

Navigation Board to Call For Bids on Paving at Harbor

The Aransas County Navigation Board, at its regular meeting Wednesday night, decided, now chances of interruption by bad weather were more or less over, to instruct their engineers, Lockwood and Andrews, of Houston, to proceed with the advertising of bids for repaving the area around Rockport harbor. Bids will be advertised on March 10, to be opened April 11, in the offices of the Navigation Board in Rockport. Other matters dealt with were the acquisition of the land still needed to allow work around the Fulton harbor to proceed without interruption, payment of routine bills, and consideration of a number of requests by various parties wishing to expand waterfront facilities. These requests were tabled for consideration at a later date.

Chairman Norvell Jackson stated that Lockwood and Andrews had set stakes in the Fulton area showing bottom cut lines in the new harbor, and that he had personally shown these to various parties along the Fulton waterfront that would be concerned with this matter. It was moved by Dick Picton, and seconded by Raymond Owens, that Ellis Clark, attorney for the board, be instructed to notify all parties concerned with this by registered mail.

Drainage problems attendant on construction of the new harbor have been worked out, Chairman Jackson said, remarking that they presented only minor difficulties. After some discussion of other routine matters, and approval of various bills for payment, the meeting adjourned.

Girl Scout Week to Be Observed Here March 6-12 With Various Activities And Three Day Drive for Needed Funds

Girl Scout Week will be observed in Rockport and Fulton March 6 through 12 with many activities according to Mrs. James B. Jackson, Neighborhood Chairman.

These activities include community service, window displays, a program at the Woman's Club, observance of Girl Scout Sunday, the annual Girl Scout Fund Drive and Cookie Sale and the week will be climaxed with girls from the entire Whooping Crane Council attending a Sing-Song in Gregory on March 12.

The program for the week will start on Sunday, March 6 when each girl and leader, in uniform, will attend the church of her choice. Ministers are planning special recognition of the scouts and their work. Store windows will show displays of work done by various troops. These displays may be seen at Johnson's Drug, Roaten's Drug, Townsend's Dress Shop and Sparks Dry Goods in Rockport and the Red & White Grocery in Fulton.

On Tuesday, March 8 at 3:30 p.m., the Woman's Club will present a special Girl Scout Program under the direction of Mrs. Arley Shivers, Chairman of the Girl Scout Committee of the Women's Club.

The actual Girl Scout Fund Drive will be concentrated in three days, March 9, 10 and 11. A court of honor is being planned for a later date this month. At this time badges will be presented.

The week's activities will be climaxed with a meeting of all troops from the Whooping Crane Council in Gregory on the Girl Scout Birthday March 12, at 1:00 p.m. The group will meet at the High School Gym.

The three-day Girl Scout Fund Drive will be under way in the Rockport-Fulton area on Wednesday, March 9, under the sponsorship of the Woman's Club.

Mrs. Arley Shivers is chairman of the committee in charge of the drive. A budget of $1200.00 has been approved by the Council for the Rockport-Fulton area. $400.00 of this sum will be used for immediate local needs and $800.00 is our share of the Council expense. This Council is made of Aransas, Bee and San Patricio counties. None of the money is sent to national headquarters.

Council expenses are prorated among the various neighborhoods in the council and the funds are disposed through the Finance Committee with the approval of the board. Mr. Joe Caldwell is the representative to the Finance Committee and Mrs. J. B. Jackson and Mrs. A. L. Holland are board members.

Council expenses include the salary of the executive, Mrs. Walsh, office expenses, training for volunteer workers, etc. Approximately 140 Rockport-Fulton girls are already active in Scouting and many more are eager to become scouts. More leaders are being recruited to serve these girls. At the present enrollment, the cost per scout, per year is approximately $8.00, which is low compared to some similar organizations.

School Trustee Election Due on April 2, for Both County and District

Election of County School Trustee and Independent School District Board Members will take place April 2. As there has never been a ruling handed down by the state attorney general as to whether candidates must file for election 10 days before actual election, or 10 days before the beginning of absentee balloting, it might be well, if you are interested, to file early.

Two places will be open this year on the Independent School District Board, those of Dr. H. F. Elliot and A. F. Dervage. Dervage, after nearly 15 years on the board, has signified his intention of retiring. Dr. Elliot has refiled for his position, and Matt Scott is filing from Fulton.

Written application to be placed on the ballot may be filed with Shelley Roaten, Secretary of the board until, but no later than 6:00 p.m., March 15, 1955.

Three places are open on the County Board, those for Precinct 2, now held by Dick Fox, for Precinct 3, now held by Arthur Bracht, and for County Trustee at Large, now held by Fred Clobberdants.

Fox, Bracht, and Clobberdants have all filed for re-election. Election judges are: Mrs. A. L. Brundrett, Rockport, Mrs. E. G. Cooke, Fulton, and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Lamar.

Along The Waterfront

Rep. Maurice Pipkin, Brownsville, pushed through to final passage in the House his HB-228 which will allow fishermen to transport their shrimp and fish to the processing plant without a Railroad Commission truck permit. The measure now is in the Senate for further action.

Taylor Oaks guests have been showing up in the Waterfront news this week with some regularity. Last Sunday, Ed Whitfill, of Lockney, Texas, Loren Ball of Watonga, Okla., and Bob Townsend, a Canadian, went fishing from Johnson's Bait Stand, and came in with 60 big trout, some of which would go two pounds. Tuesday, Whitfill and two other fellows, Lockney, Texas, vacationers, L. A. Cooper and John Belt, went out, and strung 50 trout, with some more two-pounders in the bunch, and on Wednesday, just to prove that it wasn't a fluke, Whitfill went again, this time with Henry Ford of Lockney, and brought in 28 more. Tuesday, in the same area, Smitty Smith landed a 6½-pound redfish.

Curly Floyd said a few fishermen had been catching trout and scattering sheephead, and Morrison's reported that there were sheephead being caught off the rocks, and up near the causeway, while trout were coming in from up the bay, and out of Mesquite (Continued on page 8)

PROCLAMATION

Whereas: The Governor of the State of Texas, both Legislative bodies, the State Board of Education, Texas State Teacher's Association and the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers concur in the belief that a sound progressive system of education requires active interest of all of our people, and that it is the privilege and duty of every citizen to cooperate with their respective school board members, superintendents, principals and teachers in an effort to improve the public educational system in all local communities and also upon a state wide basis, and that such a co-operation can best be developed by personal contacts with school board members, administrators and teachers; and whereas, these legislative bodies in our state have designated March 7 thru 12, 1955 as Public School Week.

Therefore I, Seth H. Steele, Mayor of the City of Rockport, do proclaim said date as Public School Week and call upon all citizens of the city and county to co-operate with school officials in this concerted effort in behalf of an improved public educational system. EDITORIAL

The need for the public school never changes, but times and conditions may change or require to be changed methods and practices of public education. This is inherent with anything that grows, for growth is the result of change.

Our Texas public schools were created 101 years ago. In 1854 the first law passed establishing the public school.

It is a healthy thing in our democratic way of life to have an intelligent understanding of the important functions of our basic institutions. This is especially true of the schools. The initiative and resourcefulness and the wisdom and leadership that our schools are inculcating in the youth of today are the answer of the problems of citizenship in the years ahead.

The need of our times must come from the public schools—schools that are strong in the virtues required for building strong men and women.

We can be assured of this and do our part in understanding and helping the public schools to fulfill their great obligation to our times by being a participant in the annual Public Schools Week, March 7 through 12. Schools will hold open house; accept their hospitality, and you will enjoy the experience of going back to school—if but for a day.

INSURANCE PAYABLE FOR SURVIVORS OF WORKERS WHO DIED BEFORE SEPT, 1950

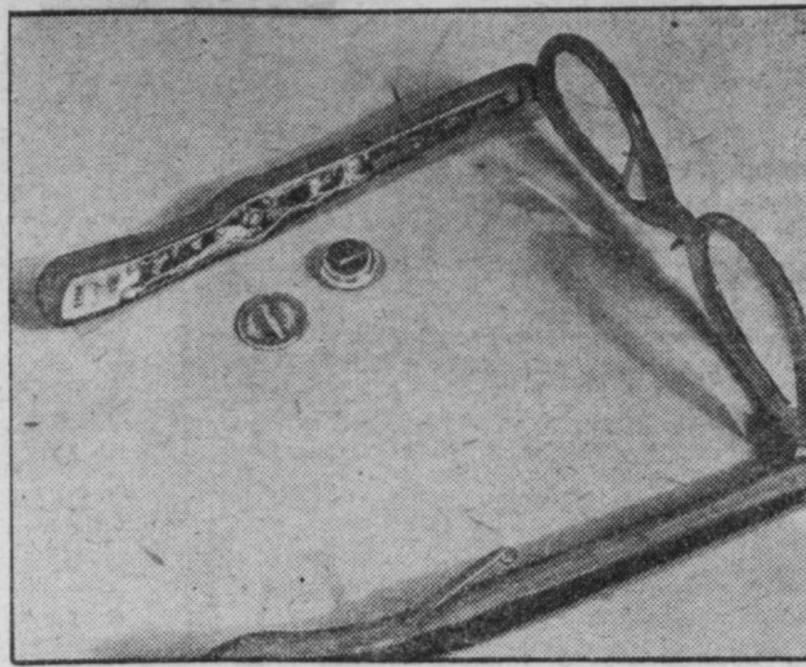

The amended Social Security Act now permits payment of survivors insurance for some families of deceased workers who could not collect benefits before because the worker had not worked long enough under the old law to be insured. So says H. M. Cleveland, District Manager of the Social Security Administration in Corpus Christi. This provision applies when a worker died after June, 1940 and before September, 1950.

"For example, a worker who died in June, 1948 would have needed twenty-two calendar quarters of coverage to be fully insured. Under the amendments," Cleveland explained, "if he had as many as six quarters, or a year and a half of work on social security jobs or military service after 1939, his widow and children can now draw the survivors insurance if they are otherwise qualified."

The insurance may now be paid for the children under age 18, to the unmarried widow who has such a child in her care, and to widows after they are 65 years of age.

A member of the family who believes he may be eligible should inquire now. Cleveland says that this is true whether or not a previous application was filed, and disallowed.

In this area, applications should be filed with the Social Security Administration, 424 Taylor Street, Corpus Christi, Texas.

LOOK TO LISTEN—Powered by a tiny battery to right of dime, shown for comparison, a new-type hearing aid which masquerades as an eyeglass frame is now in production. Clear plastic tube, shown on lower ear frame, conducts amplified sound to the wearer's ear. The battery, which screws into ear frame, has a life-in-use of about 180 hours. Frames may be fitted with clear glass for those with good eyesight who yet want to dispense with paraphernalia of more conventional hearing devices, according to the Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., manufacturer.

Hearing Often Taken for Granted

Most of us take our hearing for granted. It probably has never occurred to us what a change it would make in our lives if we were suddenly deprived of it. We seldom think of the numerous sounds we hear during the day, sounds which keep us in close touch with the world about us. For those who can't hear, or who have difficulty hearing, it's almost like living in a different world, declared Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. There are many children, more than a million it's estimated, who live in this other world. They have either been born deaf or have lost much, or maybe all, of their hearing since birth. Being somewhat cut off from the world, the deaf child is frustrated because he can't communicate his feelings and needs to others. A sense of inferiority and hostility is frequently the result. Most hearing loss in children is the result of repeated colds and infections in the ears, nose, and throat. Such infections can cause what we know as conduction deafness. If such infections are not treated early, a child's hearing may receive permanent damage. Hearing loss may follow measles, scarlet fever, influenza, or meningitis. These diseases may result in what is referred to as nerve deafness.

Enlarged adenoids, the result of infections, account for many cases of partial loss of hearing. The overgrown adenoids block up the little tubes that lead from the throat to the ears. These tubes must be open and clear for good hearing. For these children, curing infection isn't enough. Their adenoids may have to be removed. Otherwise, they may suffer permanent hearing loss.

Not all children with a hearing loss can regain it. A serious infection, such as meningitis, can completely destroy the patient's hearing ability. As soon as deafness is suspected the child should be taken to an ear specialist for a complete examination.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 3

Not All Your Income Goes In Your Tax Form

(This is one of a series of articles on income tax changes. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

Taxpayers make more mistakes in listing their income than any other type of error, according to a survey made by the Internal Revenue Service. It is important to know what to include and what NOT to include. Look at this list and see if you can tell which should be listed as income on your federal income tax return:

- Dividends from an insurance policy.
 - Pay of armed forces enlisted men while in combat or while hospitalized from combat service. Social Security benefits.
 - Gifts.
 - Payments received under Workmen's Compensation laws.
 - The answer is that none of the above should be listed as taxable income! There are other forms of exempt income, too, which you will find listed in the official tax instructions. Some of them are:
 - Other Exempt Income
 - Inheritances and bequests (the estate may be taxed but not the recipient).
 - First $200 of monthly pay of armed forces officers while serving or hospitalized from active service in a combat zone.
 - Railroad Retirement Act benefits. Certain health and accident benefits.
 - Damages awarded by a court or paid out of court for personal injuries.
 - Government payments and benefits to veterans and their families, except nondisability retirement pay and interest on
 - terminal leave bonds.
 - Interest on state and municipal bonds.
 - Parsons and Prizes
 - The rental value of a parsonage furnished to a minister of the gospel is not taxable income; the law now adds that a rental allowance paid to him for this purpose is also exempt.
 - If you won a prize, watch this fine distinction: the prize is taxable if you were required to exert even the slightest effort to earn it; on the other hand, if it was made in recognition of scientific, literary or other achievement and you were selected without any action on your part the prize is considered a gift and you are not taxed on it.
 - Most scholarships and fellowships are exempt, unless they are paid as compensation for services, such as teaching and research.
 - Additional Information
 - Be sure to read the official instructions. You can also get help from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult only qualified advisers.

Style Show Luncheon At Country Club Huge Success

"Springtime" was the theme of the style show luncheon at the Live Oak Country Club, Saturday with Mrs. Charles A. Roe of Rockport and Mrs. W. J. Mott of Aransas Pass, chairmen of arrangements. Flowering fruit trees in white and shades of pink were the background for the tables laid with flamingo pink mats and centered with tapers in pastel shades.

Mrs. H. F. Elliott extended a welcome to the guests and Mrs. Ellis L. Clark was style commentator. Ran Wilde furnished music as each model passed in review, wearing spring fashions from Townsend's Dress Shop and Sparks Dry Goods Store of Rockport and Clendening's, Tabet's and Kaufman's in Aransas Pass.

First on the ramp was Miss Loy Scherlemer whose costume dated back to the mid 1880s, a black lace and taffeta creation with high boned collar and long full sleeves. In quick succession were styles in acetate and fine combed cotton, coffee colored linen, sail cloth sports clothes; 'after 5', cotton and rayon failles; shirt waist dresses in colorful prints; flame cotton poplin and linen one piece models with contrasting boleros; nylon formals, dresses for dining and dancing, beach costumes and the correct wear for shopping and traveling. Many of the costumes accented the long torso, a much favored note in milady's wardrobe for spring and summer.

The models included Mrs. Bill Reneau, Mrs. R. D. McConchie, Mrs. Pete Fathree, Mrs. William Tinnerman, Miss Nanette Middleton, Mrs. S. W. Smith, Mrs. Roy Glenn Howe, Miss Sue Holmes, Mrs. Alvin Day, Mrs. William Moore, Mrs. Cecil Miller, Miss Caroline Clark, all of Aransas Pass; Mrs. Joe Sykes, Ingleside; from Rockport, Mrs. J. D. Griggs, Mrs. T. J. Johnson, Mrs. Stierly Rozzell, Mrs. Gary Smith, Mrs. Grady West, Miss Mary Lou Johnson, Miss Sue Johnson, Mrs. Arthur Bracht, Miss Cynthia Highfill and Miss Diane Brown.

Modeling the latest note in styles seen around the old corral were the members of the Whooping Crane Quartette, Mrs. Mary Juergens, Mrs. Norvell Jackson, Mrs. Ran Wilde and Mrs. James

OPEN COURT

Most of us never go inside a courtroom, unless perhaps to pay a traffic fine. Yet things take place there that vitally affect the way we live. That's why we believe that justice must be done in "open court" where all may see.

Why not visit a court soon, and see what goes on? The judge who conducts the trial will be glad to have you present. He sits on the "bench" behind a big desk. His job is to see that each party gets a fair hearing, to keep order, and to instruct the jury in the law, or to decide the case if there is no jury.

The jury sits in the jury box to one side of the judge. The jurors swear to consider well and impartially all evidence. The witnesses who sit near the bench swear to tell the truth. They may be examined and cross-examined by the lawyers for the two parties.

The two parties in a trial are the "plaintiff" and the defendant. In a civil action, the plaintiff complains that the defendant has infringed some of his rights. He seeks "relief." He usually wants the court to make the defendant pay damages for the harm he has suffered, or believes he has suffered. In a criminal trial the "state" is the plaintiff, represented by the district or county attorney.

Besides the clerk, the marshal or bailiff, and the shorthand reporter, you will find in your court-

Marine Hatchery To Aid Research

Austin — The Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission said preliminary plans for a salt water fish hatchery, first of its kind in the nation, have been readied for Commission consideration.

He said the proposed project is designed so that the present research program into marine fish life "could be shortened by as much as twenty years."

In another major coastal division move, the Commission just recently announced a new oyster farming program to facilitate restoration of this once rich Gulf Coast industry.

The Executive Secretary added that the exact location of the unique hatchery will not be determined until a current study of proposed sites has been completed. This work is in charge of C. W. Reid, director of coastal fisheries for the Commission.

The Game and Fish Commission now operates thirteen fresh water fish hatcheries which are situated at strategic places in the state.

"Plans for the salt water hatchery call for a minimum of fifteen ponds," said the Executive Secretary. "They will provide conditions resembling natural marine habitat so that constant studies may be made under ideal conditions."

"Our technicians believe that the present research program may be shortened by as much as twenty years by using the hatchery facilities to study the habits, life cycle and ecology of the various species concerned."

"Not only will the marine biological program be covered, but emphasis will be made on the pollution field. Also the rate of growth of reefs, so vital to restoration work, will be determined."

"The first step will be to build ponds similar to those of fresh water hatcheries. Some will be deep and others shallow. All will be served with a natural flow of salt water."

"Ponds will be allocated to oysters, various species of shrimp, crabs, redfish, trout, snook and other forms of marine life."

Texas in Review

When Texas was fighting for independence and it was apparent the State's provisional government would fail, a convention was called at Washington-on-the-Brazos on March 1, 1836. The next day the convention declared Texas independent and a constitution was adopted.

A recent re-creation of this important convention was filmed for presentation next week on The Humble Company's TV program, Texas in Review.

For sports fans, the program will have films of spring football practice at Rice, Baylor and the University of Texas.

Other features include a visit to a Texas ranch where Latin-American boys are trained in ranch management, and a visit with the 1955 Maid of Cotton.

Monday (March 7) Texas in Review can be seen on WOAI-TV, San Antonio, 10:15 p.m.; and KVDO-TV, Corpus Christi, 9:30 p.m.

STOP MOTOR OIL KNOCK WITH HUMBLE UNIFLO

Humble Esso Extra gasoline for '55 will give you the best anti-knock performance you've ever had.

But motor oil can also cause knock. Some oils form combustion chamber deposits that raise compression ratios even higher, increase a high compression engine's tendency to knock. These deposits also cause pre-ignition ping.

Humble Uniflo motor oil does not form knock-causing deposits. Thus, in effect it raises the anti-knock performance of your gasoline.

Uniflo also saves gasoline, lengthens battery life, gives you superior lubrication and cooling. You use the same grade the whole year around.

When you use both Esso Extra gasoline and Uniflo motor oil, you're using the best performance combination ever.

The entirely new gasoline with the highest performance rating ever offered Texas motorists.

When your car knocks, you're losing power, burning too much gasoline, dirtying your engine. Knock—even ping—is more than a noisy inconvenience—it's expensive, too.

But you can stop knock with Humble's Esso Extra for '55. This entirely new gasoline has the highest octane rating (anti-knock quality) offered Texas motorists.

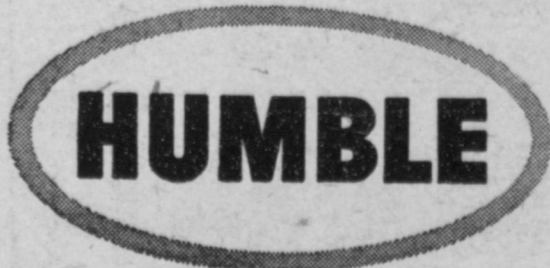

It's an absolute must for the new high compression 1955 engines.

And it assures the improved performance of any car, any make, any model.

Get the Esso Extra habit! . . . Your car will give you performance you never dreamed it had!

No. 1 in Texas

Now, more Texans than ever before prefer Esso Extra to any other premium gasoline.

House Votes Exemption Bill for Women Jurors

Austin — The House recently approved overwhelmingly a bill to give women sweeping exemptions from jury service that would otherwise be required by a constitutional amendment adopted at the polls last year.

The much-amended bill was advanced by a 8-7 vote to third reading, one step short of final House action. There was no immediate effort to gain final passage.

Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi, author of the women jurors bill, said House amendments had so riddled his measure that probably not more than 10 percent of Texas women would be obligated for jury service.

Texas voted in the November general election to require women to serve on juries, subject to whatever exemptions the Legislature might provide by law.

Hale's measure had originally intended only to get up certain court house procedures for women's jury service, such as providing for separating men and women jurors at night, and to grant a limited number of exemptions.

As approved, the bill would allow judges to exempt practicing nurses, pregnant women, women with custody of children under 16, heads of churches that do not have ministers and practicing mortionians.

Hale protested particularly against an amendment by Rep. Joe Burkett, Jr., of Kerrville requiring a juror to be a land owner in the state or a householder or wife of a householder in the county.

Hale said the amendment, adopted by the House, completed the wrecking of his bill.

He said a previously approved amendment to exempt from service pregnant women and women with custody of children under 16 had given an exemption to about 50 percent of the women of Texas.

Burkett's amendment, said Hale, is "going to exempt practically all the rest."

Burkett disagreed and said his only motive in offering the change was to make sure "first class citizens," not "drifters," are called for jury service.

He said if the amendment were not adopted, "you open the door to people who hang around the courthouse hoping to be called."

Hale said he didn't think there is "any second class citizenship in the United States of America."

"I don't see anywhere in the Constitution of the United States where you have to be a property owner or a first class citizen to serve on a jury," he said.

He also vainly argued: "The people who voted to have the right to serve should also have the responsibility to serve. Let's have

A St. Patrick's Day theme was used in decorations and table appointments for the last in a series of game parties sponsored by the Woman's Club, last Thursday afternoon. The hostesses were Mrs. Tom Roper, Mrs. Joe Slocum and Mrs. R. F. McKnight and eight tables of players enjoyed the games of bridge and canasta. High score in bridge was won by Mrs. A. L. Bachman, Mrs. Zoe Wells of Haywood, Wis., won low; Mrs. Frank Oler of Richmond, Ind., was high in canasta and Mrs. Jim Philpott, bingo. An arrangement of narcissus and fern centered the tea table which was laid in white organdy over a green flounce. Flanking the flower arrangement were symbols of Ireland, including a green hat, cane, snake, a horse shoe and a harp. Mrs. Slocum poured tea and coffee from the silver service.

TWO WORLDS' WONDERS—Pillars of the Acropolis at Athens, Greece, architectural remnant of the might of an ancient civilization, rise as if in salute to a wonder of the 20th Century, a flight of sleek American-built jet fighters. They belong to the Greek Air Force: were delivered under the U. S. Military Aid Program.

Newspaper Suffers From Mistaken Identity

Fort Mill, S. C. — The Fort Mill Times, a weekly, says newspapers aren't alone in mistaken identities.

"Over the years," an editorial column recalls, people have mistaken the newspaper's office "for a doctor's office and demanded treatment, wanted me to fill out their income tax forms for them. I bawled me out because I was slow repairing a radio, wanted a telephone or electric bill, inquired where the pool tables were . . . and wanted tires recapped."

The climax, the paper says, came recently when a woman stepped in and inquired "if this is a beauty parlor."

The Navy's first airplane flight from a ship was in January 1911 from the battleship USS Pennsylvania in San Francisco harbor.

Marine News

From Sea Secrets, as prepared by the Marine Laboratory of the University of Miami comes the following answer to a question about worms and marine animals that are injurious to wood hull boats. In addition to the common shipworm Teredo, there seem to be several others not so common but perhaps equally injurious:

"In addition to the shipworm (which is not a worm but a mollusc) there are two other molluscs that live in wood. One known as Xylophaga is commonly found in warm seas. It has a shell which completely encloses the body. The burrows made by this animal are short, seldom more than one and one-half inches deep, and are not lined with shell as in the case of shipworm holes. A third wood boring mollusc is Martesia. This animal is very similar to a mussel in appearance; its burrows are about two and one-half inches long and one inch wide. Neither of these animals seem to be able to digest wood and both seem to seek wood mainly as a means of protection.

"There also are a number of crustaceans, relatives of the shrimp families, which habitually bore into wood. One of these, the gribble, limnoria lignorum, is particularly important because of the great damage it does. This little creature, between one-eighth and one-sixth of an inch long, resembles a woodlouse. It has seven pairs of legs, each ending in a sharp claw by means of which the animal holds on to the sides of the burrow.

"Beneath the back of the body are five pairs of legs carrying two broad plates which act as gills. These keep up a continuous movement during the life of the animal and thus circulate the water needed for respiration. The animal bores into the wood by means of a stout pair of jaws.

"When starting a burrow the gribble hollows out a groove along the surface, keeping in the soft part of the grain, then passing by an easy incline into the wood. The burrows are not deep probably because of the need for a constant supply of fresh sea water. The burrows are often three-quarters of an inch or more in length and the roof is perforated by a regular series of fine holes, like "man-holes", which seem to help in maintaining water circulation.

"The damage by gribbles is always clearly apparent on the surface of the wood, which is gradually rotted until the outer layer falls away. The gribble is then able to penetrate deeper and thus layer after layer of wood is destroyed.

"There is no evidence that gribbles actually digest wood: They have also been found boring into insulation of submarine cables."

A total of 23 vessels of five net tons and over were documented for the first time as fishing craft during December 1954. This figure was 34 less than in December 1953, according to Fish and Wildlife Service. Seven of these vessels had home ports in the Gulf States and five in the South Atlantic area. During the Year 1954, 313 vessels were documented in the Gulf area and 119 vessels in the South Atlantic area. It can be reasonably assumed that the greater per cent of these vessels were built for shrimp fishing. Of the total U. S. fishing vessels documented in 1954 (717), 465 were built in 1954, 85 in 1953 and the remainder (167) in the years prior to 1953.

Senate Bill 94 was passed by the Texas Senate and recommended for passage to the House. Imminent favorable action is expected by the House of Representatives. The bill provides that shrimp can be hauled fresh from coastal production landing points to packing-freezing plants without falling under the purview of the Texas Railroad Commission's regulations, so long as such hauling proceeds no more than 75 miles inland from the coast.

As soon as practical, the Association will issue in the form of a special bulletin, the requirements of operation under the new bill, if and when it becomes law.

Landings of fish and shellfish in Texas during November totaled 9.7 million pounds compared with 7.7 million pounds landed during the same month in 1953. This represented an increase of 2 million pounds or 26 percent compared with the landings of the corresponding month of the previous year. A marked increase in shrimp receipts was mainly responsible for the greater production during November of this year.

Total landings of all species for the three-month period ending with November amounted to 40.9 million pounds compared with 47.6 million pounds landed during the same three-month period in 1953. This represented a decrease of nearly 6.7 million pounds or 14 percent during the current fiscal year.

Heldenfels Brothers have applied for a permit to operate in Copano Bay at a location approximately one mile southeast of Bay-side. They propose to dredge a channel and turning basin and to drive 5 single piles at the above location. The proposed 6 by 75-foot channel would be 600 feet long. The 125 by 200-foot turning basin would be dredged to a depth of 6 feet at mean low tide at the shoreward end of the channel. The dredged material would be deposited in the waterway north-east from and adjacent to the gchannel and basin. Five single piles would be driven within the turning basin.

Texas production of shrimp and fish from February 7 through the 25 is as follows:

Galveston and Freeport: Shrimp, 762 barrels; oysters, 645 barrels; snapper, 12,620 pounds; miscellaneous fish, 10,000 pounds; grouper, 410 pounds.

Port Lavaca and Palacios: Shrimp, 317 barrels.

Aransas Pass, Rockport, and Corpus Christi: Shrimp, 1284 barrels; snapper, 1190 pounds; and miscellaneous fish, 3200 pounds.

Port Isabel: Shrimp, 1943 barrels; drum, 90,680 pounds; red-fish 10,900 pounds; trout, 10,900 pounds; snapper, 6160 pounds; gaspergou, 400 pounds.

Brownsville: Shrimp, 3361 barrels.

J. E. Simmons and C. G. Simmons, of San Antonio, have applied for an engineers' permit to do some construction about 2 miles north of Fulton. They propose to construct a timber T-head wharf at the above location. The T-head portion of the wharf would be 6 feet wide and 25 feet long and would be connected to shore by a walkway 4 feet wide and 800 feet long. A structure 6 by 25 feet, similar to the T-head portion, would be constructed in the walkway 450 feet from shore. The wharf would have a deck elevation of 6 feet above mean low tide. The bayward end of the wharf would be located in water having a depth of six feet at mean low tide.

TENDER SWITCHTENDER—Mrs. Irene Ingison "pours" at an evening social event in a switchyard office before performing a switch from such ladylike tasks to the heavy task of tending manually operated switches in the New York Central's Syracuse, N. Y., yards. Brakeman Jon Albanese, left, and Freight Conductor Joe Sherwood will be served a "highball" later in the evening by the pretty switchtender, who has been on the roster for 10 years.

Council Approves Zoning Ordinance At Aransas Pass

Aransas Pass — An ordinance requiring approval of the City Planning Commission on the platting or replatting of subdivisions was adopted last week by the City Council.

The ordinance applies to subdivisions within the city limits and for a radius of five miles, said Ted Bigelow, city secretary. It is an interim measure and will govern all subdivisions until a zoning ordinance is completed and adopted by the council.

The nine-man city planning commission, headed by Dr. Fred Chastain, is now working on the zoning ordinance for submission to the council for adoption, Bigelow said.

Adoption of the interim ordinance gives the City Planning Commission authority to regulate subdivisions just outside the City of Ingleside which is within the five mile zone a home rule city may regulate.

The Louisiana Purchase almost doubled the size of the United States.

Druce Reagan, John Bell's executive assistant from this area, was in town for a short time Wednesday. He expects to return at a later date, when he can schedule conferences with those wishing to bring business to Mr. Bell's attention.

MEXICAN COUPLE wants work in Fulton. Man good paint and yard, woman housework. Call 3505. c47

In Colonial times, many a man was able to protect his valuable papers by hiding them in secret sections of desk, designed and built for him. Besides the owner, only the cabinet maker knew of the compartments, and in many cases he concealed them so cleverly that it was virtually impossible to detect them. Not long ago, an antique furniture authority made a bet that he could find every secret drawer in a desk of this kind. After searching for four hours, he thought and claimed that he had succeeded, but was shocked to learn that he had missed six of its 21 hiding places.

The so-called June bug is not a bug but a beetle. Its correct name is the May beetle.

and San Antonio Bay, also.

Pat Greene, a fast man with a hook, took a couple of representatives of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce fishing yesterday evening, off the Carbon Black pier, and tyros though they were, they sacked up 20.

Over at Mill's Wharf, Herb said that fish were beginning to show again, and that there had been some nice catches during the past week. Fred Vincent of San Antonio, brought in 62 last Sunday; Joe J. Mach of Dallas, fished Monday and Tuesday, and caught 118 the first day, 105 the second. Mr. Hyams of Houston, a long-time customer of the Mills family, and one of the most consistent fishermen in the area, fished with Harry Monday, and strung 159. Bill Lampman of San Antonio, caught 94 Tuesday; M. W. Cochran caught 70.

Wednesday morning J. D. Griggs had a party from Brownwood, including Mr. Schroeder and they brought in 59 trout.

That seems about the limit of the catches, but before we close out the Waterfront for the week, we would like to pass along a little item that hit our desk this morning, and that may be more truly harmful to our bays than any other one thing we can think of. It comes from the bulletin of the Sport Fishing Institute, published by R. W. Eschmeyer, one of the smartest fishery biologists in the country, and a man largely responsible for building the great fishing found in the TVA lakes and streams. This item is on turbidity, or, if you want it in plain language, mud. Mud, strange as it may seem, kills fish when properly applied, and that application is becoming increasingly apparent in the bays of Texas. What it does is overlooked by most fishermen, who look for something more easily seen. Eschmeyer says:

"Most fishery workers believe that turbidity hurts our fishing. The muddiness interferes with food production, and with the feeding of bass and other fish which find their food by sight. Even though we have a general impression of the effect of turbidity, specific information on the subject has been scarce.

"Such information is now being provided in Oklahoma by an extensive study of the effect of turbidity on fish, fish food, and fishing. The study is being made by the Oklahoma game and fish department. It has been financed largely by a grant from the Outboard Boating Club of America. This organization will also contribute toward a continuation of the study through 1955. Biologist in charge of the project is H. Homer Buck.

"As a part of the study, Buck removed all fish from a series of ponds early in 1954, then restocked with fish of known number, size, and species. Certain of the ponds were muddy; some were clear, and some intermediate in turbidity.

"During the season, largemouth bass, planted as one-year-olds, increased in weight about 6.4-fold in the clear ponds, 4-fold in the intermediate waters, and only 1.5-fold in muddy waters. Growth of redear sunfish and bluegills was less influenced by turbidity.

"Muddiness affected reproduction, too. Bass reproduced in 7 of 12 clear ponds, in 4 of 12 intermediate ponds, and in none of 9

Mrs. R. B. Sipe Returns From Hawaii Vacation

Mrs. R. B. Sipe returned last Saturday from a two weeks trip to Hawaii in company with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Wagley, of Houston. Mr. Wagley, who has a machine shop and contracting business in Houston went to attend a $10,000,000 surplus sale in Honolulu, where the government was selling everything from ice cream freezers to bulldozers.

Mrs. Sipe says that the flowers, pineapple fields, and sugar cane plantations are unbelievable, unless you see them. They rented a car, and toured the island on which Honolulu is situated, in between times, and she says that it is one of the loveliest spots she has ever seen.

Each morning before the beginning of the sale, there was an hour's entertainment put on by civilian employees of the base where the sale was taking place.

Mrs. Sipe said that they were forced to return early because of the death of Mr. Wagley's father, last Wednesday.

The flight from Hawaii to San Francisco took twelve hours, and from there they came over the San Joaquin Valley and mountains, over King's River Canyon, the Saguaro National Park, Death Valley, one of the U. S. atomic proving grounds, and Lake Mead, to Phoenix, Arizona. From there they flew to Clovis, New Mexico, then to El Paso, and Fort Worth, and so home.

Eschmeyer further comments interestingly on the subject of cash surpluses in the treasuries of game conservation agencies, a subject attracting a great deal of attention in this state at the present moment. He says:

"In the last few months a number of biennial fish and game reports have made their appearance (for two fiscal year periods, ending last June 30). An examination of the financial record suggests that a number of state fish and game units have a very considerable financial reserve - money put away for a 'rainy day.'

"This situation is referred to as having the finances in a 'healthy' condition, or as doing business in a 'business-like' way. We wonder if the references are valid. In personal finances, nothing is better than having a substantial 'reserve.' We've always envied the people who have handled their finances in a way which permitted the accumulation of a 'reserve.'

"In fish and game set-ups, though, the picture may be different. Having too much of an unexpected balance may represent an unhealthy condition, and may indicate that operations are unbusinesslike.

"In more than one instance, these cash reserves have been scrutinized by state legislatures. Occasionally, the money obtained from licenses was diverted to other use by the legislatures. Where there is a big unexpended balance, there is no justification for higher licenses; on the contrary, a lowering of license fees is suggested.

"Income is seasonal and may vary from year to year. Some cash reserve must be on hand at all times. Too high a reserve may simply indicate that the state doesn't know what to do with its money. Some of these states might well be using accumulated capital funds for purchase of permanent public access to fishing waters, building public fishing lakes, and to finance a number of other management activities. Some states with a high cash reserve spend very little on fact-finding - which would help them decide how to use the money wisely.

"At best, a big unused balance is an open invitation to trouble. We're not sure that having it represents a healthy condition. . ."

plan whereby a parent from each troop will contact parents of other troop members. The parents will be asked to contribute as much as possible toward the support of their own daughter in scouting.

The girls themselves are contributing troop dues, money saved from their allowances, proceeds from the cookie sale and such amounts as individual troops can raise through various programs, etc.

Interested members of the community will be contacted by members of a committee from the Woman's club to help finance girls in scouting whose parents are unable to do so.

Members of this committee include, Mrs. Leonard LeBlanc, Mrs. Ellis L. Clark, Mrs. Roy Woods, Mrs. F. L. McCord, Mrs. H. H. Dick, Mrs. J. H. Mills, Mrs. C. L. Thomas, Mrs. Mary Juergens, Mrs. Julius Malchar, Mrs. Grady West, Mrs. J. B. Jackson and the chairman, Mrs. Arley Shivers.

Boat Burns In Harbor Saturday

A 20-foot, Farley-built boat, belonging to Morgan D. Neil, of San Antonio, took fire in the harbor Saturday morning, and burned until a total loss. Neil and party started for a day's fishing, had just filled their gas tanks and were headed for the bay when they developed engine trouble.

While they were attempting to remedy this, the boat took fire, and, as it was unreachable by any but hand fire equipment, because of its location, it was almost totally destroyed. No one was injured.

AT CONVENTION

Judge John Wendell and Commissioners A. L. Davis and Jack Sparks are attending the County Judges and Commissioners Association convention in San Antonio this week.

Red Cross Gives Variety of Aid To 17 Disaster-Hit Countries

In one of the world's worst disaster years of the last two decades, the American Red Cross in 1954 extended aid to 17 countries hit by catastrophe.

Through contributions to the Red Cross, the American people made possible a 60-ton shipment of food to the hurricane-stricken population of Haiti as well as medicines to prevent the spread of disease there.

They sent bedding and medical supplies to Pakistan and India after last summer's serious floods, and tents and food to Greece after an earthquake last May.

Students in American schools, through the Junior Red Cross, sent children's clothing to India and Pakistan, vitamins to Lebanon after an explosion and fire seriously injured several hundred children, and shoes and blankets to children affected by the Austrian floods.

In addition to its help to disaster victims, the Red Cross provided funds for a variety of articles needed by the Vietnamese Red Cross in helping to resettle non-Communist refugees from the Vietnam region of Indo-China. These included equipped motor vehicles to serve as mobile medical dispensaries; thousands of yards of textiles and sewing machines to convert them into clothing and bedding; soap, and medical supplies.

The Junior Red Cross sent
