Some lucky person will WIN 7 CARS PLUS A YEAR'S SUPPLY OF DR PEPPER IN DR PEPPER'S charge! GET GOIN' AGAIN SWEEPSTAKES

At the initial meeting of the Candy Strippers on June 13th, at 9:00 a. m. Eleven girls gathered in the dining room of the Haskell Memorial Hospital. They were welcomed by Alfred Turnbow, hospital administrator, who commended them for their desire to give of their time in volunteer service for the sick and elderly people.

He said when we are very young and get sick, our first thought is "get to Mother"... but when we grow older our first impulse is "get to a doctor, or competent nurse." He assured the group the hospital is here to serve in the most efficient way to relieve the suffering and ill among us, and all volunteer help is greatly appreciated and at times urgently needed.

Mrs. Royce Williams, head nurse, addressed the group, and gave instructions as to what is expected of Candy Strippers. She took the group on an extensive tour of the hospital, the laboratory and the operating room. At the nursery she brought smiles to all the young faces when she showed them a very young baby, only two hours old.

The group then went to the Rice Springs Home where they were greeted warmly by Mrs. W. C. Johnston, administrator, and taken on a tour of the establishment by Mrs. Gholson. Those girls who are under 15 years of age will be working at the home under Mrs. Johnston, and will receive the same credit for the hours of service they put in there as the older girls will receive for service at the hospital. The older girls, 15 through 19, may also work at the rest homes.

Two young girls, Donna Ellison and Judy Blair, have already been working at Rice Springs, and were enthusiastic about the treatment they received and the pleasure it gave them to lend a "helping hand."

Those who went from Weinert had met on the day before in the Weinert High School for orientation and training. They were Lorenia Caddell, Caron Guess, Alexia Mayfield, Paula Willfong, Debbie Campbell, Melanie Volkofka, Kathy Grimes, and Joan Caddell.

Girls from Haskell were Donna Ellison, Judy Blair and Gail Barnett.

Adult sponsors were Mrs. E. L. Wyehe, president of the Haskell County Hospital Auxiliary, Mrs. M. W. Phemister, vice-president, and Mrs. J. F. Cadenhead, secretary-treasurer. The HCHA are sponsors of the Candy Strippers and hope that girls from other towns and still others in Haskell and Weinert will take advantage of this wonderful opportunity for training and service.

The Candy Strippers voiced a desire to have their own organization, so a meeting has been called for Wednesday, June 26, 2:30 p. m. at the dining room of Rice Springs Home. All girls interested are urged to attend this meeting.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Growing up on a farm we had bees. Having been told about the duties of the queen, the workers and drones they were interesting to watch. (If in that day there had been television, probably the bees would not have been noticed.) But it was fascinating to learn that when the old queen had expired and her usefulness served, the new queen left the hive, followed by the workers who surrounded her on the Mesquite limb where she chose to light.

AT THIS POINT the drones, too, had served their purpose and either died or were killed by the workers. When the new queen was installed on her throne in a new hive, the workers immediately began to gather the materials for new comb and to dress up the new palace with all needed fixtures.

WE LEARNED that the worker bees would sting and were willing to give their life afterwards to protect their queen and her castle. The drones could be caught with the hand without injury. They carried no stinger and did not leave the hive except for a stroll outside for fresh air.

OUR SOCIETY is something like this. It has one criterion, namely that the individual have a willingness to work. Our economic system is not designed for the "drones"; for the shiftless and for the fellow who wants to lie abed in the morning while others are out on the job.

THE GREAT MARVEL of our free enterprise system in America is that it virtually guarantees a reasonable annual income to about everyone, provided he or she is willing to work. There are, of course, exceptions. In the past we have not done all which should have been done to give opportunity for training more people for better jobs. There are those who, for some misfortune or other, are unable to obtain and hold a decent job but no country in history has been so successful in creating job opportunities as has this country.

YET, THERE ARE some people who want to redesign our system so that it gives the "drones" full equality with the "workers."

IN FEBRUARY OF 1967, the National Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic Progress, produced a 210-page report endorsing a guaranteed minimum annual wage for every American. Should the Commission's report ever be enacted into law, the citizen who chose not to work would get a cash allowance from the Government. The advocates of the guaranteed annual income theory contend that it is everyone's Constitutional right, regardless of the circumstances.

IT IS NOT surprising that the old-line socialists endorse such a plan because they have always been for a redistribution of the wealth. It is surprising, however, to find some prominent businessmen along with many of the intellectuals advocating such a proposal.

GENERALLY, it is doubtful that the socialists give any heed or consideration to the cost as a factor in their reasoning. You would think the businessmen, and successful ones at that, would consider the cost and where the money must come from. Estimates of the cost have ranged from $2 billion to $20 billion a year. This is the difference between 2 cents and 20 cents—quite a spread in estimates.

IT IS BEING proved over and over again that there are those who, knowing they are able to extract money from the taxpayers, choose this method as their livelihood. In the big cities, welfare officials say they spend as much time in trying to get able bodied men on welfare to go to work as they do in trying to help those who are really entitled to help. Imagine that if every chisler realized he never had to work again but only to apply for the guaranteed annual wage, how great the ranks of the "drones" would swell. Imagine, also, the reaction of working men and women who must supply the money to sup-

PAINT CREEK ... COMMUNITY NEWS

Grain harvest has stopped again in most parts of Paint Creek. The rain Saturday afternoon varied from an inch to three inches across the community. Water was standing in some fields an inch above the little cotton, and farmers were draining terraces late Saturday afternoon, and Sunday. It is a common sight these days to see a piece of heavy equipment belonging to Mr. Carl Anderson or Mr. Jim Strain coming out to pull a combine out of the mud. One was stuck near a stock tank last week, and Saturday afternoon just before the rain, a combine sank down to the axle on top of a terrace on the Boyd Cathey place. Several grain farmers think they will be able to get back into their grain late this week. The grain fell some more after all the wind and hail Saturday, so combine men are putting on this finger attachment to pick it up.

The young cotton looks fine, and if it can just outgrow the weeds until busy farmers can get back to it, it should have enough moisture to last all its life. Farming is as usual on the lake road, and men were able to plow and cut grain Monday.

Bob Earles and Danny Isbell were scoutmasters for Troop 48 last Thursday at the Overton tank. Plans were made for the week at Camp Tonkawa, and medical blanks were passed out. Scouts at the meeting were Dale and Glen Casselberry, Mike and Ricky Brazzel, Jim Bob and Joe Mickler, Larry and Philip Cockrell and Joe White.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carlos Montgomery, Johnny Paul, April and Scottie of Midland spent Father's Day week-end with their fathers, Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Montgomery, and Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Smith.

Mrs. Sam Chaffin and daughter, Kelly, of Midland, and Mrs. Jerry Jones of Leveled are spending the week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fischer. Mrs. Fischer met her daughters halfway and brought them here.

Janie Lynn Raughton of Bronte is spending several days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Overton.

Lt. Mike Overton and Sp.4 William Overton of Fort Sill, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton and Wallar. Miss Linda McGaw of Dallas was also a week-end guest of the Overtons.

Here for the William Daniel Mickler funeral were: Mrs. Billy Doyle, Mrs. Hazel Depart, Mrs. Bill Bankton, Mrs. June Atherton and son, Max, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dewey from Ft. Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ivy and Mr. and Mrs. W. V.

port the "drones." We can well imagine the feelings of people who have to get up early to go to work and others who work at night and who have to find their rest in the daytime.

CERTAINLY there are many who hold unpleasant jobs simply because they know that working is the only way to support themselves and their families. Unless these working people felt it morally wrong not to work, and felt it an insult not to do their part in society by holding down jobs, they could with considerable justification say, "Why should I work to support the loafers?"

TO SUPPORT THE "drones" would be to steal the rightful earnings of those citizens who use their energies each day to support themselves, their families, their communities and their country.

WITH INCENTIVE to work destroyed, such a scheme would eventually create a class of totally dependent citizens, vulnerable to the unscrupulous and reckless politician who would promise them more and more.

LIKE THE FELLOW said, "I am working . . . for a guaranteed annual income and I will sit here until I get it."

The Good Earth

By Mrs. B. F. Cobb

The J. P. Perrin's spacious red brick home is rapidly becoming a show place of Haskell. Built on a sloping hill, the home nestles in a dark green lawn with a circular driveway leading to the highway.

Snapdragons, carnations and a tiny hedge of Chinese boxwood is enhanced by large shrubs of Eonymus Japonica, Pyracantha, Photinia and one tall Juniper. A bed of pansies graces one side of the yard and Gladioli peep from behind a low white picket fence at the opposite corner of the house.

A large white urn filled with deep red Geraniums seems to say Welcome as one approaches the front door.

There is an orchard of peach and plum trees just outside the chain link fence on the south. There is also a rose garden near the orchard.

A picture window looks out of the den across a patio, to a lush green lawn surrounded with a chain link fence.

This spring there was a display of blue bonnets on the lawn near the road, and from the amount of seed, the plants produced this year, there should be quite a large patch of the blue flowers next year.

We went to Brownwood Friday on an outing. As we were tired from the trip we stopped to rest at the city park built along the river that runs through town. There is a large dam on the river where the water cascades down into the channel far below. We noticed that fishers were reeling in rather large fish, and being lovers of this sport, my husband and I meandered down the steep path to where they were fishing.

People, men, women and children, were catching five and six pound Carp as fast as they could throw their lines in. One Negro woman had a string of about 15 Carp, one channel cat, two bass, one large crappie and a perch or two. Every one was giving her their Carp. She said it didn't make any difference what kind of fish they were, they surely would make a pretty string to display on her way home. I am agreeing with her; they really were pretty fish, even if they were mostly the lowly Carp.

We went to see the Lake Dam as I had never been to it, even tho' we have fished in Brownwood Lake for 20 years. The extremely high dam is built between high, rocky cliffs, that to me makes the setting more scenic. Large Cottonwood, Live Oak and Willow trees made the shores of the lake very inviting.

High on a hill, just before we approached the dam, we came upon a large, rustic cottage set among huge Pecan and Oak trees. Haskell Garden Club members would hold their breath at the sight of four very large Oleanders that were so covered with red blossoms one could hardly see the foliage, sitting on that deep, velvety, green lawn the Oleanders reminded me of a green dress dotted with rubies. We saw many wild flowers that were not blooming this spring, there were Indian blankets in great quantities, deep purple Horse-mint (or Bee Balm, as it is listed in seed catalogs), White Poppy Thistles, Orchid Pompom Thistles and a flat white thistle with an orchid border, we saw acres and acres of this flower. Bear grass (Yucca) was graded with large plumes of white blossoms. Sofo had already blossomed and was sporting long green pods that were very attractive. Not far from the dam on Lake Brownwood is a resort that would put lots of highly advertised places to shame. Towering trees all but hide the attractive cabins, the streets are paved and each lawn is a deep, deep green. I saw one Hydrangea bush littered covered in large clusters of pink and blue blossoms.

Weinert 4-H Club Has Fashion Parade

The Weinert 4-H Club girls have just completed a five-day workshop on clothing in which ten girls made dresses and four 4-H Jr. leaders took an active part.

On Saturday afternoon at 4:30 the girls had a fashion parade in the homemaking department of Weinert High School. Parents and friends were invited to a tea in their honor which was planned, prepared, and served by the 4-H girls themselves.

To begin the review for the afternoon, Mrs. Glenn Caddell, organization leader for the group, welcomed the 40 guests and gave the advantages gained from having a dress review.

The four Jr. leaders then gave a skit entitled "A Sad Satire on the Modeling of Bennie Bonnets." Joan Caddell, 4-H president, narrated the skit in which Pauletta Wilfong modeled as Floesey Folger, Karon Guess modeled as Wanda Crier, Sheila Dutton modeled as Kitty Kool Cat, and Lorenia Caddell modeled as Hilda Hatchett. These girls each modeled crazy hats.

Mrs. Caddell then recognized these girls as Jr. leaders as well as Mrs. Alton Sanders, Mrs. Tom Yates and Mrs. Charlie Campbell as adult leaders, who helped with the workshop this week.

When the dress review began, Mrs. Glenn Caddell introduced the first modeler and then each 4-Her narrated for the girls following her which gave each girl experience in speaking before an audience.

4-H colors of green and white were carried out at the tea. A white table was set with green centerpiece. Green punch with cookies topped with a green rosette were served.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

In the Northern half of Texas there are several thousand young men and women who are married but are still getting their education. These young men and women are full-time students (some with part-time jobs). In a good number of cases, Dad is still providing principal support for one or both. You will have to file separate income tax returns (you can not file a joint return) if Dad is going to claim you as a dependent on his tax return. Since Texas is a community property state, you simply split the income between the two of you and file separate returns, and let the Dad or Dads who provided principal support get a credit for your dependency, too. This doesn't keep you and your spouse from each claiming your own exemption. Dad will appreciate your taking care of him, since he feels he's been having a hard time taking care of you.

COMPLETES EIGHT WEEKS OF RECRUIT TRAINING

Marine Private Don R. Davis, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Davis, of Weinert, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

He will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

A thorough study of basic military subjects, hygiene, first aid and sanitation, and the customs, courtesies, history and mission of the Marine Corps serve to polish the new Marine's recruit education and prepare him to join the Marine combat forces.

The Annual Knox County Vegetable Festival Set At Munday, June 28-29

The Sixth Annual Knox County Vegetable Festival will be held in Munday on June 28-29.

The Festival is held in June each year during vegetable harvest season when exhibits of fruits, flowers and vegetables are displayed and judged. Canned and baked foods are also exhibited and judged by competent judges. Ribbon awards are made with special recognition being given to outstanding entries.

Other exhibits, not to be judged, are arts, crafts, hobbies and farm relics. The famous Maskat Shrine Motor Patrol of Wichita Falls, Texas will formally open the festivities at 7:00 p. m. Thursday, June 27th, with a motorcade exhibition downtown. They will also participate in the music entertainment program to follow at 8:00 p. m. where invited groups will perform.

Country-Western music compared with modern, psychedelic-type music will attract every member of the family, from youngsters to grandparents. To accompany the country-western music, several groups will provide exhibition square dancing.

Friday is "Beauty Pageant Day" at the Festival. Thirty-eight Knox County High School beauties will vie for the new Festival Queen. Two runners-up will be chosen to complete the Queen's Court. The first judging will be held at an afternoon tea and the final judging will be at 8:00 p. m. Friday night in the High School auditorium. No admission charge will be made. Each contestant is sponsored by vegetable growers, processors, organizations, and business firms of Knox County.

The Munday Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture will host a special "vegetable dinner" on Friday noon honoring news media from a wide area. Invitations are mailed to persons who have helped publicize the Festival during the past six years. "This is our opportunity to pay tribute to our many friends who have been so faithful to us in our effort to publicize Munday as a vegetable production center," states M. L. Wiggins, Chamber president.

A special guest for the dinner will be Murray Cox, WFAA, Dallas, Texas, who six years ago, initiated the first Vegetable Festival by live coverage on WFAA. Since that time the event has become a two-day affair.

Due to recent heavy rains and some spotted hail, a bumper crop of vegetables will not be harvested at this time. However, one can be assured he can purchase potatoes, onions, cabbage, and many other vegetables on the Festival grounds.

Entertainment for the family is also planned. For the sixth consecutive year, the original "potato hunt" will be held on the football field. All children under 12 years of age will be picking up small potatoes in which dimes have been inserted. The winner is declared by the scale weight of the sack he carries when the hunt is over. He also gets a prize as well as an opportunity to win extra money in the potatoes.

All exhibits not judged will be open at 9:30 a. m. on Friday, June 28th. Exhibits to be judged will be open to the public at 1:00 p. m. Friday and all will be open on Saturday from 9:00 a. m. until 5:00 p. m.

Munday merchants have planned a special program for Saturday afternoon at 6:30 p. m. on the City square.

VA Questions and Answers

Editor's Note: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q—I was recently separated from service. During service I was treated for a condition that has now flared up again. Can I get treatment from VA?

A—In all probability you can. You should apply to the Veterans Administration for an examination and determination that your condition is service-connected. Once this has been accomplished, you should have no trouble getting treatment from VA.

Q—I am a veteran with a service-connected condition, recognized by VA as 60 per cent disabling. Does this degree of disability entitle my children to any type of educational assistance?

A—No. Only children whose parent is rated by VA as 100 per cent service-connected disabled and who is permanently disabled is entitled to assistance. Such children and children of veterans who died in service or from service-connected causes—are eligible for War Orphans Educational Assistance benefits.

Q—I receive a monthly compensation check from the Veterans Administration. I have recently had a change of address. Should I report the change to the VA or the Treasury Department?

A—Your change of address should always be reported to the VA Regional Office where your records are located.

Q—I am interested in the new Modified Life plan of government insurance I have been reading about. I now hold $10,000 of government insurance. Where can I get more specific information about the Modified Life plan?

A—Write to the Veterans Administration Regional Office where your records are held or to the VA insurance office (Philadelphia or St. Paul) where your premiums are paid. Ask for a copy of VA Pamphlet 29-22 which discuss the benefits of this plan.

Q—I read recently that the Post-Korean G. I. Bill is two years old. I got out of service in 1965 after four years in the Army. Am I eligible for education and training benefits under this bill? If so, how long do I have before my entitlement expires?

A—First, and most important, you are eligible for education and training benefits under the Post-Korean G. I. Bill. This third generation G. I. Bill was enacted for veterans who served for at least 180 days consecutively in the Armed Forces, some of which was after Jan. 31, 1955.

Since you were released from active duty between Jan. 21, 1955, and June 1, 1966, your eligibility for VA education and training assistance runs until May 31, 1974. Veterans discharged since June 1, 1966, when the Post-Korean G. I. Bill education and training program went as reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by GySgt. Bob Montgomery

An incoming Viet Cong mortar round abruptly ended a folk singing session at the 3rd Bn., Twenty-seventh Marine Regiment command post.

"Four of us were sitting in the company supply hooch singing folk songs when a mortar round came exploding through the tin roof," said Corporal Charles D. Huckaby, 21, Linda Vista, Calif., the "K" Co. supply sergeant.

Lance Corporal Joe Hecht, 20, Ridgeland Park, N. J., was sitting closest to the blast. "I got my back pretty well peppered with little pieces of shrapnel," he said, "but all I could think about was getting out of the bunker."

Playing the guitar for the foursome was Private First Class Craig D. Olson, 21, Wheatridge, Colo. "I was playing 'The Times Are A Changin'' and sure enough, things changed fast. The whole hooch just seemed to blow up in my face," recalled Olson.

"We were all pressing against the door trying to get out and into the bunker," Huckaby said, "but because we were all pressing against it, I couldn't get it open."

Huckaby managed to push the other three Leathernecks back far enough to get the door open. "Wow!" exclaimed the Golden State Marine. "I've never seen a party break-up so fast in my life!"

"Just about the only thing in the whole supply hooch that wasn't hit was the guitar that I was playing," added Olson.

Hanoi Hannah would probably gasp at the news. Ho Chi Minh would denounce it as a capitalist lie and when the word reaches General Giap's command post, there'll undoubtedly be an order declaring it a reasonable offense.

But there it was as plain as day, carefully tucked away in the pack of a soldier of the People's Army of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam—good old-fashioned American Kool-Aid.

"One lemon and lime and two raspberries," said Private First Class Frank Chaplik, 18, a rifleman with "E" Co., 2nd Bn., First Marine Regiment, Chaplik made the find while searching out an abandoned enemy bunker west of Khe Sanh.

"I was kind of stunned when he told me," said PFC Carl Block, 21, Buffalo, N. Y., "you don't expect to find Kool-Aid with Bugs Bunny on the package front in an enemy pack."

Block, also a rifleman with "E" Co., was with Chaplik when he made the Kool-Aid discovery.

"They were neatly tucked away in his pack," explained Chaplik. "There were several packs there but his was the only one containing Kool-Aid." It was a lucky find for the two Leathernecks. The only water available to them in the area was rain water that had settled in a bomb crater. "And that wasn't exactly too tasty," noted Block. "So the pre-sweetened Kool-Aid made our day."

"Shower power" is what's happening on Hill 861, a Marine hilltop near Khe Sanh.

In fact, there might be a world record set for jamming men into a shower stall once the Marines get their shower barrels full.

"That's the problem right there," said PFC Joseph Roberts, 18, Martin's Ferry, Ohio, an assistant machine gunner with "A" Co., 1st Bn., First Marine Regiment, 1st Marine Division.

"We're praying for rain," Roberts explained. "And if it doesn't rain we'll figure out another way to get water."

The Leatherneck outpost, manned by Marines from "A" Co., 1st Bn., Fifth Marines, is regularly re-supplied by helicopter with drinking water but larger quantities of water cannot be heli-lifted to the Marines.

The 1st Squad, 1st Plt. of "A" Co., built Hill 861's first shower stalls. Other Marines in the company followed their example and now several shower stalls, built from empty fuel barrels and spare wood, have been erected on 861.

Now all that's needed is some cooperation with the weatherman so that "A" Company's shower barrels can fill up.

Airman First Class Richard Riley has been assigned to Lowrey Air Base, Denver, Colorado, as an instructor. He was accompanied by his wife and son to Denver where he will begin his new duties July 1.

Pigtails and Pinafore Gone —

The Story Behind America's 'New' 8-Year-Old

One of the best-known and loved young misses in America, Morton Salt Company's little girl with her umbrella, has received her fifth change of fashion.

In her first facelift since 1956, she wears her hair short. Gone are the pigtails, bobby sox and pinafore. Her former yellow and white umbrella now is lavender and white.

The salt package she identifies has been modernized, too, and made more attractive. Changing the yellow top and bottom to white accents the purity of the salt, but the pouring spout and patented shaker top are retained. The color of the package has returned to the original rich blue.

Little Miss Morton has been searching through the rain and into the hearts of millions for more than a half century. She has helped make her product, the nation's favorite salt, one of just a few items available in nearly every grocery outlet across the land.

Back in 1911, the Chicago-based salt company began national promotion of its new product: the original free running salt in a round blue package with a patented pouring spout.

A proposed series of 12 ads — along with three possible substitutes — was brought to the company. Attention turned immediately to one of the alternatives: a little girl with curls, holding an umbrella and a tilted package of salt. She told the entire story in a picture: the salt would pour in damp weather.

The intended slogan, "Even in rainy weather, it flows freely," was appropriate but not short and snappy. When the old proverb, "It never rains but it pours," was vetoed as too negative, it was rephrased into, "When It Rains It Pours."

She and her slogan first appeared on the package in 1914.

Unlike Little Orphan Annie, the ageless Morton umbrella girl has been given a new wardrobe and hair style from time to time to keep her fashionable. The first change came in the 20's. In the 30's she appeared in "Shirley Temple" curls, so popular then. Pigtails first were seen in the 40's and in the 50's she took on her jaunty look that lasted until this year.

The 1968 change reflects the modern appearance of America's eight-year-old "girl next door."

HOW TO PLEASE YOUR MAN

By Katy Cannon

Lessons From A Husband

I've just been taken down a peg by my lord and master—and gotten a hint or two, along the way, that I'd like to pass along in the name of domestic bliss.

Seems that I've been goofing all these years, when I've been taking the ladies (and the dirty dishes) into the kitchen after a dinner party—leaving the men to pass the after-dinner drinks and the cigars.

These days, the old tradition of an hour's separation of the sexes after dinner has disappeared—along with the drawing rooms that made it possible in the first place, and the ranks of liveried footmen who passed the port.

Not only do men and women enjoy each other's company more than ever, but women (and I've got this one from Ned, who meets the unluckiest types at the office) are actually staying on the scene to share the cigars.

I'll settle for the aroma myself—it reminds me of all those wonderful movies, when Clark Gable was king and men were men—but I can't say that I object to not leaving the gentlemen to their own devices. After-dinner conversation—when the tensions of the day are vanquished by a good meal—is the best talk of the day, and the men always have plenty of news to bring me from the outside world.

Not that I'm going to stop leaving the table after dinner. Far from it. Next time we entertain, I'm going to leave the room after coffee just the same as usual (who wants to look at dirty dishes?)—but this time, I'm going to invite the men to join us. And bring their good talk and cigars.

The dishes can wait—and after all, how many times can I hear about Elsie's operation?

Two Vehicles Involved In Wreck Saturday

A two-car collision three miles south of town around 3:00 p. m. Saturday, sent one person to the emergency ward of Haskell Memorial Hospital for a check-up, and around $200 damage resulted to a 1964 Ford driven by Ade Simpson. A Holden-McCauley ambulance brought the woman to the Haskell Memorial Hospital.

Her attending physician said she received only a chest bruise and was not entered in the hospital.

The other car involved was a 1963 Mercury driven by Roy Lee Rogers. No damage was done to his automobile.

Investigating officer, Patrolman Stuart Eriksen, said both cars were traveling north.

All foreign government pavilions are situated in one area—"Plazas del Mundo"—at HemisFair '68 for easy access.

Marine Private Pace Completes Recruit Training

Marine Private Billy D. Pace, 22, son of Mrs. Betty Maberry of 1000 S. Avenue G, Haskell, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

He will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

A thorough study of basic military subjects, hygiene, first-aid and sanitation, and the customs, courtesies, history and mission of the Marine Corps serve to polish the new Marine's recruit education and prepare him to join the Marine combat forces.

A TIME TO RELAX

That midyear period known as summer officially begins Friday, June 21.

For many it holds a threat of the impending tragedy of riots and strife. We can only pray that these forebodings will prove baseless, that summer will once again be as it should...a time when the land is in full bloom.

In thousands of communities throughout the nation, people can look forward to a traditional summer. The lemonade stands will make their appearance along with the backyard hammocks and charcoal broilers. Long evenings will be spent in repose on porches and beneath favorite shade trees. The incomparable scenery of America will draw the usual millions to seashores and mountains.

In the days of dusty roads, barefoot boys and the old swimming hole, few were able to enjoy pilgrimages to faraway vacation spots. Those who do so now bear a heavy share of the responsibility for preserving the purity and beauty of our environment. Actually, summer is no different now than in the days of Mark Twain, and we should enjoy it.

HASKELL COUNTY HISTORY

30 YEARS AGO

(June 21, 1926)

An estimated crowd of between five and six hundred people gathered in O'Brien Friday night, when Haskell county candidates made their first campaign talks in connection with candidates for the various county, district and precinct offices. The rally and speaking was an outdoor affair, held in the principal section of the town. A public address system was used, provided by Woodson Electric Company of this city through cooperation of candidates who donated to cover expense of transporting and installing the unit in O'Brien. County Attorney Walter Murchison presided as master of ceremonies and introduced speakers of the evening. Brief talks outlining their candidacies and platforms advocated, were made by twenty-three candidates, including Mr. Murchison and District Attorney Ben Charlie Chapman, both of whom are unopposed for re-election.

COTTON PICKIN'S

Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Last week Rolling Plains farmers saw the start of the world's first large-scale field test of boll weevil control by sterile male release, a long-time dream in almost every cotton producing country.

Under the direction of Dr. Ted Davich, head of U.S.D.A.'s Boll Weevil Research Laboratory at State College, Mississippi, about 45,000 sterilized weevils were "planted" on 90 acres of the Bill Glenn farm in Dickens County. Two releases of about the same number were made and this two-week schedule will be followed throughout the season unless it becomes obvious that the test is failing to prove effective.

"We are out to prove a principle," Davich said, "and as long as it appears we have a chance for success we'll continue the releases."

The Dickens county site on the Western edge of the Rolling Plains was chosen for two reasons. First, the intensive Diapause Control Program carried out in that area for the past four years has reduced weevil populations to extremely low levels, making it necessary to release fewer sterilized weevils. Second, the Glenn farm has a relative degree of isolation from other cotton fields, making possible a more accurate evaluation of results.

The Diapause program, jointly financed by Government and producers under the auspices of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has reduced weevil numbers in a nine-county control zone by about 99 per cent.

Weevils are being sterilized by the use of radiation in the Mississippi laboratories, flown to Dickens County at night and released the following morning.

While it is sterile males that are expected to curb weevil reproduction in the test, weevils of both sexes are being released. It is more economical to rear and sterilize both male and female than to go through the tedious task of separating them. Davich believes about 250 sterile males per acre are needed to prevent population increases in the field being used, so 500 weevils per acre are being released under the assumption that half will be males.

Frequent releases are required because all presently known sterilization methods, while completely effective in rendering sterility, reduce both sex drive and life expectancy of the insects in the process.

According to Dr. Davich, research has shown the life expectancy of the sterile weevils being used this year to be an average of about seven days. But their effective mating period is only about three and a half days, hence the two-week releases.

Success in the test would leave this one major hurdle to be cleared before the new control technique could be widely used for eventual elimination of boll weevils as cotton's most costly insect.

A new sterilization process, in the first stages of study, is showing promise. It involves a combination of radiation and the use of a chemo-sterilant, both applied in smaller doses than when either is used separately. First indications are that this method may do far less damage to the insects.

A large number of other possibilities are being explored, too, since commercial application of weevil control by sterile male release will not be practical until populations can be knocked out with less frequent releases. Entomologists believe that a method of sterilization can be perfected and that effective control or even eradication of boll weevils without chemical applications may be "just around the corner."

All About Those Wild Girlie Parties

Mr. Farmer! Mr. Businessman!

WE NEED YOUR HELP.

Cotton is by far the major income crop in the Rolling Plains, accounting for about 40% of total agricultural income. Annual sales average well over $50 million. Processing, transportation, storage, and insurance provide additional millions. Farmers are the biggest users of gasoline, tires, machinery, fertilizers, insecticides, and credit. The majority of all citizens in this area directly or indirectly, depend on cotton for most of their income.

Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is a local non-profit organization, chartered by the State of Texas, to promote the welfare and protect the interests of the cotton industry in the 32 county Rolling Plains area. Activities are carried out under the direction of a 64 man Board of Directors, 2 from each county, who serve without pay. The organization has been tremendously successful, and has earned State and National recognition.

RPCG depends on voluntary contributions for operating funds. Due to the short crop in 1967, income was reduced 25%. Costs are up. We must have additional funds to continue to represent this area.

Help your neighbors! Carry your share of the load! Mail your contribution today to Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Box 1108, Stamford, Tex. 79553.
