Dates for Haskell County's fifth annual Miss and Little Miss Hey-Day Queen's Pageant have been set for August 8th and 9th, according to information released by Mrs. R. A. Lane, chairman.

This colorful event has gained momentum each year. Last year a total of 78 girls in the senior division vied for the title of "Miss Hey Day" and 32 for the Little Miss Hey Day.

The pageants are sponsored annually by the Haskell Chamber of Commerce and were originated as a means of creating the necessary funds to put into operation Haskell County's depot museum, and for the continued upkeep of the project.

The Miss Hey Day Queen contest will be staged at the Texas Theater on Thursday night, August 8th and the Little Miss Hey Day contest will be conducted at the Elementary school auditorium on Friday night, August 9th.

Approximately 50 men and women are working on the committees and sub-committees necessary for staging the contests.

Mrs. Joe Thigpen has been named overall chairman of the Little Miss Hey Day contest. County committee workers include Mrs. Tommy May, Mrs. Meta Kupat and Mrs. Frances Campbell, of Rule; Mrs. Anna Shaver and Mrs. Pete Tanner, of Rochester; Mrs. Thelma Edwards and Mrs. Laverne Mayfield, Weinert, and Mrs. Janna Stephens, O'Brien.

Out-of-town judges will officiate at the selection for both Miss Hey Day and Little Miss Hey Day.

Music will be provided through the courtesy of the M&S Music Company of Abilene for both contests.

The chosen Miss and Little Miss Hey Day will reign over the county fair this fall.

Sanchez Injured In Car Wreck Tuesday Night

A one-car accident at 11:30 p. m. Tuesday, demolished a 1961 Mercury, and sent James E. Sanchez, 20, of 706 North Avenue C, Haskell, to the Haskell Memorial Hospital in a Holden-McCauley ambulance.

Highway Patrolman, Stuart Erikson, who investigated the accident, said "Sanchez, alone in the car, traveling south, overturned four times on U. S. 277, one-third mile north of Haskell, and was pinned beneath the vehicle."

Sanchez suffered severe head laceration, contusion and concussion and third degree burns on the lower part of his back. At press time his condition was termed critical.

Erikson said that Sanchez evidently received the burns on his lower back from the muffler while he was pinned beneath the vehicle.

Mr. James received his B.S. degree from McMurry College, Abilene, in 1952; taught school nine years, and has spent seven years in full-time church service.

Week-day morning services will be held at 7:00 o'clock, and coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Weekday evening services are scheduled for 7:30, with a nursery provided. Services on Sunday will be at the regular hour. The public is invited to attend each and every service.

Rainfall For Year Still Far Above Normal

Although Haskell fell slightly below normal in rainfall during the month of June, the overall precipitation for 1968 is still far above normal, according to figures released by Sam Herren, "The Weatherman."

Normal rainfall for June is 2.81 inches. A total of 2.71 inches fell during the month.

Normal rainfall to date for 1968 is 11.93 inches; however, a total of 18.33 inches was registered through June, Herren pointed out.

Every month during 1968, with the exception of April and June, Haskell has topped normal rainfall figures, according to Herren.

Here is how the rains came during June: June 1, .94; June 2, .12; June 11, 1.59; June 17, .02. Total, 2.71. Greatest rainfall for the month was 1.59 on June 11.

A low of 59 degrees was registered on June 1 and on June 29th. A high of 99 degrees was reached on June 28th.

Nearly An Inch
The first day of July was ushered-in with almost an inch of rain falling here Monday night.

Sam Herren, "The Weatherman," reported 81 of an inch for Haskell.

Pierson Unveils Marker At Museum Dedication Held Sunday Afternoon

Dedication of the official marker designating the Haskell Railroad Museum of historical significance to the history of this community and state, and worthy of preservation was held Sunday, June 30th, at 3:30 p. m., with Dr. T. W. Williams, chairman of the Haskell County Historical Survey Committee, Master of Ceremonies.

Following the introduction of guests, Dr. Williams paid tribute to the many service clubs, organizations and individuals who have made the museum a reality.

Special recognition was given to the B&PW Club for the purchase of the Historical Building Medallion with interpretive plate, and to the Haskell Garden Club for their work in beautifying the grounds.

Invocation was given by Rev. H. O. Abbott Jr., pastor of the Haskell First Methodist Church.

In dedication remarks, Mrs. Luther Burkett quoted from the book, "Haskell County History," written by R. E. Sherrill... "Backward, turn backward, O' time in thy flight—Make me a child again, just for tonight."

"Our forefathers built this great land of ours and this museum we are dedicating today, will be a place to preserve the history of the past and will be a reminder to the honored memory of those who have gone before us," Mrs. Burkett said.

The first train rolled into Haskell in 1906. The Wichita Valley stopped passenger service in 1951 and the depot was purchased for $1.00 in 1963. At a cost of $800.00 it was moved to its present location east of Rice Springs Park. Since that time living quarters were built in the north section of the building for the "station master," Wayne Dilbeck; a new roof has been added, and with funds from the annual "Hey-Day" celebrations, and special donations from groups and individuals, many repairs have been made to the building. The museum today, filled with many items, is a special tourist attraction.

Application forms were available during dedication ceremonies for those desiring to become a part of the Texas Historical Foundation in its program to record, appreciate, mark, preserve and survey Texas history.

The marker which was unveiled by Alfred Pierson, retired Haskell banker, revealed the following inscription:

"Old Railroad Depot built by Wichita Valley Railroad Company when laying tracks into Haskell; Originally located on Depot Street, this building saw service during the era when large shipments of cotton, cattle, grain came through area. At train time, citizens would flock to depot to see travelers and hear news and gossip. After Wichita Valley stopped passenger service (1951), depot was made into a museum (1963); still contains original furniture. Recorded Texas Historic Landmark, 1968."

Following the unveiling of the marker, refreshments were served and a large number of persons filed through the museum.

Members of the Haskell County Historical Survey Committee include: Dr. T. W. Williams, chairman; Sue Pate, secretary; Mrs. J. G. Vaughtner, treasurer; Hallie Chapman, John Payne, Clay Smith, Mrs. Gene Overton, Mrs. Preston Weiner, Mrs. Fred Monke, R. C. Couch Sr., Claude Norman and Mrs. Felix Mallino.

Miller's Creek Project Moves Step Forward

AUSTIN—In a meeting of the State Water Board in Austin last week, members of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority were told the state has agreed to buy 29 per cent of the reservoir space for resale to the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority when need develops.

The state has agreed to buy 29 per cent of the reservoir space for resale to the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority when need develops.

Member cities are Haskell, Munday, Rule and Gortee. It was said that other cities... such as Aspermont, Knox City, Seymour and Throckmorton... later may want water from the reservoir.

The board was told by James Nichols of Fort Worth, engineer for the authority, that it needs $730,400 to purchase space to make the project work financially.

A $1.5 million grant from the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has been obtained. The authority plans to sell $3 million in bonds, backed by both water sales revenue and taxes, if needed, to the board.

He said Knox City and Aspermont have been negotiating for water from the authority but Seymour has not shown any interest.

Elections must be held in the four member cities to approve revised water purchase contracts to replace those voted nine years ago when the project first got underway.

Stitching And Stewing

By Ruth Ann Fessler
County H. D. Agent

A meal on a moment's notice; fresh corn in December; deer from last fall's hunt—all compliments of the home food freezer.

Freezing is one of the simplest, most popular methods of preserving foods at home. It retains the natural color, flavor, texture and food value of most fruits, vegetables, meats and baked goods.

The quality of the food frozen can vary with freshness of product used, methods of preparation, packaging and conditions of freezing.

For successful freezing, select good-quality products. Freezing will not improve low-grade food. Fruits and vegetables should be ready for table use.

Frozen meat, poultry, fish and eggs equal the fresh products in nutritive value. Retaining this value of fruits and vegetables depends largely on the treatment before freezing, storage temperature and method of cooking and serving.

Handling the food promptly also retains quality.

Undesirable flavors and appearance can be caused by improper packaging. The selection of containers depends on the type of food and personal preference.

But all materials should be moisture-vapor proof to prevent evaporation and retain the highest quality in frozen foods.

I would recommend rigid containers of glass, aluminum or plastic; and sheet wrappings of moisture-vapor resistant plastic films, freezer aluminum foil, heavily waxed freezer paper and laminated papers.

But, do not use ordinary waxed papers, household aluminum foil and cottage cheese or ice cream cartons.

All packages should be airtight. Freezer burn, or surface discoloration on meat and poultry, often results when meat or poultry dry inside the packaging.

Give special care to foods which may become rancid, a result of natural fats and oils being exposed to atmospheric oxygen. These foods include fish, shellfish, beef, pork, meat, poultry, cherries, peaches, asparagus and strawberries.

Freeze fruits and vegetables at 0 degrees F. or below. Meat should be frozen in a commercial plant at -5 to -20 degrees F. for best results.

Since how rapidly heat can emerge from the product is more important than air temperature, space packages of unfrozen food at least one inch apart. Put no more unfrozen food into a freezer than will freeze within 24 hours.

Monthly Report Is Issued By County Clerk

Report of fees by the County Clerk's Office for the month of June follows:

Recording fees, $123.00; mortgage fees, $10.00; marriage license fees, $10.00; final court fees, $32.00; court fees, $76.75.

Miscellaneous fees (assumed names), $28.00; and liquor applications, $10.00; County Judge Attorney, Sheriff fees, $93.00; fines collected, $160.00; Law and Doctor and Attorney fees, $40.00. Total $1,411.35.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE

Annual flowers give a lift to the landscape no matter on which side of the house they're planted. Here, petunias and sweet alyssum embellish the front while geraniums, marigolds and more alyssum change that odd area between path and wall into a gay flower bed with lots of blooms for cutting. See what a lot you get for the money when you buy and plant annual flowers?

The Good Earth

By Mrs. B. F. Cobb

Mrs. R. C. Couch Sr., Mrs. Jetty Clare and I visited Mrs. W. P. Trice to tour her garden of both vegetables and flowers.

Never have I seen so many different plants, of every description and kind on one plot of land, as the Trice's gardens are growing.

The flower garden, in front, is a riot of color from daisies, candytuft, petunias, zinnias, red phlox, carnations, sweet williams, larkspur, corn flowers, geraniums, stock, marigolds, cannas, red and orchid dahlias, snap dragons, yellow and bronze chrysanthemums (in full bloom) gladioli, vinca minor, periwinkles, portulaca, crinum lilies, tall stately hollyhocks, ornamental pepper, love lies bleeding, and last, but not least, a flower that looked like an orchid thistle, but has no stickers. I do not know the name of this plant, but I hope I am lucky enough to obtain some seed to plant in my garden next year.

Towering pecan trees turn the back yard into a shady retreat.

South of the house is a combination vegetable garden and an orchard. There are both black and dewberry vines hanging full of luscious ripe fruit.

The Trice's are still gathering strawberries from their patch. A Sapa plum tree is so loaded it seems as though the branches will break. Mrs. Trice has rhubarb, rape and Jerusalem artichokes in the south garden.

A long fence across the back is hidden by a Thompson seedless grapevine that is simply loaded with large clusters of berries.

Directly in front of the grapevine, peach trees are hanging with ripening fruit. Parsley and dill add, that just right, flavor to the dishes Mrs. Trice cooks. She also has chives in her large vegetable garden back of the grapevine covered fence.

The large garden in the back contains sweet potatoes, black-eyed peas, okra, cantaloupe, onions, Irish potatoes, corn and sweet pepper. Also several fruit trees.

The Trice's have planted white clover and alfalfa in their orchard to help keep down the weeds.

Each garden is graced by a long row of asparagus. A table in the back, near the utility house, was loaded with golden pumpkins. I asked Mrs. Trice if she grew them. She said "yes we did and I do believe the seasons are mixed up. Underwood and family of Iowa for these should not ripen until fall."

There was one more thing I noticed, cucumbers were growing on a wire fence. They had it covered. I wish the Garden Club could persuade Mrs. Trice to become a member. What an asset she would be.

HARD-HITTING WESTERN TALE IN 20TH-FOX'S 'BANDOLERO!' 20th Century-Fox's Western adventure, "Bandolero!" which opens July 12 at the Rule Drive-In Theatre, is a film loaded with stars, action and excitement. Starring James Stewart, Dean Martin, Raquel Welch, and Academy Award winner George Kennedy, the Panavision and DeLuxe Color attraction was produced by Robert L. Jacks and directed by Andrew V. McLaglen.

The story is set in the period immediately following the Civil War, when many returning soldiers discovered their homes in ruins and the countryside in general devastation. Discouraged by these war-wrought changes, many ex-soldiers took the easy way out by seeking adventure in the West. Many were attracted to the booming state of Texas, among them some who had decided that life was easiest with a six-shooter in hand—looting and killing all in their way.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Second Amendment to the Constitution of the United States says, "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed."

For nearly 200 years Americans have believed that they did indeed possess such a right as guaranteed by the Second Amendment.

The first federal gun law regulating the shipment of certain types of firearms in interstate commerce was passed in 1934. This action was the outgrowth of sentiment created by the attempted assassination of President Roosevelt in Miami, Florida in 1933.

In 1939, in a case known as the U. S. vs. Miller, the Supreme Court upheld the conviction of Miller for possession of an unregistered "sawed-off shotgun" as a violation of this Act. The Amendment did not guarantee the right to keep and bear such a firearm for the preservation and efficiency of a well-regulated militia.

More recently, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, writing in the New York University Law Review on the formation of the Declaration of Independence, had this to say:

"Despite these safeguards, the people were still troubled by the recollection of the conditions that prompted the charge of the Declaration of Independence that the King has 'effected to render the military independent and superior to the civil power.' They were reluctant to ratify the Constitution without further assurances, and thus we find in the Bill of Rights, Amendments 2 and 3, specifically authorizing a decentralized militia, guaranteeing the right of the people to keep and bear arms, and prohibiting the quartering of troops in any house in times of peace without the consent of the owner."

In 1941, shortly before Pearl Harbor, Congress passed what is known as the Property Seizure Act. It was made clear in the Law that nothing contained in the Bill should be construed to authorize the President to requisition or require the registration of firearms possessed by an individual for his personal protection or sport, nor that registration should be required. The Law said specifically that the President or any Board, Agency, or Officer, had no right to trespass upon the people in this respect.

The language of the Bill further stated that "in view of the fact that certain totalitarian and dictatorial nations are now engaged in the willful and wholesale destruction of personal rights and liberties, it is appropriate for the Congress to expressly state that the Law shall not be construed to impair or infringe the Constitutional right of the people to bear arms." When a U. S. Senator, the Honorable Hubert H. Humphrey, now Vice President, had this to say in connection with the Second Amendment to the Constitution:

"Certainly, one of the chief guarantees of freedom under any government, no matter how popular or respected, is the right of citizens to keep and bear arms...the right of citizens to bear arms is just one more guarantee against arbitrary government, one more safeguard against a tyranny, which now appears remote in America, but which historically has proved to be always possible."

In 1963, the Congress passed PL 88-198, amending the Arms Control and Disarmament Act. Section 33 of this Law contains the following provision with respect to the individual's right to keep and bear arms for legitimate purposes:

"Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to authorize any policy or action by any Government Agency which would interfere with, restrict, or prohibit the acquisition, possession or use of firearms by an individual for the lawful purpose of personal defense, sport, recreation, education, or training."

In recent debate in the U. S. Senate the Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court was quoted as follows:

"We may happily note that the Constitution has weathered a variety of crisis. Some were as acute as those we face today. Today, as always, the people, no less than their Courts, must remain vigilant to preserve the principles of our Bill of Rights, lest in our desire to be secure we lose our ability to be free."

The right of people of the United States to keep and bear arms is guaranteed not only by the Federal Constitution but by the Constitutions of thirty-five States.

Article I, Section 23, of our own Texas Constitution, says "Every citizen shall have the right to keep and bear arms in the lawful defense of himself or the State; but the Legislature shall have power, by Law, to regulate the wearing of arms, with a view to prevent to be free."

At the present time a majority of the States are seeking through agreements and Com-pacts, uniform firearm legislation. It would seem they should have time and opportunity to work their will.

Would it not be better to have local and State enforcement to keep guns out of the hands of criminals, addicts, minors and the mentally deficient, than to have Federal police knocking on our doors?

The point has been made that we register and license dogs and automobiles. True—by the States, Counties or Municipal governments.

Settlement Between Gen. Tele., Communication Workers Reached

SAN ANGELO—Settlement between General Telephone Company of the Southwest and Communications Workers of America, representing an 18.5 per cent increase in wages and benefits, was reached Friday (June 28), according to Owen N. Rabourn, director of personnel and chairman of the company negotiations committee.
The settlement will cost the company $3,670,000 over a three-year period and contained no significant changes from the company's final proposal of last Monday; however, wages will be retroactive to June 9, according to Rabourn.
The contract will expire June 27, 1971, except for pension plan benefits to be discussed in 1970.
"We feel that it is a very fine settlement considering the company's responsibilities to customers, employees and shareholders," Rabourn said.
L. Gray Beck, who will become president of General Telephone Company of the Southwest on July 1, issued this statement immediately following the settlement:
"We are extremely pleased that we were able to reach an agreement without inconveniencing our customers.
"More money is involved in this settlement than in any previous one in the company's history. The new contract together with the new 10 per cent surplus will increase the company's operating expenses substantially.

"As in the past, the management of General Telephone of the Southwest will do their utmost to absorb or minimize the effect of these increased costs by improving operating efficiencies and providing better tools and training programs which will improve employee production. However, it appears to us that pricing of telephone service will be a necessity in light of these developments."
Rabourn said the contract includes wage increases up to 7.3 cents per hour, full basic medical coverage for employees only, four weeks vacation after 20 years, and double time and one-half for overtime worked on holidays.
The 4300 employees covered by the new contract include 1300 employees of the former Southwestern States Telephone Company which is now a part of General Telephone of the Southwest. The Southwest Company operates in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Farmers, Ranchers Dependent On Guns To Protect Livestock, Crops

The Texas Farm Bureau has asked Texas Congressmen to support legislation to impose increased penalties on persons convicted of committing crimes with firearms.
The state's largest farm organization also urged support of strict law enforcement at every level of government, and said it opposed any legislation which will require further regulations or registration of guns.
In a letter to both Texas Senators and all Texas members of the U. S. House of Representatives, Texas Farm Bureau President Sidney Dean said farmers are deeply concerned about current proposals to register sporting firearms and to license owners of sporting firearms.
"Farmers and ranchers are dependent on their guns to protect livestock and crops from predators and pests, and to protect their families in isolated areas where police protection is scarce or non-existent," the farm leader said.

Dean quoted TFB policy dealing with the problem of firearms control which reads, in part:
"Because of the very precepts on which our nation was founded and on which our Constitution was written, we go on record as being opposed to any legislation requiring registration by or removing from the lawful citizen his right to own and use firearms for lawful purposes."
"In support of this policy," Dean wrote the Congressmen, "we respectfully request that you support legislation to impose increased penalties on persons convicted of committing crimes with firearms. We urge you to use your influence in support of strict law enforcement at every level of government. We request and urge you to oppose any legislation which will require further regulations or registration of firearms, ammunition, etc."

VIETNAM VIEW

as reported by
Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by GySgt. Bob Montgomery

"One of the biggest morale factors over here is a man's mail, so our motto is, 'move today's mail today,' and get it to its destination in the shortest possible time," said Master Gunnery Sergeant Frank L. Hernandez, 1st Marine Aircraft Wing postal chief, Reseda, Calif.
Doing a $2,000,000 a month business selling postal money orders and stamps, in addition to handling nearly 110,000 pounds of incoming mail daily, requires crews to work 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to accomplish their mission.
Included in the complex of the 1st Wing/1st Division Post Office is a unique unit, the III Marine Amphibious Force Master Directory section. This unit maintains a list by name, rank, service number and organization of every Marine serving in Vietnam. They also keep a similar list of all Navy doctors, hospital corpsmen, and chaplains assigned to Marine units in country.
Approximately 80,000 pounds of letters, magazines, newspapers and parcels are processed by this section each month because of incorrect or illegible addresses. "As long as we can make out the man's name, we can locate him and get his mail to him within days, if he is in country," said Gunnery Sergeant Lauren P. Bands, Havenlock, N. C., non-commissioned officer-in-charge of the directory section.
Staffing the postal complex are approximately 130 Marines from various units within the 1st MAW, 1st Division, III MAF headquarters, and a few from the 3rd Division.
The nerve center of the directory is the diary section. A status board is maintained there with information on the more than 420 Marine Corps units in Vietnam. Working around the clock, crews scrutinize the daily personnel reports from each unit, and extract the necessary information to make name stripes for the locator files and any changes on the board. The personnel report is then filed for future use or until another more recent one comes in from that particular unit.
"Using this system, we can double check on the whereabouts of any man from any of the above units. We can tell whether he was transferred to another unit in country, rotated back to the United States, or if he was evacuated as a casualty. If this is the case, we will know from the casualty report from his unit, where he is being treated and will be able to forward his mail without unnecessary delay," said Sgt. Bands.

Marines serving in the Da Nang area normally receive mail four to five days from the time of deposit at its point of origin. "However," said Hernandez, "the troops serving in the Northern I corps areas can expect their mail to be about a week old when they receive it. This is, of course, dictated by the accessibility to their unit's location." He added: "Even at its worst, the mail situation today is far better than it has ever been in a combat area before."
A Marine who followed an enemy soldier through tall elephant grass ended up as an uninvited dinner guest.
The Marine didn't bother to apologize to 20 North Vietnamese Army soldiers sitting around a fire when he sprayed M-16 gunfire into their area.
Sgt. Douglas Paulsen, 22, Sheridan, Wyo., a platoon commander with "I" Co., 3rd Bn., Twenty-seventh Marine Regiment, spotted an enemy soldier disappearing in the high grass.
Paulsen followed and came to the edge of a small valley. He peered down and saw the camp of 26 enemy soldiers.
Before Paulsen could report to his platoon, one of the enemy spotted him and shouted a warning. At the same time he pulled a grenade and was about to throw when Paulsen shot and killed him.
Instantly the camp was in an uproar. Paulsen's Marines immediately reacted to the firing and surrounded the small camp. So thick was the undergrowth that the Marines were on top of the enemy before each discovered the other's position.
In the close combat, there wasn't time to aim. Paulsen killed a soldier running to his light machinegun with one round fired from the hip.
The enemy's machinegun was captured along with several grenades. Fifteen enemy soldiers were killed.

Soil And Water Salinity Workshop Slated At A&M

A Soil and Water Salinity Workshop will meet for the first time at Texas A&M University to discuss and set guidelines for soil and water salinity standards and recommendations. Dr. Curtis L. Godfrey, professor in the Soil and Crop Sciences Department, has announced.

Approximately 50 leaders in soil and water conservation from New Mexico, Colorado, California and Texas will attend the three-day meet in the Memorial Student Center on the campus, July 16-18.

Soil and water samples collected by the Soil Conservation Service from across the state to remove drinking drivers from the highways.

"Since police traffic surveillance cannot cover the entire street and highway system in Texas every minute of the day, the big hope for safe driving rests with the individual motorist," Russell concluded.

have been analyzed by the A&M Soil Testing Laboratory for use in the discussions.

The group hopes to determine the nature and extent of soil and water salinity in the state and review analyses of dryland and irrigated soils and irrigation water in the workshop.

"We hope to determine the kinds of research and practical guides most urgently needed to clarify soil and water salinity problems in Texas," Dr. Godfrey said.

NO ONE ESCAPES

Civil disorders have virtually wrecked large areas of many American cities. Pictures show riot-torn streets, buildings demolished, stores gutted and police standing helpless while hoodlums make off with stolen merchandise by the carload.

All wars are expensive, including "the other war." Destruction of public and private property will be reflected in insurance rates, in the cost of government and hundreds of other direct and indirect ways that are inescapable no matter where we live.

Just as we all have a stake in the tragic cost of war in Vietnam, so we have a stake in "the other war." We should think about this the next time we see or read of looting and burning.

The Texas Education Agency Is Co-sponsoring Training Program

In an effort to develop a comprehensive plan for driver education in Texas, the Texas Education Agency is co-sponsoring a training program this summer at Texas A&M University.

Glen L. Peavy, the Agency's program director for safety and driver education, says the course can accommodate 60 training assistants and 50 supervising teachers in driver education.

Classes for teaching assistants will be held July 15-August 16, and classes for supervising teachers will be conducted July 29-August 16.

The course, which is being co-sponsored by Texas A&M, is officially known as the 1968 Driver Education and Traffic Safety Study Program.

"There are two reasons why we are having this training program," explains Peavy. "First, we want to prepare non-degree teaching assistants to teach in the laboratory phases of approved driver education courses. And second, we want to prepare supervising teachers to supervise teaching assistants and to teach driver education using advanced techniques."

Dr. Leslie Hawkins, professor at Texas A&M, will direct the study program, which is being funded by the Texas Traffic Safety Fund. This fund of $2-million was authorized by the Texas Legislature last year.

To date, Peavy says, five each of the state's education service centers and independent school districts have made applications for their people to attend the study program.

The five education service centers participating will be Region I at Edinburg, Region III at Victoria, Region VII at Kilgore, Region X at Richardson and Region XIX at El Paso. And the five participating school districts will be Edgewood and San Antonio in San Antonio, Houston and Lubbock.

"Personnel from these 10 locations will take up 40 teaching assistant positions and 10 supervising teacher positions," Peavy says. "This still leaves us with 60 openings (40 supervising teachers and 20 teaching assistants) for trainees from other service centers and school districts planning to begin a multi-phase driver education program at some future date. Anyone interested in applying should write or contact Dr. Hawkins and request an application."

To be eligible, all supervising teachers must be presently certified driver education teachers in good standing. Teaching assistants must be 21 years of age, a high school graduate, and have a personal driving record for three years, immediately prior to training as a teaching assistant, upon which the Texas Department of Public Safety has taken no corrective action.

In addition, all applicants must be recommended by one of the following: an executive director of an education service center, a superintendent of an accredited school district, or a supervisory driver training instructor of a commercial driver training school licensed by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Peavy says the course will be taught using state-owned simulators. "These simulators are being used to help Texas move into its multi-phase program of driver education," says the program director.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

There are still a few people around who feel a real sense of pride in the achievements of our country. Certainly we have a lot more accomplishments to be proud of than all of our critics put together have. The thing that has made our country great is the willingness of the American people to do their share in working for their community or their country, in working for better laws, better health, and better social conditions, and in being willing to die for their country or to pay their fair share of the taxes required to support their government. Of course there is a small percentage that may want to place limitations on fighting or dying for their country, but fortunately there appears to be a very large percentage that have no reservations.

Finally, every American can feel a real sense of pride that the Internal Revenue Service collects 97% of our federal taxes through voluntary compliance. No other Nation can. As long as we have Americans who are willing to lay their hard-earned dollars on the line for their fair share of operating our government, we have not lost the "Spirit of 1776."

Entrance may be gained to HemisFair at any one of five gates, strategically located around the 92.6 acre grounds.
