County To Start Scrap Drive To Help Meet War Needs

PILOTING

Not all of the heroes of this war are in the armed forces. Many people are putting forth their best effort, their every ounce of energy, enduring hardships, and toiling in dangerous work. It takes all of this and more to win a war. We can't all lead a bombing raid on Tokyo, fight under General Douglas MacArthur or blast the Nazis in Europe. We can all do our part in countless other ways.

Not the least of the heroes of this war are the Tankermen. These men carry on bravely and well. A glowing and deserved tribute to these men of the Merchant Marine was carried in the June 22 issue of the New York Times. It is reprinted below:

"Tankermen and other men of the American merchant marine literally go through fire to carry supplies to our armed forces in remote lands. Each week they are pulled or washed up out of the sea, after incredible hardships, or after death amid vast stretches of flaming oil. Quietly, when their burns are healed, their long thirst or hunger satisfied, the survivors slip out of port again with more supplies, with more oil and gasoline for our fighting planes and tanks. Many come through three or four sinkings, yet do not hesitate when new ships are ready. No one turns in the street to admire their uniforms. They wear no uniform. No one steps up to the bar to buy them drinks. No moist-eyed old ladies turn to them in the subway to murmur 'God Bless you.' The cop on his beat, gentle with the tipsy soldier or the unsteady gop, is apt to put his nightstick to the britches of a merchant sailor who has tripped too heavily in the town's bars to celebrate his rescue from the sea.

"Sailors are strange folk, sometimes. What they come through, what they see, what they do, on their dangerous errands between the homeland and the ports of the A. F., they're apt to keep pretty much to themselves and their kind. They won't tell a stranger how the oiler was picked up too late, how the sharks had reached him first. They won't tell a stranger how Messman Hedrick's eyebrows and hair seemed to melt as he tried to swim out of the burning oil; how at last Hedrick's head rolled and how he sank forever on the fire's edge.

"Would it be asking too much to give these men something to identify them for what they are and for what they do? The British neglected their merchant sailors in this respect, but not for long. Men of the British tankers and convoys now wear the British Merchant Marine's silver pin, a little 'M' that tells the world who they are. Certainly American Tankermen and others of our merchant marine deserve no less. The cost would be negligible. If they got nothing more—after the First World War merchant sailors got neither certificate nor honorable discharge to hand down to their children—this would be enough. Heaven knows they have earned it."

Subchaser No. 7 Goes Down The Ways Tuesday

Launching of the seventh sub-chaser to be built in the shipyard of Rice Bros. and Co. took place Tuesday, with Mrs. A. G. Marshall, sponsor, breaking the christening bottle on the prow at 11 p. m.

Invocation by the Rev. E. Y. Seale, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Aransas Pass, opened the ceremonies. Talks were made by Lt. Alfred Bledsoe, and Carl Pool, of San Antonio, head of the War Production Board.

Curry and Haynes In Run-Off Race For Office Of Sheriff

Fox Re-elected County Judge By 177 Vote Margin

C. E. Townsend New Commissioner; Harrell Re-elected Constable

Almost a thousand Aransas county voters went to the polls last Saturday in the first Democratic primary, re-elected County Judge B. S. Fox for another two year term, and placed A. R. Curry and M. W. Haynes in a run-off race for the sheriff's office.

C. E. Townsend was elected commissioner of precinct one, defeating Ted Little 164 to 144. G. M. Harrell was re-elected precinct one constable by a vote of 312 to 264 for Joe Smith.

W. Lee O'Daniel received a majority of votes in the county for United States Senate. O'Daniel received 491 votes, James V. Allred 229, Dan Moody 132 and Floyd E. Ryan, 14.

Pat Mixon was elected Chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee. Miss Iris Sorenson was elected chairman of Precinct 1. Edward Barnard chairman of Precinct 2; Elwood Weber chairman of Precinct 3; Joe Sontag chairman of Precinct 4; and Jim Barber chairman of Precinct 5.

Voting in the first primary passed quietly with no disturbances. A fair sized crowd gathered at the court house to wait until all returns were in and stayed until 2 a. m.

Curry, who polled 356 votes, and Haynes, whose total reached 216, will be the only county races involved in the August 22 second primary voting. G. S. Bissett was third in the race with 197 votes; Walter F. Paugh, fourth with 131; and W. L. Campbell, fifth with nine.

Complete tabulation of the vote in every race by boxes is carried in this issue.

Kaufman Pleased With Prospects In Rockport

"Rockport is a good business town," says Sam Kaufman in reviewing the success of the opening days of his new department store here Friday and Saturday. "Judging by the way people shopped I am convinced that they are willing to support local enterprises and to aid in the war effort through buying at home."

"I especially want to thank the business houses of Rockport for their cards of welcome printed in last week's Pilot. I am deeply gratified by the spirit indicated; and we appreciated the many expressions of good wishes from our customers, you have given us a grand sendoff," he stated.

Kaufman leaves Sunday on a fall buying trip to several wholesale centers, his chief objective being to acquire merchandise for the Rockport store.

The decision to prohibit the sale of alcoholics between these hours, was made in a meeting of the city council Thursday.

Retail merchants and cafes involved are in full agreement with the plan.

Local Man Survives Torpedoed Tanker

G. A. Smith Tells Of Ship Sinking In Three Minutes

Ship Mates Taken Aboard Sub To Question Then Set Adrift

The first hand story of what it is like to have one's ship blown out from under him is told this week by G. A. Smith, boatswain on the S. S. Elliot, a Standard Oil tanker torpedoed June 3 in Corribean waters.

Smith arrived Thursday to spend some time with his family, who have lived here five years. He is one of four men in the merchant marine from this vicinity who were aboard the Elliot; and while 16 lost their lives, all these were among the 23 saved.

The shipmates are Joe Hawkins of Aransas Pass, who was in Rockport Wednesday and gave his own version of the disaster; Olin Welborn of Ingleside and Don Baker of Aransas Pass.

The ship was attacked at one minute of four P. M. on June 3. At two minutes after four she was under. In those three minutes so many things happened so quickly, "We did not have time to be scared until it was over," Smith said.

"We all jumped and swam away from the ship as hard as we could," he continued, "but the sea was so heavy and she went down so quickly we were unable to get far away and were dragged under by the suction. I went down so far I did not think it was possible to reach the surface again. When I did come out on top it was in a foot of fuel oil."

Only the best swimmers were able to save themselves. The weather was rough and their eyes burned cruelly from the oil. Finally the survivors were able to reach the four life rafts, which had floated free of the sinking tanker.

These they lashed together and prepared to "ride it out" until rescued. Many of the seamen were violently ill from the effects of the oil.

As the night came on the desire for cigarettes grew acute. They spoke longingly of two bags of "smokes" which had been made ready for just such an emergency. Only that afternoon Smith had finished.

Arthur E. Biard Buys 171 Lots In Rockport

Arthur E. Biard, prominent San Antonio real estate man and well-known in Rockport, has purchased 171 lots and some acreage from the Hertzberg Estate, through Harry Traylor.

"Biard already owns other property in Aransas County," Traylor said, "and this is further evidence of his real interest and belief in Rockport." Traylor stated that he was Biard's exclusive agent and that these various lots would be available to the general public.

Biard has stated that he will start development of some of the acreage property as soon as possible.

Dr. Henry Lathrop Has Major Surgery Tuesday

F. G. Huffman Expresses Thanks, Also Misses 'Coffee Session'

F. G. Huffman, now working as a civil engineer with the U. S. Engineering Department, resigned his post some time back as County Surveyor here in order to accept the Federal Post.

"I want to thank the people of Aransas County for all the support they have given me since I was first elected County Surveyor back in 1934," Huffman wrote the Pilot. "I was re-elected to that office in every successive election and really appreciate the support everyone gave me."

"I'm not gone for good," he added. "I just had to resign the office because the government does not allow an employee to hold an office of that type. I am just helping out in the war effort and will be back down there when this thing is over with."

Sgt. Townsend To Go To Officers Training School

Within one month of being made a staff sergeant, Marvin Townsend has been promoted to the rank of First Sergeant of the 11th Headquarters and Air Base Squadron.

At the same time advices were received here that Sergeant Townsend would go early next month to Miami, Fla. to an Officers Training School.

New Contract Will Bring Total To Twenty

Seventh Launched This Week, New Boats To Be Of Same Type

Six more subchasers have been contracted by the Rice Bros. & Co., shipbuilders, to be built here for the Navy, it is announced today by Rob Roy Rice, member of the firm.

These new boats will mean 20 subchasers built and to be built by this company here. Seven have been launched with another due to go down the ways within a few days. Six to eight craft are under construction at the yard at all times.

The new contract calls for the same type boat that Rice Bros. have been turning out for the Navy. The first vessel under this contract may be under construction soon.

These boats, formerly called Patrol Craft are now officially designated as Submarine Chasers.

Every Person Urged To Join In Scrap Drive

County Committee Makes Plans For Intensive Scrap Campaign

To meet the nation's war needs for scrap iron and steel and other salvage materials, a new intensive drive is being launched in Aransas County to obtain every available pound of scrap material, it has been announced by Ted Little, Chairman of the local Salvage Committee. The local drive is part of the nationwide drive announced by Donald B. Nelson, WPB Chairman.

"As the war becomes more intensive on the various foreign fronts," Little said, "the need for scrap materials has steadily increased." He declared that while collections of various types of salvage have already been made here from time to time, the expanding requirements of the war program have made it necessary to obtain much larger amounts of materials.

"The American steel industry this year hopes to produce a record-breaking 85,000,000 tons of steel—as much as all foreign countries put together can make. Our country alone this year is going to produce three tons of steel for every two tons the Axis can turn out."

"To bring steel production up to the industry's full capacity of 90,000,000 tons in 1942, however, our steel industry needs an extra 6,000,000 tons of scrap steel for its furnaces. Every ton of scrap we can send them will swell our national production of tanks, ships, planes and guns."

Members of the local committee, Little said, which has charge of the salvage campaign, are: Stanley Daggett, assistant chairman; Lawrence McLeister, Precinct 2, J. H. Mills, Precinct 3; and Tom De Forrest, Precinct 4.

In addition to scrap iron and steel, the materials to be collected are brass and other non-ferrous metals, rubber, rope and fats.

At a meeting held Tuesday at the Court House the committee decided that the scrap would be handled on a donation basis and all

Mrs. W. F. McMullen Laid To Rest Monday

Despite the most inclement weather Monday afternoon a large group of sorrowing friends followed the remains of Mrs. Theo McMullen to its last resting place in Rockport cemetery. She was buried beside her husband, Dr. W. F. McMullen, a prominent physician in this section for many years, who preceded her in death in 1914, and her flower banked grave attested to the love and esteem of her friends, many of whom she had known since coming to Rockport in 1896.

Mrs. McMullen had been in failing health for some time still her passing was a shock and grief to the entire community.

Services were conducted at the Presbyterian church at 5 o'clock by Dr. John B. Bell of Sodyville assisted by the Rev. T. H. Pollock, pastor of the church, both of whom paid high tribute to her qualities as a wife, mother and Christian. She was born in Harms, Tex. in 1859 but most of her life was spent in Texas. She was a member of the Christian Church.

Surviving are a son, F. H. McMullen of Victoria, two daughters, Mrs. J. G. Hooper of Rockport, with whom she had her home, and Mrs. H. W. Schmidt of Taft, nine grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

International Court and Police Force For Postwar World Envisioned by Hull; Nazi Drive Increases Russia's Peril; Rommel Stymied by Allied Air Power

Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz, chief of the American air forces in the European theater of action (left), pins the Distinguished Service Cross on Maj. Charles C. Kegelman. Taking part in a recent bombing raid on enemy airfields in Holland, Kegelman brought his ship back safely after one motor was wrecked and a wing damaged in fighting with German air forces.

POSTWAR WORLD: Hull Envisions

When silvery-haired Cordell Hull broadcast an appeal for a safe and saner postwar world, it was clear that a majority of Americans agreed with his thesis that the peace as well as the war must be won by the United Nations if future chaos is to be avoided.

In an address heard around the world, the secretary of state made these points:

1. The United Nations' immediate problem is to win the war—decisively.
2. After the war surveillance must be exercised over Germany, Japan, Italy and their satellites by the United Nations until the aggressors prove their willingness and ability to live at peace with other nations.
3. Disputes must be settled by peaceful means. An international court of justice would provide respect for law and obligations.
4. Freedom is to be assured by removal of economic and political shackles. Errors of extreme nationalism that caused the present war must be avoided.

EGYPT: Air Power Tells

It had become increasingly clear that air power was assuming a decisive role in the fight for Egypt. Steady reinforcements of the British air arm had enabled the Imperials to launch an offensive along the 35-mile front from El Alamein on the Mediterranean to the Quattera marshes, paced by an RAF onslaught that drove Nazi planes from the sky.

The British drive dislodged the Nazis from off-disputed Tel el Eisa (Hill of Jesus) in the north and succeeded in making considerable headway along the center.

Activity by the Allies had followed a week-long assault by American and British planes and British warships on the North African coastal highway on which German Marshal Rommel had rushed reinforcements to offset the capture of 6,000 Italians on the Egyptian front in previous engagements. In raids covering 275 miles of Rommel's exposed supply route, British planes virtually wiped out the El Daba airport near the Egyptian lines.

REQUIEM: For U-Boat Crew

Burial with military honors is the hope of friend or foe alike, if death in battle is the fighting man's lot. Thus a tradition sanctioned by the ages was followed when the bodies of 29 German submarine crew members were buried in Hampton, Va. The victims were the first enemy dead to be landed on American shores since the beginning of the war.

The bodies and a few empty life jackets were all that remained afloat after a destroyer on Atlantic patrol sank the U-boat. The same honors were accorded the enemy as Americans might wish for their own dead, if the circumstances were reversed. Navy chaplains read the requiem. A navy firing squad fired a salute of three volleys. A navy bugler sounded taps.

RUSSIAN FRONT: 'Terrible Days'

The gravity of the Russian situation could not be underestimated and no attempt was made to belittle its seriousness. Germany's report of the fall of Rostov emphasized the crisis.

As the sorely pressed Russians guarding the approaches to the Caucasus and the Volga river had fallen back before the million-man German army smashing its way southeast down the Don river valley, the Soviet army organ, Red Star, said frankly: "Terrible days face the country." It called upon the fighting men of Russia to emulate the example of 28 Red soldiers, who in the defense of Moscow last winter, died fighting a tank charge with little more than their bare hands.

The speed of the new Nazi drive against the Reds' celebrated defense-in-depth technique was believed to be due to the Germans' use of a crushing, mass maneuver which employed monster tanks, armored trains, heavy mortars and an unprecedented concentration of air power.

Only comforting note in the bleak picture was the success of Russian soldiers in regaining ground far to the north in their counter-offensive around Voronezh. By turning the Nazis back here, Marshal Timoshenko might be able to take some of the pressure off Red forces in the deep South who had fought with their backs to the wall in defense of Rostov.

U. S. CASUALTIES: Show War's Trend

Casualty figures released by the Office of War Information revealed that the navy's losses since Pearl Harbor were 15 times greater than for the entire span of World War I.

The OWI's statistics disclosed naval casualties thus far totaling 12,143 compared with 871 in the first World war. The current casualties included 3,420 killed; 1,051 wounded and 7,051 missing. Those of World War I included 395 killed in action; 58 died of wounds and 456 lost at sea.

The army's losses in the present war, were placed at 19,767. These included 902 killed; 1,413 wounded and 17,452 missing. That the Philippine Scouts trained under General MacArthur had given a heroic account of themselves was indicated by casualties listing 479 killed; 754 wounded and 11,000 missing.

Casualties for all services were placed at 44,413.

"The bulk of the army casualties fall into the category of missing," the OWI said.

FEMININE ARMY: WAAC Trains Hard

Every morning at 5:45 a. m. from now until next November 9, 800 members of the newly organized Women's Auxiliary Army corps will leap from their army cots to begin a crowded day of drills, lectures and training at their camp at Fort Des Moines, Iowa.

By November 9, America's first feminine army of occupation will begin to spread out to 19 forts throughout the country to relieve men in the armed forces for active combat duty.

Washington, D. C.

PROFESSOR VS. SUBS

Governor Rex Tugwell of Puerto Rico was flying from his post to the British island of Jamaica a short time ago, and just before he stepped into the plane, the young naval pilot said:

"I don't suppose we'll see anything. But we might as well be ready just in case."

So they loaded the plane with half a dozen depth charges. It was a small transport plane, had no regular bomb bay, so the depth charges were merely placed on the seats.

Out over the Caribbean, suddenly the pilot looked down, said, "There she is." Below them with its conning tower above water, was a Nazi submarine.

Both the pilot and Governor Tugwell reached for the depth charges, opened the window. But before they could drop even one, the submarine had submerged. The ex-braintruster came home with no submarine scalp in his professorial belt.

—Buy War Bonds— EYE TRICK

The war has spawned a number of rackets, designed both to gain deferment for unwilling draftees and to aid others in passing their physical examinations. But the most ingenious to date was uncovered by the navy department.

A Washington doctor has been restoring 20-20 (perfect) eyesight to applicants for commissions—long enough to enable them to pass their "physicals"—by injecting a high-powered drug. The trick was brought to light during an examination of a young commission-seeker with defective vision.

He had been examined three times and each time was told to go home and practice eye exercises. But his eyesight remained 31-9, far below the required standard. After the third test, the applicant was told he would be given one more chance. If he flunked again, he would be rejected.

When he returned the fourth time, he amazed the navy eye doctor by passing with a 20-20 mark. Doubting that the exercises had achieved such a phenomenal result, the doctor decided to make a check. He sent the applicant into an adjoining room and kept him there five hours.

Then he was given another examination. This time his vision was found to be 31-9 again.

The applicant finally broke down and admitted that his temporary perfect vision had been due to a shot in the arm given him by a Washington doctor. This doctor, he said, had told him to make sure he was examined within "four or five hours" after the injection, as its effect would last only that long.

NAZI FOOD SHORTAGE

Word from inside Germany makes it clear that Nazi officials are anticipating a hard winter, even if Hitler does take the vast granary of South Russia. They have already completed arrangements for emergency food distribution, in anticipation of serious shortages.

The plan calls for community feeding throughout Germany. It would mean that families would no longer sit down to dinner in their own homes, but would line up at a community feeding center for a government handout.

Under this system, the hausfrau would not buy her own provisions, ration cards would be replaced by meal tickets, and one-dish meals of the "stew" type would be handed out several times a week.

Under this system, the Nazis will be able to distribute food supplies more efficiently, with greater use of substitutes, and with equal treatment for all.

Hitler may not see the irony of it, but this system brings him to communism, from which he professes to be so eager to "save Europe."

Give Up "Makeshift" Constipation Remedies!
Why fool with constipation? Why try to combat the trouble after it has already made you miserable?
It may well be that your constipation is caused by too little "bulk food" in your diet. For medical science warns that lack of "bulk" is one of the commonest causes of constipation.
If yours is this kind of constipation, those purges and cathartics can give you, at best, only temporary relief. Eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, on the other hand, corrects the cause by supplying the "bulk food" you lack and must have! Enjoy this crisp, crunchy cereal daily, drink plenty of water, and like so many others, you'll join the Regulars! ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, see a doctor.

RED RANGE

THE STORY SO FAR: Forced to run from the law to save his life when he is suspected of being the notorious "Comanche King," Con Cameron is trying to prove his honesty. With his pal, Caramba Year, he is working for Topeka Tenison, owner of the Broken Wheel ranch. Nevil Lowe, marshal of the neighboring town of Tivan, is after him but doesn't yet know that the "Twenty Johnson" of the Broken Wheel is the man he suspects of being Comanche King. Lowe's sister, Janet, is staying with the Tenisons. They are deeply attached to her, having lost their only child, a boy, when he was kidnapped many years before. On their way out to the ranch after persuading Tenison to give them the job, Con and Caramba met Monk Irby, one of the Megeath crowd. Megeath and Dud Paramore, leader of another band of outlaws, hate both Nevil Lowe and the Broken Wheel outfit. In the fight which followed their meeting with Irby, Con knocked out Irby. Then he and Caramba fought off more of Megeath's men to protect Janet Lowe. Con finds the Graces, a family of "nesters," shot and suspects Monk Irby. Topeka sends him into town for a doctor, with instructions to tell the constable, Janton, and no one else, about his suspicions. Janton doesn't say much, but clearly implies that he doesn't want to have anything to do with it. He refuses to arrest Irby or even to tell where he is. Con decides to look for Irby himself and is attacked by the Latimers, who are also enemies of the Broken Wheel. Now continue with the story.

He rode a little forward, lifting his hand.

few miles. Perch reined in before dusk and sat comfortably with leg around the saddle horn, to make a cigarette and beam paternally upon Skeets.

"Now, son," he said genially, "you-all will be safe. Just keep 'em a-going the way you see me do. Some of them horses I seen come along as colts and branded and rode. Just follow 'em and remember they'll be doing what they think I'd want 'em to be doing."

"You take care of Old Folks," Skeets called as he whirled his horse. "Be seeing you!"

"Be seeing you!" Caramba echoed, grinning at Con. "You take care of yourself, boy!"

He spurred after Skeets and from the edge of a ridge his high yell carried to Perch and Con:

"Aiiih-aiih-aaaaiiah! Yeeeh-pah!" "Happy jigger," Perch commented, grinning. "Well, once I was a young sprout like that, full of vinegar; interesting to myself and other folks. Most cowboys don't get old—don't live long enough! But the ones that do, they ought to look ahead and figure on owning his own outfit, yes, sir! No use and no sense of ending up like me or old Step—"

"Who's Step?" Con asked idly. "Ain't you seen him around the place? He keeps to himself a lot. Got him a li'l' adobe alongside some of the Mex' help. Putters around. He's crippled in one leg account of some horse rolling on him, one time. Step mostly. Gafford's his go-by. I wouldn't be surprised if old Step one time rode more high lines than he rode range. But old as he is, I wouldn't say it loud!"

They ate the steak and eggs and fried-apple pies for supper and played a few hands of mild stud poker afterward. The next morning the doctor went back to Onopa. Con harnessed the doctor's heavy black horse to his buggy and asked about Mrs. Gracey and the boy.

"The kid's all right. Keep him in bed for a day or two and he'll be pawing the air to get out. But his mother—it's a matter of her constitution. If she should happen to take a turn for the worse, Mrs. Tenison will send one of you in for me. I'll come as soon as I can."

When the doctor's buggy had disappeared, Perch suggested that Con ride to White Rock Pasture for a routine look at the horses there. Con saddled the black he had ridden once before. As he shoved his carbine into the scabbard, Janet spoke behind him.

"If you'll catch me that sorrel," she said, "I'll see you. I've just got to get out of the house for a while!"

The horses went nose-to-nose across the yard and Con opened a gate in the wire fence, let Janet pass and closed it behind them. Then they trotted out over rolling range with the hills far ahead of them. Con looked stonily before him.

"What's to be done about hunting down Gracey's murderer, do you know?" Janet asked him suddenly.

"Unless word was sent to your brother, and he does something—not a thing!"

"From what that amazing little boy said, you have an idea about the murderers; who they are."

"Monk Irby. Friend of Slash Oxweld's. But nothing will be done from Onopa. Gracey and Constable Janton were on the outs. He's glad that somebody did what he didn't have the nerve to do. He told me so."

"I never have thanked you for what you did the other night," she told him abruptly, so that he twisted his head to stare. "You know how much I thank you for that other time, at our house, for saving me from Dud. That was the bravest thing! Nevil said the same."

"I never thought about it as being brave. It just seemed like one of those things that'll cause a lot of trouble, but—need to be done. That must be one of the manadas ahead."

The bay stallion and his harem were crossing a flat below them. He saw the riders and threw up his head defiantly.

"Are those the cowboys from the line camp?" she asked.

"Don't think so," Con replied, staring at the tight little knot of men coming over a rise toward the mares. "I wish I had a pair of glasses."

his hand. They saw him, but came dusk and sat comfortably with leg around the saddle horn, to make a cigarette and beam paternally upon Skeets.

"Get back over the ridge!" he snapped at her. "I think I've got the best of this. Get back! Fast!" He was hardly conscious of the sorrel's thundering hoofs behind him. The rifleman was bringing his saddle gun to bear and the other men brandished pistols. Con squeezed trigger and saw the bullet kick up dust beyond the horses a hundred yards away. Then he corrected his aim and fired three fast shots at the man with the rifle.

With the shots the other riders fired quickly at him and ducked, to dart to the side so that ten yards separated each from his neighbor. Their lead fell short. The rifleman had not loosed his slug. He dropped the carbine and swayed, holding his body with both hands as if cold—or suffering a stomach-ache. But he stayed with the horse and it slowed to a trot, then a walk. Con fired grimly at the others in turn. But they jerked on the reins and went farther right and left.

The rifleman was now clinging to his saddle horn. All fight seemed gone from him. He got the horse turned and spurred him to a run. Then the horse of the man nearest him came down with suddenness that catapulted his rider straight ahead. The cowboy seemed to twist purposefully in air and struck the ground on his feet. He ran two long paces forward before he stumbled.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Is Infidelity a Reason for Divorce?

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

AS IT is not humanly possible for any man and woman to continue to regard each other through the eyes of young lovers, a question all women should ask themselves is: "what percentage of that old glamour, devotion, confidence, admiration am I taking with me into the hard middle years?"

You can't take it all. Nobody ever did. When any woman tells me that she and her Algonquin feel toward each other today exactly as they did on that June morning 17 years ago, when to the strains of Mendelssohn, in a bath of roses and sunshine, they came down the church steps together, I merely feel that she is weak-witted. Or I give Algonquin's calling list a pretty sharp glance.

NOT IN HEAVEN

Whatever the proverbs tell us, the fact remains that while marriages may indeed be "made in Heaven" their success depends on such down-to-earth qualities as patience, kindness and confidence. The "Wanda" whose problem Kathleen Norris discusses this time, is the wife of a man she and her daughters adore. Until now her life has been happy and secure. Should she divorce her husband for being unfaithful to her? Or should she just "take it" for the sake of the children? You will be interested in reading why she should "take it," and why she will win by doing so.

quiet young girl we have known for some years; she works in the same office as my husband. Something in a glance this girl gave him from time to time disturbed me in a way I cannot describe. For the first time in my life sickening suspicion and jealousy began deep within me, and I felt faint.

"I said that I was surprised to see Rose there as I would not suppose that she could belong to the club. My husband said quietly that she must have a guest card. Going out, I stopped at her table, was introduced to the young lieutenant she had with her, and asked whose guest she was. She answered "Carroll's."

"That she would call him by his first name was a shock to me; later I spoke to him about it. He said that all the girls at the office were entertaining our soldiers, but that he would like to know who the deuce that man was. Three times later he repeated this, in a musing sort of way. Finally he said he thought he would telephone her and find out. He made a little fuss looking up her telephone number, and I think then that I knew. For Carroll has often had to telephone Rose from the office, and knows her number well. Only he didn't know that I realized that.

"I stood it for two weeks, every word and glance of his confirming my fears. Then I asked him, and he admitted that he and Rose have been lovers for more than three years. He told me that if I would divorce him he would of course marry Rose; that he loved her. But he does not want me to divorce him, feeling that it would hurt the girls. Tell me what to do! Am I to take this sitting down, let it go on, suffer the ruin of my life and the breaking of my heart, and remain sweet and serene, the happy wife of that wonderful man and the mother of his three beautiful girls?"

Well, I think the answer to that last question is a qualified "yes." But it won't break your heart nor ruin your life, and the sooner you take Carroll down from his pedestal and begin to regard him as a mere man, capable of weakness, susceptible to flattery and willing to satisfy his vanity by an occasional extramarital conquest, the happier you will be.

Divorce Brings Misery. To give him a divorce would make you all miserable; Carroll, Rose, yourself and the girls. This is one of the most expensive mistakes that a wife can make, and it inevitably ends in disaster.

Instead, make yourself so charming, so complete, so entirely self-sufficient a woman that Carroll can't help comparing you, in your competence and beauty and security and proud motherhood with the home breaker with whom he now fancies himself in love. You hold all the winning cards, and Rose knows it.

Pygmy Shrew

The world's smallest mammal is the American pygmy shrew, cryptotis parva, which is an inch and a half in length and weighs one-seventh of an ounce, says Collier's. Although resembling a mouse, it is not a rodent, but an insectivore; and its litters contain from five to seven young, each about the size of a pea. Incidentally, this animal twitches its snout so rapidly that photographs of it, even when taken at 1-200th of a second, are blurred.

Pan-Americanism Dominates W S C S Meeting Here

Local committees of the W. S. C. S. developed a Latin American theme in decoration for the luncheon served Thursday to the members of Zone 3 in all day session here, as well as in appointments for the Methodist church. The Latin-American motif was in keeping with the conference topic "Good Neighbors".

More than 100 persons were served a plate lunch in the city fire hall at long tables featuring gaily colored bowls of flowers and napkins printed in Mexican design, and serapes.

The committee arranging the lunch included Mrs. John Haynes, general chairman; assisted by Mrs. Joe Smith, Mrs. Claude Roberts, Mrs. John Townsend, Mrs. John Blumquist, Mrs. J. A. Walling, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Charles Garrett, Mrs. Jarvis, and Mrs. Fred Brundrett. All members of the society took part in preparing the plates.

Mrs. E. G. Cooke and Mrs. A. D. Jameson arranged for special music. Miss Minnie Friend was in charge of flowers and decorations.

Guests entering the church were registered in the local society's wood bound scrap book decorated in Mexican style. Luncheon tickets were hand painted cards of similar design. They were made by Mrs. Paul Dupuy, who also painted water color posters picturing south of the border scenes with greetings written in Spanish.

Tropical pot plants, colored gourds, flags and baskets of flowers furthered the atmosphere of Pan-America.

Unable to sell beer on election day, the Cap Davis Cafe early ran out of a rationed supply of bottled pop, but the thirsty public kept demanding something cool to drink. Mrs. Davis remembered there had been an age when lemonade was considered something pretty elegant in the way of refreshment, so she whipped up a dish. It must be a favorite yet, because she sold out as fast as she could make it up.

proposing an amendment to Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas by adding a new section thereto to be known as Section 49a, requiring all bills passed by the Legislature on and after January 1, 1945, appropriating money for any purpose to be sent to the Comptroller of Public Accounts for his approval, and fixing the duties of the Comptroller with reference thereto; authorizing the Legislature to provide for the issuance, sale, and retirement of serial bonds, equal in principal to the total outstanding, valid, and approved obligations owing by the General Revenue Fund on September 1, 1943; providing for the submission of this amendment to the voters of this State; prescribing the form of ballot; providing for the proclamation and publication thereof; and providing for the necessary appropriation to defray necessary expenses for the submission of this amendment.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto, immediately after Section 49, a section to be known as Section 49-a to read as follows:

"Section 49a. It shall be the duty of the Comptroller of Public Accounts in advance of each Regular session of the Legislature to prepare and submit to the Governor and to the Legislature upon its convening a statement under oath showing fully the financial condition of the State Treasury at the close of the last fiscal period and an estimate of the probable receipts and disbursements for the then current fiscal year. There shall also be contained in said statement an itemized estimate of the anticipated revenue based on the laws then in effect that will be received by and for the State from all sources showing the fund accounts to be credited during the succeeding biennium and said statement shall contain such other information as may be required by law. Supplemental statements shall be submitted at any Special Session of the Legislature and at such other times as may be necessary to show probable changes.

"From and after January 1, 1945 save in the case of emergency and imperative public necessity and with a four-fifths vote of the total membership of each House, no appropriation in excess of the cash and anticipated revenue of the funds from which such appropriation is to be made shall be valid. From and after January 1, 1945, no bill containing an appropriation shall be considered as passed or be sent to the Governor for consideration until and unless the Comptroller of Public Accounts endorses his certificate thereon showing that the amount appropriated is within the amount estimated to be available in the affected funds. When the Comptroller finds an appropriation bill exceeds the estimated revenue he shall endorse such finding thereon and return to the House in which same originated. Such information shall be immediately made known to both the House of Representatives and the Senate and the necessary steps shall be taken to bring such appropriation to within the revenue, either by providing additional revenue or reducing the appropriation.

"For the purpose of financing the outstanding obligations of the General Revenue Fund of the State and placing its current accounts on a cash basis the Legislature of the State of Texas is hereby authorized to provide for the issuance, sale, and retirement of serial bonds, equal in principal to the total outstanding, valid, and approved obligations owing by said fund on September 1, 1943; provided such bonds shall not draw interest in excess of two (2) per cent per annum and shall mature within twenty (20) years from date."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State of Texas, at the next general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1942, at which election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots, the words:

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Hitler found out that his high powered mechanized and motorized army bogged down in the snow and mud of the Russian Winter. Although our Army is largely mechanized the cavalry horse is still a highly essential factor in this mounted division and in the Field Artillery. The Army also maintains remount farms where many cavalry horses are bred and raised.

These select horses cost from $100 to $165 and our crack cavalrymen are expert riders and carry on the traditions which have followed the cavalry from the earliest days of the Army. Purchase of War Savings Bonds will insure good mounts for the Cavalry. You and your neighbors buying War Bonds and Stamps regularly every pay day can help buy these horses for the U. S. Cavalry. Invest at least 10 percent of your income in War Bonds.

Research Tests Alter Bomb Fighting

Fire Boys Learn New Methods Of Bomb Control

New instructions in fighting fire bombs have been announced as a result of extensive research by technicians in the United States and England, it is reported by Marvin Hall, State Fire Defense Coordinator.

In a communication to Fire Chief Ed Barnard, Mr. Hall stated, "All civilians should become familiar with the new and safer method of fighting incendiaries, described in the latest instructions released by OCD. These are by OCD technicians and the Chemical Warfare Service of the U. S. Army. The new method has already been adopted in England and New Zealand."

Chief Barnard said that the most important change in technique is that which calls for a jet of water instead of a spray. A speedy attack on the bomb with a jet of water will knock the bomb out in less than one minute, thus saving valuable time which can be used in attacking other bombs nearby before they can start serious fires. Sand is not to be used except where water is not available or where the glare of the bomb can be seen by enemy flyers, he said.

The old method, Chief Barnard pointed out, was to extinguish the bombs with sand and the use of fine water spray, a shovel and buckets of sand. None of these actually extinguished the bomb, but merely retarded its burning and held down the damage it could do.

Practice incendiary bombs which were given the fire department by the local Civilian Defense Council to be used for the purpose of teaching the public methods of extinguishing incendiaries, were given a trial test by the firemen some time ago and found to be faulty. Only one of half a dozen tried burned furiously as they should, so the idea of a public demonstration was abandoned. Maybe it is just as well now, since the methods which would have been taught have now been declared obsolete.

Briefly, the latest instructions are:

1. Bring your fire fighting equipment to the scene at once.
 2. Shoot a stream of water directly at the bomb.
 3. Then use the jet, quickly, to quench the fragment and remains of the bombs, and any fires that might have been started.
 4. Be absolutely sure all the fire is out before you leave the scene.
 5. Use a coarse spray only where scattering of metal must be avoided.
 6. Use sand only if bomb falls where it is not likely to start a fire, or if water is not available.
- Chief Barnard pointed out that the desirable jet of water can be obtained from a garden hose, any type of water fire extinguisher, a pump-tank extinguisher, or a stirrup pump.

Thanks to all of you for your splendid support in Saturday's election. May I ask for your continued support and I will appreciate the support of all other voters in the runoff election Aug. 22.

Restrictions On New Auto Tires Are Tightened

J. F. Bullard, chairman of the Aransas County War Price and Rationing Board, announced today that new rationing restrictions have tightened the list of eligibles for new tires, tubes and recapping. "This revision was an obvious necessity," he said, "and it will help to relieve the critical rubber tire situation."

This new amendment to the tire rationing regulations, Mr. Bullard said, makes it plain that only vehicles engaged in service essential directly to the war effort or to the public health and safety are to be eligible. This will cut off from eligibility for tires all privately operated trucks carrying alcoholic beverages, soft drinks and similar beverages, tobacco products, confections, candy, flowers, toys, novelties, jewelry, furs, radios, phonographs, musical instruments or other luxury goods, unless the transportation of such things is only incidental to the main service performed by the vehicle.

Also dropped from the eligibility list A are private carriers providing transportation for incidental maintenance services such as the cleaning of office buildings, or for repairing portable household effects, or providing materials for services solely for landscaping or beautification of any construction project or establishment.

"The new amendment to the regulation gives our board the opportunity of sifting applications with this yardstick: Does that truck or vehicle contribute directly to the war effort, or to the public health and safety," Mr. Bullard said. "We know that vehicles working on war projects must be served first. All others will have to wait."

Common Sense Will Help Smash Summertime's Heat

Dress Lightly, Eat Little but Often, Relax, Don't Get Too Much Sun at One Time, Is Way to Keep Cool.

By CLIFF LANGE
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Don't let the heat get you down! Don't let it keep you from working, or eating or enjoying your spare time. Don't let it keep you from sleeping and getting that so very necessary rest.

Science and 1942 ingenuity have gone a long way helping you combat the heat waves. Combine this with the basic aid of forgetting the temperature, and you'll be well on the way to whipping those red hot, "mid-summer blues."

True, you can't do much about lowering the sizzling temperature. You can do a number of things to help keep yourself cool as you go through your daily routine.

For instance, the first thing to remember to do is to "dress cool." Don't wear heavy, tight fitting clothing.

Clothing has been devised—from the time when animal pelts were the style both for man, woman and grown-up children—as a protection from the elements whether sun, rain, snow, sleet or biting wind. Don't use winter style of dressing for the summertime. Shed some of those clothes!

You ladies who are handy with the scissors, needle and thread can whip together some dandy summer work, play or "visiting" dresses easily enough these days. There is still plenty of dress material to be had. Ready-made dresses are also plentiful, and reasonably priced, too.

Take a look at your favorite store. You'll see both plenty of dresses, and material to make them. There is no reason, either, why the men, young and old, shouldn't be dressed to combat the heat. Many men, when asked why they are dressed so "hot" in the summertime, usually give an answer which seems to suggest they "hadn't thought about it" or "were too busy" to do anything about it. Meanwhile they continue working with the sweat rolling down their temples.

Men are slow in changing to new, even a more comfortable style of clothing. Those that aren't so conservative aren't getting shoved around by the heat this year like their more backward brethren are. They were more willing—i.e., the married men, the fathers—to see their daughters going around in shorts, rather than themselves. When reality it was the men, not the women that needed them!

Maybe, when shortages in cloth, dress goods begins to appear, which it hasn't, as yet, it will be the usual thing for the men to be wearing them. What difference does it make whether they are worn driving

—King Cold—
This method of keeping cool (or cold, if you prefer) is just one of many hundreds of ways available. This young fellow has a look of doubt, a stiffness of form which causes a person looking at him to enjoying your activities during the heat of the day. Check up on yourself. See how much of the food you are eating is "acid" producing. If you aren't sure, ask your doctor. He'll be able to tell you without much ado. A trip straight to the drugstore from his office in case he has prescribed for you either to counteract an acid condition, or prevent one, is then in order.

If you haven't noticed already, at the drugstore you'll see many preparations to prevent, allay, or stop the personal outward discomforts due to the heat.

Talcum powder, salt tablets, soaps, sunburn salves and oils—such are just a few of the many articles available which are almost a necessity around the home during the torrid time.

It is during these hot months when the very youngest, and the oldest suffer the most. Infants, not being able to express their displeasure at being uncomfortable in any other way than their only way, a reasonable crying spell, or a healthy wail, should be closely watched.

They should be dressed with a minimum amount of clothing. Either next to nothing, or nothing. The coolest side of the house, or out on the porch, or in the shade beneath the tree is the spot for them.

wonder whether this is the best method to defeat the heat of summer. Perhaps it is just a spirit of contemplation which has overcome him—lifted him above all mortals, away from mundane thoughts. Or is it?

Best Way

This is one of the nation's favorite ways of cooling off. It doesn't make any difference whether you swim in a private pool, a park, river, pond lake or sea—it does the trick. The summer sun, in seeming retaliation, shows its resentment on thousands of swimmers every day by giving them a severe case of sunburn, or blistering.

Enjoy your swim, but don't take too much of the sun at one time.

who complain. They, too, should be made as comfortable as possible. They, too, are the ones who should be reminded that what they formerly used to do, "just to help out," shouldn't be done in the hot weather. For there is a debilitating effect of the sun quickly noticeable on the aged and weak.

One of the pleasures of the summer months are the outdoor picnics, the family reunions, the parties and fishing trips both for the youngsters and the grownups.

Although rubber restrictions will cut down on many of the long auto trips on such picnics and outdoor excursions, it won't—at least it shouldn't for the ingenious—cut down on the outings held in the nearby woods, or even in the side, or back.

It is on such picnics, and side-yard excursions that real summer time meals, old style "Dutch Lunches" can be served. Meals having salads, cold cuts, cheeses, lemonade, iced-tea, iced-coffee, and other fruit juice drinks.

The little extra equipment needed for such meals that break the monotony of eating indoors all the time is available at any of the local retail stores. It used to be during the not far past days that it was thought necessary to travel 15 to 50 miles to a favorite picnic spot. There there would be the steak fry on the fire pits, or the weiner roast.

Today, with plenty of room available, alongside or behind the house, or in the field or woods near home, there is no reason why similar "picnic" equipment isn't available. The war hasn't stopped, in fact, couldn't stop, American ingenuity.

Many times, too, in the desire to cool off there were long trips to distant pools, or "favorite" spots on lakes and rivers. Today, when rationing has stopped that there is no reason why the shower equipment at home shouldn't be given an extra workout.

You know, just because it used to be only the kids who had a good time with the outdoor shower is no reason why you couldn't enjoy one, too. Of course if you dislike the idea of imitating the kids and enjoying the whirling spray, why not rig up an outfit for you and the rest of the older persons.

Such an outfit could be dropped from one of the trees in the yard, or attached to a post used for the washline.

This war has brought the people of the nation more closely together than at any time since the advent of the automobile. This year there'll be more local entertaining, visiting, and genuine social life than ever before.

Common sense will take care of most of the heat's oppressiveness. That which can't be taken care of should be treated as a matter of fact. A matter of, "Well, this is the summertime. It should be hot."

This summer has seen, and will continue seeing until the days cool off, plenty of local picnics in which various successful means to combat the heat have been achieved.

You can do more about taking care of the heat by actually doing something to counteract the effects of it. Talking about the weather, about "how hot it is" isn't doing you any good, nor the person saying it.

You got to help yourself, and those not able to help themselves, if you want to let Mr. Sun continue working while you do.

Bill Saroyan, who hasn't had a play on Broadway this year, has received more publicity than those who have presented hit attractions.

Things to waste paper about: First movietown was criticized for making films about the war—warmongers, etc. Now they are being scolded because they don't make enough war pictures . . . Perhaps another reason you never heard any more twaddle about stopping "B" pictures is that Bs make almost as much as As . . . Add little ironies: The cast of soldiers in "This Is the Army" (who get $50 per month) find it swell pay for acting. Most of them appeared in turkeys which rarely allowed them to average that much . . . Vaudeville probably will never really bloom again. Because new talent aims for the networks where salaries are buskier and where there are no one-night stands—or irritable inn-keepers.

Those debating radio shows (not you, Town Hall Meeting) will never be as popular as silk hosiery on shapely legs. Depend too much on tedious statistics for their arguments . . . We can remember all the way back when Broadwayites were groaning that the dimout would hurt show business, which has never been healthier in summertime . . . Don't get the idea that all soap operas on the radio are corny. A few are well written. "Against the Storm," frixample . . . The short about the American soldier, directed by Garson Kanin, with Spencer Tracy doing the commentary, makes thrills waltz along your spine . . . Tin Pan Alley is in a slump. Not one of the songsmiths has thieved a Tchaikowsky melody in six months.

Midtown Vignette: A girl ankled into the office of a magazine editor and sobbed a hard luck tale of no coin, no job, no friends . . . "If I had only one good looking dress," she said, "I'd have a chance of getting a job. Why is it everybody will bet on horses, but nobody will bet on a human being?" . . . Touched by her plight, he asked her what he could do . . . "Just give me a chance," she told him, "buy me a wardrobe and you'll never regret it" . . . That was three months ago—and he paid the bills for a complete layout of apparel for her . . . Today, she is one of the high-priced models—smiling from newsstands and shop windows at you. The other night she looked at him in the Stork Club—and turned away without even a hello . . . He sent her a note which read: "I'm back to betting on horses. The other day I bet $50 on Whirlaway. He lost—but after the race—he waved and said 'Hello!'"

Oop: Reader's Digest pats Sir Willmott Lewis for saying: "Dorothy Thompson has discovered the secret of perpetual emotion."

Well, most of us have said that about Kath Hepburn and Tallulah Bankhead—but wotta short memory the Digest editors have. They ran a piece in May, 1940, by Katharine Best titled: "Perpetual Emotion."

New York Heartbeat: Faces About Town: Fannie Hurst at 7:15 ayem in the park airing her pups . . . William Holden, of the moonpitchers, in his soldier uniform . . . The Ray Bolgers showing some of the troops from Fort Broadway Theater the Stork club . . . The woman with the deer on leash . . . Jan Struther, author of "Mrs. Miniver," in the Biltmore Fountain Room . . . Harry Hopkins, with two newspaper men, talking only about his betrothed . . . Greta Garbo on a bike in Central Park.

EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOP

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—I went to New York city one day and had an interesting talk in the afternoon with a committee of home economics teachers working in the public schools of New York city. They have a summer workshop in which they are discussing school curricula. The home economics teachers feel that every child should have training in this subject in the seventh and eighth grades and one year in high school. They believe this training is valuable to both boys and girls.

It is important in learning how to run their homes and how to live better, and for many will point the way to a foundation for a type of training which will give them opportunities for a variety of jobs.

In the evening I went over to Brooklyn to a forum in the Girls Commercial high school, where Mr. Agar, vice president of Freedom House, Dr. Clyde Eggleton of New York university, and Mr. Clarence Street spoke. It was an interesting evening and some of the questions at the very end were valuable.

HOUSING FOR NEWLYWEDS
Next evening was spent going to Saybrook, Conn., to visit my friends, Miss Esther Lape and Miss Elizabeth Read. On my way back on the train, I found myself sitting next to a charming young woman who was on her way to visit her brother in camp.

We passed a number of government housing projects and she suddenly said that one of the great needs of young married couples was for good housing at a cost of from $40 to $45 a month. It seems to me that this could be done by private enterprise when the war is over in greater volume than has ever been done in the past. It is one of the things which will keep up our production of certain basic goods.

Next day the rain came down in sheets and I was inclined to feel that the elements were very unkind, for we had planned an outdoor picnic for the grownups and children. However, in the evening we had the picnic in the playroom and it turned out to be a very pleasant and informal evening.

In the afternoon I spent an hour at the Hudson Shore Labor school, where they had a two-day conference on what trade union women can do in their homes to help the war effort. They covered nutrition and various conservation projects, gas and sugar rationing and price regulation. I think everyone will get a much better conception of the reasons why these things are being asked of civilians. This will be a help, for there is still a certain amount of confusion which should be cleared up.

FARMERS AND WEATHER
HYDE PARK, N. Y.—Growers of fruit say we have had too much rain this summer and it has hurt the crops. Up in Rhinebeck, a project was started to provide pickers by bringing a group of young girls together to be paid by the farmers according to the amount they picked. Great difficulties have arisen because they have not had enough picking to pay for board and lodging.

Many of them, of course, have counted on making a little money on the side. They felt, in addition, that they were performing a job that was useful to the country, since they had been told that labor was needed on the farm and was scarce.

No one can control the elements, however, and the farmer is always subject about by Dame Nature's whimsies. I think it is the occupation above all others that is filled with unknown hazards and requires more wisdom, foresight and hard work than any other occupation in the world. Probably this is why it also carries such great compensations and rewards. Many a man who has made his way in other lines, remembers his boyhood on the farm with gratitude and joy.

WARTIME FAMILY CARE
HYDE PARK, N. Y.—At Vassar college, one morning, it was most interesting to have a glimpse of the large group of children who, with their parents, attend the three weeks session of the Vassar Summer Institute for Family and Child Care Services in War Time. The children were at lunch when the morning meeting closed and we went off to see each group—the two, three and four year olds, and two older groups up to the age of 12.

One very small boy was placed in the corner of the room because, up to this time, he had always been in a high chair. Having walls on either side gave him a greater sense of security.

It has been said that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery. If older children only realized this, they would be in a state of constant pride over the influence which they exert on the smaller ones around them. The more mature person is, of course, the one who serves as a pattern. If the pattern is good, the imitation is helpful.

THE upper sketch shows a combination living and bedroom that was brought up to date with every inch of waste space used. The cushions (lower left) were replaced with a box-like compartment for bedding. This was made of plywood as shown at the lower right. It was padded across the front and ends with cotton batting, and covered with the couch material tacked in place through a 1/4 inch strip. Unpainted book cases were bought to go at the ends and the lid of the bedding compartment was painted to match these.

NOTE: A new couch cover, lamp shade, curtains or slip cover that you can make yourself may give your living room a fresh start. Book 1 in the series which Mrs. Spears has prepared for our readers shows you all the tricks. It contains 32 pages of fascinating new ideas for your home and working drawings to bring your old furnishings up to date. Send your order to:

IN THIS PAPER

COLLEGE football plans and aims seem to be obscured in a number of fogs and mists so far as the public is concerned. But I can give you one that isn't. This is Maryland university, where Clark Shaughnessy, late of Stanford and the T-formation, is the man on the job.

We have known Shaughnessy for a brief matter of 27 years, since he started coaching back around 1915. Outside of Lonnie Stagg, now with the College of the Pacific, this makes Clark either the dean of present-day coaches, or close to the mark. And I doubt that football has known any better all-around coach, or any coach with a finer influence on his football pupils.

The main point is that Shaughnessy and Maryland, with the full support of President Curly Bird, has set up a 1942 plan that is well worth looking at.

The Maryland System

"In this last spring practice," Shaughnessy said, "we had 87 men out who were divided into four teams, and matched together in games.

"But this is only a starter. Next fall I expect to have at least 500 Maryland students playing football.

And I might say I've been spending more time on fellows who never have played the game than on those who have. And it's surprising how many of these like the game and want to play it, once they get the general idea.

"All together in this country we should have over 200,000 young fellows playing football this fall, even though most of them will never make any first or second team."

A Few Arguments

In the course of an evening's conversation it is only natural that a few arguments should develop. One was the matter of the greatest full-back and the greatest running half-back.

Clark's selections were Norman Standlee of Stanford and the Chicago Bears for the fullback job, with George McAfee of Duke and the Bears on the running side.

Our two nominations were Bronko Nagurski at fullback with Cliff Battles as the top ball carrier.

The Maryland mentor was willing to admit that Nagurski was the best all-around football player he ever saw. But he refused to concede the point that any line-battering back could wreck an entire defense the way Standlee could. McAfee was a great ball-carrying back, but I'll string along with Battles.

About the 'T'

Coach Shaughnessy offered three solid reasons in support of football's T-formation.

"First," he said, "it is the type of game the players all want, since it depends more on speed and smartness than mere crushing bulk and power.

"Second, it is the type of play that appeals to the public since it is much more in the open.

"Third, it is the best type of play with which to win games. It is the most effective winning formation football has ever known. It is almost an unlimited threat against any form of defense. You will find the T-formation used more and more, wherever the material is in any way adapted."

Answering a Complaint

One of the main complaints against college football from many outsiders is this: That football is largely a game in which some 25 or 30 trained athletes perform for the benefit of some 30,000 to 50,000 spectators, who get no physical benefit at all.

He may not have the best 30 football players in the country—he doesn't look for anything like this. But he'd like to have the best 500 players, a much more important idea for the general good of all concerned, including the country at large. And to this football arrangement Shaughnessy also has added an all-around conditioning program for the entire student body, which is even more important.

Shaughnessy's idea is to fill all open fields full of football players, to bring them out by the hundreds, wonder whether this is the best method to defeat the heat of summer. Perhaps it is just a spirit of contemplation which has overcome him—lifted him above all mortals, away from mundane thoughts. Or is it?

'War Nerves' Even Disturbing Children

The war has created for children many serious problems which American parents and teachers must face, Dr. Clifford E. Erickson of the school of education, Northwestern university, asserted in a lecture of the summer session series at the Evanston, Ill., university.

Basing his conclusions on research studies and confidential documents regarding the effect of the war on English children, Dr. Erickson warned that under present conditions it is impossible to protect children from many life situations which have formerly been "tabooed."

"In many cases we can no longer keep children from knowledge of death, dying, disease, wounds, birth, sex, and human nature in the raw," he said, adding that as a result children are emotionally disturbed.

SEEMS as if a doffing of hats to Gene Autrey, who enlisted in the Army Air Corps, is indicated. "He will not receive a commission," announces the report. He'll get one, of course, eventually—he's bound to, because he's the stuff that officers are made of. But when so many men of the motion picture industry are stepping right out as officers at the start, isn't it swell of Gene to begin at the bottom? Reminds me of one movie executive who told me that he had applied for a commission as lieutenant colonel in the army; if he didn't get it, he'd stay out! P.S.—He didn't get it!

You really ought to see "Mrs. Miniver," if only to find out why the world's largest theater, the Radio City Music Hall, booked it for six weeks running, with 772,983 people seeing it during the first five weeks—a figure equalling the population of Boston, Mass.

The film version of Irving Berlin's "This Is the Army," the army show which delighted New York from the moment it opened, will be photographed in color, luckily. Irving Berlin will supervise the production, in Hollywood.

Robert Donat's first screen appearance since "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" will be made in "Sabotage Agent." It will be directed by Harold Bucquet, who has just finished "The Wolf Against Mrs. Hadley," and will be against in London.

Five years ago the Maine Development association sent Walt Disney the two young deer who served as models for the hero and heroine of his "Bambi." So a special premiere of "Bambi" was booked for Augusta, Maine, following the first showing of the picture in New York.

Daisy, who won fame in the "Blondie" series, recently whelped five pups, all of which are now the property of Penny Singleton because she has a large ranch. She named them, naturally, for the characters in the pictures. By the way, this is the only film series in which the original actors have worked as a unit throughout—Penny, Arthur Lake, Larry Simms ("Baby Dangling"), and Daisy.

Maybe Esther Williams started something when, wanting a souvenir that she could show friends who weren't in the movies, she bought a white satin bathing suit and had it autographed in black waterproof ink by every star on the Metro lot. Incidentally, though she's a swimming star, Esther really swims in "Andy Hardy's Last Fling"—usually Hollywood doesn't let an expert do what he or she is expert at.

The biggest stride of any regional radio network show has been made by "Grand Ole Opry," the Saturday night folk music program heard over NBC. It was the first of the in-person shows to make regular army camp appearances last fall, under the name of "Caravan." Now there are four road units touring the camps. One master of ceremonies has landed a network contract on the new CBS Caravan Hour.

To prove that Uncle Sam uses radio talent to the best advantage, take the story of Detroit's Frank Telford, director of the "This Is Our Enemy" series heard over Mutual Sunday nights. A former script writer for the Detroit board of education, Telford went to Washington without network experience, but with a briefcase full of ideas. Now he's made a niche for himself as a radio executive.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . All in one week Frank Morgan celebrated his 52nd birthday, began his 52nd feature picture, "White Cargo," and celebrated the completion of 25 years as a motion picture actor. . . Red Skelton says that he has played so many camp shows that every time he sees a soldier he goes in to his monologue. . . Jack Benny won't star in "The Meanest Man in the World"; it's said that after he read the final plans for it. . . Instead of giving his annual party for members of the "Big Town" cast at the end of the season, Edward G. Robinson gave them all war bonds this year.

Garden—Fresh Vegetables Bring Health to Your Table (See Recipes Below.)

Summer Salads

Salads with summertime meals form a perfect alliance bringing your family precious pep-giving minerals and vitamins. Vitamins A, B, and C are well represented in crisp celery, golden skinned carrots, rosy cheeked tomatoes, green glowing cucumbers and lettuce. Dress them up with a light liquid salad oil blended with seasonings to bring out the hidden flavoring of the vegetables, and you have a perfect warm weather meal.

*Tossed Garden Salad

Wash and drain dry your favorite salad greens—such as lettuce, romaine, watercress or endive; a combination of two or more may be used. Cut or break into pieces and combine with portions of diced celery, cucumber, green pepper, radishes and minced onion. Chill thoroughly. Then place in a salad bowl; add Basic French Dressing and bits of tomato. Toss lightly until well blended. This type of salad may also be served with just an oil and vinegar combination as a dressing.

Basic French Dressing.

(Makes 1/2 cup)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon paprika
Dash white pepper
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 cup mild salad oil
1/4 cup cider vinegar or lemon juice

Combine first five ingredients in a jar and blend well. Add vinegar, cover and shake; add oil and shake again thoroughly. Just before using, shake again. Or simply mix ingredients together in a bowl and beat with mixer until well blended.

Leftover meats and vegetables served daintily in lettuce cups make tempting main dishes for lunch or supper. Have a hot soup, potato chips, thin bread and butter sandwiches and fresh fruit to serve with salad. The next three salads are perfect as a main course.

Veal Salad, Summer Style.

(Serves 6)
2 cups cold veal, diced
1 cup string beans or celery or both
6 hard-cooked eggs
Salt and pepper
4 tablespoons salad oil
1 1/2 tablespoons vinegar
3 tomatoes
Mayonnaise
Lettuce and parsley

Chop eggs coarsely, combine with veal, oil, vinegar, salt and pepper. Let stand 30 minutes. Add mayonnaise to moisten. Arrange salad in a mound and garnish.

Jellied Green Pea Salad.

(Serves 6)
1 tablespoon gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup pea liquor

Lynn Says:

Save Washing Time: So many new demands are being made on your time these days, it is wise to make the best possible use of each minute. One way is in how you use your washing machine.

For instance, long washing is not necessarily good washing, and it wastes time. Soap undergoes a chemical change after it has been used a little while, suds "break down" and the soil is actually deposited again on the fabric. Then it is practically impossible to get the articles clean. Only individual experimentation can show how short to keep the washing of each load, and yet be thorough. Tests have revealed one woman taking only half the time of another to wash a practically identical washing, yet doing it better.

Twenty-minute soaking hastens washing by loosening soil. Then remove water by wringing the articles into the first washer full of sudsy water of the right temperature.

ABRAM: A PIONEER IN FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 12:1-9; Hebrews 11:8-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—Fear not, Abram: I am thy shield, and thy exceeding great reward.—Genesis 15:1.

Without faith it is impossible to please God (Heb. 11:6). The opposite is also true, namely, that faith always pleases God. As we read the Bible and consider Christian experience, it is evident that God is constantly longing to show Himself strong in behalf of them who believe Him (II Chron. 16:9). Abraham was not the first man to walk by faith. Before him came such men as Abel, with his acceptable sacrifice; Enoch, with his walk pleasing to God; Noah, who believed and obeyed; and others.

But Abraham was nonetheless a pioneer of faith. He had many other noble characteristics, and was a man of such distinction that his memory is venerated by Jews and Mohammedans as well as Christians. Yet his real claim to an outstanding place in history is that by faith he responded to God's sovereign act in choosing him to begin a new nation, to be His chosen people.

We note two important points about faith:

I. Faith Makes Demands.
In the very nature of things, faith calls for action consistent with belief. "Faith without works is dead" (James 2:20), that is, not a real faith at all. In Abraham's life (and in our life) faith calls for

1. Separation (Gen. 12:1).
"Get thee out" was God's command to Abraham. To accomplish His divine purpose God had to take him out of the heathendom of his fathers, and start anew. It is His command to His followers today, "Come out from among them, and be ye separated, saith the Lord."

Who will doubt that this is the crying need of the church today, for instead of the church being in the world seeking to win it to Christ, worldliness has come into the church and devalued its message.

2. Obedience (Gen. 12:4-6; Heb. 11:8, 9).

"Abram departed, as the Lord had spoken" (v. 4). He didn't know where he was going, but he did know who had called him, and he went. Faith knows God, and obeys Him without hesitation and without reservation.

Obedience is a virtue that needs to be revived, in the home, in school, in society, and especially in our relation to God, for there surely should be no disobedient children in the family of God. He merits and expects obedience.

3. Trust (Gen. 12:7-9; Heb. 11:10).
An assured reliance on the Word of God is a part of faith. God made a promise to Abraham. He accepted it, and worshiped. Here was no questioning, no bargaining, but simple trust in God's word. In fact, there was anticipation of even greater things to come (Heb. 11:10).

We need men of vision and that means we need men who by faith can see the unseen, who can see "a city which hath foundations" even in the midst of destruction and disorder. "In God We Trust" must be more than a motto on our coins if America is to survive.

II. Faith Brings Results.
The world wants to know if a thing works before accepting and approving it. Well, faith really does work! It brings

1. Blessing (Gen. 12:2, 3).
God is always on the giving hand. "I will bless" was His word to Abraham, not only for Abraham himself and for the great nation of which he was to be the father, but to "all the families of the earth" (v. 3). How gloriously that promise was fulfilled in the coming of Christ our Redeemer, who also was a "son of Abraham" (Matt. 1:1).

2. Protection (Gen. 12:3).
"I will curse him that curseth thee." That promise to Abraham is still binding and valid. God is not through with Israel. The nations and persons who have vented their hatred upon the children of Abraham need to take notice.

We need to be reminded that God's protecting care is just as sure over us who bear His name. We too are "safe in Jehovah's keeping," even in what is perhaps the darkest hour in the history of the world. Faith in God brings to us the protection of His almighty hand.

3. Fulfillment of Promise (Heb. 11:11, 12).
The entire promise to Abraham hinged on the birth of a son, something which was, humanly speaking, beyond all possibility. But because Sara, joining Abraham in believing God, "judged him faithful who had promised," it came to pass.

"With God all things are possible" (Matt. 19:26). He delights in doing the impossible in response to the faith of His children. Apart from that fact we might be fearful, yet despondent, but "with God" we say again, "All things are possible."

KAYS M KOLUM

The best bran muffins in the county are made by Mrs. Jimmy Hanway. They eat right up, and she says she makes them by the recipe on the Kellogg All Bran Package—with variations. The variations must make all the difference.

—K—
With the Hanway variations here is how it's done: Cream 2 tbs. butter with 1-3 cup honey or sorghum. Add 1 egg and beat well. Stir in 1 cup all-bran and a scant 3-4 cup sour milk. Allow to soak until most of the moisture is taken up. Sift 1 cup whole wheat flour with 1-2 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. baking powder, and 1-2 tsp. soda. Add to first mixture and stir until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin tins 2-3 full and bake in moderately hot oven (400) about 30 minutes.

—K—
This makes 12 small muffins which is just enough for me, especially with honey or Mrs. Booth's orange marmalade.

—K—
Gallant loser in the Saturday election, Emory Spencer dropped in to offer an apt simile, when and if, needed: "As stale as last week's campaign literature."

—K—
When Cap Davis took over the cafe Saturday night he had not learned of his wife's lemonade deal. Knowing they had not had enough drinks to sell, the sight of the $25 in the cash register gave him a shock, he was afraid Molly must have robbed a bank.

—K—
Helen Jane Sloan suggests a new chapter be written into the book of Etiquette which will point out that friends bearing gifts should present same when recipient may give the occasion his or her—as the case may be—undivided attention, especially birds.

THANKS

I wish to thank the Rev. Jas. F. Stanley, pastor of the First Baptist church, and his Board of Deacons for the use of their building upon the occasion of the recent zone meeting of the Corpus Christi District; and the city officials of Rockport for the use of the Fire Station where our ladies were privileged to serve dinner for the body; Supt. Black and the Board of Trustees of the Rockport Schools for the use of the chairs; Mr. T. C. Kelly for hauling the chairs to and from the place of the dinner, and all others who in any way contributed to the success of the occasion. The spirit of co-operation in Rockport is remarkable and one rarely met with, and it not only rendered our work pleasant that day, but profitable to all concerned.

ALMUS D. JAMESON, Pastor

EVERY PERSON

(Continued from page one) scrap collected by the committee would be disposed of and the proceeds given to an organization to be designated later.

The scrap metals will be collected opposite the court house square in front of the county tool shed. Citizens may leave their donations there, or they may call the committee man of their precinct and arrangements will be made to pick up the scrap.

Further information may be secured about any phase of the campaign by calling Chairman or any member of the committee.

"An increasing number of boys from this city are already seeing active service," he said. "We on the home front must see to it that industry shall not lack the materials needed for adequately arming and equipping them."

"Every housewife can play an important part in this drive. She should carefully inspect all of her house furnishings—to find out what equipment she has that has outlived its usefulness."

"An old iron pot or a knife in the kitchen, the steel springs of an old upholstered chair in the attic, some discarded pipe or heating equipment in the cellar, unused wire clothes hangers in the closet—these are a few of the items that will provide pounds and pounds of scrap."

"Waste kitchen pots, and rubber are also needed badly and should be turned in."

G. A. SMITH TELLS

(Continued from page one) ished putting a protective coat of paint on the canvas sacks, sealed in each 40 packages of cigarettes. They were hanging on the poop deck to dry when the torpedo hit the boat.

Around midnight one solitary piece of wreckage floated near the raft. A sailor suggested that the dark object might be one of the canvas bags. His companions scoffed at the idea, and advised him to "Shutup", such good luck was impossible. When the bundle floated near enough to be picked up, it was found to be one of the canvas bags—cigarettes and matches intact!

And that bag was the only piece of wreckage seen on the sea during the night.

Rescue came the next morning when a U. S. destroyer picked up the men on the raft. The ship had been advised of the location by the crew of a patrol plane which had seen the explosion.

Not all the survivors were saved by the life rafts. Two of the men had been picked up by the enemy submarine crew. They were taken aboard and questioned for three hours by the German captain who spoke excellent English. Then they were set adrift in a rubber raft, with four gallons of water and four loaves of bread and told the direction of nearest land. Using their shirts for sails they kept themselves moving until picked up by a Brazilian Tanker and were carried into Rio De Janeiro.

Among the crew of the Elliot who did not come up after the sinking was a sailor who had been aboard the Robin Moor when that ship was destroyed last year.

Joe Hawkins, young Aransas Pass man who has been in the merchant marine only a year, still has scars on his neck where wires from the radio aerial caught him in the first snap of the torpedoed ship. As the prow of the tanker rose into the air he was thrown clear and the wires broke.

Smith, Hawkins and their companions on the rafts were shipped into Port of Spain, Trinidad, by the destroyer, where they remained a month waiting for return passage. Smith has been a seaman for 20 years. He has been advised by physicians to stay at home and "take it easy" for a while. When he is fully recovered from the effects of his experience he is "shipping out again", he says.

New Cost Of Living Prices Must Be Filed

All retail merchants in Aransas County were reminded today by J. F. Bullard, chairman of the Aransas War Price and Rationing Board, that they must file with the local board by August 10, a list showing cost-of-living articles and their ceiling prices which the merchant has added to his stock since July 1.

"The filing of such lists by the tenth of each month is made mandatory by General Maximum Price Regulation No. 1", Mr. J. F. Bullard pointed out.

He also called attention to the fact that many retail merchants still have not filed the initial listing of cost-of-living articles and their ceiling prices, which should have been in the hands of the Aransas County War Prices and Rationing Board not later than July 1.

"Failure to file that list is a violation of the General Maximum Price Regulation," Mr. J. F. Bullard said, "and we have been advised that the state office of Price Administration staff is now making a field survey to determine how many merchants have not filed the list."

The results of this survey, he said are to be turned over to the OPA compliance and investigation department for immediate attention. Any merchant who still has not obtained a copy of the General Maximum Price Regulation, or of Bulletin No. 2—"What every retail Merchant should Know About the GMPR"—can get copies by applying to the office of the Aransas County War Price and Rationing Board, Rockport, Texas.
