HASKELL NEEDS A TABERNACLE

Mr. J. M. Riley, President of the Haskell county Singing Convention, called at our office Tuesday and asked us what was being done about the tabernacle. We could not report any progress. He said many farmers would contribute. His idea was that a tabernacle that would seat about two thousand was a real necessity. It would be a place where the political speaking could be held. The Singing Convention will meet the second Sunday in May at Haskell, and such a structure would be fine for that purpose if built in time. Protracted meetings could be held there, and lectures could be held in such a place. Mayor Cahill has figured on a structure that will fill a great need. The Farmers Union will encourage such a move, so as to have a place for the county meeting place. A good tabernacle will make Haskell a convention center. Times may be hard, but a tabernacle will be worth the money.

The Free Press has done all it could to get the business men to see the advantages, but they have been so busy and conditions so unfavorable, no one of them has taken the matter up. They are partly excusable for this. Too many burdens are placed on the active business man and he is asked to finance everything. The people who own the real estate will get as much as the business men out of any enterprise, but they are usually slow to do anything for the town where they have their money. We believe if the merchants thought everybody would treat them right and would do their part, they would encourage the move. But the merchants have too many bad accounts to carry to put up all the patriotic dollars for the town. Now some man who has Haskell property should take the lead in a subscription and circulate a list, and have a plan and a bill for the lumber made, and see what can be done and then do something.

Mr. Riley said plowing was well advanced in his community. That he had 200 acres of land broken and was going to plant for a big crop this year. When such men as Mr. Riley are willing to help our town to build a tabernacle, we think the town ought to get a move on it. The Free Press knows that if every citizen will do his part and not saddle it off on the banks and business men, that the business men will do more than should be expected of them. The reason the business men are sometimes apathetic on such things, is because the people who are not in active business, saddle all the expenses of such enterprises off on them, as well as feeding and clothing people who can't pay their bills.

BOY SCOUTS COMMENDED

The following letter was handed us for publication and we reproduce same in compliment to our Boy Scouts, who are deserving of the high commendation given them by Mrs. Colquitt: Prof. T. C. Williams, Haskell, Texas.

My Dear Sir:
Miss Eugenia English, the Red Cross Chairman for Haskell, has reported that the boy scouts of your city rendered great assistance in the Christmas Seal Campaign. I am much pleased to learn that the boys have been so zealous in this cause, and I wish you would express to them my appreciation of their efforts. Tell them that they have aided in the work of caring for children crippled by tuberculosis in the Memorial Children's Hospital at Galveston, and also that they have helped in the work to secure the building of county hospitals in Texas. Thanking you for your assistance and with best wishes to you and the boys for the year 1914, I am,

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. O. B. Colquitt,
President Texas Anti-Tuberculosis Association.

National Editorial Association Will be Elaborately Entertained

Houston, Texas, Jan. 27.—Preparations are being made to entertain the National Editorial Association, which will convene here April 23rd, for its twenty-eighth annual convention. The meeting will last three days and be one of the largest conventions ever conducted in this city. The program committee is preparing something elaborate for this meeting. The delegates will come to Houston in special trains made up a Chicago and other Northern cities, and on their advent into Texas they will be met by the reception committee and a carload of Texas products placed at their disposal while enroute to Houston. A trip by rail to Sugarland and a barbecue has been arranged for the visitors, and also a circle tour by railroad to the cities of San Antonio, Austin, Waco and Fort Worth and Dallas. The commercial organizations are making plans for the entertaining of the delegates while in their cities. This organization was perfected at New Orleans, La., in 1885, and has grown into one of the strongest and largest newspaper fraternities in the world. The 1913 convention of the association was held in Colorado Springs, Col., and a number of commercial bodies of this state concurred in a movement to bring this convention to Texas for its 1914 meeting, which resulted in Houston being selected as the logical meeting place for this year's session.

Community Co-Operation

COPYRIGHTED FARM AND RANCH-HOLLAND'S MAGAZINE

Natural advantages do not make a great state or a great nation. Some of the richest countries of the globe are inhabited by some of the most worthless and most dissolute peoples. In semi-tropical climates where fruit ripens and falls ready to be consumed, the natives are so lazy that they won't even shake the trees to make it drop. Their few wants are easily supplied. A brush arbor will do for a shelter, a loin cloth for clothing, bananas and coconuts for food. They prefer to lead lives of indolence and ease rather than possess themselves of the many good things they might have by small exertion.

New England is naturally one of the most bleak and barren sections of America. It was settled by English Puritans who were industrious, frugal and thrifty. They made the most of their own resources and then branched out to trade with the outside world. We all know the result. New England became rich and powerful and has wielded a tremendous influence on American life and manners from the beginning to the present time. Suppose the early settlers of that section had spent their time in bewailing the fate which had cast them on that rugged and inhospitable coast instead of on the fertile shores of Louisiana or in sun-kissed Texas. By such a course they might have easily wrecked their own lives and have bred a race of weaklings who would have soon disappeared from the view of men.

There are many towns and communities here in the southwest that fail to accomplish anything because they haven't the right class of citizens. The prevailing note is one of doubt and pessimism. No enterprise can be started that is not already doomed to failure according to these gloomy prognosticators. And for this very reason most of the enterprises do fail for they are talked to death before they can be got under way. I dare say there isn't a small town or a country community in the entire Southwest that could not be vastly improved within the next year if the people would only work together for the common good. And a majority of these same towns and communities might be absolutely made over in a few years time if there was the proper spirit of co-operation among their citizens.

You had as well quit talking about the weather and wanting to move; just get down to bed rock and go to work and try to make your community one of the favored spots. If you can't get the neighbors to work together for the common good, start at home and try to make that a model of comfort and convenience. That will help some, and at least convince others that you are in dead earnest about the proposition.

ABOUT GOOD ROADS

By Homer D. Wade.

Good roads are the links that will connect the model home and the model country school.

Good roads will fill the seats in the churches, and will double the attendance in the country schools.

Good roads will add wealth to the farm, prosperity to its owners and happiness and contentment in the home.

Good roads will give the rural family the daily papers and fill their souls with renewed hope and courage.

Good roads will enlarge the school buildings, raise the grades, and enable the boys and girls to have an academic education at home.

Good roads will enable the man in the country to get to town, where he can realize the best price for his products. They will afford the city man the opportunity of getting pure air and God's glorious sunshine at will. Good roads will add to the happiness of all.

THE OLD AND NEW COPY

Advertisers have multiplied so rapidly during the past few decades that almost without realizing it they have gradually raised their voices to a higher and higher pitch until they have achieved a veritable babble of shrieks. There is a marked difference between the ads of half a century ago and those of today. The stock phrase of the old-time advertiser was "not surpassed by any in the city," but the modern copy writer's stereotyped term is "absolutely the best in the city." Some of the modern statements are so broad that they are meaningless, and to the skeptical readers sometimes appear fabulous.

In the onward sweep of progress there seems to come an increasing demand for truth-telling in advertising, and the strong fabric of fact is fast replacing the flimsy fibre of theory.

NEWS AMONG THE CHURCHES

The B. W. M. Workers.

Met Monday evening for a missionary program, and twenty-nine ladies enjoyed the rare treat. It was a splendid program, and heartily enjoyed from beginning to end, buy every one present. What a pity you all were not there. Our meetings are indeed inspiring and you should not miss unless Providentially hindered. Our contest closes next Monday, and we want every member to be present if possible, and bring your dues if you have not already paid them in. We are proud of our membership. The dues keep our treasury in money for the different needs each month, and the daily bible reading is a blessing to ourselves and a duty to our God. New members this week were as follows: Mesdames McAteer, McMan, Bailey, Yancy, Casey, Thompson, Collier, Stewart, Atchison, Emmet Eastland, Cunningham, and Miss Jewel Yoe. We want to urge our young lady members to meet with us as often as they can. Next week we have our bible lesson, don't miss it. Committees:

Personal services. Mesdames Pierson, Posey, Lamm.

Literature. Mesdames Clark, Scott, and McFatter.

We hope to have our year books by another meeting. Can you regret to be always religious, always diligent, always bent on improving time, on honoring Jesus, and growing rife for heaven? Let your life be as long as it may, yet compared with those worlds of ages, it is but as a thought, or a dream, or a sigh.

Died

"Uncle" Lewis Howard, of the community that bears his name, died last week, and was buried at the Howard School House. The deceased belonged to a class of frugal farmers, and was a minister of the gospel. He was a man of strong personality, sterling integrity, and a great thinker. He was not a college man, having read a few books well, he had deep convictions, and had formed opinions of his own. He was unassuming, yet commanded the respect of all who knew him. He was always sincere, and exercised a wonderful influence in civic and political matters affecting his community. He never preached for a salary. His service to Christ was purely from choice and love of the great principles taught by the Master. He has left the world better, for having lived, and his life may well be emulated.

Consumption Takes 350 People Every Day

In the United States and the surprising truth is that most cases are preventable with timely, intelligent treatment.

These appalling facts should warn us that after sickness, colds, overwork or any other drains upon strength, Scott's Emulsion should be promptly and regularly used because tubercular germs thrive only in a weakened system.

The tested and proven value of Scott's Emulsion is recognized by the greatest specialists because its medical nourishment assimilates quickly to build healthy tissues, aids in the development of active, life-sustaining blood corpuscles, strengthens the lungs and builds physical force without reaction. See its Emulsion is used in tuberculosis camps because of its restorative, blood-making properties. It contains no alcohol, no habit-forming drug. Be sure you hold on Scott's.

HASKELL, TEXAS, January 31, 1914.

To-day (Saturday) is the last day you can save your right to vote by paying your poll tax.

Every district that has a good congressman at Washington should keep him there. It is no time to experiment with new men.

Haskell has been one of the most conservative towns in Texas. The men at the head of the various business concerns mean to manage as to be able to stand the adverse conditions as they arise.

One of the most wonderful evidences of President Wilson's and Mr. Bryan's statesmanship, is the way the big financiers are being converted. In a speech at Washington, a few days ago, William C. Van Antwerp, one of the governors of the New York stock exchange, said of President Wilson: "When the President of this country speaks of the atmosphere of accommodation and mutual understanding, when he dwells in loving kindness on terms of honorable surrender, when he tells us the antagonism between business and government is over; when he speaks of heartening the young men coming on; when he tells us the constitution of peace is honor and freedom and prosperity, when the head of the government, whom we once thought to be speaking in the platitudes of his predecessors, but whom we now know to be speaking in words burning with vitality, says things, is he not voicing a mandate for fair play, for altruism and for righteousness?"

Mr. J. L. Jones of Rule was in this city Wednesday, and in a discussion of the new monetary bill passed by congress, Mr. Jones spoke most enthusiastically. He said that for some time it has been impossible to borrow money on unquestionable security, but that now when the provisions of this bill is put in practice, those needing money who have the security will be able to get it. He illustrated it by saying, that a local bank could put up prime paper and get currency issued on it. To do this, the reserve bank would take the note, and place 40 per cent of gold up as a reserve. This he thinks will solve the panic problems. Mr. Jones made a most significant remark, during this conversation. He said that people were beginning to think more of their credit. He said that men were beginning to think more of the family name, the record they had for responsibility, and the credit of men who borrow, is improving, because of a better disposition to treat creditors justly.

Child labor in the cotton section of the south is akin to negro slavery. Who is it that has not seen cases where a family of children were bred and driven to work at tender age while the worthless father stood around and bossed. In a large measure this accounts for the excessive increase of the tenant farmers. If some heartless parents were forced to send their children to school and support them it would have a tendency to cut down the size of the average "force."

D. 1914, in the case of First State Bank & Trust Company, of Wichita Falls, Texas, versus H. N. Robertson et al No. 1705, and to me, as Sheriff, directed and delivered, I have levied upon the following real estate: Lot No. 1, in the 4th Block No. 1, in the 1st Ward, of the City of Haskell, Texas, and to be sold on the first Tuesday in February, A. D. 1914, it being the 3rd day of said month, at the Court House door of said Haskell County, in the town of Haskell, proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, all the right, title and interest which H. N. Robertson, E. T. Brous and Mrs. L. A. Brous had on the 25th day of September, A. D. 1908, or at any time thereafter, of, in and to the following described property to-wit:

126 feet off of the west end of Lot No. 1 in Block No. 8 of Robertson & Day's Addition to the town of Haskell in Haskell County, Texas, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Said property being levied upon as the property of H. N. Robertson, E. T. Brous and Mrs. L. A. Brous to satisfy a judgment amounting to $1809.00, in favor of First State Bank & Trust Company of Wichita Falls, Texas, and costs of suit.

Given under my hand this 8th day of January, A. D. 1914.

W. C. ALLEN, Sheriff Haskell County, Texas.

The readers of this paper will be glad to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Every last one of them leaves. The hurting is gone almost the instant Hunt's Lightning Oil is used. The aching stops so quickly it is surprising. Hunt's Lightning Oil is especially compounded to relieve pain. For neuralgia and headaches it is a boon to humanity. For cuts, burns and bruises it acts as a healing oil, soothing the hurting parts and preventing soreness. Nothing better for chilblains. All druggists in 25c and 50c bottles.

When you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out of order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin is harmless, tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes.

A Good Play.

The laughable comedy, "Sis Perkins," was presented at the Opera House Wednesday night, and those who saw it pronounced it a splendid success.

The next attraction at the Opera House will be "The Traffic." This play has had remarkable success. The company that will show it in Haskell has met with great success at Dallas, Fort Worth and other places in the state. This play is dramatized from the great book on "The White Slave Traffic," and the story is a pathetically interesting one, and has a moral that all lovers of the good and pure will appreciate. The company is recommended as a specially strong one and the managers of the opera house say the people may attend the play with the expectation of being highly entertained. This play will be presented at the Haskell Opera House Saturday night, February 7th. Remember the date.

Find Giant Skeletons

Winnboro, La.—Skeletons of a race of giants who averaged twelve feet in height were found by workmen engaged in a drainage project at Crowville, near here.

There are several scores at least of the skeletons and they lie in various positions. It is believed they were killed in a prehistoric fight and that the bodies lay where they fell until covered with alluvial deposits due to the flooding of the Mississippi river.

No weapons of any sort were found and it is believed that the Titans must have struggled with wooden clubs. The skulls are in a perfect state of preservation, and some of the jawbones are large enough to fit around a baby's body.

ENDORSE DISTRICT JUDGE SWAYNE

Free Press, Haskell, Texas.

Gentlemen:

Will you give us space in your paper to express our gratification for the vindication Judge Swayne and the twelve honorable jurors gave Rev. J. Frank Norris of Fort Worth in his latest trial. We have been reading and discussing this outrageous persecution of the Rev. Norris, and it is our humble opinion that it is the outgrowth of an infamous conspiracy; that our Supreme Court, on its own motion, should investigate the conduct of attorneys connected with it, and if any of them are guilty of conspiracy that the Court should disbar them and thereby maintain the purity and justice of the tribunals of this great state.

Now, therefore we, teacher and pupils, of the Corinth School, District No. 22, Haskell county, Texas, attest our views by our signatures as follows:

"Captain Charlie"

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.

To begin at the beginning, Charles F. Thorpe was the son of an innkeeper near Cheltenham, England, and at the age of eighteen had the reputation of being a roysterer. He did not drink or gamble, and no one could say that he was dishonest or unfaithful, but he craved adventure and was constantly in trouble.

He accidentally shot a gamekeeper and was sent to the penal colony at Botany Bay, Australia. He escaped from there and became a bushranger. I was herding sheep on the Bogan river when one evening young Thorpe walked in on me. He was in good health, full of good nature, and his convict life had not hardened his heart.

Young Thorpe had no sooner taken to the bush than he was given the title of "Captain Charlie." For the first seven or eight months he had no companions. During this time all his work was on the highway. He held up several stages and half a hundred lone travelers and on three occasions shot men from their saddles. He had the reputation of being brave to recklessness and of being a "square man." He would not rob a poor man, nor would he shoot unless fired upon first. If he stopped a stage and there were women passengers he treated them with the utmost courtesy. He would take nothing from a settler without paying for it, and now and then he gave them warning that the natives were out on a raid and gave them time to prepare for defense.

He would probably have continued to work alone had it not been for an escaped convict named Treat. This man was thoroughly vicious and had not one redeeming trait. In escaping from the penal settlement he killed two of the guards, and he was no sooner in the bush than he gathered around him five or six other hard cases and began a merciless war on all outsiders.

In three months they killed eight travelers, settlers and herders, and, not content with highway robbery, they looted stores, taverns and farm-houses and applied the torch in sheer wantonness. Looking upon "Captain Charlie" as a nabby pamby fellow, who was unworthy of being called a bushranger, they sought to hunt him down. In self defense he organized a band of his own, numbering five, and, though they were pretty tough fellows, he held them well in hand and would permit no violence when it could be avoided. The first meeting between the two bands took place on my range.

Treat had somehow heard that I was friendly to "Captain Charlie." He made a night ride of thirty-five miles with his band to kill me and destroy the herd. The captain heard of his intentions, and just at sunrise one morning both bands rode out of the scrub within fifty rods of my hut. A fight took place at once, and within ten minutes Treat's band was driven off with the loss of three men. "Captain Charlie" had one man killed and two wounded.

An adventure much talked of through New South Wales was the "bailing up" of sixteen mounted police, who had followed "Captain Charlie" and three of his men into the hills. Worn out with thirty hours of hard riding, the entire band fell asleep at night in their camp. The bushrangers crept in on them and ran off their horses and removed every firearm and then vanished. Every one could have been killed while he slept, but no one was harmed.

On another occasion "Captain Charlie" learned that two bushrangers who had lately set up in business in his territory had made prisoners of three men and their wives, who were traveling by stage, and were holding them in the hills for ransom. He made a ride of forty miles with his men, hunted through the hills for two days and finally found the captives. As the bushrangers refused to give them up without ransom, the captain paid over to them the sum of $2,000 in gold and escorted the grateful people to the nearest farmhouse. He then returned and warned the two trespassers to leave his territory, and while making their way north they were captured by the police.

In only one instance did the cavalier of the bush betray a spirit of revenge. A settler whom he had several times befriended put the police on his track, and in escaping pursuit he rode his favorite horse to death. Later on he captured his betrayer on the highway and tied him to a tree and gave him a terrible whipping.

For a period of two years and a half "Captain Charlie" held full sway in the district, hotly pursued most of the time, but always escaping, but at last his time came, as it came to all others of his ilk. There was a quarrel in his band, and it divided. He came to my hut with a companion one night at midnight, and after I had prepared them a meal they lay down and slept till daylight. Meanwhile the men who had broken away got word to the police, and at daylight the bluecoats were in ambush around the hut. As the two men stepped out they were shot down in their tracks, and both were dead when the officers got them. Somewhere among the hills "Captain Charlie" had planted plunder, believed to amount to $50,000; but, though it has been searched for by scores of men for the last thirty-five years, it has never been found.

My Career

By EDNA WOOLWORTH

In these days poor girls fit themselves for a life of labor because they expect to be obliged to support themselves, and wealthy girls—at least some of them—because they don't relish a choice between matrimony and idleness. I belong to the latter class. One autumn not many years ago I, then twenty years old, thoroughly imbued with the belief that all men were selfish and if I wedded the man I married would take me for my fortune and, having spent it, desert or ill treat me, decided to go to the city and prepare myself for a career.

I belonged to several societies in my native town, one of which was devoted to the cause of temperance. Our badge was a bit of blue ribbon tied in the buttonhole of the men members and somewhere on the corsage of the women. I was an enthusiastic advocate of the temperance cause and always wore my colors.

The day I alighted from the train on my quest for a career a young man with a pleasing face and as pleasing a smile on it stepped up to me and, taking from me a satchel I carried, said:

"Here you are, Cousin Bess!"

Now, my name happened to be Elizabeth. Had it not been so I should have probably told the young man that he was mistaken in the person. As it was, I thought for a moment that some of my numerous cousins living in the city whom I had never seen had got wind of my coming and had concluded to meet me.

"You are"—I asked.
"I'm Ned Olcott. We received your letter mentioning the blue ribbon. Everything is prepared for you. We have succeeded in getting a position for you in the high school. You're to teach history. I believe that's what you wanted isn't it?"

We were moving with the throng and by this time had reached the station exit. There was something so ingenuous, so kindly, as well as dignified, in the young man's face and manner that my heart went right out to him. I was seized with a curiosity to know what he would do with me. I hesitated a few moments whether I would inform him of his mistake or delay. Meanwhile he called a cab, and the driver came dashing up to the curb.

"Are you sure?" I began and stopped.
"Quite so. Mother said I was to bring you straight home. Get in."

I yielded. After all, was not this a relative? At any rate, I would act for awhile as if he were. Perhaps he was. He drove me to a modest dwelling standing well back from the street, with very white curtains and some well polished brass at the front door. An old lady, with a lovely face and snow white hair, backed by two young girls, received me, welcoming me with a kiss.

"Why, Cousin Bess," exclaimed the elder girl, "how you've changed! You don't look at all as you did when we played together ten years ago."

"Elizabeth must be tired and hungry. Helen, show her to her room. Dinner will be ready in half hour."

I was glad to escape, for that time at least, from my equivocal position. Helen left me to think over what I should do. I had gone so far that any course I might pursue would result in mortification. I would not be able to make these kind persons believe that I had been drawn into their brother's mistake. I was sure there was a mistake, for just before going upstairs I had been asked how I had left my stepmother, and I had no stepmother.

I was too confused to make much of a toilet. I employed my time trying to think of a way out of my dilemma. Not finding any way to suit me, I resolved to await a favorable opportunity to make it appear that I had been taken up by relatives that I had never seen. When the half hour had passed I went downstairs, and there in traveling dress stood the real Bess, the mother, the son and the two daughters regarding her as if not knowing what to make of her. As I entered the room they looked at me, equally dumfounded. I saw that the denouement had come. I noticed that my double wore a blue ribbon.

"Which of you is Elizabeth?" asked the mother.

"Elizabeth what?" I asked.

"Elizabeth Stanton, of course."

"I am Elizabeth Elliot," I said.

"And I am Elizabeth Stanton," said the newcomer.

For a moment I affected to be much puzzled, then said: "I had my doubts about the gentleman being my cousin, but I have relatives in the city I have never seen and supposed he might be one of them. But since my arrival I have come to believe a mistake has been made."

"You took away my escort," said the other Cousin Bess, smiling, "and I have been obliged to find my way here alone. I see you wear the blue ribbon agreed upon."

"That is a society decoration," I informed her.

"Young ladies," said the mother, "dinner is waiting. Come and partake of it, both of you."

That was not the last dinner I took in that house by any means. Indeed, I now go there frequently because the old lady is my mother-in-law and her daughters my sisters-in-law. The real Bess is also my friend. She has followed the career of a teacher, and I was turned from my intention, to become a wife and mother.

Announcements for Office

The Free Press has the pleasure of presenting the names of the following candidates, who announce subject to the action of the Democratic party:

Commissioner, Precinct 4

We are authorized to announce W. W. Kitley as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner for precinct No. 4. Mr. Kitley has been a citizen of Haskell county for 20 years. He is a successful farmer and stockman, and is a man that has always stood high in the estimation of his neighbors. He has proven his competency in his private affairs, and possesses the business experience and qualities that equip men for efficient public service. We would commend him to a careful consideration by the people living in what is known as the Sagerton precinct.

Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1.

We have the pleasure of announcing Squire J. S. Post as a candidate for Justice of the Peace, Precinct No. 1. Squire Post is now serving his second term, and we have never heard any one criticize his administration of the office. He has been fair, impartial and unprejudiced. He has treated all lawyers having business with his court with courtesy and consideration. Few men in a judicial position are capable of this. Few men have a proper consideration of the rights of litigants, represented by an attorney they do not like personally. The investigation now going on at Washington shows that the Federal Judge Spier of Georgia has used his position to oppress people he did not like. He has violated the constitutional right of janitors, litigants, and humiliated lawyers, and disgraced the judiciary. Squire Post has not done this. He is a more worthy man, though he may hold a lesser place; he would be more capable to fill even Judge Spier's place than such a man as Judge Spier.

"Have you told your father that I asked you to marry, me?" asked the young man.

"Yes" replied the positive young woman.

"And how was he affected?"

"He smiled and exclaimed, 'Brave boy!'"—Washington Star.

His Stomach Troubles Over

Mr. Dyspeptic, would you not like to feel that your stomach troubles were over, that you could eat any kind of food you desired without injury? That may seem so unlikely to you that you do not even hope for an ending of your trouble, but permit us to assure you that it is not altogether impossible. If others can be cured permanently, and thousands have been, why not you? John R. Barker, of Battle Creek, Mich., is one of them. He says, "I was troubled with heartburn, indigestion, and liver complaint until I used Chamberlain's Tablets, then my trouble was over." Sold by all dealers.

"Why don't you pay your bills?" angrily demanded the collector, after his tenth fruitless call.

"What?" exclaimed Mr. Dedbeet
"Do you think I could be so hard-hearted as to deprive you poor fellows of your employment?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Best Cough Medicine for Children

"I am very glad to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Lida Dewey, Milwaukee, Wis. "I have used it for years both for my children and myself and it never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. No family with children should be without it as it gives almost immediate relief in cases of croup." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is pleasant and safe to take, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. For sale by all dealers.

Luncher—"Look here, waiter, I'm very sorry, but I've only just sufficient money with me to pay the bill, and nothing left for a tip for you."
Waiter (confidently)—"Would you mind just letting me 'ave another look at the bill, sir?"—London Sketch.

Caught by His White Hair
By MARTHA EVERS HAM

When I was a girl of seventeen I was far older than my years. Young fellows of my own age seemed to me what they really were—hardless boys. They were full of sports and nonsense, whereas I was philosophically inclined. I loved to talk with men who knew a great deal more than I did—men who could talk learnedly on a variety of subjects. Thus I was thrown in with those who were usually double my age. But my intimacy with such persons was entirely intellectual. Nothing akin to love was excited by any of them. Indeed, many of them had passed middle age and were incapable of sympathizing with a girl in her teens. While it was true that I had intellectual cravings, it was also true that I was still a young girl. There were times when I wished for companionship with young persons. But I was rather inclined to be young with them than that they—I refer to the men—should be young with me. What I mean is that there is a certain dignity in a young man that a girl looks for in one whom she would consider seriously as a possible life companion.

"CASCARETS" CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

Feel bulky! No headache, sour stomach, bad breath, constipation.

Get a 10-cent box now. Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headache, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Made from fruit—Can't harm tender stomach liver and bowels

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of California Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know that a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

AN INCESSANT COUGH.

A severe cough is always a grave symptom. It may not indicate organic disease of the lungs. Even though the cough is a functional disturbance it is of sufficient gravity to demand prompt attention.

The dropping of mucus from the back part of the nose into the throat indicates nasal catarrh. Sometimes this goes on a long time before the patient pays any attention to it. It is stated on good authority that mucus dropping into the throat in this way is apt to excite catarrh of the stomach. At any rate, the condition ought to be corrected as soon as possible.

Mrs. Bourland, of Frankston, Texas, found after using Peruna that not only did the incessant cough disappear, but the dropping of mucus into the throat had also ceased. Read what she says:

"For twenty-three years I was a constant sufferer from chronic catarrh. I had a severe misery and burning in the top of my head. There was almost a continual dropping of mucus into my throat, which caused frequent expectoration. My entire system gradually became involved, and my condition grew worse. I had an incessant cough and frequent attacks of bilious colic, from which it seemed I could not recover. My bowels also became affected, causing alarming attacks of hemorrhages.

"I tried many remedies, which gave only temporary relief, or no relief at all. I at last tried Peruna, and in three days I was relieved of the bowel derangement. After using five bottles I was entirely cured.

"I most cheerfully recommend the use of Peruna to any one similarly afflicted." People who object to liquid medicine can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

GIRLS! STOP WASHING THE HAIR WITH SOAP

Soap dries your scalp, causing dandruff, then hair falls out.

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

"So your wife nags you?" said the judge.

"Yes," replied the bear-eyed one. "It's something fierce."

"Does she nag you because she nags you?"

At this point technicalities began to enter the controversy.—Chicago Record-Herald.
