NUMBER TWENTY-FOUR

Another First For Haskell Riding Club

The Haskell County Sheriff's posse is just like "old man river"... it just keeps rolling along!

The colorful, well-drilled, all palomino club, competing against 19 other clubs, took first place parade honors at the Santa Rosa Round-Up in Vernon last Thursday. Elk City, Oklahoma finished second and Seymour Remuda, third.

Twenty Haskell County Sheriff's posse riders participated in the parade; however, some 35 persons from Haskell made the Vernon trip.

The club will head for Rotan, today, Thursday, June 15, to ride in the parade at 5:00 p. m. and grand entry tonight, which will officially open the Fischer County Rodeo.

Haskell club is right in the big middle of their riding season. After Rotan they will go to Aspermont on June 22 and Stamford for their Fourth of July celebration.

SCOUTARAMA: Boy Scout Troop 36 of Haskell held a Scoutarama at the rodeo grounds here on the weekend of June 3 and 4. Twenty-three boys and three adult leaders were present. Exhibitions included displays on cooking, lashing, knot tying and first aid. Following supper, a Court-of-Honor was held at which Scoutmaster Edd Smart presented six Tenderfoot badges, five second-class badges, five first class badges, and several merit badges. He also presented several Red Cross First Aid Cards and First Aid Merit Badges. These were the result of a nine-week course given by Gerald McCoy of Haskell.

Derrel Davis At Boys State This Week

The twenty-seventh annual American Legion Boys State sponsored by the Department of Texas and held on the Campus of the University of Texas, got underway Saturday, June 10, at 750 high school boys from all parts of Texas began registration. Jack W. Flynt, Department Chamber, announced.

Among those registering was Derrel Hollis Davis, of Haskell, who was sponsored by the local American Legion Post.

Following registration, each citizen was assigned to one of two political parties—the Longhorn or Pioneer. Each citizen then functions as a member of his party; he attends its precinct, county and state conventions and votes in its primary.

In Boys State, the American Legion provides the type of program where the young citizen has the opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. The boy "learns to do by doing."

Highlight of Boys State will be a trip to the Capitol Friday morning where each elected Boys State official will be given an opportunity to serve in his respective office for a day following the Governor's Ball Friday evening.

Boys State enrollment this year brings the total to 12,656 junior high school boys who have attended since 1940, when Boys State was first inaugurated in Texas.

East Side of Courthouse Square Is Taking On Bright "New Look"

The long dry spell did not slacken the spirits or take away any of the bright outlook for the future of Haskell for R. I. Johnson, Gene Long and Lorraine Johnson. Thanks to their outlook, the east side of the square is taking on a "New Look" at Boggs & Johnson as they are in the big middle of a complete remodeling project.

The project includes new fronts and complete re-vamping and re-styling of the interior of the buildings, which also includes the Bruce Young Barber Shop and Phillips Shoe Store.

The project will require some 60 days. When completed an "open house" is planned. Meanwhile, during all the remodeling, the store is carrying on business as usual, and residents of this area are invited to come-in and see for themselves the ultra-modern change taking place.

Committee Favors Resolution To Mark Historical Attractions

With Haskell County Judge B. O. Roberson, presiding, a small but enthusiastic group of Haskell County Historical Survey Committee met in the District Courtroom here Saturday morning.

Following the reading of a resolution asking all Texas Historical Societies to adopt as their No. 1 project the marking of historical places to attract tourists as they drive through the Lone Star State in 1968 to attend the HemisFair in San Antonio and the Olympics in Mexico, the local committee voted in favor of the resolution.

Discussion centered around the marking for historical purposes Scott's Crossing, Rice Springs, and the building formerly occupied by the Haskell National Bank. The committee is open for suggestion of other places in the county as sites of historical markers.

For the purpose of accumulating articles for the County Archives, Dr. T. W. Williams suggested that the committee begin now in obtaining old papers, books, photographs, letters, telephone directories and deeds which would be stored in the vault in the County Judge's office.

The Haskell County Survey Committee is looking forward to a Museum Foundation. If it can be set-up, gifts from larger foundations would be made to the foundation.

Those present for the Saturday morning meeting were Judge B. O. Roberson, Dr. T. W. Williams, Clay Smith, Carl Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Couch, Sr. Johnny Isaacs, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. Sam Cobb, Mrs. Jack Pippin, Mrs. J. G. Vaughter and Pete Huntsman.

Following the meeting the group trekked to the Museum to view the many improvements, especially the living quarters.

Former Sagerton Man Is Invited To Conference

Prof. Harvey Stegemoeller, son of Mrs. F. A. Stegemoeller of Sagerton, now of Fort Wayne, Indiana, has received an invitation from Secretary of State Dean Rusk, to participate in the National Foreign Policy Conference to discuss the crucial points of world affairs, sponsored by the State Department in Washington, June 19 and 20.

The major address will be delivered by Secretary of State Rusk. Discussions will deal with "Our Foreign Policy Perspective," "The U. S. and Europe," "Southeast Asia," "The Communist World," and "International Education and Foreign Policy."

Prior to the establishment of the Haskell County Country Club, this community offered very limited and poorly developed recreation for its inhabitants, both young and old alike. There was no chance of ever obtaining industry and no chance of growing into a better community.

The Farmers Home Administration loan is to be repaid over a period of 40 years. Officers of the club are: Robert Mobley, president; Joe S. Harper, secretary; treasurer; Roy Johnson, vice president; all of Haskell; Directors are Gene Campbell, Carl J. Anderson, Loyd Feemster, Royce Adkins and Royce Williams, also all of Haskell.

Rotarians Hear Facts About County ASCS

Bob Greenway was in charge of the program and introduced R. C. Couch, Jr., who in turn spoke to members of the Rotary Club at last Thursday's noon-day luncheon session at Felker's Restaurant.

Mr. Couch, Field Representative for the Haskell County ASCS, gave a very interesting and informative report on the work program of the ASCS and its vital importance to the economic structure to the county.

"The ASC program has a payroll of some $100,000 a year in Haskell County, and should this be cut-off, it would affect us all, as this is an agricultural county," the guest speaker said.

"Even though there is a very dark picture when we consider the lack of rain in our area and the fact that many crops have not been planted, we are fortunate to know that help will come from the Government should this county be designated as a drought-stricken area," Mr. Couch pointed out.

"There have been great gains in all forms of Agriculture with which we are surrounded and upon which we depend for our livelihood," the guest speaker said.

Rotarians voted to give $100 to the Historical Society for work on the project of restoring the museum and getting it ready for a caretaker to live on the premises.

Over Inch Of Rain Gauged In Haskell

Haskell received .74 of an inch of rain Sunday morning and another .36 of an inch Monday morning, to bring the overall total for the two-day period to 1.10, according to Sam Herren, "The Weatherman."

The rains, though varying in amounts, were fairly general over the county. The moisture, not enough to end the drought, will give farmers, however, a chance to plant their row crops.

Weinert received 1.70 Sunday and Rule 1.30.

Magnet Should Be Installed In Mixers

Farm animals, for some unexplained reason, seem to have a liking for small bits of wire, nails, scraps of hardware, bolts and screws. Many owners have been made aware of this fact through the loss of a valuable animal, says County Agent R. W. Schumann.

The damage is usually caused by irritation or puncture from swallowing the object. In most instances the loss could have been prevented and Schumann offers these suggestions for eliminating future losses.

Remove rust fences which are weak from rust before small bits of the wire drop into the grass and become a hazard to grazing livestock. After a non-irritating job in the pastured area has been completed, it is worth the time and effort to sweep the area thoroughly or drag it with a sweep of permanent magnets.

It is difficult to detect and remove trash metal from the ground feed and silage. If permanent or electromagnetic in feed chutes from bins to feeders will remove a major portion of trash metal. It is important that waste iron not be scattered in feeding racks and mixers.

It's the case against prevention is worth a cure. In fact, he is possible to remove 95 per cent of trash metal, pastures and just by following good "keeping" practices as the livestock management program.

The Slumtowners To Appear At Throckmorton

Saturday night, June 17, residents of this area will be offered a chance to enjoy a stage show that people throughout Texas and to the Pacific Coast have enjoyed for years. Lamesa's Slumtown Symfunny will be sponsored in a stage show presentation on that date in the Throckmorton High School auditorium.

The Slumtowners, officially named Lamesa's Ambassadors of Goodwill in 1960, originated in the early '30s with a group of high school students. Membership in the Symfunny has changed down through the years with three of the original members still active. As many as ten have been in the group, and as few as six, but it has entertained crowds constantly with a brand of comedy and music enjoyed by everyone.

The Slumtowners have appeared at almost every type gathering you can name, but highlight perhaps of their long career, was their trip to Los Angeles a few years ago to entertain for the Lions Club International convention there. They have been invited to entertain for this convention again this year.

The Throckmorton Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the Slumtowners Saturday night at 8:30 in the Throckmorton High School auditorium. Tickets will be on sale.

The Good Earth

By Mrs. B. F. Cobb

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Burson have landscaped quite an area of land. As one enters the driveway that leads into the estate, large pecan trees, scattered over an emerald green lawn, catches ones eye.

The Bursons have converted the area to the right of the road into a play ground for their precious grandchildren. A swing and slide set rests beneath large pecan trees. A circular brick flower bed filled with red honey suckle encircles a light pole that holds up a trellis, upon which the honeysuckle twines. What an interesting way to turn an ugly post into a thing of beauty.

A privet hedge divides the play area from a large fruit and vegetable garden. Red and yellow cannas march along the hedge. A large Mimosa tree, with pink balls of fluff, stands guard at the corner near the road.

Peach colored cannas, four Budella, in as many colors, grape vines and hollyhock divides the road from the garden. Peach and apricot trees were hanging full of fruit. Vines were weighted down with green tomatoes. One very large ripe tomato gave promise of many weeks of goodies for the table.

Everbearing strawberry vines were covered with both ripe and green berries. A short row of boysenberries furnished many dollars of fruit for the freezer this spring.

Behind this garden is another where long rows of beans and corn grow. Mr. and Mrs. Burson planted both pinto and top-crop beans. It was hard to tell which variety was producing the most. Two long rows of cucumbers were just beginning to bear real good.

The long, green lawn that leads to the house is dotted with pecan trees. Dark green foliage of the maderia vine makes a dense share on the front porch.

Two large, white urns filled with Comanche red petunias and Chinese boxwood, seem to say welcome as one steps up to the porch.

Pyracantha, photinia, snow-on-the-mountain, shasta daisies, red canna and summer snow roses fill the front flower beds. A seedling peach is loaded with fruit. On the east side of the front porch a pink crepe myrtle bush nestles against a wisteria vine that runs the length of the porch. Mrs. Burson has also planted a snowball bush in this bed to help make a dream come true. This shrub grows profusely in her native state of Tennessee and it had long been her dream to plant one. Red geraniums and pink oxalis borders the bed. Red cannas and pink giant honeysuckle vie with each other near the back bedroom. A window box of dark red geraniums makes a pretty picture near the service porch.

Mrs. Burson has had a hard time getting anything to grow in the west side of the house, as there is a dense shade from two towering pecan trees. She finally settled for pink and white althea, nandina, waxleaf legustrum, red salvia and periwinkles.

In the center of the lawn, between the house and the border flower bed, is a square concrete bed planted in roses of several varieties.

A long slightly curving bed, running the full length of the front yard, divides the lawn from the field. This bed is filled with so many pretty blossoms of different colors it reminds one of an oriental rug. Red, pink and wine verbena, pink bouncing Betty, blue salvia, pink althea, red summer magpie, crepe myrtle and summer poinsettia of red, gives color all summer. Iris border the bed and are a riot of color in early spring. Chrysanthemums of many colors put on a gay show in the fall.

The back yard is where the Bursons really live. Here a privet hedge gives privacy to the north. The garage encloses the east side of the area. A redwood table and benches, with a portable grill, turns a patio into an outdoor eating room. Tall pecan trees cast their shade over the St. Augustine lawn. The outdoor room is completely framed in flowers. A border of red Comanche petunias runs the full length of the privet hedge. Dahlias, thrift, perennial phlox, day lilies, snapdragons and several varieties of roses keep the bed a blaze of color all the blooming season.

A climbing peace rose graces the side of the garage, day lilies grow flush with the wall. A milk and wise lily should show its pretty flowers soon. A red giant honeysuckle is just getting established so it can blend its color with the peace rose.

A brick planter, running along the back wall of the house, is planted in red coleus and climbing geraniums, variegated vinca minor trails on the ground in front of the bed.

The front of the garage is graced with red President canna and white shasta daisies. On the east side of the garage is the most colorful garden of all. White, wine and pink dahlias, blue salvia, snow-on-the-mountain, pink giant honeysuckle and pink hibiscus sprawl in front of a Passion vine and tall hollyhocks. The Passion vine is so covered with flowers one can hardly see the foliage.

The Bursons are fortunate in having a well to water their many, many plants. Mrs. Burson enjoys every minute she can spend in her garden.

MEXICO

Mecca for Vacationers, Inspiration for Designers

Mexico, the land of striking contrasts, provides a dramatic setting everywhere you look—and for each of them there's just the thing to wear in a handsome, packable fabric made of Celanese fibers. Left—Cortes' summer home built long ago (1500) sets the stage for a zingy black and white shift designed in a fabric of Fortrel and cotton by Coty Award winner, Edie Gladstone for Debs. Center—The rugged splendor of The Pyramids, Mexico City, contrasts with the lustrous elegance of a line for line copy of a Givenchy gown with high-rise shaping made by Harold Levine in an acetate satin. Right—For making the scene at Acapulco Bay, Evan Peone has designed a dashing outfit with a mattress ticking blazer jacket, cowl shell, and matching straight leg pants in an easy traveling acetate knit.

NEW YORK (CFN)—No wonder Mexico is becoming the Mecca for vacationers. The natural settings themselves are breathtaking. Architecture in Mexico City varies from the Spanish Colonial and 19th Century French to the starkly modern. Nearby are magnificent Aztec ruins.

On the Coasts you have beautiful modern resort areas, awe-inspiring mountains, and quiet fishing villages.

Everywhere you are dazzled by the endless profusion of color in the architecture, the costumes, or perhaps in floating gardens on river barges. The panoramic splendor afforded by the various cultures, the many ages, the fantastically gifted artisans, and the great natural beauty of the country itself is overwhelming.

From the moment your jet, the Aeronaive de Mexico, lands there's so much to enjoy you will wonder why the Mexicans say "mañana". There are the mariachi bands, surfing, swimming, and if you like, bull fights. You can also sample history first hand with a visit to Maximilian Castle, for example.

The climate too, is ideal. In Mexico City you have spring all year long, with the average temperature 62 degrees during the day, and a bit cooler at night.

By selecting fashions made in the new lightweight, wrinkle-resistant, easily packable fabrics such as those made in Celanese fibers, you can probably take everything you need for a two-week vacation in one suitcase.

Happily, many of the resort styles this year look as if they were made for Mexico with their clean, simple lines that naturally go with dramatic settings. Colors too are Mexican in feeling with the vivid pinks, hot oranges, clean greens and warm yellows. And if you really want to compete with the drama of Mexico, try a dash of this season's popular black and white.

It follows that when you've assembled your Mexican vacation wardrobe, you'll find it looks surprisingly right for other locales as well.

ton somehow. Then when 1969 rolls around and you are not satisfied with your county yield, you can bring in your production records and secure a proven yield, based on what you have actually made. Individual county situations are sometimes different so every farmer should check with his local ASCS office for complete requirements.

Farmers Should Plant Anyway, Even If It's Too Dry, RPCG Advises

"With drought conditions pre-er (one-tenth pound or more) in 1967. As ridiculous as this may sound, this one act may put hundreds of dollars into a lot of farmers' pockets in future years," continued Stenholm. "So even if it is too dry to plant like you want to, figure out some way to make a little coin-

"There is one particular requirement especially important to farms with proven yields," continued Stenholm. "All farms with proven yields and/or who intend to have proven yields in the future should pay particular attention to the rule that says you must have production in each of the preceding 3 base period years in order to qualify for a proven yield for your farm. If you do not have any production in 1967, you will lose your proven yield in 1969, 1970 and 1971. Even if it is too dry to plant your cotton, it will pay you to plant 1/10 (one-tenth) of an acre or more in a workman-like manner and irrigate it in any manner that you can in or-

Summer arrives this year on June 21. For most of us, it is the most pleasant season of the year. It is a season when the works of nature reach full bloom. It is the season of picnics, of hunting, fishing trips and camping. It is the season when the family car will carry vacationers far and wide across the land to see the sights and wonders which abound in this country.

Weekenders flock to the lakes or beaches. Some are looking for quiet relaxation. Others will participate in exacting sports such as water skiing. A few will devote time to contemplating the wonders of the world in which we live. The latter will gain greater enrichment from summer than the rest of us. In their behalf, it is but fitting to issue a plea and a warning to all and sundry as the long worms of traffic stream out of the towns and cities this summer for the mountains and the seashores. Every auto will be loaded with potential garbage, as well as people. Multiply each auto by tens of millions, each carrying its quota of paper plates, beer cans, melon rinds, all the refuse of living ... and we come up with a pollution problem of awesome proportions.

Whether there is beauty left for future generations depends on the behavior of the people. They have the power to leave a heritage of beauty or blight. The choice is made and a vote is cast wherever trash is tossed out of the family car along the roadside, or left at the spots which nature provided for camping or picnicking. How will you vote?
