HOUSEWARMING A BIG SUCCESS

Last Tuesday evening the Magazine Club entertained a large party of invited guests at their club building, in honor of their husbands. The building was suitably decorated for the occasion, and accommodated the large crowd.

After the guests were assembled Rev. J. D. White delivered the invocation, followed by an address of welcome by the president, Mrs. J. U. Fields, who with pardonable pride, told how the club had purchased a home. She also paid a splendid tribute to the "Club husbands," who listened with appreciation and admiration, as the graceful and eloquent president rendered for the club women expressions of appreciation of their husbands and every mothers son of them went away swelled with pride because he possessed a club woman for a wife. The president's address gave tone and pitch to the program to follow.

The chorus by the Symphony Club was charming, as the trained voices rang with melody and softly expressed the sentiments of the selection. The piano solo by Mrs. O. E. Patterson caught the guest, who were astonished by the expression and touch demonstrating her mastery of all the piano forte is capable of as a musical instrument. Rev. E. R. Wallace delivered an address on "The Influence of Public Libraries Upon a Town." His address showed a deep appreciation of the influence of libraries on world thought and progress, and how the ideals of peoples of the past are preserved in libraries, and how books recorded the aspirations of a people. He also made the point that all libraries in all times contained religious literature. Mrs. A. J. Combes rendered a solo, that delighted all present. She possesses a splendid and cultured voice. Mrs. Burnside, of Wichita Falls, district President of the Clubs, was present and responded with an address highly complimentary to the Haskell ladies for their executive ability and management in securing a home of their own, and building a library. The piano duet by Mesdames Earl Cogdell and O. E. Patterson, members of the Symphony Club, was a rare treat to the lovers of music present. Judge A. J. Smith responded for the Club husbands, and gave a history of the struggles of the club, and pulled back the veil of the future, picturing grand triumphs when the ambitions for a library, rest room, and a magnificent club building, shall adorn the public square in Haskell. Messrs. Jas. A. Greer, Jim Killingsworth, Rev. J. D. White and O. F. Kolb, with their superbly trained voices, rendered a quartet, and were honored with an encore to which they reluctantly responded with a happy and appropriate selection.

Miss Lela Odell gave a splendid reading, holding the audience throughout, and responding to the encore with a most appropriate and amusing piece. The Symphony Club closed the program with a beautiful chorus, after which the guests we served with refreshments.

In conclusion the Free Press desires to bespeak the co-operation of every one in trying to encourage the ladies in their worthy ambitions. The address of welcome by the president is sufficient to disarm critics. She extended in the most beautiful words, a welcome to all, the high and the low, the rich the poor, with an invitation to take advantage of the club.

Meeting of Teachers and Parents

Last Monday night, at the High School Auditorium, a number of the patrons of the schools met with the teachers, and discussed the over-crowded condition of the High School building. Both teachers and patrons gave their views, and several plans were suggested. One was that the high school work be moved to the East Ward building, one the moving of some of the lower grades to the East Ward, another was to abandon the East Ward, another was to build an addition to the high school building. Prof. Turrentine advocated that the school buildings be concentrated at some central point. He showed that it would save $1200 annually in service of janitors, fuel and repairs, which sum would pay interest on a large issue of bonds and create a sinking fund. Among those who made interesting talks were J. A. Couch, M. A. Clifton, Mrs. C. D. Long, T. G. Williams, Mayor Cahill, Miss Minnie Ellis and Judge A. J. Smith. Mr. Turrentine made many sensible and pertinent comments, and stated the situation clearly.

After the meeting, Miss Peek invited us to the Domestic Science department, and demonstrated its efficiency by the refreshments served.

The Yeomen Celebrate.

Thursday night of last week the local Yeomen met at their hall and spent the evening with music, speaking, readings, conversation and refreshments. There were violins, mandolins, an organ and a mammoth harp-guitar. All the instruments were in the hands of those who could use them. Mr. J. O. Poe, with his violin, and two of his small sons with small mandolins and one son on the organ, made the very walls vibrate with music. There were other players who elicited the approval of the assemblage, but the Poes captured the crowd. The good wives had provided great cakes and these with chocolate and coffee were served to the satiety of the guests. The occasion was the celebration of the 18th anniversary of the Yeoman order. Whole families of the members of the local lodge, together with invited friends, were present to enjoy the festivities of the occasion. The children were made free and easy, as well as everybody present. The spirit of fraternity and good fellowship was applied and the absence of formalities and conventional form was a notably happy feature and lent a unique character to the occasion.

Religious Census for Haskell.

Realizing the great number of people in our town, who are not connected with our Sunday schools and churches—many of these have recently come to town to make their home—and desiring to do the greatest possible help to all, we have arranged to take a religious census of the entire town next Sunday afternoon, beginning from the Methodist church at two o'clock, and to finish as nearly by the hour of five as possible.

There will be prepared, all cards, information and other things needful, so that the men of the town, desiring to have part in this work, need lose no time, but simply come to the Methodist church at 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon to join the army of workers there.

The people of the city are requested to remain at home for the afternoon as closely as convenient so that the workers will have to lose no time in hunting you up. Please be prepared to assist the workers with ready information. A copy of information is found in this week's issue of the Free Press.

All together, ready, go.
We are yours for service,

Which Shall It Be?
Which Will You Do, Win Your Independence or Marry a Two-bit Man

You are at the cross roads of life. There are two paths open to you. One leads to your independence, the other to dependency. You are to choose, not next year, not next month, but now, which of these roads you prefer to travel. One requires effort, the other indifference. To travel one, you must have a real back bone and determination, the other, a string for a back bone, and indifference will do. Some girls say, "The lion is in the way." These girls lack gumption, get-up-and-get, they reason that if so-and-so and such-and such a thing had not have happened they could have made a great success. The lion is in the way. Fear and indifference has entered into their daily life and robbed them of their vim and courage. Young people need our help. It's our life work, to train people to determine to get up and do things, develop their latent talents, quicken their perception that they may lead a higher and more useful life. Our thorough practical training in Bookkeeping, Business Methods, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, Business English, Business Law, Business Arithmetic, Spelling, Business Writing, Rapid Calculation, Money and Credit, Corporation and Finance, Taxation and Public Finance, Private Secretaryship, Salesmanship, Advertising, Real Estate, Commercial History, Higher Accounting, Economics, Parliamentary Law and Managership, together with the use of the most modern office appliances, gets the lion out of the way, gives the girl her independence, places her where she can make an honorable living, in any city in the land and command the respect of men worthy of her attention. If in after life, she is left a widow with plenty of money or property she knows how to care for it. If upon the other hand, she is left and has to support herself she can do so by accepting a good salaried position in some nice commercial or county or state office.

Girls who graduate from our institution are not only carefully looked after while in school, but the place where we secure them a position, through our employment department is carefully investigated as to the moral surroundings, and in the larger cities we have arranged for appropriate boarding places in private homes. No mother need fear her daughter will not have the proper care and attention while in our school and in making her start into the business office.

Young women, select the road that leads to your independence. Don't be always dependent on others. Thousands have won their independence with us, why not you? THE FARMERS' UNION MEETING

Several farmers of Haskell county, attended the meeting of the Wichita Valley District Farmers Union, held at Fort Worth, the 2nd and 3rd of February.

The District is composed of thirty counties, and Geo. E. Courtney of Haskell, is its president. The delegates reported a very successful meeting.

Among other matters considered and disposed of at this meeting was an agreement by the members for an assessment of $1.00 per bale for each bale of cotton raised by them, to be used as capital stock for a bank to be established in the Wichita Valley District, the exact location, to be held as a secret of the Union.

The Wichita Valley District also organized a new business institution, to be known as The Farmers Union Exchange, to be incorporated, and located either in Fort Worth or in Dallas, for the purpose of buying and exchanging real estate, live stock, farm produce, merchandise and mill products of all kinds. Geo. E. Courtney was elected President and General Manager of this institution, A. H. Lee of Seymour, Wis. President, and R. M. Smith of Rule, secretary. A large amount of the capital stock has been subscribed, and the balance of the required amount is expected to be raised by the members of the thirty counties, in the next thirty days.

The Free Press feels a local pride in the selection of two of the officers from this county, and when we consider the efficiency with which these men have conducted the Farmers Union store here, we believe the Union is justified in the confidence they have shown in Mr. Courtney and Mr. Smith. These men have devoted years of study to the necessities of the farmers, and have been untiring in their support of Union Principles. Mr. Courtney is a man of unusual executive ability, and makes a success of any business he undertakes.

Conscientious.
He's one of the most conscientious men I know.
So?
Yes. He always says "Give me a match, please," instead of "Lend me a match."—Detroit Free Press.

TOO MANY CHILDREN

are under-size, under-weight with pinched faces and poor blood; they do not complain but appetite lags, they have no ambition and do not progress.

Such children need the rich medicinal nourishment in Scott's Emulsion above everything else; its pure cod liver oil contains nature's own blood-forming, flesh-building fats which quickly show in rosy cheeks, better appetite, firm flesh and sturdy frames.

If your children are languid, tired when rising, catch cold easily or find their studies difficult, give them Scott's Emulsion; it supplies the very food elements that their systems lack.

Scott's Emulsion contains no alcohol and is so good for growing children it's a pity to keep it from them.

HASKELL, TEXAS, Feb. 13, 1915.

We see in the diplomatic questions being raised between the warring and the neutral nations, forces that are going to prove more and more embarrassing to nations who go to war. We get the international laws from the rotten ideals of the military states of Europe, but the American continent is getting together and calling in ether neutral nations, and it looks like the trend is toward making the high seas neutral. There is a clash coming between the amateur diplomacy of the Western Continent and the rotten diplomacy of Europe. The European idea leads to barbarism, and the autocracy of war lords, while the Western idea leads to democracy and justice between nations. We hope to see a new Europe emerge from the ruins of autocracy, with ideals of peace, happiness and personal liberty. We witness the statesmanship of the Anglo-Saxon, using the army of one autocracy to combat the army of another autocracy, and see the day approaching when the bitterest haters of English power, may find in her a friend and protector, when the Slav shall threaten the Teutonic peoples with subjection.

Notice of Trustee's Sale
Whereas, heretofore, on to-wit, March 1, 1912, R. B. Croker and Wife, Margaret C. Croker, made and executed their certain deed of trust, recorded in Vol. 14, page 24 et seq. of the Mortgage or Deed of Trust record of Haskell county, Texas, naming R. B. Bishop his successor or substitute trustee, for the benefit of the Republic Mortgage Co., for the better securing the payment of one certain mortgage loan, in the principal sum of Two Thousand Three Hundred and Fifteen Dollars ($2315) and five interest coupons attached to the said bond, which said land and indebtedness are more fully described in said deed of trust and the record thereof, to which reference is here made, and for the purpose of description, made a part hereof. One interest coupon is due on Feb. 1, annually, and it is provided in said instrument that failure to pay any installment of interest when due, at the option of the holder, may mature the entire indebtedness.

And thereafter the said indebtedness was transferred to D. J. Kubecka, and R. B. Bishop refused to further act as substitute trustee, and thereafter D. J. Kubecka, in writing, appointed the undersigned as successor or substitute trustee in lieu, and instead of R. B. Now therefore, by virtue of the power and authority, given in said deed of trust, I will offer for sale, between the legal hours thereof to-wit: between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4:00 P. M. at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, on the first Tuesday in March 1915, (the sale being the second day of said month) at the court house door in the city of Haskell, in Haskell County, Texas, the following described property to-wit:

Thence South 98 1/2 varas to stake for corner, Thence East 1254 varas to stake in East line of said No. 70. Thence North with said east boundary line 98 1/2 varas to the place of beginning, less a strip 8 feet wide along the south line reserved for road, leaving conveyed herein 224 1/2 acres of land.

Together with all the rights, members, and appurtenances thereto belonging.

This sale is made under and by virtue of the power and authority given in said deed of trust and for the purpose of paying said debt and executing said trust.

"Cascarets" Cleanse Liver and Bowels

No More Headache, Bad Colds, Sour Stomach and Constipation
Get a 10 cent box now.
Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important. Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

Notice to the Public.
We the Commissioners Court of Haskell county, did on the 9th day of February, 1915 raise the quarantine on all smallpox cases in this County, and do hereby notify all parties of said action, and urge that every citizen in Haskell County use all precaution possible to stop this disease. We have tried and spent a considerable amount of money trying to get it stopped, but it would break out and scatter all over a community before the County Health Officer, or anyone else could find it out. We wish to commend our County Health officer and all of the physicians over the county for their faithful work in trying to keep down the smallpox, but we have come to the conclusion that the best thing to do is to raise the quarantine and let everybody be cautioned. A. J. Smith, Co. Judge.

Mr. Farmer, get wise, we are paying you $25.00 per ton for cotton seed on actual scale weight, while if you sell at the gin two for one you will lose from 100 to 500 pounds on each bale of seed. Figure for yourself what you are getting out of your boly seed. You gain from 50 to 500 pounds on every load on actual weight. Hunt Bros.
Mrs. Henry Alexander left Sunday for St. Louis to purchase the millinery stock for F. G. Alexander and Sons. She was accompanied as far as Fort Worth by Mr. Alexander.

Reduction in Living Costs Made Possible by Perfect Product.
The sudden and highly alarming increase in cost of food necessities, such as sugar and flour, demand increased domestic economy. For incomes have not advanced with this war-time soaring of food prices.
Waste of food as well as cost of food must be considered and minimized in these days of exorbitant prices.
Fortunately, the greatest food waste with which the housewife has to contend—bake-day failures and the waste of costly baking materials—is rendered preventable by the perfectable perfect leavening power of Calumet Baking Powder.
Calumet is an absolutely sure baking powder of absolute purity. It never fails to produce fully raised bakings that are tender and temptingly delicious. For its wonderful leavening strength never varies. It's always uniform—and always unexcelled.
Calumet costs a mere trifle more than cheap Big can brands, but it is decidedly more economical to use. For big bulk powders of inferior quality are never dependable—never certain. Consequently failure as frequently as success follows their use. So remember when tempted to save by securing greater baking bulk that you sacrifice quality and invite bake-day failures that usually cost many times the price of the baking powder.
Many trust brand baking powders sell at a higher price than Calumet. But none possess the high quality of this excellent leavener—as is conclusively proven by the fact that Calumet received highest awards World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago; Paris Exposition, France, March, 1912.
To pay more than is asked for Calumet simply means a useless waste of money. To pay less, and obtain an inferior powder, means the useless waste of baking materials.
Order a can of Calumet. Save a substantial sum on the price asked for trust brands when you use it. Save the flour, sugar, butter and eggs so often wasted by big can powders—when you use it. You are safe in ordering Calumet, in trying it, in testing the truth of these claims, for if you are not thoroughly satisfied the purchase price will be refunded by your local dealer.
In buying a can of Calumet send the slip found in the one-pound can to the Calumet Baking Powder Co., Advertising Department, Chicago, Ill., and you will receive one of their handsome 72-page Cook Books, illustrations in colors, and a book that will be a guide to economy in the kitchen.
Mrs. G. G. Howard and children, of Hawley, who had been visiting near here, left Saturday night to return home.
The Quinine That Does Not Affect The Head
Because of its tonic and laxative effects LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE is better than ordinary Quinine and does not cause nervousness or ringing in head. Remember the full name and look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. 25c.

Ever Salivated by Calomel? Horrible!
Calomel is quicksilver and acts like dynamite on the liver
Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.
When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for 50 cent a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside and cannot salivate.
Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

A Sailor's Ghost Yarn

By MILLARD MALTBIE

"You want a yarn, mates?" said the old salt. He was somewhere between eighty-five and ninety years old. "Well, I'll tell you one that'll give you an iceberg chill."

"A ghost story?"
"Yes, and a story of a real ghost. I didn't see it myself, but I see the man that seen it and where he was a-lookin' at it, too, and he told me."

"How did you know he wasn't lyin'?"

"How did I know that? Did you ever see a man that was seel'n' a ghost? No? Well, when you do you'll know there's no mistakin' what he's lookin' at."

"To begin at the right end o' this yere yarn I must say that in the day when ships broke out with a cloud o' canvas agin the blue sky, instead o' movin' under a lot o' greasy maclin' ery below, I sailed before the mast in a full rigged brig in the China trade. There wa'n't no Suez canal in them days, and to git around the African east coast one was obliged to double the Cape of Good Hope."

"One o' our crew was a feller that none of us felt like messin' with very clost, though he didn't seem to want to mess with us neither. He had a hangdog look about him, and if anybody come up behind him, suddent-like, he would start as if he was afraid he was goin' to git a knife in his ribs. There was stories about him among the men, though they was whispered and couldn't be tracked down to a startin' point. One o' 'em was, if I don't disremember wrong, that he had shipped on a pirate in the West Indies. That might 'a' been, for he was more'n fifty years old, and that would throw him pretty nigh back into the century afore the last, when the pirates in these waters was still cruisin'."

"Murdock was his name—Joe Murdock. We didn't call him by his first name, as we did one another, but Murdock, which was part because he was so much older than we and part because he wasn't one o' us anyway. Well, one day when we was makin' northward along the east coast of Africa I was one o' the watch, and so was Murdock. We was on the fo'castle, we two, coffin' ropes, when we met a Dutchman that passed us so near we could see everybody there was on deck to'able plain."

"All of a suddent Murdock caught at the capstan, and I thort he was goin' to fall on the deck. Thinkin' he'd been took sick, I caught aboat o' him, and, lookin' into his face, I saw the most onearthly—well, it was what I was tellin' you at fust. He was starin' straight at the Dutchman amidships, where there wa'n't nobody, and was shiverin' as if struck by an arctic wind. His eyes follered the Dutchman while she was sailin' past; then he fell into my arms like a lump o' lead."

"The second mate seen me holdin' him up and come along to see what was the matter. I told him Murdock had been taken sick, and he called some men to help carry him below, but he come to himself and, bracin' up, told the mate he had had a dizzy spell and if he would send me with him nobody else would be needed. I supported him down, and when he got to his bunk he first covered his eyes with his hands awhile; then he says to me:

"Did you see a man on the Dutchman amidships leanin' over the gunwale?"

"No. I only saw the man at the wheel, some men holystonin' the afterdeck and a man aloft in the fo'most riggin'."

"Murdock looked up as if he was goin' to collapse."

"You mought jest as well out with it," I says to him.

"And he did, though he wouldn't 'a' done it unless he'd been in the shivers. He told me that when a very young man he had sailed with a Cap'n Webster; that the cap'n was mighty friendly and had promised to make him an officer. One day they was captured by a pirate on the Spanish main. They was all required to walk the plank, but Murdock saved his life by offerin' to tell where there was a treasure box concealed on the ship, and to join the pirate crew. When Cap'n Webster stepped off the plank he had turned and looked at Murdock—jest looked at him; didn't say nothin'."

"But Murdock never forgot that look. He served a year with the pirates—the only man of his ship's crew left alive, then made his escape."

"Since then," said Murdock, "I've been sailin' over the world's waters keepin' the horrible secret. And every onced in awhile when a ship passes I sees Cap'n Webster lookin' at me—sometimes in the fo'castle, sometimes in the riggin', sometimes over the taffril, but whatever place he takes it's always where there's no one else. And he always gives me that same look as when he turned and saw me just before he was goin' down into a watery grave."

The old man stopped and there was silence among his listeners. Presently one of them said, "Didn't it ever strike you that this man Murdock had thought so much about his cap'n lookin' at him that a-way that he made up the cap'n's ghost hisself?"

The narrator received this suggestion with contempt.

"If you'd 'a' seen him as I did you'd 'a' knowed he was lookin' at the real thing."

Old Soldiers

To my Confederate comrades, sons and daughters:

I am receiving weekly urgent requests for us all to attend the annual reunion, which convenes at Richmond, June 1, 2 and 3.

I assure you, you would never regret your time and money, as the reception will be cordial. Let us all go, for it is the last time we may all visit that historic and beautiful home of our dear Confederate capitol. If any should fall, all would be carefully looked after and cared for and our graves decorated with the most beautiful flowers.

I am not sure I can go, but will be sad if I can not go. I hope you will pull through the winter and go. Let me hear from you. Your friend and comrade. G. J. Miller.

Recognized Advantages

You will find that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has recognized advantages over most medicines in use for coughs and colds. It does not suppress a cough but loosens and relieves it. It aids expectoration and opens the secretions, which enables the system to throw off a cold. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. It contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. For sale by all dealers.

Sick, Sour Stomach, Indigestion or Gas

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes upset stomachs feel fine in five minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; it sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food, breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty-cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered, stomach; it's so unnecessary.

A WAX ROSE

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

Worthington, an American tourist, was traveling on foot in Italy.

There are some queer regions in Italy. Worthington would pass over a section of country wherein there were no inhabitants, then he would come upon a town set on the top of a hill, with no outskirts, nothing to connect it with any other people. He resolved to investigate one of these towns and, for the purpose, remain in it several days. He did not find out much about the town, except that it was a relic of medieval times, when no one felt safe unless enclosed in stone walls on the summit of a hill.

Worthington stopped at a hostelry commanding beautiful and interesting views. He loved to sit on a stone portico and look out on the landscape. The landlord's daughter seemed to have been captivated by him on sight. For on the evening of his arrival she waited on him at the table and could not keep her eyes off him. The next day when he was on the porch she went out there with a litre of wine and took advantage of his asking her about some points of interest on the rolling ground below to chat with him.

While they were there a young Italian of her own class went by the house and saw the girl evidently very much interested in the stranger. This man was her lover, and love is very sensitive. He saw danger for him in the American. When he saw her again he reproached her and accused her of being infatuated with one he considered his rival.

"Oh, Andrea," she replied, "how easily you become jealous!"

"Oh, Bianca," was the reply, "how quickly you are caught by a new fancy!"

Worthington remained in the place three days. Then when about to depart Bianca took a wax dower from a vase and offered it to him, telling him that it was a piece of her handiwork. He thanked her and put it in his buttonhole. She watched him descend the roadway, flanked on each side, as is customary in Italy, with high walls, until he was out of sight. But she knew he was on his way northward and must soon emerge where she could see him again. Presently he reappeared, and not far behind him a man was following. Bianca gave a subdued cry. Despite the distance she knew this man to be Andrea.

When Bianca saw her lover again she could tell by his appearance, his actions, that he had committed a crime, and she suspected what that crime was. If Andrea had followed the American and killed him there would be no likelihood of the murder being known, because the country so far as the next town, miles farther on, was uninhabited. She was tempted to charge Andrea with murder in order to see how he would receive the accusation, but she thought better of this and pretended not to suspect him. Gradually he seemed to recover from what haunted him and one day asked Bianca to name the day when she would marry him.

"The day I will marry you, Andrea? I will tell you that when you have brought me something I wish."

"What is that, Bianca?"

"The day the American went away I gave him one of the wax roses in the vase on the mantel there. He put it in his buttonhole, but I watched him go down the road and saw him throw the rose away. I wish to put it back in the vase with the other flowers. Find it and bring it to me. Then I will tell you when I will marry you."

"How can I do that, Bianca?"

"You must or I will not marry you." Andrea was much cast down at this and went away, saying that she had given him an impossible task. But the next day she saw him hunting beside the road. This action she received with a curl of the lip. A few days later he came to her with the rose. She turned pale as he handed it to her, for, since she had made it herself and put her mark upon it, she knew that it was the one she had given Worthington. She had laid a trap for Andrea and caught him, but she had not been sure that Andrea was a murderer. She did not believe that the American had thrown away the rose, and she now believed that Andrea had killed him and concealed or buried her gift with the body.

"Now, will you name the day, Bianca?" he asked.

"Come on—see me the day after tomorrow."

Andrea was obliged to wait. On the day appointed he went to see Bianca for her answer. He found with her a carabinieri, who, the moment Andrea entered, closed the door. Andrea's teeth chattered.

"You have come," said Bianca, "to have me name the day I will marry you. You will be wed to the gibbet, but it is for the judge to name the day. I saw you follow the American and by your guilty appearance believed that you had murdered him. In order to prove this I asked you to bring me the flower I had given him. Yesterday the police made a search of the road over which your victim passed and found his body hidden in a wood beside the road under a heap of logs that had been pulled together for the purpose. The rose had been bent and broken, but repaired."

The carabinieri took Andrea away, and the judge pronounced the day for his execution.

CATARRH OF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

Peruna Saved Me

Mrs. Powers, whose address is given below her portrait, is an ardent friend of Peruna. She says: "I am thankful to tell you that my old trouble has never bothered me any since you received my testimonial. Any one wishing to know the facts in my case, if they will write me I will be glad to answer. Your medicine has saved me, and gave me perfect health. I frequently meet friends that knew me when I was in poor health. They ask me what has made such a change in me. I always tell them that it was the nerve remedy, Peruna. I shall praise Peruna as long as I live."

Catarrh of the Internal Organs

Mrs. A. T. Powers, R. R. 7, Box 121, London, Ohio, writes: "I write to thank you for the wonderful good your Peruna has done for me. I was a sufferer from kidney and bladder trouble for twenty-two years. Two years ago I began to take Peruna, and I only took about three bottles and today I can say I am a well person."

Catarrh is liable to affect any of the internal organs. This is especially true of the bladder, which is very frequently the seat of catarrh. This is sometimes called cystitis.

Mr. James M. Powell, No. 1620 W. Walnut St., Rosedale, Kansas, writes: "About four years ago I suffered with a severe catarrh of the bladder, which caused continued irritation and pain. I was miserable and could not stand up or walk for any length of time without extreme weariness and pain. I began taking Peruna and it greatly relieved me and in eleven weeks I was completely cured, and felt like a new man."

Those who object to liquid medicine can now procure Peruna in Tablet form.

Will Brewer Succeeding

J. W. Brewer was at Oklahoma City last week where he went before the State Board of Optometry and passed a very creditable examination and was granted license to practice Optometry in Oklahoma. Under the laws of this state a person must be licensed to practice Optometry and the examinations are so difficult that only those who make an exhaustive study of the subject and carefully prepare themselves are successful in their efforts to secure license. Mr. Brewer is a graduate of Needles' Institute of Optometry, at Kansas City, Mo., and came here from Denton, Texas, a few months ago. His diploma was recognized by the State Board and it granted him the right to practice until the Board met in regular session to examine all those who wished to practice in the state.—Oklahoma Paper.

Mr. Brewer's many friends in Haskell, where he lived a number of years, will be glad to learn of his success.

Save Your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—stops itching scalp

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.
