he would prefer to have his estate rather than have it go to the State by default, so to speak. Yet, surprisingly, estates worth many thousands of dollars do escheat to the various states from time to time.

Now, before you shrug the matter off with the idea that these statutory provisions could not possibly apply to you, better think a minute. Suppose you and your spouse have no heirs besides each other and your children. Many people do fall into this category.

In event of a catastrophe resulting in death for you and your entire immediate family, no legal heirs would remain, therefore if you had no will,

THE AMERICAN WAY

THE FACT THAT SO MANY SOLDIERS OF DIFFERENT RACES AND NATIONS USE TODAY READINGS AND STUDYING THE SAME BIBLE MEANS A GREAT DEAL NOT ONLY IN TERMS OF THEIR OWN INDIVIDUAL LIVES, BUT IN TERMS OF BRINGING THE WHOLE HUMAN RACE TO A UNIFYING DETERMINATION TO LIVE UP TO A MORAL LAW WHICH IS JUST AS REAL AS ARE THE LAWS OF PHYSICS.

your property would go to the State. In preparing a will, it is possible to provide for such an eventuality.

In this hypothetical case, you'd probably want to designate some friend as executor, to take care of all necessary arrangements and then distribute the estate according to your wishes.

On the other hand, if you have plenty of possible heirs, a will could be used to designate which of them shall participate in the division of the estate. And even if you wish your property to be distributed entirely in accordance with our statutes of descent and distribution as explained in previous columns, a will can perform useful functions. Among other uses, a will could provide for an orderly and economical partition of your property, preventing any waste of the assets by heirs impatient for a settlement.

What happens to property which escheats to the State? Following certain required legal formalities and court proceedings, all escheated lands are set apart to the permanent Free School Fund of the State and may be leased and sold by the Land Commission under certain regulations. Escheated personal property is sold by the local sheriff under a court writ & the money received therefrom paid into the State Treasury.

While people seem to think that money still talks, actually it's more of a sneer.

A reader who is building an office within his workshop to serve as farm "headquarters" has requested plans for a two-drawer file cabinet.

The plans for just such a cabinet are included in the Research Center's model office arrangement, which also includes a desk, typing table and small book case.

The file cabinet is 15 inches wide, 28 inches long and 30 inches deep, utilizing common 1x2's in the framework and 3/4-inch plywood in outer construction. The entire assembly can be completed over a weekend with the aid of such standby portable tools as the electric saw, drill and sander. (Free illustrated instructions for this cabinet may be obtained by writing to the Thor Research Center, Marengo, Ill., and asking for Plan FC202.)

From the mailbox:
Q. Should I use sandpaper or steel wool to smooth woodwork and doors when preparing them for water-look?

A. I can't recommend using steel wool too freely, because it invariably leaves steel particles on the surface and thus tends to harm a good finishing job no matter how carefully the wood is cleaned after using the abrasive.

You will be playing it safe by successively using coarse, medium and fine abrasives—advancing no more than two grit sizes (from 40 to 60, for instance) when going from coarse to medium. Complete the sanding with about 120 grit.

The only time most advanced handymen use steel wool is when they're finishing curved or unusually shaped areas.

Advice on do-it-yourself problems may be obtained from George Rogers by writing to Thor Research Center, Marengo, Ill.

CHAMBER AIR GROUP FROM WICHITA FALLS VISITS HERE FOR THEIR MONTHLY VISIT

Five members of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce air development committee Monday came to Burkburnett for their monthly visit to a neighboring city.

The five, N. A. Moore, Jr., Earnest Hayley, Don Wade, Norman Duncan and Jack Gressett, were taken on a tour of Burkburnett and shown accomplishments of the community, including new housing developments, schools and shopping center.

Hosting the Wichita Falls chamber members were Buster Morgan, Burkburnett chamber president, Mayor George McClarty, Bill Vincent, City Manager Clovis Mann and Jim Harwell, chamber manager.

The visit started with a tour at 11 a. m., followed by a lunch sponsored by KFDX-TV-Wichita Falls. Representatives of both groups made brief talks on how both communities can co-operate in solving mutual problems. Completion of the north leg of the Red River Valley Expressway system through Burkburnett also was discussed.

The visit is the chamber committee's fourth such goodwill gesture, one of the air development group's leading functions. Other visits have been made to Nocona, Seymour and Electra.

Area Highway Patrol News

The Highway Patrol investigated 17 rural accidents in Wichita County during the month of August, according to Sergeant F. E. Webster, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks have accounted for 0 persons killed, 11 injured & a property damage of $6,098. This brings the total for the year in this county to 5 persons killed, 75 injured and a property damage of $64,248.

Prior to the first of this month there had been a total of 1,088 fatal accidents in Texas. These tragedies resulted in 1,342 persons losing their lives.

The back to school bell has already sounded for Texas school children. They will be using our highways and streets to and from school. Motorists should drive with more caution and care than ever before.

Sgt. Webster pointed out that at the present rate of traffic fatalities, half of the elementary school children in Texas will be involved in a motor vehicle accident before they reach the age of 21.

Fifteen persons were killed & 240 injured in rural traffic accidents involving school buses in Texas during 1959.

State laws regulating traffic in regard to school buses read as follows: "The driver of a vehicle upon a highway outside of the limits of any incorporated city or town upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall stop the vehicle immediately before passing the school bus, but may then proceed past such school bus at a speed which is prudent, not exceeding (10) miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children."

The Sergeant stated, "The driver of the passing vehicle is responsible for taking the due caution. He is responsible for knowing that his proceeding past the bus will not result in endangering any lives."

Remember, no one has a child to spare!

TELEPHONE TALK

by C. A. Deuschle, Manager

WHAT WOULD YOU HAVE DONE?

Picture yourself in this situation: You're driving on a long trip with your family. You're in a hurry. A storm is brewing, black clouds move in fast. Dust and approaching nightfall obscure your vision. Suddenly, you see the red lights of a small, private plane, desperately circling, searching for a place to land. What would you do?

This was the situation facing T. O. Gravitt, supervisor for Southwestern Bell, according to a story I heard the other day. Gravitt, a Naval Reservist with 17 years flying experience, understood the plight of the pilot.

Luckily, Gravitt was driving through the small town where he grew up and he knew there was an emergency landing field near the town.

There were no lights on the landing strip, so Gravitt rounded up other motorists who were watching and led them to the field. He had them park around the edge so their headlights would guide the pilot to the field.

Helped by the lights, the pilot set his plane down just as the storm hit.

Needless to say, there is one airplane pilot alive today who is thankful that telephone man Gravitt saw his problem and knew what to do about it.

"Back to School - Drive Carefully"

For a time each fall, these phrases are probably the most noticed and carefully followed instructions in Burkburnett.

"Back to school - drive carefully" is such a sensible thought that it's a pity to limit its use to a few weeks each fall. For the small-fry, "Back to School" is a months-long activity; for grown-ups, when is there a time NOT to "drive carefully?"

The Dorcas Sunday School class of the First Baptist church met Monday night in the home of Mrs. W. C. Davis on second St. President, Mrs. Chas. Boyd, presided.

Mrs. Al Lohofener brought the devotional, Our Prayer Life. She stressed prayer at all seasons, all kinds of posture, in public, in family life and in personal life. Always pray whenever you feel the nearest to the Master. For he has said "Prayer Changes Things."

As each one stood in place, she received a pledge. "I pledge that in my place of service this year, I will stay close to Christ, the tree vine, that I may bear much fruit for him."

Mrs. Ray Mills was in charge of the entertainment in the form of by-gone days. Each one had to tell a secret. How I met my Husband. Everyone enjoyed this very much.

Sixteen members and one service group member, Mrs. Hunt, the hostess and her group of co-hostesses, enjoyed a lovely desert plate.

Hudson is an instructor in the Statistical Services Officer course in the Tech School's Department of Comptroller Training.

Col. Frank M. Madsen, Jr., School commander, offered his personal congratulations in a letter to Hudson for a job well accomplished. He stated, "Since your assignment to the Statistical Services Officer course you have done an outstanding job. Exemplary standards of performance and efficiency displayed by you are in keeping with the highest tradition of the United States Air Force."

Col. Madsen also praised the instructor for conducting in-service training of key officers and civilians in the department during his off-duty time, and for his original and creative improvement of text books which had contributed greatly to the effectiveness of student training.

Hudson is a native Texan and resident of Burk Burnett. Immediately following his graduation from Burk Burnett High School in 1945 he joined the U. S. Navy, serving five of his 10 months in service at Pearl Harbor.

He entered Civil Service at Sheppard AFB in 1951 as an IBM machine operator in the Base Statistical Office, and in 1954 became an instructor in the Data Process Machine Operator course transferring to his present position as instructor in the Statistical Services Officer course in 1956.

If It's For Sales ADVERTISE!

Wilbur Snyder, Commander
Leon J. Dasher, Public Relations Officer

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the citizens of Burk Burnett and the members of the post who helped make the blood donations a good success. There were 49 pints donated here Sept. 14th, which was the largest amount in this area. Thanks, well done. The Legion Post will give away a Maytag Washer and Dryer December 24th. The proceeds go to the children's Christmas Fund. The members will be selling tickets to help the children out and buy all you can. The washer and dryer will be on display at Boyd Bros. Stop by and look it over, then buy some tickets. The post is planning a turkey and ham shoot before Thanksgiving. The place and date will be announced later.

A special meeting is to be held the 30th of Sept. at 8 p. m. Commander Snyder urges each and every member to come as there are several items of business to be taken up concerning the financial condition of the Christmas fund and the clubs operating fund. Other items of interest to all members are to be voted on. The attendance on meeting nights is very low compared to the membership. At the present, there are 183 paid up members and less than 25 showing up on meeting nights.

Commander Snyder would like to see at least 50 per cent of the members present for the special meeting. Your vote is your voice in how you think the club should be run. Remember silence is consent.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brookman have returned home from a very enjoyable vacation. They visited in Houston, Midland and Abilene and enjoyed fishing at Lake Houston and Lake Whitney.

After all is said and done, you usually find more has been said than done.

PRIMARY P-TA

Health & Safety Committee

It has been called to our attention of continued congestion around the school area. Especially the one way street on Ave. F, which begins at North Cottonwood going south to East College. This notice was in last weeks Burk Star but has been ignored by a number of patrons. The signs are as yet not completed but will be placed there as quickly as possible. Also East College from Ave. F to Ave. D is temporary one way going west during busy hours, this street being controlled by Portable Signs.

Please let us all work together on this as Safety practiced by parents is a great advantage to our children as children learn more by example than any other source.

So Please, Please, let us be diligent in cooperating in this matter and our school will be a safer place for our children.

BULLDOGS WIN

The Burk Burnett Bulldogs scored late in the fourth quarter Friday night to salvage a win over Haskell, 8-0 on the Indians home field.

The Bulldogs had actually run two touchdowns in the first stanza but they were both nullified by penalties. Fullback Curtis Moore carried the ball over both times, once from the 20 and once from the 35 yard lines. Despite these setbacks, Moore turned in a top performance.

The two teams fought on even terms until the fourth when Larry Armstrong passed to Johnny Koller, good for 25 yards and the score. On the conversion try, Armstrong threw a pass incomplete into the end zone. However interference was called and on the next try, Curtis Moore made the two points over the center of the line.

Rickey Taylor, Harry Small and Lee Coleman gave Armstrong and Moore, assistance in the backfield.

Gene Pace, Donnie Boren, Ed Thornton, Johnny Morren, Perry Hoover, Armstrong and Koller strengthened the defense.

Haskell's offense centered around their big sophomore fullback, Kimbrough.

The Everlasting Arms

This tiny child looking with trust into his mother's loving face and cradled in the safety of her arms feels that her care will be eternal and everlasting. When one matures, one very quickly finds that the securities provided by the transient helps of this world do not offer everlasting security. No matter how much of this world's goods we accumulate, they cannot make life secure against the hazards of it. There is only one place where eternal security is available, and that is within the bounds of a trusting relationship with God who extends to man in love the everlasting arms. Go seek Word of His love in the Church.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without love by loving his neighbor, no this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and will inevitably which we hold so dear from a selfish perish. Therefore, even from the point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

News From The County Agent

Hog cholera can wipe out a drove of hogs in very short order. This results in the farmer taking an unnecessary financial beating. B. T. Haws, county agent says that vaccination is the first line of defense against a cholera outbreak, but that vaccination alone should not be depended on to prevent disease. Prevention and control should go along with vaccination program, Haws explains.

A prevention and control program must include: Strict cleanliness and sanitation. Disinfection of pens, houses and vehicles after each use. Prevention of visitors in hog pens or lots. Purchase of only healthy animals from farms free of the disease. Isolation of all incoming animals for at least 30 days. Cooking of any garbage that is fed to the hogs.

A vaccination program should include all hogs on the farm and all animals bought to be added to the drove. Several types of vaccines are available and each has its own place under certain conditions. Haws concludes by saying that a local veterinarian should be consulted about which type of vaccine to use and what vaccination schedule to follow.

A recent study has revealed that when silage instead of hay was fed to dairy cattle, 5 pounds less total digestible nutrients were required to produce 100 pounds of 4% milk, reports B. T. Haws, county agent.

Although cows ordinarily eat more hay than silage on a dry-matter basis, nutrients from silage are apparently used for milk production more efficiently than those from hay, the agent continues. Although the reason for this more efficient use of silage nutrients is not known, the fact that the efficiency does not exist tends to offset the lower dry-matter intake found when silage is given as the only forage. The agent adds, however, that for best results some hay should be fed along with silage.

Recent tests have also shown, that almost 10% more dry matter can be recovered in silage made from finely chopped forage or coarsely cut forage. Bruised forage silage proved to be more acidic than chopped forage silage, and it contained more of the desirable lactic acid and less butyric acid and ammoniaical nitrogen, both of which are undesirable in silage.

the Christmas Tea at the Womans Forum in Wichita Falls in December put on by the District II Garden clubs. The club voted unanimously to carry out these plans.

A rising vote of thanks was extended the year book committee composed of Mesdames A. L. Gilbow, Roy Magers, J. D. Riddle, M. L. Hillis and T. J. Campbell. Mrs. Gilbow, the chairman, presented the features of the year book calling attention to its composition and contents which showed evidence of many hours of study and work on the part of the committee.

The Flower show for the year will be held in the home of Mrs. R. C. Gilbow in October. She is chairman of the show. The theme is Key to Beauty.

The roll call was answered with a key to being a better member. The answers showed cooperation and preparation the things most promised by the members.

Mrs. A. L. Gilbow presented the program on growing plants for your own arrangements and demonstrated the making of arrangements. She used poke, coleus, gladiolus, cannas, bachelor buttons & other common plants from her own and Mrs. Magers gardens. She showed line is the first thing to be determined in making an arrangement.

This can be obtained by spikes on trimmed branches. The outer edges need to be lighter in weight. The material should be proportionate in size to the container, being one and one-half times the width or height of the container. The filler for the arrangement should be of softer or fern like material. Flowers with heads as roses, mums and zinnias or bunched smaller flowers and of darker colors are used as focal points. The materials for the arrangements had been placed in deep water overnight to preserve them and cause the arrangement to hold up longer.

One was made with yellow and green plant material in a yellow green container giving an analogous color harmony.

Those present were Mesdames B. H. Alexander, Sr., T. J. Campbell, A. L. Gilbow, R. C. Gilbow, Neal Hall, M. L. Hillis, B. T. Mabon, Troy J. Miller, C. A. Morgan, Troy Mills, Clyde Peed, J. D. Riddle, Victor Sandacz, Paul Schroeder, W. R. Stimpson, W. B. Short, J. S. Vanderburg, A. C. Newman and the hostesses, Roy T. Magers and H. C. Gilbert.
