

Along The Waterfront

The fishing news is getting better all the time in every way—more fish caught and bigger ones, too.

Last Friday and Saturday, Dr. J. M. Lyle and Bob McCressless of Fort Worth, brought a large party to Rockport to fish on Henry Ballou's boat. Their total catch for the two days was 354 fish. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Donnelly of North Little Rock, Ark., fished with Ballou Sunday, catching 116 trout. M. Bernhard and party fished with Ballou Monday, but they did not do so well because of the strong northeast wind and muddy water, however, they brought in 14 trout. Shorty Townsend took Johnny Schids, E. C. Ricks and Mr. Payne fishing Tuesday, landing 50 nice fish. Mr. and Mrs. Townsend went fishing Wednesday, landing 65 trout.

Mr. and Mrs. Robbie Williams from Houston, caught 44 large trout while fishing with Fred Christilles Thursday. On Saturday, Bill Knowles of San Antonio, fished with Bill Crist on Christilles' boat, bringing in 55 trout. On Sunday, Wesley Nelius and brother of Houston, fished with Christilles—the catch was 50 trout, and on Wednesday afternoon Henry Cohn and son Mac, of San Antonio, caught 68 trout while out with Christilles.

Bill Crist had Colonel Ladensohn and wife of San Antonio fishing Tuesday. They got 63 fish, and on Wednesday, Jimmy De Merrit and party of Houston, celebrated DeMerrit's birthday by going fishing with Crist—result 38 trout.

Harry Mills of Mills' Wharf had H. M. Cohn, Max Miller and Sid Suhler out fishing and the party hooked 105 nice trout, some of them weighing 3 1/2 pounds or better. W. L. Dennis fished with Harry Mills Sunday, bringing in 40 trout. Max Miller fished with Herb Mills Sunday, landing 35 fish. There are three parties out from the Wharf today. Mrs. Lawler of Mills Wharf, said their should have good catches as the fish are more plentiful and are getting larger.

Perry Jones' Wharf reports a good weekend and says most all the fishermen are getting good catches out there.

Horace Towns and party from Houston, who are guests at Walton Courts, caught 75 trout over the weekend. They were large ones, some of them tipping the scales at 2 1/2, 3 and 4 pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Vanham of Moulton, Texas, caught 35 trout Friday in Copano Bay, and Mr. Culp and party from Austin, caught 80 trout in Aransas Bay.

H. C. Floyd of Floyd's Boat and Sales Co. says all the boats he has rented this week have brought in some fish. They are larger and he said fishing will continue to improve.

Saturday, Mr. Whitfill and Mr. McKnight went out from Johnson's Bait Stand and got 40 large trout before noon. McKnight caught two trout on one cast.

Mr. Boyd and party, of San Antonio, landed 73 trout, ranging in size from 3/4 to 2 1/2 pounds.

Mr. Whitfill's two sons of Lubbock, went out Monday and caught 18 trout. Mr. Dasher of Illinois, caught one mackerel 23 inches long and 16 trout.

Mr. Johnson says that quite a few reds are being caught and also some pompano. Almost everyone going out has been bringing back fish.

Ernest Tackette caught two trout Wednesday, one weighing 7 1/2 pounds. He also got one redfish. Saturday Tackette brought in about 30 pounds of fish.

Red Cross Gives ODM First Large GG Supply In Battle Against Polio

Sheriff A. C. Shivers, fund drive chairman for Aransas County for the Red Cross Chapter says the American Red Cross on Feb. 25 turned over to the Office of Defense Mobilization 1,714,996 cc of gamma globulin which will provide 245,000 average polio shots for national distribution by the ODM this coming summer to be used in the prevention of paralysis from poliomyelitis. This was the first consignment of the blood fraction which the Red Cross will provide the ODM under an agreement of last December when the program was inaugurated in the national interest. The Red Cross is collecting the blood for production into gamma globulin and is paying for the fractionation processing and packaging.

The Red Cross said it will continue to turn over to the Office of Defense Mobilization all supplies of gamma globulin as they come from the laboratories. All allocations of gamma globulin will be made solely by ODM and all final distribution of the product will be the responsibility of the state health officers, the Red Cross emphasized.

Gamma globulin will be available to families in every part of the United States this summer through state health departments under a plan proposed by a special committee of the National Research Council.

Just how the individual states will allocate and distribute the globulin to their communities will be determined by the individual state health officer. Criteria to assist them in developing the best plan for the most effective use of this valuable material will be provided by the National Research Council Advisory Committee on Allocation which is assisting the Office of Defense Mobilization with this project.

Distribution of the precious fluid which has been of proven value in measles and infectious hepatitis and has now proved effective in preventing the paralysis caused by poliomyelitis is to begin almost immediately by ODM to all state public health officers. The Red Cross now is processing and packaging an additional 2,000,000 cc of gamma globulin which was received in bulk form last week through the Department of Defense from the Navy. When packaged, these supplies will be turned over to the ODM.

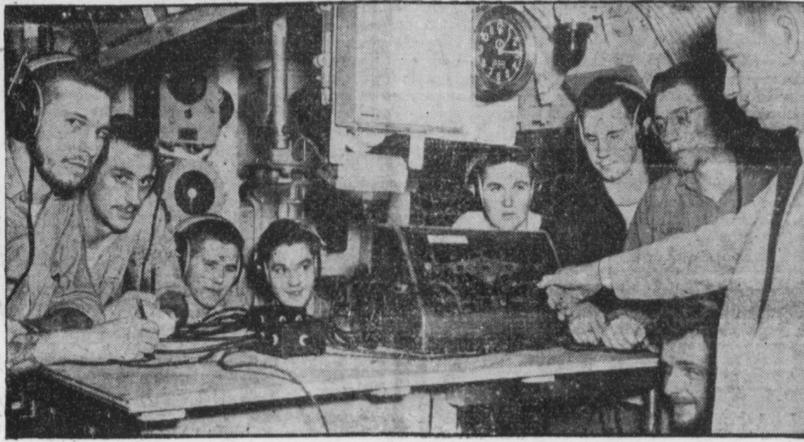

Pointing out that although the allocation and distribution plan being projected will assure a supply of gamma globulin to communities where it is needed in every state, the Red Cross emphasized that only through wide citizen participation can the program be successful.

The organization urged that only through greater year-round contributions of blood and larger contributions of funds during the March Red Cross Fund Campaign for the processing, packaging, and handling of gamma globulin can the nation as a whole benefit from this program.

Sheriff Shivers commented that the fund drive here is slowly coming in, and urged the citizens of this area to donate freely to this worthy cause.

LOCKED IN THE CRADLE OF THE DEEP—Sealed inside a docked submarine at New London, Conn., these seven Navy volunteers submit to hearing tests conducted by Lt. (J.G.) V. F. Borum, at right, of the U. S. Navy Medical Corps. The men are human guinea pigs used to study effects of long submersion on human beings. Simulating conditions which might exist in an atom-powered sub which would remain many months at sea, the experiment has produced much helpful information already classified as "secret." The men seen above are not identified by Naval authorities.

DO YOU WANT ROADS?

This week in Austin a dozen different groups appeared before the State Highway Commission and asked for road building projects in their communities that would cost millions.

About all the department could do was to lend a sympathetic ear.

It's an old story. There just isn't enough money to get the job done. The problem is simple. Too many automobiles are wearing out the highways before new and adequate ones can be built.

The solution is simple, too. Just provide more funds. But that isn't as easy as it sounds. In this day when the present tax structure has reached an all time high there is a justified call for reduction. The legislature, in studying its appropriations for the next biennium, has wisely said it will follow the desires of the people and not raise taxes.

Gov. Allan Shivers also has spoken out against any new taxes, except the proposed one cent motor fuel tax for highway work. He feels, as we do, that this is a self effacing amount. In other words we are now paying for good roads in another way; the wear and tear on automobiles, time loss and even life and property loss with inadequate highways.

This has been the position of the Texas Good Roads Association in calling attention of highway needs to the people of Texas.

What then should the legislature do? There is but one thing it can do. If our people are sincere in their road needs; if they have carefully studied these needs and have them to the minimum, then we should tell our members of the legislature how we feel about it. There should be no pressure, just plain horse sense in the support of a program that will provide the funds necessary to give us the roads we have to have.

CONTROLS FOR IKE

Senator Homer E. Capehart, chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee of the Senate, recently said that President Dwight Eisenhower supported his bill which would grant the Chief Executive authority to freeze wages, prices and rents for ninety days in case of an emergency. Under the terms of Capehart's bill, the President would be given standby authority to impose such controls in case of an emergency and during the 90-day period, Congress would be expected to consider new controls legislation.

The bill also sets up a national advisory board, and the President would be required to get the advice of this board before declaring an emergency and imposing controls, with the exception that if war occurred, he could impose controls immediately. Though some segments of the business world oppose the bill, we are inclined to think it is a wise precaution in this stage of world tension and international dangers.

Should an emergency arise while Congress was not in session, and war break out on short notice, prices could rise steeply before Congress could agree on a new controls bill. In the interval, the American consumer would see a skyrocketing of prices in all fields and the cost to the country in defense would amount to billions of dollars.

If the Capehart bill is adopted and made law, the President would have the authority to impose controls immediately if prices began to get out of control in such an emergency. We believe that two world wars have demonstrated the necessity of controls under such conditions, although they are naturally disliked by all Americans. Therefore we can see no validity to the argument against standby authority for a Republican President, who is responsible for the recent abolition of controls, and which would be used only in a national emergency.

That fellow who predicted the end of the world this year hasn't been heard from lately.

Most people, when confronted with their favorite meal, make a spectacle of themselves.

Your children will tell you what's wrong with you, without the necessity of questioning.

What has happened to the plan for an international language? If adopted we would have new sources for loans.

Health is the most unappreciated blessing in the world — by those who have it.

Human beings are different and no rule can be applied to them en masse.

The Importance of Psychological Training During Early Childhood

It is possible that an effective program for training little children could improve our American way of life? Unquestionably, yes.

Until recent years parents were concerned with meeting only the physical, intellectual and, upon occasion, the spiritual needs of their little ones. When the child was ill, a doctor was summoned; when he attained his sixth or seventh year, he was sent to school. Dressed in his "Sunday best," the child was generally sent also to Sunday School on the Sabbath day so that his religious experiences might be increased. Today, however, psychology and psychiatry teach that psychological needs also must be adequately met, else the little one is likely to develop quirks of personality which might in time prove both handicapping and unwholesome.

In order that wholesome patterns of emotional stability might be developed, it is necessary to lay foundations for such during the early days of infancy. Therefore control of the emotions in the life of the growing child is left principally in the hands of its parents, its teachers or others to whose care the plastic individual is entrusted. Through vigilance, patience, intelligence and conscientious effort such molders of the young child's early development during this formative period must strive to create an emotional climate free from situations which might injure the child or move it to chronic fear or anger.

The very process of growing creates many needs, including not only food, warmth, sleep and opportunities for play but also psychological needs for love, security, belongingness, happiness and friendship. In fact, the emotions most commonly encountered in psychiatric practice are lack of love or of security, rejection, inferiority feelings, guilt and the type of ambition attended by envy and unwholesome competition.

When an infant comes into the world, life for him becomes a struggle. Situations cannot be avoided but must be faced. The babe is moved to act according to his instinctual drives, and thus he seeks an increase of pleasure and a reduction of the painful, disagreeable stimuli. But according to our cultural pattern some of the infant's primitive instincts are bound to come into conflict with environmental demands, as a result of which his personality begins to develop.

If a child is supplied with a solid, intelligent foundation of living, in which his environment, his parental training, and his background steer him toward unselfish goals, he is likely to become an emotionally stable individual. If, on the other hand, his parents are overstrict or too severe; or if they unwisely handle his childhood problems and fail to recognize individual differences, they themselves can predispose the little one to emotional disturbances later on in life.

Mr. and Mrs. Fancher Archer of Austin were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wheeler during the latter part of Mr. Wheeler's illness and at the time of his death. The returned to Austin today.

FRENCH EMBASSY

From 1836 to 1845 Texas was a Republic and death with foreign nations just as any sovereign nation does today. It was recognized by foreign nations, but France was the only country to send a minister to Texas. The house which was occupied by A. de Saligny, the Minister, is still standing in Austin. It is the only building ever erected on American soil by a foreign government, and was built in 1841 from hand sawn lumber.

Some Self Employed Now Eligible to Receive Security Insurance

Most of the independent businessmen in this area have now acquired old-age and survivors insurance protection through social security, according to H. M. Cleveland, manager of the Corpus Christi office of the Social Security Administration.

The self employed, whose earnings began counting toward social security Jan. 1, 1951, are now "fully insured," he explained.

"By 'fully insured,' we mean that a person has earned a measure of financial protection for himself and his family against the loss of earned income at his retirement in older years or when he dies. In most cases, the insurance payments are substantial, and when one becomes eligible for the benefits, they are paid without regard to other assets or income," Cleveland added.

"For beneficiaries who have already qualified for this insurance, the average retirement payment to a man without dependents is about $65 a month. The monthly average for an aged couple is about $103, and a widow with two children gets in the neighborhood of $130 a month."

Cleveland pointed out that all security payments are based on reports of earnings; so, it is to each person's interest to be certain that his earnings are reported accurately.

Eligible persons who are over age 65, and either permanently or temporarily retired or whose earnings are not more than $75 a month, may apply for their social security insurance at this time.

Applications should be filed with the Social Security Administration, 424 Taylor Street, Corpus Christi, Texas.

MODEL MEETS MODEL—A not-so-plain model makes the acquaintance of a model plane at the National Hobby Industry show in Chicago, Ill. Dorothy Johnson, model, learns about the miniature planes from Lew Mahler of Compton, Cal. He has 14 international model-plane records to his credit, hopes to recapture with the above plane, honors lost to Russian model-makers. It's easy to see Miss Johnson is impressed by the plane.

Vaughn Monroe is set to start another picture at Republic in April entitled, "The Professor and the Coed." His "The Toughest Man in Tombstone" was one of the studio's big money-makers.

"High Noon" has been selected as the best motion picture of 1952 by movie critics in the thirtieth annual poll conducted by the Film Daily, a trade publication. The publication's "ten best pictures" listed, in order: "High Noon," "The Quiet Man," "The Greatest Show on Earth," "The African Queen," "Ivanhoe," "Come Back, Little Sheba," "The Lavender Hill Mob," "Singing in the Rain," "With a Song in My Heart," and "Five Fingers."

Just a reminder: Among the actresses who have won Oscars in the past are: Mary Pickford, Loretta Young, Janet Gaynor, Ginger Rogers, Joan Crawford, Anne Baxter, Jane Wyman, Claire Trevor, Vivien Leigh, Olivia De Havilland and Joan Fontaine.

When John Payne finishes "Crosstown," he plans to take six-months leave during which he will develop a screen story from the book, "A Time to Kill."

As competition to "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" Alex Korda has Mary Loos and Dick Sale working on "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes," for which he would like to have Dennis Day and Jeanne Crain. It's to be made in England.

Jean Parker returns to the screen after four years' absence, to play an Alaskan saloon keeper in "Those Sisters From Seattle."

As soon as Frank Sinatra finishes "From Here to Eternity," he will leave for a personal appearance tour of ten European countries. If Ava Gardner is not busy, she'll go along, as she's already in Europe.

Among the old films to be re-issued are: Judy Garland's "Meet Me in St. Louis," Joan Crawford's "A Woman's Face," Spencer Tracy's "They Gave Him a Gun," and the Bergman-Tracy-Turner "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Screen rights to Paul Wellman's new novel, "Comancheros," have been bought by George Stevens, the director-producer, who will make the film version independently. The story concerns the activities of unscrupulous white men who organized the Comanche Indians into raiding parties to loot pioneer settlers in southwest Texas and then made off with the loot.

Jose Ferrer, who produced, directed and starred in the Broadway play, "The Shrike," will produce the movie version independently and will be its star and director as well.

Misses Picton and Smith Hostess to Cemetery Association Meeting

Misses Vivien and Velma Picton and Miss Grace Smith were hostesses for the regular monthly meeting of the Rockport Cemetery Association, Monday afternoon.

Following the disposal of routine business, the organization voted to extend the water lines to the Mary Lamberth addition to the cemetery as soon as the work could be done. The organization also voted to put a part of the Memorial Fund into the fence fund. Citizens are urged to respond to this plea for assistance in purchasing this permanent fence as the old fence on the south and west sides is beyond repair. The Latin-American and the colored people are asked to assist in this project also. Some contributions have already been made but it will be necessary to secure more funds to complete the amount needed.

A social hour followed the business meeting.

Hospitals Have Made Great Improvement

Hospitals have come a long way. In medieval times, and well into the eighteenth century, they were little more than workhouses or almshouses for the poverty stricken or dying. Today nearly everyone can share their benefits, and it has been estimated that at least one member of the average American family of five will spend four days in a hospital during the course of a year.

At first glance hospital costs may seem high. New drugs and more skilled medical and nursing care mean that patients pay more per hospital day than they did, say 65 years ago. However, they save in the long run by having to spend less time in the hospital and by losing less time from work. For instance, in 1888 the average of patient days spent in the hospital was 52 days; today it is less than 8 days.

The dollar the patient pays the hospital has to go a long way. From 58 to 75 per cent of it may go into salaries of hospital personnel. The rest has to stretch to cover other operating expenses such as food, public utilities, and laundry.

With the higher cost per day of hospital care and shorter hospitalizations during which it may be paid, more and more people are finding it hard to pay their bills in a lump sum. A great many of them find it to their advantage to budget for hospital care in some way—through insurance premiums or arrangements with the hospital for installment payments, either before or after they leave the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Day and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clayburg of Cufa, Ill., visited with Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Burton here Tuesday. This was the first time in 35 years that they had seen each other.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

From Your State Capitol

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex. — Let's talk about money — about spending a hundred and sixty odd million dollars of your money.

That's what the Legislature is doing. But even considering the size of that amount, the economy forces seem to be in control.

The proposed spending budget for the next two years is within tax revenue that the state can expect to receive. That means, if appropriations bills as they now stand are finally passed, no new taxes will be needed.

More liberal-minded legislators have advocated a number of new expenditures. In the House last week, for example, representatives said "no" to a proposal that would have given $2,600,000 more to the University of Texas at Austin.

Lawmakers eyed keenly a reduction in the oil production allowable, ruled by the Railroad Commission.

Comptroller R. S. Calvert had expected the cut and figured it into his estimate of state income for the next two years. But if there should be further drops in oil production, state tax revenue would fall below present anticipations.

The biggest part of the state's revenue is from a tax of about 11 cents per barrel on oil.

Calvert has been told by experts, however, that the demand for Texas oil may increase next summer. Allowables are fixed on the basis of demand and other factors.

Right now, imports of foreign oil are cutting into the demand for Texas crude.

With the conservatives scoring victories in both House and Senate, the future looked doubtful for increasing pay of teachers and state employees and for improving the state's highways.

Representative Charles Murphy of Houston advocates a constitutional amendment that would devote all future increases in the gasoline tax to roads.

That would help the road situation, if a gasoline tax increase were passed; but it would not give any more money to schools.

Governor Allan Shivers voiced his disapproval of any new state taxes except a 1 cent increase in the gasoline tax, to pay for more roads. The governor also said he hoped for court approval of the present natural gas tax which would bring in forty to forty-five million dollars. He added that if the gas tax is found constitutional he may call a special session to appropriate the money for state improvements and services.

One proposed solution to the highway problem is to authorize construction of toll roads. But there is difference of opinion in both House and Senate as to how the toll road authority should be set up.

The first bill to be introduced was one that would permit the installation of a Dallas-Fort Worth toll road. Later there were other bills in both House and Senate, these making the toll road authority statewide.

The House bill, for example, provides that the three highway commissioners would head the state toll road agency.

Sponsors of this bill say it would make possible the construction of needed roads immediately; that the roads would be built by private industry; and that they would save tax money.

Supporters of this measure also argue that a central state agency would be preferable to a number of local, un-coordinated toll road authorities.

The highway department, meanwhile, was about a million dollars better off than it expected to be.

The department let contracts for improvements on 446 miles of state roads. The total bids amounted to about nine and a half million dollars.

The department had figured that the cost would be more like ten and a half million.

Senators gave their support to Pioneer Airlines in that carrier's controversy with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The board had denied Pioneer larger mail subsidies, claimed to be necessary after putting larger aircraft into operation at the board's suggestion.

By a resolution passed unanimously, the Senate called the CAB's action ilconsidered, capricious, and arbitrary.

By all tests so far, the Legislature has approved giving the right of jury service to women.

A resolution calling for the necessary constitutional amendment passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 124 to 16. A Senate committee also put its ok on women jury service.

If the resolution is finally passed, the voters will have their chance to approve or disapprove the proposition at the general election in November next year.

Forty-two states now permit women to serve on juries.

The Senate passed, 26 to 2, and sent to the House a bill providing that persons convicted of drunken driving would automatically go to jail for three days and pay a $50 fine.

Senator Carlos Ashley, author of the bill, said it would aid law enforcement and traffic safety if people who drive while drunk know they will have to spend some time in jail.

The bill would not change the maximum penalties of two years in jail and $500 fine.

Radio and television stations do not want to be sued for any libelous statements made by persons who buy time on the stations.

In the House is a bill by Representative J. R. Paxton of Elkhart that would give the desired protection, requested by the Texas Association of Broadcasters.

HIGH PITCHED PINCH—The long arm of the law has a super-voice in West Berlin. Seen above, a policeman is shouting to a traffic violator with the aid of his portable loudspeaker.

Witnesses told the judiciary committee, which voted the bill out, that stations actually have no control over what a political candidate says in a broadcast or telecast, though he may be asked for an advance script.

Senate committee approval was given to a bill by Senator Searcy Bracewell of Houston that would provide a special deer hunting season for those who employ the bow and arrow.

The season would be set by the State Game and Fish Commission ten days before the regular deer season.

Hunters who use the bow and arrow are true sportsmen, says Howard Dodgen, commission secretary. Howard Basch, president of the Texas Bow Hunters Association, told the committee: "We prefer to do it the hard way."

The Supreme Court will hear arguments next month on the validity of the drivers responsibility law. The San Antonio Court of Civil Appeals had ruled in favor of the Texas Department of Public Safety in upholding the act. . . . A Senate Committee voted to prohibit further expansion of Texas junior colleges, but Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo gave notice that he would bring the proposition out on a minority report. . . . The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports that Texas now produces more gas, consumes more within its own borders, exports more to other states, and has more underground than any other state.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
"Biff" Falls for His Own Story
Biff Morgan's four-year-old daughter Rusty is something of a night owl. Stays awake way past her bedtime.
Every night Mrs. Morgan complained about how hard it was to get Rusty to go to sleep. Finally Biff decided to handle the situation. "Anyone can get a kid to sleep — takes a little patience! Here, hand me her storybook."
He grabs the book and goes into Rusty's room. About an hour later Rusty comes padding out in pajamas and hands her mother the book. "Read it quietly," she whispers, "so we don't wake Daddy."
From where I sit, Biff won't be so quick to be a "child-care specialist" the next time. If we could just resist being such "know it alls," our neighbors would be better off. Take those who would deny me a glass of beer with my supper — well, I might not care for the buttermilk they like. We all ought to realize that we all have different abilities and different preferences, too.

State Draft Quota For Month of May Set at 2,823 Men

Austin, Tex. — The state draft quota for May calls for induction of 2,823 men, Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, announced Tuesday.

General Wakefield said that quotas to local draft boards for the May call would be mailed April 7. The May call is 53 less than the April call of 2,876 men.

State Selective Service headquarters was scheduled today to mail to local boards calls for May pre-induction physical examination involving 4,858 men.

Local boards will be authorized to examine men down to the age of 19 on the May pre-induction examination call and induct men down to the age of 19 years and 4 months on the May induction call.

"We have been instructed to fill the May call as far as possible with men 20 years old or older," General Wakefield said, "but, for both April and May, the manpower situation being what it is, the majority of those inducted without a doubt will be under 20."

To show how the number of 19-year-olds going into the Army is increasing, General Wakefield pointed to the percentage of youths under 20 in the examined and acceptable draft group in Texas—usually kept at a level of 10,000 men.

On December 1, 1952, the percentage of this group of men who were under 20 was one-half of 1 per cent. By the first of the year, men under 20 had grown to 5 per cent of the total. On February 1, youths under 20 amounted to 20 per cent of the total, and on March 1, the 19-year-old group was 49 per cent of the total.

It is from the examined and acceptable group that men are drafted into service.

Its label stated it was poison and warned that illness or death could result from either inhaling the fumes or spilling the spray on uncovered skin.

MOBILE INSTRUCTIONAL AND DEMONSTRATION TEAM WILL VISIT CORPUS CHRISTI

The armored vest now used in combat in Korea which deflects approximately 65 per cent of all types of missiles will be among the many interesting items of equipment to be shown when a mobile instructional and demonstration team for the Organized Reserve Corps from the Quartermaster Section Headquarters 4th Army, visits in Corpus Christi on March 31.

Equipment to be shown to reservists by the team consisting of two officers and two enlisted men will be transported in a six-ton army van, according to Major Edward Bray, ORC Unit Instructor, who today announced the team's ensuing visit.

He said that the showing of new developments in the quartermaster supplies, equipment and aerial resupply will be among the most interesting exhibits brought here.

"As much as the Quartermaster Corps would like to show members of the Organized Reserve Corps the new armored shorts now being tested in Korea, it has decided not to do so in view of the fact that each diaper supplement to the armored vest is much needed on the front lines," said Major Bray.

The vest together with the new armored shorts gives protective coverage to the entire torso. Used alone, the vest has reduced torso wounds by 60 or 70 per cent.

Other items of equipment which will be shown and demonstrated will be the Army's Yukon stove, new tropical boots with nylon uppers, nylon climbing rope, snow-white parkas, muk-luks and lightweight tropical field uniforms.

Instruction will be presented by Captains William H. Webb and Joseph H. Hilpert of the Fourth Army Quartermaster section, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, at 8 p. m. at Building No. 2, Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi.

All reservists in this area are invited to attend.

Jimmy Jack Batson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Wren, underwent major surgery at the Aransas Pass Hospital last Saturday. He was able to come home Wednesday.

Lawyers' Code Protects Interest of Public

Few people know that lawyers have a code of ethics more strict than the law itself. It is called the Canons of Professional Ethics and has been in effect in the United States since 1908.

"In America, where the stability of the courts, and all departments of government, rests upon the approval of the people, it is peculiarly essential that the system for establishing and dispensing justice be developed to a high point of efficiency and so maintained that the public shall have absolute confidence in the integrity and impartiality of its administration," reads the preamble of the Canons. Then follows a set of written rules for the conduct of lawyers which establish a high standard for their dealings with the people, the courts and with one another.

All members of the State Bar of Texas are required by Rules voluntarily adopted by them and ordered into effect by the State Supreme Court to observe 43 separate and distinct canons of professional ethics. In addition, there are Canons of Judicial Ethics governing the conduct of all our district and appellate judges.

It is rare that one finds a lawyer who, willingly and knowingly departs from the ideals of the code. It is more strict than the law itself, and many acts which are lawful are frowned upon by the code as improper conduct for attorneys. A lawyer may find himself criticized severely by his fellow lawyers and the courts, or even called upon before one of the Texas bar's 21 grievance committees, because he had done something which, though lawful, is contrary to the Canons.

Here are a few of the principles which lawyers have pledged themselves to follow: A lawyer may not represent clients with conflicting interests except with the client's consent after they have full knowledge of the situation. He is bound to give a frank opinion on the merits and likely results of a lawsuit, and should advise his clients to make a fair settlement if he can avoid or end a lawsuit.

He should not overvalue or undervalue his services. Ability to pay is no justification for an excessive lawyer's fee, although lack of finances on the part of the client may require a reduced fee or none at all. And he must never regard his profession as a money-getting trade but always remember that it is a branch of the administration of justice.

The same code requires that he be fair to other lawyers and that he be frank, cooperative and respectful to the courts. He is responsible for decisions regarding the best procedure to follow in a trial. He must do his best to prevent his client from acting improperly toward the court or jury, or in his duties as a citizen. These and many other restrictions are voluntarily accepted by the lawyer because the acts forbidden are felt to be unworthy of the high standards of the profession.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Voters Will Decide If Women May Serve As Jurors

A constitutional amendment allowing women to serve on juries was passed by the House of Representatives March 16 by a vote of 124 to 16. The people of Texas will vote on the proposed amendment Nov. 11.

If it is approved by the voters, rules putting the amendment into action would then be set up by the Legislature, said Rep. Horace Houston, Dallas. Mothers with children under 16 years old and women who are nurses would be exempt from jury service by another bill being held for House approval pending the passage of the amendment by voters. Under present law, only women, convicts, and insane persons are not allowed to serve on juries.

Another House Joint Resolution was approved by the House. This bill, which would give soldiers the right to vote, was passed March 10.

Rep. Harold B. Parish, 35th District, was a supporter of both amendments. "I believe," he said, "that enactment of these bills would broaden democratic rights and equality in Texas, and allow the people of Texas to vote on these amendments."

Rep. Parish is continuing his efforts to prevent Rep. William Gray from cutting off the Nueces valley water supply. Rep. Gray has several bills before the House for this purpose. One of them has been put off to a later hearing.

Sherman, Titus, Sam, and Rodney Mundine were called to Austin Tuesday by the illness of their sister, Mrs. A. W. Fisher, who underwent surgery at the Brackenridge Hospital in Austin. Mrs. Fisher is better and they returned home Wednesday night.

R. D. Torres Jr., of the United States Navy, and Mrs. Torres, surprised their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Torres and Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Mundine, when they drove in from San Diego, Calif., March 17. They will leave tomorrow to visit in Oklahoma and at Plainview, Texas, before returning to San Diego. Mrs. R. D. Torres and Judy will accompany them to Oklahoma.

COLOR TV SETS NOT DUE FOR TWO OR MORE YEARS

Washington, D. C. — The last remaining restrictions on production of color television sets would be removed under a decision reported to have been made today.

But it's still likely to be two years or more before your living room set shows rainbow hues. That was the gist of testimony which Dr. Frank Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting System, gave today before the House Commerce Committee.

CBS is the developer of the only system of color TV approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

But shortly after that approval was given the National Production Authority issued its 1951 ban on building of color sets, to conserve materials and technical manpower for defense work.

Informed persons said today that NPA's Order Clearance Committee has approved final cancellation of that ban, and it may be signed within 48 hours by H. B. McCoy, acting NPA chief.

But, in line with Stanton's testimony, government and industry officials expected little immediate political effect.

Stanton told the committee his firm has no plans, under present circumstances, to go ahead with color broadcasts or the production of color sets.

He pointed out there are 23 million TV sets now in operation but they couldn't receive color broadcasts under the CBS method.

And since the NPA order against color equipment, he said, the situation has been "becalmed." He emphasized that the CBS system is not "dead."

Now Radio Corporation of America has indicated it will be ready by July or August to demonstrate to the FCC a new system for color transmission. The RCA method would permit present sets to receive in black-and-white the same programs that would be broadcast in color.

Under the circumstances, Stanton testified, it would be "wholly unrealistic" for CBS to expect either manufacturers or buyers to become interested in a method which might be displaced within a short time.

He said he doesn't know what stand CBS will take on the RCA proposal because he doesn't know enough about it.

Then he added: "But this much we do know with complete certainty. We are for any color system which works well, which is practical, and the cost of which is reasonable."

A CLEAN STORY

Paris, Texas. — The burglar who entered a Paris cleaning shop recently took a pair of pants — belonging to Policeman Glenn Parks. So when Paris police searched the home of a burglary suspect, Patrolman Parks went along. First thing he spotted was his missing pants.

CUT GLASS

Remember when cut glass was in fashion? Every home had a dazzling display which practically took over the entire sideboard. Some pieces even managed to creep into the parlor. Today cut glass is very interesting from the antique angle. When visitors call, there is always much oh-ing and ah-ing over Grandmother's cut glass dishes and vases. Remember?

Many have found our sympathetic understanding of financial limitations to be very satisfying in their time of need.
