

Along The Waterfront

Fishing has picked up with a bang, if you've been at the right place at the right time this week, and some of the boys have. George Washington, at Mills Wharf, took a sailor's holiday and caught 45 pounds of flounder Tuesday night. The night before he and Eddie Edmonson went out and come in with 174 pounds of reds, which is a nice catch in any man's country. Arthur Bellman and party, San Antonio, fished with Harry last Thursday, and strung 90 nice specks. Mr. Peavy and party, Dallas, strung 49, fishing with Red Bell; B. C. Houghins, of Houston, fished with Herb, and caught 87; Frank Fournay, Houston, with Harry Lee, pulled in 65; Mr. Ashcroft, Columbus, fishing with Eddie Edmonson, tallied 88 specks; and Roland Bush, Houston, strung 25, guided by Jimmy Mills. Friday the weather was bad, and there were no boats out from the wharf, but Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Skloss, San Antonio, went out with Harry Mills and caught (Continued on Page 8)

3 Shrimpers Get Injunction Over 'Doors'

Corpus Christi, Tex. — Three shrimpers won a temporary order in 94th District Court yesterday restraining state game wardens from arresting them or other shrimpers for using trawl net planks not exceeding 20 by 60 inches. Judge Tillman Smith set for 10 a. m. Sept. 2, a hearing on the shrimpers' request for a temporary injunction against the State Game and Fish Commission. The three men were among almost a dozen arrested two weeks ago for using illegal size net planks. The shrimpers, Bill Whitaker, O. A. Kimmell and Mike Chapa, Sr., originally petitioned the court for a temporary injunction prohibiting arrest. Yesterday, however, the shrimpers' attorneys amended their petition to ask for a temporary restraining order. As a result of the order, shrimpers may use doors or planks on their nets so long as they do not exceed 20 by 60 inches until the Sept. 2 hearing on the injunction.

Big Cactus Collection Comes to Rockport

J. M. Hissong, who has been collecting cactus for the last six years, had about 200 varieties in his collection up till Wednesday. On that day he went to Victoria and came back with the collection started by the late Tom O'Connor, Sr., and says he has over 500 varieties in his collection as of Thursday. The O'Connor plants filled a 16-foot trailer, and were three deep in places, Hissong said. The entire collection will be on view at a later date, he said, when the public will be welcome to view it. His garden is on the second shell street leading off Market Street, after you pass Highway 35. Turn left and look for his sign.

His condition Wednesday morning was given as fair. Details on the explosion were lacking.

Navi. District Requests Government to Light, Maintain New Harbor

The Navigation District has requested government maintenance and lighting for the new harbor at Fulton, in letters written to the District Engineer, Galveston, and the Commandant of the Eighth Coast Guard District, at New Orleans. The letters, which follow, are self-explanatory.

The Commandant, 8th Coast Guard District, New Orleans, La.
Dear Sir:
You are no doubt aware that the new harbor at Fulton, Texas, built under Corps of Engineers' W-N-243-41 Permit 3035, is actually a completion of the long authorized Little Bay Project, which was approved some ten years ago. We believe it has complied with the conditions of that project, and is, as far as we can determine, eligible for government maintenance.

Hence, as the channel from the new harbor to the Intracoastal Canal is as yet unmarked, we respectfully request that the necessary aids to navigation be installed.
N. F. Jackson, Chairman
Very truly yours,

Col. Willard D. McCrone, Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, Galveston, Texas.
Dear Sir:
This is to advise you that the construction authorized by Permit No. W-N-243-41 Permit 3035 has been completed. As you are aware, this project is actually a completion and extension of the Little Bay Project, authorized by the Corps of Engineers some ten years ago, but never constructed because funds were not appropriated. As it has complied with the provisions of that project, and is, as far as we can determine, eligible for government maintenance, we are hereby requesting your approval and assurance that future maintenance will be at government expense.

In addition, since the channel from the new harbor to the Intracoastal Canal is unmarked, we also respectfully request that the necessary aids to navigation be installed by the appropriate governmental agency.
Very truly yours,
N. F. Jackson, Chairman

Coast Guard Issues Stern Warning

New Orleans, La. — The Coast Guard issued a stern warning today to persons tampering with aids to navigation in the Corpus Christi area. According to Captain John H. Byrd, commander of the Eighth Coast Guard District, reports have been received that bullet holes were found in the lenses of lights in Tule Lake Channel. The captain added that about 40 per cent of the reflector bands on buoys between Corpus Christi and Port Isabel were missing. Authorities believe that the reflectors were stolen by private fishing parties. All Coast Guard units have been alerted to apprehend and report any unauthorized persons tampering with the aids to navigation. Corpus Christi's Coast Guard Auxiliary unit, Flotilla 701 has also been asked to be watchful for signs of vandalism.

Aids to navigation are placed to assist all persons using the waterways and one extinguished light can mean the unnecessary loss of life and property. Captain Byrd pointed out that persons caught damaging aids to navigation are tried in a federal court and are subject to imprisonment or fines or both.

Back in the good old days that you're always hearing about, when there were a lot of commercial fishermen that made their living by hook and line fishing for trout and redbait, they used cut mullet, small mullet, salt water chub and shrimp, all of which were very dead indeed, and none of them starved to death. Fish house operators who remember the time, say that plenty of fish were caught. Weldon Cabanis, who likes to fly fish for trout, and was recently written up in "Outdoor Life," as a leading exponent of the sport, says that 15 or 20 years ago, when he first started coming to Rockport, no one ever used a live shrimp. They didn't have any way to carry them, and they didn't know at that time that kicking crustaceans were a necessity. The fish bit on dead shrimp and cut mullet just as well as they do on live shrimp. However, he says, he does prefer live bait.

Catch 'em Asleep and Get A Free Washing Machine

Rockport Electric Co. is joining with hundreds of Maytag dealers throughout Texas in an ambitious sales program tagged "Operation 64" — a part of the big "Maytag Marathon." For 64 exciting hours the sales staff of Rockport Electric Co. will be on hand day and night, starting Thursday morning, Aug. 25 at 8 a. m. and continuing through Saturday midnight. The idea for a retail marathon materialized after the highly successful "Operation 72," during which Maytag representatives throughout America called on dealers for a continuous 72-hour period. An all-time sales record was made during this campaign.

During "Operation 64," sales personnel will don night caps and serve coffee to prospective customers at all hours. If a salesman is caught "asleep on the job," Bob Hamblin claims he'll give the finder a brand-new Maytag washing machine. One of the many slogans to come out of the current Marathon campaigns is the now-famous "We're sleepy," — take advantage of us! Another popular Maytag slogan from the campaigns: "Marathon trade-ins make prices just a drop in the budget!" The portion of this special convoy shipment will reach Rockport Electric Co. by Zero Hour Aug. 25.

This new service of Rockport Electric Co. will give to their many appliance customers the privilege of the lay-away plan in selecting their gift needs early.

Harbors Culmination Of Growth In Area

Formal opening of the new Fulton Harbor on Sept. 11, and development of a long range program for construction of others as needed, is the culmination of long years of growth in the area, and marks the rapid expansion of population and industrial development that has only begun. As the day approaches for the ceremonies, it may be of some interest to look back over the early history of the area and its progress.

Aransas County has a total land and water area of 773 square miles, including both land and bays. Three peninsulas and several islands comprise the land portion of the county, with an area of 460 square miles; it also contains 184,000 acres of land locked bays.

Live Oak Peninsula — on which both Rockport and Fulton are situated — extends northward from the south end of the county; Lamar and Blackjack Peninsulas reach down from its northern end. The east side of the peninsula is bordered by Aransas and Redfish bays. On the western sides lie Port and Copano bays, the latter stretching between Live Oak and Lamar peninsulas and the mainland, to a junction with Aransas Bay. St. Charles Bay separates Lamar and Blackjack peninsulas.

The entire network of land and water is separated from the Gulf of Mexico by St. Joseph Island. The altitude of the county varies from sea level to fifty feet. Temperature averages are: January, 56°, July, 82°, and the annual mean is 69°.

A part of the flat coastal plain that borders the Gulf of Mexico, it is partially covered by grasses; partially wooded with mesquite, live oak, huisache, and other timber and brush.

Crops include corn and sorghum, tomatoes, lettuce, peppers, onions, cabbage, beets, potatoes, grapes, figs and strawberries were all grown here at one time, but production of truck crops declined with development of the Rio Grande Valley, while the vineyards were wiped out by storms.

Plans for a railroad began in 1852, when the Aransas Railroad Company chartered a road from Aransas Pass to Goliad. With the name changed to the Central Transit Company, the promoters graded a roadbed across Live Oak Peninsula in 1858, before threats of Civil War terminated their plans. The San Antonio and Aransas Pass Railroad (later the Texas and New Orleans) finally reached Rockport in 1888, and a branch of this (now known as the Southern Pacific) still serves Rockport and territory to the southwest.

The county has adequate highway facilities. State Highway 35 crosses it from north to south, and State Highway 88 connects Rockport with State Highway 136 and communities to the east.

The Intracoastal Canal traverses Aransas Bay, with connecting channels to Rockport and Fulton, and the so-called Intracoastal Canal Cut-off, which has been approved by the Corps of Engineers, will eventually bring this canal close to the Cove area, two miles south of Rockport.

The economy of the Area. The economy of Rockport and Fulton has, from the earliest times, been influenced by their nearness to salt water and water transportation, and because of its equable climate and fortunate geographical location, it has long been a resort area.

As far back as 1888, Aransas County was a tourist center, attracting vacationers from all over the nation.

Today, the area enjoys a year-round tourist business valued at approximately a million and a half dollars, drawing most of its clientele from the midwest, although virtually every state in the union and several foreign countries are usually represented.

Aransas County has the additional advantage of being situated within easy reach of the great percentage of Texas' rapidly growing population.

Corpus Christi is only 30 miles to the south and it is just 170 miles from the Houston metropolitan area, 153 miles from San Antonio, and 381 miles from the Dallas-Fort Worth section to Aransas County.

On the basis of figures compiled during the U. S. census, there are (Continued on Page 4)

North Zone Dove Season Opens On Sept. 1

The north zone dove season opens on Sept. 1 and runs until Oct. 15. The season in the south zone will open on Oct. 15 and run until Nov. 28. Shooting is from noon to sunset, and the limit ten doves per day or in possession. From all indications, this should be a fairly good year for doves in many sections of the state.

Rockport Has Excellent Fire Rating; Keeping It Saves the Town Money

Rockport has an excellent fire rating. On the basis of a dollar risk, this city has to pay a premium on only 75¢ because our fire losses are low. In Corpus Christi, where fire losses are high, citizens have to pay a premium on $1.25. The saving is worthwhile; let's keep it that way.

One way to do this is to give the fire department all possible help, and to use proper precautions in handling inflammables around homes and business places. Commonly used cleaning and painting materials are of a flammable nature, and if necessary precautions are not followed in their use, fire and life hazards of a serious nature may occur.

Household floor cleaning liquids, liquid waxes, paints and lacquers, paint removers, and liquid sandpaper are some of the substances, in addition to liquids used for home dry cleaning or for removal of spots from clothing, which need to be used with close attention to the necessary safety precautions. The containers in which all these various liquids are bought from a store are usually marked, when the liquid is flammable, with such words as "Flammable" or "Keep away from flame."

When a container of liquid is marked "Flammable" or "Keep away from flame" it means that the liquid gives off flammable vapors at ordinary room temperature. Whenever a can or bottle of such a liquid is opened vapors begin to come out the opening and when the liquid is spread or rubbed over a surface as paint or as cleaning liquid the vapors come off much faster. These vapors usually cannot be seen but as they flow or float away from the surface they mix with the air and may form a mixture with air that will burn or explode when ignited by any spark or flame.

THE BOOM IN BOATING

The wistfulness of kids around a Christmas toy display has nothing on the longing and preoccupation in the faces of yachtsmen and sportsmen at the several winter boat shows.

When the doors closed last January at New York's Kingsbridge Armory—about half a day's sail, it seemed, up the Hudson River from the downtown area—the management of the half-century-old National Motor Boat Show reported that exhibitors had written orders for $15,000,000 worth of boats and accessories.

The experience at Chicago, on the West Coast, and at the numerous smaller shows, including the one held at St. Louis was similar.

While you can reflect that technical advances played a part in this boating boom, they weren't the only pressures at work. In addition to the postwar resumption of the American drive to get out and seek enjoyment afloat, there were new places to seek it. There were huge inland lakes, the product of the federal conservation and flood control programs, which were now full of fish, and offering thousands of miles of enticing shoreline for the weekend sailor to explore.

This had brought about a definite change in the geographical concentration of boat ownership, with the nation's heartland becoming the principal beneficiary. But the boom has been felt everywhere. During the summer race meets at, say, Marblehead, Mass., or Gibson Island, Md. or in Lake Michigan, or near Seattle, or off the coast of Southern California, you can cross arches from boat to boat, they say, without wetting your feet. Fly down Long Island Sound from Fisher's Island to Rye, N. Y. any summer Sunday afternoon and you can well believe it.

Bernie Tedford of Corpus Christi visited Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Mundine, also visiting with the Mundine's was Floyd Wilson of Seadrift.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wright this week are Mrs. W. E. Bohlander and daughter, Eleanor of Tulsa, Okla., and Mrs. Emma Hanna of Burleson, Texas.

CHILDREN CAN EARN MORE THAN $600 WITHOUT ADDING TO INCOME TAX

Do you have a son or daughter working during the summer vacation, who is likely to earn more than $600 before school starts again?

If so, he or she doesn't have to quit work before earning that amount for you to retain your child's exemption deduction. The same holds true if you have a non-student working child who will still be under 19 by the end of the tax year.

In either case, regardless of how much the child earns, the parent may claim an exemption, providing he has furnished over half the total cost of his child's support for the year. This rule also applies in the case of legally adopted children.

There is one important thing to keep in mind: A dependent child is also entitled to an exemption deduction for himself on his own separate return. On the other hand, if he is married, and files a joint return with his wife, no dependency exemption may be claimed by the parent.

John W. Hernandez, Internal Revenue Service administrative officer, clarified revenue laws which have confused many parents in Rockport.

"We have reports of both parents and employers telling working children they'll have to quit their jobs before they earn $600. They can work right up to the reopening of school if they want to," Hernandez said. "The children, however, may have to pay a small tax. Since many of them are studying our own courses in basic taxation they already know this. By the same token, many of them who work only short terms of employment or for a smaller salary will probably be entitled to refunds during the next filing season."

This information should prove helpful to three parties to summer employment, the student or child worker, the parents, and the employer, Hernandez said. He warned that to gain advantage of this rule, children over 19 must be bona fide students at recognized educational institutions, or pursuing a full time farm training course.

Minimum Legal Requirements for Kickers Are Catalogued

Below are the minimum legal requirements and suggestions for safety and pleasure in the operating of outboard motorboats as given by Chief Engineman Alfred Hunt of Port Aransas Lifeboat Station, U. S. Coast Guard:

- Small Boats
Outboards under 16 feet:
1. One life jacket, approved buoyant cushion or life ring for each person.
2. Light, may be portable electric torch (flashlight) to be shown as necessary.
3. If the boat has a closed compartment which might accumulate gas fumes a fire extinguisher is necessary.

- Over 16 Feet
1. Certificate of award of numbers for boat (for identification). (a) The number must be painted on bow of the boat. (b) The certificate must be aboard the boat except on open type boat.
2. One fire extinguisher if the boat has a closed compartment which might accumulate gas fumes.

3. Horn (hand operated, mouth or power) capable of being heard for a distance of at least one-half mile.
4. One life jacket for each person.
5. Combination red and green light on bow. One white light on stern visible completely around the horizon.

Hunt points out that all air boats or other craft with motors permanently attached are regulated by the rules for inboard vessels and must be numbered no matter what the length. All must carry fire extinguishers.

In asking the assistance of all citizens in controlling or preventing negligent operation of motorboats, the following is considered the minimum possible evidence that will enable final prosecution of the case in a federal court:

1. Eyewitness description of the reckless or negligent operation of the boat, giving date, time and place of the incident. At least one additional eyewitness will make a stronger case.
2. Accurate identification of the boat, including number on bow, name, color and other distinctive markings.
3. Description, name and home address of the person operating the boat at the time.
4. The names and addresses of all eyewitnesses to the incident.
5. Any other available evidence such as photographs at the time of the incident, later admissions of the boat operator, etc.

Mrs. Manch Brundrett spent the weekend in Palacios visiting her daughter, Mrs. George Sorenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jones and son, Randy, returned home to Houma, La., after a week's visit with Mrs. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hayden.

Calendar of Coming Events

RECEPTION SCHEDULED FOR TEACHERS IN ARANSAS COUNTY SCHOOLS SEPT. 1

A reception is scheduled at the Woman's Club for all the teachers of the Aransas County Independent School District on Thursday, September 1, at 8 p. m.

The affair will be sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Associations of Fulton and Rockport Elementary, and Aransas County High Schools, and the public is invited. Parents are particularly urged to attend.

Mrs. Etheridge Honored With Stork Shower

Mrs. B. M. Etheridge was honored Friday night with a stork shower at the Church of Christ parsonage. Hostess for the occasion was Mrs. Billy Thompson, who was assisted by Mrs. W. B. McElwee. Half moon pink and blue sandwiches, punch, coffee and mints were served to about 30 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Sanders and son returned home after a two weeks vacation in Forsan, Dallas, and Overton. They visited with Mrs. Sanders' parents.

SACRED HEART MOTHERS PLAN PIE AND CAKE SALE

Sacred Heart Mothers have planned a pie and cake sale for Saturday, Sept. 3. Pies and cakes will be one sale at West's Grocery and Johnson's Drug Store.

Junior High Set To Meet Friday

The junior high school group, under the guidance of the Adult Sponsoring Association, will have its last regular meeting Friday night.

This group has been functioning all summer each Friday night at the Womens Club building as a part of the planned recreational program. Since February, the senior group has met each Saturday night and will continue.

The average attendance at the senior group has been between 80 and 100, reaching its peak through the last two summer months when the crowd has been swelled by the attendance of the tourists. The junior group has averaged 50 at its meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Holland are the sponsors of the two groups, assisted by parents and other interested adults. Five or six adults are required to be present at each meeting.

Mrs. Addie Monroe of Teague, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Zelle and children from Mexia, Texas, are staying at the Oak Shore Apartments while visiting in Rockport. Mrs. Monroe is Mr. Alton Kinsel's aunt.

Mrs. Malcolm Bocquet and daughter, Robbie, spent Tuesday in Corpus Christi.

FISH, FLESH, FOWL—Tony Baird, of Everett, Wash., takes on attributes of the finny and feathered world when he's at play. Towed by a fast motorboat, he takes to the air with aid of a kite while riding water skis. ## EXCELLENT FIRE RATING—do not present a flammable vapor hazard can often be used in place of those which have this hazard. It is desirable to use the non-hazardous materials where possible to do so.

Where flammable paints or cleaning liquids are used, the fundamental safety precautions are briefly as follows:

- (1) Provide good ventilation to carry away the vapors.
- (2) Keep all flames, sparks and hot surfaces well away from the work.

Straight gasoline represents about the extreme in flash fire and explosion hazard of floor cleaning liquids, but the hazard of other flammable cleaners although ordinarily somewhat less than gasoline may present a hazard similar to that of gasoline under just the right conditions. The vapor from one pint of gasoline can make 200 cubic feet of air explosive.

Paints and other coating materials in use are made of a great variety of substances, but insofar as the fire hazard is concerned, the important thing is the liquid substance used as the solvent, vehicle or thinner. Linseed oil, turpentine, and mineral spirits are used in ordinary paint. Some newer kinds of paints use mixtures of alcohols and other solvents. Acetone and amyl acetate (banana oil) and occasionally some benzine (petroleum naphtha) are used in lacquers. Paint remover usually contains some benzoin.

Benzine, benzoin, acetone and naphtha present a hazard similar to gasoline. Alcohol (grain or denatured) and amyl acetate are in the next lower grade as to hazard. Kerosene and turpentine are in a still lower grade as to hazard; they are much safer liquids to use than the others mentioned because they do not give off flammable vapors unless heated to a temperature of 90 to 120 Fahrenheit or higher.

Carbon tetrachloride is a good solvent and cleaning liquid for some uses. It has the advantage of being nonflammable, but its vapors have a poisonous or toxic effect when breathed so that it should be used only where good ventilation is provided. Benzoin also gives off toxic vapors and it should be used with similar precaution.

Rags containing paint or linseed oil or almost any vegetable, animal or fish oil are subject to spontaneous heating under certain conditions and may start fires by themselves. They should be placed where they can dry freely or be placed in covered metal cans or burned.

HARBORS CULMINATION—

249,293 people living within 50 miles of Aransas County. There are 462,973 within 100 miles, 1,590,699 within 150 miles, and within 200 miles there are 3,075,571 persons — approximately 3/7 of the state's entire population.

In recent years, the commercial fishing industry has become increasingly important. It now produces an annual income of close to a million and a half dollars.

Some industrial activity has occurred in the area. The Kosmos Plant, built in 1941, produces 70 million pounds of carbon black a year. Currently approximately 50 companies hold oil and gas leases in the county and production is in excess of 3,000,000 barrels a year. As offshore drilling gets into full swing, a tremendous increase in oil activity is expected with a consequent need for supply bases.

Farmers in the area enjoy an annual growing season of 326 days. However, only 5.3% of the county population is rural.

Ranching consists mainly of beef raising. There are approximately 9,000 head of mixed Brahman and Hereford cattle in Aransas County and 250 head of dairy cattle with a yearly milk production of 100,000 gallons of milk.

Aransas County has enjoyed a steady growth. Between 1940 and 1950, its population increased from 3,469 to 4,252. During the same period, motor vehicle registrations jumped from 880 to 1,677; annual commodity income rose from $954,000 to $4,141,000 and retail sales gained from $658,000 to $2,503,000. Growth since then has been proportionate.

The county is ideally situated for rapid industrial and commercial development. It has an abundance of natural gas for fuel; lime, salt and sulphur, all important industrial raw materials, are produced within a radius of 100 miles.

Harbor Facilities and Their Development

Need for additional harbors in the area had long been recognized, and when the present Navigation Board, composed of Chairman N. F. Jackson and Commissioners T. D. Picton and Raymond Owens took office, they began planning to increase the facilities.

A series of open meetings was held to evaluate those needs and to determine the wishes of the people concerning them. Lockwood and Andrews, consulting engineers, were engaged to prepare an engineering report and master plan of development for additional navigation and allied facilities, to be financed by a tax bond issue of $415,000, carrying a 4 1/2% levy, plus a 10¢ levy for maintenance and minor expansion.

The bond issue was approved by county voters on Sept. 12, 1954, but it was not until March, 1955, that construction was finally commenced on the long-range plan developed by the engineers.

This plan consisted of four phases: (1) Immediate construction of a new harbor at Fulton, by dredging. Sand removed from this harbor was to be used to form a new bathing beach to the northward.

(2) Improvement and dredging of the Rockport harbor. Here the dredged sand will be used to extend the present bathing beach, and groins were to be constructed to hold the dredged material in place.

(3) Construction of a new, industrial harbor at the Cove area, two miles south of Rockport.

(4) Purchase of Frandolig Island and development of recreational and harbor facilities in that area. Once the bond issue was approved the board immediately began preparation to carry out the first two phases.

A contract was let to the Loyd W. Richardson Construction Co. of Aransas Pass, for dredging Fulton Harbor, installing concrete piling bulkheads where necessary, building wharves, a harbor master's office, leveling and paving the beach at Fulton, deepening the Fulton channel, and dredging the Rockport harbor. Total cost for the two operations was $203,593.

Original plans for the Fulton Harbor, made some ten years ago, provided for construction of a concrete breakwater and timber bulkhead to protect a roughly rectangular harbor dredged to a depth of eight feet. The breakwater and bulkhead were built but the balance of the plan was never carried out and harbor facilities were limited due to inadequate turning basin and channel dimensions.

The present harbor, which will be formally opened Sept. 11, was designed to take full advantage of the existing breakwater, and to give as much extra room as possible, without excessive construction costs.

It extends for 1,500 feet in a north, south direction, and is 300 feet wide from the entrance for a distance of 840 feet. Here the western side breaks away in a 45° angle to the west for a distance of 120 feet, then makes another 45° turn to the north for 60 feet, then turns westward at a 90° angle for another 120 feet, making the north end of the basin 480 feet wide at this point, narrowing to 360 feet at the northern end.

In this enlarged portion of the basin, slips for 130 boats have been constructed, ranging in size from outboard accommodations to mooring plans large enough to take 75 foot shrimpers.

On the west side of the mooring area, a paved parking lot 90x600 feet long has been completed.

To enlarge the original harbor to this area, the timber bulkhead at the north end was removed, additional dredging was done, and 975 lineal feet of concrete piling bulkhead installed, tying in with the concrete breakwater at the northeast corner of the harbor.

Sand dredged during the operation was distributed for more than three blocks along the Fulton waterfront to form a bathing beach. At the south end of the development, an outboard launching ramp is being constructed.

The second phase of the program — which was included in the contract — the cleaning of Rockport's yacht basin, has been deferred until after the opening of school, in order to disturb the summer tourists as little as possible.

This involves no change in existing harbor facilities, which at present are sufficient to accommodate approximately 120 boats of all types up to and including shrimpers of 85 feet or more in length, as well as a large number of pleasure craft ranging to lengths of 70 feet.

The possibility of enlarging the existing harbor to provide room for industrial requirements was investigated and found undesirable, hence, for this type of development a new site was sought and found in the Cove area, two miles south of town.

There large areas of semi-submerged flats offer an ideal location at a comparatively small cost, with a minimum of dredging.

The harbor at the Cove is expected to open the way for industrial development of the ten-mile-long strip of flatland reaching southward from Rockport to Aransas Pass.

The extent of first-phase work at the Cove remains to be determined, but a basin 1,500 feet long by 400 feet wide is now on the drawing boards; and this will be supplemented, as justified, by other separated by moles on which rails and highway facilities are available.

This development will furnish factory sites and room for oil company supply bases, and a barge and tug terminal for the Intra-coastal Canal.

The fourth phase in the over-all program, development of Frandolig Island and Little Bay as a resort area and storm harbor will well outstrip the Cove, as private capital has become interested in constructing a 500-unit luxury hotel on the island.

If this is done, another yacht harbor is projected for the north end of the island, which lies between Rockport and Fulton. In addition, Little Bay, lying between Frandolig Island and the mainland, will be deepened to furnish an area for water sports along the shore of the island, and construction of a teenage yacht club.

The north end of the bay will be retained by the Aransas County Navigation District, and deepened to form a storm harbor for boats for the area, protected by the full width of the island.

Robstown Shuts Out Rockport Seamen

The Robstown All-stars handed the Rockport Seamen a 3 to 0 shutout here on the local diamond last Sunday.

The Seamen couldn't seem to find their batting eye and committing errors so they didn't get a man as far as 3rd base during the entire game.

R. Garcia was the losing pitcher. The game was sparked by a good double play from B. Chupe to F. Garza on 2nd to L. Falcon on 1st base.

The Seamen will be out to make up for the shutout this coming Sunday, Aug. 28, when they clash with the C. C. Pirates on the local field at 3 p. m., so everyone come out and see the game.

Seamen lineup: W. Chupe, If., F. Garza 2b., L. Falcon 1b., V. Flores c., B. Chupe 3b., R. Garcia p., P. Ramirez ss., B. Arispe rf., and J. Garcia cf.

Emergencies treated at the Elliot-Hughes Clinic this past week included: Ben Villareal, age 4, who fell from his bicycle, striking his head. Several stitches were required in his ear. Jessie Price, Aransas Pass, who was loading shrimp, when a barrel fell and struck him on the right foot. P. G. Lopez, who fell from a ladder at the Junior High School building and injured his left leg.

FOOD AND GAME FISHES OF TEXAS

Within the last year or so, considerable interest has been aroused along the Texas coast with the discovery of yellowfin tuna in commercial quantities by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service vessel Oregon.

Actually there are a number of the tunas and tuna-like fishes found in these waters, and we will deal with them this week.

Oceanic bonito, also known as Arctic bonito, oceanic skipjack, striped tuna, and watermelon, are found in tropical seas throughout the world.

It is an offshore species, traveling in schools, and the smallest of the true tunas, averaging from 3 to 6 pounds, though occasionally reaching 20. It feeds on smaller fishes. Only one or two specimens have ever been caught off the Texas coast.

Color: Back dark blue, or blue green. A rosy flush on the underparts and dark stripes extending from the breast backwards and upwards to the tail make identification simple.

Little tuna, also known as bonito, false albacore, and little tunny, range from New Jersey south to the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean, is a pelagic fish of warm seas, and is also found in the Mediterranean and Pacific.

It averages from 8 to 10 pounds, occasionally reaching 20.

Habits and food: A deep swimming, blue water fish, very fast and hard hitting, the little tuna feeds on small fishes. Like all of this group, it is a wonderful game fish.

Color: Hind part and upper sides with oblique wavy bands and spots; lower sides usually plain silver, but sometimes with a few dark spots below the pectoral. General ground colors, bluish or greenish above, shading into silvery.

Atlantic bonitos are also called bone-eaters, bone jacks, and skipjacks. They range along both coasts of the Atlantic, north at least to Cape Cod.

Size: Average weight 6 to 10 pounds, occasionally reaching 18 to 20.

Habits & food: A schooling fish, found in blue water, offshore, the Atlantic bonito feeds on menhaden and other small fishes. It gives a hard, swift fight.

Color: Bluish silver above, shading off into silvery sides and belly, with darker stripes running obliquely down and forward from the back.

Yellowfin tuna have been discovered in the Gulf within the past two years, by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service vessel Oregon.

These average a little more than 100 pounds in weight, but fish have been caught weighing around 200.

Habits and food: Feeds upon small fish and various invertebrates, but not too much is known about this.

Color: Dark blue on back, bright silver on sides and underparts, breast suffused with yellow. Bright yellow dorsal and anal fins greatly elongated, reaching nearly to the base of the tail.

Blackfin tuna, also called long-finned tuna, albacore, Atlantic black-finned tuna and little tunny (in England), range through the West Indies, Gulf of Mexico, and the Atlantic, north at least to Cape Hatteras. They average from eight to 10 pounds, but may reach more than 20.

Habits and food: These are, as far as is known, the same as those of the other small tunas. A number of them have been caught off Port Isabel.

Color: Deep, steel blue on the back, silvery on the lower sides and belly. A yellow flush down the sides may or may not be present.

Bluefin tuna have been caught in the eastern Gulf, but none near enough to claim them from Texas waters.

J. H. Slocum To Build Pier

J. H. Slocum, of Fulton, has applied to the U. S. Engineers for a construction allowing him to build a pier in front of his home.

He proposes to construct a T-head wharf at the location. The wharf would have a total length of 630 feet and the bayward end would be approximately 600 feet from the mean low water shoreline. The T-head portion would be 8 feet wide and 20 feet long and would have a deck elevation of four feet above mean low water. The shoreward connection would be four feet wide, would have a deck elevation of four feet above mean low water and would be supported on 2-pile bents. The bayward end of the wharf would be in water having an approximate depth of 3½ feet at mean low water.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bartlett and sons, Ronny and Lew of San Antonio, were weekend guests in the Hays Atwood home.

Robbins-Mitchell Vows Said Friday Night

The Church of Christ was the setting for the wedding of Miss Billie Irene Mitchell and George Delbert Robbins, Jr., Friday night. Vows were exchanged in a candle-light ceremony with R. B. Thompson, pastor of the church, officiating at the single ring ceremony.

Branched candelabra holding white tapers were the background for floor baskets of purple bougainvillea on either side of the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Mitchell of Fulton and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George D. Robbins of Rockport. Mrs. J. D. Spencer provided the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her white nylon net waltz length dress was fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice and apron front. The scalloped neckline extended into a V at the back and the medium sleeves were shirred. A shoulder length veil of nylon net fell from a cap of Chantilly lace and her nosegay of pink sweetheart roses rested on a white Bible.

Miss Polly Mitchell was her sister's maid of honor. Her dress of yellow nylon was accented with white eyelid embroidery trimming and she wore white accessories. The bridesmaids, Miss Shirley Louise Owen, Miss Sandra Blunt and Miss Sally Chittenden, wore dresses of nylon in pastel shades of green, blue and lavender, and white accessories. A three tiered all white wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom in a heart, was the centerpiece for the table laid with a hand crocheted cloth. Pink tapers burned in crystal candelabra on either side of the centerpiece.

After-Dinner Speaker Gets His "Deserts"

"Red" Thomas tells about a dinner party he and his Missus went to in Center City last week. He said it was a wonderful party—except for one guest who was a real "know-it-all," right from the start.

Whatever the subject, this fellow considered himself an "expert." Wasn't quiet about it, either. He told different people what automobile to buy, what books to read—even told some who they "just had" to vote for.

When it came time to leave, this fellow must've felt a pang of conscience. He turned to the hostess and said: "I suppose I was a bit outspoken tonight." Quickly she replied, "Of course not. No one could have out-spoken you."

From where I sit, it's all right to have opinions as long as you don't try to force them on neighbors. Take those who would deny me an occasional glass of beer simply because they prefer something else. They're welcome to their choice but shouldn't try to force me to be a "party" to it!

SPEAKING OF CARDS

POINT-COUNT BIDDING

Are you one of those people who has shied away from learning how to play Contract Bridge because you think it's too complex? Or, if you are already a Contract Bridge fan, have you sometimes wished you had an adding machine handy to help you figure out what your hand is worth bidding?

If you fall into either of these two groups, here's some good news for you. It's the Point-Count System of bidding, probably the greatest boon to the bridge world since that November day in 1925 when Contract Bridge, as played today, was born. Point-Count Bidding, or point-count valuation, as it is sometimes called, is designed to make bidding easier and more accurate and also to assist partners in the exchange of essential information.

Many of you are already familiar with the point-count method of valuing your hand in Bridge but for those of you who are unfamiliar with it, here's how it works: the Point-Count bidding system gives the honor or high cards fixed point values which make it easy to figure out what your hand is worth. It does this by eliminating the "fractions" of the honor-trick method.

For instance, the Ace is worth four points, the King counts three points, the Queen two and the Jack only one. For opening suit bids your hand should contain at least 12 points and a good suit that you can bid again. With 13 points you can bid any biddable suit.

A new pocket-sized leaflet recently published describes in detail everything you need to know about the Point-Count System. The leaflet suggests responses to a no-trump bid, requirements to raise your partner's bid, revaluation after a raise. All sorts of tricks, if you'll forgive the pun, to make your game of Contract Bridge that much more enjoyable.

You can get a free copy of this eight-page leaflet, "Point-Count Bidding" for yourself or members of your bridge club by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Playing Cards, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, N. Y.

Texas Has Only Jungle of Native Palms In America

At the tip of Texas, only a short drive from the south tip of Padre Island, lies the only jungle of native palms found in the United States.

The jungle stands on the old Rabb Plantation, one of the Lower Rio Grande Valley's pioneer developments, originally owned by Frank Rabb, and his brother-in-law, Fred Stark.

Stretching back from the Rio Grande—San Thomas, as the plantation was called—was one of the most beautiful plantations on the river during the Nineteenth Century.

However, the palm trees far antedate Rabb and his sugar cane operations.

More than 450 years ago, Alonso Alvarez de Pinega, fleeing northward from Vera Cruz to escape the wrath of Cortez, the conqueror of Mexico, reached "a very large river." Here he put in at the mouth of the river to careen his ships, and stayed for 40 days exploring the surrounding country.

The river, which was later called El Rio de las Palmas, because of the great number of palm trees along its banks, was none other than the Rio Grande.

The great jungles of palm trees which covered the banks of the river stretched for miles along either side. They were the habitat of flocks of birds and many animals — long, lithe jaguarundis, deer, ocelots, and javelinas. Even jaguars slipped through the gloomy glades.

From the Indians who lived along the river, the Spanish soldiers learned to pluck and boil the cabbage-like buds which crowned the trees.

Because the jungle was virtually inaccessible, the great groves grew, year after year, until in the middle of the last century, settlers began to clear the rich, alluvial lands for crops.

By 1914, only three patches of jungle remained in the Valley and, had it not been for a botanist, Robert Runyan, who still lives in Brownsville, even these might have been destroyed.

Runyan was intrigued by these remnants of the once great palm forests and explored them carefully, discovering a number of rare plants unknown to scientists and found nowhere else in the world.

His reports on these and the specimens he sent to various museums brought a horde of other botanists to the scene. Among them were such prominent ones as Dr. J. K. Small, director of the New York Botanical Gardens; Dr. E. K. Wherry of the U. S. National Museum in Washington; and Dr. L. H. Bailey of Cornell University.

However interesting the trees were botanically, plantation owners wanted to use the ground so acre after acre of them were destroyed by bulldozers to make way for more prosaic lettuce, onions, and tomatoes.

Today, only the one 60-acre clump on the Rabb place remains.

The trees attain a height of 50 feet or more and their crowns are round and symmetrical, with ascending leaf stalks. The foliage is green and dark, with shifting shadows trapped within its fronds, and in spring the trees bear great, irregular masses of flowers which later develop into date-like fruits.

The present owners of the groves freely admit anyone who wants to see this last growth of native palms, and many notable visitors have viewed them.

Youngsters who live on the place, while they play there sometimes during the day, won't approach the palms at night, for oldsters tell them the jungle is inhabited by ghosts.

THE OLD ROPE TRICK—Basic trainees at the Army's Mountain and Cold Weather Training Command, Fort Carson, Colo., learn confidence in ropes—mainstay of the mountaineer—on the "slide-for-life" obstacle. It's recommended also for getting used to high altitudes, environment in which mountain troops live—and fight.

New Texas Auto Plates Feature Bigger Letters

The latest issues of state automobile license plates feature letter prefixes side by side, instead of one over the other as in the past.

A. C. Shivers, county tax assessor-collector, said the change has been made to make it easier for law enforcement officers to read license plates over long distances.

In the future the letters will be as large as the numbers, or more than twice the size of the over-and-under letters.

Enlarging the prefix letters has increased the length of the plates from 10 1/2 to 12 inches. The six-inch width is not changed.

Mrs. J. F. Cantrell, of Balboa Courts, returned from Pecos this morning. She was called there last week by the death of her father.

CORRECT ACCOUNT ASSURES CORRECT AMOUNT

All social security benefits, whether they are retirement benefits after age 65 or survivors benefits to your family in case of death, are based on the amount of earnings in your social security account, according to H. M. Cleveland, manager of the Corpus Christi office of the Social Security Administration.
 "Each worker can and should help preserve the value of his social security account. And that depends not only on getting credit for the proper amount, but also on being certain that earnings are credited to the proper account," Cleveland said.
 "Two things that cause errors sometimes happen," he continued, "and when they do occur, your earnings account is likely to be incorrect. The first is when the social security number is left off the report and the second is when the name or the account number are reported incorrectly.
 Errors of this type are usually caused by carelessness on the part of the employer or the worker. A little extra care in the beginning would assure the correctness of the account, and thus families would always be assured of receiving the exact amount of retirement and survivors insurance to which they are entitled.

HIGHWAY ACCIDENT TOLL RISES IN JULY

Traffic accidents in the Corpus Christi district of the Texas Highway Patrol in July took 12 lives in the same number of fatal accidents that occurred in eight of the 16 counties. Three of the July deaths occurred in Nueces County, two in Victoria County, two in Jim Wells County and one in each of the counties of Aransas, Calhoun, Dewitt, Jackson, and Live Oak.
 As a result of the 12 deaths in the district in July at the end of seven months of 1955 five of the 16 counties in the district had each recorded more deaths than in all of 1954 and one county had recorded the same number. Counties in which there were more deaths in the first seven months of 1955 than in all of 1954 were Aransas, Calhoun, Duval, Kleberg, and McMullen. Deaths in Live Oak County in 1955 have equaled the total for the year 1954.

The 12 deaths in July was two less than in July of 1954, and four more than in June 1955. The 77 injured in July was two less than in July of 1954 and 16 more than in June of 1955. The 125 total accidents reported in July was 15 more than in July of 1954 and 20 more than in June 1955. The 125 accidents reported in July was 10 more than had previously been reported in any one month of 1955.
 The 12 deaths in the district in July brought the number of deaths in the district in the first seven months of 1955 to 87, ten more than in the same period of 1954. The 69 fatal accidents in 1955 was two more than in 1954 and the 704 total accidents in 1955 was 107 less and the 439 injured 44 less than was recorded in the first seven months of 1954. Although in the 16 counties alone which comprise the Corpus Christi district of the Texas Highway Patrol there were 10 more deaths in the first seven months of 1955 than in the same period of 1954 in the entire state in the same periods the deaths in 1955 exceeded the deaths in 1954 by only 14. Deaths in rural areas in the district increased from 66 in the first seven months of 1954 to 70 in the same period of 1955 while deaths in urban areas increased from 11 in 1954 to 17 in the first seven months of 1955.
 During July two drivers arrested in the district by Highway Patrolmen were charged with driving at a rate of speed of 105 miles per hour and two others were charged with driving 100 miles per hour, bringing to nine the number of drivers that have been charged, by Highway Patrolmen, with driving 100 miles per hour or more on public highways in the district since April 1, 1955.

 Highway Patrolmen stationed in the Corpus Christi district in July arrested or warned a total of 1,754 drivers for committing hazardous driving violations. Fifty-three per cent of the arrests were for either speeding or D.W.I.

WATERFRONT—

36; Chester Grubb and party, of Houston, in Harry Lee's boat, strung 60; and Bill Bedford and party, San Antonio, brought in a nice string, although Mrs. Lawler says she didn't get a count on it.

Sunday J. A. Green and party, Fort Worth, fished with Harry Lee, and caught 29 specks; Jeff Tucker and party, Victoria, out with Herb, strung 37; J. C. Wetzel and party, Dallas, fished with Harry and caught 48; Mr. Barner and party, Houston, strung 64, fishing with Red Bell; and Hubert Johnson and party, fishing with Eddie Edmonson, strung 2 more.

Monday the J. A. Green party, Fort Worth, fished with Harry Lee Mills again, and caught 91 trout; R. E. Walters, Columbus, fished with Harry Mills, stringing 106; and R. P. Johnson and party fished with Red Bell, catching 26.

Tuesday Harry Lee fished Leo Dittman and party, Houston, landing 103 specks; Mr. Stellas and party, San Antonio, fishing with Red Bell, brought in 122; and S. G. Johnson, Dallas, out with Jimmy Mills, caught 40.

Wednesday, the Frank Lipper party, Houston, fished with Harry, and caught 29 trout; Leo Dittman and his party, Houston, fished with Harry Lee, catching 78; and J. C. Wetzel, Dallas, guided by Herb Mills, came in with 127.

Curly Floyd says that the bait situation is fair, and that they have been able to satisfy most of their customers. He reports that Fred Schmidt, San Antonio, caught 19 trout Wednesday, and that Fred Lassell, also of the Alamo City, came in with 25 trout on the same day.

Hu Johnson fished Ralph Vitovsky and wife, Dallas, Thursday, and they pulled in 51 trout; Saturday he had H. W. Batsell and Dr. J. T. Kincannon, Ft. Stockton, who caught 22 fish. Sunday Ed Posival and party, Bellaire, fished with him, and caught 16; Monday he had Dr. W. A. Chernosky, Temple, coming in with 19. Tuesday C. M. Spurlock and family, San Antonio, fished with him, and caught 52 trout. Wednesday he had R. E. Dolan, of Tyler, who caught 39.

Lynwood Eller, on Floyd Smith's second boat, had Dr. Greenman and party, San Antonio, Monday, and came in with 13 specks. Tuesday his party was Mr. and Mrs. George Meecham and guests, from San Marcos. They strung 41 fish. Wednesday he had Tom Dean and son, Houston, and C. W. Vance and Bob Winton, of Rockport. The party caught 94 specks.

Floyd's Friday party was Jack Knostman and party, Houston, and they came in with 34. Sunday he had George Waitz, San Antonio, who caught 31 trout. Monday he fished John Fagan and party. They caught 40 trout that day, and on Tuesday went to the Gulf where they raked up a dozen kings.

Monday Hugh Morrison had Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kendall, of Tyler, and they caught 36. Tuesday he fished Mr. and Mrs. Rex Clark and party, who strung 23. Wednesday he took Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Blair, and their three children, for their first fishing trip. The party was back in by 10:30 with 30 fish.

Willie Close didn't have quite as good a week as he generally does, but nevertheless he had some nice catches. His Thursday party was Mr. Phife, San Antonio, who strung 140 trout, and that's a good catch in anybody's country. Sunday he had Eddie Herbsleb, San Antonio, and they came in with over a hundred pounds of trout and redfish. Willie says that one of the trout weighed 4 pounds, while there were a number of two and three pounders. The reds ran from 2 to 4 pounds. Monday, Joe Bunn, fishing with Willie, caught 40 trout; Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Boyle and family, Karnes City, caught 40.

Low tides and high winds during a part of the week hurt Fred Christiles, just as it did all the rest of the charter boat operators. His Thursday party was Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ward and son and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Boatman, all of Houston, and they caught 89 trout. Friday he had Oscar Schott and wife of Castroville, who strung 39 fish. Saturday he fished J. C. Wetzel, Charles J. Larry and son and Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCallum, all of Dallas. They caught 68.

Wednesday he had Harold Wallace and Bob DeBell, of Austin. They went to Mesquite Bay and came back with 131.

Bill Crist had Mr. and Mrs. George Parker and children, Los Angeles, Calif., on Friday along with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Goldfarb, San Antonio, but they only caught 16. On Sunday he had Nathan Kauffman and party, San Antonio. They came in with 50 trout. Wednesday he had Bill Bagley and wife, Hondo, who strung 24 specks.

STUDYING THE STORMS

Remarkable progress has been made, thanks to weather radar installations, in spotting the conditions that give rise to tornadoes, and in plotting their course and probable area of maximum intensity. As time goes on and statistics get compiled, tornado-stalking may become commonplace.

Hurricanes have been pretty thoroughly explored in recent years, and the warning system based on experience has saved many lives and much property by alerting the public to take precautions. But much remains to be done in that field, and even more in the case of tornadic winds, as the Weather Bureau pointed out to Congress at the recent session.

"Unfortunately," said the bureau, "it is not now possible to be precise in hurricane forecasting. With our present knowledge of the forces that enter into the life of a hurricane, we can rarely come as close as is needed when predicting the path of the storm, its speed along that path, and its intensity when it hits the coastline."

Accordingly the bureau asked Congress for $3 million for this research, but Congress got around to appropriating only $500,000 of that sum just before adjourning. At least a start has been made, and with the added information that can be accumulated there is hope the $100 million annual average loss to storms can be reduced by 10 percent, and the loss of life in proportion.

New techniques, new instruments, stepped-up aerial reconnaissance, and increased cooperation between the Weather Bureau and the weather arms of the military services may result in robbing hurricanes and tornadoes of some of their power to terrorize and devastate. It looks like a good investment of the taxpayers' money.—Corpus Christi Caller.

Since departing Norfolk, Va., one month ago, the midshipmen have undergone almost continuous training during the 4,000 miles at sea. The daily underway schedule was broken only by brief recreation and entertainment visits at Colon, C. Z., and Havana, Cuba. Gaining actual shipboard experience is another step toward qualification as commissioned officers upon graduating in June 1956. Although most of the midshipmen have an additional year of classroom study ahead, 16 college graduates among them will receive commissions aboard ship at the conclusion of training Aug. 26.

Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. — More than 1,200 Naval ROTC Midshipmen from 52 U. S. colleges and universities arrived here today aboard 12 ships of the Atlantic Fleet, marking completion of the third phase of midshipman practice training cruise "Charlie."
