Launching Patrol Craft 531 Set For September 5th

Two Petit Juries Summoned For District Court Term

PILOTING

Rockport and all of Live Oak and Lamar Peninsulas are expecting big crowds over the week-end as thousands take advantage of the week-end holiday to come down and have a summer's end outing. Tourist courts and cottages have been without facilities to offer for some time, with all available cottages and courts being reserved well in advance of the holiday.

Citizens and visitors here have an air show of their own most every day now since big planes from the Corpus Christi Naval Base have begun landing practice on the water out in front of the town. Scores of big planes circle over, land and take off every day. It is reported that Aransas bay out in front of Rockport furnishes the most ideal water in this section for landing practice.

Rockport— its facilities, the friendly spirit of its people, its tree-studded coast line and beautiful waters—are attracting more and more people. Many of them become Rockport boosters after a visit here. Below is an appreciated letter from A. E. Ivey of Houston, which was addressed to Mayor J. Ed Moore:

"Houston, Texas, Aug. 24, 1941.
"Mayor J. Ed Moore,
"Rockport, Texas.

"Dear Sir:—It is with pleasure that I reaffirm in this letter the statements made upon leaving your fine city.

My wife and daughter join me in expressing our sincere appreciation for the wonderful stay that we had in Rockport. And you may rest assured that we will return at every coast where the oaks grow right down to the water's edge, and where, at any spot a hook dropped into the water will get a fish.

The attitude shown by your citizens toward tourists is most commendable and I am sure that no one will ever leave Rockport without the desire to return to the Friendliest Resort on the Coast."

It is my desire to especially commend your fine boat basin, and its generous policy to visitors. The Morrisons went out of their way to render every possible courtesy. Such actions as theirs are bound to make your basin the most popular one on the coast.

After nearly nine years fishing on the coast I must say that I have never seen anything comparable with the conscientiousness and efficiency that your fishing guides and camp operators show. Along this line I would like to mention among others, Mr. and Mrs. Hank Wiginton, down at Ship Yard Point, and the very hard working skipper Willie Close.

In short please let me say that I would advise everyone, rich man poor man, to come to Rockport for the finest, fishnest and restfulnest vacation on earth. And, you tell 'em we will be back.

In closing, I do not intend this as flattery, but I do believe in flowers for the living and for those that so richly deserve them.

So again my family and I say, "Thanks" to you and all the rest of the fine Rockport folks.

Sincerely yours,
A. E. IVEY,

Houston, Texas.

Fort Worth Party Has Fine Luck Fishing

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Guile, grandson Pete Garrett and Mrs. Harold Ward and son Marion left Monday for their homes in Fort Worth after several days of fishing here that netted them around three hundred fish. A mid-week tow out by Hank Wiginton resulted in a catch of 250 trout. The tow out again last Friday and caught fifteen trout. Eight big flouders were added to the string Saturday night.

Mr. Guile plans to come back to Rockport for the hunting season.

Grand Jury To Be Empaneled Monday Morning

No Cases Bound Over For Grand Jury Investigation at This Term

District Judge W. G. Gayle will convene district court here Monday morning at 9 o'clock, at which time the grand jury will be empaneled and set to work, with District Attorney Alex Cox and County Attorney Emery Spencer assisting.

Seventy-two men have been summoned to form petit juries for the first and second weeks of court.

County Attorney Spencer said that the state's cases against Walter D. Bell, his wife Mrs. Annie Bell, Mrs. Marie Bell of San Antonio and Tow W. Holland on indictments alleging forgery of a will are to be called Monday and set for trial at this term of court. The case grew out of the filing of a will, purported to be that of W. F. Jackson, deceased, for probate on last December 24.

Spencer said that there were no cases bound over for the grand jury to investigate and that he believed the work of the investigating body would be light. On the civil docket of the court there are a number of divorce cases to be heard and several uncontested land title suits.

Those summoned to appear at 9 o'clock Monday morning for grand jury service are:

Fred Diederich, Virgil Mullan, A. P. Buchanan, Wm. Beutley, J. O. Blackwell, Chas. Cleveland, Arthur Curry, Victor Clark, Frank Casterline, Herbie Caraway, Bert Dunn, V. G. Gwynn, R. S. Johnson, Edward Kell, Carl Shaver and Elmer Barber.

The first petit jury is to report for service at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning, Sept. 2. The thirty-six summoned in this panel are:

Seburn Crawford, Cecil Casterline, August Nieman, Orris Young, D. A. Bracht, T. L. Diederich, R. W. Coleman, Elvie Mullinax, J. A. Young, Jr., J. N. Cole, H. C. Mullinax, Lee Madden, V. M. Cole, G. A. Garza, R. A. Kubena, Jim Barber, Joe L. Johnson, W. H. Graham, C. R. DeForest, Sr., E. L. Silberisen, Walter Lassiter, Harry Mills, T. C. Kelly, Chas. Garrett, D. H. Caspary, Richard Fox, Gerald Adolphus, J. W. Cosby, A. C. Glass, F. M. Hunt, Ben Dorathy, J. L. Bailey, C. A. Roe, Joe W. Harper, T. H. Mundine, and C. A. Davis.

The second week petit jury panel, to report at 10 o'clock on the morning of September 8, is made up of the following:

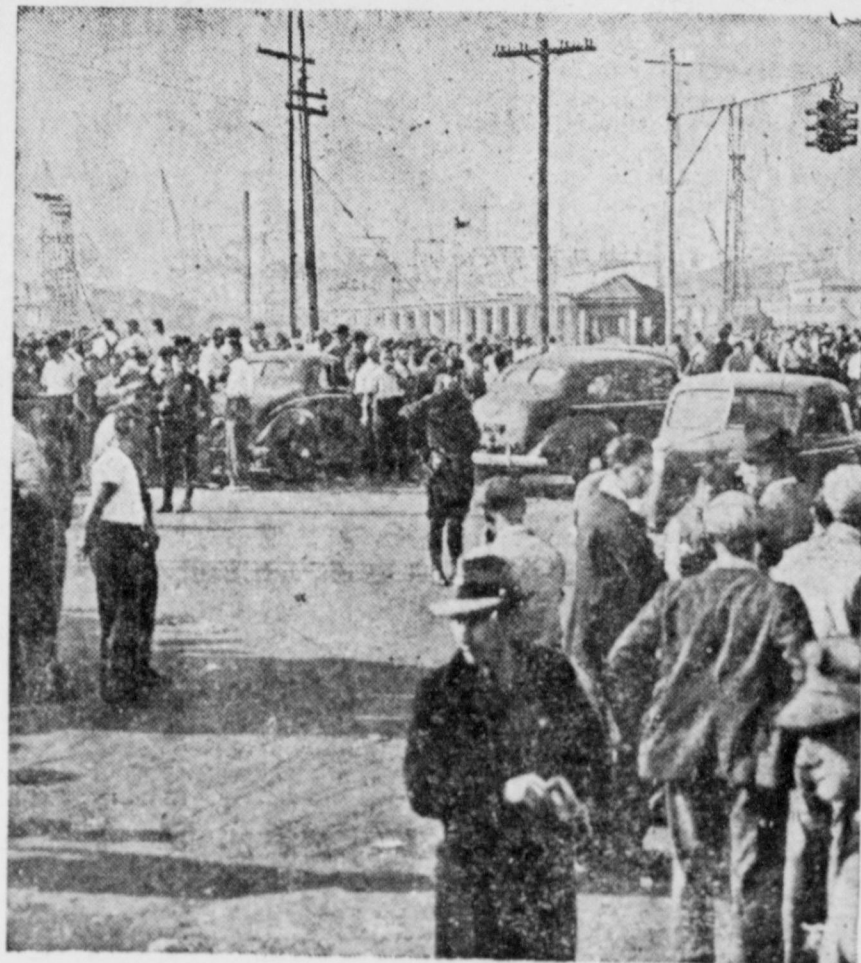

Thos. H. Rooke, Austin Smith, O. V. Dye, Donald Hawes, Tollis Hurst, Travis Johnson, J. P. Jones, O. B. Knippa, John Haynes, Goldie Rowe, Preston McHugh, Chas. Pleton, Jack Hagar, Milton Court, Claude Johnson, J. C. Thompson, A. R. Kane, John Keller, Chas. Townsend, N. G. Taylor, M. H. Davis, M. V. Kampplain, J. D. Stewart, Milton Mundine, Henry Phillips, J. G. Hooper, John McLeister, Curtis Edmison, W. S. Kirby, Geo. Moore, Arthur Rodriguez, H. D. Davidson, Jas. Silberisen, O. B. Reed, Stanley Bissett and J. F. Brundrett.

Rev. A. L. Miller Seriously Ill In Dallas Hospital

The many friends here of Rev. A. Leonard Miller, pastor of the Rockport Methodist church, will regret to learn that he is seriously ill in a Dallas hospital. Rev. Miller's illness has been diagnosed as pneumonia, according to advices received here. It is believed he will be in the hospital at least three weeks.

During the pastor's illness the presiding elder will conduct regular Sunday morning services, but there will be no evening services.

Strike Stops Warship Building

While work on some $373,000,000 worth of warships and merchantmen remained at a standstill, these members of the C.I.O. industrial union of America picketed outside the yards of the Federal Shipbuilding & Dry Dock company at Kearney, N. J. The strike was called over the failure of the company and the union to agree in a dispute over the classification of some 1,500 workers.

Football Training Starts Here On Monday Morning, September 1

Labor Day will bring the first labors of the Rockport high school football squad, as they get underway for a week of practice before the opening of school. There will be seven lettermen back in the line-up this year, including Jerry Wendell, Willie Schuster, Charles Roe, Roger Bracht, Constancio Solis, Alphonse Hattenbach and T. J. Johnson.

The pre-school opening training candidates line up as follows Coach J. T. Mobley announces:

Chief Smith Takes Men On Study Tour of Ship Yard

Lloyd Lassiter, president of the Rockport Fire Department, reports that State Fire Insurance Commissioner Schwab paid the Rockport department an official visit last Friday to inspect equipment and standards.

"Our department stood all the tests and was complimented on the work that has been done," Lassiter stated. "The state commission will give us full credit on insurance ratings, but we must abide strictly by the fire ordinance in the future."

Fourteen members answered roll call at the regular meeting of the department last Wednesday night. Chief Smith took the men on a tour of the ship yard to get them familiar with the entrance, water supply and location of all buildings in the yard.

Judge and Mrs. Ellison And Party to Spend Week-end On Coast

Judge and Mrs. Willis W. Ellison, their daughter little Billie Mae and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bryant are scheduled to arrive Friday afternoon to spend the week-end here on the coast. They have reservations at Hunt's Cottages.

Judge Ellison is county judge at Gonzales and Mr. and Mrs. Bryant are teachers in the school system there.

Westergard-Rice Brothers Company Bids On Ten More Sub Chasers

Farmers Urged to Plant More Cover Crops

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 28—Texas farmers are being urged in the name of national defense to plant more winter cover crops as a means of increasing production of needed foods for America and the embattled democracies.

Meeting in College Station on the request of Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, the Texas USDA Defense Board studied a threatened shortage of winter legume seed and recommended increased plantings of both winter legumes and non-leguminous cover crops.

"Protection of our soil is more important than ever during the defense emergency," B. F. Vance, chairman of the board, told board members representing all USDA agencies in the state. "Food is vital to our national defense, and increased production of the necessary foods to a great extent depends on increased productivity of the soil."

Winter cover crops, it was pointed out, prevent leaching and erosion of the soil and add to its fertility. Most widely-used legume cover crops in Texas are vetch, Austrian winterpeas, and various clovers. Non-leguminous cover crops in the state include oats, barley, rye and sudan grass.

Texas farmers this year ordered nearly a million pounds of winter legume seed through the AAA's conservation materials program. Vance told the board, and already have received 60 per cent of their order. A delay in shipment of the rest of the order will seriously curtail the planting of winter legumes in the state and will result in serious damage to the state's soil, he declared.

It was explained to the board that most of the vetch and Austrian winter-pea seed supply was produced in the northwest, but that an anticipated bumper crop of seed had failed to materialize with the result that growers were holding the seed off the market to await better prices.

Bayshore Guest Makes Nice Trout Catch

E. J. Hallk of Houston who has been spending some time fishing and resting at Bayshore Cottages in Fulton, made a nice catch of eleven large trout one day this week. He has decided to remain for another week of fishing.

Dr. Oberholster is the author of some 300 technical and popular publications on birds. He was the first to describe and give scientific names to more than 650 bird forms.

Gov. Stevenson Invited Attend Ceremonies

Mrs. A. F. Buchanan Named Sponsor of Fourth Sub-Chaser Built Here

Governor Coke Stevenson has been invited here to attend launching ceremonies for Patrol Craft 531 and to make the principal address on the program to be held Thursday afternoon, Sept. 4, according to Rob Roy Rice Jr. of Westergard-Rice Bros. and Company.

Mrs. A. F. Buchanan has been selected as sponsor of the fourth Navy patrol boat to be sent down launching ways of the local company and will christen the craft as a climax to the program. The PC-531's sponsor is the wife of A. F. Buchanan, who is a member of the boat building firm. Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan are away at present on a business trip, but are expected to return before the launching date.

Rice said today that a letter had been sent Governor Stevenson, asking him to come to Rockport and make an address at the launching. The governor had previously indicated he would come to Rockport for the launching if the date did not conflict with pre-arranged schedules and dates.

The PC-531 will be the fourth boat launched here since July 4, when the first of the four defense craft being built here for the Navy was launched.

Mrs. Bryson Filbert, daughter of R. R. Rice, was sponsor of the first boat launched. Miss Nancy Ann Steele, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Jas. A. Steele, christened the second boat launched, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Bauer of Aransas Pass christened the third boat.

Farmer Dies in Chair for Slaying Mail-Order Bride

McALESTER, Okla., Aug. 29—Warren Abby, 58 year old Louisiana farmer, was electrocuted early today for murdering his 78 year old mail-order bride, Julia, to get her money.

Rich Owen, veteran of some 55 executions, pulled the switch at 12:07, held the lethal current one minute and 57 seconds. Abby was pronounced dead at 12:11 a.m.

The former Olivier, La., farmer was unshaken as he was led into the death chamber from a tiny cell a few steps away.

He shook hands with Warden Fred Hunt, officiating at his first execution. Hunt asked him if he had any last words.

"I'm being murdered for an act which was forced on me. There was no premeditation."

Above the execution chamber was a black and white lettered sign:

"The wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life"—Romans 6:23.

The sign apparently was put up by the prison chaplain John D. Seal.

Camp Hulen and Houston Men Catch 330 Trout

Prize catch reported for last week-end was that of Fred Hagen of Houston and Major Davis of Camp Hulen, fishing out from Mills Wharf. They took 231 trout one day and 99 the next. The fish averaged about 14 inches long and many smaller than that were thrown back.

With the tide coming in and the water clearing, it is believed the large Labor Day crowds will find fishing good.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hudel and family of Dallas left for their home in that place Sunday, after spending some time as guests of Hunt's Cottages. Mr. Hudel is employed by the Federal Reserve Bank of that place.

Rare Historic Pieces Sent To Maryland Museum

Rev. Paul Reese of Rockport is sending two rare pieces of historic value to the Carroll County Historical Society in Westminster, Maryland.

One is a knee buckle and shoe buckle from a set presented to the young son of Thomas Jones, ancestor of Rev. Reese, by the Marquis De LaFayette when the latter visited the Jones home at Walnut Grove at Patapsco Neck, Md. in 1824.

The other is a miniature wall telephone presented to Mary Bostwick Shellmann, first manager-operator of the Westminster telephone exchange, by Alexander Gram Bell, inventor of the telephone. The tiny telephone is the property of Mrs. Paul Reese.

Rev. Stanley To Fill Pulpit Here Sunday

Rev. James F. Stanley, who has been away three weeks conducting revival meetings in West Texas, has returned home and will fill his pulpit in the Baptist church at both services Sunday.

There will be preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. and a cordial invitation is extended everyone to worship at the Baptist church, Rev. Stanley said.

"I have enjoyed my three weeks in the West, but I glad to get back home with my people, where my heart is," he said.

Wasn't Asking for Trouble That Early in the Morning

Two travelers had just met. One was doing most of the talking. "Yes," he said, "I arrived home one morning after midnight and, as I opened the door, I saw a stranger kissing my wife. I closed the door softly and hurried downstairs. At 1 a. m. I came back. I opened the door softly—and there was the stranger, still kissing my wife. So I went downstairs again. At 1:15—" "Just a minute," interrupted the other man. "Why did you keep galloping downstairs? Why didn't you walk right into the room?" "What?" cried the talkative man. "And have my wife catch me coming home at that hour?"

News by Cannon

When Paul I was crowned czar of Russia at Moscow in 1796 the news was brought to the people of St. Petersburg by relays of cannon. Placed at intervals 728 guns were fired, each crashing out immediately the sound of the next was heard. The news reached St. Petersburg in four hours, 22 minutes. Paul I reigned until 1801, when he was assassinated.

The Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

DREW PEARSON & ROBERT ALLEN

Washington, D. C. TANK BUILDING PROGRAM
There was a good reason why Lord Beaverbrook, dynamic minister of supply, listed tanks as the No. 1 objective of his visit to the U. S. He flew over largely to try to persuade our army chiefs to lend-lease him the major share of our growing output.

There is sharp division in the army over this. Armored unit commanders have been champing at the bit for the tanks now beginning to roll off assembly lines. They need the equipment not only to train their men and officers but to keep up morale—which sags when modern war machines are missing or simulated.

Buck privates to generals have griped over being forced to "play at soldiering." This was one of the main causes for the strong sentiment among citizen soldiers against extension of their year's service. They could raise no enthusiasm for continuing to train without equipment.

On the other hand, the general staff believes that it is far more vital to the immediate security of the U. S. to let our tanks and other armament help hold off the Nazis 3,000 miles from our shores.

The strategists contend that a U. S. tank is performing infinitely more valuable service knocking out Nazis on the torrid deserts of North Africa, or the bloody steppes of Russia, than using up oil in a training camp in Texas. They favor sending most of our new tanks to Britain for the present, and Beaverbrook's mission is to clinch that argument.

British Need.

The British need for tanks, particularly for the latest type, 32-ton medium tanks, is extremely urgent. It was lack of these that caused the rout in Greece and prevents the British from taking the offensive in Libya and on the continent. Also, without medium tanks the British would be in desperate straits should Hitler make his feared overland move into Spain and Portugal, across the Strait of Gibraltar and down the Atlantic coast of French West Africa to Dakar.

Thanks to the U. S., the British are well supplied with light 12-ton tanks. So far they have received about 500, together with spare parts.

These light tanks have given a good account of themselves. They are superior to similar German and Italian types. But mounting only 50-caliber guns and lightly armored, they are no match, as Greece and Libya have proved, for medium Axis tanks.

STEEL SHOWDOWN

The OPM and the steel industry finally have taken drastic steps to regulate supplies and increase capacity, but it took all kinds of nagging by the government to get them to do it.

One of the most spectacular of these nagging sessions took place in the OPM board room recently and was attended by Eugene Grace of Bethlehem Steel; Tom Girdler of Republic; Ernest Weir of Weirton; Irving Olds, new head of U. S. Steel, together with Ed Stettinius, the old head; Leon Henderson; Knudsen; and representatives from the army, navy and maritime commission.

The steel manufacturers immediately put the government representatives on the defensive with the question: "Well, what do you want us to do? Cut off all steel to the consumer?"

Price Administrator Henderson replied that such a curtailment would be disastrous, that steel to the consumer could not be cut off right away. Other government representatives hemmed and hawed. So did the ship-builders. The meeting got nowhere.

Finally Admiral Emory Land, relative of ex-Colonel Lindbergh, but no believer in his views, got up. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, is a close friend of Bethlehem's Eugene Grace. But looking at Grace and the other steel manufacturers, the admiral gave them a dressing down he might have given to his own sailors.

"I've been listening to you for two hours," he said, "and I'm fed up with it. I don't know what the fault is, or whose fault it is. But I do know that the shipyards are four to six weeks behind because they haven't got steel. And I also know that if you fellows want to, you can correct that shortage.

"You've been talking about expanding your plants. Now if you mean business, instead of talking about it—expand."

Next day the steel manufacturers announced their plan to build new factories and expand production.

CAPITAL CHAFF

White House press secretary Steve Early kept it to himself, but privately he was sore at the bungling of Churchill-Roosevelt press relations. If they had left it to him, the result would have been different.

American editors resented the fact that first news of the meeting broke in London. A lot of other Americans resented the idea that news about their own President had to come via the British censor. Roosevelt himself, not the British, was to blame.

My Week by Eleanor Roosevelt

DISQUIETING LETTER

I have just received a letter which, in itself, would not be so significant, but taken together with various other reports reaching me, is very disquieting. I am quoting it here approximately as it is written, changing only such things as might identify the writer.

"Several years ago, like many others, my family suffered financial reverses and we accepted FERA work, but not relief. I have supported my mother, who is a chronic invalid, and assisted my father through wages received through WPA work. From December, 1938, to May, 1941, I was fortunate to be on the administrative staff, first as a stenographer and later as an occupational interviewer, receiving when I left, $1,440 a year.

"My record for this period had been excellent, I was dropped from payrolls through no fault of my own, and was thankful that I had been permitted to hold the job as long as I had. I desired to try my luck in private industry.

"I started June 1, making a tour of every agency handling stenographic, clerical and typing positions. The interviewers show their interest in my appearance, my ability to operate a typewriter, stenography and my ambition to continue college, even if it meant working at night; yet they are sorry they can do nothing for me because I have worked for the Works Progress Administration, and I will not lie about my work history. . . . I am 26 years of age, of good parentage, have good training, good educational background, am attending Columbia with money saved over a period of five years in order to learn stenotyping, and yet I can not get a job in New York city unless I lie, because I worked on WPA."

A similar picture is fairly true in other parts of the country. While this is not a universal experience, there are still enough employers who have this attitude to make it a very serious situation. Some eight and a half million Americans temporarily found work on WPA during the last six years. Their abilities and talents represent a pretty good cross-section of the American public and it seems to me very sad that any employer anywhere should not recognize that misfortune has come to people regardless of their own wishes or abilities.

FOREIGN POLICY

We all listened breathlessly when the radio from England gave us a statement of the peace aims, drawn up by the President and Mr. Winston Churchill. There was nothing new, nothing which I had not heard many times before in conversation about our foreign policy. Yet, stated this way to the people of the world, one felt it was an important moment in the history of world progress. Chairman May of the military affairs committee in the house of representatives expressed very well in his short speech which followed Senator Connally's, the feeling which many of us shared.

The radio this morning brought me the news that our two sons, Elliott and Franklin Jr., were with their father during these last days "somewhere at sea." I knew that Franklin Jr. had gone off for an undisclosed length of time to these waters, but the last I heard of Elliott was several weeks ago, when he was starting to fly over undisclosed and barren areas, and no word from that time on.

It is foolish to worry, for all of us know that whatever comes we have to meet it. Everybody has to do his job in the world, but just the same that statement on the radio that morning started me off for the rest of the day with a lighter heart.

MARSHALL FIELD

One day Mr. Marshall Field came to lunch with us, after which we went over to look at the library before he went to visit the Greenwich House camp at Lagrangeville, N. Y., which is in this county. There are not many people who take their positions on boards and various organizations as seriously as Mr. Field.

I have grown to know him better through our association on the United States Committee for Refugee Children, and constantly am impressed with the fact that he gives so much of himself. He never seems to consider that the money he has donated absolves him from a personal responsibility.

There are few young men I know, who would start out for a day in the country and remember that an organization with which they had been long connected, had a boys' camp nearby.

RURAL YOUTH GUIDANCE

Last February, there was held in Washington an Institute of Rural Youth Guidance.

I have just received a report of the proceedings and a "suggested plan of action." These pamphlets are going to be distributed by the agencies interested to those concerned with this problem in various parts of the country. I hope that many newspapers in rural areas, particularly the country weekly papers, will quote many of the recommendations.

To Rockport, Fulton and Lamar

Best Fishing, Swimming and Boating on the Texas Coast

Your Pleasure is our business, and upon the service we render depends future visits from you, and we are always ready to do everything possible to make your stay with us the most enjoyable you have ever had on the Texas Coast. Let your wishes or needs be known. We'll do our best to please!

As an added courtesy we are co-operating with the Rockport Pilot in bringing this newspaper to our guests each week. On this page, and elsewhere in the paper, you will find information that will be of assistance to you in making all your vacation hours count, including suggestions on where to go and what to do.

Rockport, Fulton, Lamar and adjacent areas along the 15-mile coastline of Live Oak and Lamar Peninsulas form the most ideal "family playground" on the Texas Coast. Here stretches fifteen miles of tree-lined beaches and natural beauty that comes from blending of skies, water and trees, bathed in a semi-tropic sunshine and tempered by cooling Gulf breezes. Here one can enjoy the activity of fishing, boating and swimming, or just loaf in an Eden-like atmosphere, so different from the usual highly commercialized tourist resort.

Summer-Time Has Brought Gay Times For These

Sun-tanned and happy, the group above is regretful of the passing of summer on the beckoning of college and routine of the fall and winter seasons. Even so, they are retaining a lot of pleasant memories of informal gatherings for swimming, dancing and play on the beach.

Almost every day of the summer season has brought these young people together on the beach here. The Pilot camera caught them, as shown above, last Sunday morning while they were lolloping on the beach, soaking up sunshine and enjoying themselves. Such has been the procedure all season—swimming, sun-tanning and often dancing in the breeze swept pavilion to juke-box music.

LOUENE SORENSON, of Robstown, junior at A. & I., member Delta Theta Sorority and last year's sweetheart of the Engineers Club at A. & I. She has spent the summer here in the home of Mr.
and Mrs. W. W. Davis.

CHARLES GARRETT, San Antonio, who will soon be studying at the University of Texas, and perhaps reflecting occasionally upon the good times of the past summer at Rockport.

ELLEN PICTON, of Houston, will be a senior at Lamar high this year. She was a duchess in the May Fete and is a member of the Chums Club.

CLARK BAILEY of Rockport, is a flying cadet and is stationed at the Naval Air Base at Corpus Christi, and by the new year it will be Ensign Bailey of the Navy Air Corps. He has been stationed at Corpus Christi since July 10 and has taken advantage of the opportunity to spend his week-ends here.

CLAYTON KYLE, of San Antonio, who will attend Princeton this year. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity at Texas University.
Clayton, too, will carry away nice memories of summer on the coast here.

CLAIRE LOUISE JOHNSON, of Rockport, who attended A. & I.
College last year and is a member of Delta Theta sorority. She has been helping during the summer in the office of her father's business, the Johnson Fish Company, but taking time-out frequently to join the bunch for play.

ALICE PICTON, of Houston, who will be a freshman at Rice Institute this year. She was chosen Most Representative Girl of Lamar high school last term, was princess in the May Fete and is a member of the Chums Club.

TOM WOLF, of San Antonio, who will be a sophomore at Princeton this year. He has spent most of the summer here, staying at Oak Shore.

JULIA PICTON, of Houston, who has thoroughly enjoyed the beach and summer play here. She will probably hold the deepest regret of all at the end of the vacation period which will bring again the classrooms of River Oak Elementary School, and long months before more good times
here.

MAURICE CURRY, of Rockport, (standing) keeps books here for Heldenfels Bros. Ship Yard, but who has managed to put in quite a bit of spare time and off hours with the group.

GRACE PICTON, of Houston, (standing) who will be a junior at Rice Institute this year. She is a member of the Pals Literary Society and was maid in the May Fete.

Miss Alice Estill has returned to her home in Fort Worth after a two weeks visit with her mother, Mrs. Jack Perrin.

Cagney, Davis Win Top Comedy Honors
In 'Bride Came C. O. D.'

It's a laugh hit at the Rialto Living up to the intriguing promise of its title and exciting star combination, "The Bride Came C. O. D." with James Cagney and Bette Davis, easily walks away with top comedy honors.

The story, adapted for the screen
by Julius J. and Phillip G. Epstein, twin scenarists responsible for some of the screen's wittiest output, has the supreme virtue of getting comedy from legitimate situations, rather than trumped-up ones. Briefly outlined, the plot concerns itself with a spoiled young debutante who becomes engaged to hand leader. Planning to elope, they hire a taxi plane to take them to Las Vegas. The pilot, however, decides he can make more money by delivering the bride C. O. D. and unmarried to her father, who opposes the union. He captures the bride and flies off with her, but they are grounded in the desert.
They find shelter in a nearby ghost town, populated solely by a philosophical old inn-keeper. From then on, it is a tug of war between the heiress and aviator—with the girl trying to get back to civilization and her fiance, the man trying to keep her until he gets his plane fixed and deliver her to her father.
During the battle they reluctantly fall in love with each other. The climax is refreshingly different and we won't spoil it by giving it away.

If it's laughter, entertainment and sparkling romance you're after treat yourself to a seat at the Rio and see "The Bride Came C. O. D."

NAVA-DOMINGUEZ

George Nava and Helen Dominguez were married here Tuesday night, August 26, by Justice of the Peace Wm. B. Priddy.

Mrs. Will Smith of Houston is now visiting in the D. M. Picton home and Mrs. Dollie Jane Smith will arrive the latter part of the week for a visit here in the D.
M. Picton home.

gathered material for her new book, "Historical Bells of Texas."

Miss Lula B. Abbey of Lufkin was married here Wednesday to L.

D. Falls of Corpus Christi. The ceremony took place in the office of Justice of the Peace Wm. B.
Priddy, who officiated.

Verna Brundrett.
John Haseman
Married Thursday

In a pretty ceremony in the First Presbyterian church tonight Miss Verna Brundrett became the bride of John Haseman of Woodsboro.
Dr. Davis, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Aransas Pass, officiated.

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. George Lee Brundrett, parents of the bride, were host and hostess to a number of friends and relatives at a reception for the happy couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Haseman departed after the reception on a honeymoon trip that will take them to Mexico City and other points in the interior of that country.

Many Labor Day
Visitors Here

Among the Labor Day visitors to the coastal region are the following guests of Wells Court at Lamar:

Eddy Kalinowski, of Victoria;
R. C. McFarland, of San Antonio; E. L. Atzenhoffer and party of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Doughttry, of Austin; C. D. Cox, of Dallas; Harry Tassel, of Houston; Mrs. Peggy Patterson, of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nisbet, of San Antonio and Mr. and Mrs.
Sam Bennet, of Mission, Texas.

'Underground' To Show at Rialto
Today & Friday

Manager Wallace Witt of the Rialto Theatre in Aransas Pass has announced this week of two outstanding pictures at his theatre this week. One, "Underground," dramatic offering starring Jeffrey Lynn and Kaaren Verne, is showing today and Friday at the Rialto and the second, "Charley's Aunt," hectic comedy featuring Jack Benny, is scheduled for Sunday and Monday.

Drama that a few years ago people would have called fantastic has been taken from newspaper headlines to make "Underground."
The underground movement which is the bane of the Gestapo official, has been woven into a deft background for a story that is surefire dramatic entertainment, well cast with talented players.

Jeffrey Lynn has the role of an enthusiastic young officer just returned to Germany from Dunkirk where he lost one arm in battle, and in a featured role of a violinist who acts as an underground agent is beautiful and talented Kaaren Verne. Among a list of important supporting players are Phillip Dorn, Dutch refugee star his performance in "Escape" and who has already become known for "Ziegfeld Girl," and Mona Maris, glamorous South American Star.

Rockport Rebekahs
Give Party Tuesday Night

The Rockport Rebekah Lodge
No. 88 met in regular session last Tuesday night. Plans for the Blue Bonnet Association meeting were discussed and it was decided for the local drill team to put on their drill at this meeting, which will be held in Sinton the latter part of September.

After all business was attended to the lodge closed and games were enjoyed by all and refreshments were served by the entertainment committee, Mr. and Mrs. Will Rooke, Mrs. Bessie Rooke, assisted by Mrs. Thelma Barber, Mrs. Emma McLester and Miss Edith Eldridge.

'Charley's Aunt' to Furnish Laughs at Rialto Sun-Mon.

Take your girl friend, take your friends, take your family to Aransas Pass Sunday or Monday to see "Charley's Aunt," the gayest gal of the year!

Jack Benny is terrific—No. 1 Boxoffice Girl of the Year—in the role of Lord Fancourt Baberley, the young Oxford student who agrees to help one of his pals out of a sentimental dilemma by impersonating his aunt.

Benny, after 10 years at Oxford, is still attempting to pass his three year course but when he blossoms out in the curls and charming attitude of "Charley's Aunt," he spends all his time in a laughable effort to evade two elderly men and their two romantic advances. When the real aunt arrives, it complicates matters, but she joins in the fun.

Kay Francis, James Ellison, Laird Cregar, Reginald Owen, Edmond Gwenn, Arleen Whelan and Richard Hayden are a few of the strong supporting cast surrounding "Aunt Benny."

Jobs For College Students Plentiful This Year

AUSTIN, August 20—Jobs for University of Texas students are more plentiful this year than ever before, according to Dean Arno Nowotny, director of the Student Employment Bureau.

"Defense work and the draft have taken many Austin workers," Nowotny said. "Consequently we expect the largest number of part-time job openings for students in history."

Approximately 60 per cent of the school's 11,000 students earn all or part of their expenses. Sources of this income fall roughly into four categories: (a) NYA jobs on the campus; (b) jobs secured through the Student Employment Bureau; (c) jobs the individual students themselves find; and (d) summer work which enables them to save up money for college.

This year NYA funds have been allocated to the University to afford 660 part-time jobs, ranging from janitor to library assistant, from file clerk to "nursemaid" for white rats used in nutrition experiments.

The student Employment Bureau last year secured jobs for 1,739 out of 1,850 student applicants. Few jobs—whether Christmas tree fitter, soda-water bottle opener, or mortician's assistant—cannot be filled by some student skilled in the special line of work. The bureau has received so many calls for University graduates to fill full-time positions that a graduate placement division was organized last year.

The working student at the University suffers no handicap. University officials believe. Scholastically, working students make higher grades than do the non-working students, according to V. I. More, dean of student life.

State Police Learning About Mr. Wright's Famous Cow, A Swindle Staged in Many of Texas' Medium-Sized Cities

AUSTIN. —Now there are two famous cows—Mrs. O'Leary's and Mr. Wright's. Everybody knows about Mrs. O'Leary's cow, and the lawyers and police officers of Texas are learning about Mr. Wright's. It was four years ago that Wright began selling his cow, along with a song and dance, and he's been selling it ever since.

Wright—his initials are C. R., but his friends call him Charley—always sells this cow to one C. A. Fox for $42 Mr. Fox pays by check, typing everything but his scrawled signature, and usually notes on its face that the check is "For 1 cow."

Usually, upon selling the cow again, Wright calls upon a lawyer in a medium-sized city, retains the lawyer to handle a suit against a railroad whose train allegedly has run into his truck, and gets the lawyer to endorse Fox's check so he can cash it. On two occasions Wright sought the professional services of a dentist. A Cleburne dentist gave him a $30 set of false teeth and $12 change for Fox's check. A Seguin dentist endorsed one of the checks after agreeing to work on Wright's teeth.

Fox's checks always come back marked "no account" and Wright is nowhere to be found.

Wright's first offense was in Mineral Wells in September, 1937. Subsequently he has cashed worthless checks in Cleburne, Laredo, Waco, Marlin, Cameron, Conroe, Kerrville and Seguin.

Chief Joe S. Fletcher of the state Police Identification Bureau believes many swindles perpetuated by Wright have never been reported. Wright is described as 55 years old, 150 to 160 pounds, and about 5 feet 10 or 11 inches tall.

Alien Registrants To Give Former Name of Birth Country

A trait of human nature which takes pride in one's birthplace is recognized by the Selective Service System, General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, pointed out today in commenting on a ruling from National Headquarters that any foreign born registrant whose native country has been conquered, or otherwise taken over by another nation, may ignore such change of government in answering questions concerning his nativity.

General Page said that some foreign born registrants, in filling out their questionnaires, have assumed that they were compelled to give the name of the conquering or occupying nation as the country of their birth. This has been particularly distasteful to those whose native lands have been victims of the Axis powers, he stated. "This assumption," General Page declared, "is wrong and registrants who have previously given their nationality as that of the dominating or occupying country rather than that of their subjugated native country may, upon request to their local board, amend their records as to nationality."

By way of example, General Page cited that a Czech filling out his questionnaire since the conquest of his country by Germany does not have to designate his birth country as Germany. He may record it as Czechoslovakia.

The provisions of the ruling also apply to natives of Austria, Gen-

Crusty Judge Wm. B. Priddy Was Waiting on Call From St. Peter When Political Fever Struck Him

Rockport Justice of the Peace Was Printer in Colorado Gold Rush

By BERNARD BRISTER (In Caller-Times)

"I was hanging around here waiting for an early call from St. Pete when this little political matter came up," said Judge W. B. Priddy, Aransas County's pipe-puff-justice of the peace. "Election time was at hand and somebody said I was a rumored candidate for justice of the peace. I wasn't, but I didn't worry about it until word got around that I couldn't catch 40 votes in a whirlwind," Priddy said. "It isn't polite to say that I can't do something. I skinned a couple of political cats and won the race."

Old-Time Printer The 71-year-old justice of the peace has followed the trade of printer in a rambling sort of way since he was 14. In the Colorado gold rush days when everything but postage stamps cost at least a quarter, he worked on papers in boomtowns like Leadville, Creed and Cripple Creek. "Helped to found the Cripple Creek Crusher," he declared. "We carried the old Army press in on a jackass. Plenty of business. All the bars and gay houses in town paid fancy rates to advertise."

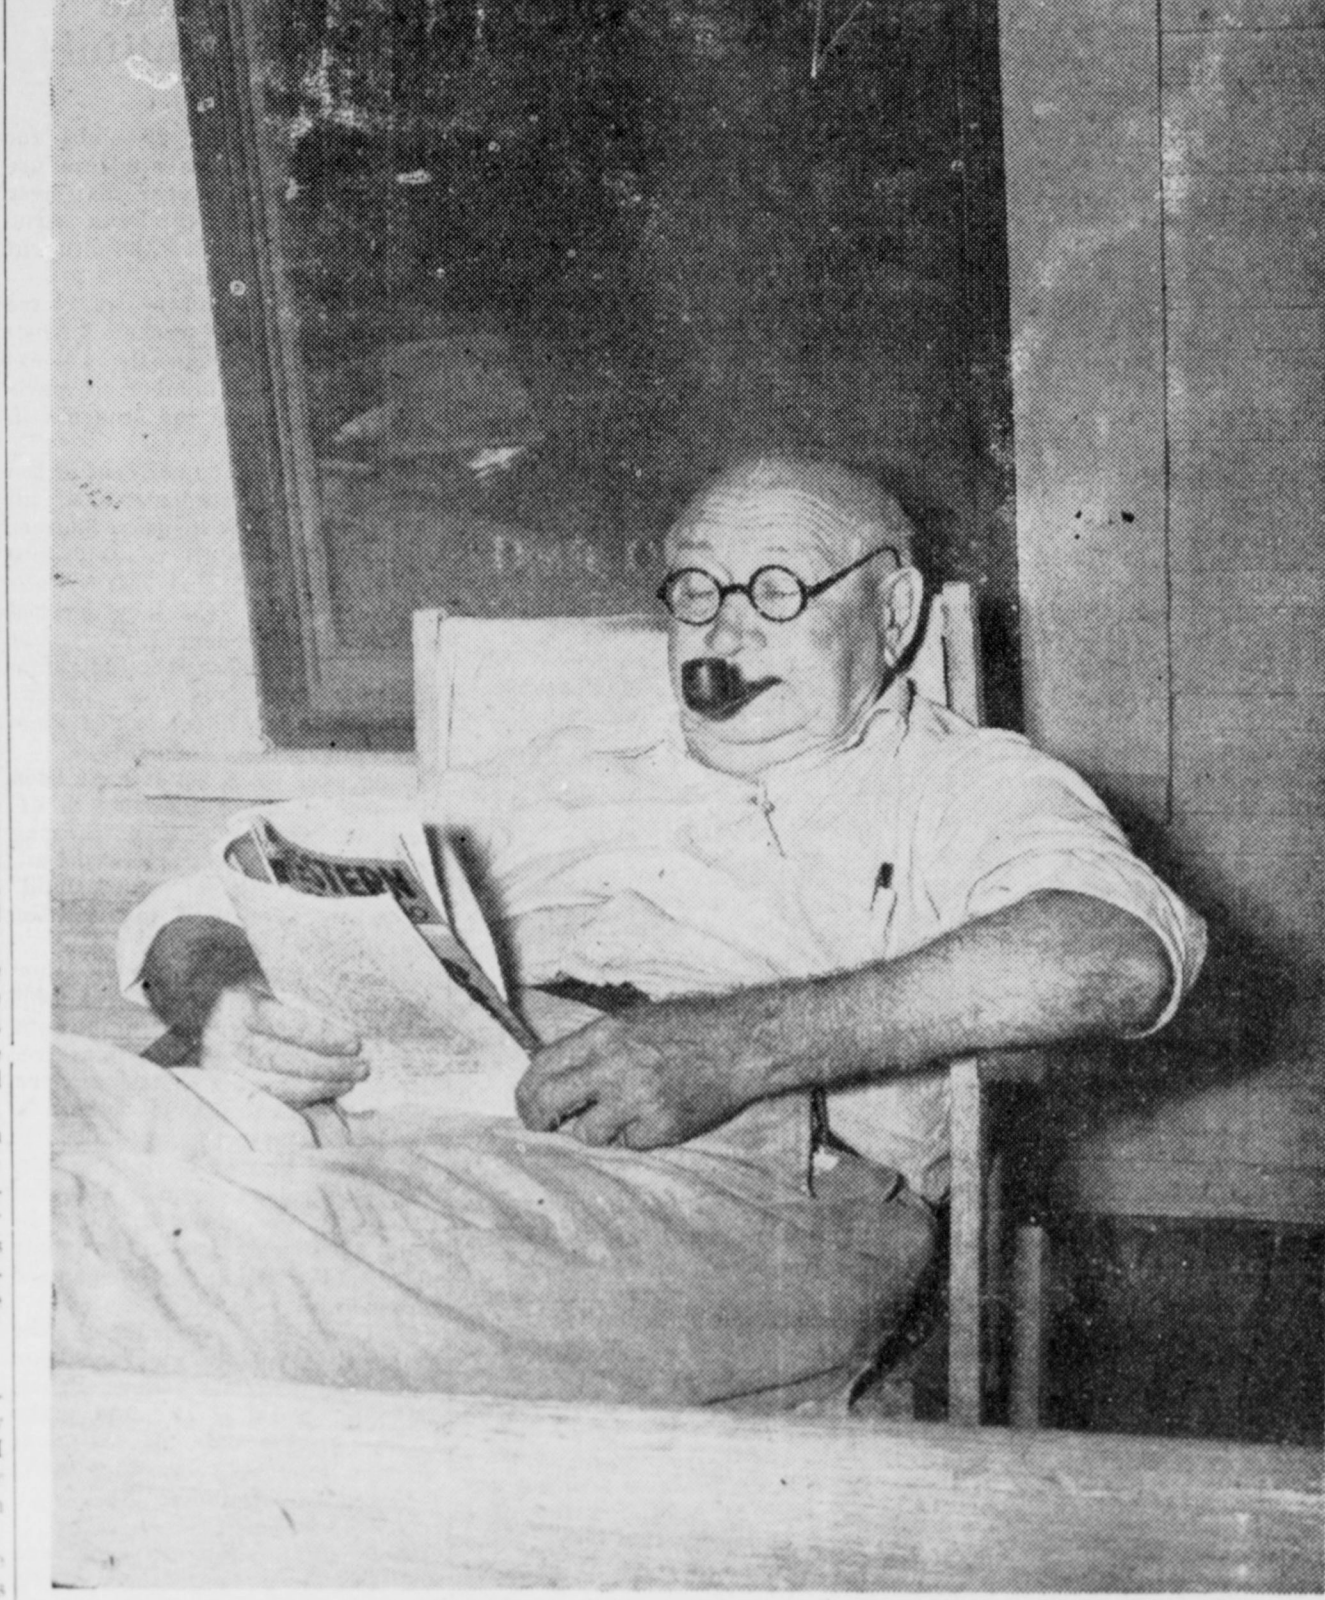

As a printer he rambled from coast to coast, spending some rough days in the oil towns of Wyoming and in many other new sections of the country. About 14 years ago he came to Rockport and purchased the Rockport Pilot which he published for some time. Wyoming Too Cold "I came down here from Wyoming to get warm," Judge Priddy said. "It was 32 below zero when I left, and I swore then that if I ever got thawed out, I wouldn't complain about the hot weather."

He has lived up to his word. He may declare that the weather is hot, but will add hastily: "don't get me wrong; it isn't too hot."

Judge Priddy takes things as they come. When he isn't busy, he makes a very comfortable picture of a man rared back in his undershirt reading a Western story magazine while a breeze off the bay plays through his office.

Maybe his pipe is lit and maybe it isn't. He's not the man to fret over it. "I never get any very good cases," Judge Priddy said. "Just pistol toters, wife beaters, drunks and that sort of thing." He covered his opinion of the pistol-toters with a few polite, well-heirs and assigns and the unknown heirs of Chas. T. Whitney whose residence is unknown; M. A. Belcher and the unknown heirs of M. A. Belcher whose residence is unknown; A. N. chosen cuss words. "Easiest way in the world to get shot is to carry a gun." Judge Priddy picks up a pretty good marriage trade from the direction of Aransas Pass. "Sunday is my best day for marriages," he said. "Yeah, Sunday at midnight. Everybody seems to know I sleep right here in the office. They wake me up. I marry them, and they live happily ever after for the next 10 days." In Real Estate Too Now and then Judge Priddy dips into real estate in a small manner. Recently he was handling a little farm that was for sale. "What can you raise on the place?" a possible buyer asked. Judge Priddy's sharp green eyes narrowed and his face was solemn. "Well," he said, "cut-ants and kids and jackrabbits do well out there, but they tell me its pretty dry for frogs." It wasn't long before he was collecting a fee for selling the farm. The judge was sitting peacefully mopping his brow when bicycle and automobile brakes squeaked simultaneously in the street just outside his office on main street. "Damn those kids' hides," he said.

THE COURT RESTS—On these hot August days when most people are in a sweat, Judge W. B. Priddy, justice of the peace at Rockport, keeps his temperature down with a good pipe and a Western story. (Photo by Jack Blackwell) "The way they ride those bikes, one of them is going to get killed and I am going to have to hold an inquest. It's too hot today for inquests."

Plaintiff is suing to establish its fee simple title and claim to Lots Five (5) and Six (6), Block Eleven (11) of the Doughty and Mathis Division of Rockport, Texas, according to the map or plat thereof on file in the office of the County Clerk of said County, Texas, and especially pleading the Three Year Statute of Limitations, the Five Year Statute of Limitations, the Ten Year Statute of Limitations, and The Twenty-five Year Statute of Limitations, and basing its claim thereon. This is a suit in Trespass to Try Title and being as well to try title as for damages.

YOU ARE COMMANDED to so summon such defendant, and to serve this citation, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county; but if there be no newspaper published in said county, then in any newspaper published in the nearest county where a newspaper is published. HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have you before said court, on the first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

WITNESS J. M. SPARKS, clerk of the District Court of Aransas County, Texas. GIVEN under my hand and the seal of said court in the City of Rockport, this 31st day of July 1941.

THE STORY SO FAR: Buck Hart, the sheriff's brother, Jim Tellow, and Pete Tollman, alleged rustlers, had been "drygulched"—shot in the back. Lee Hart is believed to have tried a shot from the back at Cal Terry in retaliation.

INSTALLMENT SIX

"The big ranches claim they can't keep going unless the stealing of stock is stopped. There is a lot of rustling, isn't there?" Ellen asked.
"Yes," he added cynically: "Why make any bones about it?"
"So that the Diamond Reverse B and the other big outfits really are fighting for their lives, in a way of speaking."
"They are fighting for dividends to pay to absentee owners, most of them. Who ought to own this country—rich men in Edinburgh and New York, or settlers right here on the ground?"

He looked at her, eyes hard and bleak. "We have guns too. I reckon on this war won't be all one-sided. We'll find out who this guy is with the Winchester. One thing is sure. He's mighty familiar with the habits of the men he killed. How did he know where Pete would be staying last night?"
Ellen and her father left while the dance was still in full swing.

CHAPTER XII

Ellen was finding it difficult to draw sharp lines between good and bad. Jeff Brand was an example. Her interest in him was growing, and with it a reluctance to condemn him utterly. No doubt he was a thief, but she guessed he stole not for profit so much as for the thrill. And there was Calhoun Terry. Most of those living near Black Butte would call him traitor because he had changed sides. But was that judgment final?
Right and wrong existed, of course, yet there was a borderland of conflict where the differences ran thin. Ellen brought the more impersonal aspect of the difficulty to her father. The time was after supper when he was reading one of Horace Garvey's editorials in the Gazette.

"Garvey takes a strong line about these assassinations," he said. "He sure enough hits out right from the shoulder. Just what he should do, too. Tells the big ranches they can't sow the wind without reaping the whirlwind."
Ellen was silent for a minute. A frown puckered her forehead. "Isn't there any way to stop this dreadful bitterness?"

Lane Carey shook his grizzled head. "Not so easy, honey. The big cattle outfits want a wide-open free range for their stock. They don't want the land plowed up or the country along the creeks fenced. They have grabbed what they can, one way and another, by using their riders as dummies for homestead and pre-emption rights. But that isn't enough if they are going to run herds as big as they have been doing. So there you are. If the little fellows fence and plow the land the big ranches can't have it for range. Cattle came here first. The large concerns feel the nesters and homesteaders are interlopers, and they have gone some farther than the law allows to let them know it."

"You think the Diamond Reverse B and the No. By Joe, with the other big outfits, are to blame, then?"
"They made it mighty hard for the small fry to earn a living in these lean years when they quit employing men who had places and stock of their own. But there is another side to it. Rustlers have been very active, and I'm afraid a good many of the nesters have helped themselves to calves to build up their herds and to steers for food when they got hard up."
"So everybody is wrong and nobody is right," she said.

He drew on the pipe for a few moments to make sure it would not go out. "I wouldn't say that. You might put it that there are conflicting rights hard to reconcile."
Ellen brushed tobacco from his coat. "You don't see any hope of peace, then?"
"I wish I did," he said at last. "But all the talk is the other way. I heard that fellow Jack Turley say at the dance he was going to carry a rifle with him when he rode after this. The men he was talking with seemed to agree."

"I don't like the man," Ellen cut in, deflected from the main thought. "He has been hanging around me a little."
Ellen kissed her father good night, lit a lamp, and went upstairs to her room. It was some time before she could get to sleep. Into her mind trooped thoughts connected with ambushings and sudden death, and even after she slipped into sleep her dreams were wild and turbulent. She saw Jeff Brand and Calhoun Terry stalking each other in the sage. A gun would crash, but before her flying feet could take her to the scene the protagonists had changed. It was her father lying wounded, and Jack Turley was straddling his body rifle in hand.

Strangely enough, Ellen saw next day at Black Butte all the four men of whom she had dreamed. Terry came up on the stage, on his way back to the Diamond Reverse B from Denver. Brand and Turley dropped into the post-office shortly after the stage had arrived. The tion. Terry is manager of the Diamond Reverse B ranch. Rustlers and small cattlemen resent his having sold his own small ranch to get to the big fellows. In Denver the big ranchers decide to bring in Texas ex-peace officers.

ranch foreman was eating dinner at the restaurant, but after he had finished he strolled across to the post-office to wait while the fresh horses were being hitched.
He asked for his mail. Ellen made a pretense of looking, though both of them knew this was not the office to which his letters came.
She came back to the window. "No mail for you, Mr. Terry. . . . May I see you a minute. . . . alone?"
He was surprised at her request, but scarcely more than she was. For it had been born of a sudden urgent impulse.

"Of course," he replied. "Here?"
Her father came into the building. "At the house—if you don't mind." To Lane Carey she said: "Will you take care of the mail a little while, please?"
Carey glanced at her, at Terry, and back at his daughter. "Why, yes," he agreed. He did not know what was back of this, and he did not quite like it.

Ellen spoke to Brand, including Turley in a general bow to a couple of others present.
Ellen stopped with Terry in front of the porch, coming swiftly to what was in her mind.

"Isn't there any way, Mr. Terry, of stopping all this killing that is being done?" she asked. "Does it have to go on, building up hate,

"Isn't there any way to stop this dreadful bitterness?"

making this country an awful place to live in?"

If he was moved by her indignant appeal his immobile face gave no evidence of it.

"I think the trouble will go on, in one way or another, until stealing cattle is stopped," he said.

"You favor murder?" she cried.
"Did I say so?" he countered.
"You said—" She cut off her own sentence. "It doesn't matter what you said. Your friends are hiring murder done. Can you deny it?"
Terry had not at first believed this. But doubts of his associates had seeped into his thinking.

The Diamond Reverse B manager replied to her question with another. "Can you prove it?"
"Of course I can't," Stormy-eyed, she pressed the attack. "But you know it's true. I don't know what part you have in it, but your friends are trying to stop theft by murder."

"I don't know any more about it than you do," he answered, anger and obstinacy in his steel-blue eyes. "If you want this trouble stopped, go to your father and his friends. Get them to persuade the rustlers to move out. What do you expect? Do you think we'll let these scoundrels steal wholesale from us and laugh in our faces when we take them to court? We are going to protect our property."
"By killing men from ambush?"
"No." A dull flush of rage beat into his face beneath the tau. "By hanging knowa thieves by the neck to trees when we have enough evidence. Is there anything else you would like to know, Miss Carey?"
She stood, very erect and proud. "No, Mr. Terry. I know all I want to know—about you." Turning, she walked into the house.

Calhoun Terry walked back toward the stage. It was in front of the post-office. The horses were being brought out to hitch. He saw Jeff Brand move forward to meet him.
"Like a word with you, Mr. Terry," he said.

Terry said nothing. There is sometimes a force in silence more potent than any speech.

But Jeff Brand had no jumpy nerves.
"You and yore crowd have been cutting a lot of mustard. Rubbing out our friends without giving them a chance for their white alley. Not like rattlesnakes. They give warning. I always did claim there was vermin lovin' than a sidewinder. Now I've found them."

In large numbers to invade the rustlers' areas and kill them. Terry objects to the plan. Ellen Carey, daughter of the postmaster, is intrigued by Jeff Brand who with Jack Turley, another rustler, are most outspoken against Terry.

"Are you quite through?" the ranch manager asked coldly.

"Not yet. I'm mentioning now that we'll take a hand in this game. Two can play it as well as one. From now on there's an open season on Diamond Reverse B men and on those of the other big outfits. We'll be trying for the bosses, but when we don't find them handy a plain lunkhead waddy will do. The brake's done bust. We're off, and hell and high water can't stop us."

"I wouldn't talk that way if I were you, Brand," Terry advised quietly.
"I'm talking. You're listening. This is a message to you and to all the other damned rascals you're sleeping in a bed with. I'm making war talk. Understand?"

Calhoun Terry understood perfectly. The rustler was offering him a chance to draw if he wished.

Terry shook his head. "No dice, Brand. I don't know who killed these men, and I'm not going to make myself responsible for it. I won't let you hang it on me by forcing it as an issue. You can't put me in the wrong that way."

The cowboy jeered at him. "What do you wear that gun beside you for, Terry? Or don't you draw it unless a man has his back to you?"

They were close to the porch. Terry knew the other two men could hear every word Brand had said. He felt a tumultuous boiling up of the blood, the recklessness ready to break out in him explosively.

Lane Carey came out on the porch, a big weather-beaten Westerner who had fought his way through the rough and tumble of frontier life.

"Don't be a fool, Jeff," he said, no excitement in his even voice. "Can't you see that Mr. Terry doesn't want to fight unless you goad him to a showdown?"

"I see he doesn't want to fight whether I goad him or not," Brand answered.

Terry said coldly: "I choose my own causes for a fight, and I won't be maneuvered into defending assassins. But I'm not overly patient when bullies try to run over me."

"Jeff isn't a bully, Mr. Terry," the postmaster explained placidly. "He's so excited, and kinda went off half-cooked. We can't rightly blame him for that, after his friends have been drygulched. But since you're no party to these killings nothing he has said applies to you."

"You make it quite clear, Mr. Carey, that he couldn't possibly have meant me," Terry said, with a thin, ironic smile.

"That's right, isn't it, Jeff?" Carey persisted, his quiet urgency crowding the cowboy toward some withdrawal of his attack. "Since Mr. Terry isn't the guilty party, you could not have meant him."

Jeff grudgingly gave ground. "What I said goes for the murderers, whoever they are."

Terry followed the other passengers into the stage.
Turley laughed unpleasantly. "Mr. Terry certainly took meek the worst cussin' out I ever heard."

Headed for the post-office, Carey stopped in his stride.
"Don't make a mistake about Calhoun Terry, boys. He's game as they come. He was giving Jeff straight goods. Unless Cal Terry has changed a lot from the young fellow I used to know, he isn't hiring anybody to rub out his enemies. If it's to be done, he'll do it in the open."

CHAPTER XIII

For hours Calhoun Terry had been riding across territory ranged by stock of the Bartlett Land & Cattle Company.

Ellison was at home.
His host got out a bottle and pushed it toward Calhoun, who waved it aside with a gesture almost impatient.

"I've brought a message for you from Jeff Brand," Calhoun said.

"From Jeff Brand? What is that scoundrel sending me a message about?"

"He is serving notice that he and his friends are going to make reprisals for the rustlers who have been murdered." Terry's gaze rested steadily on the No. By Joe manager. "They are going after the bosses, but if they can't get them, riders for the big outfits will have to do."

"The nerve of him!" Ellison cried. "It shows what this country has come to when a known outlaw can send such an impudent message to honest men."

"We didn't need that to show us," Terry answered bluntly. "To have three men shot down from ambush in two weeks is evidence enough."

Terry stopped, searching the other's gray countenance. "When outfits throw in together to play the same hand, Clint, it ought to be played above-board for all of them, to see."

The other man said, after a moment's hesitation, "Some things are better not talked about, Cal."

Grand Coulee World's Number One Dam

Grand Coulee, biggest dam in the world, is now in action. The Columbia river, which has been dammed, is one of the swiftest and fiercest in the world, and to curb it a barrier has been erected which is three-quarters of a mile long and 500 feet high.

The result will be a lake 151 miles long, the irrigation of 1,200,000 acres of land, and sufficient electric power to supply an area five times the size of England.

Boulder dam, which harnesses the Colorado river, with all its collateral works, was completed in 1935. It is thrown across a terrific gorge called Black Canyon, which is 2,000 feet wide, and the lake behind it is 115 miles long and took three years to fill.

So tremendous is the weight of water in this lake that geologists have suggested that it may cause a bending in the crust of the planet.

Habits of Salmon

A group of Pacific salmon, or king salmon, that inhabits the Northern Pacific waters, dies after the breeding season (July to December) is over, says Pathfinder. These salmon never return to the sea.

Other types of salmon, however, return to the sea after spawning, and remain there until the next breeding season. All salmon live partly in the sea and partly in fresh water, breeding in the latter. They ascend rivers and tributary streams to spawn.

"COVERETTES" TO BE NEW TYPE OF WORK CLOTHES FOR FARM WOMEN AND WOMEN WORKING IN FACTORIES

Patterns for a new type of work clothes for farm women and women who work in factories have been released to pattern makers and the clothing trade by the USDA's Bureau of Home Economics.

One, called a "coverette", was designed especially for farm women, and Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, Extension specialist in clothing, believes it will be popular in Texas. "It's a coverall type of garment that's just the thing for gardening, for wash day, for tending the chickens, or for milking."

The coverette is a one-piece outfit with a surplus closing. To get into it, all one has to do is step in, pull it up, and tie the sash ends. "If you are working in the garden," Mrs. Barnes says, "you may use the special snaps that hold the trouser legs around the ankles."

Best material for a coverette is a good cotton seersucker, for seersucker is cool, and easy to wash. In addition, it isn't necessary to wear man's undergarments with for coolness and cuts down on laundrying.

Designers who planned the new work clothes studied particular duties of farm and factory women, then worked out sensible outfits to suit those jobs. They predict that the new clothes which are comfortable, attractive, and easy to "do up" will be widely adopted as more and more women take over jobs in the national defense program.

Willacy County Man Kills Black Rabbit

The first black jack rabbit to be reported to the Texas Game Department was killed recently by J. G. Caudle of Willacy County. A black cottontail was found in Jack County several years ago. Black denizens of the wild are extremely rare, although a black buck deer was captured recently by a rancher in Comal County. The black jack is being mounted and will go into a collection owned by Gene Smith.

MOWING MACHINE HARMFUL

The mowing machine has long been recognized as one of the worst "predators" on nesting birds. The Texas Game Department along with practically all other state agencies of a similar nature, has long advocated the use of flushing bars on mowing machines. A report from Wisconsin reveals the latest figures on the terrific toll taken by mowing machines. More than 60 per cent of the nests under observation of Wisconsin biologists were destroyed by mowing machines.
